
EVIDENCE

by

Carol Campaigne, J.D.; Joanne Constantino, J.D.; Glenn A. Guarino, J.D.; Kathy E. Hinck, J.D.; Kristin McCarthy, J.D.; Caralyn A. Miller, J.D.; Irwin J. Schiffres, J.D.; Melissa K. Stull, J.D.; Tim A. Thomas, J.D.; Mitchell J. Waldman, J.D.

TOPIC SCOPE

Scope of Topic:

This article discusses the law of evidence in civil and criminal cases, covering definitions and basic principles pertinent to the law of evidence, the various sources of the law of evidence, judicial notice of adjudicative facts, law and governmental affairs, litigation documents, and other particular matters, burdens of proof and persuasion in both the criminal and civil cases, as well as order of proof, presumptions and inferences. General principles of admissibility are also discussed, including limitations, and relevance, admissibility of illegally obtained evidence, and restrictions and limitations upon the use of such evidence. Furthermore, the article discusses best and secondary evidence, hearsay evidence, including exceptions to the hearsay rule such as with regard to spontaneous statements, confessions, admissions and declarations, the use of evidence from prior proceedings, real or demonstrative evidence, documentary evidence, parol or extrinsic evidence affecting writings, and the weight and sufficiency of evidence.

Federal Aspects:

This article discusses the Federal Rules of Evidence, as well as pertinent portions of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. Also covered are federal statutes governing the use of particular types of evidence in various types of litigation in federal court. (See "Federal Legislation," infra, for USCS citations). Federal constitutional issues are considered with respect to confessions and the use of illegally obtained evidence. For a full discussion of Rules 701-706 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, dealing with expert and opinion evidence, see 32B Am Jur 2d, Federal Rules of Evidence §§ 429 et seq. For a discussion of the federal aspects of subpoena, calling, and competency of witnesses, witness protection, and federal law sources of the various privileges against the disclosure of communications, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses.

Treated Elsewhere:

Access of accused to evidence, generally, see 21A Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 770 et seq., 998 et seq.

Administrative bodies, evidence in proceedings before, see 2Am Jur 2d, Administrative Law §§ 338 et seq.

Affidavits, use and admissibility, generally, see 3 Am Jur 2d, Affidavits §§ 29 et seq.

Bailed property in action on bailment, evidence concerning value of, see 8 Am Jur 2d, Bailments § 321

Conflicts of law pertaining to questions of evidence, presumptions, and burdens of proof, see 16 Am Jur 2d, Conflict of Laws §§ 131-135

Corporate existence, admissibility of evidence to prove, in actions by or against corporations, see 19 Am Jur 2d, Corporations §§ 2231 et seq.

Demonstrative aids not put in evidence, use by counsel of, see 75A Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 505 et seq.

Depositions and discovery, generally, see 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery

Discovery requirements, exclusion of evidence for failure to comply with, see 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery § 427 .5 (Supp)

Driving motor vehicle while intoxicated, admissibility of evidence in prosecutions for, see 7A Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic § 375

Evidence as to particular matters, see specific topics, such as 10 Am Jur 2d, Bastards §§ 104 et seq.; 21 Am Jur 2d, Creditors' Bills §§ 82 et seq.; 31 Am Jur 2d, Executors and Administrators §§ 1233, 1234, 1241, 1269, 1351 et seq.; 31 Am Jur 2d, Exemptions §§ 366 et seq.; 57A, 57B Am Jur 2d, Negligence; 60 Am Jur 2d, Patents; 60A Am Jur 2d, Perjury §§ 93 et seq.; 75 Am Jur 2d, Trespass §§ 214 et seq.; 76 Am Jur 2d, Trusts §§ 687 et seq.; 79 Am Jur 2d, Wills §§ 102 et seq.; 82 Am Jur 2d, Workers' Compensation § 564

Expert and opinion evidence: generally, see 31A Am Jur 2d, Expert and Opinion Evidence ; with respect to the value of realproperty, see 31A Am Jur 2d, Expert and Opinion Evidence §§ 329-338

Federal courts, practice and procedure in, generally, see 32,32A, 32B Am Jur 2d, Federal Practice and Procedure

Federal Rules of Evidence governing witnesses, as well as expert and opinion evidence, see 32B Am Jur 2d, Federal Rules of Evidence §§ 162-194 , 322 et seq.

Insanity or incompetency: admissibility of evidence in civil proceedings, generally, see 41 Am Jur 2d, Incompetent Persons §§ 132-141 ; admissibility of evidence on issue of insanity in criminal trial, see 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 78 , 79

Judicial notice by appellate court, see 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error §§ 739-742

Negligence, evidence of violation of statute, ordinance, or administrative order as evidence of, see 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 736 , 737

Personal injury: admissibility of fact, nature, and extent of, generally, see 22 Am Jur 2d, Damages § 926 ; admissibility of evidence of plaintiff's domestic relations in personal injury action, see 22 Am Jur 2d, Damages § 936

Presentation and reception of evidence at trial, generally, see 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 321 et seq.

Property valuation: admissibility of evidence as to value of property in assessment of damages, generally, see 22 Am Jur 2d, Damages §§ 955-964 ; evidence concerning valuation in action for conversion, see 18 Am Jur 2d, Conversion §§ 173-177 ; evidence concerning valuation of property in eminent domain proceeding, see 27 Am Jur 2d, Eminent Domain §§ 427-442 ; expert and opinion evidence with respect to the value of real property, see 31A Am Jur 2d, Expert and Opinion Evidence §§ 329-338

Self-incriminatory evidence, use in criminal proceeding against accused, generally, see 21A Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 944 et seq.

Stipulations in judicial proceedings as to evidence or other matters pertaining to trial, see 73 Am Jur 2d, Stipulations Subpoenas, generally, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 7 et seq.

Testator, admissibility of evidence concerning mental condition of, see 79 Am Jur 2d, Wills §§ 114-150

Unreasonable searches and seizures, prohibitions against, see 68 Am Jur 2d, Searches and Seizures

Variance between pleadings and proof, see 61A Am Jur 2d, Pleading §§ 368 et seq.

Witnesses, calling and examination of, generally, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses

RESEARCH REFERENCES

Text References:

9 Federal Procedure, L Ed, Criminal Procedure; 12, 12A Federal Procedure, L Ed, Evidence

Cook, Constitutional Rights of the Accused 2d

Fishman, Wiretapping and Eavesdropping

Gard, Jones on Evidence (6th ed.) (1972)

Hall, Search and Seizure

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d

Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence

Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th Ed)

Annotation References:

ALR Digests: Criminal Law; Evidence; Witnesses

ALR Index: Absence or Presence; Best and Secondary Evidence; Blackboard; Character and Reputation; Clothing; Confessions and Admissions; Confrontation of Witnesses; Declarations or Statements; Diagrams, Charts, and Tables; Demonstrative and Real Evidence; Description and Identification; Diligence; Documentary Evidence; Dying Declaration; Eavesdropping and Wiretapping; Entrapment; Evidence; Evidence Rules; Exhibits; Exclusion and Suppression of Evidence; Experiments or Tests; Expert and Opinion Evidence; Fingerprints; Fruit of the Poisonous Tree Doctrine; Hypothetical Questions; Impeachment of Witnesses; Interception of Communications; Judicial Notice;

Lineups; Miranda Warnings; Models; Mug Shot; Offer of Proof; Pictures and Photographs; Rebuttal; Prior Testimony or Statement; Rogue's Gallery Photograph; Same or Similar Acts or Matters; Search and Seizure; Theaters and Motion Pictures; Unavailable Witnesses; Videotapes; Voice; Witnesses; X-rays

Practice References:

8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Forms 241 et seq.; 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence ; 11 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Federal Criminal Procedure ; 11A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Federal Practice and Procedure ; 22 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Seals ; 23A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Trial
1 Am Jur Legal Forms 2d, Acknowledgments §§ 7:11-7:464; 4A Am Jur Legal Forms 2d, Clerks of Court §§ 58:14, 58:15

1 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court; 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure; 14 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, References, Referees, and Masters

1 Am Jur Proof of Facts 161, Admissions; 1 Am Jur Proof of Facts 475, Authentication of Almanac; 1 Am Jur Proof of Facts 500, Alteration of Instruments; 2 Am Jur Proof of Facts 467, Best and Secondary Evidence; 3 Am Jur Proof of Facts 379, Conversations, Proof 2; 3 Am Jur Proof of Facts 745, Mutual Mistake—Physical Condition of Realty; 4 Am Jur Proof of Facts 627, Electrocardiograms; 4 Am Jur Proof of Facts 641, Electroencephalograms; 5 Am Jur Proof of Facts 113, Firearms Identification; 5 Am Jur Proof of Facts 411, Glass; 6 Am Jur Proof of Facts 465, Intoxication; 7 Am Jur Proof of Facts 215, Life Expectancy; 7 Am Jur Proof of Facts 601, Maps, Diagrams, and Models; 9 Am Jur Proof of Facts 147, Photographs as Evidence; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 49, Rain and Other Weather Phenomena; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 251, Refreshing Recollection; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 281, Remarriage; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 295, Repairs; 12 Am Jur Proof of Facts 281, Acknowledgments; 13 Am Jur Proof of Facts 391, Criminal Drug Addition and Possession; 15 Am Jur Proof of Facts 115, Identification of Substances by Neutron Activation Analysis; 16 Am Jur Proof of Facts 273, Computer Print-Outs as Evidence; 16 Am Jur Proof of Facts 665, Charred Documents; 17 Am Jur Proof of Facts 1, Tape Recordings as Evidence; 19 Am Jur Proof of Facts 423, Spectrogram Voice Identification; 20 Am Jur Proof of Facts 265, Questioned Typewriting; 21 Am Jur Proof of Facts 764, Sidewalk Defects; 21 Am Jur Proof of Facts 783, Sending and Receipt of Telegrams; 22 Am Jur Proof of Facts 385, Identification of Substances by Instrumental Analysis; 29 Am Jur Proof of Facts 65, Firearms Identification; 29 Am Jur Proof of Facts 461, Identification of Substances by Thin-Layer Chromatography and Paper Chromatography; 2 Am Jur POF2d 545, Reliability of Scientific Devices—Telephone Calling Line Identification; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 2d 365, Nondestructive Testing of Material—X-ray, Gamma Ray, and Neutron Radiography; 12 Am Jur POF2d 237, Entrapment to Commit Narcotics Offense; 14 Am Jur POF2d 1, Reliability of Polygraph Examination; 14 Am Jur POF2d 234, Admissibility of Computerized Business Records; 15 Am Jur POF2d 167, Alleged Victim's Commission of Prior Acts of and Reputation for Violence; 18 Am Jur POF2d 305, Admissibility of Opinion Survey; 19 Am Jur POF2d 435, Lineups and Showups: Admissibility and Effect of Pretrial Identification; 21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction; 22 Am Jur POF2d 539, Involuntary Confession: Psychological Coercion; 23 Am Jur POF2d 713, Custodial Interrogation under Miranda v Arizona; 26 Am Jur POF2d 229, Meaning of Abbreviation, Word, or Phrase According to Usage of Trade; 26 Am Jur POF2d 465, Consent to Search Given under Coercive Circumstances; 28 Am Jur POF2d 1, Foundation for Offering Deposition or Other Former Testimony in Evidence; 31 Am Jur POF2d 443, Contradiction of Expert Witness Through Use of Authoritative

Treatise; 32 Am Jur POF2d 253, Admission by Conduct or Silence; 34 Am Jur POF2d 509, Foundation for Offering Business Records in Evidence; 35 Am Jur Proof of Facts 2d 147, Foundation for Admission of Secondary Evidence; 36 Am Jur POF2d 605, Foundation for Telephone Conversation; 36 Am Jur POF2d 747, Impeachment of Witness by Prior Criminal Conviction; 38 Am Jur POF2d 145, Foundation for Admissibility of Hospital Records and X-rays; 39 Am Jur POF2d 1, Cause of Death as Determined from Autopsy; 42 Am Jur POF2d 617, Invalidity of Suspect's Waiver of Miranda Rights; 44 Am Jur POF2d 707, Foundation for Admission of Map, Diagram, or Chart; 45 Am Jur POF2d 631, Age of Person; 46 Am Jur POF2d 275, Foundation for Admission of Thermogram; 46 Am Jur POF2d 695, Intent of Parties to Ambiguous Deed; 49 Am Jur POF2d 649, General Reputation of Person in Community; 50 Am Jur POF2d 321, Ancient Documents; 5 Am Jur POF3d 191, Meteorological Conditions at a Particular Time or Place; 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person; 8 Am Jur POF3d 145, Use of Cat Scans in Litigation; 8 Am Jur POF3d 749, Foundation for DNA Fingerprint Evidence; 15 Am Jur POF3d 595, Questioned Document Examination—Identification of Handwriting on Document; 16 Am Jur POF3d 493, Foundation for Contemporaneous Videotape Evidence

1 Am Jur Trials 602, Locating and Preserving Evidence in Criminal Cases; 2 Am Jur Trials 1, Investigating Particular Civil Actions; 2 Am Jur Trials 409, Locating Public Records; 2 Am Jur Trials 669, Preparing and Using Maps; 3 Am Jur Trials 1, Preparing and Using Photographs in Civil Cases; 3 Am Jur Trials 335, Preparing and Using Photographs in Criminal Cases; 3 Am Jur Trials 377, Preparing and Using Models; 3 Am Jur Trials 427, Preparing and Using Experimental Evidence; 3 Am Jur Trials 507, Preparing and Using Diagrams; 5 Am Jur Trials 331, Excluding Illegally Obtained Evidence; 5 Am Jur Trials 505, Mapping the Trial—Order of Proof; 5 Am Jur Trials 553, Introducing and Marking Exhibits; 5 Am Jur Trials 695, Courtroom Semantics; 5 Am Jur Trials 921, Showing Pain and Suffering; 7 Am Jur Trials 377, Elevator Accident Cases; 11 Am Jur Trials 265, Stairway Fall Suits; 13 Am Jur Trials 465, Defending Minor Felony Cases; 15 Am Jur Trials 373, Discovery and Evaluation of Medical Records; 18 Am Jur Trials 443, Unwitnessed Automobile Accident Cases; 18 Am Jur Trials 341, Handling the Defense in a Rape Prosecution; 25 Am Jur Trials 69, Plea Bargaining Techniques; 26 Am Jur Trials 327, Representation of an Alien in Exclusion, Rescission and Deportation Hearings; 27 Am Jur Trials 1, Representing the Mentally Disabled Criminal Defendant; 30 Am Jur Trials 711, Trial Court Restrictions on Evidence of Defendant's Wealth; 39 Am Jur Trials 261, Planning and Producing a "Day-in-the-Life" Videotape in a Personal Injury Lawsuit; 40 Am Jur Trials 249, Using or Challenging a "Day-in-the-Life" Documentary in a Personal Injury Lawsuit; 40 Am Jur Trials 501, Forensic Pathology in Homicide Cases; 44 Am Jur Trials 317, Forensic Document Examination in Medical Malpractice Trials; 45 Am Jur Trials 1, Determining Preliminary Facts Under Federal Rule 104; 48 Am Jur Trials 1, Audio Recordings: Evidence, Experts and Technology

Federal Legislation:

US Const Amends 4-6

1 USCS §§ 112, 113 (federal statutes and treaties as evidence)

18 USCS §§ 2510 et seq. (wire and electronic communications interception and interception of oral communications)

18 USCS § 3500 (Jencks Act)

18 USCS § 3501 (admissibility of confessions)

18 USCS § 3505 (foreign records of regularly conducted activity)

18 USCS Appx § 8 (introduction in evidence of classified information)

28 USCS §§ 1731-1746 (documentary evidence)
44 USCS § 3312 (photographs and microphotographs of records considered as originals; certified reproductions admissible in evidence)
47 USCS § 605(a) (unauthorized use of wire or radio communications)
FR Civ P, Rules 8, 36, 44
FR Crim P, Rules 11, 12, 16, 26.2, 41
FRE 101 et seq.

I. GENERAL MATTERS [1-23]

A. Introduction [1-8]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence

ALR Index: Evidence; Evidence Rules

§ 1 Nature and definition of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence is matter that makes clear the truth of fact, persuades a court of the existence of fact, or produces a just conviction of truth. 1 It is further defined as any species of proof legally presented at trial through the medium of witnesses, records, documents, exhibits, and concrete objects for the purpose of inducing belief in the minds of the court or jury. 2 The word "evidence" thus includes all the means by which any fact in dispute at a judicial trial is established or disproved. Any circumstance which affords an inference as to whether the matter alleged is true or false is therefore evidence, and is commonly understood to be within the meaning of that term. 3

The object of all evidence is to inform the trial tribunal of the material facts which are relevant as bearing upon the issue, in order that the truth may be elicited and that a fair determination of the controversy may be reached. 4 Thus, the fundamental basis upon which all rules which govern the admission or exclusion of evidence must rest, if they are to rest upon reason, is their adaptation to the development of the truth of such facts. 5

Footnotes

Footnote 1. Re M. (2nd Dist) 55 Cal App 3d 650, 127 Cal Rptr 851.

Footnote 2. People v Foss (2d Dist) 201 Ill App 3d 91, 147 Ill Dec 254, 559 NE2d 254; Ustica Enterprises, Inc. v Costello (La App 5th Cir) 434 So 2d 137.

Footnote 3. Application of Everts, 175 Neb 310, 121 NW2d 487.

Footnote 4. Cresson Consol. Gold Mining & Milling Co. v Whitten, 139 Colo 273, 338 P2d 278; Lynch v Rosenberger, 121 Kan 601, 249 P 682, 60 ALR 376; Evans v Commonwealth, 230 Ky 411, 19 SW2d 1091, 66 ALR 360; Clark v Brooklyn H. R. Co., 177 NY 359, 69 NE 647.

Evidence is considered relevant if it has the tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of an action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence. People v Tellez (1st Dist) 235 Ill App 3d 542, 176 Ill Dec 586, 601 NE2d 1284.

Footnote 5. Funk v United States, 290 US 371, 78 L Ed 369, 54 S Ct 212, 93 ALR 1136; Public Utilities Com. v Donahue, 138 Colo 492, 335 P2d 285.

§ 2 "Proof" distinguished from evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The word "proof" is frequently used as the synonym of "evidence," but it is more accurate to confine the term "proof" to the effect of evidence or to the establishment of a fact by evidence. 6 Proof results as the probative effect of evidence and is the conviction or persuasion of the mind resulting from a consideration of the evidence. It is merely that quantity of evidence which produces a reasonable assurance of the existence of the ultimate fact. 7

Footnotes

Footnote 6. State v Crutcher, 231 Iowa 418, 1 NW2d 195; State v Sogge, 36 ND 262, 161 NW 1022.

Footnote 7. Dege v Produce Exchange Bank, 212 Minn 44, 2 NW2d 423.

§ 3 Requirement that matter be received in court

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Courts are to decide a case only on the evidence in that particular case. 8 Matter which was not introduced or presented as evidence at trial does not come within the commonly accepted definition of "evidence." 9 In this regard, neither testimony nor physical objects are evidence unless they are produced, introduced, and received in a trial. 10

Because evidence is matter which has actually been presented at trial, facts obtained through the use of discovery devices, such as written interrogatories, are not of themselves evidence. They may, however, become evidence by introduction as such at the trial of the matter. 11

§ 3 ----Requirement that matter be received in court [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Although formal proffer is not essential, proponent of evidence must show substance of proposed testimony in some fashion. Stockstill v Shell Oil Co. (1993, CA5 La) 3 F3d 868, 8 BNA IER Cas 1529, 62 CCH EPD ¶ 42562, reh den, motion gr (CA5 La) 1993 US App LEXIS 29041.

Plaintiff waived his right to challenge the granting of defendant's motion in limine to exclude all evidence relating to the details of plaintiff's child's death because plaintiff failed to proffer any evidence allegedly excluded by the trial court. Garrett v City of Sandusky, 68 OS3d 139, 624 NE2d 704.

Footnotes

Footnote 8. People v McClerren (5th Dist) 197 Ill App 3d 441, 143 Ill Dec 841, 554 NE2d 776.

Footnote 9. Commonwealth ex rel. Hendrickson v Myers, 393 Pa 224, 144 A2d 367.

Footnote 10. People v McClerren (5th Dist) 197 Ill App 3d 441, 143 Ill Dec 841, 554 NE2d 776.

A document or item which is not marked as an exhibit and is not offered or received by the court is not, in technical terms, evidence. Cannon v Venture Stores, Inc. (Mo App) 743 SW2d 473.

Footnote 11. Realty Mart, Inc. v Louisiana Bd. of Tax Appeals (La App 1st Cir) 336 So 2d 52.

§ 4 Classes of evidence

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

The word "evidence" is comprehensive, 12 and encompasses both testimony and physical evidence. 13 Legal evidence is thus not limited to the oral testimony of witnesses personally cognizant of the facts, given in open court. 14 Proof may be produced in the form of documentary evidence, such as public records, private writings, books of account, and other documents, 15 or by the introduction of objects and exhibits.

16

Evidence is classified according to whether it is "circumstantial" or "direct." Circumstantial evidence is evidence of a series of facts other than the fact in issue, which leads to a permissible inference concerning the existence of the fact in issue. 17 Direct evidence is evidence which, if believed, proves the existence of the fact in issue without inference or presumption; 18 it is evidence which comes from one who speaks directly of his or her own knowledge on the main or ultimate fact to be proved, or who saw or heard the factual matters which are the subject of the testimony. 19 However, it is not necessary that this direct knowledge be gained through the senses of sight and hearing alone, but it may be obtained from any of the senses through which outside knowledge is acquired, including the senses of touch or pain. 20

The term "prima facie evidence" denotes evidence which, if unexplained or uncontradicted, is sufficient in a jury case to carry the case to the jury and to sustain a verdict in favor of the issue which it supports, but which may be contradicted by other evidence. 21 Stated otherwise, prima facie evidence means evidence which is sufficient to establish the fact, unless rebutted; evidence which, standing alone and unexplained, would maintain the proposition for which it is introduced. 22 The term "prima facie evidence" is not synonymous with the term "presumption." 23 A prima facie evidence rule is nothing more or less than a rule of evidence, and it is not a rule of substantive law; it has reference and applies only to the mode or manner by and through which facts essential to a judgment or conviction might be established. 24

§ 4 ----Classes of evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Cross References: The reference in footnote 15 is to §§ 1023 et seq., and the reference in footnote 16 is to §§ 934 et seq.

Case authorities:

Name of any given joined party to lawsuit is not evidence and therefore rules of evidence should not be used to analyze potential effect of advising jury of existence of specific party to lawsuit. Stopplesworth v Refuse Hideaway (1996) 200 Wis 2d 512, 546 NW2d 870.

Footnotes

Footnote 12. State v Ricci, 107 RI 582, 268 A2d 692.

Footnote 13. People v Csabon (2d Dept) 79 App Div 2d 609, 433 NYS2d 487; Lautek Corp. v Unemployment Compensation Bd. of Review, 138 Pa Cmwlth 547, 588 A2d 1007.

Footnote 14. § 5.

Footnote 15. For a discussion of documentary evidence, generally, see Subdivision G under Roman Numeral Division VI, which covers particular types of evidence.

Footnote 16. For a discussion of real or demonstrative evidence, generally, see Subdivision G under Roman Numeral Division VII, which covers particular types of evidence.

Footnote 17. § 313.

Footnote 18. State v Famber, 358 Mo 288, 214 SW2d 40; Bland v Fox, 172 Neb 662, 111 NW2d 537.

Footnote 19. State v Famber, 358 Mo 288, 214 SW2d 40.

Footnote 20. State v Famber, 358 Mo 288, 214 SW2d 40.

Footnote 21. McKenzie v Standard Acci. Ins. Co., 198 SC 109, 16 SE2d 529.

Footnote 22. Rowland v State, 166 Tex Crim 118, 311 SW2d 831, cert den and app dismd 355 US 606, 2 L Ed 2d 524, 78 S Ct 540.

Footnote 23. Hill v Cabral, 62 RI 11, 2 A2d 482, 121 ALR 1072.

As to the definition of the term "presumption," see § 181.

Footnote 24. State v Trimming, 89 Idaho 440, 406 P2d 118; Rowland v State, 166 Tex Crim 118, 311 SW2d 831, cert den and app dismd 355 US 606, 2 L Ed 2d 524, 78 S Ct 540.

§ 5 --Testimony

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Although the words "testimony" and "evidence" are used synonymously and interchangeably in common parlance, ²⁵ "testimony" is in fact a particular kind or species of evidence, namely, that which comes to the tribunal through living witnesses speaking under oath or affirmation in the presence of the tribunal, judicial or quasi-judicial. ²⁶

Testimony means a statement made by a witness for the purpose of establishing proof of a fact to a court or tribunal. It is distinguished from statements made under different circumstances, and from evidence derived from writings and other sources. ²⁷

The word "testimony" implies the preliminary of taking an oath. It is defined as evidence given by a competent witness under oath or affirmation. ²⁸ Records of statements prepared during the course of an administrative investigation, prior to the initiation of administrative hearings, do not constitute testimony. ²⁹

Because testimony is by nature communicative, the taking of finger prints does not fall within the categories of either communication or testimony. 30 Similarly, a handwriting sample has been ruled physical rather than testimonial evidence. 31

It has, nevertheless, been held that the use of the word "testimony," instead of "evidence," in an instruction, where both oral evidence and physical facts and circumstances are defensively interposed, does not constitute reversible error where it is clear and obvious from all the court's instructions that it was intended that such physical facts and circumstances should also be considered by the jury. 32

§ 5 --Testimony [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court was well within its discretion in admitting testimony concerning inaccuracies in age discrimination plaintiff's work, even though no physical copies of those records were produced. Manzer v Diamond Shamrock Chems. Co. (1994, CA6 Ky) 29 F3d 1078, 65 BNA FEP Cas 585, 1994 FED App 255P, 65 CCH EPD ¶ 43215, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA6 Ky) 1994 US App LEXIS 26621.

Generally courts should not prohibit defendant from presenting theory of defense to jury, but some relevant factual basis for defense should exist under federal evidence rules before evidence or testimony is offered. United States v Thompson (1994, CA11 Ga) 25 F3d 1558, 8 FLW Fed C 401.

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Roberts v Carlson, 142 Neb 851, 8 NW2d 175; Ex parte Jackson (Tex Crim) 470 SW2d 679.

Footnote 26. State v Ricci, 107 RI 582, 268 A2d 692.

"Testimony" is generally described in both statutory and decisional law as oral statements made by a person under oath in a court proceeding, and is extended to cover the prior inconsistent statements of a witness, admissible under the prior-inconsistent-statement exception to the hearsay rule. People v Pic'l (2nd Dist) 114 Cal App 3d 824, 171 Cal Rptr 106.

Footnote 27. Phinpathya v Immigration & Naturalization Service (CA9) 673 F2d 1013, revd on other grounds 464 US 183, 78 L Ed 2d 401, 104 S Ct 584 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in INS v Hector, 479 US 85, 93 L Ed 2d 326, 107 S Ct 379) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Adeleke v McNary (SD NY) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 477).

Footnote 28. United States v Mathern (ED Pa) 329 F Supp 536.

Footnote 29. Zenith Radio Corp. v Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. (ED Pa) 505 F Supp 1190, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1329, 30 FR Serv 2d 797, later proceeding (ED Pa) 505 F Supp 1313, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305, summary judgment gr (ED Pa) 513 F Supp 1100, 1981-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 64155, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 289, supp op on other grounds (ED Pa) 513 F Supp 1334, 1981-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 64155, 31 FR Serv 2d 833 and affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA3 Pa) 723 F2d 238, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65757, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 401, revd on other grounds 475 US 574, 89 L Ed 2d 538, 106 S Ct 1348, 1986-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67004, 4 FR Serv 3d 368, on remand (CA3 Pa) 807 F2d 44, 1986-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67374, cert den 481 US 1029, 95 L Ed 2d 527, 107 S Ct 1955 and (criticized by Pfeiffer v Marion Center Area School Dist., Bd. of School Directors etc. (CA3 Pa) 917 F2d 779, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 675).

Footnote 30. Pearson v United States (CA5 Fla) 389 F2d 684.

Footnote 31. Gilbert v California, 388 US 263, 18 L Ed 2d 1178, 87 S Ct 1951 (not followed by Barone v State (Nev) 1993 Nev LEXIS 183).

Footnote 32. Roberts v Carlson, 142 Neb 851, 8 NW2d 175.

§ 6 Legislative power to prescribe rules of evidence; validity

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The legislature of a state has the power to prescribe new, and alter existing, rules of evidence, or to prescribe methods of proof, provided they do not violate constitutional requirements or deprive any person of his or her constitutional rights. 33 A state rule of evidence, which is designed to ensure trustworthy evidence, may be invalidated on constitutional grounds if it interferes with the ability of a defendant to offer testimony. Thus, a state may not apply an arbitrary rule of competency to exclude a material defense witness from taking the stand, nor may a state apply a rule of evidence that permits a witness to take the stand and then arbitrarily excludes material portions of that witness' testimony. 34

It is beyond the pale of the United States Supreme Court's proper function in the federal system to interfere with the constitutional power of states to promulgate their own rules of evidence to try their own state-created crimes in their own state courts, so long as their rules are not prohibited by any provision of the Federal Constitution. 35

In general, the legislature may not delegate to another body its authority to declare by legislation what may be considered evidence. 36

Congress is not authorized to prescribe rules governing the admissibility of evidence in state courts. 37 However, subject to constitutional requirements, Congress has power to prescribe what evidence is to be received in the courts of the United States. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 33. Burgett v Texas, 389 US 109, 19 L Ed 2d 319, 88 S Ct 258, conformed to (Tex Crim) 422 SW2d 728.

As to the creation of presumptions, see § 7.

As to whether legislation retrospectively changing rules of evidence, such as by authorizing conviction upon less proof in amount or degree than was required when a crime was committed, or by making previously inadmissible evidence admissible, violates the constitutional prohibition against ex post facto laws, see 16A Am Jur 2d, Constitutional Law § 651.

Footnote 34. Rock v Arkansas, 483 US 44, 97 L Ed 2d 37, 107 S Ct 2704, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1128, holding that evidentiary rule prohibiting the admission of hypnotically refreshed testimony violates defendant's constitutional right to testify on his or her own behalf.

Footnote 35. Spencer v Texas, 385 US 554, 17 L Ed 2d 606, 87 S Ct 648, 40 Ohio Ops 2d 438, reh den 386 US 969, 18 L Ed 2d 125, 87 S Ct 1015.

Footnote 36. Huiet v Schwob Mfg. Co., 196 Ga 855, 27 SE2d 743, conformed to 70 Ga App 226, 28 SE2d 184.

As to constitutional inhibitions against the delegation of legislative powers, see 16 Am Jur 2d, Constitutional Law §§ 240 et seq.

Footnote 37. Sulpho-Saline Bath Co. v Allen, 66 Neb 295, 92 NW 354.

Footnote 38. Tot v United States, 319 US 463, 87 L Ed 1519, 63 S Ct 1241.

§ 7 --Creation of presumptions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A legislative body generally may provide by statute or ordinance that certain facts shall be prima facie or presumptive evidence of other facts. 39 This power is not confined to civil cases, but applies to criminal prosecutions as well. 40 In the exercise of its right to prescribe evidentiary rules in civil and criminal cases, the legislature may provide that when certain facts have been proved, they shall be prima facie or presumptive evidence of other facts, with the following limitations:

- (1) there must be a natural and rational relation between the fact proved and that presumed; 41
- (2) the fact inferred from the fact actually proved cannot be purely arbitrary or wholly unreasonable; and
- (3) the accused in all events must be given the right to have the triers of fact determine guilt or innocence after giving such weight to the presumption as they shall deem proper. 42

The power of the legislature to create presumptions is not a means of escape from constitutional restrictions. 43

Footnotes

Footnote 39. St. Louis S. F. R. Co. v Mangum, 199 Ark 767, 136 SW2d 158; Bishop v Salida Hospital Dist., 158 Colo 315, 406 P2d 329; Loftin v Crowley's, Inc., 150 Fla 836, 8 So 2d 909, 142 ALR 626; Ward's Estate v State Dept. of Social Welfare, 176 Kan 614, 272 P2d 737; State v Stump, 16 Wash 2d 140, 132 P2d 727.

Law Reviews: Harris, Constitutional Limits on Criminal Presumptions as an Expression of Changing Concepts of Fundamental Fairness. 77 J Crim L 308 (Summer, 1986).

Annotation: Validity, under Federal Constitution, of criminal statute or ordinance making one fact presumptive or prima facie evidence of another—Federal cases, 23 L Ed 2d 812.

Footnote 40. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213; Garcia v People, 121 Colo 130, 213 P2d 387; Traylor v State (Del Sup) 458 A2d 1170; Commonwealth v Kroger, 276 Ky 20, 122 SW2d 1006; People v Campbell, 115 Mich App 369, 320 NW2d 381.

Footnote 41. Leary v United States, 395 US 6, 23 L Ed 2d 57, 89 S Ct 1532, 69-2 USTC ¶ 15900, 23 AFTR 2d 69-2006, on remand (CA5 Tex) 544 F2d 1266, reh den (CA5 Tex) 548 F2d 355; State v Childress, 78 Ariz 1, 274 P2d 333, 46 ALR2d 1169; Bishop v Salida Hospital Dist., 158 Colo 315, 406 P2d 329; Garcia v People, 121 Colo 130, 213 P2d 387; Kellogg v Murphy, 349 Mo 1165, 164 SW2d 285; People v Hildebrandt, 308 NY 397, 126 NE2d 377, 49 ALR2d 449; State ex rel. North Carolina Milk Com. v National Food Stores, Inc., 270 NC 323, 154 SE2d 548.

Footnote 42. State v Tutalo, 99 RI 14, 205 A2d 137, 17 ALR3d 482.

Footnote 43. New York Times Co. v Sullivan, 376 US 254, 11 L Ed 2d 686, 84 S Ct 710, 1 Media L R 1527, 95 ALR2d 1412.

§ 8 Contractual stipulations affecting rules of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Contracts which attempt to divest or oust the courts of their jurisdiction are void as against public policy. 44 There is, however, a difference of opinion upon the question of the validity of contractual stipulations by which parties attempt to alter or waive rules of evidence established by law, or to fix the mode, method, or quantum of proof to be applied in subsequent litigation between them. According to one line of authorities, parties cannot by contract control or modify the law of evidence, and any attempts in that direction are invalid and not binding upon the parties or the court. 45 Parties cannot by contract alter the rules of evidence so as to preclude the court from receiving evidence admissible under the general rules of evidence. 46 Moreover, parties to a contract may not by the terms of their contract change the burden of going forward with the evidence from that imposed by the rules of evidence, 47 although there is also authority that parties to a contract may provide that certain facts shall constitute prima facie evidence. 48

Footnotes

Footnote 44. 20 Am Jur 2d, Courts § 140.

Footnote 45. Kimbro v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (Fla App D3) 112 So 2d 274, cert dismd (Fla) 116 So 2d 240.

Footnote 46. Shultz v American Nat. Ins. Co. (Tex Civ App) 142 SW2d 275, writ dismd w o j.

Footnote 47. Kimbro v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (Fla App D3) 112 So 2d 274, cert dismd (Fla) 116 So 2d 240.

Footnote 48. Shultz v American Nat. Ins. Co. (Tex Civ App) 142 SW2d 275, writ dismd w o j.

B. Federal Rules of Evidence [9-23]

Research References

FRE 101-106, 1101-1103

28 USCS §§ 2071, 2072, 2076; 29 USCS § 160(b)

29 CFR §§ 101.10(a), 102.39

ALR Digests: Evidence

ALR Index: Evidence: Evidence Rules; Exclusion and Suppression of Evidence

1 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court §§ 1:1521, 1:1964 to

1:1966; 14 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, References, Referees, and Masters § 57:74

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 1.6

Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 1, 3, 4, 619-623

1. Scope and Applicability of Rules [9-19]

§ 9 Proceedings governed by Federal Rules

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence 49 govern proceedings in the courts of the United States and before United States bankruptcy judges and United States magistrates, 50 to the extent and with the exceptions stated in the Rules. 51 Moreover, Congress' authority to prescribe such rules, characterized as housekeeping rules, has long been recognized. 52

The District Court's construction of the Federal Rules of Evidence is a question of law subject to de novo review. 53 Furthermore, federal rules purporting to govern procedural matters, which are duly passed by Congress, will be presumed constitutionally valid unless they cannot rationally be characterized as rules of procedure. 54

The Federal Rules of Evidence are not a complete code of evidence for use in federal courts. For example, the rules direct courts to construe the Rules so as to promote their growth and development; 55 the rules grant authority to the judiciary to develop the laws of evidence in the hearsay area; 56 and, according to the Advisory Committee on the Federal Rules of Evidence, the rule which furnishes examples of allowable methods of authentication and identification 57 is meant to leave room for growth and development in this area of the law. 58

◆ Practice guide: To determine whether the Federal Rules of Evidence are applicable in a particular situation, three questions must be answered, namely:

1. Is the particular court or magistrate covered by the Rules?
2. Is the particular proceeding covered by the Rules?
3. Is the particular situation covered by the Constitution, by an act of Congress, or by other rules prescribed by the Supreme Court pursuant to statutory authority?

If the answer is "Yes" to the first two questions and "No" to the third question, then the Federal Rules of Evidence are applicable.

The Rules Enabling Act empowers Supreme Court to prescribe general rules of practice and procedure and rules of evidence for cases in the U.S. District Courts, including proceedings before magistrates, and in the Courts of Appeals. 59 Rules of evidence prescribed by Supreme Court shall not abridge, enlarge, or modify any substantive rights. 60

§ 9 ----Proceedings governed by Federal Rules [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Although Rules of Evidence do not apply to sentencing where hearsay is staple, sentencing judges must ensure that hearsay they use is reliable. United States v Atkin (1994, CA7 Ind) 29 F3d 267.

Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply in supervised release revocation proceedings. United States v Frazier (1994, CA11 Ga) 26 F3d 110, 8 FLW Fed C 387.

Footnotes

Footnote 49. FRE 1103 (stating that the rules may be known and cited as the Federal Rules of Evidence).

Footnote 50. FRE 101.

Practice References Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 1.6.

Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 1.

Footnote 51. FRE 1101.

Footnote 52. Hanna v Plumer, 380 US 460, 14 L Ed 2d 8, 85 S Ct 1136, 9 FR Serv 2d 1.3, Case 1.

Annotation: Federal Rules of Evidence or state evidentiary rules as applicable in diversity cases, 84 ALR Fed 283.

Footnote 53. United States v McClintock (CA9 Ariz) 748 F2d 1278, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 262, cert den 474 US 822, 88 L Ed 2d 61, 106 S Ct 75.

Footnote 54. Hanna v Plumer, 380 US 460, 14 L Ed 2d 8, 85 S Ct 1136, 9 FR Serv 2d 1.3, Case 1.

Footnote 55. FRE 102.

Footnote 56. FRE 803(24) and 804(b)(5).

As to hearsay, generally, see §§ 658 et seq.

Footnote 57. FRE 901(b).

Footnote 58. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 901.

Footnote 59. 28 USCS § 2072(a).

Footnote 60. 28 USCS § 2072(b).

§ 10 Adoption by states of Federal Rules of Evidence

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

In 1974, the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws adopted the new Uniform Rules of Evidence, designed to be identical to the Federal Rules of Evidence as promulgated by the United States Supreme Court. 61 Cases interpreting the Federal Rules of Evidence are helpful in analysis of state rules which are based on the Federal Rules of Evidence. 62 In fact, a state rule of evidence patterned after a Federal Rule of Evidence should be construed in accordance with federal court decisions interpreting the Federal Rules of Evidence. 63 Thus, state courts will look at the Federal Rule's history and purposes in interpreting the provisions of an identical state rule of evidence. 64 However, one state court has held that because rules of evidence, to the extent that they do not impinge upon United States constitutional guarantees, are a matter of state law, federal authorities are not of controlling precedential significance. 65

Footnotes

Footnote 61. Uniform Rules of Evidence, 13A Uniform Laws Annotated, Prefatory Note.

Footnote 62. Smithey v State, 269 Ark 538, 602 SW2d 676.

Footnote 63. Moore v State (Fla) 452 So 2d 559, appeal after remand (Fla App D4) 473 So 2d 686, 9 FLW 2591, approved, ctfed ques ans (Fla) 485 So 2d 1279, 11 FLW 157.

Footnote 64. State v Smith, 97 Wash 2d 856, 651 P2d 207.

Footnote 65. State v Outlaw, 108 Wis 2d 112, 321 NW2d 145 (state court was interpreting a rule of evidence relating to an informer's privilege, and federal law defers to state law in the specific area of privileges).

§ 11 Law governing in diversity cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply in federal diversity cases when they cover the points in dispute. 66 The Federal Rules of Evidence thus govern the admissibility of evidence, 67 including documentary evidence, 68 in federal diversity cases. In reaching the conclusion that the Federal Rules of Evidence control the evidentiary question in issue, courts rely on the fact that Congress amended the proposed Rules which the Supreme Court promulgated, 69 and has deferred to state law in certain specific areas, such as presumptions 70 and privileges. 71 Further, in a diversity case state evidentiary rules may be so bound up with state substantive law that federal courts sitting in that state should accord them the same treatment as state courts in order to give full effect to the state's substantive policy. 72 For example, state law has been found to govern over the Federal Rules of Evidence as to the admissibility of evidence of a plaintiff's remarriage in a wrongful death action. 73

Federal law will govern—

—when the Federal Rules of Evidence address the specific question at issue in the case. 74

—if the evidentiary question at issue has procedural aspects, even if the issue also has substantive ramifications. 75

—where there is no conflict between federal and state law on the question at issue. 76

§ 11 ----Law governing in diversity cases [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Federalism and Federal Rule of Evidence 501: Privilege and vertical choice of law, 82 Geo LJ 1781 (1994).

Footnotes

Footnote 66. Gibbs v State Farm Mut. Ins. Co. (CA9 Cal) 544 F2d 423, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 566.

Annotation: Federal Rules of Evidence or state evidentiary rules as applicable in diversity cases, 84 ALR Fed 283.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 620.

Footnote 67. McInnis v A.M.F., Inc. (CA1 RI) 765 F2d 240, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 607, 84 ALR Fed 259, on remand (DC RI) 625 F Supp 943; Rioux v Daniel International Corp. (DC Me) 582 F Supp 620, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 245; Scott v Sears, Roebuck & Co. (CA4 Va) 789 F2d 1052, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 322; Campus Sweater & Sportswear Co. v M. B. Kahn Constr. Co. (DC SC) 515 F Supp 64, 33 UCCRS 547, affd without op (CA4 SC) 644 F2d 877; Grenada Steel Industries, Inc. v Alabama Oxygen Co. (CA5 Miss) 695 F2d 883, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9494, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 940, reh den (CA5 Miss) 699 F2d 1163; Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 525 F2d 927, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 193, on reh (CA5 Tex) 540 F2d 837, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 610 F2d 360, reh den (CA5 Tex) 614 F2d 1298 and on remand (ED Tex) 487 F Supp 647, motion gr (ED Tex) 87 FRD 712, 30 FR Serv 2d 856, affd (CA5 Tex) 644 F2d 1059, reh den (CA5 Tex) 650 F2d 282 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 687 F2d 108, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1895, 34 FR Serv 2d 1485, reh den (CA5 Tex) 693 F2d 133.

As to admissibility, generally, see §§ 301 et seq.

Footnote 68. Pollard v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (CA3 Pa) 598 F2d 1284, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 942, cert den 444 US 917, 62 L Ed 2d 171, 100 S Ct 232, reh den 444 US 985, 62 L Ed 2d 414, 100 S Ct 493.

For a discussion of documentary evidence, generally, see Subdivision G under Roman Numeral Division VI, which covers particular types of evidence.

Footnote 69. McInnis v A.M.F., Inc. (CA1 RI) 765 F2d 240, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 607, 84 ALR Fed 259, on remand (DC RI) 625 F Supp 943; Rioux v Daniel International Corp. (DC Me) 582 F Supp 620, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 245; Scott v Sears, Roebuck & Co. (CA4 Va) 789 F2d 1052, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 322; Sprynczynatyk v General

Motors Corp. (CA8 ND) 771 F2d 1112, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 952, cert den 475 US 1046, 89 L Ed 2d 572, 106 S Ct 1263; Warner v Transamerica Ins. Co. (CA8 Mo) 739 F2d 1347, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1338.

Footnote 70. FRE 302, discussed in § 187.

Footnote 71. FRE 501, discussed in § 14.

Footnote 72. Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 540 F2d 837, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 610 F2d 360, reh den (CA5 Tex) 614 F2d 1298 and on remand (ED Tex) 487 F Supp 647, motion gr (ED Tex) 87 FRD 712, 30 FR Serv 2d 856, affd (CA5 Tex) 644 F2d 1059, reh den (CA5 Tex) 650 F2d 282 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 687 F2d 108, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1895, 34 FR Serv 2d 1485, reh den (CA5 Tex) 693 F2d 133.

Footnote 73. Stonehocker v General Motors Corp. (CA4 SC) 587 F2d 151, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1334; Caldarera v Eastern Airlines, Inc. (CA5 La) 705 F2d 778, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1996; Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 540 F2d 837, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 610 F2d 360, reh den (CA5 Tex) 614 F2d 1298 and on remand (ED Tex) 487 F Supp 647, motion gr (ED Tex) 87 FRD 712, 30 FR Serv 2d 856, affd (CA5 Tex) 644 F2d 1059, reh den (CA5 Tex) 650 F2d 282 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 687 F2d 108, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1895, 34 FR Serv 2d 1485, reh den (CA5 Tex) 693 F2d 133 (declarations of Texas statute providing that evidence of actual ceremonial remarriage of surviving spouse in action for wrongful death was admissible, and of state Supreme Court interpreting statute as mandatory were embedded in state substantive law and policy which was adopted and applied by federal court).

Footnote 74. Scott v Sears, Roebuck & Co. (CA4 Va) 789 F2d 1052, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 322 (court held that FRE 702, establishing standards for admitting expert testimony, generally, governed admissibility of human factors expert testimony); Dawsey v Olin Corp. (CA5 La) 782 F2d 1254 (court held that admissibility of expert testimony fell within province of FRE 702); Reed v General Motors Corp. (CA5 La) 773 F2d 660, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 826 (court observed that FRE 411 governed admission of evidence of insurance in federal forum).

Footnote 75. Re Air Crash Disaster near Chicago (CA7 Ill) 701 F2d 1189, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 914, cert den 464 US 866, 78 L Ed 2d 178, 104 S Ct 204 (court held that Federal Rules of Evidence applied because admissibility rule could be considered procedural despite its substantive aspects).

Footnote 76. Stonehocker v General Motors Corp. (CA4 SC) 587 F2d 151, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1334 (court concluded that state had no policy either favoring or disfavoring admissibility of evidence at issue and therefore applied Federal Rules of Evidence); Re Air Crash Disaster near Chicago (CA7 Ill) 701 F2d 1189, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 914, cert den 464 US 866, 78 L Ed 2d 178, 104 S Ct 204 (state law was same as federal law).

§ 12 Adjudicative bodies to which Rules are applicable

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to—

- the United States District Courts.
- the District Court of Guam.
- the District Court of the Virgin Islands.
- the District Court for the Northern Mariana Islands.
- the United States Courts of Appeals.
- the United States Claims Court.
- the United States Bankruptcy judges and United States magistrates. 77

The District of Columbia 78 and Puerto Rico are included in the United States District Courts to which the Federal Rules of Evidence are applicable. 79

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply to United States magistrates, and the terms "judge" and "court" in the Rules include United States magistrates and bankruptcy judges. 80

Although the pertinent rule 81 does not say whether the Federal Rules of Evidence apply to the United States Supreme Court, that court has applied the Federal Rules of Evidence in certain instances. 82

The Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply to state courts, 83 although some state courts have cited the Federal Rules of Evidence. 84

However, the Federal Rules of Evidence may be applicable by statute to courts not specifically listed under the provision governing applicability of the Rules. 85

As to the application of the Federal Rules of Evidence to courts-martial, by Executive order military rules of evidence for courts-martial substantially follow the format of the Federal Rules of Evidence. 86

The Federal Rules of Evidence, by their own terms, do not apply to administrative agencies, 87 or in Black Lung Benefits Act 88 hearings. 89 Although the general rule is that administrative tribunals are not bound by the strict rules of evidence governing jury trials or other court proceedings, 90 statutes or regulations may expressly provide for the application of rules of evidence in certain administrative proceedings. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 77. FRE 1101(a).

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 619.

Footnote 78. Estate of Temple v Commissioner, 65 TC 776, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1095.

Footnote 79. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101, which state that any doubt as to the inclusion of the District Courts for the District of Columbia and the District of Puerto Rico in the phrase "District Courts of the United States" as used in FRE 1101(a) is laid at rest by the provisions of the Judicial Code establishing judicial districts (28 USCS §§ 81 et seq.), creating District Courts in judicial districts (28 USCS § 132), and specifically providing that the District of Columbia (28 USCS § 88) and Puerto Rico (28 USCS § 119) each constitutes one judicial district.

Footnote 80. FRE 1101(a).

Footnote 81. FRE 1101(a).

Footnote 82. Massachusetts v Westcott, 431 US 322, 52 L Ed 2d 349, 97 S Ct 1755, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025 (applying FRE 201).

Footnote 83. Peaches v Evansville, 180 Ind App 465, 389 NE2d 322, reh den 180 Ind App 472, 391 NE2d 828 and cert den 444 US 1033, 62 L Ed 2d 669, 100 S Ct 704 (Federal Rules of Evidence not applicable in state court even though plaintiff is attempting to establish federal claim under federal civil rights statute, since state courts are not among those "federal" courts for whom Federal Rules of Evidence are deemed applicable under FRE 101 and FRE 1101).

Footnote 84. State v Howard (Iowa) 284 NW2d 201 (applying FRE 201(c)).

Footnote 85. FRE 1101(a).

Footnote 86. Executive Order No. 12473, 49 Fed Reg 17152.

Footnote 87. Wearly v Federal Trade Com. (DC NJ) 462 F Supp 589, 1978-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62358, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1438, 27 FR Serv 2d 64, vacated on other grounds (CA3 NJ) 616 F2d 662, 1980-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 63175, cert den 449 US 822, 66 L Ed 2d 25, 101 S Ct 81.

Footnote 88. 30 USCS §§ 931 et seq.

Footnote 89. Republic Steel Corp. v Leonard (CA3) 635 F2d 206; U. S. Pipe & Foundry Co. v Webb (CA5) 595 F2d 264; Consolidation Coal Co. v Chubb (CA7) 741 F2d 968, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 881; American Coal Co. v Benefits Review Bd., United States Dept. of Labor (CA10) 738 F2d 387, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 54.

Footnote 90. 2 Am Jur 2d, Administrative Law § 345.

Footnote 91. 29 CFR §§ 101.10(a), 102.39.

The National Labor Relations Act provides that any unfair labor practice proceeding must so far as practicable, be conducted in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in the District Courts of the United States under the rules of civil procedure for the District Courts of the United States, adopted by the Supreme Court of the United States. 29 USCS § 160(b).

The National Labor Relations Board is required by regulation to conduct its proceedings so far as practicable in accord with the Federal Rules of Evidence. NLRB v Houston Distribution Services, Inc. (CA5) 573 F2d 260, 98 BNA LRRM 2538, 83 CCH LC ¶ 10613, cert den 439 US 1047, 58 L Ed 2d 705, 99 S Ct 722, 99 BNA LRRM 3450, 85 CCH LC ¶ 10963.

Annotation: Rules of evidence in NLRB proceedings as affected by evidence provision of § 10(b) of National Labor Relations Act (29 USCS § 160(b)), 32 ALR Fed 838.

§ 13 Proceedings to which Rules are applicable

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence apply generally to—

- civil actions and proceedings, including admiralty and maritime cases. 92
- criminal cases and proceedings. 93
- contempt proceedings, except those in which the court may act summarily. 94
- proceedings in cases under Title 11, United States Code (bankruptcy cases). 95

The provision governing applicability of the Rules to proceedings, generally, 96 is subject to the qualifications expressed in (1) the provision dealing with rules of privilege; 97 (2) the provision dealing with situations in which the Federal Rules of Evidence are inapplicable; 98 and (3) the provision dealing with proceedings in which the Rules are applicable in part. 99

Footnotes

Footnote 92. FRE 1101(b).

Footnote 93. FRE 1101(b).

Thus, FRE 408 governs the admission of related civil settlement negotiations in a criminal trial by reason of FRE 1101(b).

Footnote 94. FRE 1101(b).

Footnote 95. 11 USCS §§ 101 et seq; FRE 1101(b).

Footnote 96. FRE 1101(b).

Footnote 97. FRE 1101(c).

Footnote 98. FRE 1101(d).

Footnote 99. FRE 1101(e), cited in Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

§ 14 --Rules of privilege

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The rule with respect to privileges applies at all stages of all actions, cases, and proceedings. 1 The rule with respect to privileges referred to in Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(c) is Federal Rules of Evidence 501, which provides that the privilege of a witness is governed by the principles of the common law as they may be interpreted by the courts of the United States in the light of reason and experience. 2

In accordance with Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(c), it has been held that the rule with respect to privileges applies during grand jury proceedings, 3 and discovery. 4

§ 14 --Rules of privilege [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Defendant convicted of sending threatening communications through mail is denied new trial, even though reverend who had significant personal contact with him testified that defendant "knows difference between right and wrong," because such testimony was admissible under FRE 701(a) and (b) and was not subject to clergy-communicant privilege recognized under FRE 501 since reverend testified to no utterances or conduct defendant intended to convey confidential message to reverend. United States v Mohanlal (1994, SD NY) 867 F Supp 199.

Case-by-case balancing approach of Second Circuit in adopting highly qualified version of psychotherapist-patient privilege was persuasive, and in applying it, court should consider privacy interest of individual opposing disclosure, policy of encouraging forthright exchange of information between psychotherapist and patient, policy of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure favoring narrow construction of privileges in order to encourage full access to information, methods of limiting disclosure, and relevancy of requested information. Mines v City of Philadelphia (1994, ED Pa) 158 FRD 337.

Court would recognize existence of psychotherapist/patient privilege under Rule 501; appropriate scope is determined by balancing interests protected by shielding evidence sought with those advanced by disclosure. Jaffee v Redmond (1995, CA7 Ill) 51 F3d 1346, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 612, reh, en banc, den (1995, CA7 Ill) 1995 US App LEXIS 10909.

In diversity action, Rule 501 required application of Alaska Evidence Rule 512 prohibiting drawing of any negative inferences from invocation of attorney-client privilege, since it is part and parcel of Alaska's law of privileges even though it does not explicitly address how privileges are to be determined. Home Indem. Co. v Lane Powell Moss & Miller (1995, CA9 Alaska) 43 F3d 1322, 95 CDOS 175, 30 FR Serv 3d 449.

Self-critical analysis privilege protected documents of plaintiff who was suing former site owners to recover its current and anticipated response costs under CERCLA and various Florida statutes; even though Florida did not recognize such privilege, federal privilege applied in federal question case with pendent state law claims. Reichhold Chems. v Textron, Inc. (1994, ND Fla) 157 FRD 522, 39 Env't Rep Cas 1328.

Footnotes

Footnote 1. FRE 1101(c).

According to the Advisory Committee Notes to the Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101(c) is made necessary by the limited applicability of the other Federal Rules of Evidence.

For further discussion of the situations to which the Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply, see § 15.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 621.

Footnote 2. Re Grand Jury Investigation (ED Pa) 412 F Supp 943, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1139.

For a discussion of privileged relations and communications, generally, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 285 et seq.

Footnote 3. Re Grand Jury Subpoena (CA2 NY) 599 F2d 504, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96917, 79-1 USTC ¶ 9405, 43 AFTR 2d 79-1221; United States v Mackey (ED NY) 405 F Supp 854, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1060; United States v Estes (DC Vt) 609 F Supp 564, rev'd on other grounds (CA2 Vt) 793 F2d 465, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1089.

The existence and extent of privilege in a federal grand jury proceeding is a matter of federal common law, and thus state documents must be produced pursuant to a subpoena by a federal grand jury even though state law prohibits disclosure of the document where the asserted privilege does not exist as a matter of federal law. United States v Blasi (MD Ala) 462 F Supp 373, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1004.

Footnote 4. Biliske v American Live Stock Ins. Co. (WD Okla) 73 FRD 124, 24 FR Serv 2d 691; Oliver v Committee for Re-Election of President (DC Dist Col) 66 FRD 553, 19 FR Serv 2d 1517.

§ 15 Proceedings or situations to which Rules of Evidence are inapplicable

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The Federal Rules of Evidence, other than with respect to privileges, do not apply in——the determination of questions of fact preliminary to admissibility of evidence when the issue is to be determined by the court. 5 —proceedings before a grand jury.

—proceedings for extradition or rendition; preliminary examinations in criminal cases; sentencing, or granting or revoking probation; issuance of warrants for arrest, criminal summonses, and search warrants; and proceedings with respect to release on bail or otherwise. 6

◆ Caution: It should be noted that Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d) is not intended as an expression as to when due process or other constitutional provisions may require an evidentiary hearing. 7

§ 15 ----Proceedings or situations to which Rules of Evidence are inapplicable [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Hearing on revocation of supervised release is not part of criminal prosecution and full panoply of rights due defendant under Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply, thus hearsay testimony is admissible so long as it is reliable. United States v Pratt (1995, CA7 Wis) 52 F3d 671.

Footnotes

Footnote 5. FRE 104.

For a discussion of FRE 104, see § 16.

Footnote 6. FRE 1101(d).

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 622, 623.

Footnote 7. United States v Fatico (1978, CA2 NY) 579 F2d 707, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 506, on remand (ED NY) 458 F Supp 388, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391, affd (CA2 NY) 603 F2d 1053, cert den 444 US 1073, 62 L Ed 2d 755, 100 S Ct 1018 and (disapproved on other grounds by United States v Urrego-Linares (CA4 NC) 879 F2d 1234, cert den 493 US 943, 107 L Ed 2d 334, 110 S Ct 346).

§ 16 --Determination of preliminary questions of fact

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence, other than those with respect to privileges, do not apply to the determination of questions of facts preliminary to the admissibility of evidence when the issue is to be determined by the court under Federal Rules of Evidence 104. 8 Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(1) confirms the general view of various authorities on evidence that the rules of evidence governing criminal jury trials do not govern hearings before a judge to determine evidentiary questions. 9

In accordance with Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(1), the Federal Rules of Evidence are not applicable to suppression hearings, 10 and therefore the admission of hearsay evidence 11 and evidence without formal authentication is permissible at such hearings, although the court remains obligated to weigh the evidence and discount that which is less reliable. 12 However, the Rule governing rulings on evidence 13 has been held applicable to a separate hearing to determine the voluntariness of a confession, and thus a claim on appeal that the court improperly excluded evidence in such a hearing, which error is not properly preserved by an offer of proof as required by the Rule, is not permitted. 14

◆ Observation: The Advisory Committee Notes to the Federal Rules of Evidence say that Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(1) restates for convenience the provisions of the second sentence of Federal Rules of Evidence 104(a). 15 However, one court has said that the Advisory Committee Notes to the Federal Rules of Evidence are in error in this regard since the second sentence of Federal Rules of Evidence 104(a) provides that in making its determination the court is not bound by the rules of evidence except those with respect to privileges, and the words "not bound" have an entirely different and much narrower purport than the flat statement that the rules "do not apply." According to this court, the words "not bound" simply mean that the court may generally apply the rules unless for some reason they should not be applied, whereas the term "not applicable" means what it says, that the rules do not apply. 16

Footnotes

Footnote 8. FRE 1101(d)(1).

Footnote 9. United States v Matlock, 415 US 164, 39 L Ed 2d 242, 94 S Ct 988 (referring to proposed FRE 1101(d)(1) which is substantially identical to the Rule as enacted).

Footnote 10. United States v Matlock, 415 US 164, 39 L Ed 2d 242, 94 S Ct 988

(referring to FRE 1101(d)(1) which is substantially identical to the Rule as enacted); United States v Ochs (SD NY) 461 F Supp 1, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1307, affd without op (CA2 NY) 636 F2d 1205, cert den 451 US 1016, 69 L Ed 2d 388, 101 S Ct 3005, reh den 453 US 923, 69 L Ed 2d 1006, 101 S Ct 3161.

Footnote 11. United States v Marchand (CA2 Vt) 564 F2d 983, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1130, cert den 434 US 1015, 54 L Ed 2d 760, 98 S Ct 732; United States v Ochs (SD NY) 461 F Supp 1, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1307, affd without op (CA2 NY) 636 F2d 1205, cert den 451 US 1016, 69 L Ed 2d 388, 101 S Ct 3005, reh den 453 US 923, 69 L Ed 2d 1006, 101 S Ct 3161; United States v Tussell (MD Pa) 441 F Supp 1092.

Footnote 12. United States v Tussell (MD Pa) 441 F Supp 1092.

One court has concluded that since the Federal Rules of Evidence do not apply to suppression hearings by reason of FRE 1101(d)(1), the common law of evidence interpreted in the light of reason and experience applies to such hearings. United States v Salsedo (ED Cal) 477 F Supp 1235, vacated on other grounds (CA9 Cal) 622 F2d 465, on remand (ED Cal) 504 F Supp 864, affd (CA9 Cal) 659 F2d 1012, cert den 455 US 926, 71 L Ed 2d 469, 102 S Ct 1289.

Footnote 13. FRE 103.

Footnote 14. United States v Gresham (CA5 Tex) 585 F2d 103.

Footnote 15. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 16. United States v Salsedo (ED Cal) 477 F Supp 1235, vacated on other grounds (CA9 Cal) 622 F2d 465, on remand (ED Cal) 504 F Supp 864, affd (CA9 Cal) 659 F2d 1012, cert den 455 US 926, 71 L Ed 2d 469, 102 S Ct 1289.

§ 17 --Grand jury proceedings

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence, other than with respect to privileges, do not apply in proceedings before grand juries. 17 The grand jury may compel the production of evidence or the testimony of witnesses as it considers appropriate, and its operation generally is unrestrained by technical, procedural and evidentiary rules governing the conduct of criminal trials. 18 Thus, the Rule dealing with compromise and offers to compromise 19 does not apply in the first instance in grand jury proceedings, and does not apply by analogy in such proceedings since the grand jury cannot be hamstrung in its essential function to uncover matters which may relate to potential criminal acts. 20 However, although rules of evidence, constitutional or otherwise, are generally inapplicable to grand jury proceedings, evidentiary rules may illuminate the factors mitigating prejudice, and consequently, when prejudicial matters cannot be excised, when probative value exceeds prejudicial effects, or when less prejudicial evidence is unavailable, the prejudice may be ignored. 21

Although Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d) provides that the rules of evidence do not apply to proceedings before grand juries, this Rule specifically excepts the Federal Rules of Evidence governing privileges, and thus the attorney-client privilege does apply to grand jury proceedings. 22 A grand jury witness may thus resist questioning or a subpoena on grounds that it calls for the production of attorney work product. 23

Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(2) does not deal with the evidence required to support an indictment. 24

Footnotes

Footnote 17. FRE 1101(d)(2).

◆ Comment: This subdivision of FRE 1101 accords with the Supreme Court decision of Costello v United States, 350 US 359, 100 L Ed 397, 76 S Ct 406, 56-1 USTC ¶ 9321, 48 AFTR 689, reh den 351 US 904, 100 L Ed 1440, 76 S Ct 692, in which the court refused to allow an indictment to be attacked, for either constitutional or policy reasons, on the ground that only hearsay evidence was presented. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

As to the nature and functions of grand juries, generally, see 38 Am Jur 2d, Grand Jury.

Footnote 18. United States v Calandra, 414 US 338, 38 L Ed 2d 561, 94 S Ct 613, 66 Ohio Ops 2d 320.

Footnote 19. FRE 408.

For a discussion of FRE 408, see §§ 507 et seq.

Footnote 20. Re Special November 1975 Grand Jury etc. (ND Ill) 433 F Supp 1094, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 120.

Footnote 21. United States v Samango (DC Hawaii) 450 F Supp 1097, affd (CA9 Hawaii) 607 F2d 877.

Footnote 22. United States v Mackey (ED NY) 405 F Supp 854, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1060.

For a discussion of the protection against discovery of attorney work product, see 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery §§ 50-67.

Footnote 23. Re Grand Jury Investigation (ED Pa) 412 F Supp 943, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1139.

Footnote 24. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

§ 18 --Other proceedings

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The Federal Rules of Evidence, other than those with respect to privileges, do not apply to various miscellaneous proceedings including—

- proceedings for extradition or rendition.
- preliminary examinations in criminal cases.
- the sentencing, granting, or revoking of probation.
- issuance of warrants for arrest, criminal summonses, and search warrants.
- proceedings with respect to release on bail or otherwise. 25

Extradition and rendition proceedings are governed in detail by statute, 26 and are essentially administrative in character, and traditionally rules of evidence have not been applied in such proceedings. 27

In preliminary examinations in criminal cases, hearsay testimony is customarily received and, according to the Advisory Committee, it is believed that the extent of the applicability of the rules of evidence to preliminary examinations should be appropriately dealt with by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure which regulate those proceedings. 28

Rules of evidence have not been regarded as applicable to sentencing 29 or probation proceedings, where great reliance is placed on the presentence investigation and report. 30

As regards sentencing, Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(3) largely parallels the federal criminal statute governing use of information at sentencing, 31 wherein Congress declared that no limitation could be placed on the information concerning the background, character, and conduct of a person convicted of an offense which a court of the United States may receive and consider for the purpose of imposing an appropriate sentence. 32 Thus, any exclusion of evidence at a sentencing proceeding must be based not merely upon the hearsay nature of the evidence for example, but on the due process or confrontation clause implications of the evidence. 33 Similarly, a probation revocation hearing is not a formal trial and Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(3), provides that the Federal Rules of Evidence, other than those with respect to privileges, do not apply in proceedings for revoking probation. 34

Warrants for arrest, criminal summonses, and search warrants are issued upon complaint or affidavit showing probable cause, 35 and the nature of the proceedings makes application of the formal Rules of Evidence inappropriate and impracticable. 36

Proceedings with respect to release on bail or otherwise do not call for application of the Federal Rules of Evidence, since the governing statute specifically provides that the rules pertaining to the admissibility of evidence in criminal trials do not apply to the presentation and consideration of information at a detention hearing. 37 The reference to the weight of the evidence against the accused in the statute, 38 as a factor to be considered in determining the conditions of the pre-trial release of a person charged with an offense, clearly does not have in view evidence introduced at a hearing under the Federal Rules of Evidence. 39

In addition to the proceedings specified in Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(d)(3), the Federal Rules of Evidence are inapplicable to—

—a contempt proceeding in which the court may act summarily. 40

—a hearing on such preliminary matters as class certification when a full-scale evidentiary hearing may not be absolutely necessary. 41

—a proceeding conducted upon a motion to transfer a juvenile delinquency proceeding to adult court under the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act. 42

—parole board proceedings. 43

—a rescission of status proceeding conducted by an immigration judge. 44

§ 18 --Other proceedings [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Rules of evidence do not apply to probation revocation proceedings, so hearsay is unobjectionable; district judge must use reliable evidence, but written reports of medical tests are generally reliable. United States v Pierre (1995, CA7 Ill) 47 F3d 241.

Footnotes

Footnote 25. FRE 1101(d)(3).

Footnote 26. 18 USCS §§ 3181-3195.

Footnote 27. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 28. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 29. United States v Charmer Industries, Inc. (CA2 NY) 711 F2d 1164, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65581, appeal after remand (CA2 NY) 722 F2d 1073, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65755.

Evidence rules regarding hearsay are not applicable to sentencing proceedings. United States v Manthei (CA5 Tex) 913 F2d 1130.

Footnote 30. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

See FR Crim P, Rule 32(c) requiring a presentence investigation and report in every case unless the court otherwise directs.

Footnote 31. 18 USCS § 3661.

Footnote 32. United States v Fatico (CA2 NY) 579 F2d 707, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 506, on remand (ED NY) 458 F Supp 388, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391, affd (CA2 NY) 603 F2d 1053, cert den 444 US 1073, 62 L Ed 2d 755, 100 S Ct 1018 and (disapproved on other grounds by United States v Urrego-Linares (CA4 NC) 879 F2d 1234); United States v Whelan (DC NJ) 456 F Supp 744, affd without op (CA3 NJ) 601 F2d 578 and affd without op (CA3 NJ) 601 F2d 578.

Footnote 33. United States v Fatico (CA2 NY) 579 F2d 707, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 506, on remand (ED NY) 458 F Supp 388, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391, affd (CA2 NY) 603 F2d 1053, cert den 444 US 1073, 62 L Ed 2d 755, 100 S Ct 1018 and (disapproved on other grounds by United States v Urrego-Linares (CA4 NC) 879 F2d 1234).

Footnote 34. United States v Francischine (CA5 Fla) 512 F2d 827, reh den (CA5 Fla) 515 F2d 1184 and cert den 423 US 931, 46 L Ed 2d 261, 96 S Ct 284.

Footnote 35. In this connection, see FR Crim P, Rules 4(a) and 41(c).

Footnote 36. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 37. 18 USCS § 3142(f).

Footnote 38. 18 USCS § 3142(g)(2).

Footnote 39. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 40. FRE 1101(b).

Criminal contempts are punishable summarily under FR Crim P, Rule 42(a) if the judge certifies seeing or hearing the contempt in the presence of the court.

Footnote 41. Thompson v Board of Education (WD Mich) 71 FRD 398, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1700, 13 CCH EPD ¶ 11487, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 557, motion den (WD Mich) 519 F Supp 1373, 32 BNA FEP Cas 404, revd on other grounds (CA6 Mich) 709 F2d 1200, 32 BNA FEP Cas 527, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33694, 36 FR Serv 2d 1118 (such view of Federal Rules of Evidence is consistent with FRE 102's mandate to construe Rules in manner so as to avoid unjustifiable expense and delay without negatively affecting just determination of merits of case).

The United States Supreme Court has stated that a class action hearing of necessity is not accompanied by the traditional rules and procedures applicable to civil trials. Eisen v Carlisle & Jacquelin, 417 US 156, 40 L Ed 2d 732, 94 S Ct 2140, 9 BNA FEP Cas 1302, 7 CCH EPD ¶ 9374a, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94570, 1974-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 75082, 18 FR Serv 2d 877, 4 ELR 20513 (not followed by In re Seagate Technology II Sec. Litig. (ND Cal) 1994 US Dist LEXIS 1478).

Footnote 42. 18 USCS §§ 5031-5042.

The evidence received in a juvenile delinquency hearing need not be measured by the standards of admissibility in a criminal trial; however, the evidence must measure up to the essentials of due process and fair treatment, since the hearing is a critically important action determining vitally important statutory rights of the juvenile. United States v K. (DC Or) 471 F Supp 924, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 926.

Footnote 43. McArthur v United States Bd. of Parole (SD Ind) 434 F Supp 163, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1234, affd without op (CA7 Ind) 559 F2d 1226 (parole board hearing is not adversary proceeding and its purpose is not to determine whether prisoner has committed crime, but in light of facts and circumstances of case, to determine whether prisoner should be released from custody, and virtually all evidence considered in such proceedings must of necessity be hearsay).

Footnote 44. Re De Vera (BIA) 16 I & N Dec 266.

§ 19 Proceedings to which Rules are applicable in part

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In certain enumerated proceedings, the Federal Rules of Evidence apply to the extent that matters of evidence are not provided for in the statutes which govern procedure in such proceedings or in other rules prescribed by the Supreme Court pursuant to statutory authority. 45 In a substantial number of special proceedings, ad hoc evaluation has resulted in the promulgation of particularized evidentiary provisions by acts of Congress or by rules adopted by the Supreme Court. 46 These provisions, which are well-adapted to the particular proceedings, though not so adapted for inclusion in a set of general rules, are left undisturbed under Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(e). 47 Otherwise, the Rules are applicable to the proceedings enumerated in the subdivision. 48

Federal evidentiary rules generally govern in habeas corpus proceedings by reason of Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(e), and there is nothing in the statutory provisions pertaining to habeas corpus 49 or the Supreme Court Rules governing such cases which would preclude the applicability of the Rule governing the competency of a juror to testify as a witness, 50 which provides in part that a juror's affidavit or evidence of any statement by a juror concerning a matter about which the juror would be precluded from testifying may not be received for the purposes of an inquiry into the validity of a verdict or indictment. 51

A proceeding for challenging collaterally the validity of a federal conviction 52 is a formal procedure with all the usual accoutrements of a civil trial, and the legal issues are determined under the established requirements of the Constitution, the statutes, and judicial precedence, while issues of fact are resolved under the Federal Rules of Evidence, in view of Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(e). 53

Footnotes

Footnote 45. FRE 1101(e).

Footnote 46. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 47. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 48. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 1101.

Footnote 49. 28 USCS § 2254.

Footnote 50. FRE 606(b).

Footnote 51. Smith v Brewer (SD Iowa) 444 F Supp 482, affd (CA8 Iowa) 577 F2d 466, cert den 439 US 967, 58 L Ed 2d 426, 99 S Ct 457.

Footnote 52. 28 USCS § 2255.

Footnote 53. United States v Francischine (CA5 Fla) 512 F2d 827, reh den (CA5 Fla) 515 F2d 1184 and cert den 423 US 931, 46 L Ed 2d 261, 96 S Ct 284.

2. Purpose and Construction of Rules [20-23]

§ 20 Introduction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The Federal Rules of Evidence must be construed to secure fairness in administration, elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay, and promotion of growth and development of the law of evidence to the end that the truth may be ascertained and proceedings justly determined. 54

The ultimate purposes of the Federal Rules of Evidence are the ascertainment of the truth and the just determination of the proceedings. These purposes are reflected in—

—Rule 401, relating to the definition of relevant evidence. 55

—Rule 402, relating to relevant evidence as generally admissible and irrelevant evidence as inadmissible. 56

—Rule 403, relating to the exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time. 57

—Rule 501, relating to privileges. 58

–Rule 608(b), relating to attaching or supporting credibility through extrinsic evidence of specific instances of conduct of a witness. 59

–Rule 609(c), relating to impeachment by evidence of a conviction of a crime where there has been a pardon, annulment, or certificate of rehabilitation. 60

–Rule 803(24), relating to exceptions to the hearsay rule. 61

In accordance with these purposes, it has been held that the provision prohibiting extrinsic evidence of specific instances of the conduct of a witness for the purpose of attacking or supporting the credibility of the witness, other than conviction of crime as provided in Federal Rules of Evidence 609, 62 should not be read in isolation, when to do so would destroy the purpose of ascertaining the truth, especially when a witness directly contradicts the relevant evidence which Federal Rules of Evidence 608(b) seeks to exclude. 63 It has also been held that under the Rule providing in part that evidence of a conviction is not admissible if the conviction has been the subject of a certificate of rehabilitation or other equivalent procedure based on a finding of the rehabilitation of the person convicted, 64 a trial judge may conclude that a witness has been rehabilitated, even though such rehabilitation is not evidenced by a certificate of any nature, since the Rule permits an exercise of discretion by the trial court in implementing the purpose of the Rule to the end that truth may be ascertained and proceedings justly determined in accordance with Federal Rules of Evidence 102. 65 Moreover, the trial judge is free to fashion an evidentiary procedure that will secure fairness in administration to the end that the truth will be ascertained and the proceedings justly determined under Federal Rules of Evidence 102 where the Federal Rules of Evidence do not provide a procedure, such as where impeachment of a witness is sought by subsequent inconsistent statements. 66

◆ Observation: The Advisory Committee's commentary is particularly relevant in determining the meaning of a Federal Rule of Evidence as enacted by Congress, where Congress has not amended the Advisory Committee's draft of the rule in any way that touches upon the issue in question. 67

§ 20 ----Introduction [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Decedent's statements concerning his accident in reclining chair, made before he died of unrelated causes, are inadmissible in diversity case, even though state law governs substantive questions and plaintiff argues that Massachusetts statute making declarations of deceased persons more readily admissible is substantive, because rule allowing declarations "made in good faith and upon personal knowledge of declarant" is mere rule of admissibility, and FRE 601 was never intended to "give life" to it in federal courts. Donovan v Sears Roebuck & Co. (1994, DC Mass) 849 F Supp 86.

Footnotes

Footnote 54. FRE 102.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 3, 4.

Footnote 55. United States ex rel. Edney v Smith (ED NY) 425 F Supp 1038, affd without op (CA2 NY) 556 F2d 556, cert den 431 US 958, 53 L Ed 2d 276, 97 S Ct 2683; United States v King (ED NY) 73 FRD 103, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521.

Footnote 56. United States ex rel. Edney v Smith (ED NY) 425 F Supp 1038, affd without op (CA2 NY) 556 F2d 556, cert den 431 US 958, 53 L Ed 2d 276, 97 S Ct 2683; United States v King (ED NY) 73 FRD 103, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521.

Footnote 57. United States ex rel. Edney v Smith (ED NY) 425 F Supp 1038, affd without op (CA2 NY) 556 F2d 556, cert den 431 US 958, 53 L Ed 2d 276, 97 S Ct 2683.

Footnote 58. United States ex rel. Edney v Smith (ED NY) 425 F Supp 1038, affd without op (CA2 NY) 556 F2d 556, cert den 431 US 958, 53 L Ed 2d 276, 97 S Ct 2683.

Footnote 59. United States v Opager (CA5 Fla) 589 F2d 799, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1013.

Footnote 60. FRE 609(c), cited in United States v Thorne (CA8 Ark) 547 F2d 56, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 517.

Footnote 61. United States ex rel. Edney v Smith (ED NY) 425 F Supp 1038, affd without op (CA2 NY) 556 F2d 556, cert den 431 US 958, 53 L Ed 2d 276, 97 S Ct 2683.

Footnote 62. FRE 608(b).

Footnote 63. United States v Opager (CA5 Fla) 589 F2d 799, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1013.

Footnote 64. FRE 609(c).

Footnote 65. United States v Thorne (CA8 Ark) 547 F2d 56, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 517.

Footnote 66. United States v Bibbs (CA5 Fla) 564 F2d 1165, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 855, cert den 435 US 1007, 56 L Ed 2d 388, 98 S Ct 1877.

Footnote 67. Beech Aircraft Corp. v Rainey, 488 US 153, 102 L Ed 2d 445, 109 S Ct 439, 1989 AMC 441, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 257, on remand, en banc (CA11 Fla) 868 F2d 1531.

§ 21 Securing fairness in administration

View Entire Section

The Federal Rules of Evidence shall be construed to secure fairness in administration to the end that the truth may be ascertained and proceedings justly determined. 68 Thus, a trial court may properly exercise its discretion by reason of Federal Rules of Evidence 102 in not rigidly applying in isolation a particular rule which would obstruct and defeat the central purpose of the Rules as a whole, and the court may apply a balancing test of the peculiarities and relevant factors of the individual case. 69

Footnotes

Footnote 68. FRE 102.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 3, 4.

Footnote 69. United States v Opager (CA5 Fla) 589 F2d 799, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1013.

§ 22 Eliminating unjustifiable expense and delay

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence are to be construed to secure elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay. 70 The Rule dealing with the exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, 71 when read in light of Federal Rules of Evidence 102 contemplates a flexible scheme of discretionary judgments by trial courts designed to minimize the evidentiary costs of protecting parties from unfair prejudice. 72 Similarly, Federal Rules of Evidence 102, together with Federal Rules of Evidence 403 and certain Rules of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 73 when read with the congressional mandate requiring prompt action on complaints of federal employment discrimination, provides adequate authority for a District Court to make a decision summarily upon an administrative record in a federal employment discrimination case, though the District Court, on a showing of need, should exercise its discretion to reopen the record and hear additional evidence or permit the plaintiff to proceed to develop additional relevant evidence through discovery procedures. 74 Further, the view that a class action hearing is not accompanied by the traditional rules and procedures applicable to civil trials, even though Federal Rules of Evidence 1101(b) provides that the Rules apply generally to civil actions and proceedings, has been held consistent with Federal Rules of Evidence 102's mandate to construe the Rules in a manner so as to avoid unjustifiable expense and delay without negatively affecting the just determination of the merits of the case. 75

Footnotes

Footnote 70. FRE 102.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 3, 4.

Footnote 71. FRE 403.

Footnote 72. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56 (stating that exclusion of proof of arrest of a defendant conditioned upon the entry of a stipulation by the defendant that he was in a certain place at a certain time and used a false name is justified by FRE 102).

Footnote 73. FR Civ P, Rules 16, 26, and 56(c).

Footnote 74. Haire v Calloway (CA8 Mo) 526 F2d 246, 11 BNA FEP Cas 769, 10 CCH EPD ¶ 10505, vacated on other grounds (CA8 Mo) 537 F2d 318, 13 BNA FEP Cas 1182, 12 CCH EPD ¶ 11263, on remand (ED Mo) 434 F Supp 1140, 15 BNA FEP Cas 589, affd (CA8 Mo) 572 F2d 632, 17 BNA FEP Cas 252, 16 CCH EPD ¶ 8187.

Footnote 75. Thompson v Board of Education (WD Mich) 71 FRD 398, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1700, 13 CCH EPD ¶ 11487, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 557, motion den (WD Mich) 519 F Supp 1373, 32 BNA FEP Cas 404, revd on other grounds (CA6 Mich) 709 F2d 1200, 32 BNA FEP Cas 527, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33694, 36 FR Serv 2d 1118 and (disapproved on other grounds by Shimkus v Gersten Cos. (CA9 Cal) 816 F2d 1318, 7 FR Serv 3d 767).

§ 23 Promotion of growth and development of law

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence are to be construed to secure promotion of the growth and development of the law of evidence. 76 The Federal Rules of Evidence were not designed to render the law of evidence intransmutable; 77 rather, Federal Rules of Evidence 102 was designed to allow expansion of the Federal Rules of Evidence by analogy to cover new or unanticipated situations. 78 Federal Rules of Evidence 102 authorizes the court to interpret the Federal Rules of Evidence creatively so as to promote growth and development in the law of evidence in the interest of justice and reliable factfinding. 79 As a result, a court found support in the Rule for its conditioning of an advance ruling on the use of a state felony conviction for assault in impeaching a defendant on barring defense counsel from presenting evidence, through cross-examination or otherwise, of any assault convictions of any of the government's witnesses without specific advance authorization from the court, even though such condition is not specifically authorized by the Rule governing impeachment by evidence of a prior criminal conviction 80 which is designed to protect defendants from unfair prejudice. 81 However, this application of Federal Rules of Evidence 102 has been criticized by another court as legislative action. 82 Moreover, because the Federal Rules of Evidence do not provide a procedure for impeachment by subsequent inconsistent statements, the trial judge is free to fashion an evidentiary procedure that will promote growth and development of the law of evidence to the end that the truth may be ascertained and proceedings justly determined under Federal Rules of Evidence 102. 83

Footnotes

Footnote 76. FRE 102.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 3, 4.

Footnote 77. United States v Robinson (CA2 Conn) 544 F2d 110, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 399, cert den 434 US 1050, 54 L Ed 2d 803, 98 S Ct 901.

Footnote 78. United States v Bibbs (CA5 Fla) 564 F2d 1165, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 855, cert den 435 US 1007, 56 L Ed 2d 388, 98 S Ct 1877.

Footnote 79. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56.

Footnote 80. FRE 609(a).

Footnote 81. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56.

Footnote 82. United States v Brown (WD NY) 409 F Supp 890, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1128.

Footnote 83. United States v Bibbs (CA5 Fla) 564 F2d 1165, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 855, cert den 435 US 1007, 56 L Ed 2d 388, 98 S Ct 1877.

II. JUDICIAL NOTICE [24-154]

A. Introduction [24-46]

Research References

FRE 201

Uniform Rule of Evidence 201

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 2-91

ALR Index: Judicial Notice

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 1-7

2 Am Jur Trials 1, Investigating Particular Civil Actions § 53; 3 Am Jur Trials 427, Preparing and Using Experimental Evidence § 70; 18 Am Jur Trials 443, Unwitnessed Automobile Accident Cases

Am Jur Proof of Facts Fact Book §§ I:176-I:178

21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction §§ 4-7, 16; 26 Am Jur POF2d 229, Meaning of Abbreviation, Word, or Phrase According to Usage of Trade § 9

1. In General [24-26]

§ 24 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Judicial notice is a substitute for formal proof of a matter by evidence. 84 The phrase judicial notice refers to the method by which a court informs itself of a particular fact during the course of litigation without the use of formal evidentiary proof, 85 when there is no real necessity for it 86 because the facts noticed are indisputable as a matter of notorious common knowledge 87 or as being easily capable of immediate verification. 88 Judicial notice is used cautiously and only when the facts judicially noted cannot reasonably be disputed. 89

When the rule is invoked for general evidentiary purposes, the trial court has the power to dispense with proof of judicially cognizable adjudicative facts. 90 Judicial notice cannot, however, be used by a party to fill in the gaps in the party's evidence and it is a better practice to bring into evidence those facts that a party desires a court to judicially notice. In fact, some courts require that the documents or exhibits a party wants the court to judicially notice must be offered and brought to the attention of the trier. Similarly, a party who depends upon the taking of judicial notice by an appellate court of local conditions within the judicial knowledge of the trial court should make sure that this knowledge is brought into the record. 91 Furthermore, judicial notice must not be used to deprive an adverse party of the opportunity to prove a disputed fact. 92

The principles of judicial notice will only apply to cases where three prerequisites are met: first, the matter must be one of common knowledge, although it does not have to be universally known; second, the matter must be settled beyond a doubt—if there is any uncertainty about the matter then evidence must be taken; third, the knowledge must exist within the jurisdiction of the court. 93

§ 24 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In inmate's suit challenging disciplinary proceedings conducted under defendant's direction, court would take judicial notice, as requested by plaintiff's counsel, of transcripts of prior testimony in other cases involving defendant since defendant did not object or contest accuracy of his statements in those cases. Young v Selsky (1994, CA2 NY) 41 F3d 47.

Court would not take judicial notice of fact that nearly all currency contains detectable traces of illegal narcotics since such fact is neither commonly known or readily determinable through unquestionably reliable source. United States v Carr (1994, CA3 Pa) 25 F3d 1194.

District court's use of sex discrimination suit by another woman arising out of same promotion of male coworker as basis of instant suit to find that plaintiff was without remedy under Title VII was not instance of judicial notice since fact found in other suit, that other female was most qualified for promotion, was not universal truth but fact to be established through presentation of evidence. Meredith v Beech Aircraft Corp. (1994, CA10 Kan) 18 F3d 890, 64 BNA FEP Cas 473, 64 CCH EPD ¶ 43003, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 41.

In suit by government against physician for reimbursement of National Health Service Corps Scholarship funds, court improperly took judicial notice of findings by another district court in another lawsuit involving physician, since findings in other suit did not indisputably establish that physician refused to work for health center to which he had been assigned. United States v Jones (1994, CA11 Ga) 29 F3d 1549, 8 FLW Fed C 541.

Footnotes

Footnote 84. People v Rowland, 4 Cal 4th 238, 14 Cal Rptr 2d 377, 841 P2d 897, 92 CDOS 10128, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17038, reh den, stay den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 587 and stay gr (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 1812 and cert den (US) 126 L Ed 2d 101, 114 S Ct 138.

Footnote 85. Poulnot v District of Columbia (App DC) 608 A2d 134; Royatex, Ltd. v Daughan (Me) 551 A2d 454.

Judicial notice means that the court will bring to its aid, without proof or evidence of the facts, its knowledge of the existence or nonexistence of facts. Hammond v Doody (Ind App) 553 NE2d 196.

Forms: Notice—Request that judicial notice be taken. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 1.

Notice—Motion for order appointing expert witness to allow court to take judicial notice. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 2.

Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 3.

Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state—Another form. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 4.

Affidavit or declaration—In support of motion for order appointing expert witness to allow court to take judicial notice. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 5.

Order—Appointing expert witness to allow court to take judicial notice. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 6.

Instruction to jury—Evidence established by judicial notice—Distance along highway. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 7.

Footnote 86. Poulnot v District of Columbia (App DC) 608 A2d 134.

Judicial notice is intended to avoid the necessity of formally introducing evidence in those limited circumstances where the fact sought to be proven is so well known that evidence in support of the fact is unnecessary. Hebden v Workmen's Compensation Appeal Bd. (Bethenergy Mines, Inc.), 142 Pa Cmwlth 176, 597 A2d 182, app gr 529 Pa 659, 604 A2d 251 and revd on other grounds (Pa) 632 A2d 1302.

Footnote 87. § 33.

Footnote 88. § 34.

Footnote 89. § 31.

Footnote 90. Reeves v Agee (Okla) 769 P2d 745.

Footnote 91. Hammond v Doody (Ind App) 553 NE2d 196.

Footnote 92. Hebden v Workmen's Compensation Appeal Bd. (Bethenergy Mines, Inc.), 142 Pa Cmwlth 176, 597 A2d 182, app gr 529 Pa 659, 604 A2d 251 and revd on other grounds (Pa) 632 A2d 1302.

Footnote 93. Berget v State (Okla Crim) 824 P2d 364, reh den (Okla Crim) 1992 Okla Crim App LEXIS 10 and cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 79, 113 S Ct 124 (petitioner's testimony in another proceeding concerning the events constituting the crimes for which he is on trial does not fit the above quoted criteria).

§ 25 Relevancy of information required

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In order to be admissible, evidence must be relevant to the issues in the case. 94 Therefore, judicial notice may only be taken of relevant matters. 95 Consequently, while a state Supreme Court may take judicial notice of the records of any court of its state, the party desiring that judicial notice be taken of a record must show the relevance of the subject record. 96 Similarly, a court will not take judicial notice of a transcript of oral argument before the United States Supreme Court where nothing in the transcript of the oral argument is relevant to the proper resolution of the case before the court. 97

Footnotes

Footnote 94. § 310.

Footnote 95. People v Rowland, 4 Cal 4th 238, 14 Cal Rptr 2d 377, 841 P2d 897, 92 CDOS 10128, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17038, reh den, stay den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 587 and stay gr (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 1812 and cert den (US) 126 L Ed 2d 101, 114 S

Ct 138.

Footnote 96. § 139.

Footnote 97. § 139.

§ 26 Use of encyclopedias, textbooks, and dictionaries

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Since judicial notice is not limited by the actual knowledge of the individual judge, 98 judges may refresh their memories upon matters properly subject to judicial notice from encyclopedias, textbooks, dictionaries, or other publications of established authenticity. 99 For example, the Physician's Desk Reference is a reference book universally recognized as having reasonably indisputable accuracy, and consequently judicial notice may be taken of the book for some purposes. A court will decline, however, to take judicial notice of warnings contained in the Physician's Desk Reference where they are referred to in a prescribing physician's deposition, but not identified by the doctor and not properly made a part of the deposition, if the court cannot be certain that subsequently filed copies of warnings contained in the reference book are of the same date as those to which the physician referred. 1 In addition, reference may be had to standard dictionaries for the purpose of determining the common meaning of words, 2 The mere appearance of facts within such publications does not, however, in most jurisdictions, entitle them to judicial notice unless they are such as to be a part of common knowledge. 3 In some jurisdictions, dictionaries, encyclopedias and similar general reference works may be consulted to determine whether a particular fact is widely enough known to fall within this category of common knowledge. 4 The rule regarding taking judicial notice of facts appearing in texts is different in jurisdictions which adhere to the rule that judicial notice may be taken of facts not of general common knowledge, provided they can be verified to a certainty by reference to competent authoritative sources. 5

Footnotes

Footnote 98. § 35.

Footnote 99. Werk v Parker, 249 US 130, 63 L Ed 514, 39 S Ct 197; Utah Const. Co. v Berg, 68 Ariz 285, 205 P2d 367; State v Ladd, 252 Iowa 487, 106 NW2d 100; International Free & Accepted Modern Masons v Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grandll Grand Lod (Ky) 318 SW2d 46, 119 USPQ 393, 76 ALR2d 1386; Kennedy v Parrott, 243 NC 355, 90 SE2d 754, 56 ALR2d 686 (medical textbooks); Hopkins v Comer, 240 NC 143, 81 SE2d 368; Re Siemens' Estate, 346 Pa 610, 31 A2d 280, 153 ALR 483, cert den 320 US 758, 88 L Ed 452, 64 S Ct 66.

Regarding a witness' refreshing her memory, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 769-799.

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554 § 5.

Footnote 1. West v Searle & Co., 305 Ark 33, 806 SW2d 608, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12783.

Footnote 2. Gooch v Maryland Mechanical Systems, Inc., 81 Md App 376, 567 A2d 954, 17 Media L R 1329, cert den 319 Md 484, 573 A2d 807; Bend Millwork Co. v Department of Revenue, 285 Or 577, 592 P2d 986; Simpson v State Mut. Life Assur. Co., 135 Vt 554, 382 A2d 198; Re All-Star Ins. Corp. (App) 112 Wis 2d 329, 332 NW2d 828 (meaning of terms used in a contract).

Footnote 3. Standard Life Ins. Co. v Strong, 19 Tenn App 404, 89 SW2d 367; Lassen v Lassen, 8 Va App 502, 383 SE2d 471.

For a discussion of taking judicial notice of matters of common knowledge, see § 33.

Footnote 4. B.V.D. Licensing Corp. v Body Action Design, Inc. (CA FC) 846 F2d 727, 6 USPQ2d 1719, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 954 (citing dictionary entries for BVD in taking judicial notice that BVD trademark is widely known in United States).

Footnote 5. § 34.

2. Types of Facts or Data [27-46]

a. In General [27-30]

§ 27 Generally; legislative facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

◆ Definition: Legislative facts are those facts which have relevance to legal reasoning and the lawmaking process, whether in the formulation of a legal principle or ruling by a judge or court or in the enactment of a legislative body. 6

When a court, as a basis for making law, assumes or reaches a conclusion as to a broad proposition of fact, the court is said to have taken judicial notice of legislative facts. Quite often, in reaching, and in justifying, its conclusions, a court will take notice of scientific, sociological and other data which itself may be disputed. For example, the United States Supreme Court has taken judicial notice of the primary purpose of a statute, 7 and that custodial interrogation is inherently so psychologically coercive that any statements elicited during such interrogation are per se coerced, in violation of the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination, unless detailed procedural safeguards, including what are now known as Miranda warnings, are followed. 8

Footnotes

Footnote 6. Advisory Committee Note to FRE 201.

Footnote 7. M. v Superior Court of Sonoma County, 450 US 464, 67 L Ed 2d 437, 101 S Ct 1200 (the Court took notice that prevention of illegitimate pregnancy among teenage girls was a primary purpose of the challenged legislation, then cited considerable sociological data showing the frequency of teenage pregnancies, the usually negative impact such a pregnancy has on the female involved, and the overall societal impact of the problem).

Concerning judicial notice of legislative intent, see §§ 123-125.

Footnote 8. Miranda v Arizona, 384 US 436, 16 L Ed 2d 694, 86 S Ct 1602, 10 Ohio Misc 9, 36 Ohio Ops 2d 237, 10 ALR3d 974, reh den 385 US 890, 17 L Ed 2d 121, 87 S Ct 11, appeal after remand, en banc 104 Ariz 174, 450 P2d 364, cert den 396 US 868, 24 L Ed 2d 122, 90 S Ct 140 (the Court cited extensively to police training manuals and similar publications in reaching its conclusion).

§ 28 Elementary factual data; evaluative data

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In addition to adjudicative 9 and legislative 10 facts, two other aspects of the fact-finding process are also sometimes discussed in terms of judicial notice. The first is what might be called "elementary factual data." As the Advisory Committee that drafted the Federal Rules of Evidence has commented, every case involves the use of hundreds or thousands of nonevidence facts. For example, when a witness in an automobile accident case says the word "car," everyone, judge and jury included, furnishes, from nonevidence sources within herself, the supplementing information that the car is an automobile. The judicial process cannot construct every case from scratch; these items could not possibly be introduced into evidence, and no one suggests that they be. Nor are they appropriate subjects for any formalized treatment of judicial notice of facts. 11

The other aspect of the fact-finding process sometimes discussed in terms of judicial notice is referred to as "evaluative data," which has been described as nonevidence facts to appraise or assess the adjudicative facts of the case. 12

Footnotes

Footnote 9. § 31.

Footnote 10. § 27.

Footnote 11. Advisory Committee Note to FRE 201.

§ 29 Distinguishing between judicial notice of adjudicative fact and other types of judicial notice

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The precise line of demarcation between adjudicative and legislative facts is not always easily identified. 13 Adjudicative facts are usually those facts that are in issue in a particular case; 14 such facts relate to the parties and to their activities, properties, and/or businesses. 15 When a court finds facts concerning the immediate parties—who did what, where, when, how, and with what motive or intent—the court is performing an adjudicative function, and the facts are conveniently called adjudicative facts. Stated in other terms, the adjudicative facts are those to which the law is applied in the process of adjudication. They are the facts that normally go to the jury in a jury trial. 16 Thus, judicial notice of adjudicative facts dispenses with the need to present other evidence or for the factfinder to make findings as to those particular facts. 17

Legislative facts, on the other hand, do not relate specifically to the activities or characteristics of the litigants, 18 but are general facts which help the tribunal decide questions of law, policy, and discretion. 19 They can be described as established truths, facts, or pronouncements that do not change from case to case but apply universally. 20 Legislative facts are those which have relevance to legal reasoning and the lawmaking process, whether in the formulation of a legal principle or ruling by a judge or court or in the enactment of a legislative body. 21 A court generally relies upon legislative facts when it purports to develop a particular law or policy and thus considers material wholly unrelated to the activities of the parties. In the great mass of cases decided by courts, the legislative element is either absent or unimportant or interstitial, because in most cases the applicable law and policy have been previously established. But whenever a tribunal engages in the creation of law or policy, it may need to resort to legislative facts, whether or not those facts have been developed on the record. 22 Though a court, with its adversary procedure, is not necessarily precluded from resolving issues of legislative fact, it is generally thought that their determination is particularly appropriate to the administrative process, in which staffs of specialists and great storehouses of information are available. 23

◆ Comment: Counsel should be aware that judicial access to legislative facts is not subject to a limitation as in Federal Rules of Evidence 201(b) in the form of indisputability, or to any other formal requirements of notice other than those already inherent in affording opportunity to hear and be heard in exchanging briefs and in any requirement of formal findings at any level, and that judicial access to legislative facts should leave open the possibility of introducing evidence through regular channels in appropriate situations. 24

The Federal Rules of Evidence closely regulate judicial notice of adjudicative facts, as do the evidence codes of the states that have adopted the Federal Rules, and those of several other states as well. 25 Several states also have enacted statutes regulating judicial

At least two factors complicate determining whether a fact is adjudicative or not. First, the same fact may fit into several categories; the propriety of taking judicial notice, and applicability of procedural rules, will depend on the procedural setting at the time and upon how the court or jury uses the fact. 27

The second complicating factor is that although common sense directs that a jury should be instructed that it must accept as conclusive any judicially noticed adjudicative fact, 28 the Federal Rules of Evidence require a judge in a criminal case to instruct the jury that it is not required to accept such a fact as conclusive. 29 Perhaps as a result, some courts have declined to classify facts as adjudicative that probably should be so classified. 30

Footnotes

Footnote 13. United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Annotation: What constitutes "adjudicative facts" within meaning of Rule 201 of Federal Rules of Evidence, concerning judicial notice of adjudicative facts, 35 ALR Fed 440.

Footnote 14. Korematsu v United States (ND Cal) 584 F Supp 1406, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231.

As to adjudicative facts generally, see §§ 31 et seq.

Footnote 15. United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 16. Usery v Tamiami Trail Tours, Inc. (CA5 Fla) 531 F2d 224, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1233, 11 CCH EPD ¶ 10916; United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 17. Korematsu v United States (ND Cal) 584 F Supp 1406, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231.

Footnote 18. Usery v Tamiami Trail Tours, Inc. (CA5 Fla) 531 F2d 224, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1233, 11 CCH EPD ¶ 10916; United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 19. Usery v Tamiami Trail Tours, Inc. (CA5 Fla) 531 F2d 224, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1233, 11 CCH EPD ¶ 10916; United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 20. United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429; Korematsu v United States (ND Cal) 584 F Supp 1406, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231.

Footnote 21. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 201.

Footnote 22. United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 23. Usery v Tamiami Trail Tours, Inc. (CA5 Fla) 531 F2d 224, 12 BNA FEP Cas 1233, 11 CCH EPD ¶ 10916.

Footnote 24. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 201.

Footnote 25. § 32.

Footnote 26. § 32.

Footnote 27. Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017; Hughes v Vestal, 264 NC 500, 142 SE2d 361 (state Supreme Court's use of chart of average automobile stopping distances at various speeds did not authorize trial judge in another collision case to take judicial notice of the information in the chart and to so instruct the jury); Chartrand v Coos Bay Tavern, Inc., 298 Or 689, 696 P2d 513.

Judicial notice in the pretrial context is discussed in §§ 39-40.

Judicial notice postverdict and on appeal is discussed in §§ 44-46.

Footnote 28. § 42.

Footnote 29. § 43.

Footnote 30. § 43.

§ 30 --Particular facts as adjudicative or nonadjudicative

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Economic events, such as the governmental intervention into the oil industry, as well as the shortage of fuel oil in late 1973 following the Arab oil embargo, are adjudicative facts within the meaning of the Federal Rules of Evidence. 31

The following facts, however, have been held or recognized as nonadjudicative: (1) a drug's classification as a controlled substance under a federal statute, 32 since it does not relate to who did what, where, when, how, and with what motive or intent, nor is it a fact which would traditionally go to the jury; 33 (2) a note and an order from the trial court in an earlier case in the same circuit as the Court of Appeals; 34 and (3) state statutes or state regulations promulgated under a state statute. 35

◆ Comment: Counsel should be aware that judicial access to legislative facts is not subject to a limitation as in Federal Rules of Evidence 201(b) in the form of

indisputability, or to any other formal requirements of notice other than those already inherent in affording opportunity to hear and be heard in exchanging briefs and in any requirement of formal findings at any level, and that judicial access to legislative facts should leave open the possibility of introducing evidence through regular channels in appropriate situations. 36

Footnotes

Footnote 31. Mainline Invest. Corp. v Gaines (ND Tex) 407 F Supp 423, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1107.

Annotation: What constitutes "adjudicative facts" within meaning of Rule 201 of Federal Rules of Evidence, concerning judicial notice of adjudicative facts, 35 ALR Fed 440.

Footnote 32. 21 USCS § 812, discussed generally in 25 Am Jur 2d, Drugs, Narcotics, and Poisons §§ 35-37.

Footnote 33. United States v Gould (CA8 Iowa) 536 F2d 216, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233, 35 ALR Fed 429.

Footnote 34. United States v Gorham, 175 US App DC 383, 536 F2d 410.

Footnote 35. United States v Atwell (DC Del) 71 FRD 357, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 556.

Regarding judicial notice of state law generally, see §§ 120 et seq.

Footnote 36. § 29.

b. Judicial Notice of Adjudicative Facts [31-46]

(1). In General [31-35]

§ 31 Generally; indisputability

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

◆ Definition: Adjudicative facts are simply the facts of the particular case. 37

The Federal Rules of Evidence 38 authorize judicial notice of an adjudicative fact only if the fact is not subject to reasonable dispute. Such may be the case only if either of two conditions is satisfied: the fact (1) must be generally known within the territorial jurisdiction of the trial court, or (2) must be capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. As such, the rule is consistent with the traditional view that traditional methods of proof should be dispensed with only in clear cases. 39 Consequently, federal courts take a cautious attitude with respect to judicial notice of adjudicative facts, requiring that the matter be beyond reasonable controversy. 40 If a particular fact is indisputably and incontrovertibly true, however, a court will judicially notice that fact and inform the jury that it must accept that fact as proven, 41 although in criminal cases the jury instruction is somewhat different. 42

In state courts, adjudicative facts may be judicially noticed if they are generally known 43—that is, well established and authoritatively settled— 44 by persons of average 45 or reasonable 46 intelligence in the jurisdiction in which the court sits, 47 and indisputable 48 or not subject to reasonable dispute. 49 Some facts may be judicially noticed because they are notorious and indisputable, 50 while others may be judicially noticed because they are well known and easily ascertainable. 51

The prior revocation of a driver's license is an adjudicative fact and judicial notice of the adjudicative fact may be taken in a civil license revocation proceeding. Judicial notice may not be taken, however, of adjudicative facts where a substantial liberty interest is involved in a criminal proceeding or where attempts are made to bring in facts not generated within the particular adjudicative body involved. 52

Disputed facts are not in the same category as matters of common knowledge of which judicial notice may be taken. 53 In fact, a court is not entitled to take judicial notice of facts which are disputed. 54 For example, a court may not take judicial notice of the adjudicative fact that asbestos and lung cancer in the same person are necessarily causally related, as this matter is subject to reasonable dispute. 55 In addition, whether or not there is a conspiracy of silence in the medical community regarding malpractice is a subject of considerable debate and a court may not take judicial notice that a conspiracy of silence exists. 56 Disputed facts are also not in the same vein as the laws of nature, geographic and historical facts, time, laws and other matters of common knowledge. 57

It is clear that uncertainty, 58 or widespread difference in belief with respect to the fact in question, 59 will operate to preclude judicial notice thereof in both federal and state courts. 60

That a fact is judicially noticeable does not necessarily mean that a court should also take judicial notice of the inferences a party hopes will be drawn from that fact. 61

Footnotes

Footnote 37. Advisory Committee Note to FRE 201.

Footnote 38. FRE 201.

Footnote 39. Advisory Committee Note to FRE 201.

Footnote 40. Cardio-Medical Assoc., Ltd. v Crozer-Chester Medical Center (CA3 Pa) 721 F2d 68, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65716, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231 (trial judge could not properly take judicial notice that defendant's denial of staff privileges to plaintiffs could have no discernible impact on interstate travel of patients to receive treatment); Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. v Jacobson (CA7 Ill) 827 F2d 1119, 14 Media L R 1497, appeal after remand (CA7 Ill) 14 Media L R 1861, 9 FR Serv 3d 630 and cert den 485 US 993, 99 L Ed 2d 512, 108 S Ct 1302 (it was improper for the trial judge, in reducing jury's compensatory damage award, to take judicial notice that media coverage of the result of the suit was fair); United States v Pabian (CA11 Fla) 704 F2d 1533, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 46 (it is not indisputable that veteran grand juries are less captive to the prosecutor than newly impanelled grand juries).

Footnote 41. § 42.

Footnote 42. § 43.

Footnote 43. Prestige Homes, Inc. v Legouffe (Colo) 658 P2d 850, appeal after remand (Colo App) 689 P2d 697; Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 44. Miller v Poli's New England Theatres, Inc., 125 Conn 610, 7 A2d 845; Rives v Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., 110 Ga App 184, 138 SE2d 100, revd on other grounds 220 Ga 485, 139 SE2d 395, conformed to 111 Ga App 6, 140 SE2d 304; Rozelle v Barnard, 72 NM 182, 382 P2d 180.

Footnote 45. Rives v Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., 110 Ga App 184, 138 SE2d 100, revd on other grounds 220 Ga 485, 139 SE2d 395, conformed to 111 Ga App 6, 140 SE2d 304.

Footnote 46. Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 47. Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 48. Rives v Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., 110 Ga App 184, 138 SE2d 100, revd on other grounds 220 Ga 485, 139 SE2d 395, conformed to 111 Ga App 6, 140 SE2d 304.

A high degree of indisputability is the essential prerequisite of judicial notice. Re Estate of Friedli (App) 164 Wis 2d 178, 473 NW2d 604.

Footnote 49. Prestige Homes, Inc. v Legouffe (Colo) 658 P2d 850, appeal after remand (Colo App) 689 P2d 697; Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 50. Levit v Adams (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 841 SW2d 478, revd on other grounds, remanded (Tex) 850 SW2d 469, reh'g of cause overr (May 5, 1993).

Footnote 51. Levit v Adams (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 841 SW2d 478, revd on other grounds, remanded (Tex) 850 SW2d 469, reh'g of cause overr (May 5, 1993).

Footnote 52. Re Breedlove, 186 W Va 279, 412 SE2d 473 (the court stating in particular that its holding could not be extended to recidivist proceedings).

Footnote 53. As to judicial notice of facts of common knowledge, generally, see § 33.

Footnote 54. Wallace v Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. (La) 586 So 2d 149; Hae Woo Youn v Maritime Overseas Corp. (La App 5th Cir) 605 So 2d 187, cert gr (La) 609 So 2d 239, cert den (US) 1994 US LEXIS 1475 and cert den (La) 609 So 2d 240 and cert den (US) 124 L Ed 2d 252, 113 S Ct 2342, reh den (US) 125 L Ed 2d 711, 113 S Ct

3022 and set aside, in part on other grounds (La) 623 So 2d 1257, petition for certiorari filed (Dec 13, 1993) and (disapproved on other grounds by Grubbs v Gulf Int'l Marine (La) 625 So 2d 495, 1994 AMC 244); Re Interest of N.M., 240 Neb 690, 484 NW2d 77; Gronneberg v Hoffart (ND) 466 NW2d 809; Tomlinson v Midamerica Mut. Life Ins. Co. (App) 168 Wis 2d 92, 483 NW2d 234.

It is improper to resolve disputed issues of material fact by judicial notice. Livingston Parish Police Jury v Acadiana Shipyards, Inc. (La App 1st Cir) 598 So 2d 1177, cert den (La) 605 So 2d 1122 and cert den (La) 605 So 2d 1122.

Footnote 55. § 62.

Footnote 56. Clark v Norris, 226 Mont 43, 734 P2d 182.

Footnote 57. Elliott v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (La App 2d Cir) 568 So 2d 155.

Footnote 58. Peyroux v Howard, 32 US 324, 7 Pet 324, 8 L Ed 700; Taylor v Pine Bluff, 226 Ark 749, 294 SW2d 341.

Footnote 59. Dominion Hotel, Inc. v Arizona, 249 US 265, 63 L Ed 597, 39 S Ct 273; Gillum v Johnson, 7 Cal 2d 744, 62 P2d 1037, 108 ALR 595, reh den 7 Cal 2d 765, 63 P2d 810, 108 ALR 612.

Footnote 60. United States v Griffin (CA1 Mass) 525 F2d 710, cert den 424 US 945, 47 L Ed 2d 351, 96 S Ct 1414; Wooden v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA5 La) 862 F2d 560, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 299; Hardy v Johns-Manville Sales Corp. (CA5 Tex) 681 F2d 334, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9343, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 99; Clark v South Cent. Bell Tel. Co. (WD La) 419 F Supp 697, 18 BNA FEP Cas 630; United States v Baker (CA9 Wash) 641 F2d 1311, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 382; Rogers v R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (Ind App) 557 NE2d 1045, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12572; Re Marriage of Tresnak (Iowa) 297 NW2d 109; State v Rush (Me) 324 A2d 748; Pepper Pike v Felder (Cuyahoga Co) 51 Ohio App 3d 143, 555 NE2d 333; Williams v Ft. Worth (Tex App Fort Worth) 782 SW2d 290, writ granted (Tex) 33 Tex Sup Ct Jour 622, op withdrawn (Oct 10, 1990) and writ den, in part, writ dism, in part (Oct 10, 1990); Richmond v Braxton, 230 Va 161, 335 SE2d 259, 52 ALR4th 725; Re Marriage of Campbell, 37 Wash App 840, 683 P2d 604.

Footnote 61. Cruz v County of Los Angeles (2nd Dist) 173 Cal App 3d 1131, 219 Cal Rptr 661. See also Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017.

§ 32 Effect of rules and statutes specifying matters of judicial notice

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Rule 201 of the Federal Rules of Evidence is the only federal rule which applies to judicial notice. It applies only to taking notice of adjudicative facts, 62 specifies when a court may 63 and must 64 notice such facts, guarantees all parties a right to be heard, upon timely request, before a fact is judicially noticed, 65 and spells out how a judge is to instruct a jury as to the fact that has been judicially noticed. 66 In addition, some states have enacted laws authorizing or requiring courts to take judicial notice of various specified matters. 67 For example, a state statute may require courts of general jurisdiction to take judicial notice of municipal ordinances 68 or of the laws of another state. 69 A statute enumerating matters of which the courts must take judicial notice does not necessarily preclude a court from taking judicial notice of other facts which are commonly known and accepted. 70

Footnotes

Footnote 62. FRE 201(a).

Footnote 63. § 36.

Footnote 64. § 37.

Footnote 65. § 38.

Footnote 66. §§ 42, 43.

Footnote 67. State v Lawrence, 120 Utah 323, 234 P2d 600.

Footnote 68. § 126.

Footnote 69. § 110.

Footnote 70. State v Lawrence, 120 Utah 323, 234 P2d 600.

§ 33 Facts of common knowledge

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law has long afforded judicial notice to a fact if it was a matter of common and general knowledge or notoriety, 71 and it has been said that the courts are never justified in taking judicial notice of matters which are not. 72 A fact might qualify for judicial notice because it is common knowledge everywhere. 73 The basic appearance of a snowman, for example, is common knowledge. It would be pointless, therefore, in a patent infringement action, to require a toy manufacturer to offer evidence of the traditional characteristics of all snowmen, and unjust to permit a jury to find that the company had infringed upon another's patent simply because the former, like the latter, distributed a toy that had those traditional characteristics. Thus, a trial judge could properly take judicial notice of those common features in ruling on a motion for summary judgment. 74 In addition, the fact that it rains in Louisiana is a proper subject for judicial notice. 75 Dictionaries, encyclopedias and similar general reference works may be consulted to determine whether a particular fact is widely enough known to fall within this category of common knowledge. 76 Alternatively, a fact might qualify for judicial notice within a particular jurisdiction because it relates to conditions within that jurisdiction, for example, facts concerning particular locations and neighborhoods within the jurisdiction of the court. 77

It is not enough that the proffered proposition of fact is widely believed; certainty is required. 78 Judicial notice applies to self-evident truths that no reasonable person could question, truisms that approach platitudes or banalities. 79

A court's taking of judicial notice that a fact is generally known is not conclusive proof that a particular individual was aware of that fact. 80

If the matter relates to specialized knowledge, 81 judicial notice is appropriate if the fact in question is well known and generally accepted in specialized areas among those members of the public who deal with such matters. 82 This is particularly true in the scientific field, so that common knowledge is not necessary if scientists agree that the essential element of certainty exists. 83

Care must be taken, in applying the common knowledge aspect of judicial notice, to distinguish between decisions taking notice of adjudicative versus legislative facts, because the degree of certainty sufficient for the legislative facts is not sufficient for adjudicative facts. A court should be particularly wary of taking judicial notice of sociological facts as adjudicative facts—such self-evident truths 84 often become hotly disputed political issues and are often ultimately rejected and supplanted by newer truths. 85

Finding that these matters are not matters of common knowledge, courts have refused to taking judicial notice of an attorney's overhead or expenses in determining the amount of fees to award counsel; 86 whether a particular school is an elementary, vocational, or secondary school; 87 a redevelopment project's proximity to leased premises; 88 the side effects of regroton (a blood pressure medicine) and the causes and effects of relaxation of the arteries; 89 facts contained in expert testimony and prior similar child custody cases before a court; 90 In addition, judicial notice may not be taken of a custom or usage, local in nature, without the proof of its existence and application. Consequently, the possibility of selecting an impartial jury in a particular county is not a proper matter for judicial notice. 91 Furthermore, while a court may take judicial notice that Aspen, Colorado is located in the Colorado Rocky Mountains, it cannot take judicial notice that on a flight from Nashville, Tennessee to Aspen a plane would have to climb from 6,500 to 17,500 feet as this is not a fact a court may act upon without proof. 92

Footnotes

Footnote 71. United Steelworkers of America, etc. v Weber, 443 US 193, 61 L Ed 2d 480, 99 S Ct 2721, 20 BNA FEP Cas 1, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30026, reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 125, 100 S Ct 193, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30266 and reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 125, 100 S Ct 193, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30266 and reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 126, 100 S Ct 194; Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v Deselms, 212 US 159, 53 L Ed 453, 29 S Ct 270; Eden Toys, Inc. v Marshall Field & Co. (CA2 NY) 675 F2d 498, 216 USPQ 560, 10

Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030; Sinatra v Heckler (ED NY) 566 F Supp 1354, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368; Murty v Aga Khan (ED NY) 92 FRD 478, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1533; Knox v Butler (CA5 La) 884 F2d 849, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1182, amd on other grounds, reh den (CA5) 1989 US App LEXIS 19292 and cert den 494 US 1088, 108 L Ed 2d 957, 110 S Ct 1828; Mainline Invest. Corp. v Gaines (ND Tex) 407 F Supp 423, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1107; Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017; Chambers v Koehler (WD Mich) 635 F Supp 884; Dunn v White (CA10 Okla) 880 F2d 1188, cert den 493 US 1059, 107 L Ed 2d 954, 110 S Ct 871; United States v Esle (CA11 Fla) 743 F2d 1465, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 782, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 755 F2d 176; B.V.D. Licensing Corp. v Body Action Design, Inc. (CA FC) 846 F2d 727, 6 USPQ2d 1719, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 954; Bettencourt v State, 123 Cal App 2d 60, 266 P2d 201, 43 ALR2d 545; Graham Hydraulic Power, Inc. v Stewart & Stevenson Power, Inc. (Colo App) 797 P2d 835, 12 UCCRS2d 658; Braithwaite v Lee, 125 Conn 10, 2 A2d 380; State ex rel. Libtz v Coleman, 149 Fla 28, 5 So 2d 60; Knepper v Monticello State Bank (Iowa) 450 NW2d 833; Zink v Basham, 164 Kan 456, 190 P2d 203; Public Utilities Com. v Cole's Express, 153 Me 487, 138 A2d 466; Kansas City Bridge Co. v Kansas City Structural Steel Co. (Mo) 317 SW2d 370, 85 ALR2d 1252; Elder v Delcour, 364 Mo 835, 269 SW2d 17, 47 ALR2d 370; State v Eary, 235 Neb 254, 454 NW2d 685; Rozelle v Barnard, 72 NM 182, 382 P2d 180; People v Epton, 19 NY2d 1017, 281 NYS2d 1015, 228 NE2d 908; State v Scott (Trumbull Co) 3 Ohio App 2d 239, 32 Ohio Ops 2d 360, 210 NE2d 289; Pemberton v American Distilled Spirits Co. (Tenn) 664 SW2d 690, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9968, 42 ALR4th 245; Eagle Trucking Co. v Texas Bitulithic Co. (Tex) 612 SW2d 503, reformed on other grounds (Tex) 24 Tex Sup Ct Jour 256, on remand (Tex Civ App Tyler) 619 SW2d 598, writ dism w o j (Jul 21, 1982) and writ ref n r e (Tex) 640 SW2d 873, reh of writ of error overr (Nov 24, 1982) and reh of cause overr (Mar 25, 1981); Bechtel Civil & Minerals, Inc. v South Columbia Basin Irrig. Dist., 51 Wash App 143, 752 P2d 395.

Footnote 72. Zink v Basham, 164 Kan 456, 190 P2d 203.

Footnote 73. S.J. Lemoine, Inc. v St. Landry Parish School Bd. (La App 3d Cir) 527 So 2d 1150.

Footnote 74. Eden Toys, Inc. v Marshall Field & Co. (CA2 NY) 675 F2d 498, 216 USPQ 560, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030.

Footnote 75. § 152.

Footnote 76. § 26.

Footnote 77. § 77.

Footnote 78. § 31.

Footnote 79. Hardy v Johns-Manville Sales Corp. (CA5 Tex) 681 F2d 334, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9343, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 99 (holding that the proposition that asbestos causes cancer cannot be judicially noticed because it is inextricably linked to a host of disputed issues).

Footnote 80. United States v Baker (CA9 Wash) 641 F2d 1311, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 382 (holding it improper, in proceeding charging alleged contemnors with violating an injunction banning salmon fishing, for judge to take judicial notice of defendants' knowledge of the injunction based on unproven widespread publicity); United States v Griffin (CA1 Mass) 525 F2d 710, cert den 424 US 945, 47 L Ed 2d 351, 96 S Ct 1414 (declining to take judicial notice of a person's knowledge of a federal busing order, where government failed to introduce evidence of broad neighborhood knowledge of publicity from which knowledge could be inferred).

Footnote 81. Werk v Parker, 249 US 130, 63 L Ed 514, 39 S Ct 197.

Footnote 82. Neal v United States (DC NJ) 402 F Supp 678, 75-2 USTC ¶ 9805, 36 AFTR 2d 75-6218; Re Olson, 280 US App DC 205, 884 F2d 1415, later proceeding 282 US App DC 139, 892 F2d 1073.

Footnote 83. Nicketta v National Tea Co., 338 Ill App 159, 87 NE2d 30 (trial judge properly took judicial notice that the parasite that produces trichinosis is destroyed when pork is properly cooked, and dismissed plaintiffs' cause of action alleging they became infected with trichinosis after purchasing fresh pork from defendant and properly cooking it); Don Clark, Inc. v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 145 Misc 2d 218, 545 NYS2d 968 (judicial notice can be taken of the common knowledge that oil can seep through the ground); State v Schriber, 185 Or 615, 205 P2d 149.

Regarding judicial notice of scientific facts generally, see §§ 92, 93.

Footnote 84. Hardy v Johns-Manville Sales Corp. (CA5 Tex) 681 F2d 334, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9343, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 99.

Footnote 85. See, for example, Scott v Sandford, 60 US 393, 19 How 393, 15 L Ed 691.

Law Reviews: Davis, Judicial Legislative and Administrative Lawmaking: A Proposed Research Service for the Supreme Court, 71 Minn LR 1 (1986)

Davis, There is a Book Out . . . : An Analysis of Judicial Absorption of Legislative Facts, 100 Harv LR 1539 (1987).

Footnote 86. Re Interest of M.L.K., 13 Kan App 2d 251, 768 P2d 316.

Footnote 87. Commonwealth v Gonzales, 33 Mass App 728, 604 NE2d 1317, review den 414 Mass 1102, 609 NE2d 88.

Footnote 88. Mendel Kern, Inc. v Workshop, Inc., 400 Mass 277, 508 NE2d 853.

Footnote 89. Commonwealth, Dept. of Transp., Bureau of Traffic Safety v Cassidy, 103 Pa Cmwlth 582, 521 A2d 59.

Footnote 90. Sutherland v Sutherland (Tenn App) 831 SW2d 283.

Footnote 91. Bechtel Civil & Minerals, Inc. v South Columbia Basin Irrig. Dist., 51 Wash App 143, 752 P2d 395.

Footnote 92. Omni Aviation v Perry (Tenn App) 807 SW2d 276.

§ 34 Facts capable of accurate and ready determination

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence authorize, and in appropriate circumstances require, ⁹³ a court to take judicial notice of an adjudicative fact that is not subject to reasonable dispute in that it is capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. ⁹⁴ In contrast with judicial notice of matters of common knowledge, ⁹⁵ notice of ascertainable facts is a comparatively new development in the law. ⁹⁶

Numerous cases can be found in which courts judicially notice historical, ⁹⁷ scientific, ⁹⁸ geographical and topographical ⁹⁹ facts, phenomena of nature, seasons and plants, ¹ time, ² customs and usages of businesses and professions, ³ and actions of government bodies and agencies. ⁴

Judicial notice is improper however, if a legitimate question exists either as to the information itself ⁵ or its underlying source. ⁶

Matters not of common knowledge may be judicially noticed if they may be readily determined by an examination of a source whose accuracy cannot be reasonably questioned, such as geographical and historic data and scientific facts which are generally accepted as irrefutable by living scientists. ⁷ In other words, taking judicial knowledge of any fact is subject to the test of verifiable certainty. For example, a court may take judicial notice of the location of cities, counties, boundaries, dimensions, and distances because geographic facts such as these are easily ascertainable and capable of verifiable certainty. ⁸

Footnotes

Footnote 93. § 37.

Footnote 94. FRE 201(b)(2).

Footnote 95. § 33.

Footnote 96. Rosche v Hollywood (Fla) 55 So 2d 909.

Footnote 97. § 71.

Footnote 98. § 93.

Footnote 99. §§ 75-80.

Footnote 1. § 152.

Footnote 2. § 154.

Footnote 3. § 47.

Footnote 4. §§ 145-150.

Footnote 5. § 31.

Footnote 6. Oneida Indian Nation v New York (CA2 NY) 691 F2d 1070, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002, 65 ALR Fed 606; Hinton v Department of Justice (CA3 Pa) 844 F2d 126, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 830.

Footnote 7. Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 8. Butts Retail, Inc. v Diversifoods, Inc. (Tex App Beaumont) 840 SW2d 770, 1992-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 70061, writ den, motion overr (Apr 21, 1993).

Regarding judicial notice of geographic facts generally, see §§ 75-80.

§ 35 Judicial, as distinguished from actual, knowledge

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In the federal courts, a judge must take judicial notice of a fact although it is not within her knowledge if the fact in question is one which is the proper subject of judicial cognizance and the party seeking to have the fact noticed has provided the necessary proof, because the Federal Rules of Evidence require the judge to take notice under these conditions. 9 Therefore, it is inappropriate for a judge to rely solely on personal knowledge in ruling on a pretrial motion, 10 a suppression hearing, 11 or on the merits, 12 although a different rule may be applied in social security cases. In social security cases, if proper notice and opportunity for rebuttal are given, an administrative law judge may take judicial notice of adjudicative facts within her personal knowledge. 13

In state courts, even though facts are known to the judge personally, they must be proved by evidence unless they are matters of which judicial notice may properly be taken. 14 Thus, it is said that judicial notice in any particular case is not determined or limited by the actual knowledge of the individual judge or court. 15 In other words, the individual and extrajudicial knowledge on the part of a judge will not dispense with proof of facts not judicially cognizable, and cannot be resorted to for the purpose of supplementing the record. 16 Therefore, judicial knowledge upon which a decision may be based is not the personal knowledge of the judge, 17 but the cognizance of certain facts the judge becomes aware of by virtue of the legal procedures in which the judge plays a neutral role. 18 Consequently, a judge may not take judicial notice of a person's sense of humor which is not a part of the evidence nor a fact generally known within the territorial jurisdiction of the trial court and which is not capable of ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. A fact must be fairly well known and obvious before judicial notice of it can be taken. A high degree of indisputability is the essential prerequisite of judicial notice. 19

Although no judge is at liberty to take into account personal knowledge which the judge possesses when deciding upon an issue submitted by the parties, judicial notice may be taken of adjudicative facts, under limited circumstances, provided those facts are not subject to reasonable dispute. 20 Furthermore, facts within the personal recollective knowledge of the judge may be judicially noticed if those facts are generally known in the jurisdiction. 21 In addition, in some jurisdictions, a trial judge may take judicial notice of a collateral fact of which she has personal knowledge. 22 The proper test is whether the fact to be judicially noticed is verifiably certain. 23 Under this test, a judge may personally know a fact of which she may not properly take judicial notice. 24

A judge may use authoritative sources to refresh her memory upon matters properly subject to judicial notice. 25 But the mere appearance of facts within publications such as encyclopedias, text books, and dictionaries, does not, in most jurisdictions mean that such facts can be judicially noticed unless they are part of common knowledge. 26

Footnotes

Footnote 9. FRE 201(d).

Footnote 10. United States v Pabian (CA11 Fla) 704 F2d 1533, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 46.

Footnote 11. A trial judge's personal knowledge of an informant's reliability is not a fact he can judicially notice to cure an otherwise defective search warrant affidavit. United States v Sorrells (CA11 Fla) 714 F2d 1522, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 306; United States v Lewis (CA9 Cal) 833 F2d 1380, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 432.

Footnote 12. Re Marriage of Tresnak (Iowa) 297 NW2d 109.

Footnote 13. Banks v Schweiker (CA9 Or) 654 F2d 637, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1323.

Footnote 14. Van Donselaar v Van Donselaar, 249 Iowa 504, 87 NW2d 311 (criticized on other grounds by Re Property Seized on or about November 14-15, 1989 (Iowa) 501 NW2d 482); Smith v Henson, 298 Ky 182, 182 SW2d 666; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Marcinko v D'Antuono, 104 RI 172, 243 A2d 104, 37 ALR3d 874; State v Martel, 122 Vt 491, 177 A2d 236; Darnell v Barker, 179 Va 86, 18 SE2d 271.

Footnote 15. Public Utilities Com. v Cole's Express, 153 Me 487, 138 A2d 466; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Hopkins v Comer, 240 NC 143, 81 SE2d 368.

Footnote 16. Van Donselaar v Van Donselaar, 249 Iowa 504, 87 NW2d 311 (criticized on other grounds by Re Property Seized on or about November 14-15, 1989 (Iowa) 501 NW2d 482); Smith v Henson, 298 Ky 182, 182 SW2d 666; Public Utilities Com. v Cole's Express, 153 Me 487, 138 A2d 466; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Darnell v Barker, 179 Va 86, 18 SE2d 271; Lassen v Lassen, 8 Va App 502, 383 SE2d 471.

Footnote 17. Lynn v Lynn (Dist Col App) 617 A2d 963; Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541

A2d 1314; Levit v Adams (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 841 SW2d 478, revd on other grounds, remanded (Tex) 850 SW2d 469, reh'g of cause overr (May 5, 1993); Re Estate of Friedli (App) 164 Wis 2d 178, 473 NW2d 604.

A judge may not use from the bench, under the guise of judicial knowledge, that which the judge knows only as an individual observer outside of the judicial proceedings. Vaughn v Shelby Williams of Tennessee, Inc. (Tenn) 813 SW2d 132.

Footnote 18. Vaughn v Shelby Williams of Tennessee, Inc. (Tenn) 813 SW2d 132 (it does not matter what is known to the judge personally if it is not known to the judge in her official capacity).

Footnote 19. Re Estate of Friedli (App) 164 Wis 2d 178, 473 NW2d 604.

Regarding the requirement of indisputability, see § 31.

Footnote 20. Vaughn v Shelby Williams of Tennessee, Inc. (Tenn) 813 SW2d 132.

Footnote 21. Matthews v State, 122 Idaho 801, 839 P2d 1215.

Footnote 22. Gamble v Price (App) 289 SC 538, 347 SE2d 131 (trial court took judicial notice of expert witness' infirmity for purpose of admitting expert's deposition).

Footnote 23. § 34.

Footnote 24. Levit v Adams (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 841 SW2d 478, revd on other grounds, remanded (Tex) 850 SW2d 469, reh'g of cause overr (May 5, 1993).

Footnote 25. Lassen v Lassen, 8 Va App 502, 383 SE2d 471.

Footnote 26. § 26.

(2). Procedural Issues [36-46]

§ 36 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

At any stage of the proceedings, 27 under both federal 28 and state 29 law, a court may take judicial notice of an adjudicative fact which is a proper subject of such notice, 30 whether requested by a party or not. Courts may also take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge although not pleaded. 31

The burden of persuasion, where a court acts sua sponte to take judicial notice, rests upon the party who bears the burden of persuasion on the factual proposition which the noticed fact tends to establish. 32

Ordinarily, a party seeking to take advantage of judicial notice in the course of presenting evidence in the case should bring the matter it wants judicially noticed to the attention of the court so that if there is a ground upon which it may be contradicted or explained, the adverse party will be afforded an opportunity to do so. 33

Footnotes

Footnote 27. Gibbes v Rose Hill Plantation Dev. Co. (DC SC) 794 F Supp 1327; David M., 29 Conn App 499, 615 A2d 1082; Premier Bank v Daigle (La App 3d Cir) 599 So 2d 503; Thomas v Thomas, 176 Mich App 90, 439 NW2d 270; Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363; Granados v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 843 SW2d 736; Eppenauer v Eppenauer (Tex App El Paso) 831 SW2d 30; Fine Foods, Inc. v Dahlin, 147 Vt 599, 523 A2d 1228.

Footnote 28. FRE 201(c).

Footnote 29. Premier Bank v Daigle (La App 3d Cir) 599 So 2d 503; Thomas v Thomas, 176 Mich App 90, 439 NW2d 270; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 341, 389 P2d 869, reh den 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363; Granados v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 843 SW2d 736; Eppenauer v Eppenauer (Tex App El Paso) 831 SW2d 30.

Footnote 30. As to what adjudicative facts may be judicially noticed, see §§ 29 et seq.

Footnote 31. § 39.

Footnote 32. Gibbes v Rose Hill Plantation Dev. Co. (DC SC) 794 F Supp 1327.

Footnote 33. David M., 29 Conn App 499, 615 A2d 1082.

Judicial notice is not judicial knowledge, and one having the burden of establishing a fact of which a court may take judicial notice is not, in consequence, relieved of the necessity of bringing the fact to the knowledge of the court. Shapleigh v Mier, 299 US 468, 81 L Ed 355, 57 S Ct 261, 113 ALR 253.

§ 37 Discretion of court

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts may not shut their minds to truths that all others can see and understand, 34 and are not at liberty to entirely disregard facts of general knowledge of which the courts are cognizant. 35 Moreover, in some jurisdictions statutes expressly require courts to take judicial notice of specified matters. 36 In the absence of a statute specifying matters of which judicial notice must be taken, it is discretionary with the trial court whether it will take judicial notice of well-established matters of fact. The court's rulings usually depending upon the nature of the subject, the issue involved, the apparent justice, and the circumstances of the particular case. 37 In exercising this discretionary power, courts should proceed with great caution, 38 and every reasonable doubt as to the propriety of its exercise in a given case should be resolved against it. 39 For example, to take judicial notice of a criminal investigation file which typically contains hearsay, rumors, conclusions and documents or photographs that may have an insufficient foundation to be admitted into evidence would probably be an abuse of discretion. 40 A court must take judicial notice of a fact where a party so requests and the court is supplied with the proper information, under both federal 41 and state 42 rules. A court may decline to take judicial notice of facts, even if the information is readily verifiable, when it is not supplied with the necessary information. 43

◆ Observation: In order to justify a reversal in a criminal action on the grounds that the court refused to take judicial notice of a particular fact, an accused must show: (1) the trial court abused its discretion by failing to take judicial notice of the fact; (2) he was prohibited by the trial court from establishing the fact by other competent evidence; and (3) because of its relevance to a material issue, the exclusion of the fact resulted in harm to the accused. 44

Footnotes

Footnote 34. United States v Butler, 297 US 1, 80 L Ed 477, 56 S Ct 312, 4 Ohio Ops 401, 36-1 USTC ¶ 9039, 16 AFTR 1289, 102 ALR 914; State v Duranleau, 99 NH 30, 104 A2d 519, 45 ALR2d 1166.

Footnote 35. Jackie Cab Co. v Chicago Park Dist., 366 Ill 474, 9 NE2d 213, 112 ALR 1410.

Footnote 36. § 32.

Footnote 37. Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v Deselms, 212 US 159, 53 L Ed 453, 29 S Ct 270; Henry v Butts (Ala) 591 So 2d 849; Settlers Village Community Improvement Assn. v Settlers Village 5.6, Ltd. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 828 SW2d 182; Brough v Ute Stampede Ass'n, 105 Utah 446, 142 P2d 670; Randall v Commonwealth, 183 Va 182, 31 SE2d 571.

Footnote 38. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; Wood v Astleford (Minn App) 412 NW2d 753; Gordon v Gordon (Mo App) 739 SW2d 728, cert den 485 US 1034, 99 L Ed 2d 909, 108 S Ct 1594.

Footnote 39. Wood v Astleford (Minn App) 412 NW2d 753; Gordon v Gordon (Mo App) 739 SW2d 728, cert den 485 US 1034, 99 L Ed 2d 909, 108 S Ct 1594.

Footnote 40. Wood v Astleford (Minn App) 412 NW2d 753.

Footnote 41. FRE 201(d).

Footnote 42. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363; Eppenauer v Eppenauer (Tex App El Paso) 831 SW2d 30.

Footnote 43. Association against Discrimination in Employment, Inc. v City of Bridgeport (CA2 Conn) 647 F2d 256, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1013, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31714, cert den 455 US 988, 71 L Ed 2d 847, 102 S Ct 1611, 28 BNA FEP Cas 120, 28 CCH EPD ¶ 32465 and appeal after remand (CA2 Conn) 710 F2d 69, 32 BNA FEP Cas 20, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33686, later proceeding (DC Conn) 572 F Supp 494, 38 BNA FEP Cas 1777, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33939; Clark v South Cent. Bell Tel. Co. (WD La) 419 F Supp 697, 18 BNA FEP Cas 630; Durbin v Bonanza Corp. (Colo App) 716 P2d 1124; Freson v Combs (Ind App) 433 NE2d 55; Holtz v Babcock, 143 Mont 341, 389 P2d 869, reh den 143 Mont 371, 390 P2d 801; Ringwood v Foreign Auto Works, Inc. (Utah App) 786 P2d 1350, 125 Utah Adv Rep 45, review pending (Utah) 129 Utah Adv Rep 58 and cert den (Utah) 135 Utah Adv Rep 78 and cert den (Utah) 795 P2d 1138; Bear River Mut. Ins. Co. v Wright (Utah App) 770 P2d 1019, 104 Utah Adv Rep 41.

Footnote 44. James v State (Tex Crim) 546 SW2d 306.

§ 38 Opportunity to be heard

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Procedural protection is provided for a party who would be adversely affected by judicial notice of an adjudicative fact. If a timely request is made, a party must be given an opportunity to challenge the propriety of taking judicial notice and the tenor of the matter noticed under both the Federal Rules of Evidence 45 and corresponding state statutes. 46 To afford this opportunity, the court should, on the record, in advance of taking notice, identify the fact it contemplates noticing, and its justification for doing so. 47 Normally such opportunity would come before a court decides to take judicial notice, but in the absence of prior notification, the request may be made after judicial notice has been taken. 48 The latter situation is likely to arise only when a court takes judicial notice sua sponte. 49 A state court may also require that a party affected by a court's taking judicial notice of a fact be entitled to an opportunity to be heard, 50 and that when a court finds it appropriate to take judicial notice of a matter, fundamental fairness dictates that it should provide the parties with advance notice of its intentions. 51

◆ Caution: The failure to specifically object to a court taking judicial notice may constitute a waiver of the objection. 52 Some state courts go further, providing that a trial court must conduct a hearing on the propriety of taking judicial notice and the scope of the matter to be noticed when a party seeking to have a fact judicially noticed faces a challenge from the opposing party. 53 Furthermore, a court should not take judicial notice at a hearing at which parties are not represented by counsel. Normally, the taking of judicial notice under these circumstances violates the due process rights of the parties. 54

Since a court may take judicial notice at any stage of the proceedings, 55 a court may take judicial notice of a fact after the close of evidence and this does not preclude a party's opportunity to be heard on the matter because once the party receives the trial court's order, the party can make a timely request for an opportunity to be heard on the matter. 56

Footnotes

Footnote 45. FRE 201(e).

Footnote 46. Bonifay v Garner (Fla App D1) 503 So 2d 389, 12 FLW 567 (each holding it improper for judge to judicially notice facts without affording parties notice and opportunity to be heard); Rodriguez v Philip (Fla App D3) 413 So 2d 441.

Footnote 47. United States v Mentz (CA6 Ohio) 840 F2d 315, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1154.

Footnote 48. FRE 201(e).

Footnote 49. Siderius, Inc. v M.V. "Amilla" (CA2 NY) 880 F2d 662, 1989 AMC 2533, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 339.

Although when a court acts sua sponte to take judicial notice the burden of persuasion rests upon the party who bears the burden of persuasion on the factual proposition which the noticed fact tends to establish, procedural fairness demands an opportunity to be heard on a propriety of taking judicial notice. Gibbes v Rose Hill Plantation Dev. Co. (DC SC) 794 F Supp 1327.

Footnote 50. Enroth v Memorial Hosp. at Gulfport (Miss) 566 So 2d 202.

Footnote 51. Chasalow v Board of Assessors (2d Dept) 176 App Div 2d 800, 575 NYS2d 129.

Footnote 52. Rice v James (Mo App) 844 SW2d 64.

Footnote 53. Browning v State (Okla App) 812 P2d 1372 (no matter put in issue by the pleadings can be considered undisputed for purposes of judicial notice; because the trial court did not require evidence of the disputed rules and regulation it had not basis for determining exactly what it was judicially noticing).

Footnote 54. Re D.S., 253 Mont 484, 833 P2d 1090.

Footnote 55. § 36.

Footnote 56. Fine Foods, Inc. v Dahlin, 147 Vt 599, 523 A2d 1228.

§ 39 Effect of pleadings

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts are in disagreement over whether a party must present, in her pleadings, matters she seeks to have judicially noticed. Some courts state that matters of which judicial notice may be taken need not be stated in the pleadings; the court will consider such matters although not pleaded. 57 In federal courts, a party is not required to plead matters which he wishes to have judicially noticed. 58 These jurisdictions also provide that judicial notice will be taken of well-established matters of common knowledge even though the pleadings contain allegations to the contrary, 59 and that pleadings, both civil and criminal, must be read in the light of facts of which the court takes judicial notice. 60 When facts alleged are out of harmony or inconsistent with, or contrary to, facts of which courts take judicial notice, the facts alleged will be disregarded. 61

Other courts apply a different rule, stating that the doctrine of judicial notice does not obviate the necessity for the proper framing of issues, whether of fact or of law, and facts cannot be proven by evidence or established by judicial notice until and unless they are properly pleaded. 62 Consequently, a trial court properly refuses to take judicial notice of federal regulations presented by a party in support of its contract claims when all the party alleges is that the guidelines were violated but does not argue how this violation violated any of the terms of the contract at issue. 63

A third approach is that a trial court is not precluded from judicially noticing a statute or regulation of another jurisdiction on the basis that it has not been pleaded, although a party seeking to recover on the ground of negligence per se must plead a statutory violation. 64

The use of judicial notice at the pleading stage should be severely limited. 65 Furthermore, no matter put in issue by the pleadings can be considered undisputed for purposes of judicial notice. 66 A court may, however, properly take notice of the rules of the United States Supreme Court at the pleading stage. 67

Footnotes

Footnote 57. Dillard v McKnight, 34 Cal 2d 209, 209 P2d 387, 11 ALR2d 835; State v Heston, 137 W Va 375, 71 SE2d 481.

As to the necessity of pleading or notice under the Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act, see § 109.

Footnote 58. § 36.

Footnote 59. Gordon's Transports, Inc. v Bailey, 41 Tenn App 365, 294 SW2d 313.

Footnote 60. United States v Lamont (CA2 NY) 236 F2d 312.

Footnote 61. Young v Boy Scouts of America, 9 Cal App 2d 760, 51 P2d 191; Morrow v Cleveland (Cuyahoga Co) 73 Ohio App 460, 29 Ohio Ops 136, 40 Ohio L Abs 622, 56 NE2d 333; State v Heston, 137 W Va 375, 71 SE2d 481.

Footnote 62. Atlantic Richfield Co. v Canaan Oil Co., 202 Conn 234, 520 A2d 1008.

Footnote 63. Atlantic Richfield Co. v Canaan Oil Co., 202 Conn 234, 520 A2d 1008.

Footnote 64. Daugherty v Southern Pacific Transp. Co. (Tex) 772 SW2d 81, 14 BNA OSHC 1089.

Footnote 65. Johnston v Lehman, 148 Pa Cmwlt 98, 609 A2d 880.

Footnote 66. Browning v State (Okla App) 812 P2d 1372.

Footnote 67. Johnston v Lehman, 148 Pa Cmwlt 98, 609 A2d 880.

§ 40 Discovery motions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Where a movant challenges a party's right to discover particular information, the issue, in jurisdictions with liberal rules, is whether the information sought appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. 68 A judge may judicially notice information in making this assessment that could not properly be noticed as adjudicative fact at trial. 69 For example, while a court may take judicial notice of the physical record in a prior suit before the same court, when determining if an action before the court complies with the applicable renewal statute, the court is precluded from according judicial notice to admissions made in the prior case. 70

Footnotes

Footnote 68. FR Civ P, Rule 26(b)(1), discussed generally in 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery §§ 21-24.

Footnote 69. Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017.

Footnote 70. Mumford v Davis, 206 Ga App 148, 424 SE2d 306, 92 Fulton County D R 2461, cert den (Ga) 1993 Ga LEXIS 157.

§ 41 Summary judgment and similar motions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In deciding a motion for summary judgment, a federal district court may, sua sponte, take judicial notice of adjudicative facts 71 pursuant to the Federal Rules of Evidence. 72 If, however, a party disputes the fact in question, it is generally improper for the court to notice it; 73 judicial notice is proper only if the fact is not subject to reasonable dispute 74 For example, a court may not take judicial notice, in considering a motion for summary judgment, of events occurring at a prior hearing where the parties do not agree what happened and the hearing was not recorded. 75 In addition, the adversely affected party must have an opportunity to oppose judicial notice of the fact. 76

In both state and federal courts, even when an adjudicative fact is judicially noticeable, it may be improper to accept as conclusive a second fact that is inferred from the noticed fact. 77

Where the issue before the court is primarily one of policy rather than fact, however, judicial notice is more likely to involve legislative rather than adjudicative facts, and the restrictions that govern the latter do not apply. 78

The same dichotomy—adjudicative versus nonadjudicative fact 79 —governs the propriety of judicial notice in determining whether the court has jurisdiction to hear the suit. Adjudicative facts may be noted only if Rule 201 or comparable standards are satisfied, whether the issue focuses on geographic jurisdiction 80 or subject-matter jurisdiction. 81 Where the question is one of policy mixed with fact, however, a court may exercise its much broader discretion to notice legislative facts. 82

Footnotes

Footnote 71. Gonzales v Lake County (ND Ind) 800 F Supp 676, revd on other grounds, remanded (CA7 Ind) 4 F3d 1412.

Footnote 72. FRE 201.

Footnote 73. Oneida Indian Nation v New York (CA2 NY) 691 F2d 1070, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002, 65 ALR Fed 606; Cardio-Medical Assoc., Ltd. v Crozer-Chester Medical Center (CA3 Pa) 721 F2d 68, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65716, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231; Aberbach v Wekiva Assoc., Ltd. (SD Fla) 735 F Supp 1032, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 95373.

Footnote 74. § 31.

Footnote 75. Levit v Adams (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 841 SW2d 478, revd on other grounds, remanded (Tex) 850 SW2d 469, reh'g of cause overr (May 5, 1993).

Footnote 76. § 38.

Footnote 77. Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017 (the judicially noticed fact of the Klan's policy of violence against African Americans, without more, would not suffice to permit an inference that the defendant was involved in firebombing the plaintiff's home); Cruz v County of Los Angeles (2nd Dist) 173 Cal App 3d 1131, 219 Cal Rptr 661 (the court took judicial notice of the defendant county's practices in mailing rejection notices, but refused to judicially notice the inference, urged by the county, that that practice was actually followed in the instant case).

Footnote 78. City of Oceanside v McKenna (4th Dist) 215 Cal App 3d 1420, 264 Cal Rptr 275, review den.

Footnote 79. §§ 29, 30.

Footnote 80. Concerning judicial notice of jurisdiction and venue, see § 80.

Regarding geography and venue generally, see §§ 75-82.

Footnote 81. Cardio-Medical Assoc., Ltd. v Crozer-Chester Medical Center (CA3 Pa) 721 F2d 68, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65716, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231.

Footnote 82. Bulova Watch Co. v K. Hattori & Co. (ED NY) 508 F Supp 1322, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 384 (nature of Japanese-based multinational corporation and its relationship to its American subsidiaries).

§ 42 Jury instructions; conclusory effect of judicially noticed matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules of Evidence provide that in a civil action or proceeding, the court must instruct the jury to accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed. 83 A state's rules of evidence may provide that a court must instruct the jury to accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed, 84 that once judicially noticed, an undisputed fact becomes a matter of law. 85

The vast majority of American jurisdictions have rejected the approach that judicial notice ought to operate as a powerful but rebuttable presumption, but it still prevails in a few states that have not adopted the Federal Rules of Evidence. 86 The reasoning behind this opposing view is that judicial notice meets the objective of establishing facts to which the offered evidence would normally be directed, and that consequently, judicial notice relieves a party only of having to offer proof on the matter, it does not constitute conclusive proof of the matter nor is the opposing party prevented from offering evidence disputing the matter established by judicial notice. 87

Footnotes

Footnote 83. FRE 201(g).

Footnote 84. Gronneberg v Hoffart (ND) 466 NW2d 809.

Footnote 85. Langdale v Villamil (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 813 SW2d 187.

Footnote 86. Re Mark C., 28 Conn App 247, 610 A2d 181, app den 223 Conn 922, 614 A2d 823; In Interest of Johnson (4th Dist) 134 Ill App 3d 365, 89 Ill Dec 335, 480 NE2d

520; Kunc v Breen (Mo App) 671 SW2d 23 (the rule is consistently followed in Missouri that judicial notice is never conclusive and that notice is taken subject to refutation).

Annotation: Reception of evidence to contradict or rebut matters judicially noticed, 45 ALR2d 1169.

Footnote 87. Re Mark C., 28 Conn App 247, 610 A2d 181, app den 223 Conn 922, 614 A2d 823.

§ 43 --Criminal cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

There is a division of opinion as to whether a judge should instruct a criminal jury that it must accept a judicially noticed fact as conclusive, or whether a criminal jury should be told that it can reject the noticed fact. The Federal Rules of Evidence provide that in a criminal case, the court shall instruct the jury that it may, but is not required to, accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed. 88 In contrast, the Uniform Rules of Evidence provide that a court must instruct the jury to accept any fact judicially noticed as conclusive. 89 Some states follow the Uniform Rules instruction regarding the conclusiveness of judicial notice in a criminal case, 90 while other states follow the federal lead in requiring a permissive, rather than a conclusive, jury instruction. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 88. FRE 201(g).

Annotation: Reception of evidence to contradict or rebut matters judicially noticed, 45 ALR2d 1169.

Effect of Rule 201(g) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, providing for instruction in criminal case that jury need not accept as conclusive fact judicially noticed, on propriety of taking judicial notice on appeal under Rule 201(f), 49 ALR Fed 911.

What constitutes "adjudicative facts" within meaning of Rule 201 of Federal Rules of Evidence, concerning judicial notice of adjudicative facts, 35 ALR Fed 440.

Footnote 89. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 201(g).

Footnote 90. First Nat. Bank v Jarnigan (Tex App Amarillo) 794 SW2d 54, writ den (Dec 12, 1990) and reh of writ of error overr (Feb 6, 1991).

Footnote 91. State v Vejvoda (1989) 231 Neb 668, 438 nw2d 461.

§ 44 Notice taken postverdict or on appeal

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A judicially noticeable fact 92 may be noticed for the first time postverdict or by an appellate court, 93 and the Federal Rules of Evidence provide that judicial notice may be taken at any stage of the proceedings. 94 Some state courts also allow a party to request judicial notice at any stage of a proceeding. 95

There are no inherent restrictions on an appellate court's authority to take original judicial notice of a noticeable adjudicative fact, 96 so long as all parties are afforded an opportunity to be heard on the propriety of judicial notice. 97 Judicial notice cannot be used, however, to bring new issues into the case on appeal. 98 An appellate court's decision whether to take judicial notice of the record in a prior proceeding is entirely a matter of discretion. A rule providing that a court must take judicial notice if requested by a party and supplied with the necessary information is limited to the trial courts. 99

Appellate courts notice, and rely upon, adjudicative facts to establish appellate jurisdiction to hear an appeal, 1 to affirm 2 or to reverse 3 a ruling below, and even to initiate, sua sponte, a new proceeding. 4

A court is not obliged, on the other hand, to judicially notice information which a party should have but neglected to include in the record below. 5 Therefore, although an appellate court may take judicial notice for the first time on appeal of facts which the trial court would have been authorized to notice, an appellate court is reluctant to take judicial notice when the trial court was not requested to do so and was not given the opportunity to examine the source material. 6 This rule prevents the unfairness that would flow from permitting one side to press an issue or theory on appeal that was not raised below. 7 An appellate court may, however, take judicial notice of factual matters not previously presented to the trial court when the facts are capable of immediate and accurate demonstration by resort to easily accessible sources of indisputable accuracy. 8 In addition, a reviewing court may take judicial notice of events or facts which, while not appearing in the record, disclose that an issue has been mooted. 9 It is, however, inappropriate to supply an essential element of proof by taking judicial notice of the fact of the appellate level even though a trial judge could have taken judicial notice of the fact at trial. 10

In other jurisdictions, an appellate court, in reviewing the proceedings in a trial court, is limited to the record that it is before it on appeal and may take judicial notice only of facts that could have been properly judicially noticed by the trial judge, facts that are necessary to determine whether the appellate court has jurisdiction of the appeal, and whether the appellant has taken a proper step to have the record timely and properly filed. 11

Other courts will not take judicial notice of any matters not considered by the trial court. 12

A court may take judicial notice that a party's appeal has been timely filed when the court obtained the standard file copy of the notice of appeal from the appropriate clerk's office which indicates that the appeal was timely filed. 13

Footnotes

Footnote 92. Hinton v Department of Justice (CA3 Pa) 844 F2d 126, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 830 (refusing to take judicial notice of FBI agent's affidavit predicting the time and expense involved in complying with lower court's Freedom of Information Act order, since the affidavit satisfied neither prong of Rule 201(b)); United States v Judge (CA5 Tex) 846 F2d 274, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 911, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 864 F2d 1144, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 868 F2d 1271 and cert den 495 US 918, 109 L Ed 2d 309, 110 S Ct 1946 (refusing to judicially notice Drug Enforcement Administration regulations because, among other reasons, it would be unfair procedurally to do so); Prestige Homes, Inc. v Legouffe (Colo) 658 P2d 850, appeal after remand (Colo App) 689 P2d 697 (all supporting the proposition that an appellate court should take original judicial notice of an adjudicative fact only if the fact is properly noticeable)..

As to what adjudicative facts may be judicially noticed, see §§ 31 et seq.

Footnote 93. Premier Bank v Daigle (La App 3d Cir) 599 So 2d 503.

Footnote 94. § 36.

Footnote 95. § 36.

Footnote 96. Langdale v Villamil (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 813 SW2d 187 (an appellate court may unquestionably take notice of facts not noticed by a trial court, and an appellate court may take judicial notice of whether an attorney holds a license to practice law in the state).

Judicial notice may be taken at the appellate level as well as at the trial level. West v Searle & Co., 305 Ark 33, 806 SW2d 608, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12783.

Footnote 97. § 38.

Footnote 98. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v McGrew, 188 US 291, 47 L Ed 480, 23 S Ct 375; Mountain View Mining & Milling Co. v McFadden, 180 US 533, 45 L Ed 656, 21 S Ct 488; State ex rel. Libtz v Coleman, 149 Fla 28, 5 So 2d 60; Knight v Pang, 32 Wash 2d 217, 201 P2d 198.

Footnote 99. Mel Trimble Real Estate v Monte Vista Ranch, Inc. (Utah App) 758 P2d 451, 86 Utah Adv Rep 29, cert den (Utah) 769 P2d 819, 98 Utah Adv Rep 3 (where the issue of judicial notice is raised for the first time on appeal, the appellate court is faced with a conflict between the policy that decisions ought not to run contrary to indisputable facts and the procedural policy that prohibits a party from raising issues on appeal that were not raised below).

Footnote 1. Fields v A & B Electronics (Okla) 788 P2d 940 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Re Estate of Dalzell (Okla App) 813 P2d 537) (taking judicial notice that on what would have been appellant's last day to file an appeal, its clerk's office had closed before 4 p.m. due to heavy snow, thereby extending time for perfecting appeal).

Footnote 2. Coney v Smith (CA11 Fla) 738 F2d 1199; Fontana v Fontana (La App 2d Cir) 426 So 2d 351, cert den (La) 433 So 2d 150; Cedars Corp. v Sun Valley Dev. Co., 213 Neb 622, 330 NW2d 900 (taking judicial notice of the record in a prior action as the basis for a res judicata dismissal).

Footnote 3. Colonial Penn Ins. Co. v Coil (CA4 SC) 887 F2d 1236, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521, 15 FR Serv 3d 336; Miceli v Industrial Com. of Arizona (1983) 135 Ariz 71, 659 P2d 30; Fields v A & B Electronics (Okla) 788 P2d 940 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Re Estate of Dalzell (Okla App) 813 P2d 537).

Footnote 4. Green v Warden, U.S. Penitentiary (CA7 Ind) 699 F2d 364, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1078, cert den 461 US 960, 77 L Ed 2d 1321, 103 S Ct 2436.

Footnote 5. Kennedy v Edgar (4th Dist) 199 Ill App 3d 138, 145 Ill Dec 212, 556 NE2d 830.

Footnote 6. People v Hardy, 2 Cal 4th 86, 5 Cal Rptr 2d 796, 825 P2d 781, 92 CDOS 2166, 92 Daily Journal DAR 3841, mod on other grounds 2 Cal 4th 758a, 92 CDOS 4144, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6554, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 435, 113 S Ct 498 and reh den (May 14, 1992) and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 139, 113 S Ct 987; Hollingsworth v King (Tex App Amarillo) 810 SW2d 772, reh overr (Tex App Amarillo) 1991 Tex App LEXIS 1591 and writ den (Tex) 816 SW2d 340 and reh of writ of error overr (Oct 30, 1991).

Footnote 7. People v Hardy, 2 Cal 4th 86, 5 Cal Rptr 2d 796, 825 P2d 781, 92 CDOS 2166, 92 Daily Journal DAR 3841, mod on other grounds 2 Cal 4th 758a, 92 CDOS 4144, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6554, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 435, 113 S Ct 498 and reh den (May 14, 1992) and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 139, 113 S Ct 987.

Footnote 8. Wehde v Regional Transp. Authority (2d Dist) 237 Ill App 3d 664, 178 Ill Dec 190, 604 NE2d 446, app den 149 Ill 2d 662, 183 Ill Dec 873, 612 NE2d 525.

Footnote 9. Dixon v Chicago & North Western Transp. Co., 151 Ill 2d 108, 176 Ill Dec 6, 601 NE2d 704, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13318; Gray v Jackson (Mo App) 773 SW2d 202.

Footnote 10. Commonwealth v Whelan, 408 Mass 29, 556 NE2d 389.

Footnote 11. Centex Corp. v Dalton (Tex App San Antonio) 810 SW2d 812, writ granted (Tex) 34 Tex Sup Ct Jour 824 and revd on other grounds 840 SW2d 952, reh of cause overr (Dec 16, 1992).

An appellate court may take judicial notice of its own records in litigation interconnected with an appeal before it. The court cannot, however, notice material which, though available for notice by the trial court, has not been incorporated into the record on appeal. Reeves v Agee (Okla) 769 P2d 745.

Footnote 12. In re George Trust, 253 Mont 341, 834 P2d 1378; Commonwealth v Kittelberger, 420 Pa Super 104, 616 A2d 1.

An appellate court may take judicial notice of a fact to the same extent as a trial court. An appellate court may not, however, take judicial notice of a fact that was not offered into evidence at the factfinding level. Patrick Media Group, Inc. v Pennsylvania DOT, 142 Pa Cmwlth 359, 597 A2d 274, app gr 529 Pa 652, 602 A2d 862 and revd on other grounds 533 Pa 188, 620 A2d 1125.

Footnote 13. Helms v Young-Woodard, 104 NC App 746, 411 SE2d 184, app dismd, review den 331 NC 117, 414 SE2d 756 and cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 53, 113 S Ct 91.

§ 45 --Criminal appeals

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In criminal cases, the Federal Rules of Evidence and corresponding state statutes direct that the jury be told that it need not accept a judicially noticed fact as conclusive. 14 This raises the question of whether an appellate court is precluded from taking judicial notice of an adjudicative fact in considering an appeal of a criminal conviction where no request to take such notice was made during the jury trial. The federal rule providing that, in a criminal case, the court must instruct the jury that it may, but is not required to accept the judicially noticed fact as conclusive 15 has been interpreted as precluding an appellate court from judicially noticing an adjudicative fact that the jury had not been given the opportunity to reject. 16 Where sufficient evidence has been adduced at trial, an appellate court can take judicial notice of adjudicative facts to reassure itself that the verdict below was factually correct. 17 Moreover, it in no way violates the policies underlying the federal rule for an appellate court to take judicial notice of adjudicative facts on procedural trial issues 18 or post-trial litigation unconnected to guilt or innocence. 19 In addition, an appellate court should be free to take judicial notice of an adjudicative fact that benefits a defendant who is appealing a conviction. 20

Footnotes

Footnote 14. § 43.

Footnote 15. § 42.

Footnote 16. United States v Jones (CA6 Tenn) 580 F2d 219, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 386, 49 ALR Fed 904.

Footnote 17. United States v Rivero (CA5 Fla) 532 F2d 450, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 554 F2d 213.

Regarding appellate judicial notice of adjudicative facts, generally, see §§ 44 et seq.

Footnote 18. United States v Hawkins (CA5 Miss) 566 F2d 1006, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 948, reh den (CA5 Miss) 569 F2d 1155 and cert den 439 US 848, 58 L Ed 2d 151, 99 S Ct 150 (judicially noticing random jury selection plan adopted by the Southern District of Mississippi in assessing defendant's attack on the venire from which his jury had been selected).

Footnote 19. McRae v Hogan (CA5 Ga) 576 F2d 615 (prisoner's challenge to administrative order transferring him to another facility).

Footnote 20. Massachusetts v Westcott, 431 US 322, 52 L Ed 2d 349, 97 S Ct 1755, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025 (in considering the defendant's claim that federal legislation and regulations preempted the state's right to prosecute, the Court took judicial notice of records of the Merchant Vessel Documentation Division of the United States Coast Guard).

§ 46 --Postverdict events

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

An appellate court may judicially notice an event that occurred after judgment was entered below if the facts noticed provide a basis to dismiss the case, 21 but this is appropriate only if the noticed fact unequivocally justifies such a result. 22

Subsequent events that are not properly a part of the record on appeal should not be noticed, however, to expand the scope of review of matters which were disputed at the trial, 23 except in extraordinary circumstances. 24

Footnotes

Footnote 21. Melvin v Nickolopoulos (CA3 NJ) 864 F2d 301 (recognizing rule but declining to apply it where factual basis for judicial notice was lacking); Bluthardt v Breslin, 74 Ill 2d 246, 24 Ill Dec 151, 384 NE2d 1309; Re Marriage of Holder (5th Dist) 137 Ill App 3d 596, 91 Ill Dec 926, 484 NE2d 485 (recognizing rule but refusing to apply it); South Stickney Park Dist. v Bedford Park (1st Dist) 131 Ill App 3d 205, 86 Ill Dec 402, 475 NE2d 616 (appellate court took judicial notice of ordinances, passed four months after the trial court's action, which rendered appellate issues moot).

Footnote 22. Melvin v Nickolopoulos (CA3 NJ) 864 F2d 301.

Footnote 23. Re Marriage of Holder (5th Dist) 137 Ill App 3d 596, 91 Ill Dec 926, 484 NE2d 485.

To permit a party to appeal a decision on a basis completely different from that presented below would render the lower court decision superfluous; appellate notice of facts unavailable at the time of trial would be inconsistent with the appellate function of the court. State v McCarthy, 197 Conn 247, 496 A2d 513, habeas corpus proceeding (DC Conn) 683 F Supp 880.

Footnote 24. Colonial Penn Ins. Co. v Coil (CA4 SC) 887 F2d 1236, 29 Fed Rules Evid

B. Specific Matters Judicially Noticed [47-154]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 21-90

ALR Index: Judicial Notice

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 1-7

2 Am Jur Trials 1, Investigating Particular Civil Actions § 53; 3 Am Jur Trials 427, Preparing and Using Experimental Evidence § 70; 18 Am Jur Trials 443, Unwitnessed Automobile Accident Cases

Am Jur Proof of Facts Fact Book §§ I:176-I:178

21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction §§ 4-7, 16; 26 Am Jur POF2d 229, Meaning of Abbreviation, Word, or Phrase According to Usage of Trade § 9

1. Occupational and Business Facts [47-53]

§ 47 Business and professional customs and practices, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In general, the courts take judicial notice of commercial usages and customs which are well established and commonly known, 25 and to the manner and methods in which business is conducted. 26 For example, the ownership, operation, and status of a facility such as a hospital are matters, the factual components of which may be judicially noticed. 27

Courts have also taken, or refused to take, judicial notice of facts, customs and usages relating to a wide variety of other businesses, trades, occupations and professions, including agriculture; 28 brokers; 29 cemeteries; 30 charities; 31 drug stores; 32 education; 33 entertainment; 34 the garment industry; 35 the health care industry; 36 labor unions 37 and labor practices; 38 marketing and sales in general; 39 night clubs, restaurants and the like; 40 the sale and transfer of real estate and real estate in general, 41 and transportation. 42

So commonplace has become the consumer practice of buying merchandise on credit and paying for it later on the installment plan, that judicial notice may be taken of the practice. 43 Furthermore, a court may take judicial notice of the belief and usage among merchants that the party entitled to sign and deliver money order issued by a bank is authorized to bind the bank's credit to the limit expressed in the money order and, within that limit and relying on it, merchants deliver goods and render services. 44

§ 47 ----Business and professional customs and practices, generally

[SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Fact of bank's FDIC insured status was not subject to reasonable dispute; therefore, district court did not err by taking judicial notice of it. United States v Chapel (1994, CA9 Cal) 41 F3d 1338, 94 CDOS 9414, 94 Daily Journal DAR 17412.

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Galveston Electric Co. v Galveston, 258 US 388, 66 L Ed 678, 42 S Ct 351, 3 AFTR 3138; United States v Ferger, 250 US 199, 63 L Ed 936, 39 S Ct 445; Lawson v Ridgeway, 72 Ariz 253, 233 P2d 459, 29 ALR2d 518; Marquardt v Cernocky (2d Dist) 18 Ill App 2d 135, 151 NE2d 109, 67 ALR2d 956; Elizabethtown Lincoln Mercury, Inc. v Jones, 313 Ky 321, 231 SW2d 42.

Footnote 26. McDonald v Chemical Nat. Bank, 174 US 610, 43 L Ed 1106, 19 S Ct 787; Nicol v Ames, 173 US 509, 43 L Ed 786, 19 S Ct 522, 3 AFTR 2661; Smith v Bear (CA2 NY) 237 F2d 79, 60 ALR2d 1119; Ocean Acci. & Guaranty Corp. v Rubin (CA9 Cal) 73 F2d 157, 96 ALR 412; Meyerson v Hurlbut, 68 App DC 360, 98 F2d 232, 118 ALR 313, cert den 305 US 610, 83 L Ed 388, 59 S Ct 69; Stockton Dry Goods Co. v Girsh, 36 Cal 2d 677, 227 P2d 1, 22 ALR2d 1460.

Practice References 35 Am Jur POF2d 589, Routine Business Practice.

Footnote 27. Enroth v Memorial Hosp. at Gulfport (Miss) 566 So 2d 202.

Footnote 28. Weber v Madison (Iowa) 251 NW2d 523 (judicial notice taken that poultry production now dominated by big business).

The trial judge erred in taking judicial notice that maintaining a race horse and regular participation in commercial racing is a part of "farming" in Vermont. Martin v Shepard, 134 Vt 491, 365 A2d 971, 93 ALR3d 466

Regarding judicial notice of economic matters relating to agriculture, see § 69.

Footnote 29. Lawrence v Commodity Futures Trading Com. (CA9) 759 F2d 767 (commodity broker's associate's claim that a three-month suspension would cause him to lose customers and income is not an appropriate matter for judicial notice).

The New York Stock Exchange and National Association of Securities Dealers have essentially identical arbitration codes. Parr v Superior Court (1st Dist) 139 Cal App 3d 440, 188 Cal Rptr 801 (taking judicial notice of substantial similarity).

Footnote 30. Jones v Trawick (Fla) 75 So 2d 785, 50 ALR2d 1319 (a lot adjoining a cemetery is not as saleable as one not adjoining a cemetery).

Footnote 31. Memorial Hospital Asso. v Pacific Grape Products Co., 45 Cal 2d 634, 290 P2d 481, 50 ALR2d 442.

Efforts by a nonprofit housing corporation to provide low rental housing for elderly persons on fixed incomes is a charitable activity intended to address a compelling social problem. Waterbury First Church Housing, Inc. v Brown, 170 Conn 556, 367 A2d 1386.

Footnote 32. Winter Park Appliance Center, Inc. v Walling Crate Co. (Fla App D2) 196 So 2d 198 (both concluding that it is common knowledge that most drugstores are engaged in a wide field of merchandising having no connection with drugs); Loblaw, Inc. v New York State Board of Pharmacy, 11 NY2d 102, 226 NYS2d 681, 181 NE2d 621, 98 ALR2d 1055.

Footnote 33. Caulfield v Board of Education (ED NY) 486 F Supp 862, 24 BNA FEP Cas 1418, 21 CCH EPD ¶ 30389, affd (CA2 NY) 632 F2d 999, 26 BNA FEP Cas 553, 24 CCH EPD ¶ 31270, cert den 450 US 1030, 68 L Ed 2d 225, 101 S Ct 1739, 28 BNA FEP Cas 117, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31623 (court took judicial notice that historically, a large percentage of public school teachers in New York City, particularly in the lower grades, have been women); Alex v Allen (WD Pa) 409 F Supp 379, 21 FR Serv 2d 739 (court took judicial notice of the magnitude of disciplinary problems in public schools); Crawley v Board of Education (CA6 Ky) 658 F2d 450 (high school principal is part of the teaching profession even if or she does not teach a class, hence, under state law, the principal is entitled to a hearing before being transferred to a nonteaching position); Trustees of Columbia University v Orangetown, 93 Misc 2d 261, 402 NYS2d 899, affd (2d Dept) 60 App Div 2d 582, 399 NYS2d 708; Greenhill v Carpenter (Tenn App) 718 SW2d 268 (athletic programs have become an integral part of the educational process in colleges and universities throughout this country).

Footnote 34. Gee v CBS, Inc. (ED Pa) 471 F Supp 600, 202 USPQ 486, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 612 F2d 572 (taking judicial notice that information, contained in the Schwann Record Catalog, that a particular record is available for sale is authoritative); Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. v Lardner (CA9 Cal) 216 F2d 844, 51 ALR2d 728, cert den 348 US 944, 99 L Ed 739, 75 S Ct 365, reh den 348 US 965, 99 L Ed 753, 75 S Ct 522 (court refused to take judicial notice of manager's supposed authority to waive "good conduct" clause in contract).

Footnote 35. D. A. Schulte, Inc. v Gangi, 328 US 108, 90 L Ed 1114, 66 S Ct 925, 11 CCH LC ¶ 51230, 167 ALR 208 (New York City produces more garments for interstate shipment than any other city).

Footnote 36. Matchett v Superior Court of Yuba County (3rd Dist) 40 Cal App 3d 623, 115 Cal Rptr 317 (court took judicial notice of nationwide, generally accepted standards describing the organization and functions of medical staffs and medical staff committees in accredited hospitals); Re Will of Cromartie, 64 NC App 115, 306 SE2d 853 (because of the demands of other responsibilities, doctors often delay making entries onto patients' records that require dictation and transcription); Shaker Medical Center Hospital v Phillips, 54 Ohio Misc 21, 8 Ohio Ops 3d 338, 376 NE2d 983.

Footnote 37. First Nat. Maintenance Corp. v NLRB, 452 US 666, 69 L Ed 2d 318, 101 S Ct 2573, 107 BNA LRRM 2705, 91 CCH LC ¶ 12805; McNamara Constr. of Manitoba, Ltd. v United States, 206 Ct Cl 1, 509 F2d 1166, 20 CCF ¶ 83644; Norwalk Teachers' Ass'n v Board of Education, 138 Conn 269, 83 A2d 482, 28 BNA LRRM 2408, 20 CCH LC ¶ 66543, 31 ALR2d 1133; Jacobs v Board of Education (2d Dept) 64 App Div 2d 148, 409 NYS2d 234, 100 BNA LRRM 2463; Hagerman v Dayton, 147 Ohio St 313, 34 Ohio Ops 238, 71 NE2d 246, 170 ALR 199 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in State ex rel. Ohio Civil Service Employees Asso. v Stackhouse (Cuyahoga Co) 1 Ohio App 3d 121, 1 Ohio BR 428, 439 NE2d 936).

Footnote 38. Ladeau v Department of Employment Secur., 134 Vt 387, 359 A2d 648 (common usage in the labor market is that, in the absence of a contractual or statutory provision, severance pay is given, if at all, as an incident of firing without cause, and not as an incident to voluntary quitting).

Footnote 39. Stockton Dry Goods Co. v Girsh, 36 Cal 2d 677, 227 P2d 1, 22 ALR2d 1460; Winter Park Appliance Center, Inc. v Walling Crate Co. (Fla App D2) 196 So 2d 198; Miami Beach v Austin Burke, Inc. (Fla App D3) 185 So 2d 720; Tobacco Growers Co-op. Ass'n. v Jones, 185 NC 265, 117 SE 174, 33 ALR 231.

Footnote 40. King v Griner (Fla) 60 So 2d 177; Massell v Daley, 404 Ill 479, 89 NE2d 361, 13 ALR2d 1356 (it is common knowledge that business is often "going strong" in beer joints at midnight, and that their customers are on the move at that hour); Bryer v Rath Packing Co., 221 Md 105, 156 A2d 442, 77 ALR2d 1; Brechman v Adamar of New Jersey, Inc., 182 NJ Super 259, 440 A2d 480.

Most retailers, including establishments that prepare and sell meals, collect sales tax from their customers. Kollasch v Adamany (App) 99 Wis 2d 533, 299 NW2d 891, revd on other grounds 104 Wis 2d 552, 313 NW2d 47.

Footnote 41. § 69.

Footnote 42. Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Riverside Mills, 219 US 186, 55 L Ed 167, 31 S Ct 164; Mid-Continent Grain Co. v St. Louis S. F. R. Co., 166 Kan 641, 203 P2d 141; Dellwo v Pearson, 259 Minn 452, 107 NW2d 859, 97 ALR2d 866; Skelka v Metropolitan Transit Authority (2d Dept) 76 App Div 2d 492, 430 NYS2d 840; State ex rel. Southern Pacific Co. v Duncan, 230 Or 179, 368 P2d 733, 98 ALR2d 617; Chattanooga v Fanburg, 196 Tenn 226, 265 SW2d 15, 42 ALR2d 1200.

For a discussion of judicial notice of facts relating to transportation generally, see §§ 83-87.

Footnote 43. Kansas Com. on Civil Rights v Sears, Roebuck & Co., 216 Kan 306, 532 P2d 1263.

Footnote 44. Mirabile v Udoh, 92 Misc 2d 168, 399 NYS2d 869, 23 UCCRS 101.

§ 48 Labor and employment, generally

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

The courts frequently have taken judicial notice of matters of common knowledge relating to labor and employment and to labor conditions generally, 45 such as the fact that a person beyond a certain age cannot well compete in the labor market. 46 The courts have also taken judicial notice of matters generally known in connection with labor unions and union activities. 47 Judicial notice has been taken of the facts that refusal of employers to confer and negotiate with representatives of their employees has been a prolific source of labor disturbances, 48 that union employees will not ordinarily cross a picket line, 49

The courts have taken judicial notice of the prevalence of unemployment throughout the entire nation during certain periods, 50

The courts will judicially notice the scope of such employments, and the duties incumbent upon those employed therein. 51 For example, the courts have judicially noticed the ordinary duties of the several classes of employees of railroads, such as roadmaster, section boss, conductor, fireman, station agent, superintendent, and general manager. 52

§ 48 ----Labor and employment, generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Discharged Postal Service employee's interim CSRS benefits were not subject to judicial notice since facts surrounding them (i.e., amount received, how amount was derived, its significance in relation to likely size of employee's disability retirement annuity, and relevance to front pay award for discrimination) never achieved requisite degree of popular familiarity, nor was information derived from generally available government documents. Lussier v Runyon (1995, CA1 Me) 50 F3d 1103, 4 AD Cas 265.

In action by former school superintendent against school employees' retirement board challenging calculation of average final salary, board did not err by sua sponte utilizing financial statistics and public policy considerations not considered before hearing examiner, where board—not hearing examiner—was final factfinder in case and board could take official notice of facts which were obvious and notorious to expert in agency's field and those facts contained in agency's files. Christiana v Public Sch. Employees' Retirement Bd. (1994, Pa Cmwlt) 646 A2d 645.

Footnotes

Footnote 45. Dixie Glass Co. v Pollak (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 341 SW2d 530, 91 ALR2d 662, writ ref n r e 162 Tex 440, 347 SW2d 596, 91 ALR2d 681, reh'g of writ of error overr (Jul 19, 1961).

Judicial notice may be taken of the fact that coffee breaks or short rest periods are rapidly becoming an accepted part of employment generally. Mitchell v Greinetz (CA10 Colo) 235 F2d 621, 30 CCH LC ¶ 70140, 61 ALR2d 956.

Footnote 46. Dixie Glass Co. v Pollak (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 341 SW2d 530, 91 ALR2d 662, writ ref n r e 162 Tex 440, 347 SW2d 596, 91 ALR2d 681, reh'g of writ of error overr (Jul 19, 1961).

Footnote 47. Johnston v Chrysler Corp. (Sup) 54 Del 279, 178 A2d 459 (judicial notice has been taken of the fact that work contracts entered into between employers and an industrywide union customarily fix working conditions, rates of pay, hours of work, seniority among employees, and other matters as between employer and employee).

It is a matter of common knowledge that most school systems large enough to support a teachers' association pursue the practice of negotiating with the association with regard to employment, salaries, grievance procedure, and working conditions. Norwalk Teachers' Ass'n v Board of Education, 138 Conn 269, 83 A2d 482, 28 BNA LRRM 2408, 20 CCH LC ¶ 66543, 31 ALR2d 1133.

Footnote 48. NLRB v Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., 301 US 1, 81 L Ed 893, 57 S Ct 615, 1 BNA LRRM 703, 1 CCH EPD ¶ 9601, 1 CCH LC ¶ 17017, 108 ALR 1352.

Footnote 49. International Union, United Auto., Aircraft & Agricultural Implement Workers v Russell, 264 Ala 456, 88 So 2d 175, 37 BNA LRRM 2782, 30 CCH LC ¶ 69850, 62 ALR2d 669, affd 356 US 634, 2 L Ed 2d 1030, 78 S Ct 932, 42 BNA LRRM 2142, 34 CCH LC ¶ 71546, reh den 357 US 944, 2 L Ed 2d 1558, 78 S Ct 1379.

Footnote 50. Jennings v St. Louis, 332 Mo 173, 58 SW2d 979, 87 ALR 365; Andrews v McMahan, 43 NM 87, 85 P2d 743, 120 ALR 697; W. H. H. Chamberlin, Inc. v Andrews, 271 NY 1, 2 NE2d 22, 5 Ohio Ops 306, 106 ALR 1519, affd 299 US 515, 81 L Ed 380, 57 S Ct 122, reh den 301 US 714, 81 L Ed 1365, 57 S Ct 926.

Footnote 51. State ex rel. Ferrocarriles Nacionales v Rutledge, 331 Mo 1015, 56 SW2d 28, 85 ALR 1378, cert den 289 US 746, 77 L Ed 1492, 53 S Ct 689; State ex rel. Kern v Arnold, 100 Mont 346, 49 P2d 976, 100 ALR 1071; Deodati v Kern, 280 NY 366, 21 NE2d 355, 122 ALR 1446.

Footnote 52. New England R. Co. v Conroy, 175 US 323, 44 L Ed 181, 20 S Ct 85; Condran v Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. (CA8 Iowa) 67 F 522; Louisville, E. & S. L. R. Co. v McVay, 98 Ind 391; Gannon v Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 141 Iowa 37, 117 NW 966; Dailey v Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Ass'n., 102 Mich 289, 57 NW 184, different results reached on reh 102 Mich 299, 60 NW 694; Elliott v Payne, 293 Mo 581, 239 SW 851, 23 ALR 706; Sacalaris v Eureka & P. R. Co., 18 Nev 155, 1 P 835; Mason v Richmond & D. R. Co., 111 NC 482, 16 SE 698.

§ 49 Value of services

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

As a general rule, the courts will not take judicial notice of the value of personal services, 53 even though such services are not professional or expert in nature. 54 For example, it has been held that judicial notice will not be taken of local charges for repairing an automobile, 55 or of the price per day of farm labor. 56

§ 49 ----Value of services [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Excessiveness or inadequacy of attorney's fees in matters involving commercial and general business activities. 23 ALR5th 241.

Footnotes

Footnote 53. Rozelle v Barnard, 72 NM 182, 382 P2d 180; Gange v Gange, 79 ND 372, 56 NW2d 688; Schlegel v Hough, 182 Or 441, 186 P2d 516, reh den 182 Or 449, 188 P2d 158; Re Gudde's Will, 260 Wis 79, 49 NW2d 906.

Footnote 54. Re Gudde's Will, 260 Wis 79, 49 NW2d 906.

Footnote 55. Rozelle v Barnard, 72 NM 182, 382 P2d 180.

Footnote 56. Branch v Branch, 144 Va 244, 132 SE 303.

§ 50 Automotive industry

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have taken judicial notice of facts relating to automobile advertising; 57 how cars are purchased 58 and paid for; 59 periodic maintenance contracts; 60 comparisons of price and quality; 61 the uses to which various vehicles are put; 62 automobile leasing 63 and insurance; 64 and parking lots and garages. 65 Some courts have refused to take judicial notice of matters relating to the automotive industry, such as a manufacturer's intended primary use for pickup trucks, 66 the characteristics of either a "trail bike" or a particular brand of motorcycle, in resolving whether a trail bike was either an "automobile" or "midget automobile" within insurance policy's exclusion clause. 67 and the standard of care for garage owners in a city. 68

Footnotes

Footnote 57. Henningsen v Bloomfield Motors, Inc., 32 NJ 358, 161 A2d 69, 75 ALR2d 1.

Footnote 58. Robertson v King, 225 Ark 276, 280 SW2d 402, 52 ALR2d 1108; Cannady's Used Cars v Dowling, 221 Miss 293, 72 So 2d 696, 44 ALR2d 1053; Adams v Mid-West Chevrolet Corp., 198 Okla 461, 179 P2d 147, 175 ALR 554.

Footnote 59. Robertson v King, 225 Ark 276, 280 SW2d 402, 52 ALR2d 1108.

Footnote 60. Thomas v Hughes, 177 Kan 347, 279 P2d 286, 65 ALR2d 306.

Footnote 61. Althof v Benson, 259 Iowa 1254, 147 NW2d 875.

Footnote 62. Berdeaux v Gamble Alden Life Ins. Co. (Ala) 338 So 2d 403 (it is judicially noticeable that pickup trucks are adopted for and commonly used to both carry passengers and loads of various sorts).

Footnote 63. Grant v Emmco Ins. Co., 295 NC 39, 243 SE2d 894.

A court may take judicial notice of a common practice in the automobile leasing industry of inserting a by-out provision in a lease agreement. Gemini Equipment Co. v Pennsy Supply, Inc., 407 Pa Super 404, 595 A2d 1211.

Footnote 64. Government Employees Ins. Co. v Sweet (Fla App D4) 186 So 2d 95, 21 ALR3d 895; Grant v Emmco Ins. Co., 295 NC 39, 243 SE2d 894.

Footnote 65. Marquardt v Cernocky (2d Dist) 18 Ill App 2d 135, 151 NE2d 109, 67 ALR2d 956 (many operators of parking lots, particularly those located upon sloping ground, will place fences, logs, or railroad ties, cement barriers, and the like to keep parked autos in a safe position); General Acci. Group v Frintzilas, 111 Misc 2d 306, 443 NYS2d 989 (operation of a parking lot involves use of adjacent streets as well as curb cuts and driveways).

Footnote 66. Berdeaux v Gamble Alden Life Ins. Co. (Ala) 338 So 2d 403 (not common knowledge, and therefore not judicially noticeable).

Footnote 67. Central Nat. Ins. Co. v Virginia Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co., 222 Va 353, 282 SE2d 4).

Footnote 68. Flynn v Libkie, 101 Mich App 331, 300 NW2d 560, remanded 411 Mich 942, 308 NW2d 98 (an adjudicative fact which could not be judicially noticed where the requirements of Rule 201(b) were not satisfied).

§ 51 Building and construction industry

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have judicially noticed kinds of equipment frequently used in construction; 69 the purpose of a subcontractor surety bond; 70 the frequency of labor unrest in construction projects; 71 and the expected efficient life of a properly installed septic tank. 72 The length of time necessary to complete construction of a home, however, is not judicially noticeable. 73

Footnotes

Footnote 69. Kingsport Utilities, Inc. v Brown, 201 Tenn 393, 299 SW2d 656, 69 ALR2d 87.

Footnote 70. The purpose of a surety bond for a construction subcontractor is to provide for performance of the subcontractor's construction obligation if the subcontractor defaulted. Balboa Ins. Co. v K & D & Associates (Tex Civ App Dallas) 589 SW2d 752, writ ref n r e (May 7, 1980) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Jun 18, 1980).

Footnote 71. McNamara Constr. of Manitoba, Ltd. v United States, 206 Ct Cl 1, 509 F2d 1166, 20 CCF ¶ 83644.

Regarding judicial notice of labor matters generally, see § 48.

Footnote 72. Wagner Constr. Co. v Noonan (Ind App) 403 NE2d 1144.

Footnote 73. Stefanowicz Corp. v Harris, 36 Md App 136, 373 A2d 54.

§ 52 Insurance

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Judicial notice may be taken of numerous facts, customs and usages of the insurance industry. For example, judicial notice may be taken that insurance is a regulated industry; 74 that premiums are collected in advance of the period covered; 75 that the general custom of life insurance companies is to require formal written applications for life insurance; 76 that the practice of life insurers is to reckon the age of an insured from his nearest birthday, 77 that the vast majority of people who carry insurance never read their policies; 78 that a substantial percentage of liability insurance claims are settled without litigation; 79 and that disputes as to liability are often settled by arbitration. 80 Courts have also judicially noticed information relating to credit life insurance; 81 fire insurance; 82 and supersedeas bonds. 83

In addition, a court may take judicial notice of a regulatory impact statement filed by a superintendent of insurance which explains how the same factors used by actuaries in setting primary rates are also used in setting excess rates, and consequently supplies an adequate rational basis for the excess rates. 84 A court will not, however, take judicial notice that the mere fact of pregnancy influences premium rates or otherwise increases the risk under a policy that by its terms excludes coverage for normal pregnancies. 85

Footnotes

Footnote 74. Kimmey v Farmers Bank (Del Sup) 373 A2d 569 (insurance companies are subject to mortgage loan regulation).

Footnote 75. Jost v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 271 SC 492, 248 SE2d 778.

Footnote 76. Taylor v Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W., 101 Minn 72, 111 NW 919.

Footnote 77. Prange v International Life Ins. Co., 329 Mo 651, 46 SW2d 523, 80 ALR 950.

Footnote 78. Magnolia-Broadway Corp. v Fire Asso. of Philadelphia (City Ct) 137 NYS2d 918; Brewer v Vanguard Ins. Co. (Tenn App) 614 SW2d 360.

Footnote 79. Comunale v Traders & General Ins. Co., 50 Cal 2d 654, 328 P2d 198, 68 ALR2d 883.

Footnote 80. Hardware Dealers Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v Glidden Co., 284 US 151, 76 L Ed 214, 52 S Ct 69.

Footnote 81. Winkle v Grand Nat. Bank, 267 Ark 123, 601 SW2d 559, cert den 449 US 880, 66 L Ed 2d 104, 101 S Ct 230.

Footnote 82. Codd v Westchester Fire Ins. Co., 14 Wash 2d 600, 128 P2d 968, 151 ALR 316.

Footnote 83. Melvin v West (Fla App D2) 120 So 2d 233, 90 ALR2d 443.

As to judicial notice of information concerning automobile insurance, see § 50.

Footnote 84. Medical Malpractice Ins. Asso. v Superintendent of Ins., 72 NY2d 753, 537 NYS2d 1, 533 NE2d 1030, cert den 490 US 1080, 104 L Ed 2d 661, 109 S Ct 2100.

Footnote 85. Tomlinson v Midamerica Mut. Life Ins. Co. (App) 168 Wis 2d 92, 483 NW2d 234.

§ 53 Attorneys

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have judicially noticed facts relating to: the kinds of work that attorneys do 86 and don't do; 87 how law firms seek to attract clients; 88 and how they attempt to protect client confidences. 89 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that appointed counsel is an able, effective, and experienced trial attorney in considering an indigent criminal defendant's claim of a denial of effective assistance of counsel. 90 A court may not, however, take judicial notice that a firm is a well regarded law firm in a particular city. 91

Federal courts are often called upon to set attorneys fees, for example in many civil rights and class actions. In doing so, they often take judicial notice of the prevailing fee structure for attorneys of comparable skill and ability. 92 Some courts also take judicial notice of usual and customary attorney's fees 93 and of the contents of a case file without receiving further evidence and proceeding before the court. 94 For example, a court may take judicial notice from the volume of the record before it and the absolvency of a debtor in the case that the work of counsel has been expensive and that the chances of collecting a debt from a defunct corporation are so slim that a generous contingent fee is necessary to motivate the efforts of counsel. 95 Other state courts do not allow the taking of judicial notice of the reasonableness of attorney's fees awarded to a party, stating that the reasonableness of the attorney's fees must be established by competent evidence, 96 or restrict when notice may be taken to certain situations. 97

Decisions have also judicially noted the timing of payment 98 and what lawyers generally do not include as chargeable time. 99

Courts have taken judicial notice of prevailing hourly rates for purposes of fixing attorneys' fees. 1

Footnotes

Footnote 86. Lindy Bros. Builders, Inc. v American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp. (ED Pa) 382 F Supp 999, 1974-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 75361, affd in part and vacated in part on other grounds (CA3 Pa) 540 F2d 102, 1976-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 61039 (disapproved on other grounds by Blum v Stenson, 465 US 886, 79 L Ed 2d 891, 104 S Ct 1541, 34 BNA FEP Cas 417, 33 CCH EPD ¶ 34226) as stated in Pennsylvania v Delaware Valley Citizens' Council for Clean Air, 478 US 546, 92 L Ed 2d 439, 106 S Ct 3088, 24 Env't Rep Cas 1577, 16 ELR 20801; Bennett v Bennett (Ala) 454 So 2d 535.

Footnote 87. Bursten v United States (CA5 Fla) 395 F2d 976, 68-1 USTC ¶ 9400, 21 AFTR 2d 1403, 3 ALR Fed 644, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 453 F2d 605, 72-1 USTC ¶ 9152, 29 AFTR 2d 72-442, cert den 409 US 843, 34 L Ed 2d 83, 93 S Ct 44 (most lawyers have only scant knowledge of tax laws).

Footnote 88. Walls v Mississippi State Bar (Miss) 437 So 2d 30 (taking judicial notice that many law firms held open houses in the past in violation of an antiquated ethics opinion and no one saw fit to complain, the court concluded that appellants' open house did not constitute impermissible soliciting).

Footnote 89. SEC v Musella (SD NY) 578 F Supp 425, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 99637, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1844, later proceeding (SD NY) CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 91416, later proceeding (SD NY) CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 91647, later proceeding (SD NY) CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 91800, later proceeding (SD NY) 678 F Supp 1060, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 93590, later proceeding (SD NY) 748 F Supp 1028, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94536, affd (CA2 NY) 898 F2d 138, cert den 498 US 816, 112 L Ed 2d 32, 111 S Ct 57, later proceeding (SD NY) CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97205, adopted (SD NY) 818 F Supp 600, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97416.

Footnote 90. State ex rel. Stephan v Smith, 242 Kan 336, 747 P2d 816.

Footnote 91. Harris Trust & Sav. Bank v American Nat'l Bank & Trust Co. (1st Dist) 230 Ill App 3d 591, 171 Ill Dec 788, 594 NE2d 1308, app den 146 Ill 2d 627, 176 Ill Dec 798, 602 NE2d 452.

Footnote 92. Ursic v Bethlehem Mines (CA3 Pa) 719 F2d 670, 4 EBC 2297, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 395 (pretextual discharge from employment case; $100 per hour is a reasonable fee charged by able and experienced counsel); SEC v Kelly, Andrews & Bradley, Inc. (SD NY) 423 F Supp 645 (calculating fee due to law firm appointed by SEC to administer or liquidate brokerage); Cook v Block (DC Dist Col) 609 F Supp 1036, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1322, 38 CCH EPD ¶ 35672.

Footnote 93. Harrison v Perea, 168 US 311, 42 L Ed 478, 18 S Ct 129; Austin Area Teachers Federal Credit Union v First City Bank-Northwest Hills, N.A. (Tex App Austin) 825 SW2d 795, writ den (Jun 24, 1992); Re Gudde's Will, 260 Wis 79, 49 NW2d 906.

Footnote 94. Austin Area Teachers Federal Credit Union v First City Bank-Northwest Hills, N.A. (Tex App Austin) 825 SW2d 795, writ den (Jun 24, 1992).

Footnote 95. Schlater v Haynie (Tenn App) 833 SW2d 919, reh den (Tenn App) 1992 Tenn App LEXIS 21.

Footnote 96. Hoelscher v GFH Financial Services, Inc. (Tex App Dallas) 814 SW2d 842, 130D motion filed (Sep 24, 1991); Palmer v Liles (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 677 SW2d 661, 82 OGR 376, writ ref n r e (Nov 7, 1984) (a court does not have authority to adjudicate the reasonableness of fees without supporting, competent evidence).

Footnote 97. Re Marriage of Murray (Ind App) 460 NE2d 1023; Zebrowski & Associates, Inc. v Indianapolis (Ind App) 457 NE2d 259 (notice should be limited to routine cases involving relatively small amounts).

Footnote 98. State ex rel. Moore v Scroggie (App) 109 Idaho 32, 704 P2d 364 (it is common practice for defense attorneys to obtain a substantial "up front" fee payment before undertaking the defense of a serious crime such as murder).

Footnote 99. Cook v Block (DC Dist Col) 609 F Supp 1036, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1322, 38 CCH EPD ¶ 35672 (in disallowing an item on a bill submitted by the attorney for a successful employment discrimination class action, the court took judicial notice that many private law firms do not bill clients for the time expended in keeping daily log sheets of billable hours).

Footnote 1. Ursic v Bethlehem Mines (CA3 Pa) 719 F2d 670, 4 EBC 2297, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 395 (fact that, in particular region of state, able and experienced trial counsel charge $100 per hour).

2. Characteristics of People; Incidents of Human Life [54-63]

§ 54 Generally

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

Judicial knowledge comprehends information and beliefs relating to human activities, habits, traits, diseases, 2 and propensities. 3 Courts have taken judicial notice of the behavior, characteristics, and needs of children, 4 teenagers, 5 college students, 6 parents, 7 and senior citizens. 8

Courts judicially may notice facts concerning life 9 and life expectancy, 10 and death, 11 food 12 and drink, 13 and clothing. 14

Judicial notice has been taken that racism still plagues many aspects of life in the United States, 15 and a court may take judicial notice of the distinction between a party's cultural ethnicity, for example Puerto Rican, and their race. 16 Courts may also notice that sometimes people are motivated by economic concerns, 17 and sometimes by altruistic interests. 18 They have taken judicial notice of what people read 19 and what they do not read. 20 In addition, courts may take notice that sports can be hazardous to the participant 21 and the spectator or innocent bystander alike; 22 that productivity decreases and the volume of mail increases before and shortly after Christmas; 23 and that political parties compete for the farm vote. 24

A court may not, however, take judicial notice that the phrase "going with" means that the parties involved are engaged in sexual relations, as the meaning of this phrase is subject to reasonable dispute. 25

§ 54 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

On motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction plaintiff's complaint alleging, inter alia, that Drug Enforcement Agency stalked and harassed plaintiff, court would take judicial notice of fact that there are psychiatric conditions which cause individuals to exaggerate life situations, including ordinary conversations, slight and encounters, and interpret them in highly self-referential fashion. O'Connor v United States (1994, DC Md) 159 FRD 22.

Footnotes

Footnote 2. Regarding judicial notice of diseases, see §§ 60-62.

Footnote 3. Gaymon v Quinn Menhaden Fisheries, Inc. (Fla App D1) 118 So 2d 42, 81 ALR2d 1165; State ex rel. Ronish v School Dist., 136 Mont 453, 348 P2d 797, 78 ALR2d 1012.

Footnote 4. Eden Toys, Inc. v Marshall Field & Co. (CA2 NY) 675 F2d 498, 216 USPQ 560, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030; Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Ward (Fla) 81 So 2d 476; Bilams v Metropolitan Transit Authority (Fla App D3) 371 So 2d 693; Whaley v Whaley (Lawrence Co) 61 Ohio App 2d 111, 15 Ohio Ops 3d 136, 399 NE2d 1270.

Footnote 5. Stanford v State (Fla) 110 So 2d 1.

Footnote 6. Long Beach v California Lambda Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity

(2nd Dist) 255 Cal App 2d 789, 63 Cal Rptr 419, 25 ALR3d 912.

Footnote 7. United States v Hayashi (CA9 Hawaii) 282 F2d 599, 84 ALR2d 754; Nissen v Redelack, 246 Minn 83, 74 NW2d 300, 55 ALR2d 1428 (ovrld on other grounds by Spanel v Mounds View School Dist., 264 Minn 279, 118 NW2d 795).

Footnote 8. Seminole Tribe of Florida v Butterworth (SD Fla) 491 F Supp 1015, affd (CA5 Fla) 658 F2d 310, cert den 455 US 1020, 72 L Ed 2d 138, 102 S Ct 1717; Waterbury First Church Housing, Inc. v Brown, 170 Conn 556, 367 A2d 1386.

Footnote 9. Prink v Rockefeller Center, Inc., 48 NY2d 309, 422 NYS2d 911, 398 NE2d 517.

Footnote 10. § 55.

Footnote 11. Berry v Springdale, 238 Ark 328, 381 SW2d 745, 8 ALR3d 925 (it is common knowledge that many people who fall asleep in their cars with the engine running and windows up have been asphyxiated when the car exhaust system or heater is defective); Prink v Rockefeller Center, Inc., 48 NY2d 309, 422 NYS2d 911, 398 NE2d 517 (many apparently accidental deaths are actually suicide).

Footnote 12. Nicketta v National Tea Co., 338 Ill App 159, 87 NE2d 30 (because it is common knowledge that properly cooking pork kills trichinosis, trial judge properly dismissed plaintiffs' cause of action alleging they became infected with trichinosis after purchasing fresh pork from defendant and properly cooking it); Department of Revenue v To Your Door Pizza, Inc. (Ky App) 670 SW2d 482.

Footnote 13. Pemberton v American Distilled Spirits Co. (Tenn) 664 SW2d 690, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9968, 42 ALR4th 245 (high proof alcohol not "unsafe" without a warning label).

Annotation: Judicial notice of intoxicating quality, and the like, of liquor or particular liquid, from its name, 49 ALR2d 764.

Footnote 14. B.V.D. Licensing Corp. v Body Action Design, Inc. (CA FC) 846 F2d 727, 6 USPQ2d 1719, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 954 (the "BVD" trademark is widely known in United States; BVD is widely known as makers of clothing, particularly men's underwear).

A person normally keeps his wearing apparel at his home. Dixie Fire Ins. Co. v McAdams (Tex Civ App) 235 SW2d 207, 41 ALR2d 714, writ dism w o j.

Footnote 15. United Steelworkers of America, etc. v Weber, 443 US 193, 61 L Ed 2d 480, 99 S Ct 2721, 20 BNA FEP Cas 1, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30026, reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 125, 100 S Ct 193, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30266 and reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 125, 100 S Ct 193, 20 CCH EPD ¶ 30266 and reh den 444 US 889, 62 L Ed 2d 126, 100 S Ct 194 (the Court, citing to numerous court decisions, took judicial notice of the history of excluding members of racial minorities from crafts); Snell v Suffolk County (CA2 NY) 782 F2d 1094, 39 BNA FEP Cas 1590, 39 CCH EPD ¶ 35836 (race discrimination in employment action brought by African American and Hispanic corrections officers); Meredith v Fair (CA5 Miss) 298 F2d 696 (racism in state colleges and universities); Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017 (nature of the Ku Klux Klan and its history of advocating violence against African-Americans).

Footnote 16. Bermudez Zenon v Restaurant Compostela, Inc. (DC Puerto Rico) 790 F Supp 41.

Footnote 17. Urevich v Woodard (Colo) 667 P2d 760 (holding that a statute proscribing direct or indirect payment as an inducement to circulate petitions to place an initiative on the ballot impermissibly interfered with the right of initiative).

Footnote 18. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v Sentry Indem Co. (La App 3d Cir) 346 So 2d 1331.

Footnote 19. Millikan v Guilford Mills, Inc., 70 NC App 705, 320 SE2d 909, cert den 312 NC 798, 325 SE2d 631 (it is common knowledge that nearly every machine, device or piece of equipment sold in the United States is accompanied by an instruction manual, sheet or label, that these instruction manuals are usually reliable and that people usually read the instruction manuals and follow the information contained therein).

Footnote 20. Davis v M.L.G. Corp. (Colo) 712 P2d 985 (it is common knowledge that consumers seldom read the detailed provisions of standardized contracts).

The vast majority of people never read their insurance policies. Magnolia-Broadway Corp. v Fire Asso. of Philadelphia (City Ct) 137 NYS2d 918.

Footnote 21. Neeld v National Hockey League (CA9 Cal) 594 F2d 1297, 1979-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62570 (ice hockey); Larson v Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation Dist. (1st Dist) 218 Cal App 2d 515, 32 Cal Rptr 875, 8 ALR3d 665 (water skiing).

Footnote 22. Patton v Westwood Country Club Co. (Cuyahoga Co) 18 Ohio App 2d 137, 47 Ohio Ops 2d 247, 247 NE2d 761, 42 ALR3d 337 (it is generally known that the average golfer does not always hit the ball straight).

Footnote 23. Sinatra v Heckler (ED NY) 566 F Supp 1354, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368.

Footnote 24. Awtry v United States, 231 Ct Cl 271, 684 F2d 896, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 748.

Footnote 25. Thornton v Shows (Miss) 537 So 2d 1363.

§ 55 Span of life

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge with respect to the span of life of human beings. For example, a court may find that it is a matter of common knowledge that a person 35 years of age with no constitutional diseases or abnormalities might be expected to live for a substantial number of years, in the absence of unexpected calamity. 26 Generally, the courts also take judicial notice of the existence of standard mortality, or life expectancy, tables which seek to approximate the lifespan of human beings, 27 particularly if the tables are set out in the state code. 28

Footnotes

Footnote 26. Bone v General Motors Corp. (Mo) 322 SW2d 916, 71 ALR2d 361.

Footnote 27. § 55.

Footnote 28. § 120.

§ 56 Conception, gestation, and birth

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts take judicial notice that only women, not men, can become pregnant; 29 that one act of intercourse is enough to conceive a child; 30 that the male has equal biological responsibility for the conception of a child; 31 that a young boy cannot father a child; 32 and that the ordinary human gestation period is roughly 9 months, 33 but that this period is sometimes days or weeks longer or shorter. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 29. M. v Superior Court of Sonoma County, 450 US 464, 67 L Ed 2d 437, 101 S Ct 1200.

Footnote 30. Panza v Panza (Dom Rel Ct) 112 NYS2d 262.

Footnote 31. M. v Superior Court of Sonoma County, 450 US 464, 67 L Ed 2d 437, 101 S Ct 1200.

Footnote 32. State v Daniels, 169 Ohio St 87, 8 Ohio Ops 2d 56, 157 NE2d 736, 76 ALR2d 468 (it is reasonably, if not absolutely, certain that an 8-year-old boy cannot become a father).

Footnote 33. Melanson v Rogers, 38 Conn Supp 484, 451 A2d 825 (9 months); Doe IV v Roe IV, 5 Hawaii App 558, 705 P2d 535, reconsideration den (Hawaii App) 753 P2d 253, later proceeding 5 Hawaii App 610, 704 P2d 940, later proceeding 6 Hawaii App 629, 736 P2d 448; Moody v Christiansen (Iowa) 306 NW2d 775; Ugbaja v Sumpter (Mo App) 821 SW2d 557 (280 days); Re Niles' Will (Sur) 99 NYS2d 238 (280 days).

§ 57 Family relationships

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts continue to judicially notice facts about the relationships within the traditional family. 35 Courts also, however, judicially notice contemporary realities concerning nontraditional parenting conditions and arrangements, 36 family viability and dissolution, 37 and various implications of divorce. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 35. Boren v Department of Employment Development (3rd Dist) 59 Cal App 3d 250, 130 Cal Rptr 683 (state unemployment insurance provision disqualified anyone who left his or her job because of marital or domestic duties and who was not the family's primary source of financial support; taking judicial notice that women are more likely than men to follow their spouses to a new job location, and are more likely to quit work to care for young children or an ill family member, the court held that although the provision was neutrally worded, it was intended to, and did, have a disparate impact on women).

Footnote 36. C.C. v A.B., 406 Mass 679, 550 NE2d 365 (court abolished the presumption of legitimacy of a child born to a married couple; Doe v Doe, 222 Va 736, 284 SE2d 799 (in an adoption proceeding, the state supreme court refused to take judicial notice that the mother's admitted lesbian relationship would have a negative effect on her son's welfare)..

Footnote 37. Trammel v United States, 445 US 40, 63 L Ed 2d 186, 100 S Ct 906, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 737 (spousal testimonial incapacity privilege should be limited to the witness spouse, not the defendant); Wyman v Wallace, 94 Wash 2d 99, 615 P2d 452 (the court abolished the common-law action for alienation of affections); State v Kelly, 97 NJ 178, 478 A2d 364 (holding that expert testimony on the battered woman syndrome was relevant and that the trial judge erred in excluding it).

Footnote 38. Tan v Tan (1st Dist) 3 Ill App 3d 671, 279 NE2d 486 (court took judicial notice of the "recent liberation of women," in denying alimony to former wife; Welcker v Welcker (La App 4th Cir) 342 So 2d 251, cert den (La) 343 So 2d 1077 (judicially noticing that divorced women customarily are known by a combination of their first name, family surname, and former husband's surname).

§ 58 Societal attitudes about sexuality

Court opinions reflect changing attitudes in a variety of contexts. For example, courts have judicially recognized that patdowns of male penitentiary inmates by female officers is offensive. 39 In addition, while a court may judicially notice that female breasts are intimately associated in people's minds with human reproduction, while male breasts are not, 40 a court may refuse to take judicial notice that the breasts of topless female dancers are commonly associated with sexual arousal, but that the uncovered chests of male dancers are not. 41 A court may take judicial notice that the public is generally aware of the type of material being sold in an establishment named "Adult World." 42

It is not, however, judicially noticeable that someone who leaves Playboy magazines open on a table in his office is more inclined to commit a sexual assault than anyone else. 43 In addition, a court may not take judicial notice of the effects upon a beholder of an unseemly display of affection as these are not so well known as to be a subject for judicial notice. 44

Footnotes

Footnote 39. Sterling v Cupp, 290 Or 611, 625 P2d 123, 31 BNA FEP Cas 427, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33822.

Footnote 40. Seattle v Buchanan, 90 Wash 2d 584, 584 P2d 918.

Footnote 41. Williams v Ft. Worth (Tex App Fort Worth) 782 SW2d 290, writ granted (Tex) 33 Tex Sup Ct Jour 622, op withdrawn (Oct 10, 1990) and writ den, in part, writ dism, in part (Oct 10, 1990) (such a viewpoint might be subject to reasonable dispute, depending on the sex and sexual orientation of the viewer).

Footnote 42. Egg Harbor City v Colasuonno, 182 NJ Super 110, 440 A2d 69.

Footnote 43. Richmond v Braxton, 230 Va 161, 335 SE2d 259, 52 ALR4th 725.

Footnote 44. Highfill v Baptist Hosp., Inc. (Tenn App) 819 SW2d 436 (if such results are within the knowledge of health care professionals, this information is a necessary part of a plaintiff's evidence).

§ 59 Matters of public and social welfare

In general, the courts take judicial notice of all matters affecting the health 45 and social 46 welfare of the public which are in accord with general or scientific knowledge. For example, a court may take judicial notice that olives are food within the meaning of the statute permitting the seizure of adulterated food. 47 A court may also take judicial notice of the fact that there is a finite capacity for the storage of hazardous waste at facilities within the state and that that capacity is rapidly being reached. 48 In addition, a court may take judicial notice, based upon the availability of statistics well publicized in newspapers and periodicals, that the use of illegal drugs constitutes a serious societal problem and that no segment of society is immune from this problem. 49 Judicial notice may also be taken of the fact that shoplifting has reached serious, if not unrestrained, proportions. 50

Footnotes

Footnote 45. § 60.

Footnote 46. Jacobson v Massachusetts, 197 US 11, 49 L Ed 643, 25 S Ct 358.

Footnote 47. United States v 71/55 Gallon Drums (ND Ill) 790 F Supp 1379.

Footnote 48. Hunt v Chemical Waste Management, Inc. (Ala) 584 So 2d 1367, 33 Env't Rep Cas 1433, 22 ELR 20171, later proceeding (US) 116 L Ed 2d 435, 112 S Ct 413, 92 Daily Journal DAR 1241 and motion gr, cert gr, in part (US) 117 L Ed 2d 130, 112 S Ct 964, 92 CDOS 1119 and motion gr (US) 118 L Ed 2d 204, 112 S Ct 1554 and rev'd on other grounds (US) 119 L Ed 2d 121, 112 S Ct 2009, 92 CDOS 4577, 92 Daily Journal DAR 7279, 34 Env't Rep Cas 1721, 22 ELR 20909, 6 FLW Fed S 293.

Footnote 49. Doe v City & County of Honolulu, 8 Hawaii App 571, 816 P2d 306, 6 BNA IER Cas 1406.

Footnote 50. Bruce v Meijers Supermarkets, Inc., 34 Mich App 352, 191 NW2d 132.

§ 60 Health, diseases, and personal injuries

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge relating to the health and diseases of people. 51 Courts also judicially may notice that the public health is deeply implicated in the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands; 52 and that there is great social need for adequate medical benefits at a cost which the average wage earner can afford to pay. 53

In addition, courts may take judicial notice of specific facts regarding diseases or similar conditions where the particular matter is one of common knowledge, but refuse to do so where the matter is not one of common knowledge. 54 Somewhat in keeping with this rule, some courts hold that judicial notice may not be taken of the effects of a particular type of medical treatment or therapy. 55 While the courts will not, however, take judicial notice of particular matters relating to medical or surgical procedures, which usually are deemed to be matters to be proved by expert testimony, some medical matters of technical cognizance are been recognized as also being matters of common knowledge, so that judicial notice may be taken of them, thus supplying proof of such matters without the necessity of taking expert testimony. 56

It is recognized that judicial notice may not be appropriate when the matter to be noticed is a question of fact at issue in the case. 57 For example, a court may not take judicial notice of the adjudicative fact that asbestos and lung cancer in the same person are necessarily causally related, as this matter is subject to reasonable dispute. 58 Moreover, courts may be reluctant to take judicial notice of medical matters contrary to the effect of the testimony given by expert witnesses, 59 although in some instances a court will take judicial notice of facts concerning disease or the like, despite the testimony of expert witnesses to the contrary. 60

The right of a court to fully advise itself concerning matters properly subject to judicial notice by consulting standard factual works of reference 61 is recognized in cases dealing with disease and the like. 62 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that physicians constantly rely on medical records in making treatment decisions regarding their patients. 63 Although judicial notice may generally be taken of textbooks, and judicial notice may be taken of the Physician's Desk Reference for some purposes, 64 there are cases which indicate that under some circumstances it is improper for courts to rely on medical textbooks or other reference works in applying the judicial notice principle to matters of disease. 65

Footnotes

Footnote 51. Jacobson v Massachusetts, 197 US 11, 49 L Ed 643, 25 S Ct 358.

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554.

Footnote 52. Leovy v United States, 177 US 621, 44 L Ed 914, 20 S Ct 797.

Footnote 53. California Physicians' Service v Garrison, 28 Cal 2d 790, 172 P2d 4, 167 ALR 306.

Footnote 54. Burr v Policy Holders Life Ins. Asso., 128 Cal App 563, 17 P2d 1014.

Footnote 55. Roberts v Wofford Beach Hotel (Fla) 67 So 2d 670.

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554 § 3[b].

Footnote 56. Thomsen v Burgeson, 26 Cal App 2d 235, 79 P2d 136; Asselborn v State Farm Life Ins. Co. (2d Dist) 1 Ill App 2d 104, 116 NE2d 902.

Footnote 57. Smith v Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., 340 Mo 389, 100 SW2d 909; Perez v Columbia Granite Co., 74 RI 503, 62 A2d 658.

Footnote 58. Wallace v Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. (La) 586 So 2d 149.

Footnote 59. Russell v Liberman, 71 RI 448, 46 A2d 858.

Footnote 60. Mutual Life Ins. Co. v Dause, 256 Ky 448, 76 SW2d 233.

Footnote 61. § 26.

Footnote 62. Green v Mutual Ben. Health & Acci. Ass'n, 267 Ala 56, 99 So 2d 694, 72 ALR2d 549; Kennedy v Parrott, 243 NC 355, 90 SE2d 754, 56 ALR2d 686.

Footnote 63. Donavant v Hudspeth, 318 NC 1, 347 SE2d 797.

Footnote 64. § 26.

Footnote 65. Standard Life Ins. Co. v Strong, 19 Tenn App 404, 89 SW2d 367; Morrill v Komasinski, 256 Wis 417, 41 NW2d 620.

§ 61 --Extent, effect, and incidents of disease or personal injury

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Many aspects of disease and personal injuries, and resulting disability, are judicially noticed by the courts, such as the fact that injuries may prove more or less serious than was originally anticipated; 66 that the condition from injuries or sickness may improve or deteriorate; 67 that total disability resulting from injury or disease may lessen in time, and even disappear; 68 that persons seriously injured may not realize it until some time after the event; 69 that persons injured accidentally are frequently unable to correctly describe the event; 70 that severe injuries cause pain; 71 that afflicted members of the body are less productive and more susceptible to injury than whole members; 72 and that there is difficulty in diagnosing some types of ailments. 73

The courts may also take judicial notice of the tendency of some people to delude themselves concerning their health, 74 that seriously ill persons may continue to live for a normal lifetime, 75 that many people suffer pain without being disabled thereby, 76 and that people continue to work although ill. 77

Footnotes

Footnote 66. Missouri Pacific Transp. Co. v Sharp, 194 Ark 405, 108 SW2d 579.

Footnote 67. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v Bailes (Tex Civ App Waco) 285 SW2d 886, writ ref n r e.

Footnote 68. Vass' Case, 319 Mass 297, 65 NE2d 549.

Footnote 69. Gibson v Bodley, 156 Kan 338, 133 P2d 112.

Footnote 70. Crew v Nelson, 188 Va 108, 49 SE2d 326.

Footnote 71. Pierstorff v Gray's Auto Shop, 58 Idaho 438, 74 P2d 171; Goldberg v Gintoff, 112 Vt 43, 20 A2d 114.

Footnote 72. Kinzie v General Tire & Rubber Co., 235 Ind 592, 134 NE2d 212.

Footnote 73. Reyer v Pearl River Tung Co., 219 Miss 211, 68 So 2d 442.

Footnote 74. Lowman v Amphitheatre School Dist., 56 Ariz 516, 109 P2d 617.

Footnote 75. American State Bank v National Life Ins. Co., 297 Ill App 137, 17 NE2d 256.

Regarding judicial notice of matters relating to mortality or life expectancy tables, see § 55.

Footnote 76. Yeager v Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co., 166 Ohio St 71, 1 Ohio Ops 2d 204, 139 NE2d 48.

Footnote 77. Earley v Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co., 144 Pa Super 301, 19 A2d 615.

§ 62 --Particular diseases, injuries, operations, and medical facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts have in a number of cases considered the application of judicial notice to proof of facts concerning particular diseases, including inflammatory diseases and arthritis, 78 internal parasitic diseases, 79 skin diseases, 80 respiratory system diseases, 81 genitourinary 82 and venereal 83 disease, cardiovascular diseases, 84 blood and lymph diseases and infections, 85 diabetes and metabolism diseases, 86 and animal-borne diseases. 87 The courts have also considered the application of judicial notice to proof of facts concerning paralysis and nerve injuries and diseases; 88 allergies, asthma, and hay fever; 89 alcoholism; 90 cancer and tumors; 91 blindness, and eye diseases and injuries; 92 deafness, and ear diseases and injuries; 93 tooth and oral diseases and injuries; 94 AIDS; 95 and tuberculosis. 96

The courts have considered the application of judicial notice to facts concerning surgery generally; 97 amputations; 98 tonsillectomies; 99 fractures, sprains, and similar injuries; 1 abortion or childbirth; 2 and hernia. 3

The courts have also considered facts relating to the following, as subjects or possible subjects of judicial notice: wounds, generally; 4 head injuries; 5 heatstroke, sunstroke, and exposure; 6 vaccinations and immunizations; 7 poisoning, and foreign matter in food or drink; 8 and the effect of an overdose of sleeping pills. 9

A court may, however, refuse to take judicial notice of the medical effects of a migraine headache in determining whether a defendant's migraine headache rendered her incapable of making a voluntary choice as to whether to accept treatment in the form of a Demerol shot in considering the party's appeal of the suspension of her driving privileges. 10

Footnotes

Footnote 78. Julian v Folsom (DC NY) 160 F Supp 747 (it is common knowledge among those experienced in the disability field that arthritis does not immediately arise as a result of injury, but develops progressively and over a period of time); Norton v United States (DC Fla) 110 F Supp 94 (court took judicial notice that arthritis rapidly becoming so prevalent that it is common knowledge that it is a painful ailment and that no accident or injury is necessary to bring it on).

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554.

Footnote 79. Silverman v Swift & Co., 141 Conn 450, 107 A2d 277, (proper cooking of pork kills live trichinae); Nicketta v National Tea Co., 338 Ill App 159, 87 NE2d 30; Adams v Scheib, 408 Pa 452, 184 A2d 700.

Footnote 80. State ex rel. Inter-State Oil Co. v Bland, 354 Mo 622, 190 SW2d 227 (court refused to take judicial notice that dermatitis is an occupational disease).

Footnote 81. Stevenson v Lee Moor Contracting Co., 45 NM 354, 115 P2d 342 (the court took judicial notice that the breathing of fumes and gases by truckdrivers does not ordinarily cause pneumonia); Moffett v Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., 339 Pa 112, 14 A2d 111 (judicial notice was taken that in its early stages silicosis is difficult to detect); De Mascola v Lancaster, 200 Pa Super 365, 189 A2d 333 (it is common knowledge that existing lung disease may be aggravated by extreme overexertion and by certain types of dangers, such as inhalation of flame and fumes, and exposure to extreme heat, to which firefighter are exposed).

Footnote 82. Ex parte Reserve Life Ins. Co., 38 Ala App 32, 77 So 2d 388, cert dismd 262 Ala 95, 77 So 2d 392.

Footnote 83. United States v Seattle Title Trust Co. (CA9 Wash) 53 F2d 435 (holding it to be a matter of common knowledge, of which the court would take judicial notice, that syphilis, even when it results in general paralysis, does not necessarily result in permanent and total disability from the time of infection); Re Gifford, 192 Wash 562, 74 P2d 475, 114 ALR 348 (the court took judicial notice as a scientific fact that syphilis may be inherited or be acquired innocently by infection).

Footnote 84. Olson v Olson, 242 Iowa 192, 46 NW2d 1, 40 ALR2d 1 (the court stated that it is common knowledge, that the fact that one has hardening of the arteries does not mean that he is a senile dement, or mentally incompetent); Fry v Continental Southern Lines, Inc. (La App 4th Cir) 139 So 2d 31 (it is matter of common knowledge that heart attacks can prove fatal to sufferers therefrom who are not active, and that such attacks do occur while a person is peacefully in sedentary position or even asleep); Monumental Life Ins. Co. v Taylor, 212 Md 202, 129 A2d 103 (the court took judicial notice that knowledge on the part of the insurer that the applicant was suffering from angina pectoris would have reasonably affected the determination of the acceptability of the risk of insuring him); Prawatchke v Sheffield Farms Co., 134 NJL 92, 46 A2d 68 (judicial notice was taken that climbing stairs causes a strain on the heart of one suffering from a cardiac condition); Owen v Rochester-Penfield Bus Co., 304 NY 457, 108 NE2d 606, 33 ALR2d 1354 (judicial notice was taken that many people are subject to low blood pressure and poor circulation).

Footnote 85. Mandles v Guardian Life Ins. Co. (DC Colo) 32 F Supp 619, affd (CA10 Colo) 115 F2d 994 (it is a matter of common knowledge that blood poisoning frequently follows cuts); New York Life Ins. Co. v Zivitz, 243 Ala 379, 10 So 2d 276, 143 ALR 321 (the court included Hodgkin's disease along with tuberculosis and cancer as fatal maladies of which the court would take judicial knowledge, but refused to take judicial notice that a blood infection known as streptococcic hemolytic infection was a disease materially increasing the risk of loss to the insurer).

Footnote 86. New York Life Ins. Co. v Simons (CA1 Mass) 60 F2d 30, cert den 287 US 648, 77 L Ed 560, 53 S Ct 93 (the court took judicial notice that insurance companies deem the appearance of sugar in an applicant's urine as material to the risk).

Footnote 87. Carmen v Eli Lilly & Co., 109 Ind App 76, 32 NE2d 729 (common knowledge that for past centuries rabies (hydrophobia) has been one of the most dreaded diseases of humanity).

Footnote 88. Dobbins v United States (CA10 NM) 91 F2d 78 (court took judicial notice that multiple sclerosis is not a totally disabling disease in its first stages); Bauer v Otis (1st Dist) 133 Cal App 2d 439, 284 P2d 133 (that nerve injury does not ordinarily follow the giving and receiving of injections was stated to be a matter of common knowledge); Cacic v Slovenska Narodna Podporna Jednota, 102 Mont 438, 59 P2d 910 (judicial notice was taken that paralysis of a limb may affect only the sensory nerve or only the motor nerve, but sometimes affects both nerves).

Footnote 89. Franke's, Inc. v Bennett, 201 Ark 649, 146 SW2d 163; Moran v Board of Medical Examiners, 32 Cal 2d 301, 196 P2d 20; Barrett v S. S. Kresge Co., 144 Pa Super 516, 19 A2d 502 (judicial notice was taken that many people are allergic to particular foods).

Footnote 90. Meares v Meares, 256 Ala 596, 56 So 2d 661.

Footnote 91. Baldor v Rogers (Fla) 81 So 2d 658, 55 ALR2d 453 (wherein judicial notice was taken of a concerted medical campaign to conquer cancer); Bandeen v Howard (Ky) 299 SW2d 249, cert den 355 US 813, 2 L Ed 2d 31, 78 S Ct 13 and (ovrld on other grounds by Pearl v Marshall (Ky) 491 SW2d 837) (court took judicial notice that medical science has as yet discovered no drug that will cure cancer in its advanced stage); Ferrara v Galluchio, 5 NY2d 16, 176 NYS2d 996, 152 NE2d 249, 71 ALR2d 331, reh den 5 NY2d 793 (judicial notice was taken that wounds which do not heal over long periods of time frequently become cancerous).

Footnote 92. Bowling v Industrial Com., 145 Ohio St 23, 30 Ohio Ops 245, 60 NE2d 479 (court took judicial notice that any liquid heated to 880 degrees Fahrenheit and coming into contact with any part of the human anatomy probably would cause injury, and that this is especially true when such liquid comes in contact with the delicate membrane of the eye).

Footnote 93. Equitable Life Assur. Soc. v Burns, 254 Ky 487, 71 SW2d 1009 (judicial notice was taken that an infected ear canal coupled with pyorrhea would not cause total and permanent disability within the meaning of a group insurance policy); Katona v Federal Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., 136 NJL 474, 56 A2d 609 (court stated that it could not assume in the absence of proof that deafness in the left ear will render the hearing in the right ear more acute, as this is not a matter of general knowledge of which it might take judicial notice).

Footnote 94. Ambrosi v Monks (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 85 A2d 188 (judicial notice was taken that the extraction of a tooth, done in a reasonable manner, will not ordinarily result in the fracture of an adjacent tooth); Thrasher v Board of Governors (Okla) 359 P2d 717 (the court judicially noted that malformation or poor adjustment of false teeth may result in poor digestion and cause physical discomfort, nervousness, mental anguish, mouth lesions leading to infection, and serious illness).

Footnote 95. Dunn v White (CA10 Okla) 880 F2d 1188, cert den 493 US 1059, 107 L Ed 2d 954, 110 S Ct 871 (seriousness of the AIDS epidemic and the potential for its transmission among prisoners).

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554.

Footnote 96. Pattison v State, 149 Misc 198, 267 NYS 525, affd 242 App Div 673, 273 NYS 445 (judicial notice was taken that an environment of peace and contentment is desirable for any substantial aid in the recovery of tubercular patients); White v State, 70 Tex Crim 285, 157 SW 152 (judicial notice was taken that tuberculosis and constipation are physical diseases).

Footnote 97. Rodgers v Lawson, 83 US App DC 281, 170 F2d 157 (court took judicial notice that even "minor surgery" is fraught with danger and that good professional judgment at times requires leaving the patient to the restorative process of nature, aided medicinally rather than by surgery); Seneris v Haas, 45 Cal 2d 811, 291 P2d 915, 53 ALR2d 124 (court stated that surgery and the necessity therefor, and the effect thereof, are in most instances not a matter of common knowledge); Wood v Edenfield Electric Co., 211 Tenn 295, 364 SW2d 908 (it is common knowledge that surgical operations of any kind leave scar tissue and quite often there remain permanent tenderness and discomfort in the area of operation); Fredrickson v Maw, 119 Utah 385, 227 P2d 772 (ovrld on other grounds by Swan v Lamb (Utah) 584 P2d 814) (judicial notice taken that due care by a surgeon is lacking if surgical instruments, sponges, or medical supplies are not removed before an incision is closed or the wound heals).

Footnote 98. United Secur. Life Ins. Co. v St. Clair, 41 Ala App 243, 130 So 2d 213, cert den 272 Ala 711, 130 So 2d 219 (noticing the jury's common knowledge that the amputee suffered pain); Williams v Consolidated Underwriters (La App 2d Cir) 50 So 2d 55 (court took judicial notice that persons who have lost an index finger have little difficulty in securing gainful employment and experience very little inconvenience in satisfactorily discharging the duties of such employment); Casey v Frank Jones Brewing Co., 79 NH 42, 104 A 454 (it is a matter of common knowledge that old scars are often sensitive, and that amputation is frequently followed by suffering and discomfort for a long period of time).

Footnote 99. Carroll v Missouri Power & Light Co., 231 Mo App 265, 96 SW2d 1074.

Footnote 1. Ostertag v Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., 65 Cal App 2d 795, 151 P2d 647 (stating that it is a matter of common knowledge that a distortion in the bony structure of the body, once union and healing are complete, will not ordinarily correct itself); Weinberg v Massachusetts Bay Transp. Authority, 348 Mass 669, 205 NE2d 5 (whether a fracture of the ankle could give rise to varicose veins and shortness of breath cannot be said to be a matter of common knowledge).

Footnote 2. Clark v State, 257 Ala 95, 57 So 2d 384 (refusing to take judicial notice that an abortion can be commenced and carried to a fatal termination within a short period of time); State v Hall, 251 NC 211, 110 SE2d 868 (court stated that it is a fact of common and general knowledge that pregnant women sometimes miscarry, and sometimes have stillbirths, and that sometimes children born alive die very shortly after birth); State v Daniels, 169 Ohio St 87, 8 Ohio Ops 2d 56, 157 NE2d 736, 76 ALR2d 468 (court took judicial notice that it is reasonably, if not absolutely, certain that an 8-year-old boy cannot become a father); Re Buck's License, 192 Or 66, 232 P2d 791 (judicial notice was taken of the impossibility of performing two fatal abortions on the same subject within the span of a few days); Gravley v Gravley (Tex Civ App Dallas) 353 SW2d 333, writ dismissed (Mar 28, 1962) (it is common knowledge that babies are sometimes born prematurely).

Footnote 3. Matthews v Hardaway Contracting Co., 179 Tenn 98, 163 SW2d 59.

Footnote 4. National City Bank v Bledsoe, 125 Ind App 430, 126 NE2d 490 (court took judicial notice that persons who have been fatally shot sometimes linger for several days before death); Ferrara v Galluchio, 5 NY2d 16, 176 NYS2d 996, 152 NE2d 249, 71 ALR2d 331, reh den 5 NY2d 793 (it is common knowledge among laypersons that wounds which do not heal over long periods of time frequently become cancerous)..

Footnote 5. Goldberg v Gintoff, 112 Vt 43, 20 A2d 114.

Footnote 6. Milstead v Kaylor, 186 Tenn 642, 212 SW2d 610 (judicial notice was taken of the effects of sunstroke as revealed in dictionaries and encyclopedias, one of them being that the condition may result in death); Byrd v Stonega Coke & Coal Co., 182 Va 212, 28 SE2d 725 (court judicially noticed that frequently persons, apparently normal, collapse from exposure to extreme heat or cold).

Footnote 7. Wolfsmith v Marsh, 51 Cal 2d 832, 337 P2d 70, 82 ALR2d 1257 (held to be a matter of common knowledge among laypersons that injections in the arm, as well as other portions of the body, do not ordinarily cause trouble unless unskillfully done or there is something wrong with the serum); Sadlock v Board of Education, 137 NJL 85, 58 A2d 218 (court took judicial notice that vaccination is commonly believed to be a safe and valuable means of preventing the spread of certain diseases, particularly smallpox, and that this belief is supported by high medical authority).

Footnote 8. Cleaver v Central States Life Ins. Co., 346 Mo 548, 142 SW2d 474, 129 ALR 1094 (refusing to take judicial notice that carbon monoxide gas is a poison, and of the manner in which it operates); Boll v Condie-Bray Glass & Paint Co., 321 Mo 92, 11

SW2d 48 (judicial notice was taken that inhaling fumes, dust, and gases generated in the manufacture of paint produces "painters' colic," or lead poisoning, a disease accompanied by great pain and often resulting in permanent injury); McGurren v Fargo (ND) 66 NW2d 207 (court took judicial notice that poisons, when taken in sufficient quantities, cause serious injury); Greener v E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co., 188 Tenn 303, 219 SW2d 185 (court took judicial notice that lead poisoning is latent and progressive, and further noted as a matter of common knowledge that some symptoms of a given disease, particularly in its early stage, may likewise be symptoms of any one of several other diseases).

Footnote 9. Prudential Ins. Co. v Gutowski (Sup) 49 Del 233, 113 A2d 579, 52 ALR2d 1073.

Footnote 10. Commonwealth, DOT, Bureau of Driver Licensing v Moss, 146 Pa Cmwlth 330, 605 A2d 1279, reh den (Pa Cmwlth) 1992 Pa Commw LEXIS 342 and app den 532 Pa 648, 614 A2d 1144.

§ 63 Reputation of particular persons

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts will not take judicial notice of the reputation of particular individuals, 11 since this is a matter about which there might be a difference of opinion. 12 Similarly, a court may refuse to take judicial notice of the general public political reputation of particular persons. 13

Footnotes

Footnote 11. State v McDaniel, 249 Kan 341, 819 P2d 1165; Lorenz v Towntalk Pub. Co. (Mo) 261 SW2d 952.

Footnote 12. Lorenz v Towntalk Pub. Co. (Mo) 261 SW2d 952.

Footnote 13. Lorenz v Towntalk Pub. Co. (Mo) 261 SW2d 952.

3. Economic and Financial Facts [64-70]

§ 64 Generally

View Entire Section

The courts take judicial notice of generally known financial and business conditions at given times. 14 The courts may also take judicial notice of the existence and effect of general domestic, economic, or financial panics 15 or depressions, 16 such as the general business collapse following the stock market crash in 1929 17 and the concomitant unparalleled demands for relief. 18

The generally depressed condition of a major national industry is a proper subject of judicial notice, 19 although the courts may not take judicial notice of the exact extent or percentage of loss of business in any one particular industry or business enterprise. 20 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that the employment opportunities in one area are greater than those in another area. 21 Depreciation of property values 22 during periods of economic stress, and the fact that during a period of severe economic depression mortgagees were urged to be lenient and to refrain from foreclosing mortgages, 23 are matters which may be judicially noticed. Similarly, courts may judicially notice the fact that economic depressions have proved a motivating factor in the enactment of legislation designed to alleviate conditions resulting therefrom. 24

Business and price trends are also the subject of judicial notice, 25 and may impel the court in a proper case to fix the amount of return upon the investment of a corporation. 26 In establishing utility rates, courts have taken judicial notice of conditions incident to an economic depression, such as changes in value, consumption of commodities, and reasonable return on invested capital. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 14. Dayton Power & Light Co. v Public Utilities Com., 292 US 290, 78 L Ed 1267, 54 S Ct 647; McCardle v Indianapolis Water Co., 272 US 400, 71 L Ed 316, 47 S Ct 144; Chadwick v Stokes (CA3 Pa) 162 F2d 132, 172 ALR 405; Florida Accountants Asso. v Dandelake (Fla) 98 So 2d 323, 70 ALR2d 425, appeal after remand (Fla) 108 So 2d 46; Aron v Gillman, 309 NY 157, 128 NE2d 284, 51 ALR2d 598, motion den 309 NY 797, 130 NE2d 598; Paullus v Yarbrough, 219 Or 611, 347 P2d 620, 79 ALR2d 1222; Young v Phillips, 170 Tenn 169, 93 SW2d 634, 104 ALR 975.

Footnote 15. Third Nat. Bank v Impac, Ltd., 432 US 312, 53 L Ed 2d 368, 97 S Ct 2307.

Footnote 16. West Coast Hotel Co. v Parrish, 300 US 379, 81 L Ed 703, 57 S Ct 578, 8 Ohio Ops 89, 1 BNA LRRM 754, 1 CCH LC ¶ 17021, 108 ALR 1330; Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v United States, 284 US 248, 76 L Ed 273, 52 S Ct 146; Camerer v California Sav. & Commercial Bank, 4 Cal 2d 159, 48 P2d 39, 100 ALR 667; Bell v District Court of Holyoke, 314 Mass 622, 51 NE2d 328, 150 ALR 126; Young v Phillips, 170 Tenn 169, 93 SW2d 634, 104 ALR 975.

Footnote 17. § 65.

Footnote 18. West Coast Hotel Co. v Parrish, 300 US 379, 81 L Ed 703, 57 S Ct 578, 8 Ohio Ops 89, 1 BNA LRRM 754, 1 CCH LC ¶ 17021, 108 ALR 1330.

Footnote 19. Great N. R. Co. v Weeks, 297 US 135, 80 L Ed 532, 56 S Ct 426;
Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v United States, 284 US 248, 76 L Ed 273, 52 S Ct 146.

Footnote 20. Ohio Bell Tel. Co. v Public Utilities Com., 301 US 292, 81 L Ed 1093, 57 S Ct 724.

Footnote 21. Grace v Collier County School Bd. (Fla App D1) 552 So 2d 961, 14 FLW 2597.

Footnote 22. Regarding judicial notice of depreciations in property values, see § 69.

Footnote 23. Marsh v Arthur C. Marsh Co., 153 Or 134, 55 P2d 1111, 104 ALR 981.

Footnote 24. West Coast Hotel Co. v Parrish, 300 US 379, 81 L Ed 703, 57 S Ct 578, 8 Ohio Ops 89, 1 BNA LRRM 754, 1 CCH LC ¶ 17021, 108 ALR 1330; Gillum v Johnson, 7 Cal 2d 744, 62 P2d 1037, 108 ALR 595, reh den 7 Cal 2d 765, 63 P2d 810, 108 ALR 612.

Footnote 25. Dayton Power & Light Co. v Public Utilities Com., 292 US 290, 78 L Ed 1267, 54 S Ct 647; Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co. v Railroad Com. of Kentucky, 290 US 264, 78 L Ed 307, 54 S Ct 154; Galveston Electric Co. v Galveston, 258 US 388, 66 L Ed 678, 42 S Ct 351, 3 AFTR 3138.

Footnote 26. Smith v Illinois Bell Tel. Co., 282 US 133, 75 L Ed 255, 51 S Ct 65.

Footnote 27. Dayton Power & Light Co. v Public Utilities Com., 292 US 290, 78 L Ed 1267, 54 S Ct 647; Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co. v Railroad Com. of Kentucky, 290 US 264, 78 L Ed 307, 54 S Ct 154.

§ 65 World or national economic events

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some courts took judicial cognizance of the Great Depression of the late 1920's and 1930's, 28 including the stock market collapse, 29 the general economic and financial collapse which followed it, 30 and the ensuing adverse business and financial conditions and distress 31 and widespread unemployment. 32 More recently, courts have taken judicial notice of major financial events such as the Arab Oil Embargo of 1973, the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act, 33 and their impact on the petroleum industry; 34 the dramatic decline in oil prices and profitability of drilling for oil and gas in the continental United States after 1981; 35 and the unusually poor state of the nation's economy during 1974-1982. 36

Footnotes

Footnote 28. Downs v Baltimore & O. R. Co., 345 Ill App 118, 102 NE2d 537, 30 ALR2d 503; Bolivar Tp. Bd. of Finance v Hawkins, 207 Ind 171, 191 NE 158, 96 ALR 271.

Footnote 29. Great N. R. Co. v Weeks, 297 US 135, 80 L Ed 532, 56 S Ct 426; Camerer v California Sav. & Commercial Bank, 4 Cal 2d 159, 48 P2d 39, 100 ALR 667.

Footnote 30. Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v United States, 284 US 248, 76 L Ed 273, 52 S Ct 146; Jacobs v First Nat. Bank (CA5 La) 48 F2d 17, cert den 284 US 634, 76 L Ed 540, 52 S Ct 18; Camerer v California Sav. & Commercial Bank, 4 Cal 2d 159, 48 P2d 39, 100 ALR 667; Gannon v Gannon, 130 Conn 449, 35 A2d 204, 150 ALR 986; Mahood v Bessemer Properties, Inc., 154 Fla 710, 18 So 2d 775, 153 ALR 1199; Vanderbilt v Brunton Piano Co., 111 NJL 596, 169 A 177, 89 ALR 1080.

Footnote 31. Young v Phillips, 170 Tenn 169, 93 SW2d 634, 104 ALR 975.

Footnote 32. Jennings v St. Louis, 332 Mo 173, 58 SW2d 979, 87 ALR 365.

Footnote 33. 15 USCS §§ 751-756.

Footnote 34. Mainline Invest. Corp. v Gaines (ND Tex) 407 F Supp 423, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1107 (the embargo and the Act are adjudicative facts, judicially noticeable in an action seeking damages for breach of contract to pay commissions for locating a purchaser for crude oil).

Footnote 35. Bastian v Petren Resources Corp. (CA7 Ill) 892 F2d 680, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94908, cert den 496 US 906, 110 L Ed 2d 270, 110 S Ct 2590.

Footnote 36. Trevino v United States (CA9 Wash) 804 F2d 1512, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1402, cert den 484 US 816, 98 L Ed 2d 34, 108 S Ct 70 (noting that 1974-1982 were aberrational years, marked by recessions, double-digit inflation, and extreme oil prices; thus this period should not be used as the standard by which a court should adjust an award of damages to anticipate the effects of inflation).

§ 66 Banking; financial transactions, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts may take judicial notice that it is not normal business practice for a corporate payee of checks to endorse them in blank and deliver them to third persons, 37 and that for a bank to accept such checks for deposit in a third person's account violates reasonable standards of banking practice. 38 Similarly, courts may judicially notice that banks customarily do not accept instruments which lack the endorsement of a payee. 39 A court may also take judicial notice of customs and practices with regard to checking, 40 lending, 41 and various other matters, 42

In a securities fraud action, judicial notice of publicly filed disclosure documents is

Footnotes

Footnote 37. Pargas, Inc. v Estate of Taylor (La App 3d Cir) 416 So 2d 1358, 34 UCCRS 1238; Belmar Trucking Corp. v American Trust Co., 65 Misc 2d 31, 316 NYS2d 247.

Footnote 38. Belmar Trucking Corp. v American Trust Co., 65 Misc 2d 31, 316 NYS2d 247.

Annotation: Bank's "reasonable commercial standards" defense under UCC § 3-419(3), 49 ALR4th 888.

Footnote 39. Federal Deposit Ins. Corp. v Marine Nat. Bank (CA5 Fla) 431 F2d 341, 7 UCCRS 1327.

Footnote 40. Arterburn v Walkfield, 309 Ky 212, 217 SW2d 203, 6 ALR2d 982

Footnote 41. Kimmey v Farmers Bank (Del Sup) 373 A2d 569 (banking institutions are subject to mortgage loan regulation); Champa v Consolidated Finance Corp., 231 Ind 580, 110 NE2d 289, 36 ALR2d 185 (finance companies generally retain car title certificates in connection with chattel mortgages); Re Ruepp, 71 NC App 146, 321 SE2d 517 (institutional lenders customarily dictate the form and language of the documents used in a loan agreement); Austin v Seattle, 176 Wash 654, 30 P2d 646, 93 ALR 203 (distinctive character of the chattel loan business).

Footnote 42. Re Marriage of Tammen (1st Dist) 63 Cal App 3d 927, 134 Cal Rptr 161 (it is common knowledge that deeds of trust are bought and sold in the ordinary course of business); Lichtenfels v North Carolina Nat. Bank, 260 NC 146, 132 SE2d 360, 1 ALR3d 897 (state and national banks seek the privilege of acting as fiduciaries administering the estates of decedents and incompetent persons).

Footnote 43. Walsh v Chittenden Corp. (DC Vt) 798 F Supp 1043, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97364, later proceeding (DC Vt) 799 F Supp 405.

§ 67 Money; changes in cost of living

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

In general, the courts take judicial notice of the character of money and popular language in reference thereto, as well as the value of the various forms of money, in the past as well as in the present. 44 The value of the money of a leading foreign nation in terms of our own will likewise be judicially noticed by the courts. 45

The courts will take judicial notice of the change in value of the dollar during a period of years, 46 and the steady and material decline in the purchasing value of the dollar. 47

For example, change in the cost of living is so much a matter of common knowledge that the jury, or the court when fixing damages, or the court reviewing an award of damages for personal injuries or death, may take judicial notice of such change. 48

Footnotes

Footnote 44. Gay's Gold, 80 US 358, 13 Wall 358, 20 L Ed 606.

Footnote 45. Parker v Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Tex Civ App Dallas) 447 SW2d 731, writ dismissed by agreement (Jan 21, 1970).

Footnote 46. Arnold v Arnold, 332 Ill App 586, 76 NE2d 335, 18 ALR2d 1.

Annotation: Changes in cost of living or in purchasing power of money as affecting damages for personal injuries or death, 12 ALR2d 611.

Effect of anticipated inflation on damages for future losses—modern cases, 21 ALR4th 21.

Footnote 47. Banton v Belt Line R. Corp., 268 US 413, 69 L Ed 1020, 45 S Ct 534; Citizens of Florida v Florida Public Service Com. (Fla App D1) 440 So 2d 371, review denied (Fla) 461 So 2d 1357, 10 FLW 49; Lahman v Gould (1st Dist) 82 Ill App 2d 220, 226 NE2d 443, cert denied and application dismissed 390 US 458, 20 L Ed 2d 29, 88 S Ct 1197; Downs v Baltimore & O. R. Co., 345 Ill App 118, 102 NE2d 537, 30 ALR2d 503; Curotto v Hammack, 362 Mo 457, 241 SW2d 897, 26 ALR2d 1302; Curotto v Hammack, 362 Mo 457, 241 SW2d 897, 26 ALR2d 1302; Woods Dev. Co. v Meurer Abstract & Title Co. (Okla) 712 P2d 30.

Footnote 48. Kircher v Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co., 32 Cal 2d 176, 195 P2d 427.

§ 68 Current financial data; interest, discount, and exchange rates

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts regularly take notice of commonly known and easily verifiable information such as current interest rates, 49 although a jurisdiction which has not adopted the Federal Rules of Evidence has found that because the prime rate fluctuates, it is not a proper subject for judicial notice. 50 Courts may also take judicial notice of the discount rate on 90-day notes 51 and various other published economic statistics. 52 Similarly, the effect that inflation has already had on the value of money over a specific period of time is judicially noticeable. 53 In addition, a foreign currency rate of exchange is a proper subject of judicial notice. A rate of exchange is not subject to reasonable dispute because its accuracy can be determined readily by resort to an authoritative source such as a published rate of exchange. For example numerous publications, including major newspapers publish exchange rates. 54 A court may also take judicial notice that most credit cards do not charge interest on sums paid within 30 days. 55 A court may not, however, take judicial notice of the American Jurisprudence 2d Desk Book compound interest and annuity tables for the purpose of determining values of a party's pension fund, as the Desk Book is not an authoritative publication, nor are its value tables a matter of common general knowledge. 56

Footnotes

Footnote 49. Transorient Navigators Co., S.A. v M/S Southwind (CA5 La) 788 F2d 288; Havens Steel Co. v Randolph Engineering Co. (CA8 Mo) 813 F2d 186, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1206 (appellate court took judicial notice of the prevailing prime interest rate in 1980); Gray Line Bus Co. v Greater Bridgeport Transit Dist., 188 Conn 417, 449 A2d 1036, 35 ALR4th 1252; Fortman v Manthey (ND) 248 NW2d 821; Tyler Pipe Industries, Inc. v State, Dept. of Revenue, 96 Wash 2d 785, 638 P2d 1213, later proceeding 105 Wash 2d 318, 715 P2d 123, jur noted 479 US 810, 93 L Ed 2d 17, 107 S Ct 57, motion gr 479 US 1015, 93 L Ed 2d 717, 107 S Ct 664 and vacated on other grounds 483 US 232, 97 L Ed 2d 199, 107 S Ct 2810, on remand, en banc 109 Wash 2d 878, 749 P2d 1286, cert den and app dismd 486 US 1040, 100 L Ed 2d 615, 108 S Ct 2030.

Footnote 50. Read v Benedict, 200 Ga App 4, 406 SE2d 488, 102-101 Fulton County D R 13b.

Footnote 51. Wagner & Brown v E.W. Moran Drilling Co. (Tex App Fort Worth) 702 SW2d 760, 90 OGR 571 (the current rate, 19 percent, was capable of accurate determination and therefore noticeable under Rule 201(b)(2)).

Footnote 52. Feldman v Allegheny Airlines, Inc. (DC Conn) 382 F Supp 1271, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA2 Conn) 524 F2d 384, (1974 Economic Report of the President); Deweese v United States (CA10 Colo) 576 F2d 802, 47 ALR Fed 723 (Bureau of Labor Statistics Report); Thomas v Thomas, 176 Mich App 90, 439 NW2d 270 (court may take judicial notice that the consumer price index has risen a certain percentage in a given period of years); City of Hope, Inc. v Fisk Bldg. Associates (1st Dept) 63 App Div 2d 946, 406 NYS2d 472 (judicially noticing the Consumer Price Index, which served as the basis for an escalation clause in a lease).

Footnote 53. § 67.

Footnote 54. Royatex, Ltd. v Daughan (Me) 551 A2d 454.

Footnote 55. Loigman v Keim, 250 NJ Super 434, 594 A2d 1364.

Footnote 56. Lassen v Lassen, 8 Va App 502, 383 SE2d 471.

§ 69 Facts relating to real estate and agriculture

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court may take judicial notice of the effects of major economic events on real estate, for example, that foreclosure sales of mortgaged real property and the rights of parties to mortgages are affected by economic depression, 57 or that land values are deflated following a real estate boom or during a period of depression; 58 and that the rapid rise of real-estate prices has a severe impact on the availability of affordable housing for the poor and elderly. 59

Likewise, courts frequently take judicial notice of a variety of factors which have a bearing on the value of real property, such as the relation of sale price to market value of real estate; 60 that a smaller tract of land might be expected to sell for a larger amount per unit of area than a larger tract; 61 that construction of apartment buildings in a neighborhood previously zoned for one-family residences and buildings for educational, religious, and similar purposes will adversely affect the surrounding residential dwellings; 62 that small businesses have difficulty in obtaining tracts of timber within their purchasing power; 63 and that building costs have increased over the years. 64 But courts are often reluctant to take judicial notice of how such factors have effected the specific value of particular pieces of property, 65 or of the actual financial value of a given parcel of land. 66

Similarly, courts may take judicial notice of increases 67 and decreases 68 in farm land prices, the depressed state of agriculture generally, 69 and fluctuations in commodity prices. 70

Other matters regarding real estate of which a court may take judicial notice include the facts that payments on real property purchase contracts are often delayed by 2 or 3 weeks, and this does not upset most creditors; 71 a home which is in need of substantial repairs at the time of sale is worth considerably less than one which does not need such repairs; 72 title searchers and conveyancers customarily search title for only 60 years and until a warranty deed is found in the chain of title; 73 mortgages frequently run for many years; 74 the transfer of title to real estate requires anywhere from a few weeks to a period of months; 75 it is common practice for a wife to join in her husband's conveyance of his separately owned property, to assure that she will not later make a claim of homestead rights; 76 and that 1/2-acre tracts in a particular locality are ordinarily not profitable for agricultural use. 77

The cost of fixing up houses and rental values in a particular county do not, however, fall within any of the categories for proper judicial notice. 78 In addition, a sworn declaration from an appraiser stating that in the appraiser's opinion the creation of an assessment district will not result in an increase in market values is not a proper matter for judicial notice. 79

§ 69 ----Facts relating to real estate and agriculture [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence on depreciable life is outside field of general knowledge. Three & One Co. v Geilfuss (1993, App) 178 Wis 2d 400, 504 NW2d 393.

Footnotes

Footnote 57. Marsh v Arthur C. Marsh Co., 153 Or 134, 55 P2d 1111, 104 ALR 981.

Footnote 58. Mahood v Bessemer Properties, Inc., 154 Fla 710, 18 So 2d 775, 153 ALR 1199.

Footnote 59. City of Oceanside v McKenna (4th Dist) 215 Cal App 3d 1420, 264 Cal Rptr 275, review den; Waterbury First Church Housing, Inc. v Brown, 170 Conn 556, 367 A2d 1386.

Footnote 60. Beverly Beach Properties, Inc. v Nelson (Fla) 68 So 2d 604, 41 ALR2d 1071, cert den 348 US 816, 99 L Ed 643, 75 S Ct 27.

Footnote 61. Georgia Power Co. v Walker, 101 Ga App 454, 114 SE2d 159, 80 ALR2d 1264.

Footnote 62. Filister v Minneapolis, 270 Minn 53, 133 NW2d 500, 17 ALR3d 733, cert den and app dismd 382 US 14, 15 L Ed 2d 10, 86 S Ct 47; Hayes v Gibbs, 110 Utah 54, 169 P2d 781, 168 ALR 513.

Footnote 63. Paullus v Yarbrough, 219 Or 611, 347 P2d 620, 79 ALR2d 1222.

Footnote 64. Coumas v Transcontinental Garage, Inc., 68 Wyo 99, 230 P2d 748, 41 ALR2d 539.

Footnote 65. Aberbach v Wekiva Assoc., Ltd. (SD Fla) 735 F Supp 1032, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 95373; Re Marriage of Anderson, 54 Or App 959, 637 P2d 615 (refusing to judicially notice the economic impact of inflation on a particular parcel of real estate, in family dissolution action).

Footnote 66. Cummins v Dixon (Mo) 265 SW2d 386, 47 ALR2d 441 (although an appellate court can judicially notice that land values have increased during the previous 10 years, it cannot take judicial notice whether a particular parcel of land is worth more than the amount that had been specified in an option clause in a contract entered 10 years earlier, because there is no evidence as to whether the price in that contract was unrealistically high or low when it was signed).

A court cannot take judicial notice of the market value and liquidity of tracts of real property. Taylor v Taylor, 46 NC App 438, 265 SE2d 626.

Footnote 67. Fortman v Manthey (ND) 248 NW2d 821.

Footnote 68. Re Request for Advisory Opinion Concerning Constr. of H.B. 1388 etc. (SD) 387 NW2d 239.

Footnote 69. Lucy v Lucy (ND) 456 NW2d 539; Re Request for Advisory Opinion Concerning Constr. of H.B. 1388 etc. (SD) 387 NW2d 239.

Footnote 70. Re Request for Advisory Opinion Concerning Constr. of H.B. 1388 etc.

(SD) 387 NW2d 239; Pugh v Turner, 145 Tex 292, 197 SW2d 822, 172 ALR 707.

Footnote 71. Miller v Uhrick (App) 146 Ariz 413, 706 P2d 739, approved 146 Ariz 511, 707 P2d 309.

Footnote 72. Grass v Homann (4th Dist) 130 Ill App 3d 874, 85 Ill Dec 751, 474 NE2d 711 (criticized on other grounds by Warren v Le May (5th Dist) 142 Ill App 3d 550, 96 Ill Dec 418, 491 NE2d 464).

Footnote 73. Palamarg Realty Co. v Rehac, 80 NJ 446, 404 A2d 21.

Footnote 74. Rosenbaum Realty Co. v American Sav. Bank, 152 NJ Super 81, 377 A2d 781.

Footnote 75. Sowell v Trotter, 69 Ohio Misc 7, 23 Ohio Ops 3d 75, 430 NE2d 480.

Footnote 76. Gregory v Sanders (Wyo) 635 P2d 795, appeal after remand (Wyo) 652 P2d 25.

Footnote 77. Bookout v White, 123 Mont 459, 214 P2d 861, 17 ALR2d 562.

Footnote 78. Neal v Fisher, 312 Md 685, 541 A2d 1314.

Footnote 79. Knox v Orland, 4 Cal 4th 132, 14 Cal Rptr 2d 159, 841 P2d 144, 92 CDOS 9914, 92 Daily Journal DAR 16569, later proceeding (Cal) 1992 Cal LEXIS 6113.

§ 70 Value of personal property; stocks, bonds, and investment capital

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts will not, as a general rule, take judicial notice of the value of articles of personal property, since innumerable factors affect their value. 80 Courts may, however, take judicial notice of certain matters or facts of general knowledge which affect the value of personal property. For example, the courts have taken judicial notice of the fact that stock in closed or closely held corporation has no recognized standard market value. 81

Courts have taken judicial notice of the earning power of investment capital, 82 the availability of high-yield investments, 83 and facts relating to the purchase, sale, acquisition and value of stocks. 84 In addition, a court may take judicial notice of what was or is the fair value or earning power of money safely invested at a given period of time 85 and of the reasonable return on invested capital. 86

A court may, but is not required, to take judicial notice that stock market reports of certain newspapers and trade journals are trustworthy and reliable, 87 although where a party fails to introduce evidence of the price at which a stock was traded on a particular date, it is improper for the trial judge to take judicial notice of that fact. 88

Footnotes

Footnote 80. Marsh v Brown-Crummer Inv. Co., 138 Kan 123, 23 P2d 465, 88 ALR 835; Loth v Loth, 227 Minn 387, 35 NW2d 542, 6 ALR2d 176.

◆ Comment: A court may, however, take judicial notice that an expensive vehicle such as a Porsche is especially vulnerable to theft in New York City. United States v Mundy (ED NY) 806 F Supp 373, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 123.

Footnote 81. Kay v Key West Development Co. (Fla) 72 So 2d 786, 47 ALR2d 361.

Footnote 82. In re Marriage of Zeman (2d Dist) 198 Ill App 3d 722, 145 Ill Dec 149, 556 NE2d 767; Re Kees' Estate, 239 Iowa 287, 31 NW2d 380; State ex rel. Home Planners Depository v Hughes, 299 Mo 529, 253 SW 229, 28 ALR 1305 (judicially noticing that an interest rate of 3 percent is less than that paid by savings bank and much less than the usual rate on loans on real-estate security, and is therefore less than the value of the money's worth); Fortman v Manthey (ND) 248 NW2d 821.

Footnote 83. Svetenko v Svetenko (ND) 306 NW2d 607.

Footnote 84. Willcuts v Bunn, 282 US 216, 75 L Ed 304, 51 S Ct 125, 2 USTC ¶ 640, 9 AFTR 584, 71 ALR 1260 (most state and municipal bonds are purchased as investments); Publicker v Commissioner (CA3) 206 F2d 250, 53-2 USTC ¶ 10912, 44 AFTR 270, 60 ALR2d 1295, cert den 346 US 924, 98 L Ed 418, 74 S Ct 312 (prices commonly quoted for stock exchange transactions do not include the taxes incurred in the actual transfer of shares); Foglesong v Thurston Nat. Life Ins. Co. (Okla) 555 P2d 606 (acquisition of stock to acquire control of a corporation is frequently made at premium prices).

Footnote 85. Simpson v United States, 252 US 547, 64 L Ed 709, 40 S Ct 367, 4 AFTR 4735; Re Kees' Estate, 239 Iowa 287, 31 NW2d 380.

Footnote 86. Central Kentucky Natural Gas Co. v Railroad Com. of Kentucky, 290 US 264, 78 L Ed 307, 54 S Ct 154.

Footnote 87. Gravenstine v Gravenstine, 58 Md App 158, 472 A2d 1001.

Footnote 88. Re Marriage of Moody (1st Dist) 119 Ill App 3d 1043, 75 Ill Dec 581, 457 NE2d 1023.

4. Historical Facts [71-74]

§ 71 Generally

View Entire Section

Courts regularly take cognizance of matters of general history and historical events. An adjudicative fact does not qualify for judicial notice, however, merely because it is of ancient vintage; 89 as with any adjudicative fact, it must be common knowledge or capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. 90

Footnotes

Footnote 89. Oneida Indian Nation v New York (CA2 NY) 691 F2d 1070, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002, 65 ALR Fed 606 (trial judge, interpreting treaties and the Articles of Confederation, erred in judicially noticing records, notes, correspondence, histories, articles, and other data, without at least giving both sides the opportunity to contest the propriety of noticing such materials); Jordan v Worthen (1st Dist) 68 Cal App 3d 310, 137 Cal Rptr 282 (admission of hearsay evidence was improper to prove that the historic use of a private road was a matter of common knowledge).

Regarding hearsay generally, see §§ 658 et seq.

Footnote 90. §§ 31, 33.

§ 72 Facts of national or international concern

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Judicial notice has been taken of the international situation which existed prior to entry of the United States into the First World War and the consequent development of our national resources. 91 Judicial notice also has been taken of the Civil War, of the acts which led to it, and of the general social, economic, and financial results which followed it. 92 In addition, judicial notice has been taken of the historical facts and events leading up to the adoption of a particular amendment to the Constitution of the United States, 93 and of the cooperation of federal and state authorities in a matter of joint concern. 94

Dates of historical events have also been judicially noticed by the courts where they are a matter of general or readily verifiable knowledge. 95

Footnotes

Footnote 91. Ashwander v Tennessee Valley Authority, 297 US 288, 80 L Ed 688, 56 S Ct 466, reh den 297 US 728, 80 L Ed 1011, 56 S Ct 588 and (criticized on other grounds by Pennhurst State School & Hospital v Halderman, 465 US 89, 79 L Ed 2d 67, 104 S Ct 900) as stated in Cuesnongle v Ramos (CA1 Puerto Rico) 835 F2d 1486.

Footnote 92. Burke v Miltenberger, 86 US 519, 19 Wall 519, 22 L Ed 158.

Footnote 93. Burnet v Niagara Falls Brewing Co., 282 US 648, 75 L Ed 594, 51 S Ct 262, 2 USTC ¶ 674, 9 AFTR 978; Re Trusteeship of Kenan, 261 NC 1, 134 SE2d 85, 99 ALR2d 934, appeal after remand 262 NC 627, 138 SE2d 547.

Footnote 94. Hamilton v Regents of University of California, 293 US 245, 79 L Ed 343, 55 S Ct 197, reh den 293 US 633, 79 L Ed 717, 55 S Ct 345 (military instruction in land grant colleges).

Footnote 95. Neely v Henkel, 180 US 109, 45 L Ed 448, 21 S Ct 302.

§ 73 State and local facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

State courts in particular take notice of historic facts peculiarly connected with or affecting the state, 96 including the historical facts and conditions which precede and lead to the enactment of legislation on a given subject, 97 and even salient facts of local history which are known generally in a particular community in the state. 98

Footnotes

Footnote 96. Unity Co. v Gulf Oil Corp., 141 Me 148, 40 A2d 4, 156 ALR 297, petition dismd 141 Me 438, 41 A2d 704.

Footnote 97. Leo Sheep Co. v United States, 440 US 668, 59 L Ed 2d 677, 99 S Ct 1403; Oliphant v Suquamish Indian Tribe, 435 US 191, 55 L Ed 2d 209, 98 S Ct 1011, on remand (CA9) 573 F2d 1137; Mattz v Arnett, 412 US 481, 37 L Ed 2d 92, 93 S Ct 2245; International Soc. for Krishna Consciousness, Inc. v New Jersey Sports & Exposition Authority (DC NJ) 532 F Supp 1088, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 472, affd (CA3 NJ) 691 F2d 155.

Footnote 98. United States v Griffin (CA1 Mass) 525 F2d 710, cert den 424 US 945, 47 L Ed 2d 351, 96 S Ct 1414; Arthur v Nyquist (WD NY) 415 F Supp 904, motion den (CA2 NY) 547 F2d 7 and motion den (WD NY) 426 F Supp 191 and supp op (WD NY) 426 F Supp 194 and adhered to (WD NY) 429 F Supp 206, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA2 NY) 573 F2d 134, cert den 439 US 860, 58 L Ed 2d 169, 99 S Ct 179; Amana Soc. v Colony Inn, Inc. (Iowa) 315 NW2d 101; Southwestern Greyhound Lines, Inc. v Railroad Com. of Texas, 128 Tex 560, 99 SW2d 263, 109 ALR 1235.

§ 74 Other particular matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Notice may be taken of historic facts relating to religious history and practice, 99 politics, 1 international and foreign history, 2 and a variety of other subjects. 3

Footnotes

Footnote 99. United States v Dykema (CA7 Wis) 666 F2d 1096, 81-2 USTC ¶ 9814, 49 AFTR 2d 82-407, cert den 456 US 983, 72 L Ed 2d 861, 102 S Ct 2257, reh den 458 US 1132, 73 L Ed 2d 1402, 103 S Ct 17 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Church of World Peace (CA10 Colo) 775 F2d 265, 85-2 USTC ¶ 9749, 56 AFTR 2d 85-6191).

Footnote 1. Awtry v United States, 231 Ct Cl 271, 684 F2d 896, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 748; Adams v Bolin, 74 Ariz 269, 247 P2d 617, 33 ALR2d 1102.

Footnote 2. Re Application of Schlittner, 146 Ariz 198, 704 P2d 1343; Re De Sautels, 1 Mass App 787, 307 NE2d 576.

Footnote 3. Brown v Board of Educ., 347 US 483, 98 L Ed 873, 74 S Ct 686, 53 Ohio Ops 326, 38 ALR2d 1180 (history of development of segregated schools in the south); Jones v Illinois Dept. of Rehabilitation Services (CA7 Ill) 689 F2d 724, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1471, 34 FR Serv 2d 1631; Hunter v Wade (CA10 Kan) 169 F2d 973, 8 ALR2d 277, affd 336 US 684, 93 L Ed 974, 69 S Ct 834, reh den 337 US 921, 93 L Ed 1730, 69 S Ct 1152; Seay v Latham, 143 Tex 1, 182 SW2d 251, 155 ALR 180.

5. Geography; Political Subdivisions [75-82]

§ 75 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts take judicial notice of the prominent geographical and natural features of the country, 4 such as the large lakes and rivers; 5 the division of the country into states; 6 the existence, location, and population of political subdivisions; 7 and distances between well-known points; 8 Courts also judicially notice the territorial limits of the United States, 9

The question whether a specific geographical fact is entitled to judicial notice is considerably simplified if the fact is the creature of statute, for in such cases the court will take notice of the statute and incidentally the geographical fact, regardless of the notoriety of the latter. 10

Footnotes

Footnote 4. Pearcy v Stranahan, 205 US 257, 51 L Ed 793, 27 S Ct 545; Arkansas v Kansas & Texas Coal Co., 183 US 185, 46 L Ed 144, 22 S Ct 47; McNitt v Turner, 83 US 352, 16 Wall 352, 21 L Ed 341; Nesko Corp. v Fontaine, 19 Conn Supp 160, 110 A2d 631; Wachendorf v Kearns (CP) 33 Ohio Ops 458, 69 NE2d 640.

Footnote 5. § 82.

Footnote 6. § 76.

Footnote 7. §§ 76, 77.

Footnote 8. § 78.

Footnote 9. Carroll v United States, 267 US 132, 69 L Ed 543, 45 S Ct 280, 39 ALR 790 (criticized on other grounds by Terry v Ohio, 392 US 1, 20 L Ed 2d 889, 88 S Ct 1868, 44 Ohio Ops 2d 383) as stated in Pimental v Department of Transp. (RI) 561 A2d 1348; Lowrance v Pflueger (CA7 Wis) 878 F2d 1014; United States v Perez (CA9 Guam) 776 F2d 797; United States v Garcia (CA11 Fla) 672 F2d 1349, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 359.

Footnote 10. United States v Jackson, 104 US 41, 14 Otto 41, 26 L Ed 651; McNitt v Turner, 83 US 352, 16 Wall 352, 21 L Ed 341; State v Scott (Trumbull Co) 3 Ohio App 2d 239, 32 Ohio Ops 2d 360, 210 NE2d 289.

§ 76 States and political subdivisions; lots and blocks

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Both federal and state courts take judicial notice of the location and boundaries of states, 11 the division of states into counties, cities, towns, and villages, 12 and the locations of these subdivisions within various counties, judicial districts, and other political subdivisions. 13 A court may take judicial notice of the location of cities, counties, boundaries, dimensions, and distances because geographic facts such as these are easily ascertainable and capable of verifiable certainty. 14

◆ Comment: In determining the sufficiency of the evidence of venue, appellate courts may take judicial notice of the official highway map of their state. 15 Courts regularly take judicial notice of geographical features of the country generally and of the locality in which they sit. 16 Judicial notice will also be taken of the fact that a particular industry is not in the state. 17

The courts of a state take judicial notice of the political and territorial separation of the state into counties and the population of a county, 18 the number of counties in the state having a population over a certain number, 19 the area of a county, 20 and the county seat. 21 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that a city is centrally located in a certain county and that a location that is just outside that city's limits is therefore located in the same county. 22

The courts take judicial notice of the charters of municipalities or of acts incorporating them. 23

Courts will take judicial notice of the location of cities, towns, and villages within the limits of their jurisdiction, at least where they are of significant size or importance. 24 For example, the courts of a state will take judicial notice of the county in which a municipality is located. 25 Courts will take judicial notice of the population of municipalities within their jurisdiction. 26

The courts will judicially notice that municipalities are divided into lots and blocks. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 11. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; Weaver v United States (CA5 Ala) 298 F2d 496; Alaska Public Easement Defense Fund v Andrus (DC Alaska) 435 F Supp 664, 8 ELR 20019.

Footnote 12. Division of states into counties: Fitch v Lawrenceburg, 104 Ind App 704, 12 NE2d 391 (location of county seats); Griffing v Gibb, 67 US 519, 2 Black 519, 17 L Ed 353 (division into cities, towns, and villages).

Footnote 13. United States v Raineri (WD Wis) 521 F Supp 30 (judicial notice taken that federal statute divides Wisconsin into western and eastern districts, and does not divide the western district into divisions); Nuuanu Neighborhood Asso. v Department of Land Utilization, 63 Hawaii 444, 630 P2d 107; People v Austin (2d Dist) 116 Ill App 3d 95, 71 Ill Dec 625, 451 NE2d 593 (appellate court took judicial notice of Circuit judge's position on bench within bounds of the Second Judicial District, and also the judge's former civil office as public defender and his status as member of bar and officer of court); State v Neil, 203 Kan 473, 454 P2d 136 (district and appellate courts both took judicial notice that a town referred to in a criminal information is located in a certain county, thus establishing venue); Odam v Arthur Murray, Inc., 5 Kan App 2d 612, 621 P2d 453 (location of Kansas City, Missouri and Kansas City, Kansas; Burlington v Dunn, 318 Mass 216, 61 NE2d 243, 168 ALR 1181, cert den 326 US 739, 90 L Ed 441, 66 S Ct 51; Jackson v State (Miss) 556 So 2d 335 (judge can take judicial notice that a city is located within a specified county for purpose of establishing venue within county for a crime committed in the city); Opponents to Petition for Formation of Community Care Nursing Home Dist. v Petitioners for Formation of Community Care Nursing Home Dist. (Mo App) 564 SW2d 552 (location of certain townships within certain counties); Kramer v State, 60 Nev 262, 108 P2d 304; Crayne v Crayne, 54 Nev 205, 13 P2d 222, 84 ALR 716; Pearce v Langfit, 101 Pa 507; State v Harris (Tenn Crim) 678 SW2d 473 (for purposes of determining jurisdiction, Court of Criminal Appeals judicially noticed that area of Gibson County in which crime took place was not within any of the civil districts comprising jurisdiction of the Humboldt Law Court).

Footnote 14. Butts Retail, Inc. v Diversifoods, Inc. (Tex App Beaumont) 840 SW2d 770, 1992-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 70061, writ den, motion overr (Apr 21, 1993).

Regarding judicial notice of matters capable of verifiable certainty, see § 34.

Footnote 15. State v Seaton (Mo App) 817 SW2d 535.

Footnote 16. Hoyt v Russell, 117 US 401, 29 L Ed 914, 6 S Ct 881; Farmland Preservation Asso. v Goldschmidt (CA8 Iowa) 611 F2d 233, 14 Env't Rep Cas 1791, 10 ELR 20052; Dowling v W. R. Hodges & Son, 131 Fla 672, 179 So 702; Turpin v Watts (Mo App) 607 SW2d 895; Hyland v Kirkman, 157 NJ Super 565, 385 A2d 284, later proceeding 204 NJ Super 345, 498 A2d 1278; Prijatel v Sifco Industries, Inc., 47 Ohio Misc 31, 1 Ohio Ops 3d 322, 353 NE2d 923, aff'd by ct of app; Brown v Knox County, 187 Tenn 8, 212 SW2d 673, 5 ALR2d 1264.

Footnote 17. Geo. B Wallace, Inc. v Pfost, 57 Idaho 279, 65 P2d 725, 110 ALR 613.

Footnote 18. Armstrong v Board of Suprs., 153 Neb 858, 46 NW2d 602.

Footnote 19. Harrell v Sullivan, 220 Ind 108, 40 NE2d 115, 140 ALR 455, reh den 220 Ind 125, 41 NE2d 354, 140 ALR 470 (ovrld on other grounds by State ex rel. Buttz v Marion Circuit Court, 225 Ind 7, 72 NE2d 225, 170 ALR 187).

Footnote 20. Beit v Beit, 135 Conn 195, 63 A2d 161, 10 ALR2d 734, reh den 135 Conn 413, 65 A2d 171, 10 ALR2d 734.

Footnote 21. Brown v Knox County, 187 Tenn 8, 212 SW2d 673, 5 ALR2d 1264; Brown Express Co. v Dieckman (Tex Civ App Austin) 344 SW2d 501.

Footnote 22. Brown v State, 205 Ga App 31, 421 SE2d 340, 92 Fulton County D R 1661; Brown Express Co. v Dieckman (Tex Civ App Austin) 344 SW2d 501.

Footnote 23. § 127.

Footnote 24. Peyroux v Howard, 32 US 324, 7 Pet 324, 8 L Ed 700; Burlington v Dunn, 318 Mass 216, 61 NE2d 243, 168 ALR 1181, cert den 326 US 739, 90 L Ed 441, 66 S Ct 51; Kramer v State, 60 Nev 262, 108 P2d 304.

Footnote 25. State v Ragland, 173 Kan 265, 246 P2d 276; Iozzi v State, 224 Md 42, 166 A2d 257; Crayne v Crayne, 54 Nev 205, 13 P2d 222, 84 ALR 716; Harper v Killion, 162 Tex 481, 348 SW2d 521.

Footnote 26. Lawson v Ridgeway, 72 Ariz 253, 233 P2d 459, 29 ALR2d 518.

Footnote 27. Hemsley v Sage, 194 Okla 669, 154 P2d 577.

§ 77 --Particular location within political subdivision

View Entire Section

Most courts that have considered the question have concluded that the location of a street address as within a particular political subdivision is judicially noticeable. 28 The same is true as to a particular intersection. 29 Judicial notice may be justified because the location of a particular street address is likely to be "capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned." 30 Some courts, however, refuse to take judicial notice, because the location of a street address within a particular political subdivision is not common knowledge. 31 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that a recognizable location is within a particular parish, even though the parish is never specifically mentioned by name. 32 Furthermore, that two particular cities are situated in a particular county is a proper subject for judicial notice and whether a highway links two cities is a fact of such notoriety that there is no necessity of accompanying a request for judicial notice with additional background information, in order for the facts to be mandatorily judicially noticed. 33 A court will not, however, take judicial notice that the building in question, in a case in which a defendant is charged with violating municipal ordinances in connection with the maintenance of the building, is within city limits. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 28. United States v Spagnuolo (CA2 NY) 168 F2d 768, cert den 335 US 824, 93 L Ed 378, 69 S Ct 48; People v Hosney (2nd Dist) 204 Cal App 2d 584, 22 Cal Rptr 397; People v De Soto, 33 Cal App 2d 478, 92 P2d 466; National Optical Co. v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 77 Colo 130, 235 P 343 (civil); People v Pride, 16 Ill 2d 82, 156 NE2d 551 (ovrld on other grounds by People v Housby, 84 Ill 2d 415, 50 Ill Dec 834, 420 NE2d 151); Shreve v Taylor County Public Library Board (Ky) 419 SW2d 779, appeal after remand (Ky) 431 SW2d 861 (civil); State v Scramuzza (La) 408 So 2d 1316; State v Nelson (La App 4th Cir) 543 So 2d 1058, cert den (La) 548 So 2d 1229; State v Thomas (La App 4th Cir) 543 So 2d 540, cert den (La) 548 So 2d 1229; State v Spain (Mo App) 759 SW2d 871 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in State v Trumble (Mo App) 844 SW2d 22); State v Jackson, 180 Mont 195, 589 P2d 1009; Dooley v State, 82 Okla Crim 243, 168 P2d 651 (criminal); Commonwealth v Bigelow, 250 Pa Super 330, 378 A2d 961, affd 484 Pa 476, 399 A2d 392; Clements v State, 141 Tex Crim 108, 147 SW2d 483 (criminal); Evans Associated Industries, Inc. v Evans (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 493 SW2d 547, 86 ALR3d 481, writ dism w o j (Jul 11, 1973) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Oct 10, 1973) (civil); Randall v Commonwealth, 183 Va 182, 31 SE2d 571 (a criminal prosecution, in which the court, although not referring to a street address, held that judicial notice could be taken that defendant's residence was in a certain county).

Annotation: Judicial notice as to location of street address within particular political subdivision, 86 ALR3d 484.

Propriety of taking judicial notice of geographic facts for purposes of proof of venue in federal criminal prosecution, 15 ALR Fed 715.

Judicial notice of matters relating to public thoroughfares and parks, 48 ALR2d 1102.

Footnote 29. United States v Hughes (CA5 Ala) 542 F2d 246 (prosecution for driving while intoxicated prosecution per the Assimilative Crimes Act, 18 USCS § 13); Times-Mirror Co. v Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 3 Cal 2d 309, 44 P2d 547; State v Trezona, 286 Minn 531, 176 NW2d 95; State v Anderson, 156 Mont 122, 476 P2d 780; Commonwealth v Lawrence, 282 Pa 128, 127 A 465; La Sorsa v Burr (Tex Civ App Houston (14th Dist)) 516 SW2d 265.

Footnote 30. § 31.

Footnote 31. Harmon v Harmon, 209 Ga 474, 74 SE2d 75 (civil); Smith v State, 138 Ga App 692, 227 SE2d 468 (criminal).

Regarding judicial notice of matters of common knowledge, see § 33.

Annotation: Judicial notice as to location of street address within particular political subdivision, 86 ALR3d 484).

Footnote 32. State v Powell (La App 2d Cir) 598 So 2d 454, cert den (La) 605 So 2d 1089.

Footnote 33. Apostolic Church v American Honda Motor Co. (Tex App Tyler) 833 SW2d 553, writ den (Dec 2, 1992) and reh of writ of error overr (Dec 31, 1992).

Footnote 34. § 106.

§ 78 Distances between locations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts often take judicial cognizance of the distances between two or more locations and the customary routes and usual time required for travel between them. 35

A court is within its discretion in taking judicial notice of the distance between two points, 36 for example the distance between two cities, 37 as this is a fact which the court can accurately determine from unquestionable sources. 38 Although a court is free to take notice of the distance of an alternative maritime route, it is inappropriate for a federal court to notice judicially that parties would never contract for shipment over that geological distance, 39 as the Federal Rules of Evidence 40 forbid the taking of judicial notice of facts subject to reasonable dispute or of facts not capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. 41

Footnotes

Footnote 35. Carroll v United States, 267 US 132, 69 L Ed 543, 45 S Ct 280, 39 ALR 790 (criticized on other grounds by Terry v Ohio, 392 US 1, 20 L Ed 2d 889, 88 S Ct 1868, 44 Ohio Ops 2d 383) as stated in Pimental v Department of Transp. (RI) 561 A2d

1348; Scott v Abilene Independent School Dist. (ND Tex) 438 F Supp 594; Tahoe Forest Inn v Superior Court of El Dorado County (3rd Dist) 99 Cal App 3d 509, 160 Cal Rptr 314; Beit v Beit, 135 Conn 195, 63 A2d 161, 10 ALR2d 734, reh den 135 Conn 413, 65 A2d 171, 10 ALR2d 734; M. I. G. Invest., Inc. v Marsala (2d Dist) 92 Ill App 3d 400, 47 Ill Dec 265, 414 NE2d 1381; Re Estate of Connors (1st Dist) 23 Ill App 2d 240, 161 NE2d 871; Lombardo v De Shance, 167 Ohio St 431, 5 Ohio Ops 2d 114, 149 NE2d 914, 66 ALR2d 1313.

Annotation: Judicial notice of matters relating to public thoroughfares and parks, 48 ALR2d 1102.

Judicial notice as to location of street address within particular political subdivision, 86 ALR3d 484.

Footnote 36. Fine Foods, Inc. v Dahlin, 147 Vt 599, 523 A2d 1228.

Footnote 37. State ex rel. Leonard Trucking Co. v Division of Transp. (Mo App) 825 SW2d 19. Walsh v Table Rock Asphalt Constr. Co. (Mo App) 522 SW2d 116.

Footnote 38. Fine Foods, Inc. v Dahlin, 147 Vt 599, 523 A2d 1228.

Footnote 39. Berkshire Fashions, Inc. v The M.V. Hakusan II (CA3 NJ) 954 F2d 874, 1992 AMC 1171, 22 FR Serv 3d 1180.

Footnote 40. FRE 201(b).

Footnote 41. § 31.

§ 79 Topographical surveys

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts will take judicial notice of the system of surveys in a state, including the United States Government surveys. 42 For example, a court may take judicial notice of a map bearing the seal of a professional surveyor, in a defendant's prosecution for selling drugs within 1,000 feet of school property where the map is used at trial only to aid an officer testifying to the jury as to the actual site where he made his measurements. 43

Footnotes

Footnote 42. Gies v Boehm, 78 Wyo 449, 329 P2d 807.

Footnote 43. Graves v State (Fla App D3) 587 So 2d 633, 16 FLW D 2682.

§ 80 Territorial extent of jurisdiction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

All courts are bound to take judicial notice of the territorial extent of the jurisdiction exercised by the government, the laws of which they administer, 44 and of the extent and boundaries of the territory under which they themselves can exercise jurisdiction. 45

Footnotes

Footnote 44. Pearcy v Stranahan, 205 US 257, 51 L Ed 793, 27 S Ct 545; Lincoln v United States, 197 US 419, 49 L Ed 816, 25 S Ct 455, adhered to 202 US 484, 50 L Ed 1117, 26 S Ct 728; Graham v State, 196 Miss 382, 17 So 2d 210.

Footnote 45. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; Graham v State, 196 Miss 382, 17 So 2d 210.

§ 81 Public thoroughfares and parks

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Highway nomenclature and designations within the trial court's jurisdiction are matters of common knowledge and proper subjects for judicial notice. In matters involving geographical knowledge, it is not necessary that a formal request for judicial notice be made by a party and therefor it does not require that the court formally announce that it is taking judicial notice of the fact. 46 Therefore, courts will take judicial notice of the existence and general aspects of the street and highway system. 47 For example, judicial notice may be taken that roads which are open to the public as of right constitute highways within the meaning of a state statute. 48

A court may take notice of facts relating to a road's physical 49 and geographical 50 characteristics, and the area through which a road passes. 51 There is, however, authority for the proposition that courts may not take judicial notice of whether streets are within boundaries of cities, 52 or within the boundaries of a business or residential district. 53

A court may also take judicial notice of traffic conditions, 54 the frequency with which a road is used, 55 a road's importance to the community, 56 the types of vehicles which frequent a given road, 57 and the visibility of lights along a roadway to drivers. 58 In addition, courts may take judicial notice of the existence, location, and purpose of stop signs, 59 traffic lights, 60 and various types of road signs which communicate traffic regulations to drivers. 61 Courts have also judicially noticed the function and purpose of toll stations 62 and the existence of sidewalk defects. 63

Judicial notice may be taken of the characteristic functions and purposes of parks, or the major activities to which they are devoted. 64 Judicial notice has also been taken respecting the authority under which particular parks and roads were constructed or regulated. 65

§ 81 ----Public thoroughfares and parks [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Although court may take judicial notice of location of cities within county, it may not do so as to location of streets within city. Clark v State (1994) 213 Ga App 313, 444 SE2d 806, 94 Fulton County D R 1577.

Footnotes

Footnote 46. Apostolic Church v American Honda Motor Co. (Tex App Tyler) 833 SW2d 553, writ den (Dec 2, 1992) and reh of writ of error overr (Dec 31, 1992).

Footnote 47. 8 Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic § 980.

Footnote 48. Stewart v Davis (Miss) 571 So 2d 926.

Footnote 49. Central P. R. Co. v Alameda County, 284 US 463, 76 L Ed 402, 52 S Ct 225; Haley v United States (WD NC) 654 F Supp 481, affd without op (CA4 NC) 829 F2d 1120; Murdock v Ledbetter-Johnson Co., 105 Ga App 551, 125 SE2d 99; Howard v Missman, 81 Idaho 82, 337 P2d 592; Kinsch v Di Vito Constr. Co. (1st Dist) 54 Ill App 2d 149, 203 NE2d 621; Prell v Wood (Iowa) 386 NW2d 89; Earnest v Kansas State Highway Com., 182 Kan 357, 320 P2d 847 (noting that black-top construction tends to feather off and crumble at edges under heavy traffic in severe weather conditions); Commonwealth, Dept. of Highways v General & Excess Ins. Co. (Ky) 355 SW2d 695; Burroughs v Milligan, 199 Md 78, 85 A2d 775, 28 ALR2d 243; Muszynski v Buffalo, 49 Misc 2d 957, 268 NYS2d 753, revd on other grounds (4th Dept) 33 App Div 2d 648, 305 NYS2d 163, affd 29 NY2d 810, 327 NYS2d 368, 277 NE2d 414; Edwards v State, 202 Tenn 393, 304 SW2d 500 (judicial notice that highway was paved).

Footnote 50. Wander v Brady, 252 Iowa 183, 105 NW2d 86; State v Hubschman, 81 NJ Super 452, 195 A2d 913 (Garden State Parkway is 173 miles long with about 120 entrances along its sides); Bogert v Washington, 45 NJ Super 13, 131 A2d 535, affd 25 NJ 57, 135 A2d 1 (taking judicial notice that a particular parkway ran parallel to another street, and of the distance between them); Jumper v Goodwin, 239 SC 508, 123 SE2d 857; State v Gignac, 119 Vt 471, 129 A2d 499; People v Torres (1st Dist) 57 Ill App 2d (abstract) 127, 207 NE2d 14.

Footnote 51. Essex County Preservation Asso. v Campbell (DC Mass) 399 F Supp 208, 7 Env't Rep Cas 2136, 5 ELR 20568, affd (CA1 Mass) 536 F2d 956, 8 Env't Rep Cas 2156, 6 ELR 20577 (court took judicial notice of fact that any increase in size of highway was bound to have some deleterious effect on environment); Jasper v Commonwealth (Ky) 375 SW2d 709; Colonial Dodge, Inc. v Miller, 116 Mich App 78, 322 NW2d 549, 34 UCCRS 123; Selbee v Multnomah County, 247 Or 390, 430 P2d 561 (it is a matter of common knowledge that conversion of two-lane highway in a residential district into four-lane highway will be a detriment to adjacent property and may lower its market value).

Footnote 52. Kieffer v Berkeley (Mo App) 508 SW2d 295.

Footnote 53. Eagle Trucking Co. v Texas Bitulithic Co. (Tex) 612 SW2d 503, reformed (Tex) 24 Tex Sup Ct Jour 256, on remand (Tex Civ App Tyler) 619 SW2d 598, writ dismissed (Jul 21, 1982) and writ reversed (Tex) 640 SW2d 873, rehearing of writ of error overruled (Nov 24, 1982) and rehearing of cause overruled (Mar 25, 1981).

Footnote 54. State ex rel. Washington State Highway Com. v O'Brien, 83 Wash 2d 878, 523 P2d 190.

Footnote 55. Hom v Clark (1st Dist) 221 Cal App 2d 622, 35 Cal Rptr 11; Eggink v Robertson (3rd Dist) 191 Cal App 2d 496, 13 Cal Rptr 76.

Footnote 56. State Road Dept. v Lewis (Fla) 170 So 2d 817 (taking judicial notice of the importance of a particular state road in the system of state roads).

Footnote 57. Stevens v White Motor Corp., 77 Wis 2d 64, 252 NW2d 88.

Footnote 58. May v Boston & M. Railroad, 340 Mass 609, 165 NE2d 910.

Footnote 59. Bakity v County of Riverside (4th Dist) 12 Cal App 3d 24, 90 Cal Rptr 541.

Footnote 60. Wilson v Morris (La App 4th Cir) 139 So 2d 93.

Footnote 61. State v Hubschman, 81 NJ Super 452, 195 A2d 913 (judicial notice that intermittent signs are placed along roadside of Garden State Parkway to inform motorists of individual regulations); Farmers Oil Co. v Miller, 264 NC 101, 141 SE2d 41; Derheim v N. Fiorito Co., 80 Wash 2d 161, 492 P2d 1030 (judicial notice that "no U-turn" signs were posted along divided portions of an interstate highway, prohibiting vehicles from reversing direction by crossing grass divider from one roadway to other).

Footnote 62. State v Richards, 106 NJ Super 55, 254 A2d 137.

Footnote 63. Pappadakis v New Orleans (La App 4th Cir) 182 So 2d 843.

Footnote 64. New Castle v Lawrence County, 353 Pa 175, 44 A2d 589.

Annotation: Judicial notice of matters relating to public thoroughfares and parks, 48 ALR2d 1102.

Judicial notice as to location of street address within particular political subdivision, 86 ALR3d 484.

§ 82 Waters and watercourses

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts take judicial notice of the location, source, size, and course of major rivers and other bodies of water within the nation or jurisdiction, 66 and of their navigability. 67

The courts will also judicially notice at what distance from the mouth of a river the tide ebbs and flows, 68 although judicial notice will not be taken of the size of tidal lands or mud flats. 69 Judicial notice may also be taken of the fact that a certain stream is 70 or is not 71 a navigable stream. Furthermore, while judicial notice may be taken of the navigability of more important rivers and streams, less significant waterways must be established in the same manner as any other question of fact. 72 In addition, judicial notice will not be taken of the particular point between the mouth and source of a river where its navigability ceases, since that is a matter requiring proof. 73

Footnotes

Footnote 66. Wear v Kansas, 245 US 154, 62 L Ed 214, 38 S Ct 55; People ex rel. Barrett v Anderson, 398 Ill 480, 76 NE2d 773.

Footnote 67. Arizona v California, 283 US 423, 75 L Ed 1154, 51 S Ct 522; United States v Utah, 283 US 64, 75 L Ed 844, 51 S Ct 438; Otto v Alper (DC Del) 489 F Supp 953, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 511; Smith v Hustler, Inc. (WD La) 514 F Supp 1265, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1001; Elder v Delcour, 364 Mo 835, 269 SW2d 17, 47 ALR2d 370.

Footnote 68. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; Peyroux v Howard, 32 US 324, 7 Pet 324, 8 L Ed 700.

Footnote 69. Baer v Moran Bros. Co., 153 US 287, 38 L Ed 718, 14 S Ct 823.

Footnote 70. Wear v Kansas, 245 US 154, 62 L Ed 214, 38 S Ct 55.

Footnote 71. Elder v Delcour, 364 Mo 835, 269 SW2d 17, 47 ALR2d 370.

Footnote 72. E.D. Mitchell Living Trust v Murray (Mo App) 818 SW2d 326.

Footnote 73. United States v Rio Grande Dam & Irrig. Co., 174 US 690, 43 L Ed 1136, 19 S Ct 770.

6. Transportation [83-87]

§ 83 Motor vehicles and their operation

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have judicially noticed matters as basic as the definition of an automobile, 74 and as specific as the effect of a stone thrown at a passing car. 75 Numerous decisions have judicially noticed the function of car parts, including signal devices, 76 headlights, 77 and tires. 78 Courts have judicially noticed the effect intoxication has on the driver, 79 the annual number of alcohol-related traffic accidents, 80 and the carnage caused by such accidents, 81 as well as highway fatality statistics, generally. 82

Courts may take judicial notice include the normal purposes for which a vehicle is used, 83 although a court cannot take judicial notice of the characteristics of either a trail bike or a particular brand of motorcycle, in resolving whether a trail bike is either an automobile or midget automobile within insurance policy's exclusion clause. 84 In addition, courts may take judicial notice of the proper positioning of a towed vehicle, 85 and the fact that motorcycles generally emit considerable noise through their exhaust systems. 86 Courts may also judicially notice types of driver conduct which are usually indicative of negligence, 87 of the inherent dangers of certain types of driving maneuvers, such as making a left turn, 88 and of the fact that passengers rely on the driver for control and management of the car and to exercise the required degree of care. 89 Furthermore, it is generally agreed that the reliability of radar to measure the speed of motor vehicles is a proper subject for judicial notice. 90

Footnotes

Footnote 74. Home Indem. Co. v Hunter (1st Dist) 7 Ill App 3d 786, 288 NE2d 879; Midwest Mut. Ins. Co. v Fireman's Fund Ins. Co., 258 SC 533, 189 SE2d 823.

Footnote 75. Kingery v Chapple (Alaska) 504 P2d 831.

Footnote 76. Kantor v Ash, 215 Md 285, 137 A2d 661, 69 ALR2d 585.

Footnote 77. Midwest Mut. Ins. Co. v Fireman's Fund Ins. Co., 258 SC 533, 189 SE2d 823.

Footnote 78. Searcy v Neal (Mo App) 509 SW2d 755, appeal after remand (Mo App) 549 SW2d 602.

Footnote 79. Ex parte Ross (Tex Crim) 522 SW2d 214, cert den 423 US 1018, 46 L Ed 2d 390, 96 S Ct 454 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Price v State (Tex Crim) 866 SW2d 606).

Regarding judicial notice of the nature an intoxicating quality of alcoholic beverages generally, see §§ 98, 99.

Footnote 80. Simpson v Anchorage (Alaska App) 635 P2d 1197.

Footnote 81. Kobilansky v Liffrig (ND) 358 NW2d 781 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Madison v North Dakota DOT (ND) 503 NW2d 243).

Footnote 82. Popp v Motor Vehicle Dept., 211 Kan 763, 508 P2d 991.

Footnote 83. Berdeaux v Gamble Alden Life Ins. Co. (Ala) 338 So 2d 403; Hartford Acci. & Indem. Corp. v Lowery (Tex Civ App Beaumont) 490 SW2d 935, writ ref n r e (May 23, 1973).

Footnote 84. Central Nat. Ins. Co. v Virginia Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co., 222 Va 353, 282 SE2d 4.

Footnote 85. Brown v Rudy Smith Service, Inc. (La App 4th Cir) 441 So 2d 409.

Footnote 86. Wallace v Andersonville Docks, Inc. (Tenn App) 489 SW2d 532.

Footnote 87. Hahn v Russ (Alaska) 611 P2d 66 (one who rear-ends another vehicle under normal circumstances is generally negligent); Bone v General Motors Corp. (Mo) 322 SW2d 916, 71 ALR2d 361.

Footnote 88. Green v Boney, 233 SC 49, 103 SE2d 732, 66 ALR2d 1370.

Footnote 89. Worley v Tucker Nevils, Inc. (Mo) 503 SW2d 417.

Footnote 90. State v Kane (App) 122 Idaho 623, 836 P2d 569.

§ 84 Driver reaction times

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is not possible to act instantaneously upon perceiving danger; some time elapses between the perception of danger and the physical reaction to it. In litigation arising from traffic collisions, courts readily acknowledge and accept this fact. 91 Courts are divided, however, as to the propriety of taking judicial notice of the length of time it takes the average driver to react. Several courts have taken judicial notice, usually based on state publications of various sorts, that the average driver reaction time is anywhere from half a second to a full second; 92 other courts have refused to take judicial notice of an average reaction time. 93 Even where courts will take judicial notice of driver reaction times, a court may require that the information be verified. For example, a trial court does not abuse its discretion in refusing to take judicial notice of reaction times, braking distances, and stopping distances when a party's exhibits do not identify their sources and therefore the information they contain cannot be verified. 94

Footnotes

Footnote 91. Ryans v Blevins (DC Del) 159 F Supp 234, affd (CA3 Del) 258 F2d 945; Albaugh v Pennsylvania R. Co. (DC Dist Col) 120 F Supp 70, affd 95 US App DC 82, 219 F2d 764; Berton v Cochran, 81 Cal App 2d 776, 185 P2d 349; Bechtold v Bishop & Co. (Cal App) 98 P2d 575, superseded on other grounds 16 Cal 2d 285, 105 P2d 984; Coonley v Lowden, 234 Iowa 731, 12 NW2d 870; State use of Stehley v Belle Isle Cab Co., 194 Md 550, 71 A2d 435; Dister v Ludwig, 362 Mo 162, 240 SW2d 694; Yeaman v Storms, 358 Mo 774, 217 SW2d 495; McMinn v Thompson, 61 NM 387, 301 P2d 326; De Marco v Rose, 392 Pa 1, 139 A2d 634; Teston v Miller (Tex Civ App Beaumont) 349 SW2d 296, writ ref n r e (Jan 3, 1962) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Jan 31, 1962); Stimeling v Goodman, 202 Va 111, 115 SE2d 923; Murray v Banning, 17 Wash 2d 1, 134 P2d 715; Kaan v Kuhn, 64 Wyo 158, 187 P2d 138.

Footnote 92. Ryans v Blevins (DC Del) 159 F Supp 234, affd (CA3 Del) 258 F2d 945 (three-quarters to four-fifths of a second); Standard Oil Co. v Crawl (CA8 Mo) 198 F2d 580 (same; McDonough v St. Louis Public Service Co. (Mo) 350 SW2d 739 (same); Vietmeier v Voss (Mo) 246 SW2d 785 (three-quarters of a second, unless a longer time affirmatively appears in the proof); McCreary v Conroy (Mo App) 611 SW2d 234; De Marco v Rose, 392 Pa 1, 139 A2d 634 (three-quarters of a second); Samford v Duff (Tex Civ App Corpus Christi) 483 SW2d 517, writ ref n r e (Oct 11, 1972) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Nov 22, 1972) (same); Thornton v Campise (Tex Civ App Houston (14th Dist)) 459 SW2d 455, writ ref n r e (Feb 17, 1971) (three-quarters of a second); Kaan v Kuhn, 64 Wyo 158, 187 P2d 138 (at least one-half of a second is required after danger appears for the average motorist to transfer his foot from accelerator throttle to brake).

Annotation: Judicial notice of drivers' reaction time and of stopping distance of motor vehicles traveling at various speeds, 84 ALR2d 979 § 1.

Footnote 93. Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 610 F2d 360, reh'g den (CA5 Tex) 614 F2d 1298; Hansen v Dillon, 156 Colo 396, 400 P2d 201; Mathews v Carlson (Fla App D3) 130 So 2d 625; Kinchen v Rigamer (La App 4th Cir) 411 So 2d 482.

Footnote 94. Gronneberg v Hoffart (ND) 466 NW2d 809.

§ 85 Boats; ships and shipping

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have taken judicial notice of matters relating to travel by boat, air, and rail. 95 For example, courts have judicially noticed the nature of a boat's speed in knots, 96 the function and effectiveness of boats' radars, 97 and the consequence of a boat's severance from its berth. 98

The courts will take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge relative to ships and shipping. It is common knowledge that a ship is a wanderer to many ports of call and thus more often than not is far from the direct control and supervision of its owner. 99

It is also common knowledge that the master of a ship is charged with full enforcement of discipline of members of the crew. 1

Footnotes

Footnote 95. Michigan C. R. Co. v Powers, 201 US 245, 50 L Ed 744, 26 S Ct 459.

Footnote 96. Valentine Waterways Corp. v Tug Choptank (ED Va) 260 F Supp 210, affd (CA4 Va) 380 F2d 381.

Footnote 97. Granholt v TFL Express (SD NY) 576 F Supp 435, 1984 AMC 943, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1518.

Footnote 98. Trade Banner Line, Inc. v Caribbean S.S. Co., S. A. (CA5 Tex) 521 F2d 229.

Footnote 99. State ex rel. Southern Pacific Co. v Duncan, 230 Or 179, 368 P2d 733, 98 ALR2d 617.

Footnote 1. State ex rel. Southern Pacific Co. v Duncan, 230 Or 179, 368 P2d 733, 98 ALR2d 617.

§ 86 Airlines and airports

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

Judicial notice has been given to information relating to the types of airlines that service particular airports; 2 the impact of an airport upon surrounding communities; 3 and the psychological and emotional effect that an airplane crash has on the nearby population. 4 But in the absence of qualifying evidence, a court should not take judicial notice of information concerning events revolving around an airport in another state. 5

Footnotes

Footnote 2. Indianapolis Airport Auth. v American Airlines (CA7 Ind) 733 F2d 1262, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1340 (criticized on other grounds by Northwest Airlines v County of Kent (US) 127 L Ed 2d 183, 94 CDOS 475, 94 Daily Journal DAR 822, 7 FLW S 741, 73 AFTR 2d 94-461, 94 TNT 16-2).

Footnote 3. Hawn v County of Ventura (2nd Dist) 73 Cal App 3d 1009, 141 Cal Rptr 111, cert den 436 US 917, 56 L Ed 2d 757, 98 S Ct 2262.

Footnote 4. Re Air Crash Disaster near Chicago (CA7 Ill) 644 F2d 594, cert den 454 US 878, 70 L Ed 2d 187, 102 S Ct 358.

§ 87 Railroads

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have repeatedly affirmed the fact that the railroad industry is a business which is constantly open to public observation. 6 The manner in which railroad companies conduct their business has been followed for so long a period, with such uniformity, that the court is bound to take judicial notice of its general features. 7 It is also a matter of judicial knowledge that the demands of commerce require in the transportation of freight that the cars of one company be hauled over the road of another. 8

The courts will take judicial notice that a particular railroad company is a common carrier engaged in the transportation of persons, 9 and in interstate commerce. 10

Since judicial notice is taken of the location of the principal cities of the United States and their distance apart, 11 a simple computation will ordinarily demonstrate with approximate certainty the time of travel between such cities and the courts will take judicial notice of the result of this computation. 12 It is clear, however, that judicial notice cannot be taken of the usual time of the arrival and departure of trains at a particular place. 13

The courts have judicially noticed that railroad grade crossings are places of danger, and that notwithstanding precautions taken by railroads to prevent grade crossing accidents, a substantial number of motorists are negligent in approaching them. 14 It has also been judicially noticed that it is dangerous to stand close to a moving train, both because of overhang and suction. 15

Footnotes

Footnote 6. Detroit U. Railway v Detroit, 229 US 39, 57 L Ed 1056, 33 S Ct 697.

Footnote 7. Northern Ohio Traction & Light Co. v Ohio, 245 US 574, 62 L Ed 481, 38 S Ct 196; Pennsylvania R. Co. v Towers, 245 US 6, 62 L Ed 117, 38 S Ct 2; Chicago, M. & St. P. R. Co. v Wisconsin, 238 US 491, 59 L Ed 1423, 35 S Ct 869; Minnesota Rate Cases, 230 US 352, 57 L Ed 1511, 33 S Ct 729; Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Riverside Mills, 219 US 186, 55 L Ed 167, 31 S Ct 164; State ex rel. Southern Pacific Co. v Duncan, 230 Or 179, 368 P2d 733, 98 ALR2d 617.

Footnote 8. Pennsylvania R. Co. v Sonman Shaft Coal Co., 242 US 120, 61 L Ed 188, 37 S Ct 46.

Footnote 9. Horn v Illinois C. R. Co., 327 Ill App 498, 64 NE2d 574.

Footnote 10. Furney v Thompson, 164 Kan 294, 188 P2d 955.

Footnote 11. §§ 76, 78.

Footnote 12. Illinois ex rel. McNichols v Pease, 207 US 100, 52 L Ed 121, 28 S Ct 58; United States v Thornton, 160 US 654, 40 L Ed 570, 16 S Ct 415.

Footnote 13. Wiggins v Burkham, 77 US 129, 10 Wall 129, 19 L Ed 884.

Footnote 14. Tanzi v New York C. R. Co., 155 Ohio St 149, 44 Ohio Ops 140, 98 NE2d 39, 24 ALR2d 1151.

Footnote 15. Gibson v Southern Pacific Co. (1st Dist) 137 Cal App 2d 337, 290 P2d 347, 63 ALR2d 1205.

7. Language and Communications [88-91]

§ 88 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

As a rule, the courts take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge in the field of communications¹⁶ and with regard to the use of language. For example, the courts will take judicial notice of the meaning of common English words, phrases, and abbreviations.¹⁷

Newspaper articles and television stories have been judicially noticed by federal courts,¹⁸ although at least one federal court has refused to take judicial notice of the truth of a newspaper article, stating that a statement of fact appearing in daily newspaper does not of itself establish that it is capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.¹⁹ Judicial notice has also been taken of the fact that tabloid newspapers are published in many places and are ordinarily read generally, if sufficiently established for a length of time, so as to gain a general circulation.²⁰

Footnotes

Footnote 16. State v Traffic Tel. Workers' Federation, 2 NJ 335, 66 A2d 616, 24 BNA LRRM 2071, 16 CCH LC ¶ 65162, 9 ALR2d 854.

Footnote 17. §§ 89, 90.

Footnote 18. Show-World Center, Inc. v Walsh (SD NY) 438 F Supp 642; Shell Oil Co. v Kleppe (DC Colo) 426 F Supp 894.

Footnote 19. Cofield v Ala. Public Service Com. (CA11 Ala) 936 F2d 512.

For a further discussion of the purpose for which judicial notice may be taken, see § 134.

Footnote 20. Pirie v Kamps, 68 Wyo 83, 229 P2d 927, 26 ALR2d 647.

§ 89 Meanings of words and phrases; signs and symbols

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In general, the courts take judicial notice of the meaning of English words and phrases. 21 In this respect, it is not necessary that the meaning of a word or phrase be universal; to be judicially noticed no more is required than that the meaning be general and notorious in a local sense, within the particular jurisdiction of the court. 22 Courts regularly take judicial notice of the meaning of words, phrases, abbreviations and symbols, and even idioms and colloquialisms, either because they are generally understood in the community and therefore need not be proven, or because their meaning is readily verifiable. Thus, reference may be had to standard dictionaries for the purpose of determining the common meaning of words, 23 but courts also judicially notice the popular understanding of terms and expressions whether these are in a dictionary or conform to the dictionary definition. 24 If, however, a usage is special or limited to a too-restricted locality or business or class of people, the general rule may be deemed inapplicable. 25 For example, the courts will not take judicial notice of the commercial designation of an article where such designation is not commonly employed and is known only to a relatively few persons. 26 Courts have recognized that certain words are defamatory per se. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 21. Sonn v Magone, 159 US 417, 40 L Ed 203, 16 S Ct 67; Saltonstall v Wiebusch, 156 US 601, 39 L Ed 549, 15 S Ct 476; Re Bordeaux' Estate, 37 Wash 2d 561, 225 P2d 433, 26 ALR2d 249.

Footnote 22. Toplitz v Hedden, 146 US 252, 36 L Ed 961, 13 S Ct 70.

Footnote 23. § 26.

Footnote 24. Thompson v Soles, 299 NC 484, 263 SE2d 599.

Footnote 25. Seeberger v Schlesinger, 152 US 581, 38 L Ed 560, 14 S Ct 729; Toplitz v Hedden, 146 US 252, 36 L Ed 961, 13 S Ct 70.

Footnote 26. Seeberger v Schlesinger, 152 US 581, 38 L Ed 560, 14 S Ct 729.

Footnote 27. Campbell v Jacksonville Kennel Club, Inc. (Fla) 66 So 2d 495; Gobin v Globe Pub. Co., 232 Kan 1, 649 P2d 1239, 8 Media L R 2191, 36 ALR4th 797; James v

§ 90 Abbreviations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Abbreviations are recognized as part of the English language, and the courts will take judicial notice of all well-known, widely recognized and commonly used abbreviations.

28 Thus, the courts take judicial notice of the usual abbreviations or corruptions of Christian names in common use. 29

Footnotes

Footnote 28. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; Re Siemens' Estate, 346 Pa 610, 31 A2d 280, 153 ALR 483, cert den 320 US 758, 88 L Ed 452, 64 S Ct 66.

Footnote 29. 57 Am Jur 2d, Name § 7.

§ 91 Telecommunications

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court will take judicial notice of the telephone and of its nature, operation, and use. 30 The courts also take judicial notice of matters of common knowledge relating to radio and television. 31 For example, they have taken judicial notice of the custom of householders to use outside antennae or aerials for radio reception; 32 of the number of television sets in use; 33 and of the range limitations of television reception. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 30. State v Traffic Tel. Workers' Federation, 2 NJ 335, 66 A2d 616, 24 BNA LRRM 2071, 16 CCH LC ¶ 65162, 9 ALR2d 854.

Footnote 31. Ettore v Philco Television Broadcasting Corp. (CA3 Pa) 229 F2d 481, 108 USPQ 187, 58 ALR2d 626, cert den 351 US 926, 100 L Ed 1456, 76 S Ct 783, 109 USPQ 517 (judicial notice may be taken of the fact that more and more films made prior to commercial television are being telecast); St. Louis Park v Casey, 218 Minn 394, 16 NW2d 459, 155 ALR 1128 (that radio receiving and sending stations operated by amateurs are in connection with residences is too well known a fact to be ignored).

Footnote 32. St. Louis Park v Casey, 218 Minn 394, 16 NW2d 459, 155 ALR 1128.

Footnote 33. Ettore v Philco Television Broadcasting Corp. (CA3 Pa) 229 F2d 481, 108 USPQ 187, 58 ALR2d 626, cert den 351 US 926, 100 L Ed 1456, 76 S Ct 783, 109 USPQ 517.

Footnote 34. Ettore v Philco Television Broadcasting Corp. (CA3 Pa) 229 F2d 481, 108 USPQ 187, 58 ALR2d 626, cert den 351 US 926, 100 L Ed 1456, 76 S Ct 783, 109 USPQ 517.

8. Scientific and Mechanical Facts [92-101]

§ 92 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Judicial notice is taken of commonly known facts relating to scientific, 35 mechanical, 36 and electrical, 37 matters or devices and to explosions and explosives. 38

A court may take judicial notice that liquid milk weighs about the same as liquid water or approximately 8 1/3 pounds per gallon. 39 In addition, a court may take judicial notice that a lake is polluted and may take notice of what is polluting it. 40 For example, a court may take judicial notice of the fact that Lake Erie is polluted and that the pollution consists of a great quantity of different substances that have been deposited into it over a period of decades. 41

Footnotes

Footnote 35. §§ 93 et seq.

Footnote 36. §§ 100, 101.

Footnote 37. 26 Am Jur 2d, Electricity, Gas, and Steam § 173.

Footnote 38. 31A Am Jur 2d, Explosions and Explosives § 183.

Footnote 39. Allen v Industrial Com. (Utah) 729 P2d 15, 46 Utah Adv Rep 3.

Footnote 40. State ex rel. Brown v BASF Wyandotte Corp. (CP) 67 Ohio Ops 2d 239.

Footnote 41. State ex rel. Brown v BASF Wyandotte Corp. (CP) 67 Ohio Ops 2d 239.

§ 93 Scientific facts

In addition to noticing the validity of scientific principles and methods, courts also judicially notice an almost infinite variety of scientific facts. Such facts include laws of physics, 42 the composition and qualities of chemical substances, 43 and the effect that foods and chemicals have on human beings. 44 For example, it is judicially noticeable that someone addicted to heroin likely will fear the verifiably brutal physical and psychological symptoms connected with withdrawal. The effects of withdrawal from cocaine and methadone, by contrast, are not judicially noticeable; as to these, expert testimony is required. 45 In addition, a court may take judicial notice of any scientific fact that may be ascertained by reference to a standard dictionary 46 or is of such general knowledge as would be known by any judicial officer. 47 Courts have also taken judicial notice of the flammability or explosiveness of various substances, 48 the dangers of radiation from nuclear detonation, 49 and the characteristics and dangers of man-made objects and substances. 50

Even if a scientific fact is judicially noticeable, a court should not arbitrarily apply it to the evidence in the case, unless the conclusion reached is so irrefutable that the conclusion, like the scientific fact itself, is one on which reasonable minds could not differ. 51

Footnotes

Footnote 42. Elwood v New York (SD NY) 450 F Supp 846, revd on other grounds (CA2 NY) 606 F2d 358, 13 Env't Rep Cas 1833, cert den 447 US 906, 64 L Ed 2d 855, 100 S Ct 2989, 14 Env't Rep Cas 1575; Ettore v Philco Television Broadcasting Corp. (CA3 Pa) 229 F2d 481, 108 USPQ 187, 58 ALR2d 626, cert den 351 US 926, 100 L Ed 1456, 76 S Ct 783, 109 USPQ 517; Larson v Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation Dist. (1st Dist) 218 Cal App 2d 515, 32 Cal Rptr 875, 8 ALR3d 665; Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp. v State Oil & Gas Bd. (Miss) 457 So 2d 1298, 83 OGR 295, revd on other grounds 474 US 409, 88 L Ed 2d 732, 106 S Ct 709, 87 OGR 550, reh den 475 US 1091, 89 L Ed 2d 738, 106 S Ct 1485.

Footnote 43. United States v Whitley (CA6 Ky) 734 F2d 1129, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 531 (disapproved on other grounds by Mathews v United States, 485 US 58, 99 L Ed 2d 54, 108 S Ct 883) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Graham (CA6 Ohio) 856 F2d 756, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1154) (cocaine); Miller Brewing Co. v G. Heileman Brewing Co. (CA7 Wis) 561 F2d 75, 195 USPQ 281, cert den 434 US 1025, 54 L Ed 2d 772, 98 S Ct 751, 196 USPQ 592 (alcoholic and caloric content); United States v Pisano (CA7 Ill) 193 F2d 355, 41 AFTR 476, 31 ALR2d 409 (heroin); Mast v Standard Oil Co., 140 Ariz 1, 680 P2d 137 (petroleum).

Annotation: Judicial notice of intoxicating quality, and the like, of liquor or particular liquid, from its name, 49 ALR2d 764.

Footnote 44. Miller Brewing Co. v G. Heileman Brewing Co. (WD Wis) 427 F Supp 1204; State ex rel. Brown v BASF Wyandotte Corp. (CP) 67 Ohio Ops 2d 239 (court took judicial notice of the toxic properties of mercury, its conversion by natural processes into methyl mercury, and the deleterious effects of such substances on humans and on fish and other wildlife).

As to judicial notice of matters relating to health and disease generally, see §§ 60-62.

Footnote 45. United States v Gregorio (CA4 Md) 497 F2d 1253, cert den 419 US 1024, 42 L Ed 2d 298, 95 S Ct 501.

Footnote 46. Regarding judicial notice of information contained in dictionaries, see § 26.

Footnote 47. State v Brock (Hamilton Co) 34 Ohio App 2d 175, 63 Ohio Ops 2d 288, 296 NE2d 837.

Footnote 48. Standard Oil Co. v Marysville, 279 US 582, 73 L Ed 856, 49 S Ct 430; Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v Downs (Tex Civ App) 70 SW2d 318, writ ref.

As to judicial notice in explosion cases, see 31A Am Jur 2d, Explosions and Explosives § 183.

Footnote 49. Jaffee v United States (CA3 NJ) 592 F2d 712, on remand (DC NJ) 468 F Supp 632, affd (CA3 NJ) 663 F2d 1226, cert den 456 US 972, 72 L Ed 2d 845, 102 S Ct 2234 and cert den 441 US 961, 60 L Ed 2d 1066, 99 S Ct 2406.

Footnote 50. Browning-Ferris Industries of South Jersey, Inc. v Muszynski (CA2 NY) 899 F2d 151, 31 Env't Rep Cas 1081, 20 ELR 20587; Stark v Photo Researchers, Inc. (SD NY) 77 FRD 18, 25 FR Serv 2d 419; Bankers Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v Bukacek, 271 Ala 182, 123 So 2d 157, 84 ALR2d 672 (use of dynamite as an explosive is intrinsically dangerous); Gibson v Southern Pacific Co. (1st Dist) 137 Cal App 2d 337, 290 P2d 347, 63 ALR2d 1205 (it is dangerous to stand close to a moving train, both because of overhang and suction); Prudential Ins. Co. v Gutowski (Sup) 49 Del 233, 113 A2d 579, 52 ALR2d 1073 (death may result from an overdose of sleeping pills); Knox v Granite Falls, 245 Minn 11, 72 NW2d 67, 53 ALR2d 1091 (kerosene flares are not the safest or most effective means of lighting and warning of street excavations); Nance v Parks, 266 NC 206, 146 SE2d 24, 15 ALR3d 1377 (an automobile equipped with automatic transmission when left in drive with the motor running, may move forward under its own power in response to a jolt or vibrations and an automobile can be driven an appreciable distance with the parking brake set before the driver notices that he has not released it); Virginia Transit Co. v Hodges, 201 Va 232, 110 SE2d 231, 84 ALR2d 115 (the volume of sound increases when a car sounding a siren is approaching).

Footnote 51. Prestige Homes, Inc. v Legouffe (Colo) 658 P2d 850, appeal after remand (Colo App) 689 P2d 697."

§ 94 Validity of scientific theories and techniques

View Entire Section

Scientific theories that are so firmly established as to have attained the status of scientific law are properly subject to judicial notice under the Federal Rules of Evidence. 52 In state courts, where the admission of testimony on a scientific technique presents an issue of first impression, the technique's reliability is not a proper subject of judicial notice. 53 If the underlying principles and information win sufficient acceptance in the scientific community, however, courts will take judicial notice of its scientific acceptability. 54 Therefore, once a procedure has been recognized in a substantial number of courts, a trial judge may judicially notice, without receiving evidence, that the procedure has been established with verifiable certainty, or that it rests upon the laws of nature. For example, a court is entitled to take judicial notice that the procedure used to identify a substance as cocaine has been established with verifiable certainty or that it rests on the laws of nature where an expert witness testifies that the scientific tests used to identify the substance found in a defendant's pockets are the same tests recognized in some 5,000 other criminal cases in the state. 55

Courts may take judicial notice that the theory underlying DNA Profiling is generally accepted in the relevant scientific community. 56 Therefore, trial courts may take judicial notice of the reliability of DNA identification testing, although before a court admits the test results into evidence, the prosecutor must establish in each particular case that the generally accepted laboratory procedures were followed. 57

Even if a scientific theory or technique is judicially noticeable, a court should not arbitrarily apply it to the evidence in the case, unless the conclusion reached is so irrefutable that the conclusion, like the scientific fact itself, is one on which reasonable minds could not differ. 58

Footnotes

Footnote 52. Daubert v Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (US) 125 L Ed 2d 469, 113 S Ct 2786, 93 CDOS 4825, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8148, 27 USPQ2d 1200, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13494, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, 23 ELR 20979, 7 FLW Fed S 632.

Footnote 53. People v Eyler, 133 Ill 2d 173, 139 Ill Dec 756, 549 NE2d 268, cert den 498 US 881, 112 L Ed 2d 174, 111 S Ct 215, reh den 498 US 993, 112 L Ed 2d 550, 111 S Ct 541.

Footnote 54. People v Smith (1st Dist) 215 Cal App 3d 19, 263 Cal Rptr 678, reh den (Cal App 1st Dist) 1989 Cal App LEXIS 1302 and review den (Cal) 1990 Cal LEXIS 55.

Footnote 55. Mitchell v State, 200 Ga App 146, 407 SE2d 115, 102-134 Fulton County D R 17B.

Footnote 56. United States v Jakobetz (CA2 Vt) 955 F2d 786, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 876, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 63, 113 S Ct 104 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Vea-Gonzales (CA9 Or) 986 F2d 321, 93 CDOS 1187) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Isaacs (CA1 Mass) 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1164); State v Vandebogart, 136 NH 365, 616 A2d 483.

Footnote 57. People v Adams, 195 Mich App 267, 489 NW2d 192, app den, mod on other grounds, remanded 441 Mich 915, 497 NW2d 182.

Regarding the admissibility of evidence, see §§ 313 et seq.

Footnote 58. Prestige Homes, Inc. v Legouffe (Colo) 658 P2d 850, appeal after remand (Colo App) 689 P2d 697."

§ 95 --Identification by fingerprints and footprints

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

So general is the use, and so accurate are the results, of fingerprint identification, that in many cases it has been expressly declared that the courts will take judicial notice of that means of identification. 59 A court may also properly take judicial notice of the scientific principle of capacity for identification by comparison of two sets of palm prints. 60 In addition, it is a matter of common knowledge in the fields of crime detection and medical jurisprudence that the permanence of the friction ridges on the sole of the foot makes a naked footprint a means of identification. 61

§ 95 --Identification by fingerprints and footprints [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

There was no error in a prosecution for first-degree murder, burglary, robbery, and attempted rape in the admission of testimony that an expert had compared a fingerprint from the crime scene with a fingerprint card from defendant on file before his arrest. Defendant's use of the fingerprint expert's report opened the door and created confusion which the State could clear up by introducing evidence that the report was based on a ten-print card that was on file prior to defendant's arrest for this crime. State v Montgomery (1995) 341 NC 553, 461 SE2d 732.

Footnotes

Footnote 59. Murphy v State, 184 Md 70, 40 A2d 239; State v Dantonio, 18 NJ 570, 115 A2d 35, 49 ALR2d 460.

Annotation: Fingerprints, palm prints, or bare footprints as evidence, 28 ALR2d 1115.

Admissibility of bare footprint evidence, 45 ALR4th 1178.

Footnote 60. State v Inman (Me) 350 A2d 582.

Footnote 61. State v Rogers, 233 NC 390, 64 SE2d 572, 28 ALR2d 1104 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Silver, 286 NC 709, 213 SE2d 247).

Practice References 43 Am Jur POF2d 217, Footprint Identification.

§ 96 --Blood tests

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The unanimity of medical and legal authorities on the question of the reliability of blood-grouping tests as an indicator of the truth justifies the taking of judicial notice of the general recognition of the accuracy and value of the tests when properly performed.

62 Consequently, a trial court may take judicial notice that electrophoresis is generally accepted by forensic scientists as a reliable method of detecting genetic markers in dried blood. 63

§ 96 --Blood tests [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The Commonwealth established that a chemical blood test was performed by a clinical laboratory licensed and approved by the Department of Health, as required by 75 Pa CS § 1547(c)(2), where the approval of the laboratory was listed in the Pennsylvania Bulletin by the Department of Health and the court took judicial notice of such listing. Commonwealth v Brown (1993, Super Ct) 631 A2d 1014.

Footnotes

Footnote 62. Haines v Shanholtz, 57 Md App 92, 468 A2d 1365, cert den 300 Md 90, 475 A2d 1201; Groulx v Groulx, 98 NH 481, 103 A2d 188, 46 ALR2d 994; State v Dantonio, 18 NJ 570, 115 A2d 35, 49 ALR2d 460; Cortese v Cortese, 10 NJ Super 152, 76 A2d 717; Callison v Callison (Okla) 687 P2d 106.

Annotation: Blood grouping tests, 46 ALR2d 1000.

Admissibility and weight of blood-grouping tests in disputed paternity cases, 43 ALR4th 579.

Footnote 63. People v Lopez (1st Dist) 228 Ill App 3d 1061, 170 Ill Dec 758, 593 NE2d 647; State v Thomas, 187 W Va 686, 421 SE2d 227.

§ 97 --X-rays

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The process of X-ray photography is now as well established as a recognized method of securing a reliable representation of the bones of the human body, although they are hidden from direct view by surrounding flesh, and of metallic or other solid substances that may be embedded in the flesh, as was photography as a means of securing a representation of things that might be directly observed by the unaided eye at the time when photography was first given judicial sanction as a means of disclosing facts of observation. 64 In addition, the use of X-ray apparatus by competent dentists and what its use ordinarily reveals are so well known as to be within common knowledge and frequent experience of laymen. 65 It has become a matter of common knowledge that X-ray pictures only reflect shadows of solid or hard substances. 66

§ 97 --X- rays [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: X-rays and the best evidence rule, 213 New York LJ 28:3 (1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 64. Wires v Litle, 27 Cal App 2d 240, 80 P2d 1010, heard by sup ct as reported in 27 Cal App 2d 244, 82 P2d 388; State v Matheson, 130 Iowa 440, 103 NW 137.

Annotation: Judicial notice of diseases or similar conditions adversely affecting human beings, 72 ALR2d 554 § 39.

Footnote 65. Butts v Watts (Ky) 290 SW2d 777.

Footnote 66. Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v Crow, 148 Tex 113, 221 SW2d 235, 10 ALR2d 913.

§ 98 Nature and intoxicating quality of alcoholic beverages

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A judge may take judicial notice of well known and undisputed facts about the effect of alcohol on the human body. 67 For example, the courts will take judicial notice that alcohol 68 or whiskey, 69 including contraband or other homemade whisky, known as moonshine, 70 are intoxicating liquors. 71 In addition, the name "gin" is sufficient to give judicial notice of the intoxicating quality of the liquid so named. 72 It is, however, improper for a judge to move beyond matters of common knowledge or facts readily determinable from unimpeachable sources and to attempt to make precise calculations based upon specific absorption of alcohol rates without the aid of expert testimony. 73

Footnotes

Footnote 67. Poulnot v District of Columbia (App DC) 608 A2d 134.

Court properly took judicial notice that Southern Comfort is an intoxicating liquor and that excessive consumption can cause death, where such facts are generally known. State ex rel. Cholka v Johnson, 96 Wis 2d 704, 292 NW2d 835.

Footnote 68. Fuller v Jackson, 97 Miss 237, 52 So 873; Skaggs v State (Okla Crim) 276 P2d 267, 49 ALR2d 760.

Annotation: Judicial notice of intoxicating quality, and the like, of liquor or particular liquid, from its name, 49 ALR2d 764 § 3.

Footnote 69. Hughes v State, 264 Ark 723, 574 SW2d 888; Everhart v State, 194 Tenn 272, 250 SW2d 368.

Footnote 70. State v Hawkins, 81 Utah 16, 16 P2d 713.

Footnote 71. For a listing and definition of various intoxicating liquors, see 45 Am Jur 2d, Intoxicating Liquors §§ 4-21.

Footnote 72. Skaggs v State (Okla Crim) 276 P2d 267, 49 ALR2d 760.

Footnote 73. Poulnot v District of Columbia (App DC) 608 A2d 134.

§ 99 --Malt liquors beer

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

There is divergence of opinion whether judicial notice should be taken of the intoxicating quality of beer from its name, this lack of accord being due in part to the difference in the alcoholic content of beer at different periods, causing the rule to change in some jurisdictions. In some cases, the courts have judicially noticed that the term beer, without any qualifying word, refers to an intoxicating beverage, 74 but there is other authority to the effect that judicial notice should not be taken that beer, without qualification of the word, is an intoxicating liquor. 75

Footnotes

Footnote 74. Osborn v Leuffgen, 381 Ill 295, 45 NE2d 622; State v Winter, 129 Mont 207, 285 P2d 149 (statutory definition of intoxicating liquor included beer).

Annotation: Judicial notice of intoxicating quality, and the like, of liquor or particular liquid, from its name, 49 ALR2d 764 § 8.

Footnote 75. Louisville & N. R. Co. v Falls City Ice & Beverage Co., 249 Ky 807, 61 SW2d 639, 91 ALR 509; Skaggs v State (Okla Crim) 276 P2d 267, 49 ALR2d 760.

§ 100 Mechanical facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts take judicial notice of the general rules governing mechanical operations and powers. 76 The courts also take judicial notice of mechanical devices in general use, 77 the nature of the use of a specific device, 78 and the nature and method of its construction. 79 In any case, however, in order for judicial notice to be taken of mechanical matters and devices, they must be matters or devices of which there is common knowledge or general notoriety. 80

Footnotes

Footnote 76. Black Diamond Coal Mining Co. v Excelsior Coal Co., 156 US 611, 39 L Ed 553, 15 S Ct 482; Potts v Creager, 155 US 597, 39 L Ed 275, 15 S Ct 194; Springdale v Freeman (CP) 25 Ohio Ops 2d 462, 93 Ohio L Abs 379, 196 NE2d 471; Gordon's Transports, Inc. v Bailey, 41 Tenn App 365, 294 SW2d 313.

Footnote 77. Richards v Chase Elevator Co., 158 US 299, 39 L Ed 991, 15 S Ct 831, reh den 159 US 477, 40 L Ed 225, 16 S Ct 53; Potts v Creager, 155 US 597, 39 L Ed 275, 15 S Ct 194; Springdale v Freeman (CP) 25 Ohio Ops 2d 462, 93 Ohio L Abs 379, 196 NE2d 471; Guarina v Bogart, 407 Pa 307, 180 A2d 557, 93 ALR2d 1165.

Footnote 78. Richards v Chase Elevator Co., 158 US 299, 39 L Ed 991, 15 S Ct 831, reh den 159 US 477, 40 L Ed 225, 16 S Ct 53; Potts v Creager, 155 US 597, 39 L Ed 275, 15 S Ct 194; State v Shelt (Lucas Co) 46 Ohio App 2d 115, 75 Ohio Ops 2d 103, 346 NE2d 345; Kingsport Utilities, Inc. v Brown, 201 Tenn 393, 299 SW2d 656, 69 ALR2d 87.

Footnote 79. Springdale v Freeman (CP) 25 Ohio Ops 2d 462, 93 Ohio L Abs 379, 196 NE2d 471.

Footnote 80. Office Specialty Mfg. Co. v Fenton Metallic Mfg. Co., 174 US 492, 43 L Ed 1058, 19 S Ct 641; Richards v Chase Elevator Co., 158 US 299, 39 L Ed 991, 15 S Ct 831, reh den 159 US 477, 40 L Ed 225, 16 S Ct 53; Black Diamond Coal Mining Co. v Excelsior Coal Co., 156 US 611, 39 L Ed 553, 15 S Ct 482; Potts v Creager, 155 US

§ 101 --Patentability

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts will take judicial notice of the patentability of an invention when the question involved is a matter of common knowledge. 81 Thus, judicial knowledge will be taken of the fact that a mechanical device covered by a patent, secured or applied for, has been in general use for a period of time preceding the application for the patent, 82 but this is true only where such use is notorious and a matter of common knowledge. 83

Footnotes

Footnote 81. Werk v Parker, 249 US 130, 63 L Ed 514, 39 S Ct 197.

Footnote 82. Office Specialty Mfg. Co. v Fenton Metallic Mfg. Co., 174 US 492, 43 L Ed 1058, 19 S Ct 641; Richards v Chase Elevator Co., 158 US 299, 39 L Ed 991, 15 S Ct 831, reh den 159 US 477, 40 L Ed 225, 16 S Ct 53; Black Diamond Coal Mining Co. v Excelsior Coal Co., 156 US 611, 39 L Ed 553, 15 S Ct 482; Potts v Creager, 155 US 597, 39 L Ed 275, 15 S Ct 194.

Footnote 83. New York Belting & Packing Co. v New Jersey Car Spring & Rubber Co., 137 US 445, 34 L Ed 741, 11 S Ct 193.

As to judicial in patent validity and infringement litigation generally, see 60 Am Jur 2d, Patents § 1054.

9. Statistical and Mathematical Facts [102, 103]

§ 102 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The courts take judicial notice of statistical facts of general and common knowledge. 84 For example, the courts take judicial notice of statistical facts derived from an official census. 85 A court may also take judicial notice that the statistics and underlying sampling theory of DNA paradigms are not controversial or novel, and the court may therefore take judicial notice of the paradigm. 86

◆ Caution: Statistics may not be used as a substitute for facts. 87 In addition, federal records and statistics are recognized as public records of which courts may take judicial notice, and therefore, a court may take judicial notice of the statistics presented in a party's brief which were compiled by divisions of the United States Department of Transportation. 88 The courts also take judicial notice of the rules of arithmetic, 89 and of weights and measures other than those that are odd or unusual. 90

A court may take judicial notice, based upon the availability of statistics well publicized in newspapers and periodicals, that the use of illegal drugs constitutes a serious societal problem and that no segment of society is immune from this problem. 91

Courts refuse to take judicial notice of parole eligibility statistics as these are not a proper subject for judicial notice because statistical information of this type does not bound the scope of reasonable dispute or susceptible to immediate and an accurate determination by resort to readily accessible and indisputable sources. 92

§ 102 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: A lawyer's guide to probability and statistics, 20 Am J Crim L 401 (1993).

Footnotes

Footnote 84. Parker v Brown, 317 US 341, 87 L Ed 315, 63 S Ct 307; Ney v Yellow Cab Co., 2 Ill 2d 74, 117 NE2d 74, 51 ALR2d 624.

Footnote 85. 14 Am Jur 2d, Census § 12.

Footnote 86. State v Montalbo, 73 Hawaii 130, 828 P2d 1274.

For a discussion of judicial notice of scientific theories or principals, see § 93.

Footnote 87. Tenants' Union of West Side, Inc. v Beame, 40 NY2d 133, 386 NYS2d 83, 351 NE2d 731.

Footnote 88. Wehde v Regional Transp. Authority (2d Dist) 237 Ill App 3d 664, 178 Ill Dec 190, 604 NE2d 446, app den 149 Ill 2d 662, 183 Ill Dec 873, 612 NE2d 525.

Footnote 89. Gordon's Transports, Inc. v Bailey, 41 Tenn App 365, 294 SW2d 313.

Trial court erred in refusing to take judicial notice of the number of feet traveled in a second by a car traveling at a given rate per hour, where plaintiff sought judicial notice of the indisputable results of a simple mathematical computation and supplied the court with the necessary information. Drake v Holstead (Tex App Beaumont) 757 SW2d 909.

Footnote 90. Markendorf v Friedman, 280 Ky 484, 133 SW2d 516, 127 ALR 416, app dismd 309 US 626, 84 L Ed 987, 60 S Ct 610.

Footnote 91. § 59.

Footnote 92. § 106.

§ 103 Mortality, or life expectancy, tables

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts take judicial notice of the existence of standard mortality, or life expectancy, tables which seek to approximate the lifespan of men and women from past experience. 93 Before the courts will take judicial notice of the accuracy or authenticity of a table of mortality figures, however, they must be satisfied by their own experience or the general use and reputation of the mortality tables that they are accurate and generally acceptable as authority. 94

In a divorce action, a court may take judicial notice of the mortality table put out by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare in calculating the present value of a spouse's retirement benefits so as to enable the court to determine whether the property division is just and fair. 95

Footnotes

Footnote 93. Lincoln v Power, 151 US 436, 38 L Ed 224, 14 S Ct 387; Knoche v Meyer Sanitary Milk Co., 177 Kan 423, 280 P2d 605; Morris v Morris (Ky) 293 SW2d 243; Geier v Tjaden (ND) 74 NW2d 361; Jones v Eppler (Okla) 266 P2d 451, 48 ALR2d 333.

A court may, within its discretion, take judicial notice of actuarial tables and consequently rely upon them as accurate for a person of a given age and health. Re Marriage of Bowman, 226 Mont 99, 734 P2d 197.

As to judicial notice of the span of life, see § 55.

For various mortality (life expectancy) tables, see Am Jur 2d Desk Book, Documents 92-97.

Footnote 94. Geier v Tjaden (ND) 74 NW2d 361.

Footnote 95. McKibben v McKibben (Tex Civ App San Antonio) 567 SW2d 538.

Regarding property distribution in divorce actions generally, see 24 Am Jur 2d, Divorce and Separation §§ 817-962.

10. Law and Government Affairs [104-151]

a. Law, In General [104-128]

(1). Introduction [104-108]

§ 104 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

◆ Observation: The Federal Rule of Evidence which applies to judicial notice governs only judicial notice of adjudicative facts. 96

A court must judicially notice the law of its jurisdiction. 97

§ 104 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court properly took notice of and instructed upon federal law in a resentencing hearing for first- degree murder where the only aggravating circumstance submitted was pecuniary gain, the district attorney asked the court during trial to take judicial notice of two United States Code provisions dealing with servicemen's group life insurance and a death gratuity payment, and the court instructed the jury that the provisions of the United States Code are to be accepted as true by the jury. Although defendant contended that the court should have instructed the jury in accordance with G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 201(g) that it could, but was not required to, accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed, the United States Code Sections are not adjudicative facts and the trial court properly took notice of and instructed upon federal law. State v Bacon (1994) 337 NC 66, 446 SE2d 542.

Footnotes

Footnote 96. FRE 201(a).

Law Reviews: Suffling, Judicial Notice, 48 Miss LJ 919, 930 (1977).

Footnote 97. Newcomb v Brennan (CA7 Wis) 558 F2d 825, 44 ALR Fed 297, cert den 434 US 968, 54 L Ed 2d 455, 98 S Ct 513 (state statutes, city charters and city ordinances were within the category of "common knowledge" and were proper subjects for judicial notice); Glendale v Coquat, 46 Ariz 478, 52 P2d 1178, 102 ALR 837; Johnson v State, 6 Ark App 78, 638 SW2d 686; State ex rel. McGonigle v Madison Circuit Court, 244 Ind 403, 193 NE2d 242 (state constitution and case law); Cassibo v Bodwin, 149 Mich App 474, 386 NW2d 559 (courts are required to take judicial notice of all statutes of the state); Sperry Corp. v State Tax Com. (Mo) 695 SW2d 464; State v Thayer, 235 Neb 70, 453 NW2d 474 (all public laws and general statutes enacted by the legislature); State v Pleva, 203 NJ Super 178, 496 A2d 375, cert den 102 NJ 323, 508 A2d 203, later proceeding 106 NJ 637, 525 A2d 1104 (federal and state laws); Kish v Van Note (Tex) 692 SW2d 463, reh overr (Jul 17, 1985) (Texas courts are required to take judicial notice of the public statutes of the state).

§ 105 Federal-state issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is a fundamental principle of American law that state ⁹⁸ as well as federal courts must take judicial notice of the Constitution of the United States, acts of Congress, ⁹⁹ and treaties entered into by the United States. ¹ Some modern state evidence codes codify this obligation. ²

Similarly, federal courts are bound to take notice of the laws of every state. ³ Thus, in exercising original jurisdiction, the Supreme Court of the United States takes judicial notice of the laws of the state in question, ⁴ and in the exercise of its general appellate jurisdiction, the Supreme Court takes notice of the laws of every state. ⁵ Furthermore, in reviewing judgments of the state courts, the Supreme Court of the United States takes judicial notice of subsequently enacted legislation of the state from which the case came. ⁶ On certiorari, however, the Supreme Court will not judicially notice a statute of a sister state that was neither noticed by nor proved in the court of the forum state. ⁷ In addition, in reviewing decisions of the highest court of a state, the Supreme Court takes judicial notice of the laws of that state only, ⁸ to the extent that such laws are judicially noticeable by the courts of that state. ⁹

◆ Observation: Federal courts in diversity suits must apply state substantive law and federal procedural law. ¹⁰ The federal circuits are divided as to whether, in an action based on diversity jurisdiction, a federal court is to apply state law ¹¹ governing judicial notice, or federal law. ¹²

Footnotes

Footnote 98. State v Pleva, 203 NJ Super 178, 496 A2d 375, cert den 102 NJ 323, 508 A2d 203, later proceeding 106 NJ 637, 525 A2d 1104 (federal and state laws); State v Reese (Hamilton Co) 56 Ohio App 2d 278, 10 Ohio Ops 3d 285, 382 NE2d 1193 (trial court may take judicial notice that a particular drug is on federal government's list of prescription drugs); Peters v Double Cola Bottling Co., 224 SC 437, 79 SE2d 710.

Footnote 99. Spokane Falls & N. R. Co. v Ziegler, 167 US 65, 42 L Ed 79, 17 S Ct 728.

Footnote 1. § 117.

Footnote 2. See, for example, Cal Evid Code § 451(a); Fla Stat 90.201(1), (2); NY CPLR 4511(a).

Footnote 3. Bowen v Johnston, 306 US 19, 83 L Ed 455, 59 S Ct 442; Straton v New, 283 US 318, 75 L Ed 1060, 51 S Ct 465; Kucel v Walter E. Heller & Co. (CA5 Tex) 813 F2d 67, 3 UCCRS2d 1416 (because federal courts are required to take judicial notice of the content of the laws of every state in the union, a party is not required to prove the content of state law or show that it is different from the law of another state); United States v Schmitt (CA5 La) 748 F2d 249, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, cert den 471 US 1104, 85 L Ed 2d 850, 105 S Ct 2333 (federal courts are bound to take judicial notice of the law of any state, whether statutory or judicial in origin); Reeves v Schulmeier (CA5 Tex) 303 F2d 802, 97 ALR2d 718 (federal courts sitting in Texas will take judicial notice of Oklahoma law); Jaeger v Raymark Industries, Inc. (ED Wis) 610 F Supp 784 (federal courts are required to take judicial notice of state law).

Footnote 4. Lloyd v Mathews, 155 US 222, 39 L Ed 128, 15 S Ct 70; Chicago & A. Railroad v Wiggins Ferry Co., 119 US 615, 30 L Ed 519, 7 S Ct 398; Hanley v Donoghue, 116 US 1, 29 L Ed 535, 6 S Ct 242.

Footnote 5. Pure Oil Co. v Minnesota, 248 US 158, 63 L Ed 180, 39 S Ct 35.

Footnote 6. Abie State Bank v Bryan, 282 US 765, 75 L Ed 690, 51 S Ct 252.

Footnote 7. Bothwell v Buckbee, Mears Co., 275 US 274, 72 L Ed 277, 48 S Ct 124.

Footnote 8. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v Wulf, 226 US 570, 57 L Ed 355, 33 S Ct 135; Lloyd v Mathews, 155 US 222, 39 L Ed 128, 15 S Ct 70; Renaud v Abbott, 116 US 277, 29 L Ed 629, 6 S Ct 1194; Mitchell v Overman, 103 US 62, 13 Otto 62, 26 L Ed 369.

Footnote 9. Junction R. Co. v Bank of Ashland, 79 US 226, 12 Wall 226, 20 L Ed 385.

Footnote 10. 20 Am Jur 2d, Courts § 209.

Footnote 11. Gates v P. F. Collier, Inc. (CA9 Hawaii) 378 F2d 888, cert den 389 US 1038, 19 L Ed 2d 827, 88 S Ct 774, reh den 390 US 975, 19 L Ed 2d 1193, 88 S Ct 1024; Weber v Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (DC Or) 215 F Supp 105.

Footnote 12. Hardy-Latham v Wellons (CA4 NC) 415 F2d 674; J. M. Blythe Motor Lines Corp. v Blalock (CA5 Fla) 310 F2d 77, 6 FR Serv 2d 114; Schultz v Tecumseh Products (CA6 Mich) 310 F2d 426; Fullington v Iowa Sheet Metal Contractors, Inc. (DC Neb) 319 F Supp 243.

Annotation: Federal or state law as governing federal court's authority, in diversity action after Erie R. Co. v Tompkins, to take judicial notice of law of sister state or foreign country, 7 ALR Fed 921.

§ 106 Matters of criminal law and procedure

Courts may take judicial notice of a variety of matters relating to criminal law. For example, a trial court may take judicial notice of whether a substance is designated as a controlled substance and can so instruct the jury. 13 Courts sometimes take notice of a substance's designation as a matter of adjudicative fact 14 and sometimes as a matter of law. 15 Other matters of which a court may take judicial notice include that capital punishment is being imposed throughout the state for the crime of murder committed during a robbery in the first-degree; 16 that in the greater Miami area drug ripoffs are commonplace and usually involve violence with a firearm resulting in death or injury; 17 and that the county of prosecution is adjacent to and located in the same judicial district as the county where an offense occurred, for purposes of determining a defendant's allegation that the state did not prove venue. 18 A court may also take judicial notice of its own records 19 to determine whether a defendant has satisfactorily completed one-third or more of the probationary period. 20 Furthermore, a judge may take judicial notice of the state's rules and regulations that require licensed child care centers to keep records concerning the care and control of children at the center and such judicial notice may give a magistrate probable cause to believe that such records would be located at a defendant's residence which is also a licensed child care center, and consequently give the magistrate authority to issue a search warrant seeking such records from the premises. 21

Courts also refuse to take judicial notice of a number of matters of criminal law and procedure. For example, parole eligibility statistics are not a proper subject for judicial notice because statistical information of this type does not bound the scope of reasonable dispute or susceptible to immediate and an accurate determination by resort to readily accessible and indisputable sources. 22 A court also will not take judicial notice that the building in question, in a case in which a defendant is charged with violating municipal ordinances in connection with the maintenance of the building, is within city limits. 23

Courts in criminal proceedings have also declined to take judicial notice of——a police officer's written report containing admissions by a defendant favorable to a codefendant. 24

—the reliability of an informant for purpose of rehabilitating a defective search warrant. 25

—the general pattern of grand jury voting in which grand juries are said to vote unanimously in the first months of their term while not voting unanimously toward the end of their term. 26

—the indictment and conviction of a coconspirator as predicate to the introduction of the coconspirator's statements. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 13. Burks v State (Ala App) 611 So 2d 487, reh den, without op (Ala App) 1992 Ala Crim App LEXIS 1768, cert den (Ala) 1993 Ala LEXIS 257 and (disapproved on other grounds by Ex Parte Mutrie (Ala) 1993 Ala LEXIS 897).

Footnote 14. Commonwealth v Whelan, 408 Mass 29, 556 NE2d 389 (trial judge may take judicial notice that codeine is a derivative of opium; judicial notice of this fact may not be taken as a matter of common knowledge, rather it is a subject of generalized knowledge readily ascertainable from authoritative sources and consequently appropriate for judicial notice).

Footnote 15. § 120.

Footnote 16. McMillian v State (Ala App) 594 So 2d 1253, supp op, reh overr (Ala App) 1991 Ala Crim App LEXIS 2691 and remanded on other grounds (Ala) 1992 Ala LEXIS 1770, reported in full (Ala) 594 So 2d 1288, remanded on other grounds (Ala App) 594 So 2d 1289, remanded on other grounds (Ala App) 616 So 2d 933.

Footnote 17. Reyes v State (Fla App D3) 581 So 2d 932, 16 FLW D 1543, review den (Fla) 589 So 2d 292.

Footnote 18. Granados v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 843 SW2d 736.

Footnote 19. § 138.

Footnote 20. State v Cuellar (Tex App Austin) 815 SW2d 295.

Footnote 21. § 122.

Footnote 22. Abbott v Commonwealth (Ky) 822 SW2d 417.

Regarding judicial notice of statistics generally, see § 102.

Footnote 23. Cool Valley v LeBeau (Mo App) 824 SW2d 512.

Regarding judicial notice of particular locations within a political subdivision, see § 76.

Footnote 24. Pina v Henderson (CA2 NY) 752 F2d 47, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 94 (existence and content of report were not "matters beyond dispute").

Footnote 25. United States v Sorrells (CA11 Fla) 714 F2d 1522, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 306.

Footnote 26. United States v Pabian (CA11 Fla) 704 F2d 1533, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 46.

Footnote 27. United States v Griffin (CA11 Fla) 778 F2d 707, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1426.

§ 107 Foreign governmental matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A judge is required to take notice facts regarding whether a foreign power has been recognized by this government. 28 In addition to legal status, courts also take judicial notice of factual realities concerning foreign governments, for example, that a court's judicial system was fundamentally fair and can be expected to protect American rights 29 while another country's judicial system could not be. 30

The existence of a state of war between foreign powers has been judicially noticed, as has also the existence of civil war in a foreign country. 31

Footnotes

Footnote 28. Re De Sautels, 1 Mass App 787, 307 NE2d 576.

Footnote 29. Murty v Aga Khan (ED NY) 92 FRD 478, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1533.

Footnote 30. Itek Corp. v First Nat. Bank (DC Mass) 511 F Supp 1341, vacated on other grounds (CA1 Mass) 704 F2d 1, on remand (DC Mass) 566 F Supp 1210, affd (CA1 Mass) 730 F2d 19, 39 UCCRS 625.

Footnote 31. United States v Hamburg-Amerikanische Packetfahrt-Actien Gesellschaft, 239 US 466, 60 L Ed 387, 36 S Ct 212; Orantes-Hernandez v Smith (CD Cal) 541 F Supp 351, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 98 (in action against U.S. Immigration and Nationalization Service, court took judicial notice of civil war in El Salvador and substantial danger to civilians of death, torture, political persecution and other civil rights violations—citing FRE 201(b)).

§ 108 Judicial notice on appeal

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Appellate courts may take original judicial notice of law whether the effect is to affirm the decision of the lower court or agency 32 or to affirm it. 33 A court will decline to notice a government regulation, however, if the record lacks sufficient information to support the conclusion the court is being asked to draw from the regulation. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 32. Dietz v Property Tax Appeal Bd. (4th Dist) 191 Ill App 3d 468, 138 Ill Dec 746, 547 NE2d 1367, app den 131 Ill 2d 558, 142 Ill Dec 880, 553 NE2d 394.

Footnote 33. Wessel v Erickson Landscaping Co. (Utah) 711 P2d 250.

Footnote 34. United States v Judge (CA5 Tex) 846 F2d 274, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 911, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 864 F2d 1144, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 868 F2d 1271 and cert den 495 US 918, 109 L Ed 2d 309, 110 S Ct 1946.

(2). Laws of Foreign Jurisdictions [109-115]

§ 109 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In general, and in the absence of statutory requirement to the contrary, the courts of the forum will not take judicial notice of the law prevailing in another country, 35 state or territory, 36 or municipality. 37 In a number of states, however, statutes have been enacted which provide for judicial notice of the law of sister states. 38 In particular, some states adopted the Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act which provided for judicial notice of the common law and statutes of other states and territories of the United States. 39

◆ Comment: The Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act has been withdrawn. States that had adopted the act, however, may continue to cite their version of the statute in their rulings on the propriety of taking judicial notice of a sister state's laws. The purpose of the act was to simplify the method of properly bringing to the consideration of the court applicable principles of foreign law and to leave its determination to the court instead of the jury. 40 The act did not change the common-law rule that the law of foreign countries will not be judicially noticed, but it did change the common-law rule that foreign law would be determined by the jury. 41

§ 109 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 35. § 112.

Footnote 36. § 110.

Footnote 37. § 111.

Footnote 38. § 110.

Footnote 39. Re Estate of Warner (App) 161 Wis 2d 644, 468 NW2d 736 (a court must take judicial notice of the common-law and statutes of its sister states).

Forms: Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 3.

Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state—Another form. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 4.

Footnote 40. Strout v Burgess, 144 Me 263, 68 A2d 241, 12 ALR2d 939.

Annotation: Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act, 23 ALR2d 1437.

Practice References 21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction.

Footnote 41. Franzen v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 130 NJL 457, 33 A2d 599; Kennedy v Lenzine, 76 RI 231, 69 A2d 231.

§ 110 Sister states

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A court may take judicial notice of other states' statutes. Consequently, a court may take judicial notice of the similarity between its state's statutes and another state's statutes. 42 A court may take judicial notice of the laws of other states on its own motion, 43 although it ordinarily does not do so. 44 A trial court is not precluded from judicially noticing a statute or regulation of another jurisdiction on the basis that it has not been pleaded, although a party seeking to recover on the ground of negligence per se must plead a statutory violation. 45 Before a court may be asked to take judicial notice of another state's laws, pursuant to the states statute requiring a court to take judicial notice of the statutory and case law of other states, however, reasonable notice must be given to any adverse parties. A failure to give reasonable notice to adverse parties precludes the applications of another state's law. 46 In a wrongful death action, a petition which alleges fatal injuries occurring in a foreign state is sufficient to invoke a judicial notice of the foreign state's laws and state a cause of action under the foreign state's wrongful death statute. 47

A trial court's judicial notice of the laws of a sister state is subject to review as a ruling on a question of law. 48

§ 110 ----Sister states [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and

Footnotes

Footnote 42. Sykes v Hiatt, 98 NC App 688, 391 SE2d 834, review den 327 NC 437, 395 SE2d 697.

Annotation: Federal or state law as governing federal court's authority, in diversity action after Erie R. Co. v Tompkins, to take judicial notice of law of sister state or foreign country, 7 ALR Fed 921.

Forms: Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 3.

Motion—For judicial notice of statute of sister state—Another form. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 4.

Footnote 43. Gaffney v State (Tex App Texarkana) 812 SW2d 439, petition for discretionary review ref (Sep 25, 1991); Schlusser v American Family Mut. Ins. Co. (App) 157 Wis 2d 516, 460 NW2d 756 (court taking notice of Minnesota statute).

Footnote 44. Gaffney v State (Tex App Texarkana) 812 SW2d 439, petition for discretionary review ref (Sep 25, 1991).

Footnote 45. § 39.

Footnote 46. Miller v A.N. Webber, Inc. (Minn App) 484 NW2d 420.

Footnote 47. Snead v Cordes (Mo App) 811 SW2d 391.

Footnote 48. Texas Employers' Ins. Assn. v Borum (Tex App San Antonio) 834 SW2d 395, writ den (Dec 2, 1992).

§ 111 Other municipalities

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

While municipal courts will take judicial notice of their own local ordinances, 49 they will not as a rule take judicial notice of the ordinances of another municipality. 50

§ 111 ----Other municipalities [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 49. § 126.

Footnote 50. Sisk v Shenandoah, 200 Va 277, 105 SE2d 169.

§ 112 Other nations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Determination of foreign law in federal courts is regulated in civil cases by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 51 and in criminal cases by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. 52 Each provision requires a party to give notice of the intent to raise an issue involving the law of a foreign country, and permits the judge, in determining foreign law, to consider any relevant material or source, whether offered by a party or not. 53 The practical effect is that a federal judge may judicially notice relevant foreign law when satisfied that it is appropriate to do so. 54

Some states have enacted similar legislation. 55 However, some states, 56 and at least one federal court, 57 persist in regarding foreign law as a factual issue, to be pleaded and proved to the jury.

§ 112 ----Other nations [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 51. FR Civ P, Rule 44.1.

Footnote 52. FR Crim P, Rule 26.1.

Footnote 53. FR Civ P 44.1; FR Crim P, Rule 26.1.

Footnote 54. Re Fotochrome, Inc. (ED NY) 377 F Supp 26, affd (CA2 NY) 517 F2d 512 (taking judicial notice of provisions of the Japanese Code of Civil Procedure requiring deposits of arbitration awards in Japanese courts); Henry v Richardson-Merrell, Inc. (DC NJ) 366 F Supp 1192, revd on other grounds (CA3 NJ) 508 F2d 28 (judicially noticing the statute of limitations in personal injury claims in the Civil Code of Quebec).

Annotation: Raising and determining issue of foreign law under Rule 44.1 of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 62 ALR Fed 521.

Footnote 55. Volkswagenwerk Aktiengesellschaft v Superior Court of Alameda County (1st Dist) 123 Cal App 3d 840, 176 Cal Rptr 874 (appellate court took judicial notice of West German law and of existing agreements between West Germany and the United States); Vergnani v Guidetti, 308 Mass 450, 32 NE2d 272; Re Duysburgh (Sur) 154 Misc 2d 82, 584 NYS2d 516 (court is not mandated to take judicial notice of foreign law and may require testimony at a hearing pursuant to state law); Panama Processes, S.A. v Cities Service Co. (Okla) 796 P2d 276.

Footnote 56. Doan Thi Hoang Anh v Nelson (Iowa) 245 NW2d 511, citing Rule 94, 58 (ICA Rules of Civil Procedure exclude a foreign statute from judicial notice in the absence of pleading and proof).

Footnote 57. Weiss v Glemp (SD NY) 792 F Supp 215.

§ 113 --Law of mother country

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The general rule that courts will not take judicial notice of the law of a foreign country 58 does not apply to the laws of a country from which the state of the forum was formed. In such a situation the laws of the mother country that were in existence at the time of the separation will be judicially noticed. 59 For example, in California the Mexican civil law and the acts of the Mexican Government are judicially noticed by the courts. 60

§ 113 --Law of mother country [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 58. § 112.

Footnote 59. South Shore Land Co. v Petersen (1st Dist) 226 Cal App 2d 725, 38 Cal Rptr 392; Cartwright v Public Service Co., 66 NM 64, 343 P2d 654.

Footnote 60. Los Angeles v San Fernando, 14 Cal 3d 199, 123 Cal Rptr 1, 537 P2d 1250 (Spanish and Mexican law governing property rights in California before the annexation remained in effect after the change of sovereignty unless duly repealed or altered, and the Supreme Court is required to take judicial notice of such laws as a part of the law of the state; historical facts concerning the Spanish and Mexican settlement of California are also proper subjects of its judicial notice).

§ 114 International law; maritime laws

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

State and federal courts must judicially notice all treaties of the United States. 61 Even in the absence of a treaty, the determination of international law has always been seen as a question of law for the court, and one that may properly be judicially noticed. 62 Similarly, maritime laws are universally recognized insofar as they are part of the law of nations. 63

§ 114 ----International law; maritime laws [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 61. § 117.

Footnote 62. Ponce v Roman Catholic Apostolic Church, 210 US 296, 52 L Ed 1068, 28 S Ct 737; The Paquete Habana, 175 US 677, 44 L Ed 320, 20 S Ct 290; United States v Chaves, 159 US 452, 40 L Ed 215, 16 S Ct 57.

Footnote 63. The New York, 175 US 187, 44 L Ed 126, 20 S Ct 67.

§ 115 Procedure for taking judicial notice of foreign law

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Even in jurisdictions that permit judicial notice of the law of other states or nations, a judge is not obliged to notice such matters unless a party provides the court with the necessary materials and information. In the absence of such proof, the court may simply apply the law of the forum. 64 In some jurisdictions, absent proof to the contrary, the laws of another state are presumed to be the same as the laws of jurisdiction hearing the matter, 65 but once a party proves what the law of a sister state was, it is proper for the trial judge to judicially notice the law of that state. 66

§ 115 ----Procedure for taking judicial notice of foreign law [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Strategies for Effective Management of Crossborder Recognition and Enforcement of American Money Judgments. 56 Am Jur Trials 529.

Footnotes

Footnote 64. Clarkson v Shaheen (CA2 NY) 660 F2d 506, cert den 455 US 990, 71 L Ed 2d 850, 102 S Ct 1614 and appeal after remand (CA2 NY) 716 F2d 126 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Purves v ICM Artists, Ltd. (SD NY) 119 BR 407) (upholding application of forum law where neither party gave notice of intent to assert foreign law pursuant to FR Civ Proc 44.1); Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v Ciarrochi (Fla App D3) 573 So 2d 990, 16 FLW D 315; Doan Thi Hoang Anh v Nelson (Iowa) 245 NW2d 511; Barnhill v Barnhill (La App 3d Cir) 488 So 2d 299; Benham v Keller (Okla) 673 P2d 152.

Footnote 65. Crane v State (Tex Crim) 786 SW2d 338, reh den (Mar 28, 1990).

Footnote 66. Osborn v Kinnington (Tex App El Paso) 787 SW2d 417, writ den (Sep 12, 1990) and reh of writ of error overr (Oct 17, 1990).

Annotation: Comment Note.—Pleading and proof of law of foreign country, 75 ALR3d 177.

Comment Note.—Presumption as to law of foreign countries, 75 ALR2d 529.

(3). Federal Law and Treaties [116-119]

§ 116 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

All courts, federal and state alike, take judicial notice of the provisions of the United States Constitution, 67 and the ratification of amendments 68 thereto. Moreover, all courts, federal and state alike, take judicial notice of the public and general acts of Congress. 69 While as a general rule, judicial notice may be taken of a public acts and orders of a federal governmental department, agency, or commission, private orders may not be judicially noticed. 70

Footnotes

Footnote 67. § 105.

Footnote 68. Dillon v Gloss, 256 US 368, 65 L Ed 994, 41 S Ct 510.

Footnote 69. St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v Starbird, 243 US 592, 61 L Ed 917, 37 S Ct 462; Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v Wulf, 226 US 570, 57 L Ed 355, 33 S Ct 135; Atlantic Richfield Co. v Canaan Oil Co., 202 Conn 234, 520 A2d 1008; Florida Accountants Asso. v Dandelake (Fla) 98 So 2d 323, 70 ALR2d 425, appeal after remand (Fla) 108 So 2d 46; Cook v Donner, 145 Kan 674, 66 P2d 587, 110 ALR 244; Twiehaus v Rosner, 362 Mo 949, 245 SW2d 107, 28 ALR2d 1192; Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363.

Footnote 70. Centex Corp. v Dalton (Tex App San Antonio) 810 SW2d 812, writ granted (Tex) 34 Tex Sup Ct Jour 824 and revd on other grounds (Tex) 840 SW2d 952, reh'g of cause overr (Dec 16, 1992) (the rule provides for judicial notice of federal resolutions or orders of boards, departments and commissions promulgated under federal statutes, but is limited to judicial notice of the constitutions, public statutes, rules, regulations, ordinances, court decisions, and common law of every other state or territory, or jurisdiction of the United States).

§ 117 Treaties

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Both state and federal courts take judicial notice of treaties between the United States and other countries ⁷¹ and such treaties may predominate over any state statutory provision or private guidelines. ⁷² For example, a court may take judicial notice of the Warsaw Convention and inform itself of the Convention's provisions in such a manner as is deemed proper when a party has raised the Convention as a defense in its answer, thereby giving reasonable written notice of its intent to rely on United States law. ⁷³ The courts, when considering a treaty, must take judicial notice of all facts connected therewith which may be necessary for its interpretation or enforcement, ⁷⁴ such as the historical data leading up to the making of the treaty. ⁷⁵

Footnotes

Footnote 71. Pronovost v United States, 232 US 487, 58 L Ed 696, 34 S Ct 391; United States v Chaves, 159 US 452, 40 L Ed 215, 16 S Ct 57; Volkswagenwerk Aktiengesellschaft v Superior Court of Alameda County (1st Dist) 123 Cal App 3d 840, 176 Cal Rptr 874 (appellate court took judicial notice of West German law and of existing agreements between West Germany and the United States); Schofield v Hertz Corp., 201 Ga App 830, 412 SE2d 853, 102-221 Fulton County D R 13B, reconsideration den (Ga App) 102-235 Fulton County D R 19 and cert den (Ga) 1992 Ga LEXIS 39; Camp v Sellers & Co., 158 Ga App 646, 281 SE2d 621 (multinational agreement took precedence over Georgia statutes as to adequacy of service of judicial process); People v Jackson (3d Dept) 89 App Div 2d 697, 453 NYS2d 875 (judicial notice taken of the treaty on extradition between the United States and Canada as a public law of the United States); Advance Footwear Co. v Air Jamaica, Ltd., 124 Misc 2d 6, 476 NYS2d 438

(New York courts are required to notice the Warsaw Convention relating to international air transport).

Annotation: Raising and determining issue of foreign law under Rule 44.1 of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 62 ALR Fed 521.

Footnote 72. 74 Am Jur 2d, Treaties § 19.

Footnote 73. Hibbard v Transworld Airlines, Inc. (Butler Co) 70 Ohio App 3d 829, 592 NE2d 889, motion overr 60 Ohio St 3d 704, 573 NE2d 121.

Footnote 74. United States v Lynde, 78 US 632, 11 Wall 632, 20 L Ed 230; United States v Reynes, 50 US 127, 9 How 127, 13 L Ed 74.

Footnote 75. United States v Reynes, 50 US 127, 9 How 127, 13 L Ed 74.

§ 118 Law of territories

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The federal courts will take judicial notice of the laws of the territories of the United States. 76 The federal courts will also take judicial notice of the laws in force in a territory prior to the time it became a part of the United States. 77

◆ Observation: Such laws are not considered foreign laws, but the laws of an antecedent government. 78

Footnotes

Footnote 76. Garzot v De Rubio, 209 US 283, 52 L Ed 794, 28 S Ct 548.

Footnote 77. United States v Fullard-Leo, 331 US 256, 91 L Ed 1474, 67 S Ct 1287; Ponce v Roman Catholic Apostolic Church, 210 US 296, 52 L Ed 1068, 28 S Ct 737; Crespín v United States, 168 US 208, 42 L Ed 438, 18 S Ct 53.

Footnote 78. United States v Perot, 98 US 428, 8 Otto 428, 25 L Ed 251.

§ 119 Regulations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Register Act requires that courts take judicial notice of the contents of the Federal Register. 79 This codifies a long-established principle that federal courts take notice of rules and regulations promulgated by the chief executive departments and bureaus of the federal government. 80 State courts, likewise, are required to take judicial notice of regulations of properly promulgated and published federal regulations. 81 In addition, a court may decline to take notice of agency regulations, if to do so might do an injustice to one of the parties. 82

Footnotes

Footnote 79. 44 USCS § 1507.

Footnote 80. Thornton v United States, 271 US 414, 70 L Ed 1013, 46 S Ct 585; Paul v Petroleum Equipment Tools Co. (CA5 La) 708 F2d 168, 26 BNA WH Cas 390, 98 CCH LC ¶ 34399, 77 ALR Fed 667, reh den (CA5 La) 714 F2d 137; Florida Power & Light Co. v Costle (CA5) 650 F2d 579, 16 Env't Rep Cas 1640, 11 ELR 20836, later proceeding (CA5) 683 F2d 941, 17 Env't Rep Cas 2055, 12 ELR 21071, 68 ALR Fed 965; United States ex rel. Tennessee Valley Authority v Easement & Right-of-Way, etc. (WD Ky) 246 F Supp 263, aff'd (CA6 Ky) 375 F2d 120; Crimm v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA8 Mo) 750 F2d 703, 36 BNA FEP Cas 883, 35 CCH EPD ¶ 34824, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 495, 40 FR Serv 2d 1059; Missouri P. R. Co. v United Transp. Union, General Committee of Adjustment (ED Mo) 580 F Supp 1490, aff'd (CA8 Mo) 782 F2d 107, 121 BNA LRRM 2445, 104 CCH LC ¶ 11762, cert den 482 US 927, 96 L Ed 2d 696, 107 S Ct 3209, 125 BNA LRRM 2616; Willcox v Federal Power Com., 185 US App DC 287, 567 F2d 394, 7 ELR 20555, cert den 434 US 1012, 54 L Ed 2d 755, 98 S Ct 724 and (criticized on other grounds by Consolidated Edison Co. v Federal Energy Regulatory Com., 219 US App DC 165, 676 F2d 763).

Footnote 81. Lilly v Grand T. W. R. Co., 317 US 481, 87 L Ed 411, 63 S Ct 347; Northern Heel Corp. v Compo Industries, Inc. (CA1 NH) 851 F2d 456, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 480 (OSHA regulations subject to judicial notice); Philip Chang & Sons Associates v La Casa Novato (5th Dist) 177 Cal App 3d 159, 222 Cal Rptr 800 (Court of Appeals required to take judicial notice of relevant provisions of the Code of Federal Regulations); Re Marriage of Brown, 247 Kan 152, 795 P2d 375, appeal after remand (Kan) 832 P2d 1205; Dahlbeck v DICO Co. (Minn App) 355 NW2d 157, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10185 (disapproved on other grounds by Kallio v Ford Motor Co. (Minn) 407 NW2d 92, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11374); Insurance Co. of Pennsylvania v West Plains Air, Inc. (Mo App) 637 SW2d 444 (Federal Aviation Administration regulations).

Footnote 82. United States v Judge (CA5 Tex) 846 F2d 274, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 911, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 864 F2d 1144, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 868 F2d 1271 and cert den 495 US 918, 109 L Ed 2d 309, 110 S Ct 1946.

(4). State Law [120-125]

§ 120 Generally

Courts may take judicial notice of their state's statutes 83 and constitutional provisions. 84 For example, a court must take judicial notice of its state's administrative procedure act and any rule promulgated pursuant to it. 85 A trial court has a duty to take judicial notice of a state statute listing cocaine as a controlled substance. The state is not required to introduce evidence of the existence of the statute or to request the trial court to take judicial notice of it, although the state should inform the jury of judicial notice taken by the court of cocaine as a controlled substance. 86 In addition, a court may take judicial notice of the life expectancy of a person based on tables set out in the state code, 87 and may take judicial notice of a county's status as a home rule unit of local government. 88 Generally speaking, however, a strictly private act is not judicially noticed, in the absence of a statutory requirement. 89

The failure of counsel to call the attention of the court to pertinent statutes will not prevent the court from taking judicial notice thereof. 90 Furthermore, a reviewing court may take judicial notice of statutes and constitutional provisions even though they were not raised before a lower tribunal and any argument based upon the statutes and constitutional provisions was consequently waived. 91 A court may also take judicial notice of the laws of other states on its own motion, although it ordinarily does not do so. 92

Footnotes

Footnote 83. Spokane Falls & N. R. Co. v Ziegler, 167 US 65, 42 L Ed 79, 17 S Ct 728; Gardner v Collector, 73 US 499, 6 Wall 499, 18 L Ed 890; Perry v New Orleans, M. & C. R. Co., 55 Ala 413; Glendale v Coquat, 46 Ariz 478, 52 P2d 1178, 102 ALR 837; Florida Accountants Asso. v Dandelake (Fla) 98 So 2d 323, 70 ALR2d 425, appeal after remand (Fla) 108 So 2d 46; American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, Council 31 v County of Cook, 145 Ill 2d 475, 164 Ill Dec 904, 584 NE2d 116; Cook v Donner, 145 Kan 674, 66 P2d 587, 110 ALR 244; Nase v Christensen (SD) 409 NW2d 131; State ex rel. O'Connell v Yelle, 51 Wash 2d 594, 320 P2d 1079.

Footnote 84. American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, Council 31 v County of Cook, 145 Ill 2d 475, 164 Ill Dec 904, 584 NE2d 116.

Footnote 85. Lone Star Helicopters, Inc. v State (Okla) 800 P2d 235.

Footnote 86. State v Rios (Mo App) 840 SW2d 284.

A trial court is not only permitted, but in fact, is required to take judicial notice of domestic law, including state administrative regulations, in determining whether a particular substance is a narcotic drug. State v Metivier, 157 Vt 644, 596 A2d 352.

Footnote 87. Medi-Stat, Inc. v Kusturin, 303 Ark 45, 792 SW2d 869, reh den (Ark) 798 SW2d 438 and supp op, reh den (Ark) 1990 Ark LEXIS 629.

Footnote 88. American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, Council 31

v County of Cook, 145 Ill 2d 475, 164 Ill Dec 904, 584 NE2d 116.

Footnote 89. § 121.

Footnote 90. New York Indians v United States, 170 US 1, 42 L Ed 927, 18 S Ct 531, and 170 US 614, 42 L Ed 1165, 18 S Ct 735; Jenkins v Collard, 145 US 546, 36 L Ed 812, 12 S Ct 868.

Footnote 91. American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, Council 31 v County of Cook, 145 Ill 2d 475, 164 Ill Dec 904, 584 NE2d 116.

Footnote 92. § 110.

§ 121 Special or private acts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

While courts take judicial notice of the public laws of their own state, 93 they do not, as a general rule, and in the absence of a statute to the contrary, take judicial notice of special or private acts of the legislature; they are matters of fact, and parties to an action who rely upon them, or rights derived from them, must plead or prove them in the same manner as other factual issues. 94 Some jurisdictions will, however, take judicial notice of private state acts which deal with city or county matters. 95 Thus, for purposes of judicial notice, it may be useful to keep in mind the distinction between public and private or special acts of the legislature, 96 although in some states the distinction between public and private acts of the legislature is unimportant in view of constitutional prohibitions against special legislation. 97

Footnotes

Footnote 93. § 120.

Footnote 94. Unity v Burrage, 103 US 447, 13 Otto 447, 26 L Ed 405; Re Estate of Cramer, 183 Kan 816, 332 P2d 560, cert den 360 US 912, 3 L Ed 2d 1261, 79 S Ct 1296.

Footnote 95. Memphis v International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union (Tenn) 545 SW2d 98.

Footnote 96. For a discussion of the distinction between public and private statutes, see 73 Am Jur 2d, Statutes §§ 4-10.

Footnote 97. 73 Am Jur 2d, Statutes §§ 38-40.

§ 122 Regulations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Regulations issued by state agencies are judicially noticed by state courts 98 and federal courts 99 alike. A trial court may take judicial notice of a rule or regulation without proof of the contents of the state code of regulations. When a court judicially notices a regulation, it admits the relevant regulation and effect on the date in question and the effect of regulation need not be in evidence. 1 Furthermore, a judge may take judicial notice of the state's rules and regulations that require licensed child care centers to keep records concerning the care and control of children at the center and such judicial notice may give a magistrate probable cause to believe that such records would be located at a defendant's residence which is also a licensed child care center, and consequently give the magistrate authority to issue a search warrant seeking such records from the premises. 2

Some courts, however, refuse to take judicial notice of administrative rules or regulations because establishing the existence and contents of a particular administrative rule or regulation at any time is often a difficult and uncertain process. Consequently, these courts hold that it is the burden of a party relying on an administrative rule or regulation to prove both its existence and its language. 3

§ 122 ----Regulations [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution for serving malt or brewed beverages to minors, trial court properly took judicial notice that specific brand of beers which minors testified they had been given were listed in official state bulletin as being registered with liquor control board as containing greater than 0.5 percent alcohol by volume. Commonwealth v Harvey (1995, Pa Super) 666 A2d 1108, app den (Pa) 1996 Pa LEXIS 1101.

Footnotes

Footnote 98. Clopton v State (Ala App) 601 So 2d 1087, affd, in part, revd, in part on other grounds (Ala) 601 So 2d 1091, on remand (Ala App) 601 So 2d 1094; McKinley v Arkansas Dept. of Human Services, Div. of Family Services, 311 Ark 382, 844 SW2d 366; Nuuanu Neighborhood Asso. v Department of Land Utilization, 63 Hawaii 444, 630 P2d 107 (official state tax map); State v Howell (App) 122 Idaho 209, 832 P2d 1144; Felt v Board of Trustees, 107 Ill 2d 158, 89 Ill Dec 855, 481 NE2d 698 (reports of examinations of state agencies into funding of Illinois public retirement system); Dietz v Property Tax Appeal Bd. (4th Dist) 191 Ill App 3d 468, 138 Ill Dec 746, 547 NE2d 1367, app den 131 Ill 2d 558, 142 Ill Dec 880, 553 NE2d 394 (judicially noticing State Department of Revenue's Real Property Appraisal Manual even though neither party relied on it in proceedings below); Kraetsch v Stull, 238 Iowa 944, 29 NW2d 341;

County Fire Ins. Co. v Harper, 207 Okla 359, 249 P2d 705; Mullinax, Wells, Baab & Cloutman, P.C. v Sage (Tex App Dallas) 692 SW2d 533, writ ref n r e (Sep 11, 1985) (contents of State Register generally); McGraw v Hansbarger, 171 W Va 758, 301 SE2d 848 (regulations promulgated by Board of Health governing licensing of community mental health centers); Associated Hospital Service v Milwaukee, 13 Wis 2d 447, 109 NW2d 271, 88 ALR2d 1395 (judicial notice taken of a special report of a state insurance department, an article in a legal journal referred to in such a report, and a transcript of testimony given before the state legislature's insurance and banking committee); Pine Bluffs v State Bd. of Control (Wyo) 647 P2d 1365.

Footnote 99. Roemer v Board of Public Works, 426 US 736, 49 L Ed 2d 179, 96 S Ct 2337 (in a suit challenging the constitutionality of a Maryland statute judicial notice would be taken of state regulations pertaining to the administration of the relevant statute); Association against Discrimination in Employment, Inc. v City of Bridgeport (CA2 Conn) 647 F2d 256, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1013, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31714, cert den 455 US 988, 71 L Ed 2d 847, 102 S Ct 1611, 28 BNA FEP Cas 120, 28 CCH EPD ¶ 32465 (judicial notice of city budget would be appropriate under Rule 201(b)(2) as a fact capable of ready determination and not reasonably questionable); KVUE, Inc. v Moore (CA5 Tex) 709 F2d 922, 9 Media L R 2334, affd 465 US 1092, 80 L Ed 2d 114, 104 S Ct 1580 (judicial notice of state attorney general's formal opinion clarifying a statute); National Agricultural Chemicals Asso. v Rominger (ED Cal) 500 F Supp 465, 15 Env't Rep Cas 1039, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 836 (judicial notice taken of California regulations, relying on FR Civ P 201).

Footnote 1. Birdnow v Director of Revenue (Mo App) 767 SW2d 384.

Footnote 2. Holden v State, 202 Ga App 558, 414 SE2d 910, 103-23 Fulton County D R 15B.

Footnote 3. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363.

§ 123 Matters judicially noticeable in determining validity of statute

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is well established that judicial notice may constitute the fact predicate for a judicial decision or action as to the validity of legislation, 4 and a court may take judicial notice of legislative facts in reviewing the constitutionality of legislative schemes. 5 The courts are not in accord, however, as to the extent to which they may resort to judicial notice, including notice of the legislative history and record of a given statute, in determining whether the statute was legally enacted. Such differences of opinion are due in part to varying state constitutional provisions. If the constitution provides for the keeping of legislative journals, such journals constitute official records; and the acts recorded and published by authority may be presumed, as a matter of course, to be correct. 6 Other decisions hold that the court cannot go behind the enrollment which is authenticated by the proper officers of state. 7 A third approach is that the court will, if it becomes necessary, take cognizance of legislative journals for the purpose of resolving a question as to whether a statute has been enacted in the mode prescribed by the constitution. 8 According to this view the due authentication and enrollment of the statute affords only prima facie evidence of its passage, and the showing thus made may be overcome by examination of the legislative journals. 9

Footnotes

Footnote 4. O'Gorman & Young, Inc. v Hartford Fire Ins. Co., 282 US 251, 75 L Ed 324, 51 S Ct 130, 72 ALR 1163.

Footnote 5. State v Patzer (ND) 382 NW2d 631, cert den 479 US 825, 93 L Ed 2d 50, 107 S Ct 99; Re Marriage of Campbell, 37 Wash App 840, 683 P2d 604.

Footnote 6. Staplin v Canal Authority (Fla App D1) 208 So 2d 853.

Footnote 7. Harwood v Wentworth, 162 US 547, 40 L Ed 1069, 16 S Ct 890.

Footnote 8. § 125.

Footnote 9. Blake v National Banks, 90 US 307, 23 Wall 307, 23 L Ed 119, 2 AFTR 2339; Wiseman v Madison Cadillac Co., 191 Ark 1021, 88 SW2d 1007, 103 ALR 1208.

§ 124 Matters judicially noticeable in interpreting statute

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts may look to, and take judicial notice of, legislative history and other historical materials to resolve ambiguities in and to discern the legislature's intent in enacting the statute, 10 although a court may require that the history of a statute be a matter of public record in the office of the legislative reference service for the court to take judicial notice of it. 11 Judicial notice may also be taken of reports made to legislative bodies. 12 A court will not, however, take judicial notice of an analysis provided by a sponsoring entity or a letter to the Governor from the sponsoring entity when interpreting a statute. 13 A court may also rely on background history and historical evidence (private books, notes, correspondence, periodical articles, etc.) in interpreting a statute. When there is no dispute as to their authenticity and judicial notice is limited to law, legislative facts, or factual matters that are incontrovertible, such notice is clearly appropriate. 14 Expressions of fact or opinions in such sources that are disputed, however, should not be judicially noticed, at least until an opposing party is given an opportunity to present evidence challenging the accuracy of the information or the propriety of judicially noticing it. 15

Official inaction is occasionally relevant in determining legislative intent. Courts have occasionally taken notice that a bill that was intended to effectuate a particular change of public policy failed to pass in the legislature. 16

Judicial notice has been taken of a legislative appropriation, and of the fact that a certain amount of money remained unspent from the fund appropriated. 17

A court may take judicial notice of statements made on the floor of the legislature, which are strong indications of legislative intent, even though these statements are not controlling in statutory interpretation. 18

Local legislative proceedings, however, have never been subject to the same rule. With the adoption of the evidence code, judicial notice of local enactments has become available. Nothing in the evidence code, however, allows judicial notice to be taken of local legislative history. 19

◆ Comment: There are strong reasons why local legislative history should not be judicially noticed. Unlike state legislative history, the history of local legislation is not maintained in any particular way or in any particular place, and the manner of its retention—or nonretention—may well have as many variables as there are local governments. 20

A court may take judicial notice of an explanatory note, submitted by a public agency, accompanying a house bill later enacted into law in the absence of a more substantial record of the legislative history. 21 A court may also take judicial notice of a governor's proclamation convening in extraordinary session of the state legislature and may take judicial notice that the primary purpose of a governor's call for the special session was to enable the legislature to consider legislation authorizing incentives to encourage an airline to construct and operate a new maintenance facility in the state. 22

Footnotes

Footnote 10. § 125.

Footnote 11. Re Interrogatory Propounded by Romer etc. (Colo) 814 P2d 875.

Footnote 12. Carolene Products Co. v United States, 323 US 18, 89 L Ed 15, 65 S Ct 1, 155 ALR 1371 (taking judicial notice of reports of congressional committees showing the reason for the passage of federal legislation); Re State ex rel. O. (App) 110 Wis 2d 447, 329 NW2d 275 (materials such as analysis of proposed legislation by a legislative reference bureau are properly subject to judicial notice).

Footnote 13. In re Marriage of Siller (3rd Dist) 187 Cal App 3d 36, 231 Cal Rptr 757.

Footnote 14. Oneida Indian Nation v New York (CA2 NY) 691 F2d 1070, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002, 65 ALR Fed 606.

Footnote 15. §§ 31, 38.

Footnote 16. Duran v Lamm (Colo App) 701 P2d 609 (trial court's taking judicial notice that the Colorado General Assembly had failed to pass an appropriation bill to pay a judgment against the state for attorney's fees upheld); American Federation of State, etc., Council No. 95 v Olson (ND) 338 NW2d 97, 114 BNA LRRM 3275 (taking judicial notice that on several occasions the legislature had refused to enact into law bills that were introduced to provide for collective bargaining by public employees).

Footnote 17. People ex rel. Conn v Randolph, 35 Ill 2d 24, 219 NE2d 337, 18 ALR3d 1065.

Footnote 18. Winchester Woods Assoc. v Planning & Zoning Com., 219 Conn 303, 592 A2d 953.

Footnote 19. Byrnes v Hillsboro, 104 Or App 95, 798 P2d 1119.

Footnote 20. Byrnes v Hillsboro, 104 Or App 95, 798 P2d 1119.

Footnote 21. Knack v Department of Retirement Systems, 54 Wash App 654, 776 P2d 687, review den 113 Wash 2d 1021, 781 P2d 1322.

Footnote 22. Re Interrogatory Propounded by Romer etc. (Colo) 814 P2d 875.

§ 125 --Legislative records and journals

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts may take judicial notice of legislative proceedings as recorded therein to the same extent that they take judicial notice of statutes of the legislative body. 23 In addition, a court may take judicial notice of the contents of legislative journals, 24 and the official minutes of meetings of a legislative body. 25 A court may properly take judicial notice of the journals of the legislature to determine whether a statute was regularly enacted according to the forms prescribed by the state constitution. 26 Courts may also look to, and take judicial notice of, legislative history and other historical materials to resolve ambiguities in and to discern the legislature's intent in enacting the statute, 27

In some cases it has been held that although the courts may take judicial notice of legislative journals, they will not do so to the extent of searching them at the suggestion or request of counsel in order to ascertain whether a statute was in fact enacted. 28

Footnotes

Footnote 23. Bird v Plunkett, 139 Conn 491, 95 A2d 71, 36 ALR2d 951; Socony Vacuum Oil Co. v State (Iowa) 170 NW2d 378; State v Heston, 137 W Va 375, 71 SE2d 481.

Footnote 24. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363.

Footnote 25. Thorning v Hollister School Dist. (6th Dist) 11 Cal App 4th 1598, 15 Cal

Rptr 2d 91, 93 CDOS 29, 93 Daily Journal DAR 41, review den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 1557.

Footnote 26. Blake v National Banks, 90 US 307, 23 Wall 307, 23 L Ed 119, 2 AFTR 2339; Giragi v Moore, 48 Ariz 33, 58 P2d 1249, 110 ALR 314, adhered to 49 Ariz 74, 64 P2d 819, 110 ALR 320, app dismd 301 US 670, 81 L Ed 1334, 57 S Ct 946; Wiseman v Madison Cadillac Co., 191 Ark 1021, 88 SW2d 1007, 103 ALR 1208.

Footnote 27. County of Milwaukee v State, Labor & Industry Review Com. (App) 113 Wis 2d 199, 335 NW2d 412 (legislative journals are proper subject of judicial notice and the governor's message published therein may be used by a court searching the legislative history to establish legislative intent).

Footnote 28. Graves v Alsap, 1 Ariz 274, 25 P 836, wherein it was held that the legislative journals could not be resorted to in order to ascertain whether a law was enacted and was still in force, where no enrolled bill was found in the proper archives, since the absence of an enrolled bill therefrom was conclusive evidence that such an act never existed.

(5). Municipal and County Ordinances; Charters and Acts Affecting Municipalities [126, 127]

§ 126 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In the absence of statutory requirement, state courts of general jurisdiction, whether civil or criminal, will not take judicial notice of the bylaws and ordinances of municipal corporations; such bylaws and ordinances must be pleaded and proved. 29

◆ Observation: Ordinances are distinguished from state statutes for purposes of the taking of judicial notice because while state statutes are compiled, published, and distributed by recognized professional entities who must vouch for the integrity of their product and thus are likely accurate, readily ascertainable and available, such is often not the case with ordinances. 30 Municipal courts, however, generally take judicial notice of the ordinances or other local laws of the municipality within which their jurisdictions lie. 31 In contrast, municipal courts will generally not take judicial notice of the ordinances or local laws of other municipalities. 32

Not all courts follow the general rule; in some states, a trial court may properly take judicial notice of a county ordinance. 33 Furthermore, a state statute may require a court to take judicial notice of municipal ordinances. 34 Even where this is the case, however, a court is not required to take judicial notice of ordinances that are not before it and to which it does not have access; the party seeking the court to take judicial notice is obligated to supply the court with the full text of the rules the party desires to have notice. 35 For example, a court may decline to take judicial notice of municipal ordinances where a party provides copies not authenticated by affidavit or certification of an official custodian and fails to provide any independent source from which to verify the ordinances. 36 Counsel should take the initiative in requesting that a trial court take judicial notice of an ordinance even in a state where a statute requires a court to take judicial notice of local ordinances. 37

◆ Comment: The intent of a statute requiring a court to take judicial notice of a local ordinance is to remove any discretion a court might have in determining whether it will take notice of an ordinance. Such a statute does not direct the court to act on its own in obtaining evidence for the record and a party must make the ordinance available to the trial court for it to take notice. 38

A state appellate court generally will not take judicial notice of a city ordinance that does not appear in the record, 39 although it may take judicial notice of city ordinances, even though the trial court did not take notice of the ordinances, when both parties are afforded a reasonable opportunity by brief to present information relevant to the propriety of taking notice and the tenor of the matter to be noticed. 40

Footnotes

Footnote 29. Yates v Milwaukee, 77 US 497, 10 Wall 497, 19 L Ed 984; Bolstad v Pergeson, 305 Ark 163, 806 SW2d 377; Atlanta v Lambright, 205 Ga App 558, 423 SE2d 265; Greenberg v Rothberg, 72 Ga App 882, 35 SE2d 485; Marcher v Butler, 113 Idaho 867, 749 P2d 486 (ovrld on other grounds by Harrison v Taylor, 115 Idaho 588, 768 P2d 1321); State ex rel. Rose v Hoffman, 227 Ind 256, 85 NE2d 486; Hammond v Doody (Ind App) 553 NE2d 196; Maish v Schererville (Ind App) 486 NE2d 1; Walker v D'Alesandro, 212 Md 163, 129 A2d 148, 64 ALR2d 231; Commonwealth v Kimball, 299 Mass 353, 13 NE2d 18, 2 BNA LRRM 847, 114 ALR 1440; Rice v James (Mo App) 844 SW2d 64; Kansas City v Baker (Mo App) 793 SW2d 646; Forste v Benton (Mo App) 792 SW2d 910 (the court stated that, while it could take judicial notice of the city charter, it could not take judicial notice of the existence or contents of city ordinances); Jones v Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (Mo App) 792 SW2d 404; Browning-Ferris Industries of Kansas City, Inc. v Dance (Mo App) 671 SW2d 801; State v Cottingham, 226 Neb 270, 410 NW2d 498; State v Duranleau, 99 NH 30, 104 A2d 519, 45 ALR2d 1166; Keyes v Amundson (ND) 391 NW2d 602; Morrow v Cleveland (Cuyahoga Co) 73 Ohio App 460, 29 Ohio Ops 136, 40 Ohio L Abs 622, 56 NE2d 333; Nase v Christensen (SD) 409 NW2d 131; State ex rel. Schmittou v Nashville, 208 Tenn 290, 345 SW2d 874; Adams v Dean Roofing Co. (Tenn App) 715 SW2d 341; Sisk v Shenandoah, 200 Va 277, 105 SE2d 169; Nesbitt v Flaccus, 149 W Va 65, 138 SE2d 859; Brannon v Perkey, 127 W Va 103, 31 SE2d 898, 158 ALR 631.

Footnote 30. Keyes v Amundson (ND) 391 NW2d 602.

Footnote 31. State v Duranleau, 99 NH 30, 104 A2d 519, 45 ALR2d 1166; Orose v Hodge Drive-It-Yourself Co., 132 Ohio St 607, 9 Ohio Ops 10, 9 NE2d 671, 111 ALR 954; Johnson v Tulsa, 97 Okla Crim 85, 258 P2d 695; Nase v Christensen (SD) 409 NW2d 131.

Footnote 32. § 111.

Footnote 33. State v Holmes (Fla App D2) 256 So 2d 32, cert dismd (Fla) 273 So 2d 753 and (criticized on other grounds by State v Kehoe (Fla App D4) 498 So 2d 560, 11 FLW 2488); Bouldin v Commonwealth, 4 Va App 166, 355 SE2d 352.

Footnote 34. Faustrum v Board of Fire & Police Comm'rs (2d Dist) 240 Ill App 3d 947, 181 Ill Dec 567, 608 NE2d 640, app den 151 Ill 2d 563, 186 Ill Dec 380, 616 NE2d 333; Chanler v Manocherian (1st Dept) 151 App Div 2d 432, 543 NYS2d 671; Mandan v Mertz (ND) 399 NW2d 298; Dream Mile Club, Inc. v Tobyhanna Township Bd. of Supervisors, 150 Pa Cmwlt 309, 615 A2d 931.

Footnote 35. Faustrum v Board of Fire & Police Comm'rs (2d Dist) 240 Ill App 3d 947, 181 Ill Dec 567, 608 NE2d 640, app den 151 Ill 2d 563, 186 Ill Dec 380, 616 NE2d 333.

Footnote 36. Hollingsworth v King (Tex App Amarillo) 810 SW2d 772, reh overr (Tex App Amarillo) 1991 Tex App LEXIS 1591 and writ den (Tex) 816 SW2d 340 and reh of writ of error overr (Oct 30, 1991).

Footnote 37. Dream Mile Club, Inc. v Tobyhanna Township Bd. of Supervisors, 150 Pa Cmwlt 309, 615 A2d 931.

Footnote 38. Dream Mile Club, Inc. v Tobyhanna Township Bd. of Supervisors, 150 Pa Cmwlt 309, 615 A2d 931.

Footnote 39. 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 741.

Footnote 40. Goodwin v Kansas City, 244 Kan 28, 766 P2d 177.

§ 127 Municipal charters and acts affecting municipalities

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some states have enacted statutes obliging a court to take judicial notice of municipal charters and other state legislation affecting municipalities. 41 Even in the absence of such legislation, acts incorporating cities, towns and other municipal corporations may be regarded as inherently public or, if local in their general character, as containing certain provisions that may affect the general public. Thus, courts have generally taken judicial notice of such acts without regard to whether the particular act was or was not declared to be public. 42 Hence, the corporate existence or powers of such bodies need not be alleged or proved. 43 That a particular area within the court's jurisdiction is an incorporated city is judicially noticeable as a fact of common knowledge. 44

A federal court may judicially notice a city budget if the required information is provided to it. 45

Footnotes

Footnote 41. Olson v County of Sacramento (3rd Dist) 38 Cal App 3d 958, 113 Cal Rptr 664.

Footnote 42. Unity v Burrage, 103 US 447, 13 Otto 447, 26 L Ed 405; Duluth v State (Minn) 390 NW2d 757, later proceeding (Minn App) 431 NW2d 135; Andal v Salem, 53 Or App 159, 630 P2d 1344; State ex rel. Schmittou v Nashville, 208 Tenn 290, 345 SW2d 874; Young v Seattle, 30 Wash 2d 357, 191 P2d 273, 3 ALR2d 704.

Footnote 43. Aberdeen v Bank of Amory, 191 Miss 318, 2 So 2d 153.

Footnote 44. People v Vega (2nd Dist) 18 Cal App 3d 954, 96 Cal Rptr 391; Embry v Caneyville (Ky) 397 SW2d 141; State v Turner, 8 NC App 73, 173 SE2d 642 (legislation establishing a municipal corporation was a "public act," noticeable as such); Scott v Scott, 141 W Va 533, 91 SE2d 621.

Regarding judicial notice of facts of common knowledge generally, see § 33.

Footnote 45. Association against Discrimination in Employment, Inc. v City of Bridgeport (CA2 Conn) 647 F2d 256, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1013, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31714, cert den 455 US 988, 71 L Ed 2d 847, 102 S Ct 1611, 28 BNA FEP Cas 120, 28 CCH EPD ¶ 32465; Melton v Oklahoma City (CA10 Okla) 879 F2d 706, reh gr, en banc, in part (CA10) 888 F2d 724 and on reh, en banc (CA10 Okla) 928 F2d 920, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 241, 112 S Ct 296, 112 S Ct 297.

(6). Court Rules [128]

§ 128 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court also judicially notices its own rules of procedure without requiring that those rules be formally offered into evidence. 46 It is generally held, however, that an appellate court will not take judicial notice of the rules of the trial court unless statutorily required to do so. 47 A number of states, however, have recently decided that because this information is not subject to serious question and can be confirmed by consulting sources likewise invulnerable to challenge, the information should be judicially noticeable even in the absence of a judicial notice of law statute. 48 In a jurisdiction following the latter view, a court may still require a showing that local court rules have been filed with the state supreme court in order to take judicial notice of them. 49 In addition, an appellate court generally will not take judicial notice of a local rule that is not made part of the record, 50 although some appellate courts hold that matters of public record, such as local rules governing representation by counsel, their withdrawal on proper notice to clients, are proper subjects for judicial notice. 51

Footnotes

Footnote 46. Wallace v Martin (La App) 166 So 874; Raykovich v Youngstown (App, Mahoning Co) 50 Ohio L Abs 363, 79 NE2d 242.

Footnote 47. 4 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 506.

Footnote 48. Parkway Bank & Trust Co. v Le Vine (1st Dist) 45 Ill App 3d 497, 4 Ill Dec 49, 359 NE2d 882; Lupo v Lupo (La App 1st Cir) 366 So 2d 932; Faribault-Martin-Watonwan Human Services ex rel. Jacobson v Jacobson (Minn App) 363 NW2d 342; State v Erlewine, 234 Neb 855, 452 NW2d 764; Spingola v Spingola, 91 NM 737, 580 P2d 958, appeal after remand 93 NM 598, 603 P2d 708; Woodard v Hopperstad Builders, Inc. (Tex Civ App Corpus Christi) 554 SW2d 726, writ ref n r e (Nov 2, 1977); Canavan v Truss-Tex Component Co. (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 511 SW2d 318, writ ref n r e (Nov 13, 1974) and reh of writ of error overr (Dec 30, 1974).

Footnote 49. State ex rel. Ward v Pape, 237 Neb 283, 465 NW2d 760; Petitt v Laware (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 715 SW2d 688, writ ref n r e (Dec 17, 1986) and reh of writ of error overr (Jul 9, 1986).

Footnote 50. Hoskins v Hoskins (Mo App) 833 SW2d 20.

Footnote 51. Langdale v Villamil (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 813 SW2d 187.

b. Other Judicial Matters [129-144]

(1). In General [129-132]

§ 129 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court may judicially notice the dates of its current and previous terms, 52 holidays 53 and closings due to inclement weather. 54 Courts also take judicial notice of the limits of their jurisdiction, the extent of the territory therein included, and whether an event took place beyond the limits thereof. 55 In addition, a court must take judicial notice of its location in the hierarchy of courts in the state or federal system. 56

The United States Supreme Court may take judicial notice of the fact that writs of habeas corpus are granted only in some cases, and the guilty verdicts are returned after only some trials; it is just not possible for a litigant to prove in advance that the judicial system will lead to any particular result in her case. 57 Furthermore, a reviewing court may take judicial notice of the official roster of the state's Secretary of State to determine that at the time of sentencing a particular judge was the sole presiding judge of the county court when the record does not make any showing of disability or inability to perform and is otherwise silent as to how a different judge came to handle sentencing. 58 A court will also take judicial notice of the fact that there is no legislatively established statutory probate court, county court at law, or other statutory court exercising jurisdiction of a probate court in a county in determining whether a district court has jurisdiction of a probate action to remove an independent executor. 59

A federal district court may take judicial notice of the content and format of its juror questionnaires. 60

Footnotes

Footnote 52. Thompson v Cheatham, 244 Ga 116, 259 SE2d 62; Robinson v Robinson, 70 Idaho 122, 212 P2d 1031; State ex rel. Harp v Vanderburgh Circuit Court, 227 Ind 353, 85 NE2d 254, 11 ALR2d 1108; A. & M. College v Guinn (Tex Civ App Austin) 280 SW2d 373, writ ref n r e; State Road Com. v Hereford, 151 W Va 526, 153 SE2d 501.

Footnote 53. Powell v New York C. R. Corp. (App, Stark Co) 14 Ohio Ops 2d 393, 86 Ohio L Abs 286, 174 NE2d 556, motion overr.

Footnote 54. Fields v A & B Electronics (Okla) 788 P2d 940 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Re Estate of Dalzell (Okla App) 813 P2d 537).

Footnote 55. § 130.

Footnote 56. Ken Carver & Sons, Inc. v Lenahan (Franklin Co) 8 Ohio App 2d 13, 37 Ohio Ops 2d 7, 220 NE2d 373.

Footnote 57. Whitmore v Arkansas, 495 US 149, 109 L Ed 2d 135, 110 S Ct 1717.

Footnote 58. State v Pecina (Ottawa Co) 76 Ohio App 3d 775, 603 NE2d 363.

Footnote 59. Eppenauer v Eppenauer (Tex App El Paso) 831 SW2d 30.

Footnote 60. United States v Osorio (DC Conn) 801 F Supp 966.

§ 130 Judicial notice of court's own jurisdiction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court must judicially notice the extent 61 and limits of its own subject matter jurisdiction, and is obliged to bring a lack of subject matter jurisdiction to the attention of the parties if they have failed to raise the issue. 62 A court may take judicial notice, sua sponte, of facts necessary to determine its jurisdiction, particularly when the fact is capable of ready and accurate determination. 63

Proper exercise of jurisdiction requires appellate courts to judicially notice the jurisdiction of inferior courts over which the appellate court is permitted or required to exercise its power of review. 64

Footnotes

Footnote 61. State v Scott (Trumbull Co) 3 Ohio App 2d 239, 32 Ohio Ops 2d 360, 210 NE2d 289.

Footnote 62. Crowe v Crowe, 137 Ind App 225, 207 NE2d 220, transf to 247 Ind 51, 211 NE2d 164 (intermediate appellate court took judicial notice that it lacked jurisdiction in an appeal from an order requiring increased payments of support of minor child, noting that exclusive jurisdiction of appeal rested in the state Supreme Court by virtue of statute); Langley v Rieth (La App, Orleans) 64 So 2d 803 (taking judicial notice of its jurisdiction on appeal, notwithstanding that the question of jurisdiction had not been raised by the parties).

For a discussion of jurisdiction generally, see 20 Am Jur 2d, Courts §§ 87 et seq.

Footnote 63. Fields v A & B Electronics (Okla) 788 P2d 940 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Re Estate of Dalzell (Okla App) 813 P2d 537).

Footnote 64. State v Ballard, 209 Ark 397, 190 SW2d 522; Scott v Rosenthal (Fla App D3) 132 So 2d 347, quashed (Fla) 150 So 2d 433, different results reached on reh (Fla) 150 So 2d 436 and (not followed by Kimbrell v Paige (Fla App D4) 422 So 2d 902); Finkenbiner v Dowd, 231 Ind 416, 108 NE2d 261 (judicially noticing that the Wabash Circuit Court and the Lapate Circuit Court are courts of concurrent jurisdiction; State v Gibson, 15 NJ 384, 105 A2d 1, 42 ALR2d 1461 (judicial notice that neither the circuit court nor the claims court, under the state's Constitution of 1844, was invested with criminal jurisdiction); Grieve v Webb, 22 Wash 2d 902, 158 P2d 73 (judicial notice that the superior court of the state of Washington for Yakima County is a court of general jurisdiction).

§ 131 Judicial officers, rules and administration; miscellaneous records

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Although not unequivocally a matter of common knowledge, judges take notice of the identity of the officers of their courts, including judges, 65 sheriffs, 66 clerks, 67 and attorneys. 68 In addition, a court may take judicial notice of the number of county recorder's courts in the state. 69

Footnotes

Footnote 65. Re J & A Concrete Contractors, Inc. (BC WD Tex) 58 BR 51 (bankruptcy judge took judicial notice that he was only one in a series of visiting judges assigned by designation to reduce crowded docket resulting from permanent sitting judge's illness and eventual retirement); Stephens v Reid, 189 Ga 372, 6 SE2d 728; Alexander v Gladden, 205 Or 375, 288 P2d 219 (state supreme court judicially noticed the organization of its own court and those lower courts it supervises).

A court may take judicial notice of the assignments of trial judges to hold court, of the counties that made up a certain district and of the resident district of a superior court judge. Turner v Hatchett, 104 NC App 487, 409 SE2d 747.

Footnote 66. Sowers-Taylor Co. v Collins (Mo App) 14 SW2d 692 (judicial notice of names of officers authorized to serve process).

Footnote 67. Favre v Louisville & N. R. Co., 180 Miss 843, 178 So 327.

Footnote 68. State ex rel. Stephan v Williams, 246 Kan 681, 793 P2d 234 (judicial notice could be taken that the party bringing a quo warranto action was, in fact, the duly elected Attorney General, and that attorneys from the Attorney General's office were licensed to practice law in the state); Squire v Bates, 132 Ohio St 161, 7 Ohio Ops 248, 5 NE2d 690 (persons who have been admitted and dates of their admission).

Footnote 69. Wojcik v State, 260 Ga 260, 392 SE2d 525.

§ 132 Inferior or superior courts; personnel

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Appellate courts take judicial notice of the status of inferior courts in the judicial hierarchy, 70 their geographic location, 71 the numbers of judges on the inferior court bench, for particular courts and in general, 72 and when lower courts are and are not in session. 73

Similarly, appellate courts may judicially notice inferior court judges, 74 their signatures and seals, 75 where they reside, 76 how they came into office, 77 their emoluments, 78 their authority, 79 a particular inferior court judge's health 80 and whether the judge had died 81 or retired. 82

Appellate courts will also generally judicially notice clerks and other officers of an inferior court, 83 although the identity of a trial judge's law clerk might not be subject to judicial notice on appeal in determining whether the trial judge's recusal is required because of the clerk's relationship with the plaintiff's attorney. 84

Little case law exists concerning an inferior court judicially noticing a superior court's jurisdiction, officials, rules and administration. Logically, a lower court's obligation, or at least discretion, to notice such matters, assuming the fact in question is common knowledge or capable of ready and accurate determination, follows directly from the court's place in the judicial hierarchy. 85

Footnotes

Footnote 70. McAfee v State, 258 Ind 677, 284 NE2d 778.

Footnote 71. Nashlund v Sabade (1st Dist) 39 Ill App 3d 139, 350 NE2d 90.

Footnote 72. Valley Bank & Trust Co. v Marrewa, 354 Mass 403, 237 NE2d 677 (judicial notice that the number of judges and referees was relatively small in comparison with the number of bankruptcy proceedings); Re Henry, 369 Mich 347, 119 NW2d 671 (in ordering that a contempt proceeding against an attorney be heard by a judge other than the one who initiated the citation, the Michigan Supreme Court took judicial notice that the court in question was a multi-judge court).

Footnote 73. Cichy v Kostyk, 143 Conn 688, 125 A2d 483; Boston Sea Party, Inc. v Bryant Lithographing Co., 146 Ga App 294, 246 SE2d 350; McNeal v Able, 135 Ga App 702, 218 SE2d 460; Sink v Easter, 288 NC 183, 217 SE2d 532; Grady v Parker, 228 NC 54, 44 SE2d 449.

Footnote 74. Ex parte Bush, 270 Ala 62, 116 So 2d 382 (Alabama Supreme Court took judicial notice of change in the presiding judge of a Circuit Court); Riggs v Brock, 208 Ark 1050, 189 SW2d 367; State ex rel. Harp v Vanderburgh Circuit Court, 227 Ind 353, 85 NE2d 254, 11 ALR2d 1108.

For further discussion of the tendency of an appellate court to take judicial notice of who are the judges of the various courts of record of the state, of the terms of office, and of the organization and jurisdiction of such courts, see 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 740.

Footnote 75. § 150.

Footnote 76. Robinson Co. v Beck, 261 Ala 531, 74 So 2d 915 (judicially noticing that the trial judge did not reside in the county where the trial was had, thereby rendering judgment subject to being vacated within a specified period).

Footnote 77. Adams v Hale, 213 Ark 589, 212 SW2d 330.

Footnote 78. Gipson v Maner, 225 Ark 976, 287 SW2d 467.

Footnote 79. Miller v Miller, 142 Ind App 90, 231 NE2d 828; Harlor v Harlor (Franklin Co) 79 Ohio App 504, 35 Ohio Ops 310, 65 NE2d 512.

Footnote 80. Jett v Jones, 87 Ga App 531, 74 SE2d 483.

Footnote 81. Harfert v Silvola, 144 Colo 285, 356 P2d 133.

Footnote 82. Ex parte Globe Life Ins. Co., 41 Ala App 82, 123 So 2d 603.

Footnote 83. American Life Ins. Co. v Anderson, 246 Ala 588, 21 So 2d 791.

Footnote 84. Hammond v Doody (Ind App) 553 NE2d 196.

Footnote 85. Cole v Brunswick Leather Goods Corp., 1 NJ Super 190, 63 A2d 569 (intermediate appellate court judicially noticed the availability of justices of the former supreme court for an extended period for purpose of application for writ of certiorari).

(2). Litigation Documents; Judicial Records [133-144]

§ 133 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In general, a judge may take judicial notice of the contents of court records, although courts will not judicially notice records and facts in one proceeding in deciding another proceeding. 86 There are exceptions, however, to this general rule, and in appropriate cases, a judge may take judicial notice of the contents of court records in a related prior proceeding. 87 For example, a judge may take judicial notice in a parental rights termination proceeding of the file in a prior neglect proceeding. 88 Some jurisdictions provide that judicial notice may be taken of all judicial records, 89 while others limit judicial notice to a court's own records. 90 Generally, the accuracy or reliability of the contents of documents must be demonstrated in order for a court to take judicial notice of the documents. 91

◆ Comment: If a court takes judicial notice of a litigation document from another case, it must actually examine that document, and make it clear on the record what documents it examined, the facts that were judicially noticed, and the manner in which those facts were used by the court. 92 Some courts, however, permit the taking of judicial notice of the existence of another case, of litigation documents that are a part of another case, and of the allegations made therein, whenever the mere existence of such things is relevant to the instant case. 93

Footnotes

Footnote 86. §§ 138-143.

Footnote 87. § 141.

Footnote 88. S.S. v D.M. (Dist Col App) 597 A2d 870.

Footnote 89. Allstate Ins. Co. v Greyhound Rent-A-Car, Inc. (Fla App D4) 586 So 2d 482, 16 FLW D 2518, review den (Fla) 598 So 2d 75.

Footnote 90. Lee v State Constr. Industry Licensing Bd., 205 Ga App 497, 423 SE2d 26.

Footnote 91. In re Jackson, 3 Cal 4th 578, 11 Cal Rptr 2d 531, 835 P2d 371, 92 CDOS

7581, 92 Daily Journal DAR 12344, mod on other grounds 3 Cal 4th 902a, 92 CDOS 8928, 92 Daily Journal DAR 14634 and reh den (Oct 28, 1992) and cert den (US) 124 L Ed 2d 641, 113 S Ct 2419.

Footnote 92. Soley v Star & Herald Co. (CA5 Canal Zone) 390 F2d 364, 11 FR Serv 2d 97; National Union Fire Ins. Co. v Underwood (Fla App D4) 502 So 2d 1325, 12 FLW 639; In Interest of Adkins (Iowa) 298 NW2d 273; Chapman v Chapman, 96 Nev 290, 607 P2d 1141; Willard v Kelley (Okla) 803 P2d 1124; Parrish v Layton City Corp. (Utah) 542 P2d 1086; Ringwood v Foreign Auto Works, Inc. (Utah App) 786 P2d 1350, 125 Utah Adv Rep 45, review pending (Utah) 129 Utah Adv Rep 58 and cert den (Utah) 135 Utah Adv Rep 78 and cert den (Utah) 795 P2d 1138.

Footnote 93. Re Ronwin, 139 Ariz 576, 680 P2d 107; In re Pipinos, 33 Cal 3d 189, 187 Cal Rptr 730, 654 P2d 1257, 28 ALR4th 205 (Supreme Court of California took judicial notice of the transcript of a sentencing hearing for purposes of determining whether the trial court abused its discretion in denying bail); Jones v Bordman, 243 Kan 444, 759 P2d 953 (a court is not permitted to take judicial notice of contested fact findings reached by another court in another case as to expert witness' credibility).

For a discussion of hearsay evidence, see §§ 658 et seq.

For a discussion the Federal Rules of Evidence pertaining to hearsay evidence, see 32B Am Jur 2d §§ 195 et seq.

§ 134 Effect of purpose for taking judicial notice; hearsay issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court may judicially notice the truth or falsity of allegations made in another lawsuit, only in very unusual circumstances. 94

Judicial notice of the existence of a document and of statements made therein is not in itself hearsay. 95 A court may take judicial notice of submitted documents noting that its notice only concludes that the articles exist 96 and not whether the text of the articles is factually or scientifically accurate. 97 The hearsay problem arises only if a court accepts the allegations contained in the document as true. 98 In other words, a court may not take judicial notice of the truth of an evidentiary record in another action tried in the same court where there is no conclusive affect to the judgment noticed. It is permissible to take notice that a judgment has been rendered, that a record exists, and the nature of its contents. It is not permissible to bind a party to the evidence in that record except where the party was joined in or privy to the action. 99 Furthermore, although a court may take judicial notice of a prior proceeding, a court cannot take judicial notice of the testimony given at that prior proceeding, as such testimony is hearsay. 1

Footnotes

Footnote 94. Barton v Peterson (ND Ga) 733 F Supp 1482 (court may not take judicial notice of a jury verdict in one case when offered in a second case against one who was not a party in that earlier case); Re Ronwin, 139 Ariz 576, 680 P2d 107; Gottsch v Bank of Stapleton, 235 Neb 816, 458 NW2d 443 (in creditor's action to impose constructive trust on the debtors' overline credit lender, judicial notice could not be taken of debtors' fraud on creditor where collateral estoppel did not exist and fraud was not a previously adjudicated fact binding on the lender).

Footnote 95. Re Calder (CA10 Utah) 907 F2d 953, 23 CBC2d 677, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 73507.

Use of a party's pleading in a prior, related litigation is not hearsay when offered only to prove when that party was aware of the facts alleged therein. Magnolia Square Homeowners Assn. v Safeco Ins. Co. (6th Dist) 221 Cal App 3d 1049, 271 Cal Rptr 1 (criticized on other grounds by Sosinsky v Grant (5th Dist) 6 Cal App 4th 1548, 8 Cal Rptr 2d 552, 92 CDOS 4274, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6727).

Footnote 96. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v Rotches Pork Packers, Inc. (CA2 NY) 969 F2d 1384, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 254, motion den, summary judgment gr, complaint dismd (SD NY) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 4805 (court may take judicial notice of a document filed in another court not for the truth of the matters asserted in the other litigation, but rather to establish the fact of such litigation and related filings).

Footnote 97. People v Pizarro (5th Dist) 10 Cal App 4th 57, 12 Cal Rptr 2d 436, 92 CDOS 8525, 92 Daily Journal DAR 14128, review den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 253.

Footnote 98. Day v Sharp (2nd Dist) 50 Cal App 3d 904, 123 Cal Rptr 918 (criticized on other grounds by Sosinsky v Grant (5th Dist) 6 Cal App 4th 1548, 8 Cal Rptr 2d 552, 92 CDOS 4274, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6727).

Footnote 99. Scottsdale Memorial Health Systems, Inc. v Clark, 157 Ariz 461, 759 P2d 607, 8 Ariz Adv Rep 5, appeal after remand (App) 164 Ariz 211, 791 P2d 1094, 60 Ariz Adv Rep 43.

Footnote 1. Re Zemple (Minn App) 489 NW2d 818.

§ 135 Litigation documents as adjudicative fact or evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under appropriate circumstances, a court may properly take judicial notice of a litigation document as adjudicative fact and use it as conclusive evidence that resolves a question of fact. ² Under other circumstances, a court may take notice of such a document as evidence to be considered, along with other evidence, in resolving an issue of fact. ³ In some circumstances, it is improper for a court to take judicial notice of a particular record for either of these purposes. ⁴

Footnotes

Footnote 2. Anderson v Cramlet (CA10 Colo) 789 F2d 840, 12 Media L R 2121.

Footnote 3. Meyerson v Werner (CA2 NY) 683 F2d 723, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 671 (upholding a contempt citation for the contemnor's failure to withdraw his latest bankruptcy petition, the Second Circuit held that a court may take judicial notice of a litigant's long record of willful, contemptuous, and contumacious behavior and of his use of his other shell corporations to defraud creditors by petitioning in bankruptcy); United States v Montemayor (CA5 Tex) 666 F2d 235, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1141.

Footnote 4. Melvin v Nickolopoulos (CA3 NJ) 864 F2d 301.

§ 136 --Litigation documents as source of law; legislative, evaluative, or basic fact

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court takes judicial notice of a litigation document as a source of law when it follows a decision of superior court, cites a court decision as precedent, or relies upon it as persuasive authority. A court may find and follow such decisions even if the attorneys in the case have failed to cite them; indeed, in some situations a court is required to do so. Sometimes this process is referred to as judicial notice, 5 Similarly, a court may judicially notice almost anything without serious restriction if it is using the matter noticed as legislative fact or evaluative or basic data. 6

Footnotes

Footnote 5. People v Smith (1st Dist) 215 Cal App 3d 19, 263 Cal Rptr 678, reh den (Cal App 1st Dist) 1989 Cal App LEXIS 1302 and review den (Cal) 1990 Cal LEXIS 55.

Footnote 6. §§ 27, 28.

§ 137 Documents in case being litigated

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court has broad discretions to take judicial notice and to consider prior decisions in resolving the case currently before the court. 7 Generally, a court is free to take judicial notice of any litigation document that is part of the record of the case being litigated. This freedom applies to equally to trial 8 and appellate courts, 9 including discovery taken in the case and documents submitted by the party for the court's in camera inspection. 10 A court may take judicial notice of the documents in the proceeding immediately before it 11 and all prior proceedings in the same case, 12 although a court may require that the documents be introduced into evidence, 13 and judicial notice cannot be taken of prior reported but not transcribed testimony because conclusions drawn from that source are incapable of being reviewed by an appellate court. 14 A court may take judicial notice of the existence of court records and certain judicial action reflected in a court's records because these facts are capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned. 15 The general rule permitting judicial notice of documents in the case applies even if new parties have been added subsequent to the filing of the document in question. 16

That a court may take judicial notice of the existence of such a document without further authentication does not necessarily mean it may rely upon it; it is still necessary to consider the nature of the document, the use to which the document or its contents is being put, and other rules of evidence or procedure. 17

A court may also take judicial notice of the contents in a court's file in order to determine the reasonableness and necessities of attorney's fees. 18 In addition, a trial court may take judicial notice of an appellate court's imposition of frivolous appeal damages in a party's previous appeal in the same case when determining and whether to order the party's removal as personal representative of an estate. 19

Generally, however, the trial judge may not judicially notice testimony taken out of the prior hearing in the same case with respect to temporary orders. Consequently, a trial court cannot take judicial notice of formerly admitted evidence on a hearing on temporary conservatorship in a later child custody hearing. 20

Footnotes

Footnote 7. Chasalow v Board of Assessors (2d Dept) 176 App Div 2d 800, 575 NYS2d 129.

Footnote 8. Hatch v Wagner, 41 Colo App 35, 590 P2d 973; Perry v Schaumann (App) 110 Idaho 596, 716 P2d 1368; In Interest of A.S., 12 Kan App 2d 594, 752 P2d 705; Fontana v Fontana (La App 2d Cir) 426 So 2d 351, cert den (La) 433 So 2d 150; Farm Credit Bank v Huether (ND) 454 NW2d 710; Farm Credit Bank v Huether (ND) 454 NW2d 710; Reeves v Agee (Okla) 769 P2d 745; Riche v Riche (Utah App) 784 P2d 465, 123 Utah Adv Rep 31 (records in prior proceedings in same case; State v Blow, 157 Vt 513, 602 A2d 552.

Footnote 9. Shuttlesworth v Birmingham, 394 US 147, 22 L Ed 2d 162, 89 S Ct 935, on remand 45 Ala App 723, 222 So 2d 377 (examining the record in a prior case before the Supreme Court between the same parties arising out of the same events); Stradley v Cortez (CA3 Pa) 518 F2d 488, 20 FR Serv 2d 515 (judicial notice of matters asserted in plaintiff's motion for new trial made in the course of proceedings before the District Court); Federal Deposit Ins. Corp. v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 289 Ala 192, 266 So 2d 752 (state Supreme Court has judicial knowledge of contents of its records with reference to its previous consideration of litigation presently before it); State ex rel. Corbin v Tocco (App) 173 Ariz 587, 845 P2d 513, 123 Ariz Adv Rep 20; Holguin v Aetna Casualty &

Surety Ins. Co. (App) 156 Ariz 9, 749 P2d 918 (records and other appellate proceedings in same case); Krawiec v Kraft, 163 Conn 445, 311 A2d 82 (judicial notice of all papers forming part of a file in a case may be used for any proper purpose); Airvac, Inc. v Ranger Ins. Co. (Fla) 330 So 2d 467 (upon second appeal, court must take judicial notice of the opinion and judgment rendered in the first appeal, as well as facts in the transcript of record in the original case); Reeves v Agee (Okla) 769 P2d 745 (judicial notice appellate court's own records in litigation that is interconnected with case on review, including its opinion in a prior appeal of the same case, to determine the extent of res judicata; however, such notice is an exception to the general rule that appellate court is strictly limited to record before it); Chandler v Denton (Okla) 741 P2d 855, later proceeding (Okla) 747 P2d 938 (the record on prior appeal of the same action is not part of the subsequent appeal record, but an appellate court may take judicial cognizance of its former opinions to ascertain the binding effect that is due past decisions and may also judicially notice former opinions of lower courts in the same case).

Footnote 10. Gulf City Fisheries, Inc. v Bobby Kitchens, Inc. (Miss) 518 So 2d 661.

Footnote 11. Perry v Schaumann (App) 110 Idaho 596, 716 P2d 1368; In Interest of A.S., 12 Kan App 2d 594, 752 P2d 705.

Footnote 12. Thompson v Maxwell L. G. & R. Co., 168 US 451, 42 L Ed 539, 18 S Ct 121 (evidence and verdict of a prior trial); Federal Deposit Ins. Corp. v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 289 Ala 192, 266 So 2d 752 (appellate court has judicial knowledge of contents of its records with reference to its previous consideration of litigation presently before it); Airvac, Inc. v Ranger Ins. Co. (Fla) 330 So 2d 467 (appellate court); Chandler v Denton (Okla) 741 P2d 855, later proceeding (Okla) 747 P2d 938 (the state Supreme Court may take judicial cognizance of its former opinions in the same action to ascertain their binding effect, and may also judicially notice former opinions of the intermediate appellate court); Riche v Riche (Utah App) 784 P2d 465, 123 Utah Adv Rep 31 (courts may take judicial notice of records in prior proceedings in same case).

Footnote 13. Bull v Jacksonville Federal Sav. & Loan Assn. (Fla App D1) 576 So 2d 755, 16 FLW D 558 (in a mortgage foreclosure action, refusing to allow a trial court to take judicial notice of an officially recorded mortgage, where the mortgagee included the mortgage in its pleadings but did not formally introduce them into evidence).

Footnote 14. Matthews v State, 122 Idaho 801, 839 P2d 1215.

Footnote 15. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363.

Footnote 16. Carmack v Fidelity-Bankers Trust Co., 180 Tenn 571, 177 SW2d 351.

Footnote 17. Trans Western Leasing Corp. v Corrao Constr. Co., 98 Nev 445, 652 P2d 1181.

A court may not take judicial notice of a previously entered consent decree, the purpose of which had been merely to preserve the status quo of the parties rather than to settle facts and issues that were the focus of the subsequent trial. American Aluminum Products, Inc. v Pollard, 97 NC App 541, 389 SE2d 589.

Concerning the use to which the document is to be put, see § 134.

Footnote 18. Atascosa County Appraisal Dist. v Tymrak (Tex App San Antonio) 815 SW2d 364, writ granted (Tex) 35 Tex Sup Ct Jour 597 and affd (Tex) 858 SW2d 335, reh'g of cause overr (Sep 10, 1993).

Footnote 19. Re Estate of Voegele (Mo App) 838 SW2d 444.

Footnote 20. May v May (Tex App Corpus Christi) 829 SW2d 373, writ den (Jul 1, 1992).

§ 138 Proceedings and record in other causes

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

State courts may not be authorized to take judicial notice of the records in a different case pending or disposed of in the same court that are outside the record of the case before it.

21 In some jurisdictions, a court may not consider or take judicial notice of its record in a different proceeding without an agreement of the parties. 22 In other jurisdictions, the rule is that judicial notice may not be taken of the record in a separate case. 23 Some courts go even further, stating that a court may not judicially notice its own record in another case previously before the court even on a related subject and with related parties. This rule applies in criminal proceedings, including hearings on petitions to revoke probation. 24

State courts will generally not take judicial notice of records and facts in one action while deciding another because a party is entitled to have her case decided upon evidence introduced at trial and a reviewing court should not decide a case upon evidence that the party has had no opportunity to refute or explain. 25 For example, a court will not judicially notice a defendant's testimony in another proceeding concerning the events constituting the crimes for which he is on trial. 26 In order to prove some matter contained in the record of a case other than the one being litigated, a party in a state court may be required to offer the other court file or certified copies of portions of the court file into evidence in the case then being litigated. 27 Since the fact judicially noticed may be established without supporting evidence, that fact must have independent reliability and trustworthiness. Requiring independent proof of the other court file insures the existence and genuineness of that court file as well as providing the opposing party an opportunity to attack the propriety of taking such judicial notice, and the independent proof may be made by the court taking judicial notice of its own file, provided that the file is physically before the court. Requiring the introduction of the other file into evidence insures an intelligible record for review, for the appellate court cannot take a corresponding judicial notice. In addition, the introduction of the other court file into evidence may be accomplished by the court taking judicial notice of a file if a file is physically before it. 28 A stipulation alone does not provide the evidentiary basis for judicial notice of evidence not otherwise properly before a court. 29

There are, however, exceptions to the general rule that examine considerations of expediency and of what it is the court is asked to take notice. For example, a court may take judicial notice of the files in other proceedings involving a party when in the prior adjudications the party was represented by counsel and had every opportunity to refute, impeach, or explain the evidence against her because none of the evils associated with letting a court take judicial notice is present in such circumstances. 30 Furthermore, in some jurisdictions, a trial judge may take judicial notice of any record in the court on which the judge sits, as called upon to do so. 31

It should be noted that the rule which precludes a court from taking judicial notice of its own records in other actions does not prevent it from noticing the doctrine or rule of law adopted by the court in the first action and applying that principle under the theory of stare decisis in the second action. 32

Footnotes

Footnote 21. Carson v Gibson (Fla App D2) 595 So 2d 175, 17 FLW D 536.

Footnote 22. Leuchtenmacher v Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co. (Iowa) 460 NW2d 858.

Footnote 23. Smith v State, 307 Ark 223, 818 SW2d 945.

Footnote 24. Bane v State (Ind App) 579 NE2d 1339, transfer den (Mar 19, 1992).

Regarding notice of matters of criminal procedure generally, see § 106.

As to related proceedings, see § 141.

Footnote 25. In Interest of C.M.W. (Mo App) 813 SW2d 331.

Footnote 26. Berget v State (Okla Crim) 824 P2d 364, reh den (Okla Crim) 1992 Okla Crim App LEXIS 10 and cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 79, 113 S Ct 124.

Footnote 27. Carson v Gibson (Fla App D2) 595 So 2d 175, 17 FLW D 536; State v Weber (Mo App) 814 SW2d 298.

Footnote 28. State v Weber (Mo App) 814 SW2d 298.

Footnote 29. Carson v Gibson (Fla App D2) 595 So 2d 175, 17 FLW D 536.

Footnote 30. In Interest of C.M.W. (Mo App) 813 SW2d 331.

Footnote 31. Willard v Kelley (Okla) 803 P2d 1124.

Footnote 32. Wasinger v Miller, 154 Colo 61, 388 P2d 250; Board of Educational Lands & Funds v Gillett, 158 Neb 558, 64 NW2d 105; American Nat. Bank v Bradford, 28 Tenn App 239, 188 SW2d 971; Pickens v Coal River Boom & Timber Co., 66 W Va 10, 65 SE 865.

§ 139 --Records from other courts

Federal courts generally may take judicial notice of proceedings in other courts³³ if those proceedings have relevance to the matters in hand.³⁴ Courts have applied this principle to take judicial notice of criminal convictions and it is proper for a court to do so particularly when the judge in the case is familiar with the defendant's criminal case.³⁵

In state courts, the general rule is that a court cannot judicially notice the records of another court.³⁶ For example, it is improper to take judicial notice of the findings of a jury in an obscenity case in a different county involving the same defendant because the parties in the proceeding are not the same.³⁷ Furthermore, a court errs in taking judicial notice of a bankruptcy court's proceedings, particularly when the bankruptcy court's findings are not made part of the record in the case before the court as the bankruptcy court did not resolve the bankruptcy case until after the instant case ended.³⁸

Some state courts, however, will take judicial notice of the records in other cases, under certain circumstances.³⁹ Courts will sometimes take judicial notice of the determination made in other cases which are made by a court of competent jurisdiction that the parties appeared before. Consequently, it has been said that a court may properly take judicial notice of a prior determination of illegality of the use in question in a prior proceeding in construing the applicability of a nonconforming youth statute without denying a party due process.⁴⁰ In addition, a trial court properly takes judicial notice of the facts stated in a published opinion of the state's Supreme Court.⁴¹ Furthermore, it is permissible for a family court justice to take judicial notice of factual findings and legal rulings made by another family court justice in a separate proceeding that required the same burden of proof. In fact, a trial justice may have an obligation to take judicial notice of similar indications of dependency and neglect within the same family where the justice has at her disposal extensive records concerning the children, and the judge is aware of the mother's history of dysfunctional relationships, her propensity to engage in relationships with abusive men, of allegations of substance abuse, and of allegations of physical and mental abuse of the children involved.⁴²

In general, a state appellate court also will not take judicial notice of a record in another court unless it is incorporated in the proceedings before it.⁴³ This rule of law prohibits an appellate court from going to the record of another case for the purpose of ascertaining a fact not shown in the record of the case before it.⁴⁴

A state Supreme Court may take judicial notice of the records of any court of its state, but the party desiring that judicial notice be taken of a record must show the relevance of the subject record.⁴⁵ Similarly, a court will not take judicial notice of a transcript of oral argument before the United States Supreme Court where nothing in the transcript of the oral argument is relevant to the proper resolution of the case before the court.⁴⁶ It has been held that the adoption of rules of criminal evidence did not abrogate, in criminal cases, the common law rule that an appellate court cannot take judicial notice of the records of another court.⁴⁷ A court may, however, judicially notice a common law action filed by the same plaintiff currently before the court alleging that a trial judge's denial of a declaratory judgment was an abuse of her discretion when the court feels that the common law actions are relevant to the question before it. 48

Footnotes

Footnote 33. Bolivar v Pocklington (DC Puerto Rico) 137 FRD 202, affd, remanded (CA1 Puerto Rico) 975 F2d 28, 23 FR Serv 3d 723.

Footnote 34. Kowalski v Gagne (CA1 Mass) 914 F2d 299, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 434.

Footnote 35. Kowalski v Gagne (CA1 Mass) 914 F2d 299, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 434.

Footnote 36. Jones v Murphy, 49 Ala App 66, 268 So 2d 848 (Court of Criminal Appeals does not take judicial notice of another court's records); Hillsborough County Bd. of County Comrs. v Public Employees Relations Com. (Fla App D1) 424 So 2d 132, later proceeding (Fla App D1) 447 So 2d 1371 (impermissible for a District Court of Appeal to take judicial notice of records of a sister District Court of Appeal); Department of Revenue v Young American Builders (Fla App D1) 358 So 2d 1096, affd (Fla) 376 So 2d 849 (same); Sternberg v Smith (La App 1st Cir) 385 So 2d 469 (Louisiana law does not provide for judicial notice of proceedings in other courts. L.S.A.-C.C.P. arts. 1391-1397); Jenks v Gulla (La App 1st Cir) 383 So 2d 1052 (Court of Appeal cannot take judicial notice of suit records of other courts); Temoney v State, 290 Md 251, 429 A2d 1018 (impermissible to judicially notice properly authenticated transcripts of defendant's prior out-of-state convictions, offered at a sentence-enhancement hearing to prove that those convictions qualified as "violent" felonies); Re Estate of Brockerman, 332 Pa Super 88, 480 A2d 1199 (where plaintiffs failed at the trial level to offer records of a related suit, the appellate court refused to judicially notice the records on appeal); Southwestern Electric Power Co. v Martin (Tex App Texarkana) 844 SW2d 229, writ den (Mar 31, 1993); Re Estate of Leno, 139 Vt 554, 433 A2d 260 (although judicial notice of files, records and judgment in a case other than that on trial is improper, where there was no objection in the court below was made to such judicial notice and the issue was not raised on appeal, any error was waived).

Footnote 37. People v Page Books, Inc. (2d Dist) 235 Ill App 3d 765, 175 Ill Dec 876, 601 NE2d 273, app gr 148 Ill 2d 650, 183 Ill Dec 28, 610 NE2d 1272.

Footnote 38. Rumbaugh v Beck, 411 Pa Super 220, 601 A2d 319.

Footnote 39. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363; Kirshner v Shinaberry (Lucas Co) 64 Ohio App 3d 536, 582 NE2d 22.

Footnote 40. Matthews v Pernell (Montgomery Co) 64 Ohio App 3d 707, 582 NE2d 1075, motion den 49 Ohio St 3d 711, 551 NE2d 1303 and motion overr 52 Ohio St 3d 703, 556 NE2d 528.

Footnote 41. Chicago v American Nat. Bank & Trust Co. (1st Dist) 233 Ill App 3d 1031, 175 Ill Dec 112, 599 NE2d 1126.

Footnote 42. Re McKayla C. (RI) 618 A2d 1264.

Footnote 43. Marlow v American Suzuki Motor Corp. (1st Dist) 222 Ill App 3d 722, 165 Ill Dec 166, 584 NE2d 345.

Footnote 44. Southwestern Electric Power Co. v Martin (Tex App Texarkana) 844 SW2d 229, writ den (Mar 31, 1993).

Footnote 45. People v Rowland, 4 Cal 4th 238, 14 Cal Rptr 2d 377, 841 P2d 897, 92 CDOS 10128, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17038, reh den, stay den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 587 and stay gr (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 1812 and cert den (US) 126 L Ed 2d 101, 114 S Ct 138.

Footnote 46. People v Payton, 3 Cal 4th 1050, 13 Cal Rptr 2d 526, 839 P2d 1035, 92 CDOS 9415, 92 Daily Journal DAR 15669, reh den (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 585 and stay gr (Cal) 1993 Cal LEXIS 2187 and cert den (US) 126 L Ed 2d 649, 114 S Ct 682.

Footnote 47. Penix v State (Tex App Fort Worth) 748 SW2d 629.

As to judicial notice by appellate courts of the proceedings and record in other causes, see 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 742.

Footnote 48. Marlow v American Suzuki Motor Corp. (1st Dist) 222 Ill App 3d 722, 165 Ill Dec 166, 584 NE2d 345.

§ 140 --Special circumstances justifying judicial notice

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The normal rule that an appellate court considers only the factual record before the district court is subject to the right of an appellate court in a proper case to take judicial notice of new developments not considered by a lower court. 49 Those developments must, however, be a matter of record. 50 Consequently, an appellate court may take judicial notice of a person's guilty plea in affirming the district court's finding that the person was embezzling from her employer. 51 An appellate court may also take judicial notice of matters that were not before the trial court when both parties request that judicial notice be taken, as in such circumstances there should be no unfairness to either side. In addition, court may take judicial notice of information not presented to the trial court when the facts are not reasonably open to dispute and both parties' motion for judicial notice append photocopies of certified copies of the pertinent court files. 52

A court may take judicial notice of newspaper articles and the amount of publicity generated on the reversal of a defendant's earlier conviction and the filing of new charges against that defendant to ensure that defendant effective assistance of appellate counsel. 53 In addition, a court may take judicial notice, in an attorney discipline case, of the fact that the attorney has previously been reprimanded for misconduct. 54

These cases are not necessarily in conflict with the general rules, 55 but usually recognize these rules, holding, however, that for reasons apparent in each case the court is justified in noticing judicially the proceedings in other causes. 56 For example, where the parties to two proceedings are substantially the same and the result of one cause is determinative of the other, the courts may take judicial notice of the proceedings and judgment in the former cause 57 instead of compelling the parties to resort to other proceedings to produce the same effect. 58

While a court may under some circumstances take judicial notice of a judgment appearing in the record of another case in the same court, this does not mean that it can give weight to the conclusions embodied in that judgment in deciding the issues in another action involving different parties. 59

Footnotes

Footnote 49. Melvin v Nickolopoulos (CA3 NJ) 864 F2d 301; Landy v Federal Deposit Ins. Corp. (CA3 NJ) 486 F2d 139, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94094, 17 FR Serv 2d 769, cert den 416 US 960, 40 L Ed 2d 312, 94 S Ct 1979; Colonial Penn Ins. Co. v Coil (CA4 SC) 887 F2d 1236, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521, 15 FR Serv 3d 336; Rothenberg v Security Management Co. (CA11 Ga) 667 F2d 958, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 98450, 33 FR Serv 2d 1040, later proceeding (ND Ga) CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 99038; Matthews v Matthews (Fla App D2) 133 So 2d 91, appeal after remand (Fla App D2) 222 So 2d 282 (a court may take judicial notice of its own records, but in passing on motion for summary judgment, the same court could not consider testimony in the transcript in an earlier case which was between the same parties but which was not made part of record in the present case).

Footnote 50. Matter of Re Marriage of Morten, 67 Or App 235, 677 P2d 735, review den 297 Or 83, 679 P2d 1368 (in awarding custody of children to their father based on evidence that the former wife's new husband had a history of alcohol abuse and assaultive crimes, the court declined to take judicial notice that the former wife's marriage to the new husband was dissolved after oral argument on appeal; if the former wife felt that events subsequent to the hearing on appeal were relevant to the children's custody status, she should bring those events to the trial court's attention in an appropriate fashion).

Footnote 51. Re American Biomaterials Corp. (CA3 NJ) 954 F2d 919, 92-1 USTC ¶ 50194, 69 AFTR 2d 92-611.

Footnote 52. People v Hardy, 2 Cal 4th 86, 5 Cal Rptr 2d 796, 825 P2d 781, 92 CDOS 2166, 92 Daily Journal DAR 3841, mod on other grounds 2 Cal 4th 758a, 92 CDOS 4144, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6554, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 435, 113 S Ct 498 and reh den (May 14, 1992) and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 139, 113 S Ct 987 (California Evidence Code provides special rules for situations in which a party seeks judicial notice of information not received in open court or not included in the record of the action).

Footnote 53. Harvey v State (Wyo) 835 P2d 1074, reh den (Wyo) 1992 Wyo LEXIS 85 and cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 586, 113 S Ct 661.

Footnote 54. Re McCausland (Ind) 605 NE2d 185.

Footnote 55. § 138.

Footnote 56. Wells v United States, 318 US 257, 87 L Ed 746, 63 S Ct 582; Funk v Commissioner (CA3) 163 F2d 796, 47-2 USTC ¶ 9370, 36 AFTR 188; Knorp v Thompson, 352 Mo 44, 175 SW2d 889.

Footnote 57. § 144.

Footnote 58. Butler v Eaton, 141 US 240, 35 L Ed 713, 11 S Ct 985.

Footnote 59. Fox v Schaeffer, 131 Conn 439, 41 A2d 46, 157 ALR 132.

§ 141 Related proceedings

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court may take judicial notice of closely related proceedings. 60 For example, judicial notice of other proceedings may be proper where the same parties are involved and the allegations from those proceedings have been proved. 61 Other courts hold that judicial notice may be taken of a prior case between two parties if it can be determined that the cases are essentially the same. 62 For example, a court may take notice of a default judgment entered in a related proceeding. 63 A court may also take judicial notice that an interpleader action filed in federal court, related to taxpayers' suit against schoolboard members alleging illegal expenditure of public funds has been brought to a conclusion by final judgment entered in favor of the intervenor. 64 It is proper for a court to take notice of an underlying divorce action in a suit by a husband against the wife's divorce attorney alleging intentional interference with parental custody rights and intentional infliction of emotional distress. 65 A court may also take judicial notice of an adjudicated outcome of a prior domestic abuse proceeding. 66 Furthermore, in an attorney discipline proceeding, a court may consider an affidavit regarding the attorney's failure to pay state bar enrollment fees and the attorney's resulting automatic suspension where the evidence is not offered or considered for the purpose of and is not relevant to determining the attorney's guilt or innocence of the particular charges in the proceeding before the court, but rather is offered and considered for the purpose of and is relevant to determining the appropriate sanction if guilt is determined. 67

Many courts judicially notice litigation documents in related cases in motions for summary judgment, 68 although some courts will not. 69

Some jurisdictions have established requirements for judicial notice to be taken of prior court proceedings in order to ensure a proper record for appellate review. For example, first, written notice must be given to the trial court so that it is clear what matters the trial court had the opportunity to consider. Secondly, judicially noticed documents must be physically included as part of the record filed on appeal, or must be on file at the Supreme Court as the result of a different proceeding. The determination whether judicially noticed court records are adjudicative or legislative and must exclude it, is not without question. It is said sometimes it may be adjudicative, others legislative, and in even some cases both adjudicative and legislative. 70

In a subsequent action between the same parties, a court cannot take judicial notice of the findings of fact and conclusions of law contained in a prior judgment which has been rendered void. 71 Although a trial court has the power to take judicial notice of court files of other actions between the same parties, this does not mean that it might use every statement found in the papers constituting the file with the same effect as though the facts were in evidence before it. It would, for example, be improper for a trial court to base its decision terminating a respondent's parental rights solely on findings from an earlier proceeding removing children from the respondent's care and custody that was judicially noticed by the court. 72

Footnotes

Footnote 60. Cash Inn of Dade, Inc. v Metropolitan Dade County (CA11 Fla) 938 F2d 1239, 20 FR Serv 3d 906; Re Marriage of DeBow (5th Dist) 236 Ill App 3d 1038, 177 Ill Dec 89, 602 NE2d 984, app den 148 Ill 2d 640, 183 Ill Dec 17, 610 NE2d 1261; Finn v Lipman (Me) 526 A2d 1380; Re Murphy (Mo) 732 SW2d 895; Re Interest of N.M., 240 Neb 690, 484 NW2d 77; State ex rel. Pederson v Howell, 239 Neb 51, 474 NW2d 22; Patten v Green (ND) 397 NW2d 458; Re C.A.D. (Okla) 839 P2d 165, amd, on reh (Okla) 1992 Okla LEXIS 197; Lien v Lien (SD) 420 NW2d 26.

Footnote 61. Re Marriage of DeBow (5th Dist) 236 Ill App 3d 1038, 177 Ill Dec 89, 602 NE2d 984, app den 148 Ill 2d 640, 183 Ill Dec 17, 610 NE2d 1261.

Footnote 62. People in interest of O.J.S. (Colo App) 844 P2d 1230, cert gr (Colo) 1993 Colo LEXIS 98 and affd (Colo) 863 P2d 291, dissenting op modified, reh den (Colo) 1993 Colo LEXIS 997; Osei-Kuffnor v Argana (Dist Col App) 618 A2d 712; In Interest of C.M.W. (Mo App) 813 SW2d 331; Re Interest of N.M., 240 Neb 690, 484 NW2d 77; Marble Slab Creamery, Inc. v Wesic, Inc. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 823 SW2d 436; Hanley v Hanley (Tex App Dallas) 813 SW2d 511.

Footnote 63. Philips Medical Sys. Int'l, B.V. v Bruetman (CA7 Ill) 982 F2d 211, RICO Bus Disp Guide (CCH) ¶ 8190, 24 FR Serv 3d 466 (not followed by Select Creations v Paliafito Am. (ED Wis) 830 F Supp 1223) and later proceeding (CA7 Ill) 8 F3d 600, RICO Bus Disp Guide (CCH) ¶ 8419, reh den (CA7 Ill) 1994 US App LEXIS 379.

Footnote 64. Smith v Dorsey (Miss) 599 So 2d 529.

Footnote 65. Finn v Lipman (Me) 526 A2d 1380.

Footnote 66. Re Zemple (Minn App) 489 NW2d 818.

Footnote 67. Re Murphy (Mo) 732 SW2d 895.

Footnote 68. United States v Kates (ED Pa) 419 F Supp 846; Aloe Creme Laboratories, Inc. v Francine Co. (CA5 Fla) 425 F2d 1295; United States v Sterkowicz (ND Ill) 266 F Supp 703, 67-1 USTC ¶ 9474, 19 AFTR 2d 1451; Anderson v Cramlet (CA10 Colo) 789 F2d 840, 12 Media L R 2121; Magnolia Square Homeowners Assn. v Safeco Ins. Co. (6th Dist) 221 Cal App 3d 1049, 271 Cal Rptr 1 (criticized on other grounds by Sosinsky v Grant (5th Dist) 6 Cal App 4th 1548, 8 Cal Rptr 2d 552, 92 CDOS 4274, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6727); Southern California Funding, Inc. v Hutto (Fla App D1) 438 So 2d

426, review den (Fla) 449 So 2d 265; Fleming v Anderson, 187 Va 788, 48 SE2d 269.

Footnote 69. Chorba v Davlisa Enterprises, Inc., 303 Pa Super 497, 450 A2d 36.

Footnote 70. Cockreham v Wyoming Production Credit Asso. (Wyo) 743 P2d 869.

Footnote 71. Valley Vista Dev. Corp. v Broken Arrow (Okla) 766 P2d 344 (citing 62 O.S. (1981) §§ 362, 363).

Footnote 72. Re Mark C., 28 Conn App 247, 610 A2d 181, app den 223 Conn 922, 614 A2d 823.

§ 142 Unrelated cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is sometimes appropriate for a court to judicially notice information from cases unrelated to the one at bar, so long as the facts are not noticed in a way that are unfairly binding upon the parties. ⁷³ Some states, however, do not allow judicial notice of testimony in prior unrelated cases ⁷⁴ and other state courts hold that where the facts offered for judicial notice are derived from pleadings in a case not involving the same parties and are not proved, judicial notice is improper. ⁷⁵

Footnotes

Footnote 73. United States v Montemayor (CA5 Tex) 666 F2d 235, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1141; Marshall v Bramer (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 355, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 371, 8 FR Serv 3d 873, companion case (CA6 Ky) 828 F2d 361, 14 Media L R 1561, 8 FR Serv 3d 1017; Willard v Kelley (Okla) 803 P2d 1124.

Footnote 74. Sutherland v Sutherland (Tenn App) 831 SW2d 283.

Footnote 75. Vulcan Materials Co. v Bee Constr., 96 Ill 2d 159, 70 Ill Dec 465, 449 NE2d 812.

§ 143 Collateral proceedings

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In general, in proceedings that are collateral to a prior lawsuit, courts will take judicial notice of the proceedings in the principal suit. For instance, in a suit to execute a previous judgment for civil damages, courts may judicially notice the principal suit for the sake of judicial convenience. 76 In contempt proceedings, where the petition is to punish the violation of an injunction that was issued by the same court, the court will take judicial notice of the decree violated. 77 The same liberality is found in habeas corpus proceedings. 78

A court may take judicial notice of litigation records (or the absence thereof) to ascertain whether a specific party has instituted proceedings of a particular nature 79 or whether an appeal is pending. 80 Courts have also taken judicial notice of records in other proceedings and courts which indicate a proclivity for litigation suggesting that the claim before the court may be fraudulent, spurious or frivolous. 81 Uncontested, basic information, readily gleaned from the face of documents, may be judicially noticed. 82

Even courts with a grudging attitude tend to be willing to take such notice of the records and decisions in other actions or proceedings involving family law, 83 particularly where children are involved. 84 For example, in an action to enforce a property settlement agreement entered into by the parties as part of a divorce decree, a court will take judicial notice of the underlying divorce decree. 85

Footnotes

Footnote 76. Decker v Kolleda (Marion Co) 57 Ohio App 442, 11 Ohio Ops 124, 26 Ohio L Abs 313, 14 NE2d 417.

Footnote 77. Fontana v Fontana (La App 2d Cir) 426 So 2d 351, cert den (La) 433 So 2d 150; Young v Commonwealth, 194 Va 780, 75 SE2d 479.

Regarding violations of court orders as contempt, see 17 Am Jur 2d, Contempt §§ 130-164.

Footnote 78. Moore v Estelle (CA5 Tex) 526 F2d 690, cert den 426 US 953, 49 L Ed 2d 1192, 96 S Ct 3180 (in considering habeas corpus appeal of state prisoner, Court of Appeals judicially noticed prior habeas corpus proceedings brought by the same petitioner in connection with the same conviction, including state petitions, even where prior state case had not been included in the records; Murray v Louisiana (CA5 La) 347 F2d 825 (on appeal from denial of federal habeas corpus relief, Appellate Court could take judicial notice of prior state petition filed by petitioner); Alexander v Solem (SD) 383 NW2d 486 (habeas court correctly judicially noticed petitioner's underlying file which was necessary and relevant for habeas corpus petition).

Footnote 79. Alvis v Bank of America Nat. Trust & Sav. Asso., 95 Cal App 2d 118, 212 P2d 608, 36 ALR2d 1209.

Footnote 80. Dawson v Campbell, 270 Ala 586, 120 So 2d 727 (absence of judgment or decree supporting an appeal); Bramlett v Alabama State Tenure Com. (Ala App) 341 So 2d 727 (judicial notice that an appeal to a state administrative agency was not timely taken); Re Estate of Lindsay (Fla App D4) 207 So 2d 736.

Footnote 81. Meyerson v Werner (CA2 NY) 683 F2d 723, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 671 (upholding a contempt citation for failing to withdraw yet another bankruptcy petition);

Colonial Penn Ins. Co. v Coil (CA4 SC) 887 F2d 1236, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521, 15 FR Serv 3d 336 (holding that the circumstances entitled the company to revoke its offer of judgment, despite FR Civ P, Rule 68, which directs that such offers are irrevocable); Holmes v United States (ND Ga) 231 F Supp 971, affd (CA5 Ga) 353 F2d 785; Green v Warden, U.S. Penitentiary (CA7 Ind) 699 F2d 364, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1078, cert den 461 US 960, 77 L Ed 2d 1321, 103 S Ct 2436; Conway v Dunbar (CA9 Cal) 448 F2d 765; Schweitzer v Scott (CD Cal) 469 F Supp 1017, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 964; Filrep, S. A. v Barry (3d Dist) 88 Ill App 3d 935, 44 Ill Dec 45, 410 NE2d 1137.

Footnote 82. Re Welfare of Ward, 22 Wash App 774, 592 P2d 661.

Footnote 83. Occhiuto v Occhiuto, 97 Nev 143, 625 P2d 568; Buncher v Buncher, 207 Pa Super 322, 217 A2d 861.

Footnote 84. Witcher v Motley (Ala App) 417 So 2d 208; Re Appeal in Pima County, etc. (App) 135 Ariz 181, 659 P2d 1326 (in proceeding for termination of parental rights, judicial notice of another superior court file was proper); In Interest of Adkins (Iowa) 298 NW2d 273; Re Welfare of Clausen (Minn) 289 NW2d 153 (in parental termination proceeding, trial court properly took judicial notice of files and records from juvenile and criminal divisions of its own jurisdiction); Re Otto, 181 Neb 96, 147 NW2d 164 (in a proceeding to declare children neglected and determine the fitness of a parent, the court took judicial notice of a prior divorce case that was interwoven and interdependent and involved custody of same children); Gross v Gross (SD) 355 NW2d 4 (in proceedings to modify child support provisions of a divorce decree, trial court may take judicial notice of probate pending in its files under which the father will inherit a large amount of money and the means by which the father will inherit); Re S.S. (SD) 334 NW2d 59 (trial court properly took judicial notice of evidence of dependence and neglect from prior proceedings in terminating parental rights); State in interest of C. (Wyo) 638 P2d 165 (the court in child neglect proceedings could take judicial notice of its own records in the case before it as well as the records of a case closely related to it).

Footnote 85. Brooks v Minn, 73 Hawaii 566, 836 P2d 1081.

§ 144 Issue preclusion; res judicata

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts may take judicial notice of their own records in prior proceedings which are between the same parties and are concerned with the same basic facts involving in the same general claims for relief. 86 A court may take judicial notice of other civil cases before it involving the same parties in order to establish an identity of issues and apply the doctrine of collateral estoppel. 87 Courts may take judicial notice under such circumstances in both to criminal convictions 88 and judgments in civil cases, 89 although a court may refuse to take notice of a prior decision which the parties fail to raise. 90 Similarly, courts have taken judicial notice of litigation documents of related cases to ascertain whether an action is barred by a statute of limitations. 91

A court may take judicial notice of court files in another suit between the same parties especially when the relevance of that litigation was expressly made an issue in the current trial. Consequently a court may take judicial notice of the file in a prior suit to hold that an issue in a party's prior appeal is barred by the doctrine of res judicata. 92

Furthermore, although a court may take judicial notice of the existence of its records as well as the records of another court, judicial notice of facts in a court's records is subject to the doctrine of collateral estoppel and res judicata. 93 In addition, the use to which such records may be put is circumscribed by the doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel. 94

Footnotes

Footnote 86. § 141.

Footnote 87. Wilson v Norfolk Southern Corp., 200 Ga App 523, 409 SE2d 84, 102-159 Fulton County D R 10B.

Footnote 88. Kowalski v Gagne (CA1 Mass) 914 F2d 299, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 434; Government of Virgin Islands v Testamark (CA3 VI) 528 F2d 742, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1105; Colonial Penn Ins. Co. v Coil (CA4 SC) 887 F2d 1236, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521, 15 FR Serv 3d 336 (judicial notice that homeowners who sued insurance company after a fire destroyed their home subsequently pleaded guilty to setting the fire); Commodity Futures Trading Com. v Co Petro Marketing Group, Inc. (CA9 Cal) 680 F2d 573, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1494, appeal after remand (CA9 Cal) 700 F2d 1279, 10 BCD 414, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 69108; Coney v Smith (CA11 Fla) 738 F2d 1199.

Footnote 89. St. Louis Baptist Temple, Inc. v Federal Deposit Ins. Corp. (CA10 Colo) 605 F2d 1169, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 23; Lazzarone v Bank of America (3rd Dist) 181 Cal App 3d 581, 226 Cal Rptr 855 (citing Evid. Code §§ 452(d), 453); Cologna v Farmers & Merchants Ins. Co. (Mo App) 785 SW2d 691; Terre Du Lac Asso. v Terre Du Lac, Inc. (Mo App) 737 SW2d 206, 74 ALR4th 141; Cedars Corp. v Sun Valley Dev. Co., 213 Neb 622, 330 NW2d 900 (collateral estoppel); Ringwood v Foreign Auto Works, Inc. (Utah App) 786 P2d 1350, 125 Utah Adv Rep 45, review pending (Utah) 129 Utah Adv Rep 58 and cert den (Utah) 135 Utah Adv Rep 78 and cert den (Utah) 795 P2d 1138 (res judicata); Texas West Oil & Gas Corp. v First Interstate Bank (Wyo) 743 P2d 857, reaffirmed (Wyo) 749 P2d 278 (upon a defendant's motion to dismiss based upon either res judicata or collateral estoppel, a trial court may judicially notice previous determinations of other courts in actions in which plaintiff had been a party).

Footnote 90. Melvin v Nickolopoulos (CA3 NJ) 864 F2d 301 (appellees' failure in federal district court to assert res judicata as to one state court ruling precluded consideration of that ruling on appeal).

Footnote 91. Ellis v Cauhaupé, 71 Wyo 475, 260 P2d 309.

Footnote 92. Legassey v Shulansky, 28 Conn App 653, 611 A2d 930.

Footnote 93. Dairyland Power Coop. v State Bd. of Equalization & Assessment, 238 Neb 696, 472 NW2d 363.

Footnote 94. Texas Real Estate Com. v Nagle (Tex) 767 SW2d 691, reh'g of cause overruled (Apr 12, 1989).

c. Other Executive, Administrative, and Regulatory Matters [145-151]

§ 145 Domestic governmental matters, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts take cognizance of the various departments of government and of their respective powers and duties; 95 of public officials and their responsibilities and authority; 96 and of official acts, regulations, 97 reports, and public records of public officers and agencies. 98 Similarly, courts take judicial notice of information relating to various public institutions and facilities, such as courthouses, 99 schools and colleges, 1 penal and correctional facilities, 2 government projects, 3 and the like. 4

Judicial notice is also often taken of information relating to elections, 5 and politics. 6

Footnotes

Footnote 95. Re Alessi (BC ND Ill) 12 BR 96, 7 BCD 1037, 4 CBC2d 1003, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 68240 (regulation of betting, and particularly of betting on horse races, is generally considered an exercise of police power properly reserved to the states); Jablonski v Caputo (Fla App D2) 297 So 2d 310 (the State Bureau of Vital Statistics is the custodian of records that reflect the granting of divorces in every county in Florida); Department of Public Works & Bldgs. v Dust, 19 Ill 2d 217, 166 NE2d 36 (judicial notice that Department of Public Works and Buildings had power of eminent domain); Irvington Policemen's Benev. Asso. v Irvington, 170 NJ Super 539, 407 A2d 377, 103 BNA LRRM 2358, cert den 82 NJ 296, 412 A2d 801 (the police play an extremely important role in every community's social well-being); Seaborn v Hartsville Rescue Squad, 269 SC 386, 237 SE2d 496 (the state Highway Patrol is responsible for enforcing traffic laws on the public highway); Ex parte Parrott (Tex App Fort Worth) 723 SW2d 342 (court would take judicial notice that the Tarrant County Child Support Office was a section of the Tarrant County Domestic Relations Office formerly known as the Tarrant County Juvenile Department).

Footnote 96. § 146.

Footnote 97. § 122.

Footnote 98. § 149.

Footnote 99. Rhode Island Defense Attorneys Asso. v Dodd (RI) 463 A2d 1370.

Footnote 1. United States v Griffin (CA1 Mass) 525 F2d 710, cert den 424 US 945, 47 L Ed 2d 351, 96 S Ct 1414; Meredith v Fair (CA5 Miss) 298 F2d 696; Cline v Knight, 111 Colo 8, 137 P2d 680, 146 ALR 1281; Coughlon v Iowa High School Athletic Asso., 260 Iowa 702, 150 NW2d 660; Greenhill v Carpenter (Tenn App) 718 SW2d 268.

Footnote 2. Falzerano v Collier (DC NJ) 535 F Supp 800; Chambers v Koehler (WD Mich) 635 F Supp 884 (that prison riots occurred on a certain weekend at certain prisons in Michigan, there having been major and serious conflagrations in which prisoners went on a rampage and which were widely reported in the press); Dunn v White (CA10 Okla) 880 F2d 1188, cert den 493 US 1059, 107 L Ed 2d 954, 110 S Ct 871 (trial court properly took judicial notice, in prisoner's action against prison officials who disciplined him for refusing to submit to AIDS blood test, of the seriousness of the AIDS epidemic and the potential for its transmission among prisoners); Re Shaieb (4th Dist) 250 Cal App 2d 553, 58 Cal Rptr 631 (disapproved on other grounds by In Re Jerald C., 33 Cal 3d 1, 187 Cal Rptr 562, 654 P2d 745) (judicial notice that a particular institution was one of the facilities of the Youth Authority); People v White, 51 Mich App 1, 214 NW2d 326 (judicial notice of available rehabilitative facilities for juvenile); New York Moratorium on Prison Constr. v New York State Dept. of Correctional Services, 91 Misc 2d 674, 398 NYS2d 525 (notice taken of the fact that prison construction projects were urgent and necessary).

Footnote 3. United States v California (ED Cal) 509 F Supp 867, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds, remanded (CA9 Cal) 694 F2d 1171, 13 ELR 20429; Tilghman v Commonwealth, 27 Pa Cmwlth 484, 366 A2d 966, affd 473 Pa 319, 374 A2d 535.

Footnote 4. International Soc. for Krishna Consciousness, Inc. v New Jersey Sports & Exposition Authority (DC NJ) 532 F Supp 1088, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 472, affd (CA3 NJ) 691 F2d 155 (the general history preceding the enactment of legislation creating New Jersey's Meadowland complex is well known and a proper subject for judicial notice); Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority v One Parcel of Land (CA4 Md) 706 F2d 1312, cert den 464 US 893, 78 L Ed 2d 229, 104 S Ct 238 (the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority owns substantial amounts of real property); Wessells v State, Dept. of Highways (Alaska) 562 P2d 1042 (the state government appropriates substantial sums of money each year to its state highway program); Moncur v Los Angeles (2nd Dist) 68 Cal App 3d 118, 137 Cal Rptr 239 (vast size of an international airport in Los Angeles, and the large number of crank calls and bomb threats there); State ex rel. Kern v Arnold, 100 Mont 346, 49 P2d 976, 100 ALR 1071 (greater portion of the time of members of a paid fire department when on duty is devoted to holding themselves in readiness to answer calls).

Footnote 5. Joseph v United States Civil Service Com., 180 US App DC 281, 554 F2d 1140 (judicial notice taken of the number of independent candidates for office in local elections prior to the instant litigation); Coast Indian Community v United States, 213 Ct Cl 129, 550 F2d 639, motion gr 217 Ct Cl 703 (roster of voters was published for three successive weeks in a local newspaper of general circulation, in compliance with a federal regulation governing elections on California reservations and rancheria); Helm v State Election Board (Okla) 589 P2d 224 (votes are cast and counted in Oklahoma County in a way that is unique in Oklahoma); Garland by Mayor & City Council v Louton (Tex App Dallas) 683 SW2d 725, revd on other grounds (Tex) 691 SW2d 603 (a particular city in Texas held a municipal election on January 21, 1984); Bellevue Fire Fighters Local 1604, etc. v Bellevue, 100 Wash 2d 748, 675 P2d 592, cert den 471 US 1015, 85 L Ed 2d 299, 105 S Ct 2017 (some political subdivisions conduct partisan political campaigns; Bellevue Fire Fighters Local 1604, etc. v Bellevue, 100 Wash 2d 748, 675 P2d 592, cert den 471 US 1015, 85 L Ed 2d 299, 105 S Ct 2017 (some political subdivisions conduct partisan political campaigns).

Footnote 6. United States v Dallas County Com. (CA11 Ala) 739 F2d 1529, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 116 (court may not judicially notice that voter apathy existed or was a basic reason for the discriminatory results of the election system in Alabama); Awtry v United States, 231 Ct Cl 271, 684 F2d 896, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 748 (stating that courts take judicial notice how each party competes every four years to persuade the farmer that it will do more for them than the other party will); Montana Auto. Assn. v Greely, 193 Mont 378, 632 P2d 300 (judicial notice taken of the compelling need for disclosure laws designed to deter actual corruption and the avoidance of the appearance of corruption).

§ 146 Public officials and their functions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Courts regularly take judicial notice of who holds various public offices, from the President on down, the time of their accession to office, their terms of service, their public duties and in some cases their public acts. 7 Included in this category are members of the Cabinet, 8 United States senators, 9 state governors, 10 state legislators, 11 and other elected and appointed officers, 12 This issue often arises in litigation against a government entity when it is necessary to substitute a new office holder for his or her predecessor who was initially named in the suit. 13

Courts likewise take notice of the official character, duties, powers, jurisdiction, existence, times of election and terms of office of county and other government subdivisions. 14 Similarly courts judicially notice other matters relating to public officers or employees that are common knowledge within the jurisdiction of the court. 15 For example, a court may take judicial notice pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence 201 that a state's board of medical examiners will provide, in response to a telephone call or letter from anyone, current information on the status of all physicians licensed in that state. 16 In addition, a court may judicially recognize that a state department of environmental protection, as a state agency, acts pursuant to its parens patriae authority to abate damage to third parties and property owned or controlled by the state. 17

§ 146 ----Public officials and their functions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court in sex discrimination suit against fire company erred in taking judicial notice of status of fire companies in Maryland to reach its conclusion that defendant was not engaged in exclusive public function, since it concerned disputed adjudicative facts and was unsupported by any record evidence. Haavistola v Community Fire Co. (1993, CA4 Md) 6 F3d 211, 63 BNA FEP Cas 207, 62 CCH EPD ¶ 42570, on remand, count dismd (DC Md) 63 BNA FEP Cas 929, costs/fees proceeding (DC Md) 1994 US Dist LEXIS 729.

Footnotes

Footnote 7. Richardson v McChesney, 218 US 487, 54 L Ed 1121, 31 S Ct 43; Re Watson, 71 Nev 227, 286 P2d 254, 53 ALR2d 301 (Judicial notice that judge was returned to office by voters with knowledge of previous misconduct); Board of County Comrs. v Snellgrove (Okla) 428 P2d 272.

Footnote 8. Mellon v Brewer, 57 App DC 126, 18 F2d 168, 53 ALR 1519, cert den 275 US 530, 72 L Ed 409, 48 S Ct 28 (as to who was Secretary of the Treasury at a given date).

Footnote 9. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200.

Footnote 10. Radant v Vargason, 220 Neb 116, 368 NW2d 483.

Footnote 11. Bluthardt v Breslin, 74 Ill 2d 246, 24 Ill Dec 151, 384 NE2d 1309 (taking judicial notice that, subsequent to plaintiffs' challenge to defendant's right to sit and serve as a member of state House of Representative, defendant was re-elected); Tilghman v Commonwealth, 27 Pa Cmwlth 484, 366 A2d 966, affd 473 Pa 319, 374 A2d 535 (judicial notice that plaintiff had been a state senator since 1969 and was a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee).

Footnote 12. Alberto v Nicolas, 279 US 139, 73 L Ed 642, 49 S Ct 317; Collins v Loisel, 259 US 309, 66 L Ed 956, 42 S Ct 469, habeas corpus proceeding 262 US 426, 67 L Ed 1062, 43 S Ct 618.

Footnote 13. Leadership Roundtable v Little Rock (ED Ark) 499 F Supp 579, affd (CA8 Ark) 661 F2d 701 (city manager); Klassy v Weaver (ND Ga) 575 F Supp 801 (administrator of Small Business Administration); State ex rel. Essex v Riley, 51 Ohio St 2d 44, 5 Ohio Ops 3d 24, 364 NE2d 1139 (relator was no longer state superintendent of public instruction).

Footnote 14. State ex rel. McLeod v Snipes, 266 SC 415, 223 SE2d 853.

Footnote 15. State ex rel. Kern v Arnold, 100 Mont 346, 49 P2d 976, 100 ALR 1071.

Footnote 16. Kadan v Commercial Ins. Co. (ED La) 800 F Supp 1392, later proceeding (ED La) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 14443.

Footnote 17. Reliance Ins. Co. v Armstrong World Indus., Inc., 259 NJ Super 538, 614 A2d 642, mod, summary judgment gr (Law Div) 265 NJ Super 148, 625 A2d 601.

§ 147 --Legislative bodies

View Entire Section

The courts take judicial notice of matters relating to the composition and proceedings of legislative bodies, 18 and courts have taken judicial notice of the time of the commencement and close of a session of the legislature, 19 and the duration of the terms of the legislators. 20 The courts also take judicial notice of proceedings of legislative bodies, particularly those proceedings set forth in legislative journals. 21

Footnotes

Footnote 18. Wallace v United States, 258 US 296, 66 L Ed 626, 42 S Ct 318.

Footnote 19. Richardson v McChesney, 218 US 487, 54 L Ed 1121, 31 S Ct 43.

Footnote 20. Richardson v McChesney, 218 US 487, 54 L Ed 1121, 31 S Ct 43.

Footnote 21. § 125.

§ 148 --Construction of statutes by government officials

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Judicial notice may be taken of the uniform and continued practice of the head of an executive department of the state government in construing and administering a law which it is his duty to execute. 22 Therefore, courts will take judicial notice of the construction of a statute by the attorney general of a state. 23

Footnotes

Footnote 22. Short v W. T. Carter & Bro., 133 Tex 202, 126 SW2d 953, app dismd 308 US 513, 84 L Ed 438, 60 S Ct 140; Associated Hospital Service v Milwaukee, 13 Wis 2d 447, 109 NW2d 271, 88 ALR2d 1395.

Footnote 23. State v Garland, 250 Iowa 428, 94 NW2d 122.

§ 149 Acts, reports, and records of administrative agencies

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The official decisions, acts, orders, reports and records of federal agencies and officers in specific cases are often judicially noticed by federal courts 24 and state courts, 25 although a court should not judicially notice a government record if it has not been properly authenticated, 26 and a court has broad discretion to take judicial notice of matters of public record. 27 Some courts will not take judicial notice of federal agency records and regulations, stating that they are not proper subjects for judicial notice. 28

The decisions, acts and records of state agencies are also often judicially noticed by state courts 29 and federal courts. 30

In unusual circumstances, however, courts occasionally refuse to judicially notice such items, 31 and some courts will not take judicial notice of administrative rules or regulations as a general rule. 32 Courts have, however, accorded judicial notice to a decision of the Director of Selective Service relating to exemption from induction into the armed forces. 33

Footnotes

Footnote 24. Arizona v California, 283 US 423, 75 L Ed 1154, 51 S Ct 522 (reports of congressional committees); Gustafson v Cornelius Co. (CA8 Minn) 724 F2d 75, 115 BNA LRRM 2284, 99 CCH LC ¶ 10664 (criticized on other grounds by Minnesota Federation of Teachers v Randall (CA8 Minn) 891 F2d 1354) (taking judicial notice of the date a former employee filed a grievance with the NLRB); Missouri P. R. Co. v United Transp. Union, General Committee of Adjustment (ED Mo) 580 F Supp 1490, affd (CA8 Mo) 782 F2d 107, 121 BNA LRRM 2445, 104 CCH LC ¶ 11762, cert den 482 US 927, 96 L Ed 2d 696, 107 S Ct 3209, 125 BNA LRRM 2616; United States v Coffman (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 192, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 839, cert den 451 US 917, 68 L Ed 2d 309, 101 S Ct 1995; Willcox v Federal Power Com., 185 US App DC 287, 567 F2d 394, 7 ELR 20555, cert den 434 US 1012, 54 L Ed 2d 755, 98 S Ct 724 and (criticized on other grounds by Consolidated Edison Co. v Federal Energy Regulatory Com., 219 US App DC 165, 676 F2d 763) (judicially noticing the Commission's order denying stay and granting rehearing); American Indians Residing on Maricopa-Ak Chin Reservation v United States, 229 Ct Cl 167, 667 F2d 980, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1532, cert den 456 US 989, 73 L Ed 2d 1284, 102 S Ct 2269 (Department of the Interior records, stored in National Archives, concerning right-of-way acquired by railroads in the public domain).

Footnote 25. Heston v Farmers Ins. Group (2nd Dist) 160 Cal App 3d 402, 206 Cal Rptr 585 (brief filed by insurance company's counsel before National Labor Relations Board in 1973); People v Pollution Control Bd., 103 Ill 2d 441, 83 Ill Dec 168, 469 NE2d 1102 (Federal Register notice calling for comment on new microbiological water quality criteria); Smitty's Super Markets, Inc. v Retail Store Employees Local 322 (Mo App) 637 SW2d 148, 116 BNA LRRM 3393, 97 CCH LC ¶ 10205, on remand (Mo Cir Ct) 116 BNA LRRM 3455 (judicial notice of decision by administrative law judge in related matter before NLRB); Scafetta v Arlington County, 13 Va App 646, 414 SE2d 438, stay gr, reh gr (Va App) 1992 Va App LEXIS 111 and stay vac, on reh 14 Va App 834, 419 SE2d 384, 425 SE2d 807.

Footnote 26. Powers v Dole (CA7 Ill) 782 F2d 689, 39 BNA FEP Cas 1774, 39 CCH EPD ¶ 35912.

A court is free to take judicial notice of certain facts that are of public record if they are provided to the court by the party seeking to have them considered. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) filings fall within this category of public records that may be judicially noticed. Re Delmarva Secur. Litigation (DC Del) 794 F Supp 1293, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96905.

A court may take judicial notice of the population of a given city indicated in a state official manual. Sulls v Director of Revenue (Mo App) 819 SW2d 782.

Footnote 27. Chasalow v Board of Assessors (2d Dept) 176 App Div 2d 800, 575 NYS2d 129.

Footnote 28. Steckler v United Van Lines (La App 5th Cir) 503 So 2d 133.

Footnote 29. Marina Tenants Assn. v Deauville Marina Development Co. (2nd Dist) 181 Cal App 3d 122, 226 Cal Rptr 321 (master lease between county and lessees); Scannell v County of Riverside (4th Dist) 152 Cal App 3d 596, 199 Cal Rptr 644 (county sheriff's booking sheet in a criminal case); Re Final Grand Jury Report Concerning Torrington Police Dept., 197 Conn 698, 501 A2d 377 (public portion of special report investigating alleged criminal activities by members of police department); Felt v Board of Trustees, 107 Ill 2d 158, 89 Ill Dec 855, 481 NE2d 698 (records relating to funding of judges retirement system); School City of Gary v State, 253 Ind 697, 256 NE2d 909, 42 ALR3d 1432 (the assessed valuation figures of the city's taxable property); Re Objection to Real Property Taxes (Minn) 353 NW2d 525 (tax court, after notifying parties of its intent to do so, properly took judicial notice of sales ratio studies prepared by Department of Revenue); Re Handy, 144 Vt 610, 481 A2d 1051 (Liquor Control Board could properly take judicial notice of its own records of petitioner's infractions).

Annotation: Judicial notice as to assessed valuations, 42 ALR3d 1439.

Footnote 30. Sinaloa Lake Owners Asso. v Simi Valley (CA9 Cal) 882 F2d 1398, cert den 494 US 1016, 108 L Ed 2d 493, 110 S Ct 1317, later proceeding (CD Cal) 805 F Supp 824, 92 Daily Journal DAR 13912, later proceeding (CA9 Cal) 1993 US App LEXIS 11958.

Footnote 31. People v Thacker (5th Dist) 175 Cal App 3d 594, 221 Cal Rptr 37; Dykes v Quincy Tel. Co. (Fla App D1) 539 So 2d 503, 49 BNA FEP Cas 425, 14 FLW 465 (court refused to take notice of recommended orders filed before one agency, as the orders were only recommended, not final and declined to notice orders filed by a second agency that was not a public agency for purposes of the judicial notice provision of the state evidence code); Country Club Hills Homeowners Asso. v Jefferson Metropolitan Housing Authority (Jefferson Co) 5 Ohio App 3d 77, 5 Ohio BR 189, 449 NE2d 460, motion overr (plaintiffs' standing to sue was based on their status as property owners, but instead of testifying to that fact, they requested the judge to take judicial notice of records of the county recorder's office and the court refused to take notice of the records, which were apparently not reproduced); Rousse v Isle La Motte, 144 Vt 416, 479 A2d 132 (court held that it could not judicially notice evidence in other appeals before State Board of Appraisers, as those cases are not on appeal to the court).

Footnote 32. Donahoo v Nebraska Liquor Control Com., 229 Neb 197, 426 NW2d 250.

Footnote 33. Bowles v United States, 319 US 33, 87 L Ed 1194, 63 S Ct 912, reh den 319 US 785, 87 L Ed 1728, 63 S Ct 1323.

§ 150 Officials' signatures and seals

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The seals and signatures of the chief magistrate, heads of departments and principal officers of the government, state and national, are judicially noticeable, 34 as are those of officers of the court. 35 Notice may also be taken of the seals of local notaries, 36 and a court will take judicial notice of the seals of public notaries of foreign countries where mandated by statute. 37

Footnotes

Footnote 34. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200; York & M. L. R. Co. v Winans, 58 US 30, 17 How 30, 15 L Ed 27.

Footnote 35. Cook v State, 269 Ala 646, 115 So 2d 101 (signatures of clerks of the circuit will be judicially noticed); State v Ward, 118 NH 874, 395 A2d 511 (summarized in preceding footnote).

Footnote 36. Re Haase (App) 120 Wis 2d 40, 353 NW2d 821 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Re Recall Petition of Carlson (App) 147 Wis 2d 630, 433 NW2d 635) (judicial notice taken of the fact that commissions of public notaries were valid and in effect at time of their notarization of recall petitions, regarding two school board members).

For a discussion of proof of the facts in a notary's certificate, see 58 Am Jur 2d, Notaries Public § 45.

Footnote 37. People v Hollander (1st Dist) 163 Cal App 2d 379, 329 P2d 740.

§ 151 Procedural issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

As is the case with judicial notice generally, 38 a court may notice an agency regulation, act, report, or record even though not included in the parties' pleadings or in the record on appeal. 39 although there is authority to the contrary. 40

It is important, in assessing the propriety of taking judicial notice of a particular agency regulation, record or action, to consider why the item to be noticed is relevant. If it is relevant for some nonhearsay purpose, it is difficult to imagine a substantive reason to refuse judicial notice. Such is the case, for example, when an agency action is relevant as an operative legal fact. 41 or when the mere fact that an agency has acted is relevant, without regard to the correctness of its action. 42 Similarly, courts should be free to notice agency actions, records, and reports as legislative facts. 43 Even statements made by private individuals as part of an agency record properly may be noticed if relevant for a nonhearsay purpose. 44

Information contained in public records offered as adjudicative fact for hearsay purposes may also be judicially noticeable, but only if the record or information satisfies an exception to the hearsay rule. 45 and only if the adversely effected party is given an opportunity to contest the accuracy of the information. 46 In determining whether an action is timely within a statute of limitations, for example, it is common for a court to judicially notice a public record as to the date the triggering event occurred. 47

Footnotes

Footnote 38. § 36.

Footnote 39. KVUE, Inc. v Moore (CA5 Tex) 709 F2d 922, 9 Media L R 2334, affd 465 US 1092, 80 L Ed 2d 114, 104 S Ct 1580 (judicial notice of state attorney general's formal opinion clarifying a statute at issue, without remanding case to district court); Port Arthur v United States (DC Dist Col) 517 F Supp 987, affd 459 US 159, 74 L Ed 2d 334, 103 S Ct 530 (taking judicial notice of 1980 census information in Voting Rights Act case, although census had not been published until after trial); McNeil v McDonough (DC NJ) 515 F Supp 113, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1135, affd (CA3 NJ) 648 F2d 178, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1161, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31764 (noticing decision by state attorney general); Felt v Board of Trustees, 107 Ill 2d 158, 89 Ill Dec 855, 481 NE2d 698 (reports by state agencies as to fiscal soundness of state public retirement system); Dietz v Property Tax Appeal Bd. (4th Dist) 191 Ill App 3d 468, 138 Ill Dec 746, 547 NE2d 1367, app den 131 Ill 2d 558, 142 Ill Dec 880, 553 NE2d 394 (judicially noticing State Department of Revenue's Real Property Appraisal Manual even though neither party relied on it in proceedings below); Jannett v King (Mo App) 687 SW2d 252 (judicial notice of Division of Health regulations pertaining to breathalyzer testing permitted without introduction or regulations into evidence, since state statute requires judicial notice of code of state regulations without proof); Lang v County of Delaware, 88 Pa Cmwlth 452, 490 A2d 20, later proceeding 138 Pa Cmwlth 276, 587 A2d 889, app den 529 Pa 665, 604 A2d 1031 (even though parties had made no mention in their briefs regarding Department of General Services regulations, the court could not ignore them inasmuch as the court had dealt previously with them in an unrelated matter).

Regarding a court's authority to take judicial notice of matters regardless of whether they've been pleaded, see § 39.

Footnote 40. United States v Judge (CA5 Tex) 846 F2d 274, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 911, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 864 F2d 1144, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 868 F2d 1271 and cert den 495 US 918, 109 L Ed 2d 309, 110 S Ct 1946; Duderstadt Surveyors

Supply, Inc. v Alamo Express, Inc. (Tex App San Antonio) 686 SW2d 351, writ ref n r e (May 22, 1985) (expressing reluctance to notice on appeal State Railroad Commission actions that the trial court had not had an opportunity to examine and consider); Minnesota Federation of Teachers v Randall (CA8 Minn) 891 F2d 1354.

Footnote 41. American Indians Residing on Maricopa-Ak Chin Reservation v United States, 229 Ct Cl 167, 667 F2d 980, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1532, cert den 456 US 989, 73 L Ed 2d 1284, 102 S Ct 2269 (in resolving whether the Department of the Interior had granted a right-of-way to railroads over certain land, the court can consult Department records, stored in National Archives); Marina Tenants Assn. v Deauville Marina Development Co. (2nd Dist) 181 Cal App 3d 122, 226 Cal Rptr 321 (where the controversy before the court depended in part upon the terms of a master lease between a county and lessees, the court may judicially notice the lease).

Footnote 42. People v Pollution Control Bd., 103 Ill 2d 441, 83 Ill Dec 168, 469 NE2d 1102 (Federal Register notice calling for comment on new microbiological water quality criteria was relevant in justifying concern for adequacy of existing state criteria).

Footnote 43. Re Final Grand Jury Report Concerning Torrington Police Dept., 197 Conn 698, 501 A2d 377 (in considering news media application to release grand jury testimony and sealed portions of a special investigative report, the court took judicial notice of the portions that had been released publicly).

Footnote 44. Heston v Farmers Ins. Group (2nd Dist) 160 Cal App 3d 402, 206 Cal Rptr 585. The parties disagreed as to how a particular clause in a contract should be construed; the court took judicial notice that, in a brief filed by insurance company's counsel before National Labor Relations Board in 1973 concerning interpretation of an identical clause, the company took the same position that plaintiff maintained in the current suit.

Footnote 45. For a discussion of the rule against hearsay and exceptions to the hearsay rule, see §§ 658-660.

Footnote 46. § 38.

Footnote 47. Gustafson v Cornelius Co. (CA8 Minn) 724 F2d 75, 115 BNA LRRM 2284, 99 CCH LC ¶ 10664 (criticized on other grounds by Minnesota Federation of Teachers v Randall (CA8 Minn) 891 F2d 1354) (taking judicial notice of the date a former employee filed a grievance with the NLRB); Scannell v County of Riverside (4th Dist) 152 Cal App 3d 596, 199 Cal Rptr 644 (sustaining a demurrer to a false imprisonment action based on a statute of limitations, the court took judicial notice of the county sheriff's booking sheet as to the date of arrest).

11. Other Matters [152-154]

§ 152 Phenomena of nature; seasons; plants

View Entire Section

Courts will ordinarily take judicial notice of the operation and effect of natural laws and of nature's powers and forces, 48 with the qualification that notice is limited to those natural laws which are of uniform occurrence. 49 The rule prevails, as a corollary of the courts' recognition of such facts, that it is not necessary to prove things which must have happened according to the ordinary course of nature. 50 The usual amount of rainfall in certain localities at certain seasons of the year, 51 is subject to judicial notice. For example, the fact that it rains in Louisiana is a proper subject for judicial notice. 52 In addition, that certain years were years of unusual rainfall, 53 common facts relating to floods, 54 the prevalence of certain weather conditions in a given locality, 55 the action of the elements; 56 the fact that sounds in a dense fog are very deceptive, 57 the natural tendency of wood to decay when exposed to the weather and badly in need of paint, 58 the laws of gravity 59 and the peculiar qualities of gas and oil, 60 are proper subjects for judicial notice. Taking judicial notice of weather conditions existing approximately two months prior to trial may, however, be improper. 61

Courts accept without proof the common phenomena of vegetable life, including, but not limited to: the general course of agriculture and husbandry; the general times or seasons for planting crops which are commonly grown in the community; the maturity and harvesting of crops, and general facts relating to their tillage and care. 62 For example, a court may take judicial notice of fragility of the ecology of sand dunes and grasses of a barrier beach. 63

Footnotes

Footnote 48. Lie v San Francisco & Portland S.S. Co., 243 US 291, 61 L Ed 726, 37 S Ct 270.

Footnote 49. Brown v Spilman, 155 US 665, 39 L Ed 304, 15 S Ct 245.

Footnote 50. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200.

Footnote 51. Brown v Gessler, 191 Or 503, 230 P2d 541, 23 ALR2d 815.

Footnote 52. S.J. Lemoine, Inc. v St. Landry Parish School Bd. (La App 3d Cir) 527 So 2d 1150.

Footnote 53. McKeon v Brammer, 238 Iowa 1113, 29 NW2d 518, 174 ALR 1229.

Footnote 54. Howell v Hutchinson, 177 Kan 722, 282 P2d 373, 63 ALR2d 882.

Footnote 55. Fair Ocean Co. v Cargo of Permina Samudra XII (DC Guam) 423 F Supp 1037; Tug "Sea Hawk" v Sococo, Ltd. (SD Fla) 707 F Supp 1306, affd without op (CA11 Fla) 894 F2d 411; Rubin v Appel (Fla App D3) 194 So 2d 318; Brown v Gessler, 191 Or 503, 230 P2d 541, 23 ALR2d 815.

Practice Aids: Rain and other weather phenomena. 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 49.

Footnote 56. Mefer S.A.R.L. of Paris v Naviagro Maritime Corp. (SD NY) 533 F Supp 337, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 476; Howell v Hutchinson, 177 Kan 722, 282 P2d 373, 63 ALR2d 882; Hammack v Missouri Clean Water Com. (Mo App) 659 SW2d 595 (rejecting restaurant owner's challenge to order directing him to construct an adequate waste water treatment facility).

Footnote 57. Lie v San Francisco & Portland S.S. Co., 243 US 291, 61 L Ed 726, 37 S Ct 270 (judicial notice taken that such fact "is a matter of common knowledge").

Footnote 58. Stupka v Scheidel, 244 Iowa 442, 56 NW2d 874, later proceeding 249 Iowa 953, 90 NW2d 10.

Footnote 59. Concrete Appliances Co. v Gomery, 269 US 177, 70 L Ed 222, 46 S Ct 42.

Footnote 60. 38 Am Jur 2d, Gas and Oil § 326.

Footnote 61. Cook County Dept. of Environmental Control v Tomar Industries, Div. of Polk Bros. (1st Dist) 29 Ill App 3d 751, 331 NE2d 196 (variable weather conditions, not strikingly unusual, cannot be held to constitute matters of common or general knowledge within the community).

Footnote 62. Western Union Tel. Co. v Bush, 191 Ark 1085, 89 SW2d 723, 103 ALR 367; Scarborough v Calypso Veneer Co., 244 NC 1, 92 SE2d 435, 57 ALR2d 818; Miller v Miller, 101 Or App 371, 790 P2d 1184.

Footnote 63. Lemp v Town Bd. of Islip, 90 Misc 2d 360, 394 NYS2d 517, 7 ELR 20613.

§ 153 Habits, traits, and diseases of animals

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have taken judicial notice of the habits and characteristics of dogs, 64 pigs, 65 that deer browse on and near farms, 66 and that fish sometimes quit biting for no apparent reason. 67 Judicial notice may also be taken that horses 68 and other livestock are easily frightened. 69 Judicial notice has also been taken of the common diseases of animals 70 and that ordinary corn will not kill cattle. 71

There is, however, no authority for the proposition that judicial notice may be taken as to the ferocity of any particular type of domestic animal. Therefore, a court may not take judicial notice that german shepherd dogs are, as a breed, vicious. 72 Neither may a court take judicial notice of the allegedly normal propensities of horses to fight and bite each other, so as to establish notice of viciousness in the owner. 73

Footnotes

Footnote 64. Lloyd v Alton R. Co., 348 Mo 122, 159 SW2d 267.

Footnote 65. Pendoley v Ferreira, 345 Mass 309, 187 NE2d 142, 2 ALR3d 924 (it is common knowledge that the offensive odors of a piggery with a large number of pigs cannot be confined to a small area, such as 25 acres); Jarvis v Koss, 139 Vt 254, 427 A2d 364 (it is common knowledge that pigs are rooting animals).

Annotation: Keeping pigs as nuisance, 2 ALR3d 931.

Footnote 66. Smith v Costello, 77 Idaho 205, 290 P2d 742, 56 ALR2d 1020.

Footnote 67. Harris v Brooks, 225 Ark 436, 283 SW2d 129, 54 ALR2d 1440.

Footnote 68. Bracken v Bruce, 190 NJ Super 146, 462 A2d 201.

Footnote 69. Long v United States (DC SC) 241 F Supp 286 (livestock in general and mules in particular are easily frightened by sudden loud noises and by objects which are propelled directly at and over their heads).

Footnote 70. Kimmish v Ball, 129 US 217, 32 L Ed 695, 9 S Ct 277.

Footnote 71. Doane v Farmers Cooperative Co., 250 Iowa 390, 94 NW2d 115, 81 ALR2d 128.

Footnote 72. De Vault v Carvigo, Inc. (2d Dept) 138 App Div 2d 669, 526 NYS2d 483, app dismd without op 72 NY2d 914, 532 NYS2d 848, 529 NE2d 178 and app den 72 NY2d 806, 532 NYS2d 847, 529 NE2d 177.

Footnote 73. Vigue v Noyes, 113 Ariz 237, 550 P2d 234 (action against the owner of a horse which kicked a small child in the head).

§ 154 Time and related matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some courts take judicial notice of systems of time which have been in universal use. 74 Courts may also take judicial notice of the day of the week upon which any day of the month falls. 75 In addition, the time of the rising or setting of the sun or moon upon a particular day is a proper matter for the judicial cognizance of the court, 76 as is the duration of day or night, allowing a court to determine whether on a specific day at a specific time, it was daylight. 77 A court may also take judicial notice that at 2:15 a.m. most people are tired and probably not as alert as earlier in the evening. 78 Judicial notice has also been taken of the observance of daylight savings time and when it has gone into effect. 79

Footnotes

Footnote 74. McFarlane v Whitney, 134 Tex 394, 134 SW2d 1047; Anderson v Cook, 102 Utah 265, 130 P2d 278, 143 ALR 987.

Footnote 75. Brown v Piper, 91 US 37, 1 Otto 37, 23 L Ed 200.

Footnote 76. La Com v Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (1st Dist) 132 Cal App 2d 114, 281 P2d 894, 48 ALR2d 1455; Brooks v Stewart (Mo) 335 SW2d 104, 81 ALR2d 508; State v Powell (Mo) 306 SW2d 531, 66 ALR2d 1141; State v Dancy, 297 NC 40, 252 SE2d 514.

Footnote 77. Toole v Salter, 249 SC 354, 154 SE2d 434.

Footnote 78. Moore v Board of Educ. of Fulton Public School No. 58 (Mo) 836 SW2d 943, cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 666, 113 S Ct 1270.

Footnote 79. Playboy Club, Inc. v Myers (Mo) 431 SW2d 228.

III. BURDEN OF PROOF [155-180]

A. Generally; In Civil Cases [155-167]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 92.5, 93

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 71 et seq.

Jones on Evidence (7th Ed) §§ 3:1 et seq.

1. Introduction [155-157]

§ 155 Burdens of proof, persuasion and production

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

The term burden of proof has been used to describe two related but distinct concepts: the burden of production and the burden of persuasion. 80

To satisfy the burden of production is also sometimes referred to as making out a prima facie case; 81 and the term is sometimes used in legislation for this purpose. 82 Thus, proof of the underlying fact is enough to survive a motion for a directed verdict. 83

Whether a party has satisfied its burden of production is not an issue of fact for the jury;

it is an issue of law. It arises when, after a party rests, an opposing counsel brings a motion for a directed verdict or the like. 84

The burden of persuasion aspect of the burden of proof describes the obligation of a party to introduce evidence that persuades the factfinder, to a requisite degree of belief, that a particular proposition of fact is true. 85

The burden of persuasion has two components; first, the facts a party must plead and prove in order to prevail on a particular issue, and second, how persuasively it must prove those facts. 86

§ 155 ----Burdens of proof, persuasion and production [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The assignment of the burden of proof is a rule of substantive law. Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, Dep't of Labor v Greenwich Collieries (US) 129 L Ed 2d 221, 114 S Ct 2251.

Rules that have evolved concerning burden of production serve many important functions, including ascertaining truth and justice. Beacon Bowl v Wisconsin Elec. Power Co. (1993) 176 Wis 2d 740, 501 NW2d 788.

Footnotes

Footnote 80. Abilene Sheet Metal, Inc. v NLRB (CA5) 619 F2d 332, 104 BNA LRRM 3077, 89 CCH LC ¶ 12152; Board of Trade v Dow Jones & Co. (1st Dist) 108 Ill App 3d 681, 64 Ill Dec 275, 439 NE2d 526, 218 USPQ 636, affd 98 Ill 2d 109, 74 Ill Dec 582, 456 NE2d 84; Office of Consumer Advocate v Iowa Utilities Bd. (Iowa) 454 NW2d 883; Holy Spirit Asso. for Unification of World Christianity v Department of Treasury, 131 Mich App 743, 347 NW2d 707; Trustees of Carpenters for Southern Nevada Health & Welfare Trust v Better Bldg. Co., 101 Nev 742, 710 P2d 1379; Sunderland v North Dakota Workmen's Compensation Bureau (ND) 370 NW2d 549.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Definition of burden of proof. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 71, 72.

Footnote 81. Texas Dept. of Community Affairs v Burdine, 450 US 248, 67 L Ed 2d 207, 101 S Ct 1089, 25 BNA FEP Cas 113, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31544, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, on remand (CA5 Tex) 647 F2d 513, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1746, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31898 and (not followed on other grounds by Burton v Ohio, Adult Parole Authority (CA6 Ohio) 798 F2d 164, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1799, 41 CCH EPD ¶ 36544) and (criticized on other grounds by Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 581, 7 FLW Fed S 553).

Law Reviews: Morgan, Choice of Law Governing Proof, 58 Harv LR 153.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Prima facie evidence defined. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms

(Rev), Evidence, Form 103.

Footnote 82. For instance, 15 USCS § 1127 provides that a trademark is deemed abandoned when its use is discontinued without intent to resume its use, and that proof of nonuse for two years constitutes prima facie evidence of abandonment.

Footnote 83. Poncy v Johnson & Johnson (DC NJ) 460 F Supp 795, 202 USPQ 199, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1313.

Footnote 84. See § 164 for a discussion of the burden of proof requirements of a motion for a directed verdict.

Footnote 85. People v Superior Court of San Francisco (1st Dist) 119 Cal App 3d 162, 173 Cal Rptr 788, 22 ALR4th 1140; Harman v Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 91 Idaho 719, 429 P2d 849.

Law Reviews: McNaughton, Burden of Proof and Presumptions in Massachusetts, 35 Bos U LR 481.

Footnote 86. See § 157 for a discussion of these two components of the burden of persuasion.

§ 156 Burdens and presumptions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Burden of proof and presumption embody distinct legal concepts. 87 They are related in that a presumption may shift the burden of production as to a particular fact from one party to another and may aid the party with the ultimate burden of persuasion to satisfy that burden. 88 As a rule, a presumption does not shift the burden of persuasion. 89

Footnotes

Footnote 87. Kadala v Amoco Oil Co. (CA4 Md) 820 F2d 1355; Lisbon Contractors, Inc. v United States (CA FC) 828 F2d 759, 34 CCF ¶ 75358; Palenkas v Beaumont Hospital, 432 Mich 527, 443 NW2d 354; Dehner v St. Louis (Mo App) 688 SW2d 15.

Law Reviews: Hoffman & Schroeder, Burdens of Proof, 38 Ala LR 31 (1986).

Footnote 88. Byrd v Giffen Industries, Inc. (Fla App D2) 133 So 2d 482; Sanders v Davila (Tex Civ App Amarillo) 593 SW2d 127, writ ref n r e (Apr 30, 1980).

Footnote 89. Simpson v Home Petroleum Corp. (CA5 Tex) 770 F2d 499; Lehew v Larsen (Fla App D1) 124 So 2d 872, 85 ALR2d 821; Dehner v St. Louis (Mo App) 688 SW2d 15.

§ 157 Degree of proof: preponderance of evidence and clear and convincing evidence tests

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Generally the party with the burden of persuasion must establish the elements of its case by a preponderance of the evidence; that generally occurs when the factfinder is satisfied that the fact is more likely true than not true. 90 Jury instructions defining preponderance of the evidence usually include language directing the jury to find against the party with the burden if it is unable to decide whether a preponderance has been shown. 91

Occasionally constitutional or policy considerations impose a greater burden of persuasion; in such instances a party will be required to prove its case by clear and convincing evidence. 92 Clear and convincing evidence is defined in a variety of ways; for example, to establish a fact or an element by clear and convincing evidence a party must persuade the jury that the proposition is highly probable, 93 or must produce in the mind of the factfinder a firm belief or conviction that the allegations in question are true. 94

§ 157 ----Degree of proof: preponderance of evidence and clear and convincing evidence tests [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

While the difficulty of ascertaining where the truth lies may make it appropriate to place the burden of proof on the proponent of an issue, such difficulty does not justify the additional onus of an especially high standard of proof. Cooper v Oklahoma (1996, US) 134 L Ed 2d 498, 96 CDOS 2645, 96 Daily Journal DAR 4383, 9 FLW Fed S 529.

Wisconsin cases have long applied middle burden of proof, evidence that is clear, satisfactory and convincing, in civil actions involving such matters as punitive damages, conduct that could be prosecuted as crime, and allegations of fraud, and undue influence because these matters are more serious than factual issues in ordinary civil case and fall within certain classes of acts for which stigma attaches and therefore, greater degree of certitude is required. Carlson & Erickson Builders v Lampert Yards (1995) 190 Wis 2d 651, 529 NW2d 905, 1995-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 70937.

Footnotes

Footnote 90. Masaki v General Motors Corp., 71 Hawaii 1, 780 P2d 566, reconsideration den 71 Hawaii 664, 833 P2d 899; Crowell v Alexandria (La) 558 So 2d 216.

The party asserting negligence must prove negligence by a preponderance of the evidence. Hensley v United States (SD Fla) 728 F Supp 716; Toomer v United Resin Adhesives, Inc. (ND Ill) 652 F Supp 219; May v V.F.W. Post No. 2539 (Miss) 577 So 2d 372; Perotti v Ohio Dept. of Rehab. & Corr., 61 Ohio App 3d 86, 572 NE2d 172; Harvilla v Delcamp, 521 Pa 21, 555 A2d 763.

Plaintiff must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant's negligent act or omission violated a duty owed to plaintiff and that there is a reasonable connection between the act or omission and plaintiff's injury. Culver v Bennett (Del Sup) 588 A2d 1094.

As to the elements of actionable negligence, generally, see 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 78 et seq.

Footnote 91. Torem v 564 Cent. Ave. Rest., Inc. (1st Dept) 133 App Div 2d 25, 518 NYS2d 620, resettled (1st Dept) 134 App Div 2d 158, 520 NYS2d 526.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Duty where evidence equally balanced. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 76.

Definitions regarding preponderance of evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 131 et seq.

Footnote 92. Lopinto v Haines, 185 Conn 527, 441 A2d 151; Masaki v General Motors Corp., 71 Hawaii 1, 780 P2d 566, reconsideration den 71 Hawaii 664, 833 P2d 899; In Interest of G. M. (Tex) 596 SW2d 846, reh'g of cause overr (Apr 23, 1980); Kruse v Horlamus Industries, Inc., 130 Wis 2d 357, 387 NW2d 64.

Footnote 93. Lopinto v Haines, 185 Conn 527, 441 A2d 151; Masaki v General Motors Corp., 71 Hawaii 1, 780 P2d 566, reconsideration den 71 Hawaii 664, 833 P2d 899; Riley Hill General Contractor, Inc. v Tandy Corp., 303 Or 390, 737 P2d 595.

Footnote 94. First Nat. Bank v Rush, 30 Ark App 272, 785 SW2d 474; Masaki v General Motors Corp., 71 Hawaii 1, 780 P2d 566, reconsideration den 71 Hawaii 664, 833 P2d 899; Bud Wolf Chevrolet, Inc. v Robertson (Ind) 519 NE2d 135; Re Interest of C.P., 235 Neb 276, 455 NW2d 138; In Interest of G. M. (Tex) 596 SW2d 846, reh'g of cause overr (Apr 23, 1980).

Clear and convincing evidence is evidence by a credible witness whose memory of the facts about which he testifies is distinct, whose narration of the details is exact and in due order, and whose testimony is so direct, weighty, and convincing as to enable the factfinder to come to a clear conviction, without hesitation, of the truth of the facts related. First Nat. Bank v Rush, 30 Ark App 272, 785 SW2d 474.

To make out a case of common-law deceit, plaintiff's evidence must be clear and convincing, that is, free from confusion, fully intelligible, distinct and establish to the jury that the defendant intended to deceive the plaintiff or did so with a reckless disregard for the truth. Riley Hill General Contractor, Inc. v Tandy Corp., 303 Or 390, 737 P2d 595.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Clear and convincing evidence defined. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 138, 139.

2. Allocation [158-161]

§ 158 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Typically, the plaintiff has the burden of pleading and proving every essential fact and element of his cause of action. 95 The plaintiff is obliged to prove only those facts that are necessary elements of its claim; it need not prove facts it unnecessarily pleaded that are not elements of its cause of action. 96

Courts often remark that the burdens of production and persuasion on an issue rest with the party that pleads the affirmative on the issue. 97 This is another way of saying that a party has the burden of proving the legal elements of its case. 98

When the law underlying a law suit is legislative in origin, courts generally attempt to resolve burden allocation questions by deferring, when possible, to legislative intent. 99 However, legislatures often do not adequately address burden issues. 1 When this occurs, the court could, for example, make the issue part of the underlying cause of action which plaintiff must plead and prove, or could give the defendant the burden of pleading but impose upon the plaintiff the burdens of production and persuasion. 2

As a rule, a party is under no obligation to anticipate and negate in its own case in chief any facts or theories that may be raised by another party. 3 Nor is the party with the burden of persuasion obligated to offer evidence on matters that are not made issues in the case by the pleadings. 4 Moreover, a party may be relieved of its burden of production if the necessary proof is introduced by his adversary, and if such proof is sufficiently convincing and uncontroverted, the burden of persuasion as well. 5

It is often said that the burdens of production and persuasion lie upon the party who, absent meeting his burden, is not entitled to relief, 6 or upon the party that would be unsuccessful if no evidence were introduced on either side. 7 Similarly, courts often observe that the burdens of production and persuasion generally fall upon the party seeking a change in the status quo, 8 or upon the party that asserts the claim. 9

Footnotes

Footnote 95. Preferred Acci. Ins. Co. v Grasso (CA2 Conn) 186 F2d 987, 23 ALR2d 1234; Moudry v Parkos, 217 Neb 521, 349 NW2d 387; Vance v My Apartment Steak House, Inc. (Tex) 677 SW2d 480.

Annotation: Pleading and burden of proof, in contempt proceedings, as to ability to comply with order for payment of alimony or child support, 53 ALR2d 591.

Burden of proof in actions under general declaratory judgment acts, 23 ALR2d 1243.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Party on whom burden rests. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 73.

Footnote 96. Empire State Bldg. Co. v Bryde, 211 Neb 184, 318 NW2d 65.

Footnote 97. Black, Robertshaw, Frederick, Copple & Wright, P. C. v United States (App) 130 Ariz 110, 634 P2d 398, 32 UCCRS 539; Atlantic & Pacific Ins. Co. v Barnes (Colo App) 666 P2d 163; Chemlease Worldwide, Inc. v Brace, Inc. (Minn) 338 NW2d 428, 37 UCCRS 647; Pack v Royal-Globe Ins. Cos., 224 Tenn 452, 457 SW2d 19; Big Fork Mining Co. v Tennessee Water Quality Control Bd. (Tenn App) 620 SW2d 515, 12 ELR 20127; Osborn v Manning (Wyo) 685 P2d 1121, later proceeding (Wyo) 798 P2d 1208, reh den (Wyo) 812 P2d 549.

Footnote 98. Keeler Brass Co. v Continental Brass Co. (CA4 NC) 862 F2d 1063, 9 USPQ2d 1331, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 278 (in a copyright infringement action, defendant's assertion of independent creation did not impose upon it the burden of persuasion on that issue, as plaintiff at all times has the burden of proving that defendant copied plaintiff's designs); Roe Roofing, Inc. v Lumber Products, Inc., 70 Or App 93, 688 P2d 425, 39 UCCRS 854, review den 298 Or 427, 693 P2d 48.

Footnote 99. Steadman v SEC, 450 US 91, 67 L Ed 2d 69, 101 S Ct 999, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97878, reh den 451 US 933, 68 L Ed 2d 318, 101 S Ct 2008; Vance v Terrazas, 444 US 252, 62 L Ed 2d 461, 100 S Ct 540, reh den 445 US 920, 63 L Ed 2d 606, 100 S Ct 1285 and on remand (ND Ill) 494 F Supp 1017, affd (CA7 Ill) 653 F2d 285.

Footnote 1. Wards Cove Packing Co. v Atonio, 490 US 642, 104 L Ed 2d 733, 109 S Ct 2115, 49 BNA FEP Cas 1519, 50 CCH EPD ¶ 39021, motion den 493 US 802, 107 L Ed 2d 9, 110 S Ct 38 and on remand (WD Wash) 54 BNA FEP Cas 1623, later proceeding (WD Wash) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 5531 and affd in part and revd in part on other grounds, remanded (CA9 Wash) 10 F3d 1485, 93 CDOS 8953, 93 Daily Journal DAR 15404, 63 BNA FEP Cas 738, 63 CCH EPD ¶ 42715; Price Waterhouse v Hopkins, 490 US 228, 104 L Ed 2d 268, 109 S Ct 1775, 49 BNA FEP Cas 954, 49 CCH EPD ¶ 38936, on remand (DC Dist Col) 737 F Supp 1202, 52 BNA FEP Cas 1275, 53 CCH EPD ¶ 39922, later proceeding (DC Dist Col) 53 BNA FEP Cas 1499 and affd 287 US App DC 173, 920 F2d 967, 54 BNA FEP Cas 750, 55 CCH EPD ¶ 40413.

Footnote 2. Dairyland County Mut. Ins. Co. v Roman (Tex) 498 SW2d 154 (when plaintiff avers generally that it has performed all conditions precedent to a contract, defendant has the burden of specifying in its pleadings the conditions it claims were not performed; Trevino v Allstate Ins. Co. (Tex App Dallas) 651 SW2d 8, writ ref n r e (Sep 14, 1983) and reh of writ of error overr (Nov 2, 1983) (failure of plaintiff to make general averment regarding conditions precedent requires plaintiff to prove performance of each condition ab initio, and releases defendant of burden of pleading the conditions it claims were not performed).

As to pleading performance of conditions precedent, generally see 61A Am Jur 2d, Pleading §§ 83 et seq.

Footnote 3. Weiss v Chrysler Motors Corp. (CA2 NY) 515 F2d 449, 20 FR Serv 2d 208; Rodriguez v Olin Corp. (CA5 La) 780 F2d 491, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 115; Martin v Weaver (CA6 Ohio) 666 F2d 1013, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 952, cert den 456 US 962, 72 L Ed 2d 485, 102 S Ct 2038; Underwood v Lowery, 133 Ga App 629, 212 SE2d 5.

Footnote 4. Empire State Bldg. Co. v Bryde, 211 Neb 184, 318 NW2d 65; Hubbard v Gatz (2d Dept) 130 App Div 2d 622, 515 NYS2d 552, app den 70 NY2d 606, 519 NYS2d 1029, 513 NE2d 1309.

Footnote 5. Kilian v Stackpole Sons, Inc. (DC Pa) 98 F Supp 500.

Footnote 6. Benson v Barnes & Barnes Trucking, 217 Neb 865, 354 NW2d 127.

Footnote 7. Atlantic & Pacific Ins. Co. v Barnes (Colo App) 666 P2d 163; Nikitiuk v Pishtey, 153 Conn 545, 219 A2d 225; Compensation of Harris v SAIF Corp., 292 Or 683, 642 P2d 1147, on remand 57 Or App 566, 645 P2d 597.

Footnote 8. State, Alcoholic Beverage Control Bd. v Decker (Alaska) 700 P2d 483; Atlantic & Pacific Ins. Co. v Barnes (Colo App) 666 P2d 163.

Footnote 9. Teng v Diplomat Nat. Bank (Ala) 431 So 2d 1202; Blue Cross & Blue Shield v Milliken, 422 Mich 1, 367 NW2d 1, app dismd 474 US 805, 88 L Ed 2d 33, 106 S Ct 40.

§ 159 Negative assertions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Whoever asserts a claim or defense that is negative in form or depends upon a negative proposition has the burden of establishing the truth of the assertion. 10 Thus, for example, the party who asserts invalidity of a statute as the basis of his or her claim or defense has the burden of establishing it. 11 A party seeking to take advantage of an exception to a contract is charged with the burden of proving facts necessary to come within the exception. 12 And the invalidity of an ordinance or resolution must be established by the party asserting it. 13 Similarly, the burden rests upon the party who assails the validity of a marriage which is prima facie regular, 14 or a foreign divorce decree which is regular on its face. 15

There is some authority that when an exception or exemption is contained in the enacting clause of a statute, the party relying on the statute must prove that his case does not come within the exception, 16 but otherwise the burden of proof is on the opposite party. 17 Where the facts whether the case at hand fall within a statutory exception are particularly within the knowledge of one of the parties, it is the burden of that party to prove such facts. 18

Footnotes

Footnote 10. Oberly v Howard Hughes Medical Inst. (Del Ch) 472 A2d 366; Board of Trade v Dow Jones & Co., 98 Ill 2d 109, 74 Ill Dec 582, 456 NE2d 84; Frank Stinson Chevrolet, Inc. v Connelly (SD) 356 NW2d 480.

Footnote 11. Metropolitan Casualty Ins. Co. v Brownell, 294 US 580, 79 L Ed 1070, 55 S Ct 538, reh den 295 US 767, 79 L Ed 1708, 55 S Ct 647.

Footnote 12. Reece Constr. Co. v State Highway Com., 6 Kan App 2d 188, 627 P2d 361.

Footnote 13. Milwaukie Co. of Jehovah's Witnesses v Mullen, 214 Or 281, 330 P2d 5, 74 ALR2d 347, cert den and app dismd 359 US 436, 3 L Ed 2d 932, 79 S Ct 940.

Footnote 14. Brown v Parks, 173 Ga 228, 160 SE 238; Osmak v American Car & Foundry Co., 328 Mo 159, 40 SW2d 714, 77 ALR 722.

Footnote 15. Coe v Coe, 334 US 378, 92 L Ed 1451, 68 S Ct 1094, 1 ALR2d 1376.

Footnote 16. Sullivan v Ward, 304 Mass 614, 24 NE2d 672, 130 ALR 437; Fennell v Ferreira, 133 NJ Super 63, 335 A2d 84.

Footnote 17. Schlemmer v Buffalo R. & P. R. Co., 205 US 1, 51 L Ed 681, 27 S Ct 407; Greyhound Corp. v Leadman (DC Ky) 112 F Supp 237; Ansell v Boston, 254 Mass 208, 150 NE 167; Fennell v Ferreira, 133 NJ Super 63, 335 A2d 84.

Footnote 18. New York C. & H. R. R. Co. v United States (CA1 Mass) 165 F 833.

As to the application of this rule with regard to criminal statutes, see § 176.

§ 160 Defenses and counterclaims

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The defendant has the burden of proof with regard to counterclaims and most affirmative defenses. ¹⁹ Defenses can be divided into three general categories: denial, burden-divided defenses, and affirmative defenses. A denial is a defense in which the defendant simply denies the truth of plaintiff's allegations; it does not oblige defendant to prove anything affirmatively; the burden of persuasion as to each element of plaintiff's case continues to rest on the plaintiff throughout the trial. ²⁰

Occasionally the law divides the burdens in connection with certain defenses and assigns the burdens of pleading and production to the defendant, while imposing upon the plaintiff the burden of persuasion. ²¹

Footnotes

Footnote 19. United States v Poland, 251 US 221, 64 L Ed 236, 40 S Ct 127; Southeast Secur. Co. v Christensen, 66 Idaho 233, 158 P2d 315; Gaston v Finch, 246 Iowa 1360, 72 NW2d 507; Hines v Continental Baking Co. (Mo App) 334 SW2d 140, 84 ALR2d 1027; Citizens Nat. Bank v Rawley, 131 Neb 10, 267 NW 151; Crayne v Crayne, 54 Nev 205, 13 P2d 222, 84 ALR 716; McWithy v Heart River School Dist., 75 ND 744, 32 NW2d 886; Rees v Archibald, 6 Utah 2d 264, 311 P2d 788; Lambert v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 123 W Va 547, 17 SE2d 628.

Forms: Instruction to jury regarding burden of proof as to affirmative defense, setoff, counterclaim, or cross complaint. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 78.

Footnote 20. Austin v Memphis (Tenn App) 684 SW2d 624, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (Tenn) 796 SW2d 449, adhered to, reh den (Tenn) 1990 Tenn LEXIS 320, later proceeding, remanded (Tenn App) 831 SW2d 789.

Footnote 21. Keeler Brass Co. v Continental Brass Co. (CA4 NC) 862 F2d 1063, 9 USPQ2d 1331, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 278 (defense of independent creation in copyright infringement actions); Palenkas v Beaumont Hospital, 432 Mich 527, 443 NW2d 354 (defendant must satisfy the burden of production when raising the statute of limitations as a defense).

§ 161 Comparative availability of proof

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Where information necessary to prove an issue is peculiarly or exclusively within the possession of one party, courts sometimes reason that convenience and fairness justify placing the burdens of pleading and proving those facts upon that party. 22

A specialized application of assigning burdens in accord with peculiar knowledge may be seen in cases involving concurrent negligence with but a single unidentified cause. 23 Some courts have taken a similar approach in products liability litigation involving asbestos, Agent Orange, and other toxic substances, holding an industry as a whole liable for injuries sustained by a class of plaintiffs, and apportioning damages according to each defendant's share of the market unless a given defendant can show that it could not have made the product which caused a particular plaintiff's injury. 24

Where proof is offered that one of several parties made an admission but the identity of which one cannot be definitively established, because plaintiff was unable to specify which defendant was the declarant, the burden of proof shifted to each defendant to deny having made the statement. 25

Courts have sometimes eased the burden on a party that faces unusual difficulties in obtaining evidence even if the adversary does not necessarily have greater access to such evidence, such as a plaintiff who is not available to testify, 26 or who, because of amnesia, cannot remember the events in question and is therefore handicapped in rebutting an allegation of contributory negligence. 27

◆ Recommendation: To safeguard against phony claims of amnesia, a jury should be instructed that before the lesser burden of persuasion is applied, because of the danger of shamming, they must be satisfied that the evidence of amnesia is clear and convincing, supported by the objective nature and extent of any other physical injuries sustained, and that the amnesia was clearly a result of the accident. 28

A party cannot avoid the normal allocation of burdens merely because needed information is possessed by a nonparty who refuses to cooperate and is privileged from testifying. 29

Footnotes

Footnote 22. United States v New York, N. H. & H. R. Co., 355 US 253, 2 L Ed 2d 247, 78 S Ct 212; Bank of Crete, S.A. v Koskotas (SD NY) 733 F Supp 648; United States v Continental Ins. Co. (CA11 Fla) 776 F2d 962, 33 CCF ¶ 74094; Browzin v Catholic University of America, 174 US App DC 60, 527 F2d 843; Lindahl v Office of Personnel Management (CA FC) 776 F2d 276; Albert Mendel & Son, Inc. v Krogh, 4 Conn App 117, 492 A2d 536; Thomas v Allegheny & Eastern Coal Co., 309 Pa Super 333, 455 A2d 637; Jackson v Green (Tex App Corpus Christi) 700 SW2d 620, writ ref n r e (Jan 22, 1986) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Feb 26, 1986).

Annotation: Burden of proof in actions under general declaratory judgment acts, 23 ALR2d 1243.

Footnote 23. Summers v Tice, 33 Cal 2d 80, 199 P2d 1, 5 ALR2d 91 (ovrld on other grounds by Sindell v Abbott Laboratories, 26 Cal 3d 588, 163 Cal Rptr 132, 607 P2d 924, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 8648, 2 ALR4th 1061) as stated in Jolly v Eli Lilly & Co., 44 Cal 3d 1103, 245 Cal Rptr 658, 751 P2d 923, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11745 (when two or more persons by their acts are possibly the sole cause of a harm, or when two or more acts of the same person are possibly the sole cause, and the plaintiff has introduced evidence that one of the two persons, or one of the same person's two acts, is culpable, then the defendant has the burden of proving that the other person, or his other act, was the sole cause of the harm).

Forms: Instruction to jury—Burden of proof where there are several defendants. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 77.

Footnote 24. Hall v E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. (ED NY) 345 F Supp 353, 17 FR Serv 2d 835; Hardy v Johns-Manville Sales Corp. (ED Tex) 509 F Supp 1353, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9014, rev'd, in part on other grounds (CA5 Tex) 681 F2d 334, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9343, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 99; Sindell v Abbott Laboratories, 26 Cal 3d 588, 163 Cal Rptr 132, 607 P2d 924, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 8648, 2 ALR4th 1061, cert den 449 US 912, 66 L Ed 2d 140, 101 S Ct 285.

Law Reviews: Gold, Causation in Toxic Torts: Burdens of Proof, Standards of Persuasion, and Statistical Evidence, 96 Yale LJ 376 (1986).

Footnote 25. O'Neal v Morgan (CA2 NY) 637 F2d 846, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1069, cert den 451 US 972, 68 L Ed 2d 351, 101 S Ct 2050.

Footnote 26. Johnson v White, 154 Mich App 425, 397 NW2d 555, app gr 428 Mich 857, 399 NW2d 396, reh gr, in part 428 Mich 871, 401 NW2d 615 and revd on other grounds 430 Mich 47, 420 NW2d 87.

Footnote 27. Murakami v County of Maui, 69 Hawaii 43, 731 P2d 787; Schechter v Klanfer, 28 NY2d 228, 321 NYS2d 99, 269 NE2d 812.

Footnote 28. Schechter v Klanfer, 28 NY2d 228, 321 NYS2d 99, 269 NE2d 812.

Footnote 29. Bank of Crete, S.A. v Koskotas (SD NY) 733 F Supp 648.

3. Constitutional Considerations [162, 163]

§ 162 Due process

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The burden of proof in civil cases is normally not an issue of federal constitutional moment. 30 Occasionally, however, constitutional considerations do affect who may be required to prove what and the degree of persuasion the burdened party is required to satisfy. The burden of proof the government or state must satisfy in a proceeding against an individual is an important component of due process for two reasons: first, the standard of proof reflects the importance of a particular adjudication; 31 second, the more stringent the burden of proof a party must bear, the more that party bears the risk of an erroneous decision. 32

The function of a standard of proof, as that concept is embodied in the Due Process Clause and in the realm of factfinding, is to instruct the factfinder concerning the degree of confidence our society thinks he should have in the correctness of factual conclusions for a particular type of adjudication. 33 Due process requires only a mere preponderance of the evidence to justify the state depriving an individual of a financial right. 34 When the individual interests at stake in a state proceeding are both particularly important and more substantial than mere loss of money, however, the state must justify its action by clear and convincing evidence, rather than by the traditional civil standard of a mere preponderance. 35 The clear and convincing evidence standard has been required in deportation proceedings, 36 in denaturalization proceedings, 37 in civil commitment proceedings, 38 and in proceedings to finally and irrevocably terminate parents' rights to custody of their children. 39

A state may permissibly impose the clear and convincing standard to protect a state interest—preservation of human life—in litigation brought on behalf of an individual against the state. 40

Footnotes

Footnote 30. Lavine v Milne, 424 US 577, 47 L Ed 2d 249, 96 S Ct 1010.

Footnote 31. Santosky v Kramer, 455 US 745, 71 L Ed 2d 599, 102 S Ct 1388, on remand (3d Dept) 89 App Div 2d 738, 453 NYS2d 942, later proceeding (3d Dept) 161 App Div 2d 908, 557 NYS2d 473, app dismd, motion dismd 76 NY2d 981, 563 NYS2d 766, 565 NE2d 515; Addington v Texas, 441 US 418, 60 L Ed 2d 323, 99 S Ct 1804, on remand (Tex) 588 SW2d 569, reh'g of cause overr (Nov 7, 1979).

Footnote 32. Cruzan v Director, Missouri Dept. of Health, 497 US 261, 111 L Ed 2d 224, 110 S Ct 2841.

Footnote 33. Addington v Texas, 441 US 418, 60 L Ed 2d 323, 99 S Ct 1804, on remand (Tex) 588 SW2d 569, reh'g of cause overr (Nov 7, 1979); Re Winship, 397 US 358, 25 L Ed 2d 368, 90 S Ct 1068, 51 Ohio Ops 2d 323, conformed to 27 NY2d 728, 314 NYS2d 536, 262 NE2d 675 and (criticized on other grounds by Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319) as stated in State v Krantz, 241 Mont 501, 788 P2d 298, cert den 498 US 938, 112 L Ed 2d 306, 111 S Ct 341.

Footnote 34. In Lavine v Milne, 424 US 577, 47 L Ed 2d 249, 96 S Ct 1010.

Footnote 35. Santosky v Kramer, 455 US 745, 71 L Ed 2d 599, 102 S Ct 1388, on remand (3d Dept) 89 App Div 2d 738, 453 NYS2d 942, later proceeding (3d Dept) 161 App Div 2d 908, 557 NYS2d 473, app dismd, motion dismd 76 NY2d 981, 563 NYS2d 766, 565 NE2d 515; Mathews v Eldridge, 424 US 319, 47 L Ed 2d 18, 96 S Ct 893, 41 Cal Comp Cas 920 (holding that assessing the nature of the process due to the individual in such a proceeding requires a balancing of three factors: the private interests affected by the state's chosen procedure.

Footnote 36. Woodby v Immigration & Naturalization Service, 385 US 276, 17 L Ed 2d 362, 87 S Ct 483.

Footnote 37. Schneiderman v United States, 320 US 118, 87 L Ed 1796, 63 S Ct 1333, reh den 320 US 807, 88 L Ed 488, 64 S Ct 24.

Footnote 38. Addington v Texas, 441 US 418, 60 L Ed 2d 323, 99 S Ct 1804, on remand (Tex) 588 SW2d 569, reh'g of cause overr (Nov 7, 1979).

Footnote 39. Addington v Texas, 441 US 418, 60 L Ed 2d 323, 99 S Ct 1804, on remand (Tex) 588 SW2d 569, reh'g of cause overr (Nov 7, 1979).

Footnote 40. Cruzan v Harmon (Mo) 760 SW2d 408, cert gr 492 US 917, 106 L Ed 2d 587, 109 S Ct 3240, motion gr 492 US 942, 106 L Ed 2d 644, 110 S Ct 35 and motion den 493 US 930, 107 L Ed 2d 308, 110 S Ct 318 and motion gr 493 US 951, 107 L Ed 2d 347, 110 S Ct 360 and motion den 493 US 973, 107 L Ed 2d 499, 110 S Ct 495 and affd 497 US 261, 111 L Ed 2d 224, 110 S Ct 2841.

§ 163 Free exercise

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Burdens of proof have a role in reconciling conflicts between an individual's right to the free exercise of religious beliefs and practices and legitimate government interests. 41 To validate an action that substantially burdens a religious practice, the government must establish that its action is justified by a compelling state interest. 42 But this rule applies only where a government agency engages in individualized assessments of the reasons for the individual's conduct; absent such circumstances, the agency need not show a compelling state interest; it need merely show that it was enforcing a generally applicable, religion-neutral law. 43

Footnotes

Footnote 41. Sherbert v Verner, 374 US 398, 10 L Ed 2d 965, 83 S Ct 1790, 9 BNA FEP Cas 1152.

Footnote 42. Hobbie v Unemployment Appeals Com., 480 US 136, 94 L Ed 2d 190, 107 S Ct 1046, 43 BNA FEP Cas 21, 42 CCH EPD ¶ 36753; Thomas v Review Bd. of Indiana Employment Secur. Div., 450 US 707, 67 L Ed 2d 624, 101 S Ct 1425, 25 BNA FEP Cas 629, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31662, on remand (Ind) 421 NE2d 642, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31972; Sherbert v Verner, 374 US 398, 10 L Ed 2d 965, 83 S Ct 1790, 9 BNA FEP Cas 1152 (invalidating state unemployment compensation rules that conditioned the availability of benefits upon an applicant's willingness to work under conditions forbidden by his religion).

Footnote 43. Employment Div., Dept. of Human Resources v Smith, 494 US 872, 108 L Ed 2d 876, 110 S Ct 1595, 52 BNA FEP Cas 855, 53 CCH EPD ¶ 39826, CCH Unemployment Ins Rep ¶ 21933, reh den 496 US 913, 110 L Ed 2d 285, 110 S Ct 2605 and on remand 310 Or 376, 799 P2d 148, 53 BNA FEP Cas 1743.

4. Procedural Issues [164-167]

§ 164 Satisfying proponent's burden of production; opponent's motion for directed verdict

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The proponent's burden of production means that he must produce sufficient evidence so that a rational jury or other factfinder could find that each of the elements of his claim has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence. 44 The adequacy of the proponent's evidence is tested when, after he rests, the opponent moves for a directed verdict; if the proponent has failed to satisfy the burden of production, the opponent's motion will be granted. 45

In ruling on a motion for a directed verdict a judge must also apply the rule that witness credibility is for the jury, not the court, to decide. 46 A party cannot, however, sustain its burden of production by calling adverse or hostile witnesses, eliciting testimony that negates its cause of action, and then arguing that the jury could find for that party simply by disbelieving these witnesses. 47

Footnotes

Footnote 44. Maine v United States Dept. of Labor (CA1) 669 F2d 827; Boeing Co. v Shipman (CA5 Ala) 411 F2d 365; Hoekstra v Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co. (Iowa) 382 NW2d 100; Bowman v Doherty, 235 Kan 870, 686 P2d 112, ALR4th 1362; Theriot v St. Martin Parish School Bd. (La App 3d Cir) 434 So 2d 668; Seiders v Testa (Me) 464 A2d 933; Mech v Hearst Corp., 64 Md App 422, 496 A2d 1099, cert den 305 Md 175, 501 A2d 1323; Smith v Bell Tel. Co., 397 Pa 134, 153 A2d 477.

See § 157 for a definition of "preponderance of the evidence."

Footnote 45. Anderson v Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 91 L Ed 2d 202, 106 S Ct 2505, 12 Media L R 2297, 4 FR Serv 3d 1041, motion den 480 US 903, 94 L Ed 2d 515, 107 S Ct 1343; De Marines v KLM Royal Dutch Airlines (1978, CA3 Pa) 580 F2d 1193, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 575, 26 FR Serv 2d 226; Alabama Power Co. v Williams (1990, Ala) 570 So 2d 589, 591, reh den, without op (Ala) 1990 Ala LEXIS 1010; Fisher v City of Berkeley (1984) 37 Cal 3d 644, 209 Cal Rptr 682, 693 P2d 261, 1985-1 CCH Trade Cases P 66473, affd 475 US 260, 89 L Ed 2d 206, 106 S Ct 1045, 1986-1 CCH Trade Cases P 66965, reh den 475 US 1150, 90 L Ed 2d 350, 106 S Ct 1806 (burden of producing evidence refers to a party's obligation to produce sufficient evidence to produce a prima facie case, i.e. sufficient to avoid a nonsuit); Bongiovi v Jamison (1986) 110 Idaho 734, 718 P2d 1172; General Electric Co. v Board of Assessors (1984) 393 Mass 591, 472 NE2d 1329; Francioni v Gibsonia Truck Corp. (1977) 472 Pa 362, 372 A2d 736; Morena v South Hills Health System (1983) 501 Pa 634, 462 A2d 680 (a judgment of nonsuit is properly entered if the plaintiff has not introduced evidence sufficient to establish the necessary elements to maintain an action); Morena v South Hills Health System (1983) 501 Pa 634, 462 A2d 680; Osborn v Manning (1984, Wyo) 685 P2d 1121, 1124, later proceeding (Wyo) 798 P2d 1208, reh den (Wyo) 812 P2d 549.

The party with the burden of production must introduce sufficient proof to submit the case to the factfinder. Bituminous Casualty Corp. v Deyle (1990) 234 Neb 537, 451 NW2d 910, 916.

Motions for directed verdicts are generally discussed in 75A Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 857 et seq., 907 et seq.

Forms: Motion for directed verdict at close of plaintiff's evidence. 23A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Trial § 269.

Motions by defendant for directed verdict—Insufficiency of plaintiff's evidence. 23A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Trial §§ 274 et seq.

Footnote 46. 75A Am Jur 2d, Trial § 846.

Footnote 47. Dyer v MacDougall (CA2 NY) 201 F2d 265; Eckenrode v Pennsylvania R. Co. (CA3 Pa) 164 F2d 996, affd 335 US 329, 93 L Ed 41, 69 S Ct 91.

§ 165 --Drawing inferences

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In deciding a motion for a directed verdict, the judge must give the nonmovant the benefit of all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from all of the evidence that has been admitted. 48 Although a court must allow the jury to draw reasonable inferences, a party cannot satisfy its burden of production with evidence that supports only an abstract or theoretical probability, or evidence that would require the jury to engage in speculation or conjecture. 49

When direct evidence as to an element of a claim or defense is lacking and the circumstantial evidence arguably supports conflicting inferences, one favoring plaintiff, the other favoring the defendant, courts occasionally hold that the party who does not have the burden of persuasion is entitled to a directed verdict because to submit the question to the jury is to permit the jury to indulge in speculation and conjecture. 50 Another view holds that it is the jury, not the court, which weighs the contradictory evidence and inferences, judges the credibility of witnesses, receives expert instructions, and draws the ultimate conclusion as to the facts. 51

§ 165 --Drawing inferences [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In determining an accused's guilt under a criminal statute, a jury may find the requisite knowledge of the law on the accused's part by drawing reasonable inferences from the evidence of the accused's conduct. Ratzlaf v United States (US) 126 L Ed 2d 615, 114 S Ct 655.

In case involving accident at railroad grade crossing, trial court did not abuse its discretion in limiting testimony as to prior accident where main issue was whether vegetation (line of trees) obstructed view at crossing and, by way of countering possible inference that prior accident had also involved vegetation, railroad sought to show that prior accident did not involve vegetation; whether such inference was created at all was questionable and, in any event, trial court simply foreclosed what could have been substantial detour into collateral issue. Barlett v Kansas City S. Ry. Co. (1993, Mo) 854 SW2d 396.

In prosecution for robbery of three fast food restaurants, in which defendant offered alibi, adverse inference from defendant's failure to call his mother as witness was permissible, where mother had been present when defendant apologized to owner of restaurants. State v Neil (1994, Mo) 869 SW2d 734.

Footnotes

Footnote 48. 75A Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 958, 970.

Footnote 49. Guenther v Armstrong Rubber Co. (1969, CA3 Pa) 406 F2d 1315 (to satisfy the burden of producing evidence that the defendant manufactured the particular tire that caused plaintiff's injuries, more is required than a showing that defendant manufactured 75 to 80 percent of the tires that were sold at the store where plaintiff had purchased the tire in question).

Footnote 50. Cawthon v Waco Fire & Casualty Ins. Co., 190 Ga App 797, 380 SE2d 327, revd on other grounds 259 Ga 632, 386 SE2d 32, on remand 194 Ga App 227, 391 SE2d 142 (in which the court charged the jury that facts which are consistent with either of two opposing theories prove nothing); Presbrey v Gillette Co. (2d Dist) 105 Ill App 3d 1082, 61 Ill Dec 816, 435 NE2d 513, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9314 (a party fails to meet its burden of production when the evidence equally supports the parties' opposing theories); Burens v Industrial Com., 162 Ohio St 549, 55 Ohio Ops 436, 124 NE2d 724; Litton Industrial Products, Inc. v Gammage (Tex) 668 SW2d 319; Ragland v Rutledge, 234 Va 216, 361 SE2d 133.

Footnote 51. Lavender v Kurn, 327 US 645, 90 L Ed 916, 66 S Ct 740; Tennant v Peoria & P. U. R. Co., 321 US 29, 88 L Ed 520, 64 S Ct 409, reh den 321 US 802, 88 L Ed 1089, 64 S Ct 610.

§ 166 Shifting burdens

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

That a party has satisfied his burden of production generally does not affect, change or shift the burden of persuasion on the elements of the cause of action, defense, or counterclaim, as the case may be; the party who begins with the burden of persuasion on any issue retains that burden on that issue throughout the trial. 52

If the opponent's motion for a directed verdict is denied, he faces what is sometimes called the risk of nonproduction: if he produces no evidence, he runs the risk that the jury will find that the proponent has met his burden of persuasion. This does not, however, shift the burden of production; the proponent continues to have the burden of establishing each element of his cause of action by a preponderance of the evidence, and the jury must still decide whether he has satisfied that burden. 53

Footnotes

Footnote 52. Commercial Molasses Corp. v New York Tank Barge Corp., 314 US 104, 86 L Ed 89, 62 S Ct 156; Lavett v Lavett (Ala) 414 So 2d 907 (ovrld on other grounds by McBride v McBride (Ala) 548 So 2d 155); State v Childress, 78 Ariz 1, 274 P2d 333, 46 ALR2d 1169; Insurance Co. of Pennsylvania v Estate of Guzman (Fla App D4) 421 So 2d 597; People v Ziltz, 98 Ill 2d 38, 74 Ill Dec 40, 455 NE2d 70; District Heights Apartments v Noland Co., 202 Md 43, 95 A2d 90, 39 ALR2d 387; Smith v Bohlen, 95 NC App 347, 382 SE2d 812, affd 328 NC 564, 402 SE2d 380; Big Fork Mining Co. v Tennessee Water Quality Control Bd. (Tenn App) 620 SW2d 515, 12 ELR 20127.

Annotation: Pleading and burden of proof, in contempt proceedings, as to ability to comply with order for payment of alimony and child support, 53 ALR2d 591.

Footnote 53. Ambrose v Wheatley (DC Del) 321 F Supp 1220; Simpson v Home Petroleum Corp. (CA5 Tex) 770 F2d 499; Palenkas v Beaumont Hospital, 432 Mich 527, 443 NW2d 354; Bituminous Casualty Corp. v Deyle, 234 Neb 537, 451 NW2d 910.

Annotation: Pleading and burden of proof, in contempt proceedings, as to ability to comply with order for payment of alimony or child support, 53 ALR2d 591.

§ 167 Substance or procedure; in diversity cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The burden of persuasion is generally considered an issue of substantive law, rather than procedure in the sense that if a judge misinstructs the jury as to who has the burden or what that burden is, this is likely to be reversible error. 54

In federal courts in diversity cases, the prevailing view appears to be that the burden of production is a procedural question to which federal law applies. 55 But the allocation of the burden of proof as to the elements of a claim or defense is considered substantive; so whenever a federal court must apply substantive state law, it must look to state law to determine which party bears which burdens on which issues. 56 State law as to the sufficiency of evidence governs, 57 and the burden of persuasion is a substantive issue, to which state law applies. 58

Footnotes

Footnote 54. Cities Service Oil Co. v Dunlap, 308 US 208, 84 L Ed 196, 60 S Ct 201; Kabo v Summa Corp. (ED Pa) 523 F Supp 1326; Blue Diamond Coal Co. v United Mine Workers (CA6 Ky) 436 F2d 551, 76 BNA LRRM 2003, 64 CCH LC ¶ 11360, cert den 402 US 930, 28 L Ed 2d 863, 91 S Ct 1525, 77 BNA LRRM 2023, 65 CCH LC ¶ 11677; Amoco Production Co. v Douglas Energy Co. (DC Kan) 613 F Supp 730, 85 OGR 466; Atlantic & Pacific Ins. Co. v Barnes (Colo App) 666 P2d 163; Fitzsimons v Frey, 153 Neb 124, 43 NW2d 531.

Footnote 55. Jones v Meat Packers Equipment Co. (CA4 Va) 723 F2d 370, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9949; Martin v American Petrofina, Inc. (CA5 La) 779 F2d 250, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10950, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1454, mod, vacated, reh den, in part on other grounds (CA5 La) 785 F2d 543; Gideon v Johns-Manville Sales Corp. (CA5 Tex) 761 F2d 1129, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10820, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 296; Peterson v Hager (CA10 Okla) 724 F2d 851.

Footnote 56. Dick v New York Life Ins. Co., 359 US 437, 3 L Ed 2d 935, 79 S Ct 921; Palmer v Hoffman, 318 US 109, 87 L Ed 645, 63 S Ct 477, 144 ALR 719, reh den 318 US 800, 87 L Ed 1163, 63 S Ct 757; Cities Service Oil Co. v Dunlap, 308 US 208, 84 L Ed 196, 60 S Ct 201.

Footnote 57. Gootee v Colt Industries, Inc. (CA6 Mich) 712 F2d 1057, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9698, 36 UCCRS 1157; R.W. Murray, Co. v Shatterproof Glass Corp. (CA8 Mo) 758 F2d 266, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 999, 40 UCCRS 1283 (criticized on other grounds by Kaplan v RCA Corp. (CA4 NC) 783 F2d 463, 42 UCCRS 1312).

Footnote 58. Amoco Production Co. v Douglas Energy Co. (DC Kan) 613 F Supp 730, 85 OGR 466.

B. In Criminal Cases [168-180]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence § 92.5

ALR Index: Criminal Law; Degree and Standard of Proof; Presumptions and Burden of Proof

8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Forms 351 et seq.

7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure §§ 20:932 et seq.

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 5:1 et seq.

Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) §§ 10 et seq.

1. Beyond Reasonable Doubt Standard, Generally [168-172]

§ 168 Overview

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

As a matter of due process the prosecution must prove beyond a reasonable doubt every fact necessary to constitute the crime with which the defendant is charged. 59

Thus a state may not specify a lesser burden of proof for an element of a crime. 60 Nor may a state specify a fact as an element of a crime and then impose upon the defendant the burden of disproving it. 61

The burden to prove the elements of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt never shifts; it

§ 168 ----Overview [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

On appeal to Court of Appeals, proper standard of review in case where evidence against accused is wholly circumstantial is whether evidence before jury was legally sufficient to support finding of guilt beyond reasonable doubt, even though People are obliged to prove accused's guilt "to a moral certainty" and defendant is entitled to jury instruction, in words or substance, to that effect; phrase "proof to a moral certainty" is simply description of standard to be applied by fact finder in cases of purely circumstantial evidence. People v Wong (1993) 81 NY2d 600, 601 NYS2d 440, 619 NE2d 377.

Footnotes

Footnote 59. Re Winship, 397 US 358, 25 L Ed 2d 368, 90 S Ct 1068, 51 Ohio Ops 2d 323, conformed to 27 NY2d 728, 314 NYS2d 536, 262 NE2d 675 and (criticized on other grounds by Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319) as stated in State v Krantz, 241 Mont 501, 788 P2d 298, cert den 498 US 938, 112 L Ed 2d 306, 111 S Ct 341.

The prosecution must prove all the elements of a criminal offense beyond a reasonable doubt. The prosecution's burden is not relieved by a defendant's tactical decision not to contest an essential element of an offense. Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305, on remand (CA9) 956 F2d 923, 92 CDOS 1314, 92 Daily Journal DAR 2100.

Forms: Instruction—Burden of proof on prosecution. 8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Form 357; 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed § 20:932.

Instruction—Burden of proof may be met by circumstantial evidence. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed § 20:935.

Footnote 60. State v Rupert, 247 Kan 512, 802 P2d 511 (a statute making nonsupport of one's child a crime, and requiring the state to prove nonsupport beyond a reasonable doubt, but to prove that the defendant is the child's parent by only a preponderance of the evidence, violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment); State v Clay, 160 W Va 651, 236 SE2d 230.

Footnote 61. Mullaney v Wilbur, 421 US 684, 44 L Ed 2d 508, 95 S Ct 1881 (criticized on other grounds by Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319) (statute providing that if the prosecutor proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed an unlawful, intentional killing, malice aforethought was to be conclusively implied unless the defendant proved by a fair preponderance of the evidence that he acted in the heat of passion on sudden provocation held unconstitutional).

As to the validity of presumptions in a criminal case, see § 191.

Footnote 62. State v Stump, 254 Iowa 1181, 119 NW2d 210, cert den 375 US 853, 11 L Ed 2d 80, 84 S Ct 113; State v Chiarello, 69 NJ Super 479, 174 A2d 506, certif den 36 NJ 301, 177 A2d 343; Commonwealth v Smihal, 182 Pa Super 232, 126 A2d 523; State v Brown, 97 RI 95, 196 A2d 138; Allison v Commonwealth, 207 Va 810, 153 SE2d 201.

§ 169 Defined as important life decision

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The important life decision definition of beyond a reasonable doubt, defining beyond a reasonable doubt as the kind of doubt which folks in the more serious and important affairs of their own lives might be willing to act upon, is one approved definition. 63 Several courts have approved of this explanation of beyond a reasonable doubt, substituting "hesitate to act" or variations of it for the "willing to act" phraseology. 64

Attempts to clarify the definition further by citing various examples of major life decisions have not generally been successful. 65

§ 169 ----Defined as important life decision [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Supreme Court's views as to proper definition of reasonable doubt, for purposes of requirement, under due process clauses of Federal Constitution's Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, to prove criminal defendant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt. 127 L ED 2nd 731.

Footnotes

Footnote 63. Holland v United States, 348 US 121, 99 L Ed 150, 75 S Ct 127, 54-2 USTC ¶ 9714, 46 AFTR 943, reh den 348 US 932, 99 L Ed 731, 75 S Ct 334, 46 AFTR 1361; Commonwealth v Robinson, 408 Mass 245, 557 NE2d 752, habeas corpus proceeding (CA1 Mass) 933 F2d 101, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 522, 112 S Ct 1301; Lord v State, 107 Nev 28, 806 P2d 548.

Footnote 64. Rogers v Carver (CA1 Mass) 833 F2d 379, cert den 485 US 937, 99 L Ed 2d 276, 108 S Ct 1116 (compared with the standard one would apply in making important decisions in daily life); United States v Leaphart (CA10 Kan) 513 F2d 747 (hesitate to act language is acceptable, willing to act language is not).

Definition of beyond a reasonable doubt stated that the term described proof of such a convincing character that you would be willing to rely upon it without hesitation in your most important affairs of your own. United States v Moss (CA4 Va) 756 F2d 329 (criticized on other grounds by Re Grand Jury Subpoena Duces Tecum (CA2 NY) 767 F2d 26).

Another definition requires that the proof be so convincing that an ordinary person would be willing to make the most important decisions in his or her own life. United States v Jaramillo-Suarez (CA9 Cal) 950 F2d 1378, 91 Daily Journal DAR 15420, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1093.

Footnote 65. Commonwealth v Ferreira, 373 Mass 116, 364 NE2d 1264, stating that an instruction using, as examples of major life decisions, whether to continue getting an education or to leave school to get a job; whether to get married or to stay single; or whether to buy a house or to continue to rent, tended to trivialize the awesome duty of the jury to determine whether the defendant's guilt was proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

§ 170 Moral certainty test

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In the past, courts often defined beyond a reasonable doubt by equating it to a moral certainty. 66 Recently, however, the reference to moral certainty, rather than evidentiary certainty, has been disapproved as creating too great a risk that a reasonable juror might interpret the instruction to allow a finding of guilt based on a degree of proof below that required by the Due Process Clause. 67

§ 170 ----Moral certainty test [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Supreme Court's views as to proper definition of reasonable doubt, for purposes of requirement, under due process clauses of Federal Constitution's Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, to prove criminal defendant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt. 127 L ED 2nd 731.

Case authorities:

There was no error in a noncapital first-degree murder prosecution where the court gave a "moral certainty" reasonable doubt instruction during jury selection which defendant contended reduced the State's burden of proof below the standard required by the due process clause. The reasonable doubt instruction given during jury selection, taken as a whole, correctly conveyed the concept of reasonable doubt to the jury; moreover, even if there was error in the preliminary instruction, the trial court's use of the pattern jury instruction in its charge to the jury before it retired for deliberation cured any possible defect in the earlier instruction. State v White (1995) 340 NC 264, 457 SE2d 841.

Footnotes

Footnote 66. United States v Indorato (CA1 Mass) 628 F2d 711, cert den 449 US 1016, 66 L Ed 2d 476, 101 S Ct 578; Monk v Zelez (CA10 Kan) 901 F2d 885.

Footnote 67. Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305, on remand (CA9) 956 F2d 923, 92 CDOS 1314, 92 Daily Journal DAR 2100; Cage v Louisiana, 498 US 39, 112 L Ed 2d 339, 111 S Ct 328, on remand (La) 583 So 2d 1125, stay gr (La) 580 So 2d 662 and review den sub nom Cage v Louisiana (US) 116 L Ed 2d 170, 112 S Ct 211, transf sub nom State v Cage (La) 1994 La LEXIS 281 (ovrld on other grounds by Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305); Boyde v California, 494 US 370, 108 L Ed 2d 316, 110 S Ct 1190, reh den 495 US 924, 109 L Ed 2d 322, 110 S Ct 1961; Skelton v Whitley (CA5 La) 950 F2d 1037, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 61, 113 S Ct 102.

§ 171 Jury instructions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Any definition of the term "beyond a reasonable doubt" must not detract from the heavy burden suggested by the use of the term reasonable doubt standing alone. 68 However, in deciding whether an instruction defining "beyond a reasonable doubt" creates reversible error, the courts must consider how reasonable jurors could have understood the charge as a whole. 69 Even if the judge has improperly defined beyond a reasonable doubt, a conviction may nonetheless be affirmed if, taken as a whole, the instructions correctly convey the concept of reasonable doubt to the jury, properly emphasize the gravity of the decision the jury must make, and not detract from the jury's understanding of the extent of the burden. 70

Attempts to explain the term reasonable doubt do not usually result in making it any clearer to the minds of the jury. 71 As a result, no definition of "beyond a reasonable doubt" is constitutionally required. 72

Some courts discourage judges from defining reasonable doubt, although merely because judges define beyond a reasonable doubt to the jury does not require automatic reversal. 73 Other courts explicitly require that the judge explain beyond a reasonable doubt to the jury. 74

§ 171 ----Jury instructions [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Supreme Court's views as to proper definition of reasonable doubt, for purposes of requirement, under due process clauses of Federal Constitution's Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, to prove criminal defendant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt. 127 L ED 2nd 731.

Footnotes

Footnote 68. United States v Nolasco (CA9 Ariz) 926 F2d 869, 91 CDOS 1182, 91 Daily

Journal DAR 1969, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 80, 112 S Ct 111.

Forms: Instruction–Definition of reasonable doubt. 8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Form 358; 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed § 20:933.

Footnote 69. Cage v Louisiana, 498 US 39, 112 L Ed 2d 339, 111 S Ct 328, on remand (La) 583 So 2d 1125, stay gr (La) 580 So 2d 662 and review den sub nom Cage v Louisiana (US) 116 L Ed 2d 170, 112 S Ct 211, transf sub nom State v Cage (La) 1994 La LEXIS 281 and (ovrld on other grounds by Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305).

Footnote 70. Holland v United States, 348 US 121, 99 L Ed 150, 75 S Ct 127, 54-2 USTC ¶ 9714, 46 AFTR 943, reh den 348 US 932, 99 L Ed 731, 75 S Ct 334, 46 AFTR 1361.

Footnote 71. Holland v United States, 348 US 121, 99 L Ed 150, 75 S Ct 127, 54-2 USTC ¶ 9714, 46 AFTR 943, reh den 348 US 932, 99 L Ed 731, 75 S Ct 334, 46 AFTR 1361.

Footnote 72. United States v Campbell (CA1 Me) 874 F2d 838; United States v Ricks (CA4 Md) 882 F2d 885, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 763, cert den 493 US 1047, 107 L Ed 2d 841, 110 S Ct 846; Thompson v Lynaugh (CA5 Tex) 821 F2d 1054, habeas corpus proceeding (CA5 Tex) 821 F2d 1080, cert den 483 US 1035, 97 L Ed 2d 794, 108 S Ct 5 and cert den 483 US 1035, 97 L Ed 2d 794, 108 S Ct 5; Whiteside v Parke (CA6 Ky) 705 F2d 869, cert den 464 US 843, 78 L Ed 2d 133, 104 S Ct 141; United States v Hall (CA7 Ill) 854 F2d 1036, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 894; United States v Nolasco (CA9 Ariz) 926 F2d 869, 91 CDOS 1182, 91 Daily Journal DAR 1969, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 80, 112 S Ct 111; State v Dunn, 249 Kan 488, 820 P2d 412; McGinty v State (Tex Crim) 723 SW2d 719.

Footnote 73. United States v Adkins (CA4 NC) 937 F2d 947; United States v Ricks (CA4 Md) 882 F2d 885, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 763, cert den 493 US 1047, 107 L Ed 2d 841, 110 S Ct 846; United States v Moss (CA4 Va) 756 F2d 329 (criticized on other grounds by Re Grand Jury Subpoena Duces Tecum (CA2 NY) 767 F2d 26); People v Evans (4th Dist) 199 Ill App 3d 330, 145 Ill Dec 286, 556 NE2d 904, app den 133 Ill 2d 563, 149 Ill Dec 328, 561 NE2d 698; Summers v State (Okla Crim) 704 P2d 91.

Footnote 74. United States v Delibac (CA2 Vt) 925 F2d 610; Friedman v United States (CA8 Mo) 381 F2d 155; United States v Pepe (CA10 Kan) 501 F2d 1142; Commonwealth v Stellberger, 25 Mass App 148, 515 NE2d 1207; State v Desrosiers (RI) 559 A2d 641.

One definition of "beyond a reasonable doubt" accepts an instruction that defines "reasonable doubt" as "a doubt based on reason and common sense." United States v Jaramillo-Suarez (CA9 Cal) 950 F2d 1378, 91 Daily Journal DAR 15420, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1093.

§ 172 Application of rule on posttrial motion or appeal

The standard for appellate review of a post-conviction motion for judgement of acquittal notwithstanding the verdict is identical to that employed to measure the sufficiency of the evidence supporting a guilty verdict. 75 The evidence is sufficient to withstand defendant's motion or appeal so long as a rational juror could be satisfied that the government has proven each element of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt. 76 In making this assessment, the court is required to view the evidence in the light most favorable to the prosecutor, giving the prosecutor the benefit of all reasonable inferences that can be drawn from the evidence. 77

Footnotes

Footnote 75. United States v Martinez (CA1 RI) 922 F2d 914.

Footnote 76. Jackson v Virginia, 443 US 307, 61 L Ed 2d 560, 99 S Ct 2781, reh den 444 US 890, 62 L Ed 2d 126, 100 S Ct 195 and (not followed by State v Williams (La) 383 So 2d 369) as stated in State v Gatson (La App 3d Cir) 434 So 2d 1315; United States v Taylor (CA2 NY) 464 F2d 240; People v Campbell, 146 Ill 2d 363, 166 Ill Dec 932, 586 NE2d 1261; People v Hampton, 407 Mich 354, 285 NW2d 284, cert den 449 US 885, 66 L Ed 2d 110, 101 S Ct 239; People v Stroud (2d Dept) 121 App Div 2d 484, 503 NYS2d 816, app den 68 NY2d 817; State v Green, 94 Wash 2d 216, 616 P2d 628.

Footnote 77. Jackson v Virginia, 443 US 307, 61 L Ed 2d 560, 99 S Ct 2781, reh den 444 US 890, 62 L Ed 2d 126, 100 S Ct 195 and (not followed on other grounds by State v Williams (La) 383 So 2d 369) as stated in State v Gatson (La App 3d Cir) 434 So 2d 1315 (on appeal, the court must look at the evidence in a light most favorable to the prosecution, drawing all legitimate inferences and resolving all credibility conflicts in its favor; United States v Sabatino (CA1 Me) 943 F2d 94; United States v Rieger (CA3 Pa) 942 F2d 230; United States v Christian (CA6 Tenn) 942 F2d 363, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 806, 112 S Ct 905; United States v Monroe (CA9 Cal) 943 F2d 1007, 91 CDOS 6699, 91 Daily Journal DAR 10251, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1431, cert den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 304, 112 S Ct 1585 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Jones (App DC) 297 US App DC 356, 973 F2d 928) and (among conflicting authorities on other grounds noted in United States v Smiley (CA8 Mo) 997 F2d 475); United States v Brown (CA10 Colo) 943 F2d 1246, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1286, related proceeding (Colo) 841 P2d 1066; Wells v State, 261 Ga 282, 404 SE2d 106, 102-99 Fulton County D R 16B; State v Bright, 238 Neb 348, 470 NW2d 181; State v Badami, 235 Neb 118, 453 NW2d 746.

2. Burden as to Particular Allegations or Elements [173-180]

§ 173 Place of commission of crime; venue

Since the criminality of an act depends not only on its perpetration, but that it be in violation of the penal laws of the state where committed, the place of the act may be an ingredient of the crime which must be proven by the prosecution. 78 However, the view that venue is not an element of a crime and therefore need not be proven beyond a reasonable doubt appears to be followed by federal courts 79 and numerous state courts. 80 A number of state courts, however, have held that the prosecution must, indeed, prove venue beyond a reasonable doubt. 81

§ 173 ----Place of commission of crime; venue [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

When jurisdiction in a criminal prosecution is challenged, the State is required to proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the crime with which defendant is charged occurred in North Carolina. State v Rick (1995) 342 NC 91, 463 SE2d 182.

The evidence in a second-degree murder prosecution made a prima facie showing of jurisdiction sufficient to carry the case to the jury and permit the jury to infer that the murder took place in this state, although the victim's body was found in a stream in South Carolina, where it tended to show that shortly after leaving work at 11:00 p.m., the victim went to her home in Mount Holly, two doors from where defendant lived, and changed from her work clothes into a dress; a few hours later, defendant was seen in the vicinity alone driving the victim's car; a breaking and entering occurred at the victim's home; acts of violence took place in the home as reflected by broken glass, dishes on the floor and the bedroom in disarray; a cement block and a rock used by the killer to sink the victim's body in the stream some fourteen miles away were taken from the victim's yard; on the morning following the killing, defendant left on his former sister-in-law's car a Bible in which he had written that he was going to kill himself; that afternoon defendant told a friend that he had done something for which the police were going to kill him; and when defendant was arrested, he told the police that the warrant would be worthless if he could prove he "killed that woman in South Carolina." State v Rick (1995) 342 NC 91, 463 SE2d 182.

When jurisdiction is challenged and the trial court makes a preliminary determination that sufficient evidence exists upon which the jury could conclude beyond a reasonable doubt that the murder occurred in North Carolina, the trial court must instruct the jury that unless the State has satisfied it beyond a reasonable doubt that the murder occurred in North Carolina, it should return a verdict of not guilty and a special verdict indicating a lack of jurisdiction. State v Rick (1995) 342 NC 91, 463 SE2d 182.

In this murder prosecution in which defendant challenged the facts of jurisdiction, the trial court erred by failing to instruct the jury that the State bore the burden of proving jurisdiction and that if the jury was unconvinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the murder, or the essential elements of murder, occurred in North Carolina, it should return a special verdict so indicating. State v Rick (1995) 342 NC 91, 463 SE2d 182.

Footnotes

Footnote 78. Tate v People, 125 Colo 527, 247 P2d 665; People v Mowry, 6 Ill 2d 132, 126 NE2d 683.

Footnote 79. United States v Hall (CA1 Mass) 691 F2d 48; United States v Potamitis (CA2 NY) 739 F2d 784, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1747, cert den 469 US 918, 83 L Ed 2d 232, 105 S Ct 297, post-conviction proceeding (SD NY) 666 F Supp 43, on reconsideration (SD NY) 1988 US Dist LEXIS 5357, later proceeding (SD NY) 1988 US Dist LEXIS 5332, affd (CA2 NY) 862 F2d 423 and cert den 469 US 934, 83 L Ed 2d 269, 105 S Ct 332, later proceeding (SD NY) 611 F Supp 1033, later proceeding (SD NY) 611 F Supp 1046, later proceeding (SD NY) 606 F Supp 1390, later proceeding (SD NY) 609 F Supp 881 and affd without op (CA2 NY) 779 F2d 40, post-conviction proceeding (SD NY) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 21246, adopted (SD NY) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 3900 and (disapproved on other grounds by Zafiro v United States (US) 122 L Ed 2d 317, 113 S Ct 933, 93 CDOS 535, 93 Daily Journal DAR 1049, 6 FLW Fed S 861) as stated in United States v Haynes (CA2 NY) 1994 US App LEXIS 1906; United States v Davis (CA5 Ga) 666 F2d 195; United States v Charlton (CA6 Tenn) 372 F2d 663, cert den 387 US 936, 18 L Ed 2d 999, 87 S Ct 2062; United States v Rodgers (CA7 Ill) 755 F2d 533, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 579, cert den 473 US 907, 87 L Ed 2d 656, 105 S Ct 3532; United States v Moeckly (CA8 Minn) 769 F2d 453, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1264, cert den 475 US 1015, 89 L Ed 2d 311, 106 S Ct 1196 and cert den 476 US 1104, 90 L Ed 2d 357, 106 S Ct 1947, post-conviction proceeding (CA8 Ark) 1992 US App LEXIS 19602; United States v Durades (CA9 Cal) 607 F2d 818; Wilkett v United States (CA10 Okla) 655 F2d 1007, cert den 454 US 1142, 71 L Ed 2d 294, 102 S Ct 1001; United States v Males (1983, CA11 Fla) 715 F2d 568, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 21.

While the burden of proving that the crime occurred in the district is on the prosecution, the prosecution is not required to meet the reasonable doubt standard applicable to the substantive elements of the offense; rather the prosecution need only show by a preponderance of the evidence that the trial is in the same district as the offense. United States v White (CA5 Fla) 611 F2d 531, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 896 and cert den 446 US 992, 64 L Ed 2d 849, 100 S Ct 2978.

Footnote 80. State v Mohr (App) 150 Ariz 564, 724 P2d 1233, ALR4th 2285; Henley v State, 210 Ark 759, 197 SW2d 468; People v Arline (5th Dist) 13 Cal App 3d 200, 91 Cal Rptr 520 (disapproved on other grounds by People v Hall, 41 Cal 3d 826, 226 Cal Rptr 112, 718 P2d 99); Pennick v State (Fla App D3) 453 So 2d 542, 9 FLW 1756; Hatton v State (Ind) 439 NE2d 565; Morris v State, 274 Ind 161, 409 NE2d 608, later proceeding (Ind) 466 NE2d 13; State v Allen (Iowa) 293 NW2d 16; State v True (Me) 330 A2d 787; State v Valentine (Mo) 506 SW2d 406; State v Bauers (Mo App) 702 SW2d 896; Dixon v State, 83 Nev 120, 424 P2d 100; State v Glasscock, 76 NM 367, 415 P2d 56 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Lopez, 84 NM 805, 508 P2d 1292); State v Wise (App) 90 NM 659, 567 P2d 970, cert den 91 NM 4, 569 P2d 414; Steingut v Gold, 42 NY2d 311, 397 NYS2d 765, 366 NE2d 854; People v Burgess (2d Dept) 107 App Div 2d 703, 484 NYS2d 58; State v Batdorf, 293 NC 486, 238 SE2d 497; Baker v State (Okla Crim) 448 P2d 282; State v Brown, 97 RI 95, 196 A2d 138; State v Graycek (SD) 335 NW2d 572; State v Greene, 86 SD 177, 192 NW2d 712, cert den 406 US 929, 32 L Ed 2d 131, 92 S

Ct 1805; Harvey v State, 213 Tenn 608, 376 SW2d 497; State v Johnson (Tenn Crim) 673 SW2d 877; Moore v State (Tex Crim) 694 SW2d 528; State v Cauble (Utah) 563 P2d 775; State v Marino, 100 Wash 2d 719, 674 P2d 171; State v Manns, 174 W Va 793, 329 SE2d 865.

Footnote 81. Houston v Peyton (WD Va) 297 F Supp 717; Stokes v State (Ala App) 373 So 2d 1211, cert den (Ala) 373 So 2d 1218; Tate v People, 125 Colo 527, 247 P2d 665; People v Mowry, 6 Ill 2d 132, 126 NE2d 683; People v Hanson (5th Dist) 138 Ill App 3d 530, 92 Ill Dec 901, 485 NE2d 1144; State v Wardenburg, 261 Iowa 1395, 158 NW2d 147; State v Johnson, 222 Kan 465, 565 P2d 993; Willis v Commonwealth (Ky) 339 SW2d 174; State v Skipper (La) 387 So 2d 592; State v Miles (La App 1st Cir) 450 So 2d 1067; People v Belanger, 120 Mich App 752, 327 NW2d 554; State v Fabian (Miss) 263 So 2d 773, appeal after remand (Miss) 284 So 2d 55; State v Bretz, 185 Mont 253, 605 P2d 974, cert den 444 US 994, 62 L Ed 2d 425, 100 S Ct 529, reh den 444 US 1104, 62 L Ed 2d 791, 100 S Ct 1073; State v Headley, 6 Ohio St 3d 475, 6 Ohio BR 526, 453 NE2d 716; State v Gribble, 24 Ohio St 2d 85, 53 Ohio Ops 2d 222, 263 NE2d 904; State v Cooksey, 242 Or 250, 409 P2d 335; State v Ledder, 31 Or App 487, 570 P2d 994; State v Farley (SD) 290 NW2d 491; State v Brown, 29 Wash App 11, 627 P2d 132; Pickens v State, 96 Wis 2d 549, 292 NW2d 601 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Dean, 103 Wis 2d 228, 307 NW2d 628) and (disapproved on other grounds by Godinez v Moran (US) 125 L Ed 2d 321, 113 S Ct 2680, 93 CDOS 4675, 93 Daily Journal DAR 7933, 7 FLW Fed S 499).

§ 174 Corpus delicti

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The corpus delicti must be established by the prosecution, meaning that the prosecution must establish the actual commission, by someone, of the particular offense. 82

◆ Observation: Proof that the defendant committed the crime is also necessary for a conviction, but it is not an element of the corpus delicti. 83

Footnotes

Footnote 82. People v McLaughlin (2nd Dist) 156 Cal App 2d 291, 319 P2d 365; State v Brown, 250 NC 209, 108 SE2d 233; Hilyard v State, 90 Okla Crim 435, 214 P2d 953, 28 ALR2d 961; State v Teal, 225 SC 472, 82 SE2d 787.

Footnote 83. Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 17.

§ 175 Mental state

Where mental state is an element of the crime, the prosecutor must prove it beyond a reasonable doubt. 84 But if intent is not a necessary element of a crime, it is not essential for the prosecution to affirmatively prove the purpose for which an alleged criminal act was performed. 85

Although a state may require a defendant to prove an affirmative defense, such as self-defense, some of whose facts tend to negate the mens rea element of the crime, 86 the state may not place upon the defendant the burden of disproving the mental state specified in the definition of the crime. 87 If intent is a crucial element of the crime, the state must prove it beyond a reasonable doubt, and any instruction which effectively shifts the burden of proof to the defendant is impermissible. 88 Thus, for example, in homicide cases, a state is constitutionally required to disprove the defense of accident, because accident is no more than the negative of intent or malice. 89

Footnotes

Footnote 84. See § 168 for a discussion of the necessity to prove each element of a crime beyond a reasonable doubt. As to presumptions regarding intent, see § 271.

Mental state as an element of crime is generally discussed in 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 129 et seq.

Footnote 85. People v Wells, 68 Cal App 2d 476, 156 P2d 979, motion den (3rd Dist) 261 Cal App 2d 468, 68 Cal Rptr 400.

Footnote 86. Martin v Ohio, 480 US 228, 94 L Ed 2d 267, 107 S Ct 1098, reh den 481 US 1024, 95 L Ed 2d 519, 107 S Ct 1913.

See § 178 for a discussion of the burden of proof with regard to affirmative defenses.

Footnote 87. Mullaney v Wilbur, 421 US 684, 44 L Ed 2d 508, 95 S Ct 1881.

Footnote 88. State v Amado (RI) 433 A2d 233.

In a heroin prosecution, an instruction cannot shift to the defendant the burden of proving that the defendant had no knowledge that the substance involved was heroin. State v Pimentel, 61 Hawaii 308, 603 P2d 141.

Footnote 89. Fornash v Marshall (CA6 Ohio) 686 F2d 1179, cert den 460 US 1042, 75 L Ed 2d 796, 103 S Ct 1439, reh den 461 US 940, 77 L Ed 2d 316, 103 S Ct 2113; McArthur v State (Fla) 351 So 2d 972 (not followed by Dunn v State (Fla App D5) 454 So 2d 641); Commonwealth v Hutchinson, 395 Mass 568, 481 NE2d 188; King v State, 254 Miss 162, 181 So 2d 158; State v Gardner, 51 NJ 444, 242 A2d 1; People v Wright (1st Dept) 17 App Div 2d 151, 232 NYS2d 767; State v Phillips, 264 NC 508, 142 SE2d 337; State v Poole, 33 Ohio St 2d 18, 62 Ohio Ops 2d 340, 294 NE2d 888, 63 ALR3d 932; Commonwealth v Cooney, 431 Pa 153, 244 A2d 651 (not followed by Commonwealth v Bradley, 332 Pa Super 99, 480 A2d 1205); Pogue v State (Tex Crim) 474 SW2d 492; State v Oakes, 129 Vt 241, 276 A2d 18, cert den 404 US 965, 30 L Ed 2d 285, 92 S Ct 340; State v Fondren, 41 Wash App 17, 701 P2d 810, review den 104 Wash 2d 1015; Goodman v State (Wyo) 573 P2d 400, appeal after remand (Wyo) 601 P2d 178.

Under the rule that the prosecution's burden is not relieved by a defendant's tactical decision not to contest an essential element of an offense, evidence of a child's injuries, used to establish battered child syndrome, was relevant to show intent, and the state was not required to refrain from introducing such evidence even though the defendant did not raise the defense of accidental death. Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305, on remand (CA9) 956 F2d 923, 92 CDOS 1314, 92 Daily Journal DAR 2100.

Annotation: Homicide: burden of proof on defense that killing was accidental, 63 ALR3d 936.

§ 176 Negative allegations; exceptions, and the like

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

When a negative averment is an essential element of a crime, the burden is still generally on the prosecution to prove the elements of the crime. 90 However, the burden may be placed on a defendant where the negative of the issue is not susceptible of direct proof, of the facts are more immediately within the accused's knowledge, such as where the circumstances could be readily disproved by the production of documents or other evidence within the defendant's possession or control. 91 For instance, while there are cases holding that in a prosecution for carrying a weapon without a license, lack of a license is an essential element of the crime that must be proved by the prosecution, 92 the general rule followed elsewhere is that the burden of proof as to whether the defendant was licensed is on the defendant. 93 Similarly, where the language of such a statute is construed as creating an exception for those who have permits, rather than an element of the crime, the prosecution does not have the burden of proving a lack of a permit. 94 However, in such a case, it is error to require that the defendant prove that the exception applies "by a fair preponderance" of the evidence; instead the defendant may be required to go forward with sufficient evidence to establish a prima facie case of the issuance of a permit, and the prosecution would then have to disprove that evidence beyond a reasonable doubt. 95

§ 176 ----Negative allegations; exceptions, and the like [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court's admission of an SBI agent's testimony in response to a question by the prosecutor that neither defendant nor his attorney had given the shoes worn by defendant on the night of the crime to law officers for comparison with shoeprints at the crime scene did not improperly allow the State to shift the burden of proof to defendant in violation of his right to due process but merely allowed the witness to inform the jury of defendant's failure to support his theory of the case. State v Jaynes (1995) 342 NC 249, 464 SE2d 448.

Footnotes

Footnote 90. Colt v United States (CA5 Fla) 158 F2d 641; Sheppard v State (Okla Crim) 306 P2d 346.

Footnote 91. Rossi v United States, 289 US 89, 77 L Ed 1051, 53 S Ct 532; Colt v United States (CA5 Fla) 158 F2d 641; State v Gerlack, 87 Or App 184, 741 P2d 926.

Footnote 92. Sellers v State (Ala App) 507 So 2d 540, revd on other grounds (Ala) 507 So 2d 544, on remand (Ala App) 507 So 2d 545; State v Beauton, 170 Conn 234, 365 A2d 1105; State v Baych (Iowa) 169 NW2d 578 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Erickson (Iowa) 362 NW2d 528) (proof that no valid permit had been issued put defendant under burden to rebut this element of the case); Commonwealth v McNeil, 461 Pa 709, 337 A2d 840, 69 ALR3d 1049, post-conviction proceeding 479 Pa 382, 388 A2d 707, post-conviction proceeding 497 Pa 187, 439 A2d 664, habeas corpus granted (ED Pa) 576 F Supp 1343, later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 782 F2d 443, cert den 479 US 1010, 93 L Ed 2d 709, 107 S Ct 654, petition den (ED Pa) 1994 US Dist LEXIS 734.

Footnote 93. People v Williams (4th Dist) 184 Cal App 2d 673, 7 Cal Rptr 604; Williams v United States (Dist Col App) 237 A2d 539; Johnson v State, 230 Ga 196, 196 SE2d 385 (criticized on other grounds by Head v State, 235 Ga 677, 221 SE2d 435) as stated in Moore v State, 176 Ga App 490, 336 SE2d 365; Taylor v State (Ind) 578 NE2d 664; Commonwealth v Jones, 372 Mass 403, 361 NE2d 1308.

Annotation: Burden of proof as to lack of license in criminal prosecution for carrying or possession of weapon without license, 69 ALR3d 1054.

Footnote 94. State v Paige (Minn) 256 NW2d 298.

Footnote 95. State v Paige (Minn) 256 NW2d 298.

§ 177 Statutes of limitations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Since statutes of limitations create a bar to prosecution, 96 the prosecution must affirmatively prove the commission of the offense within the period limited by the statute. 97 If the prosecution relies on an exception, it has the burden to show its right to prosecute. 98

Footnotes

Footnote 96. 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law § 223.

Footnote 97. Bustamante v District Court of Third Judicial Dist., 138 Colo 97, 329 P2d 1013 (ovrld on other grounds by County Court of County of El Paso v Ruth, 194 Colo 352, 575 P2d 1); State v Steensland, 33 Idaho 529, 195 P 1080, 13 ALR 1442; People v Guariglia, 187 Misc 843, 65 NYS2d 96, affd 272 App Div 784, 69 NYS2d 759.

Footnote 98. State v Steensland, 33 Idaho 529, 195 P 1080, 13 ALR 1442.

§ 178 Affirmative defenses

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

As to certain defenses, various jurisdictions assign one or more of the burdens to the defense; for example, the view is split whether the burden of proof on the issue of insanity is on the prosecution or defense. 99 Furthermore, there is no constitutional barrier to requiring a defendant to produce sufficient evidence of certain defenses before the prosecutor is obliged to rebut or overcome such defenses. 1

Constitutional questions arise, however, when the law imposes upon the defendant the burden of persuasion as to a defense. 2 A state may require a defendant to prove a defense by a preponderance of the evidence or by a greater burden 3 so long as the statute contains no presumptions and does not require the defendant to disprove any fact specified by the statute as an element of the crime. 4

There are constitutional limits in reassigning elements and burdens of persuasion beyond which the States may not go. 5 And it would violate the proportionality component of the prohibition of cruel and unusual punishment if a state sought, with regard to any felony, to eliminate the mental culpability element and make the absence of such culpability an affirmative defense. 6

§ 178 ----Affirmative defenses [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court in a first-degree murder sentencing hearing did not err when instructing the jury on defendant's burden of proof by defining preponderance of the evidence as evidence which "must satisfy you" rather than as "more likely than not." State v Alston (1995) 341 NC 198, 461 SE2d 687.

Footnotes

Footnote 99. 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 76 et seq.

Footnote 1. United States v Bailey, 444 US 394, 62 L Ed 2d 575, 100 S Ct 624, on remand 219 US App DC 67, 675 F2d 1292, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1163, cert den 459 US 853, 74 L Ed 2d 104, 103 S Ct 119 (it was constitutional to place the burden of production on the defendant as to the defenses of duress and necessity, and to direct that if the defendant fails to satisfy that burden, he is not entitled to a jury instruction on the defense).

The amount of proof required to put the prosecution to its proof as to the issue of sanity is discussed in 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law § 76.

Forms: Instruction—Burden and degree of proof on affirmative defense—Self defense. 8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Form 359; 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed § 20:935.

Footnote 2. Re Winship, 397 US 358, 25 L Ed 2d 368, 90 S Ct 1068, 51 Ohio Ops 2d 323, conformed to 27 NY2d 728, 314 NYS2d 536, 262 NE2d 675 and (criticized on other grounds by Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319) as stated in State v Krantz, 241 Mont 501, 788 P2d 298, cert den 498 US 938, 112 L Ed 2d 306, 111 S Ct 341.

Footnote 3. Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319, upholding homicide statute which defined murder as any intentional, unlawful killing, but providing, however, that murder could be mitigated to manslaughter if a defendant proved, by a preponderance of the evidence, the affirmative defense that the killing occurred while the defendant was under the influence of extreme emotional disturbance for which there was a reasonable explanation or excuse.

Footnote 4. Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319.

Assuming the prosecutor proved the elements of aggravated murder beyond a reasonable doubt, the defendant was entitled to be acquitted on the grounds of self-defense only if she proved by a preponderance of the evidence: (1) that she was not at fault in creating the situation giving rise to the argument; (2) that she acted in the honest belief that she was in imminent danger of death or other great bodily harm and that her only means of escape from such danger was the use of deadly force; and (3) that she violated no duty to retreat to avoid danger. Martin v Ohio, 480 US 228, 94 L Ed 2d 267, 107 S Ct 1098, reh den 481 US 1024, 95 L Ed 2d 519, 107 S Ct 1913.

Footnote 5. Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319.

Footnote 6. Morissette v United States, 342 US 246, 96 L Ed 288, 72 S Ct 240 (law making it a felony to unlawfully take the property of another unless the defendant proved by a preponderance of the evidence that he reasonably believed the property to be his own).

As to whether states may constitutionally place the burden of proving insanity on the defendant, see 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law § 77.

§ 179 Alibi

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Although an alibi is sometimes classified as an affirmative defense, it is simply a denial that the accused committed the crime, 7 thus, proof of an alibi is simply a means of controverting the state's effort to establish a criminal act. 8 The prosecution has the burden to establish that the accused was present at the place and time of the offense. 9 The jury is properly instructed that the defendant has no burden of proof with respect to his alibi, but that the state must disprove the alibi beyond a reasonable doubt. 10 Statutes or rules that require that the defendant give notice to the prosecution of the accused's intent to rely on an alibi 11 do not shift the burden of proof. 12

Some courts that classify alibi as an affirmative defense only place on the defendant the burden to go forward with evidence so as to raise a reasonable doubt as to his presence at the scene of the alleged crime, but then the prosecution must prove beyond a reasonable doubt the defendant's actual presence there. 13 A state cannot require a defendant to prove an alibi defense by a preponderance of the evidence, because to do so would relieve the state of the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed the act which constitutes the crime. 14

Footnotes

Footnote 7. 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law § 192.

Footnote 8. Robinson v State, 20 Md App 450, 316 A2d 268.

Practice References Burden and degree of proof. 27 Am Jur POF2d 431, Alibi Defense § 6.

Footnote 9. People v Pearson, 19 Ill 2d 609, 169 NE2d 252; Scherer v State, 187 Ind 15, 116 NE 52; State v Walston, 259 NC 385, 130 SE2d 636; Commonwealth v Bonomo, 396 Pa 222, 151 A2d 441; State v Mayfield, 235 SC 11, 109 SE2d 716, cert den 363 US 846, 4 L Ed 2d 1728, 80 S Ct 1616 and reh den 364 US 857, 5 L Ed 2d 81, 81 S Ct 36.

Footnote 10. People v Wintje, 68 NY2d 637, 505 NYS2d 62, 496 NE2d 221.

Footnote 11. 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law §§ 193 et seq.

Footnote 12. State v Whitely, 100 Utah 14, 110 P2d 337.

Footnote 13. Brown, 131 Ill App 2d 669; State v Young, 134 W Va 771, 61 SE2d 734.

Footnote 14. Johnson v Bennett (CA8 Iowa) 414 F2d 50.

§ 180 Prior convictions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

When a prior conviction is included in a charge for the purpose of enhancing the punishment, such as under a persistent felon statute, the prosecutor has the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that there was a prior conviction ¹⁵ and that the present defendant was in fact the defendant in the prior proceeding. ¹⁶ A procedure under which the prosecutor must prove the fact of the prior conviction, a defendant who wishes to challenge the conviction must come forward with some evidence suggesting that the conviction was invalid, and then the burden is then placed on the prosecutor to prove that the prior conviction is valid, is not violative of the right to due process. ¹⁷

§ 180 ----Prior convictions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of counterfeiting defendant's prior counterfeiting conspiracy and conviction with codefendant was properly admitted as probative on issues of intent, knowledge, and plan. United States v Wallace (1994, CA5 La) 32 F3d 921.

District court did not err in not having issued limiting instruction sua sponte after defendant's prior convictions for robbery and possession with intent to distribute heroin were introduced into evidence since convictions were introduced by defendant as part of defense strategy. United States v Brawner (1994, App DC) 32 F3d 602.

Footnotes

Footnote 15. People v Mason (Colo) 643 P2d 745; People v April (3d Dist) 73 Ill App 3d 555, 29 Ill Dec 843, 392 NE2d 400; Washington v State (Ind) 441 NE2d 1355; Poppe v State, 155 Neb 527, 52 NW2d 422; State v Harris, 1 Utah 2d 182, 264 P2d 284; State v Prater, 30 Wash App 512, 635 P2d 1104, review den 97 Wash 2d 1007.

Footnote 16. Robinson v State (Ala App) 432 So 2d 518; State v Hooper, 145 Ariz 538, 703 P2d 482, cert den 474 US 1073, 88 L Ed 2d 805, 106 S Ct 834; State v Bernal, 137 Ariz 421, 671 P2d 399; Montgomery v State, 277 Ark 95, 640 SW2d 108; People v Mascarenas (Colo) 666 P2d 101, appeal after remand (Colo) 706 P2d 404; People v Hall (5th Dist) 145 Ill App 3d 873, 99 Ill Dec 644, 495 NE2d 1379; People v April (3d Dist) 73 Ill App 3d 555, 29 Ill Dec 843, 392 NE2d 400; Seeglitz v State (Ind) 500 NE2d 144; State v Bennett (La) 357 So 2d 1136; State v Horton (La App 4th Cir) 487 So 2d 602; People v Johnson, 96 Mich App 652, 293 NW2d 664; Phillips v State (Miss) 421 So 2d 476; State v McMillan (Mo App) 593 SW2d 629, later proceeding (Mo App) 676 SW2d 903; State v Radi, 176 Mont 451, 578 P2d 1169, appeal after remand 185 Mont 38, 604 P2d 318; State v Cooper, 158 Mont 102, 489 P2d 99, appeal after remand 161 Mont 85, 504 P2d 978; State v Luna, 211 Neb 630, 319 NW2d 737, habeas corpus proceeding

(CA8 Neb) 772 F2d 448, post-conviction proceeding 230 Neb 966, 434 NW2d 526; State v Adels, 186 Neb 849, 186 NW2d 908; State v Ward, 118 NH 874, 395 A2d 511; State v Padilla (App) 92 NM 19, 582 P2d 396, cert den 92 NM 180, 585 P2d 324; State v Morgan, 82 NC App 674, 347 SE2d 487; Lewis v State (Okla Crim) 681 P2d 772; Jennings v State (Okla Crim) 484 P2d 885; State v Anderson, 15 Or App 607, 517 P2d 339; State v Garritsen (SD) 302 NW2d 409; Beck v State (Tex Crim) 719 SW2d 205; Perkins v State (Tex Crim) 485 SW2d 792; State v Murdock, 91 Wash 2d 336, 588 P2d 1143; State v Vance, 164 W Va 216, 262 SE2d 423; Block v State, 41 Wis 2d 205, 163 NW2d 196.

Footnote 17. Parke v Raley (US) 121 L Ed 2d 391, 113 S Ct 517, 92 CDOS 9568, 92 Daily Journal DAR 16078, 92 Daily Journal DAR 16173, 6 FLW Fed S 757, on remand (CA6 Ky) 983 F2d 1068, reported in full (CA6 Ky) 1993 US App LEXIS 508 and reh den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 372, 113 S Ct 1068.

IV. PRESUMPTIONS [181-300]

A. Introduction [181-189]

Research References

FRE Rules 301, 302

Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rules 301-303

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 92 et seq.

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

12 Federal Procedure, L Ed, Evidence §§ 33:91 et seq.

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 51 et seq., 61 et seq.

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 4:1 et seq.

§ 181 Generally; definitions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A presumption is neither evidence nor a substitute for evidence. 18 Properly used, the term "presumption" is a rule of law directing that if a party proves certain facts (the "basic facts") at a trial or hearing, the factfinder must also accept an additional fact (the "presumed fact") as proven unless sufficient evidence is introduced tending to rebut the presumed fact. 19 In a sense, therefore, a presumption is an inference which is mandatory unless rebutted. 20

The underlying purpose and impact of a presumption is to affect the burden of going forward. 21 Depending upon a variety of factors, a presumption may shift the burden of production as to the presumed fact, or may shift both the burden of production and the burden of persuasion. 22

A few states have codified some of the more common presumptions in their evidence codes. 23 Often a statute will provide that a fact or group of facts is prima facie evidence of another fact. 24 Courts frequently recognize this principle in the absence of an explicit legislative directive. 25

§ 181 ----Generally; definitions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

CLS Family Ct Act § 413(1)(g)—which creates irrebuttable presumption imposing $25 per month floor on all child support obligations up to accumulated debt of $500—flatly contradicts enabling legislation (42 USCS § 667) that commands opportunity in all cases to rebut and drop support award floor to $0 when impoverished circumstances so dictate; state law is thus preempted by federal statute. Rose ex rel. Clancy v Moody (1993) 83 NY2d 65, 607 NYS2d 906, 629 NE2d 378, cert den (US) 128 L Ed 2d 464.

Footnotes

Footnote 18. Levasseur v Field (Me) 332 A2d 765; Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113); Connizzo v General American Life Ins. Co. (Mo App) 520 SW2d 661.

Footnote 19. Inferences and presumptions are a staple of our adversary system of factfinding, since it is often necessary for the trier of fact to determine the existence of an element of a crime—that is an ultimate or elemental fact—from the existence of one or more evidentiary or basic facts. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

Footnote 20. Legille v Dann, 178 US App DC 78, 544 F2d 1, 191 USPQ 529; Murray v Montgomery Ward Life Ins. Co., 196 Colo 225, 584 P2d 78; Re Estate of Borom (Ind App) 562 NE2d 772; Manchester v Dugan (Me) 247 A2d 827; Ferdinand v Agricultural Ins. Co., 22 NJ 482, 126 A2d 323, 62 ALR2d 1179; Smith v Bohlen, 95 NC App 347, 382 SE2d 812, affd 328 NC 564, 402 SE2d 380; Larmay v Van Etten, 129 Vt 368, 278 A2d 736; Martin v Phillips, 235 Va 523, 369 SE2d 397.

As to the validity of mandatory inferences, see § 192.

Forms: General instruction on presumptions. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 51.

Instruction to jury—Presumption based on basic fact. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 54.

Footnote 21. FRE Rule 301.

Footnote 22. § 198.

Footnote 23. California Evidence Code §§ 621 et seq.; Hawaii Rules of Evidence, Rules 303, 304; Oregon Evidence Code, Rule 311.

Footnote 24. California Evidence Code § 602; Alaska Rule of Evidence, Rule 301(b); Hawaii Rule of Evidence, Rule 305; Maine Rule of Evidence, Rule 301(b); Oregon Rule of Evidence, Rule 311(2); Vermont Rule of Evidence, Rule 301(b); Wisconsin Rule of Evidence, Rule 301.

Footnote 25. American Casualty Co. v Costello, 174 Mich App 1, 435 NW2d 760; Glover v Henry (Tex App Eastland) 749 SW2d 502.

§ 182 Inference distinguished

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

An inference is a factual conclusion that can rationally be drawn from other facts. 26

Inferences are by their nature permissive, not mandatory: although the fact proved rationally supports the conclusion the offering party hopes will be inferred, the factfinder is free to accept or reject the inference. 27

In deciding whether an evidentiary device is permissive or mandatory, two factors are paramount: the scope of the inference or presumption and the precise presentation of the presumption to the jury. A presumption's scope includes the statute creating the presumption itself, cases interpreting the presumption, and an evaluation of the probability of the presumed or elemental fact existing upon proof of the basic fact. 28 The jury instructions will also generally be controlling in determining whether an inference will be classified as permissive or mandatory. 29

Footnotes

Footnote 26. Computer Identics Corp. v Southern Pacific Co. (CA1 Mass) 756 F2d 200, 1985-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 66466 (an inference is the result of a reasoning process by which a fact or proposition is deduced as a logical consequence from other facts that have already been proven); Reeves v General Foods Corp. (CA5 Tex) 682 F2d 515, 29 BNA FEP Cas 779, 29 CCH EPD ¶ 32967 (disapproved on other grounds by United States Postal Service Bd. of Governors v Aikens, 460 US 711, 75 L Ed 2d 403, 103 S Ct 1478, 31 BNA FEP Cas 609, 31 CCH EPD ¶ 33477, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368) as stated in Thornbrough v Columbus & G. R. Co. (CA5 Miss) 760 F2d 633, 37 BNA FEP Cas 1414, 37 CCH EPD ¶ 35274; Cummins v King & Sons (Alaska) 453 P2d 465 (an inference is a fact or proposition deduced by process of reasoning as a logical conclusion from other facts); Oana v Haskell, 7 Ariz App 493, 441 P2d 259; Lawton v Dracousis, 14 Mass App 164, 437 NE2d 543, app den 387 Mass 1103, 440 NE2d 1177; Rusk Farms, Inc. v Ralston Purina Co. (Mo App) 689 SW2d 671.

Footnote 27. Sweeney v Erving, 228 US 233, 57 L Ed 815, 33 S Ct 416.

Using the word permissive with the word inference is redundant, since there are no mandatory inferences. State v Rainey, 298 Or 459, 693 P2d 635.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Effect of failure to rebut inferences. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 61.

Instructions on inferences drawn from failure to produce evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 62 et seq.

Footnote 28. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

Footnote 29. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

A jury was specifically told that the statutory inference that presence at a still indicated criminal activity in connection with the still was not conclusive, but was merely one circumstance to be considered. United States v Gainey, 380 US 63, 13 L Ed 2d 658, 85 S Ct 754. On the other hand, an instruction that the defendant's presence at the still shall be deemed sufficient evidence to authorize a conviction impermissibly authorized a conviction even if the jury disbelieved all of the testimony except the proof of presence at the site. United States v Romano, 382 US 136, 15 L Ed 2d 210, 86 S Ct 279.

§ 183 --In criminal cases under Rule 303

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under Rule 303 of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, basic facts create at best only an inference from which a presumed fact may be determined at the jury's discretion, but the presumption cannot be compelled at the judge's direction in a criminal case. 30 Thus, such a rule has the effect of reducing presumptions in criminal cases to nothing more than permissible inferences when used against an accused. 31 Such an evidentiary device cannot relieve the state of proving all elements of a crime, 32 and a judge is not authorized to, in effect, direct a partial verdict against the accused on the issue. 33 According to Rule 303, a court is not directed to find a presumed fact against the accused in a criminal case. If a presumed fact establishes guilt or is an element of the offense or negatives a defense, the court may submit the question of guilt or of the existence of the presumed fact to the jury, but only if a reasonable juror, on the evidence as a whole, including evidence of the basic facts, could find guilt or the presumed fact beyond a reasonable doubt. If the presumed fact has a lesser effect, the question of its existence may be submitted to the jury, provided that the basic facts are supported by substantial evidence or are otherwise established, unless the court determines that a reasonable juror, on the evidence as a whole, could not find the existence of the presumed fact. 34 Whenever the existence of a presumed fact against the accused is submitted to the jury, the court is required to instruct that the jury may regard the basic facts as sufficient evidence of the presumed fact, but is not required to do so. In addition, if the presumed fact establishes guilt, is an element of the offense, or negatives a defense, the court is required to instruct the jury that its existence, on all the evidence, must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. 35

The rule described above applies, except as otherwise provided by statute, with regard to common law and statutory presumptions against the accused, including statutory provisions that certain facts are prima facie evidence of other facts or of guilt. 36 Thus, even if it is a common law presumption in tort cases that one who is speeding is negligent, the rule has the effect that this presumption at best creates only an inference in a criminal case. 37 The rule's language that a statutory provision dealing with prima facie evidence establishes a presumption also indicates that the rule governs the effect of such statutes as those providing that the proof of unlawful possession of a controlled substance is prima facie evidence of knowledge of its character. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 30. State v Dyess, 124 Wis 2d 525, 370 NW2d 222.

Footnote 31. State v Rainey, 298 Or 459, 693 P2d 635.

Footnote 32. State v Rainey, 298 Or 459, 693 P2d 635.

Footnote 33. State v Dyess, 124 Wis 2d 525, 370 NW2d 222.

Footnote 34. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 303(b).

Footnote 35. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 303(c).

Footnote 36. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 303(a).

Footnote 37. State v Dyess, 124 Wis 2d 525, 370 NW2d 222.

Footnote 38. State v Rainey, 298 Or 459, 693 P2d 635.

§ 184 Conclusive presumptions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A conclusive or irrebuttable presumption is not a presumption at all; it is a substantive rule of law directing that proof of certain basic facts conclusively proves an additional fact which cannot be rebutted. 39 Such presumptions rest upon grounds of expediency or public policy so compelling in character as to override the requirement of proof. 40

§ 184 ----Conclusive presumptions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court did not err in a sentencing hearing for first-degree murder by submitting evidence of a prior attempted rape conviction, submitting the aggravating circumstance of a prior felony involving violence, or in its instructions where the State submitted evidence that defendant had been convicted by General Court Martial of attempted rape. Attempted rape is a felony under North Carolina law, as well as under military law, and, since the military courts have held all rapes to be crimes of violence under military law, and all attempts to commit rape therefore by definition involve the use or threat of force, there was no need to consider whether there is a non-violent crime of attempted rape under North Carolina law. The evidence presented concerning the prior felony was proper and sufficient to establish that the defendant had been convicted of a prior felony involving the use or threat of violence to the person and the court's instruction did not constitute an impermissible conclusive presumption as it permitted the jury to make the determination as to whether defendant had been convicted. G.S. § 15A- 2000(e)(3). State v Green (1994) 336 NC 142, 443 SE2d 14.

Footnotes

Footnote 39. Usery v Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., 428 US 1, 49 L Ed 2d 752, 96 S Ct 2882, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 243 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Freeman United Coal Mining Co. v Office of Workers' Compensation Program (CA7) 999 F2d 291); Legille v Dann, 178 US App DC 78, 544 F2d 1, 191 USPQ 529; Jackson v Jackson, 67 Cal 2d 245, 60 Cal Rptr 649, 430 P2d 289; State ex rel. Juvenile Dept. of Deschutes County v Merritt, 83 Or App 378, 732 P2d 46.

Footnote 40. United States v Provident Trust Co., 291 US 272, 78 L Ed 793, 54 S Ct 389, 4 USTC ¶ 1229, 13 AFTR 861.

§ 185 Rationale

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Most presumptions are based at least in part on the high probability that if the basic facts exist, the presumed fact also exists; the presumed fact is so likely to follow from the basic fact that in the absence of rebutting evidence merely permitting the factfinder to infer the presumed fact does not adequately reflect the substantial likelihood that the presumed fact is true. 41

Presumptions are sometimes created to offset one party's advantage or disadvantage with regard to availability of proof; for instance, evidence that the shipper delivered the freight in good condition to the first of several carriers triggers a presumption that the damage was caused by the last carrier. 42 Similarly, in certain securities fraud actions, once plaintiffs prove omissions or misrepresentations by the defendants, a presumption exists that plaintiff relied on these omissions and misrepresentations to its detriment. 43

Presumptions sometimes serve the purpose of facilitating the resolution of factual disputes that otherwise might not be capable of decision; for instance, the presumption that someone who has not been seen nor heard of for seven years is dead. 44

Courts and legislatures also create presumptions to implement social policy by assisting one class of litigants against another. 45

Footnotes

Footnote 41. Swain v Neeld, 28 NJ 60, 145 A2d 320.

Footnote 42. Chicago & N. R. Co. v C. C. Whitnack Produce Co., 258 US 369, 66 L Ed 665, 42 S Ct 328.

Footnote 43. Lewis v McGraw (CA2 NY) 619 F2d 192, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97344, cert den 449 US 951, 66 L Ed 2d 214, 101 S Ct 354; Sharp v Coopers & Lybrand (CA3 Pa) 649 F2d 175, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97971, 71 OGR 555, cert den 455 US 938, 71 L Ed 2d 648, 102 S Ct 1427 and (criticized on other grounds by Re Atlantic Financial Management, Inc. (CA1 Mass) 784 F2d 29, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 92482) and (criticized on other grounds by Kersh v General Council of the Assemblies of God (CA9 Cal) 804 F2d 546, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 93000) and (ovrld on other grounds by Re Data Access Systems Secur. Litigation (CA3 NJ) 843 F2d 1537, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 93703) as stated in McCarter v Mitcham (CA3 Pa) 883 F2d 196, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94547.

Footnote 44. 22A Am Jur 2d, Death §§ 551 et seq.

Footnote 45. Keyes v School Dist., 413 US 189, 37 L Ed 2d 548, 93 S Ct 2686, reh den 414 US 883, 38 L Ed 2d 131, 94 S Ct 27, on remand (DC Colo) 368 F Supp 207, later proceeding (DC Colo) 380 F Supp 673, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA10 Colo) 521 F2d 465, cert den 423 US 1066, 46 L Ed 2d 657, 96 S Ct 806, later proceeding (DC Colo) 439 F Supp 393, later proceeding (DC Colo) 474 F Supp 1265, later proceeding (DC Colo) 540 F Supp 399, later proceeding (DC Colo) 576 F Supp 1503, later proceeding (DC Colo) 609 F Supp 1491, later proceeding (DC Colo) 653 F Supp 1536, later proceeding (DC Colo) 670 F Supp 1513, affd, in part, remanded (CA10 Colo) 895 F2d 659, cert den 498 US 1082, 112 L Ed 2d 1040, 111 S Ct 951 and (disapproved on other grounds by Price v Austin Independent School Dist. (CA5 Tex) 945 F2d 1307) and (disapproved on other grounds by Daly v Hill (CA4 NC) 790 F2d 1071) and (among conflicting authorities noted in Lujan v Franklin County Bd. of Education (CA6 Tenn) 766 F2d 917, 38 BNA FEP Cas 9, 37 CCH EPD ¶ 35337).

§ 186 Choice of law

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

States have taken a variety of approaches to applying choice of law principles to burdens and presumptions. The traditional approach to choice of law issues applies the law of the forum state in all procedural matters while applying applicable foreign law as to substantive matters; because presumptions and burdens of proof are perceived as procedural rather than substantive, they are governed by the law of the forum. 46

When the law of a foreign state on burdens of proof or presumptions is inseparably connected to the substantive right in question, or is intended to affect the substantive rights of the parties, 47 and does not violate the public policy of the forum state, the law of the foreign state, rather than that of the forum, governs. 48

The contact approach applies the law of the state which is the most interested in the outcome of the particular question of law. 49

A third approach provides that the forum will apply its own local law in determining which party has the burden of persuading the trier of fact on a particular issue unless the primary purpose of the relevant rule of the state of the otherwise applicable law is to affect the decision of the issue rather than to regulate the conduct of the trial. 50

Regardless of a state's approach to choice of law, courts as a rule recognize that conclusive presumptions affect the substantive rights of the parties; thus, where the substantive law is supplied by a foreign state, the forum state will apply the former's conclusive presumptions. 51

Footnotes

Footnote 46. Sun Oil Co. v Wortman, 486 US 717, 100 L Ed 2d 743, 108 S Ct 2117, 101 OGR 1; Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. v Barker (CA1 Mass) 228 F2d 842, cert den 350 US 988, 100 L Ed 854, 76 S Ct 475; Re Medico Associates, Inc. (BC DC Mass) 23 BR 307; Computerized Radiological Services, Inc. v Syntex Corp. (ED NY) 595 F Supp 1495, 40 UCCRS 49, affd in part and revd in part (CA2 NY) 786 F2d 72, 42 UCCRS 1656; Jackson v Coggan (SD NY) 330 F Supp 1060; Maryland Casualty Co. v Williams (CA5 Miss) 377 F2d 389, 35 ALR3d 275; Estep v Norfolk & W. R. Co. (CA6 Ky) 192 F2d 889; Alexander v Inland Steel Co. (CA8 Mo) 263 F2d 314; State Mut. Life Assur. Co. v Wittenberg (CA8 Ark) 239 F2d 87; United Air Lines, Inc. v Wiener (CA9 Cal) 335 F2d 379, 8 FR Serv 2d 49b.42, Case 1, cert dismd 379 US 951, 13 L Ed 2d 549, 85 S Ct 452; Weber v Continental Casualty Co. (CA10 Okla) 379 F2d 729; Amerada Hess Pipeline Corp. v Alaska Public Utilities Com. (Alaska) 711 P2d 1170; Marquis v St. Louis S. F. R. Co. (2nd Dist) 234 Cal App 2d 335, 44 Cal Rptr 367; Chasse v Albert, 147 Conn 680, 166 A2d 148; Miller & Long Co. v Shaw (Dist Col App) 204 A2d 697 (disapproved on other grounds by Myers v Gaither (Dist Col App) 232 A2d 577); Holt Service Co. v Modlin, 163 Ga App 283, 293 SE2d 741; Mudd v Goldblatt Bros., Inc. (1st Dist) 118 Ill App 3d 431, 73 Ill Dec 657, 454 NE2d 754; Tietloff v Lift-A-Loft Corp. (Ind App) 441 NE2d 986; Vernon v Aubinoe, 259 Md 159, 269 A2d 620; Joffre v Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., 222 Md 1, 158 A2d 631; Finch v Hughes Aircraft Co., 57 Md App 190, 469 A2d 867, cert den 300 Md 88, 475 A2d 1200, reconsideration den 301 Md 41, 481 A2d 801 and cert den 469 US 1215, 84 L Ed 2d 336, 105 S Ct 1190, reh den 471 US 1049, 85 L Ed 2d 341, 105 S Ct 2043, later proceeding (CA FC) 926 F2d 1574, 17 USPQ2d 1914 and (criticized on other grounds by Newell v Richards, 83 Md App 371, 574 A2d 370) and (criticized on other grounds by Newell v Richards (Md App) 1990 Md App LEXIS 133); Leventhal v American Airlines, Inc., 347 Mass 766, 196 NE2d 924; Stuart v State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (Mo App) 699 SW2d 450; Arnold v Ray Charles Enterprises, Inc., 264 NC 92, 141 SE2d 14; McDougall v Glenn Cartage Co., 169 Ohio St 522, 9 Ohio Ops 2d 12, 160 NE2d 266; Sloniger v Enterline, 400 Pa 457, 162 A2d 397; Vicars v Atlantic Discount Co., 205 Va 934, 140 SE2d 667.

Footnote 47. Kabo v Summa Corp. (ED Pa) 523 F Supp 1326 (where the burden of proof has such a substantive impact as to affect the decision of the case, or is intertwined with the statutory remedy, the burden of proof is deemed substantive, and should be determined according to the otherwise applicable law).

Footnote 48. Cardell v Morrison (DC Mass) 138 F Supp 817; New York C. R. Co. v Monroe (SD NY) 188 F Supp 826, 15 Ohio Ops 2d 31; Melville v American Home Assur. Co. (CA3 Pa) 584 F2d 1306, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 756; Sanders v Glenshaw Glass Co. (CA3 Pa) 204 F2d 436, cert den 346 US 916, 98 L Ed 411, 74 S Ct 278; Lachman v Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc. (CA4 Va) 160 F2d 496; Maryland Casualty Co. v Williams (CA5 Miss) 377 F2d 389, 35 ALR3d 275; Pilot Life Ins. Co. v Boone (CA5 Ala) 236 F2d 457; Jupiter v United States (ED La) 181 F Supp 294, affd (CA5 La) 287 F2d 388; Thompson v Boswell (CA6 Tenn) 166 F2d 106; Maurer v United States (ED Wis) 219 F Supp 253; Keeshin Motor Express Co. v Park Davis Lines, Inc. (DC Mo) 119 F Supp 561; Knight v Handley Motor Co. (Dist Col App) 198 A2d 747 (disapproved on other grounds by Myers v Gaither (Dist Col App) 232 A2d 577); Valleroy v Southern R. Co. (Mo) 403 SW2d 553; Gordon's Transports, Inc. v Bailey, 41 Tenn App 365, 294 SW2d 313; De Santis v Wackenhut Corp. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 732 SW2d 29, writ granted (Tex) 31 Tex Sup Ct Jour 137 and affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (Tex) 31 Tex Sup Ct Jour 616, op withdrawn, substituted op, on reh (Tex) 793 SW2d 670, 5 BNA IER Cas 739, 1990-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 69147, reh overr (Sep 12, 1990) and cert den 498 US 1048, 112 L Ed 2d 775, 111 S Ct 755, 6 BNA IER Cas 128; Buhler v Maddison, 109 Utah 267, 176 P2d 118, 168 ALR 177; Goldman v Beaudry, 122 Vt 299, 170 A2d 636.

Footnote 49. Melville v American Home Assur. Co. (CA3 Pa) 584 F2d 1306, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 756 (in a diversity action brought in Pennsylvania by insured against insurance company located in New York, the court applied Delaware law regarding the presumption with respect to suicide, because insured was a Delaware resident and had purchased the policy in Delaware, and the accident occurred in Delaware); Headen v Pope & Talbot, Inc. (CA3 Pa) 252 F2d 739 (law of the state where parties were married did not control as to presumptions concerning validity of marriage); Patten v General Motors Corp., Chevrolet Motor Div. (WD Okla) 699 F Supp 1500 (in a wrongful death and products liability action brought in Oklahoma against businesses located in Michigan, Ohio, and Florida concerning an accident in Colorado, Oklahoma's interest in compensating the survivors justified application of Oklahoma law on burden of persuasion, because the van was put into the stream of commerce in Oklahoma, plaintiffs and decedents were Oklahoma residents, and defendants did business in Oklahoma); Sadberry v Griffiths (4th Dist) 191 Cal App 2d 610, 12 Cal Rptr 773 (in holding that California law applied as to a presumption of motor vehicle ownership, the court gave some consideration to the fact that California was the state in which plaintiffs were injured as well as the state in which the forum was located); Myers v Gaither (Dist Col App) 232 A2d 577, remanded 131 US App DC 216, 404 F2d 216 (contacts with the District of Columbia were superior to those of any other jurisdiction such that District of Columbia law governed).

Footnote 50. Computerized Radiological Services, Inc. v Syntex Corp. (ED NY) 595 F Supp 1495, 40 UCCRS 49, affd in part and revd in part (CA2 NY) 786 F2d 72, 42 UCCRS 1656; Melville v American Home Assur. Co. (CA3 Pa) 584 F2d 1306, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 756; Amerada Hess Pipeline Corp. v Alaska Public Utilities Com. (Alaska) 711 P2d 1170; Holt Service Co. v Modlin, 163 Ga App 283, 293 SE2d 741; Babcock v Chesapeake & O. R. Co. (1st Dist) 83 Ill App 3d 919, 38 Ill Dec 841, 404 NE2d 265; Tietloff v Lift-A-Loft Corp. (Ind App) 441 NE2d 986; Finch v Hughes Aircraft Co., 57 Md App 190, 469 A2d 867, cert den 300 Md 88, 475 A2d 1200, reconsideration den 301 Md 41, 481 A2d 801 and cert den 469 US 1215, 84 L Ed 2d 336, 105 S Ct 1190, reh den 471 US 1049, 85 L Ed 2d 341, 105 S Ct 2043, later proceeding (CA FC) 926 F2d 1574, 17 USPQ2d 1914 and (criticized on other grounds by Newell v Richards, 83 Md App 371, 574 A2d 370) and (criticized on other grounds by Newell v Richards (Md App) 1990 Md App LEXIS 133).

Footnote 51. Maryland Casualty Co. v Williams (CA5 Miss) 377 F2d 389, 35 ALR3d 275; Kowalski v Wojtkowski, 19 NJ 247, 116 A2d 6, 53 ALR2d 556 (disapproved on other grounds by B. v O., 50 NJ 93, 232 A2d 401); Buhler v Maddison, 109 Utah 267, 176 P2d 118, 168 ALR 177.

§ 187 --Federal or state law

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Rule 302 of the Federal Rules of Evidence provides that in civil actions and proceedings, the effect of a presumption respecting a fact which is an element of a claim or defense as to which state law supplies the rule of decision is determined in accordance with state law. 52 For choice of law purposes, a presumption which supplies a fact which is an element of a claim or defense, or which affects the decision of the issue, is substantive, and if state law provides the substantive rule of decision, the forum state's conflict of laws rules determine what substantive law applies and the presumptions that go with it. 53 Rule 302 does not, however, apply to mere inferences. 54

◆ Comment: State law usually applies in diversity cases, but this designation is not completely accurate, since the Erie doctrine applies to any claim or issue having its source in state law, regardless of the basis of federal jurisdiction, and does not apply to a federal claim or issue, even though jurisdiction is based on diversity. Hence, FRE 302 employs the phrase "as to which State law supplies the rule of decision." 55

Rule 302 applies to presumptions that involve a fact which is an element of a claim or defense, such as the presumptions that a decedent was exercising due care, 56 or against suicide. 57 On the other hand, it does not apply to a "tactical" presumption, where such is not an element of the plaintiff's case. 58

The Uniform Rules of Evidence conversely provide that in civil actions and proceedings, the effect of a presumption respecting a fact which is an element of a claim or defense as to which federal law supplies the rule of decision is determined in accordance with the federal law. 59

Footnotes

Footnote 52. FRE 302.

Footnote 53. Melville v American Home Assur. Co. (ED Pa) 443 F Supp 1064, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 746, revd on other grounds (CA3 Pa) 584 F2d 1306, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 756.

Annotation: Conflict of laws as to presumptions and burden of proof concerning facts of civil case, 35 ALR3d 289.

Footnote 54. Herbert v Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (CA5 La) 911 F2d 1044, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 273, reh den, en banc (CA5 La) 917 F2d 559.

Footnote 55. Advisory Committee Notes to FRE 302.

As to when state law provides the rule of decision, see 32 Am Jur 2d, Federal Practice and Procedure §§ 267 et seq.

Footnote 56. Monger v Cessna Aircraft Co. (CA8 Mo) 812 F2d 402, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 835.

Footnote 57. Melville v American Home Assur. Co. (ED Pa) 443 F Supp 1064, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 746, revd on other grounds (CA3 Pa) 584 F2d 1306, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 756.

Footnote 58. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 75 (giving, as an example, a suit to collect on an account where receipt of the account by mail is not an element of the plaintiff's case).

Footnote 59. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 302.

Many states' versions of the Uniform Rules omit this provision. See 13A ULA, Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 302, Variations from Official Text.

§ 188 Administrative presumptions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Administrative presumptions must satisfy a test of logical probability. 60 This appears to be a somewhat more demanding test than the some rational connection test enunciated for legislative presumptions. 61

An administrative presumption's usefulness, and the degree to which it is needed to further the reasons underlying its creation, are relevant considerations. 62

Assessment of factual probability, usefulness, and necessity is sometimes implicit rather than explicit, but these remain significant considerations. 63

To be constitutional, a presumption must afford a party a fair opportunity to rebut it. 64

Footnotes

Footnote 60. NLRB v Baptist Hospital, Inc., 442 US 773, 61 L Ed 2d 251, 99 S Ct 2598, 101 BNA LRRM 2556, 86 CCH LC ¶ 11351, on remand (CA6) 602 F2d 131, 102 BNA LRRM 2640, 87 CCH LC ¶ 11624, later proceeding 246 NLRB 149, 102 BNA LRRM 1418, 1979-80 CCH NLRB ¶ 16363 (presumptions promulgated by the NLRB must have a sound factual connection between the basic and the presumed facts); NLRB v Los Angeles New Hospital (CA9) 640 F2d 1017, 106 BNA LRRM 2855, 90 CCH LC ¶ 12637.

Footnote 61. See § 190 for a discussion of the constitutional issues present with legislatively created presumptions.

Footnote 62. NLRB v Baptist Hospital, Inc., 442 US 773, 61 L Ed 2d 251, 99 S Ct 2598, 101 BNA LRRM 2556, 86 CCH LC ¶ 11351, on remand (CA6) 602 F2d 131, 102 BNA LRRM 2640, 87 CCH LC ¶ 11624, later proceeding 246 NLRB 149, 102 BNA LRRM 1418, 1979-80 CCH NLRB ¶ 16363; Holland Livestock Ranch v United States (CA9 Nev) 714 F2d 90 (a presumption could not be used to prove the act of trespass itself, because the presumption was not necessary to prove trespass); Holland Livestock Ranch v United States (CA9 Nev) 655 F2d 1002, later proceeding (DC Nev) 588 F Supp 943, 14 ELR 20852 (once some actual trespass had been proved, a presumption could be used in measuring damages caused by grazing, because demonstrating each individual trespass would be extremely difficult, if not impossible).

Footnote 63. Jensen v United States (DC NJ) 743 F Supp 1091, holding valid the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's presumption that if three one-pound samples taken from a multi-hundred-pound catch of scallops failed to satisfy size and weight standards, the entire catch violated the standards, despite petitioners' claim that the presumption was irrational because the size of the sample is statistically insignificant.

Footnote 64. Straughn v K & K Land Management, Inc. (Fla) 326 So 2d 421; B.R. v Department of Health & Rehabilitative Services (Fla App D2) 558 So 2d 1027, 14 FLW 2837, review den (Fla) 567 So 2d 434.

§ 189 --Applicability of Rule 301

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

There is a split of authority as to whether or not Rule 301 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, providing that a presumption does not shift the burden of proof, 65 applies to regulatory and administrative hearings and trials; some courts holding the rule applicable to such proceedings, 66 while others hold that such proceedings are not civil actions and proceedings as meant by Rule 301 because they do not fall within Rule 1101, which defines the proceedings to which the Federal Rules of Evidence apply. 67 Where Congress explicitly directs that the Federal Rules of Evidence should apply to such proceedings, however, Rule 301 is applicable. 68

Assuming the rule applies to such proceedings, courts are divided as to whether presumptions created by regulatory agencies and used at agency proceedings are subject to Rule 301. 69

Footnotes

Footnote 65. FRE 301 is discussed in this regard in § 195.

Footnote 66. Alabama By-Products Corp. v Killingsworth (CA11) 733 F2d 1511, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1062.

Footnote 67. American Coal Co. v Benefits Review Bd., United States Dept. of Labor (CA10) 738 F2d 387, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 54.

Footnote 68. Beth Israel Hospital & Geriatric Center v NLRB (CA10) 688 F2d 697, 111 BNA LRRM 2384, 95 CCH LC ¶ 13770, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 920, cert dismd 459 US 1025, 74 L Ed 2d 522, 103 S Ct 433, 96 CCH LC ¶ 14034, later proceeding 289 NLRB 249, 129 BNA LRRM 1263, 1987-88 CCH NLRB ¶ 19470.

Footnote 69. Big Y Foods, Inc. v NLRB (CA1) 651 F2d 40, 107 BNA LRRM 2971, 91 CCH LC ¶ 12815 (Rule 301 did not limit the effect of the so-called presumption of the propriety of a bargaining unit, because the presumption was a "substantive, not a procedural, presumption such as is set forth in Rule 301"); Carozza v United States Steel Corp. (CA3) 727 F2d 74; Peabody Coal Co. v Director, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, United States Dept. of Labor (CA7) 778 F2d 358; NLRB v Tahoe Nugget, Inc. (CA9) 584 F2d 293, 99 BNA LRRM 2509, 84 CCH LC ¶ 10793, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 884, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 290, 99 S Ct 2847, 101 BNA LRRM 2428, 86 CCH LC ¶ 11322, reh den 444 US 887, 62 L Ed 2d 122, 100 S Ct 187 (Rule 301 does not apply to an NLRB presumption that a union represents a majority of its members); American Coal Co. v Benefits Review Bd., United States Dept. of Labor (CA10) 738 F2d 387, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 54 (provisions in the Black Lung Benefits Act which specifically authorize an official or agency to create presumptions is a provision which "otherwise provides" within the meaning of Rule 301).

B. Constitutional Issues Affecting Validity of Presumptions [190-193]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 92 et seq.

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 4:55 et seq., 5:27 et seq.

Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 34

§ 190 In civil litigation

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Because a presumption is a procedural rule that, at most, imposes the burden of persuasion, presumptions in civil litigation generally do not raise constitutional issues; accordingly, whenever a legislature may enact legislation directly imposing liability on proof of certain facts, it may instead provide that those facts create a presumption which shifts the burden of persuasion on the ultimate issue. 70

Where a presumption intrudes upon a significant liberty interest, however, it may violate due process of law. 71 Barring special circumstances, however, all that is required is that there be some rational connection between the basic fact and the presumed fact. 72

A court assessing a constitutional challenge to a conclusive presumption assesses the adequacy of the fit between the classification and the policy that the classification serves. Thus, its constitutionality is measured by the same standards as are substantive rules of law generally. 73

§ 190 ----In civil litigation [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Rebuttable presumptions, which merely shift to challenging party burden of presenting credible evidence of nonreceipt of mailed notice, are constitutional. Mullen v Braatz (1993, App) 179 Wis 2d 749, 508 NW2d 446.

Footnotes

Footnote 70. Usery v Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., 428 US 1, 49 L Ed 2d 752, 96 S Ct 2882, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 243 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Freeman United Coal Mining Co. v Office of Workers' Compensation Program (CA7) 999 F2d 291); Ferry v Ramsey, 277 US 88, 72 L Ed 796, 48 S Ct 443.

Footnote 71. Stanley v Illinois, 405 US 645, 31 L Ed 2d 551, 92 S Ct 1208, holding unconstitutional violation of the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment a statutory presumption that unmarried fathers are unsuitable and neglectful parents.

Footnote 72. Usery v Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., 428 US 1, 49 L Ed 2d 752, 96 S Ct 2882, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 243 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Freeman United Coal Mining Co. v Office of Workers' Compensation Program (CA7) 999 F2d 291); Dick v New York Life Ins. Co., 359 US 437, 3 L Ed 2d 935, 79 S Ct 921; Mobile, J. & K. C. R. Co. v Turnipseed, 219 US 35, 55 L Ed 78, 31 S Ct 136; Pizza v Wolf Creek Ski Dev. Corp. (Colo) 711 P2d 671, 55 ALR4th 607 (criticized on other grounds by Tri-Aspen Constr. Co. v Johnson (Colo) 714 P2d 484).

Footnote 73. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573.

§ 191 Rational connection test for presumptions and inferences in criminal cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A criminal law presumption violates due process if there is no rational connection between the fact proved and the ultimate fact presumed, if the inference of the one from proof of the other is arbitrary because of the lack of connection between the two in common experience. 74

For example, the necessary rational connection has been found wanting where the presumptions directed that possession of marijuana or cocaine was sufficient evidence to permit conviction of the crime of transporting and concealing it with knowledge of its illegal importation, unless the defendant explained otherwise to the jury's satisfaction. 75 As to heroin, however, the presumption has been held not arbitrary and not a violation of due process. 76

The constitutionality of an instruction to the jury that possession of recently stolen property, if not satisfactorily explained, is ordinarily a circumstance from which it may reasonably draw the inference that the person in possession knew the property had been stolen, has also been upheld. 77

Footnotes

Footnote 74. Tot v United States, 319 US 463, 87 L Ed 1519, 63 S Ct 1241, holding a violation of due process the statutory presumption that the possession of a firearm shall be presumptive evidence that such firearm had been shipped in interstate commerce, because it ignored the substantial possibility that the defendants might have obtained the firearms from an intrastate source.

A presumption that someone present at an illegal still was in possession of it failed both the rational connection and the judicial instruction tests because, although presence tells us that the defendant very likely played a part in the illicit scheme, it provided no legitimate, rational or reasonable inference that he was engaged in one of the specialized functions connected with possession, rather than in one of the supply, delivery or operational activities having nothing to do with possession. United States v Romano, 382 US 136, 15 L Ed 2d 210, 86 S Ct 279.

The clear connection between the basic fact, presence at an illegal still, and the presumed fact, in essence, any criminal involvement in its operation, passed the rational connection test because presence at an illegal still strongly suggested that the defendant was a participant in its operation. United States v Gainey, 380 US 63, 13 L Ed 2d 658, 85 S Ct 754.

Footnote 75. Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850); Leary v United States, 395 US 6, 23 L Ed 2d 57, 89 S Ct 1532, 69-2 USTC ¶ 15900, 23 AFTR 2d 69-2006, on remand (CA5 Tex) 544 F2d 1266, reh den (CA5 Tex) 548 F2d 355 (the probability that the drug had been imported was insufficient to sustain the presumption, and that to presume knowledge of importation from mere possession was so dubious as to be arbitrary).

Footnote 76. Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850).

Footnote 77. Barnes v United States, 412 US 837, 37 L Ed 2d 380, 93 S Ct 2357, holding that the nexus between the basic fact and the presumed fact was clearly sufficient to enable the jury to find beyond a reasonable doubt that those in the unexplained possession of recently stolen property know it to have been stolen.

§ 192 Tests for mandatory and permissive presumptions or inferences

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The degree of persuasiveness required to uphold a criminal law presumption depends upon whether the presumption is permissive or mandatory. 78 A permissive inference, that is, one from which the jury may, but need not, infer the presumed fact from the basic fact, satisfies due process so long as a rational factfinder could conclude that, once the basic facts are proven, the presumed fact is more probably than not also true. A mandatory presumption of the criminal law, that is, one from which the jury must find the presumed fact from the basic fact unless the defendant persuades it to the contrary, satisfies due process only if a rational factfinder, convinced that the basic facts are true and relying only on the basic facts, could find beyond a reasonable doubt that the presumed fact is also true. 79

Where the judge has told the jury it may ignore the presumption even in the absence of contradicting evidence, its validity is assessed, not in the abstract, but in light of all the evidence in the record. But to the extent that the trier of fact is forced to abide by a presumption, and not reject it based on an independent evaluation of the facts presented by the prosecution in the particular case, the analysis of the presumption's validity is logically divorced from those facts, and hence must be assessed on its face, without regard to any other evidence that has been introduced at trial. 80

◆ Observation: The ultimate test of either type of presumption is whether the inference or presumption undermines the factfinder's responsibility at trial, based on evidence adduced by the state, to find the ultimate facts beyond a reasonable doubt. 81

Footnotes

Footnote 78. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213, stressing the distinction between two types of evidentiary device; a permissive inference or presumption, what is referred to in civil litigation as an inference, and a mandatory presumption, in essence, a presumption that requires the defendant at least to raise a reasonable doubt as to the presumed fact.

◆ Reminder: Under Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 303, presumptions are only permissive in criminal cases. § 183.

As to the distinction between inferences and presumptions, generally, see § 182.

Footnote 79. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

Footnote 80. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

Footnote 81. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

§ 193 --Probability

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The factual probability of the presumed fact must be much greater for a mandatory than for a permissive presumption. A permissive inference or presumption allows, but does not require, the factfinder to infer the presumed fact from proof of the basic fact, and places no burden of any kind on the defendant. 82 Therefore, the constitutionality of a permissive inference or presumption is assessed against a comparatively liberal standard; 83 that is, a permissive inference or presumption complies with due process so long as a rational factfinder could conclude that the presumed fact is more likely than not to flow from the basic fact. 84

A mandatory presumption, on the other hand, may affect not only the strength of the no reasonable doubt burden but also the placement of that burden; it tells the trier that he or they must find the elemental fact upon proof of the basic fact, at least unless the defendant has come forward with some evidence to rebut the presumed connection between the two facts. 85 Thus, a mandatory presumption is constitutional only if a rational factfinder, who was convinced of the basic facts, could, without considering any other evidence, find the presumed fact beyond a reasonable doubt. 86 A mandatory presumption need not, however, be accurate in every imaginable case, so long as it passes the rational factfinder beyond a reasonable doubt standard. 87

Footnotes

Footnote 82. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213; Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850).

Footnote 83. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213; Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850) (permissive presumption leaves the trier of fact free to credit or reject the inference and does not shift the burden of proof, it affects the application of the beyond a reasonable doubt standard only if, under the facts of the case, there is no rational way the trier could make the connection permitted by the inference).

Footnote 84. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213; Leary v United States, 395 US 6, 23 L Ed 2d 57, 89 S Ct 1532, 69-2 USTC ¶ 15900, 23 AFTR 2d 69-2006, on remand (CA5 Tex) 544 F2d 1266, reh den (CA5 Tex) 548 F2d 355; Tot v United States, 319 US 463, 87 L Ed 1519, 63 S Ct 1241.

Footnote 85. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213; Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850); Leary v United States, 395 US 6, 23 L Ed 2d 57, 89 S Ct 1532, 69-2 USTC ¶ 15900, 23 AFTR 2d 69-2006, on remand (CA5 Tex) 544 F2d 1266, reh den (CA5 Tex) 548 F2d 355; United States v Romano, 382 US 136, 15 L Ed 2d 210, 86 S Ct 279; Tot v United States, 319 US 463, 87 L Ed 1519, 63 S Ct 1241.

Footnote 86. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213.

Giving an instruction that there is a mandatory presumption of intent to steal from failure to return rented property within specified period could not be harmless error. Yates v Evatt, 500 US 391, 114 L Ed 2d 432, 111 S Ct 1884, 91 CDOS 3849, 91 Daily Journal DAR 6160 (ovrld on other grounds by Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305).

Instructing the jury that the acts of a person of sound mind and discretion are presumed to be the product of the person's will, but the presumption may be rebutted, and that a person of sound mind and discretion is presumed to intend the natural and probable consequences of his acts, but the presumption may be rebutted, violated due process. Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965 (criticized on other grounds by Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305) as stated in People v Clair, 2 Cal 4th 629, 7 Cal Rptr 2d 564, 828 P2d 705, 92 CDOS 3966, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6358, reh den (Cal) 1992 Cal LEXIS 3179 and stay gr (Cal) 1992 Cal LEXIS 4259 and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 155, 113 S Ct 1006.

Trial judge's instructions to the jury that the law presumes that a person intends the ordinary consequences of his voluntary acts violated the constitution because it communicated to the jury that the state did not have to prove the element of intent, (Sandstrom v Montana, 442 US 510, 61 L Ed 2d 39, 99 S Ct 2450, on remand 184 Mont 391, 603 P2d 244), and even though an instruction of this type might provide that the presumption of intent could be overcome by other evidence, the deprivation of due process persists (Myrick v Maschner (CA10 Kan) 799 F2d 642).

Footnote 87. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213, criticizing the Second Circuit for invalidating a presumption because it might not be valid in implausible hypothetical situations.

C. Effect of Presumptions [194-196]

Research References

FRE Rule 301

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 92 et seq.

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 51 et seq.

12 Federal Procedure, L Ed, Evidence §§ 33:91 et seq.

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 4:1 et seq.

§ 194 Generally

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

The traditional theory treats a presumption as merely a procedural device whose purpose is merely to facilitate the trial process by shifting the burden of production as to a presumed fact from one party to another, but not the burden of persuasion. 88

The reformist theory objects that presumptions are created to deal with significant concerns of procedure and policy; by treating a presumption as little more than a permissive inference with a minor procedural appendage, which disappears once the adversely affected party verbalizes a denial of the presumed fact. 89 The probability theory similarly reasons that any presumption that is based upon logical probability, that is, one in which the basic facts have probative value of the existence of the presumed fact, ought to shift the burden of persuasion to the party adversely affected by the presumption. 90

The public policy theory reasons that if a presumption's primary purpose is merely to facilitate the trial process, it should shift only the burden of production. If a presumption was created to help implement a broader social policy, however, it should also shift the burden of persuasion. The practical difficulty with this approach is that most presumptions reflect a mixture of procedural and policy concerns. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 88. Union P. R. Co. v United States, 208 Ct Cl 1, 524 F2d 1343, 75-2 USTC ¶ 9800, 76-1 USTC ¶ 9308, 36 AFTR 2d 75-6251, 37 AFTR 2d 76-996, cert den 429 US 827, 50 L Ed 2d 89, 97 S Ct 83, later proceeding 9 Cl Ct 702, 86-1 USTC ¶ 9259, 57 AFTR 2d 86-933, affd (CA FC) 847 F2d 1567, 88-1 USTC ¶ 9357, 61 AFTR 2d 88-1200 and on remand (Ct Cl Tr Div) 76-2 USTC ¶ 9727, 38 AFTR 2d 76-6079, affd 213 Ct Cl 715, 77-1 USTC ¶ 9247, 39 AFTR 2d 77-895; Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v Griffin (Fla App D4) 222 So 2d 754; Sumpter v State, 261 Ind 471, 306 NE2d 95, app dismd 419 US 811, 42 L Ed 2d 38, 95 S Ct 25 and appeal after remand 264 Ind 117, 340 NE2d 764, cert den 425 US 952, 48 L Ed 2d 196, 96 S Ct 1727 and (ovrld by on other grounds Taylor v State (Ind) 420 NE2d 1231).

Annotation: Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19.

Footnote 89. Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113).

Footnote 90. Union Cent. Life Ins. Co. v Sims, 208 Ark 1069, 189 SW2d 193, applying the probability theory to the presumption of accidental death rather than death from suicide or violation of law.

Footnote 91. See § 185 for a discussion of social policy as a rationale for presumptions.

§ 195 Under Federal Rule 301 and similar state rules

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Rule 301 of the Federal Rules of Evidence provides generally that in all civil actions and proceedings, a presumption imposes on the party against whom it is directed the burden of going forward with evidence to rebut or meet the presumption, but does not shift to such party the burden of proof in the sense of the risk of nonpersuasion, which remains throughout the trial upon the party on whom it was originally cast. 92 Congress rewrote Rule 301, which as promulgated by the Supreme Court, shifted both the burden of going forward and the burden of persuasion. 93 While Rule 301 of the Uniform Rules of Evidence does not directly address this issue, some state variations of Rule 301 follow the federal text that presumptions do not shift the burden of proof. 94 Courts in these states generally follow federal interpretations when interpreting their own state provisions. 95 Several additional states have adopted the substance of Rule 301 by judicial decision. 96

According to Rule 301, once a party has introduced sufficient evidence rebutting the presumed fact, the presumption as such drops out of the case. 97

Rule 301 applies only in civil actions and proceedings, not in criminal trials. 98

The rule also acknowledges that some presumptions should receive different treatment, but only if otherwise provided for by Act of Congress or by the rules themselves. 99 A presumption is clearly regulated by Rule 301 if its legislative history so specifies. 1 But, if the language codifying a statutory presumption explicitly directs a shift in the burden of persuasion, it clearly falls outside the provisions of Rule 301. 2

Disagreement exists, however, as to statutory presumptions that do not explicitly otherwise provide, that is, which do not explicitly direct a shift in the burden of persuasion. A plain reading of Rule 301 suggests that a statutory presumption that lacks such language is regulated by the rule without consideration either of the intent with which Congress created the presumption or of pre-Rule 301 case law interpreting the presumption. 3 On the other hand, federal statutory presumptions that pre-date the Federal Rules of Evidence were enacted at a time when Congress could not have anticipated the importance of specifying in the statute itself (rather than its legislative history) the impact the presumption should have. Thus, an across-the-board application of Rule 301 to pre-Rule 301 presumptions could in some instances frustrate the intent with which Congress enacted the presumption in the first place. And even absent explicit legislative history, the policies underlying the creation of a statutory presumption may strongly suggest that Congress intended the presumption to shift the burden of persuasion—or, at least, that Congress would have so intended if it had thought the problem through. Arguably, therefore, courts should give a pre-Rule 301 statutory presumption a burden-of-persuasion-shifting effect, not only if Congress "so provided" explicitly in the statute, but also if its legislative history or underlying policy considerations suggest that this is what Congress intended. 4

§ 195 ----Under Federal Rule 301 and similar state rules [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court's rejection of employer's asserted reasons for discharging plaintiff did not mandate finding for employee alleging racial discrimination since, under FRE Rule 301, presumption does not shift burden of proof and Title VII plaintiff at all times bears ultimate burden of persuasion, holding that finding for employee was not mandated did not give special favor to employers whose evidence rebutting charges of racial discrimination was disbelieved, fact that employer's proffered reason was unpersuasive or obviously contrived did not necessarily establish that employee's proffered reason of race was correct, and courts should not treat discrimination differently from other ultimate questions of fact. Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (1993, US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 7 FLW Fed S 553.

Footnotes

Footnote 92. FRE 301.

Footnote 93. Silver Chrysler Plymouth, Inc. v Chrysler Motors Corp. (ED NY) 370 F Supp 581, affd (CA2) 518 F2d 751 (ovrld on other grounds by Armstrong v McAlpin (CA2 NY) 625 F2d 433, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97542, 51 ALR Fed 646); Psaty v

United States (CA3 NJ) 442 F2d 1154, 71-1 USTC ¶ 9346, 27 AFTR 2d 71-1184.

Footnote 94. See 13A ULA, Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 301, Variations from Official Text.

Footnote 95. Widmayer v Leonard, 422 Mich 280, 373 NW2d 538.

Footnote 96. Franciscan Sisters Health Care Corp. v Dean, 95 Ill 2d 452, 69 Ill Dec 960, 448 NE2d 872; Waters v New Amsterdam Casualty Co., 393 Pa 247, 144 A2d 354; Lynn v Cepurneek, 352 Pa Super 379, 508 A2d 308, later proceeding 373 Pa Super 479, 541 A2d 771; Bixler v Hoverter, 89 Pa Cmwlt 88, 491 A2d 958.

Footnote 97. Keeler Brass Co. v Continental Brass Co. (CA4 NC) 862 F2d 1063, 9 USPQ2d 1331, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 278.

Footnote 98. House Judiciary Committee Report, No. 93-650, p 5.

See § 191, for a discussion of presumptions in criminal trials.

Footnote 99. FRE 301.

Footnote 1. Clay v Traders Bank of Kansas City (CA8 Mo) 708 F2d 1347, 10 BCD 1317, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 69296, appeal after remand (CA8 Mo) 737 F2d 765 (statutory presumption in 28 USCS § 547(f), that a debtor was insolvent on and during the 90 days immediately preceding the date a petition in bankruptcy was filed).

Footnote 2. Wilson v Omaha Indian Tribe, 442 US 653, 61 L Ed 2d 153, 99 S Ct 2529, on remand (CA8 Iowa) 614 F2d 1153, cert den 449 US 825, 66 L Ed 2d 28, 101 S Ct 87 and on remand (ND Iowa) 523 F Supp 874, revd on other grounds (CA8 Iowa) 707 F2d 304, on remand (ND Iowa) 578 F Supp 1191, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA8 Iowa) 854 F2d 1089, 11 FR Serv 3d 1415, cert den 490 US 1090, 104 L Ed 2d 986, 109 S Ct 2429 and cert den 465 US 1025, 79 L Ed 2d 684, 104 S Ct 1281 and cert den 465 US 1101, 80 L Ed 2d 128, 104 S Ct 1596 (where the court considered the impact of 25 USCS § 194, which provides that in all trials about the right of property in which an Indian may be a party on one side, and a white person on the other, the burden of proof shall rest upon the white person, whenever the Indian shall make out a presumption of title in himself from the fact of previous possession or ownership); Tenneco Chemicals, Inc. v William T. Burnett & Co. (CA4 Md) 691 F2d 658, 216 USPQ 846, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1495 (35 USCS § 282 provides that in litigation over the validity of a patent, once a patentee introduces into evidence the letters of patent issued by the Patent and Trademark Office, a patent shall be presumed valid and the burden of establishing invalidity of a patent or any claim thereof shall rest on the party asserting invalidity); United States Steel Corp. v Gray (CA5) 588 F2d 1022 (considering 30 USCS § 921(4), the Federal Coal Mine and Safety Act of 1969, which provides that in an action for benefits, if a miner was employed for fifteen years or more in underground coal mines and evidence is introduced that demonstrates the existence of a totally disabling respiratory or pulmonary ailment, then there shall be a rebuttable presumption that the miner's disability or death was caused by pneumoconiosis); Alabama By-Products Corp. v Killingsworth (CA11) 733 F2d 1511, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1062 (presumptions issued by a regulatory agency that require the adversely affected party to establish the nonexistence of the presumed fact come within the exception).

Footnote 3. Usery v Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., 428 US 1, 49 L Ed 2d 752, 96 S Ct 2882, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 243 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Freeman United Coal Mining Co. v Office of Workers' Compensation Program (CA7) 999 F2d 291), construing the provisions of the Federal Coal Mine and Safety Act of 1969 (30 USCS § 921(c)(1), (2)).

Footnote 4. Pennsylvania, Dept. of Transp. v United States, 226 Ct Cl 444, 643 F2d 758, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1157, cert den 454 US 826, 70 L Ed 2d 101, 102 S Ct 117 (recognizing the congressional intent argument, but holding it inapplicable to the Federal Aid Highways Act of 1916, now codified as amended at 23 USCS §§ 101 et seq.).

§ 196 --Effect of pre-Rule case law

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Prior to enactment of Rule 301, federal courts had traditionally held that some presumptions shifted the burden of production as well as the burden of persuasion. 5 Applying Rule 301 to such presumptions would effect a substantive change in the law that Congress presumably did not intend or contemplate when it enacted Rule 301. Some courts, therefore, have concluded that the burden-of-persuasion-shifting impact of such pre-301 decisions are grandfathered into the law and survive Rule 301. 6

Footnotes

Footnote 5. Missouri P. R. Co. v Elmore & Stahl, 377 US 134, 12 L Ed 2d 194, 84 S Ct 1142, reh den 377 US 984, 12 L Ed 2d 752, 84 S Ct 1880.

Footnote 6. Psaty v United States (CA3 NJ) 442 F2d 1154, 71-1 USTC ¶ 9346, 27 AFTR 2d 71-1184; Plough, Inc. v Mason & Dixon Lines (CA6 Tenn) 630 F2d 468, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1152, holding that a presumption created to implement a provision of the Interstate Commerce Act (former 49 USCS § 20(11)), continues to shift the burden of persuasion despite the subsequent enactment of Rule 301; American Hoist & Derrick Co. v Chicago, M., St. P. & P. R. Co. (CA6 Ohio) 414 F2d 68; Super Service Motor Freight Co. v United States (CA6 Tenn) 350 F2d 541.

The law has long recognized a presumption that a vessel which drifts into collision was at fault and that proof of the basic facts imposes the burden of establishing that the drifting had a cause other than negligence upon those responsible for the vessel; this presumption is not governed by Rule 301 because the Rule would give it insufficient weight. James v River Parishes Co. (CA5 La) 686 F2d 1129, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 913.

Although the NLRB's reliance on the presumption of continued majority support of a union may be inconsistent with FRE 301 because it shifts to the employer the burden of persuasion regarding the appropriateness of the proposed bargaining unit (Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center v NLRB (CA10) 653 F2d 450, 107 BNA LRRM 2953, 91 CCH LC ¶ 12860, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1007), the presumption continues to apply. Beth Israel Hospital & Geriatric Center v NLRB (CA10) 688 F2d 697, 111 BNA LRRM 2384, 95 CCH LC ¶ 13770, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 920, cert dismd 459 US 1025, 74 L Ed 2d 522, 103 S Ct 433, 96 CCH LC ¶ 14034, later proceeding 289 NLRB 249, 129 BNA LRRM 1263, 1987-88 CCH NLRB ¶ 19470.

D. Invoking and Rebutting Presumptions [197-201]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 92 et seq.

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 51 et seq.

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 4:38 et seq.

§ 197 Proving and rebutting basic facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The party seeking to invoke a presumption must satisfy the burden of production 7 as to the basic facts, that is, must introduce sufficient evidence of the basic facts to survive a motion for a directed verdict as to those facts. 8 Occasionally a party will seek to employ one presumption to assist it in establishing a second presumption. 9

When the presumed fact is an essential element of a cause of action, the burden of production as to the basic facts must be satisfied during the case-in-chief. 10 If, on the other hand, the presumed fact is merely helpful, rather than an essential element, or if it rebuts a defense, affirmative defense or counterclaim, the burden of production as to the basic facts may be satisfied at other stages in the trial. 11

Footnotes

Footnote 7. See § 164, concerning the burden of production generally.

Footnote 8. Texas Dept. of Community Affairs v Burdine, 450 US 248, 67 L Ed 2d 207, 101 S Ct 1089, 25 BNA FEP Cas 113, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31544, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, on remand (CA5 Tex) 647 F2d 513, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1746, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31898 and (not followed on other grounds by Burton v Ohio, Adult Parole Authority (CA6 Ohio) 798 F2d 164, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1799, 41 CCH EPD P 36544) and (criticized on other grounds by Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 581, 7 FLW Fed S 553); Re Estate of Wagner (ND) 265 NW2d 459; Coward v Gateway Nat. Bank (Tex) 525 SW2d 857, reh'g of cause overr (Jul 30, 1975) and (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Bethel v Butler Drilling Co. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 635 SW2d 834).

Footnote 9. See § 200 concerning the validity of piling presumption upon presumption.

Footnote 10. § 164.

Footnote 11. See § 160 for a discussion of when it is appropriate to produce evidence at later trial stages.

§ 198 Satisfying and shifting burden of production

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

By satisfying its burden of production as to the basic facts, a party triggers the presumption. This has a two-fold procedural impact: first, the presumption satisfies a party's burden of production as to the presumed fact and enables a party to survive a motion for a directed verdict; 12 secondly, the presumption also shifts the burden of production as to the presumed fact; a principle which is codified in many evidence codes, 13 and recognized in the case law of several states. 14

If the party relying on the presumption satisfies its burden of production as to the basic facts and the party adversely affected by the presumption fails to satisfy its burden of production to rebut the presumed fact, the latter party suffers a directed verdict as to the presumed fact. 15 In a nonjury trial, if the court finds that the basic fact is true, it must also find that the presumed fact is true. 16 In a jury trial, the jury is instructed that if they accept the basic facts as true, they must also accept the presumed fact as true. 17

Footnotes

Footnote 12. Schenck v Minolta Office Sys., Inc. (Colo App) 802 P2d 1131, cert den (Colo) 1990 Colo LEXIS 889, later proceeding (Colo App) 17 Brief Times Rep 1613, reh den (Nov 26, 1993) (proof of basic facts makes out prima facie case of presumed fact); Mortgage Invest. Co. v Griego, 108 NM 240, 771 P2d 173.

Footnote 13. § 195.

Footnote 14. Ristaino v Flannery, 76 Md App 662, 547 A2d 1115, cert gr 314 Md 508, 551 A2d 874 and vacated, en banc 317 Md 452, 564 A2d 790; Greene v Oliver Realty, Inc., 363 Pa Super 534, 526 A2d 1192, 2 BNA IER Cas 1333, 107 CCH LC ¶ 55775, app den 517 Pa 607, 536 A2d 1331, 5 BNA IER Cas 1088; Glover v Henry (Tex App Eastland) 749 SW2d 502; Martin v Phillips, 235 Va 523, 369 SE2d 397.

Footnote 15. See § 199 for a discussion of the requirements to rebut a presumed fact.

Footnote 16. Texas Dept. of Community Affairs v Burdine, 450 US 248, 67 L Ed 2d 207, 101 S Ct 1089, 25 BNA FEP Cas 113, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31544, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, on remand (CA5 Tex) 647 F2d 513, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1746, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31898 and (not followed on other grounds by Burton v Ohio, Adult Parole Authority (CA6 Ohio) 798 F2d 164, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1799, 41 CCH EPD ¶ 36544) and (criticized on other grounds by Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 581, 7 FLW Fed S 553).

Footnote 17. Texas Dept. of Community Affairs v Burdine, 450 US 248, 67 L Ed 2d 207, 101 S Ct 1089, 25 BNA FEP Cas 113, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31544, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, on remand (CA5 Tex) 647 F2d 513, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1746, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31898 and (not followed on other grounds by Burton v Ohio, Adult Parole Authority (CA6 Ohio) 798 F2d 164, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1799, 41 CCH EPD ¶ 36544) and (criticized on other grounds by Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 581, 7 FLW Fed S 553); Keeler Brass Co. v Continental Brass Co. (CA4 NC) 862 F2d 1063, 9 USPQ2d 1331, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 278; Lovelace v Sherwin-Williams Co. (CA4 NC) 681 F2d 230, 29 BNA FEP Cas 172, 29 CCH EPD ¶ 32833; Reeves v General Foods Corp. (CA5 Tex) 682 F2d 515, 29 BNA FEP Cas 779, 29 CCH EPD ¶ 32967 (disapproved on other grounds by United States Postal Service Bd. of Governors v Aikens, 460 US 711, 75 L Ed 2d 403, 103 S Ct 1478, 31 BNA FEP Cas 609, 31 CCH EPD ¶ 33477, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368) as stated in Thornbrough v Columbus & G. R. Co. (CA5 Miss) 760 F2d 633, 37 BNA FEP Cas 1414, 37 CCH EPD ¶ 35274; Clay v Traders Bank of Kansas City (CA8 Mo) 708 F2d 1347, 10 BCD 1317, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 69296, appeal after remand (CA8 Mo) 737 F2d 765; Smiddy v Varney (1981, CA9 Cal) 665 F2d 261, cert den 459 US 829, 74 L Ed 2d 66, 103 S Ct 65; Murray v Montgomery Ward Life Ins. Co., 196 Colo 225, 584 P2d 78 (effect of a presumption is to create a prima facie case on which judgment may be rendered in the absence of contrary evidence); Re Estate of Borom (Ind App) 562 NE2d 772 (a presumption is a deduction which in the absence of rebuttal evidence the law requires the factfinder to make if it finds the basic facts); Grier v Rosenberg, 213 Md 248, 131 A2d 737 (a presumption is a conclusion that is mandatory, if not rebutted); Johnson v Austin, 406 Mich 420, 280 NW2d 9 (if the factfinder finds the basic facts, it must find the presumed fact in the absence of evidence to the contrary); Tri-State Land Co. v Shoreview (Minn) 290 NW2d 775 (a presumption makes out a prima facie case which is dispositive in the absence of contrary evidence); Henderson County v Osteen, 297 NC 113, 254 SE2d 160; Smith v Bohlen, 95 NC App 347, 382 SE2d 812, affd 328 NC 564, 402 SE2d 380 (a presumption is binding on the jury unless sufficiently rebutted); Greene v Oliver Realty, Inc., 363 Pa Super 534, 526 A2d 1192, 2 BNA IER Cas 1333, 107 CCH LC ¶ 55775, app den 517 Pa 607, 536 A2d 1331, 5 BNA IER Cas 1088; Bixler v Hoverter, 89 Pa Cmwlth 88, 491 A2d 958 (presumption is mandatory, unless rebutted).

One case adopted a position directing that the judge instruct the jury that if it finds the basic facts, it should find the presumed fact unless it believes that the nonexistence of the presumed fact is at least as probable as its existence. Widmayer v Leonard, 422 Mich 280, 373 NW2d 538.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Effect of uncontroverted disputable presumption. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 52.

Instruction to jury—Presumption based on basic fact. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 54.

§ 199 Rebutting presumed fact

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts have expressed the burden of proof that the adversely affected party must satisfy in order to avoid an instruction that if the jury finds the basic fact it must also find the presumed fact, in a variety of ways: the evidence rebutting a presumption must be substantial, 18 credible, 19 positive, 20 or must be sufficient to raise an issue of fact for the jury 21 or put the issue in equilibrium. 22 Other courts have held that any evidence having a tendency to support the nonexistence of the presumed fact will suffice. 23 With regard to a typical presumption, therefore, to avoid a directed verdict as to the presumed fact, the party adversely affected by the presumption must offer sufficient evidence to permit a rational factfinder to find the nonexistence of the presumed fact by a preponderance of the evidence. 24

Once the party adversely affected by the presumption offers sufficient evidence rebutting the presumption to avoid a directed verdict as to the presumed fact, the presumption drops out of the case and the burden of persuasion as to the presumed fact remains with the party who had that burden at the outset of the trial. 25

Footnotes

Footnote 18. New York Life Ins. Co. v Gamer, 303 US 161, 82 L Ed 726, 58 S Ct 500, 114 ALR 1218; O'Brien v Equitable Life Assur. Soc. (CA8 Mo) 212 F2d 383, cert den 348 US 835, 99 L Ed 658, 75 S Ct 57; Harlem Taxicab Ass'n v Nemesh, 89 US App DC 123, 191 F2d 459; Union Cent. Life Ins. Co. v Sims, 208 Ark 1069, 189 SW2d 193; Carroll v Carroll (Ky) 251 SW2d 989; Anderson v Minneapolis, 258 Minn 221, 103 NW2d 397; Shell Oil Co. v Kapler, 235 Minn 292, 50 NW2d 707; Halloway v Halloway, 189 Miss 723, 198 So 738; Di Paoli v Prudential Ins. Co. (Mo App) 384 SW2d 861; Re Will of Blake, 21 NJ 50, 120 A2d 745; People v Richetti, 302 NY 290, 97 NE2d 908; Carson v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 165 Ohio St 238, 59 Ohio Ops 310, 135 NE2d 259; Shepherd v Midland Mut. Life Ins. Co., 152 Ohio St 6, 39 Ohio Ops 352, 87 NE2d 156, 12 ALR2d 1250; Mulroy v Co-operative Transit Co., 142 W Va 165, 95 SE2d 63.

Footnote 19. Schenck v Minolta Office Sys., Inc. (Colo App) 802 P2d 1131, cert den (Colo) 1990 Colo LEXIS 889, later proceeding (Colo App) 17 Brief Times Rep 1613, reh den (Nov 26, 1993); Greene v Willey, 147 Me 227, 86 A2d 82; Johnson v White, 154 Mich App 425, 397 NW2d 555, app gr 428 Mich 857, 399 NW2d 396, reh gr, in part 428 Mich 871, 401 NW2d 615 and revd on other grounds 430 Mich 47, 420 NW2d 87; Carson v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 165 Ohio St 238, 59 Ohio Ops 310, 135 NE2d 259; Waters v New Amsterdam Casualty Co., 393 Pa 247, 144 A2d 354; Johnson v Atlantic C. L. R. Co., 217 SC 190, 60 SE2d 226; Mulroy v Co-operative Transit Co., 142 W Va 165, 95 SE2d 63; McNamer v American Ins. Co., 267 Wis 494, 66 NW2d 342 (ovrld on other grounds by Wells v Dairyland Mut. Ins. Co., 274 Wis 505, 80 NW2d 380).

Footnote 20. Johnson v White, 154 Mich App 425, 397 NW2d 555, app gr 428 Mich 857, 399 NW2d 396, reh gr, in part 428 Mich 871, 401 NW2d 615 and revd on other grounds

430 Mich 47, 420 NW2d 87; Empire Gas & Fuel Co. v Muegge, 135 Tex 520, 143 SW2d 763.

Footnote 21. Callahan v Van Galder, 3 Wis 2d 654, 89 NW2d 210.

Footnote 22. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v Maes (CA10 NM) 235 F2d 918; Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded on other grounds by statute as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113) (adopting the formulation that a presumption persists until the contrary evidence persuades the factfinder that the balance of probability is in equilibrium or, stated otherwise, until the evidence satisfies the jury or factfinder that it is as probable that the presumed fact does not exist as that it does exist); Re Guardianship of Breece, 173 Ohio St 542, 20 Ohio Ops 2d 155, 184 NE2d 386 (the production of evidence disputing or contrary to the presumption causes the presumption to disappear where such evidence to the contrary either counterbalances the presumption or even when it is only sufficient to leave the case in equipoise); Carson v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 156 Ohio St 104, 45 Ohio Ops 103, 100 NE2d 197, 28 ALR2d 344.

Annotation: Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Sufficiency of evidence to sustain finding of nonexistence of presumed fact. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 53.

Instruction to jury—Presumption where evidence is sufficient to sustain finding of nonexistence of presumed fact. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 55.

Footnote 23. Re O'Connor's Estate, 74 Ariz 248, 246 P2d 1063; Jodoin v Baroody, 95 NH 154, 59 A2d 343 (a presumption is not evidence and its sole function is to take the place of evidence, so that when the latter appears if only to the extent that an inference may be drawn from it, the presumption vanishes); Schlichting v Schlichting, 15 Wis 2d 147, 112 NW2d 149 (the presumption of decedent's due care disappears from the case when any evidence is introduced tending to establish negligence).

Footnote 24. Henderick v Uptown Safe Deposit Co. (1st Dist) 21 Ill App 2d 515, 159 NE2d 58; Firkus v Murphy, 311 Minn 85, 246 NW2d 864; Re Estate of Swan, 4 Utah 2d 277, 293 P2d 682; Bates v Bowles White & Co., 56 Wash 2d 374, 353 P2d 663.

Footnote 25. Texas Dept. of Community Affairs v Burdine, 450 US 248, 67 L Ed 2d 207, 101 S Ct 1089, 25 BNA FEP Cas 113, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31544, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, on remand (CA5 Tex) 647 F2d 513, 25 BNA FEP Cas 1746, 26 CCH EPD ¶ 31898 and (not followed on other grounds by Burton v Ohio, Adult Parole Authority (CA6 Ohio) 798 F2d 164, 41 BNA FEP Cas 1799, 41 CCH EPD ¶ 36544) and (criticized on other grounds by Saint Mary's Honor Ctr. v Hicks (US) 125 L Ed 2d 407, 113 S Ct 2742, 93 CDOS 4747, 93 Daily Journal DAR 8057, 62 BNA FEP Cas 96, 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42322, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 581, 7 FLW Fed S 553); Panduit Corp. v All States Plastic Mfg. Co. (CA FC) 744 F2d 1564, 223 USPQ 465 (disapproved on other grounds by Richardson-Merrell, Inc. v Koller, 472 US 424, 86 L Ed 2d 340, 105 S Ct 2757); Pennsylvania, Dept. of Transp. v United States, 226 Ct Cl 444, 643 F2d 758, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1157, cert den 454 US 826, 70 L Ed 2d 101, 102 S Ct 117; Lynn v Cepurneek, 352 Pa Super 379, 508 A2d 308, later proceeding 373 Pa Super 479, 541 A2d

§ 200 Pyramiding presumptions or inferences

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

While the basic facts of a presumption may be proved by circumstantial evidence, it is often said presumptions must be based on facts, and not upon inferences or upon other presumptions. 26 Similarly, it is often said that an inference may not be based upon another inference, 27 although this statement has been criticized as an inaccurate and confusing expression of the principle that an inference cannot be based upon evidence which is uncertain or speculative or which raises merely a conjecture or possibility. 28 Other courts permit pyramiding inferences or presumptions. 29 Under this view, if the inferences and underlying evidence are strong enough to permit a rational factfinder to find guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, a criminal conviction may properly be based on pyramiding inferences. 30 If the inferences are too weak, or the conclusions the prosecutor seeks to have drawn from them are too speculative, a conviction based thereon must be set aside. 31

Courts which permit basing an inference on an inference often differ as to how persuasively the primary or basic inference must be proven before a second inference may be drawn from it; some insisting that a second inference may be drawn from a first inference only if the first inference is shown with sufficient strength to elevate it to the equivalence of established fact, or to the exclusion of other reasonable inferences. 32 Other courts take the view that the basic or primary inference is sufficiently established if it is more probable than its nonexistence. 33 A third view is that an inference may be based upon an inference so long as neither inference is too remote, speculative or conjectural. 34

The rule forbidding basing one inference on another is not violated by multiple inferences drawn from the same set of facts, so long as each inference has a factual foundation. 35 Also, the rule is not violated if the basic fact is inferred from circumstantial evidence. 36

Footnotes

Footnote 26. State v Williams, 229 Kan 646, 630 P2d 694; Aultman v Delchamps, Inc. (Miss) 202 So 2d 922; East Texas Theatres, Inc. v Rutledge (Tex) 453 SW2d 466, reh'g of cause overr (Apr 22, 1970).

Annotation: Modern status of the rules against basing an inference upon an inference or a presumption upon a presumption, 5 ALR3d 100.

Footnote 27. Crown Cork & Seal Co. v Morton Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (CA6 Tenn) 417 F2d 921; Admiral Theatre Corp. v Douglas Theatre Co. (CA8 Neb) 585 F2d 877, 1978-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62333, 26 FR Serv 2d 1129 (criticized on other grounds by Kreuzer v American Academy of Periodontology, 237 US App DC 43, 735 F2d 1479, 1984-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 66029) and (criticized on other grounds by Mt. Pleasant v Associated Electric Cooperative, Inc. (CA8 Mo) 838 F2d 268, 1988-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67871); Wear v Chenault Motor Co., 52 Ala App 382, 293 So 2d 298, 14 UCCRS 655, cert den 292 Ala 756, 293 So 2d 301; Green House, Inc. v Thiermann (Fla App D2) 288 So 2d 566, cert den (Fla) 295 So 2d 303; Martineau v Walker, 97 Idaho 246, 542 P2d 1165, 18 UCCRS 354; Haney v Meyer, 139 Ind App 663, 215 NE2d 886; State v Williams, 229 Kan 646, 630 P2d 694; Springfield Tent & Awning Co. v Rice, 202 Kan 234, 447 P2d 833; Briner v General Motors Corp. (Ky) 461 SW2d 99; Commonwealth v Mandile, 403 Mass 93, 525 NE2d 1322; People v Clay, 95 Mich App 152, 289 NW2d 888; George v Travelers Indem Co., 81 Mich App 106, 265 NW2d 59; State v Alexander (Mo App) 581 SW2d 389; R & S Corp. v Barnes, 182 Neb 431, 155 NW2d 379; Tapia v Panhandle Steel Erectors Co., 78 NM 86, 428 P2d 625; People v Volpe, 20 NY2d 9, 281 NYS2d 295, 228 NE2d 365; People v Rifenburgh (3d Dept) 29 App Div 2d 897, 288 NYS2d 331; Nunn v Smith, 270 NC 374, 154 SE2d 497; Central Carolina Farmers, Inc. v Hilliard, 54 NC App 418, 283 SE2d 558; Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v Security Bldg. Co., 42 NC App 21, 255 SE2d 590; Barger v Mizel (Okla) 424 P2d 41; Beatty v Dixon (Okla) 408 P2d 339; Conlin v Greyhound Lines, Inc., 120 RI 1, 384 A2d 1057; Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp. v Nortex Oil & Gas Corp. (Tex) 435 SW2d 854, 31 OGR 161, reh'g of cause overr (Jan 29, 1969); Roberts v U.S. Home Corp. (Tex App San Antonio) 694 SW2d 129; Nagy v First Nat. Gun Banque Corp. (Tex App Dallas) 684 SW2d 114, writ ref n r e (Jan 23, 1985); De Ford Lumber Co. v Roys (Tex Civ App Dallas) 615 SW2d 235; Regal Petroleum Corp. v McClung (Tex Civ App Dallas) 608 SW2d 276; New York Underwriters Ins. Co. v Trustees of First Baptist Church (Tex Civ App Eastland) 603 SW2d 378, writ ref n r e (Dec 3, 1980) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Feb 11, 1981); Lugo v Joy, 215 Va 39, 205 SE2d 658.

Stacking of inference upon inference was impermissible where an employee's widow sued for death benefits, alleging that her husband's death arose out of the course of his employment and the award of benefits was based on the inferences: (1) that an accident on the job had caused a subdural hematoma; (2) that the injury had led to physical and mental impairment; and (3) that this impairment had caused decedent to walk in front of truck three days later. Girdley Constr. Co. v Ohmstede (Fla App D1) 465 So 2d 594, 10 FLW 723.

A failure to sound horn and veer truck away from child did not amount to negligence, as the factfinder was not permitted to stack inferences: (1) that child was unaware of the truck and the danger occasioned by its passage; (2) that she would step into its side after the cab of the truck had passed her and after she was behind the driver's line of vision and that driver knew or should have known this; and (3) that if the driver had blown his horn or veered the truck, the accident would have been avoided. Byrd v Leach (Fla App D4) 226 So 2d 866.

Footnote 28. Sutton v State (1991, Ind App) 571 NE2d 1299.

Footnote 29. United States v Eustace (CA2 NY) 423 F2d 569; Cora Pub, Inc. v Continental Casualty Co. (CA5 Fla) 619 F2d 482, reh den (CA5 Fla) 629 F2d 1349 and reh den (CA5 Fla) 629 F2d 1350; Arms v State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (CA6 Tenn) 731 F2d 1245; Daniels v Twin Oaks Nursing Home (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1321, reh den (CA11 Ala) 698 F2d 1238; Louis & Diederich, Inc. v Cambridge European Imports, Inc. (6th Dist) 189 Cal App 3d 1574, 234 Cal Rptr 889, 3 UCCRS2d 1186; People v Sigal (5th Dist) 249 Cal App 2d 299, 57 Cal Rptr 541 (ovrld on other grounds by People v Sears (Cal) 74 Cal Rptr 872, 450 P2d 248); Schwedler v Galvan (1st Dist) 46 Ill App 3d 630, 4 Ill Dec 891, 360 NE2d 1324; People v Orsie, 83 Mich App 42, 268 NW2d 278; People v Helcher, 14 Mich App 386, 165 NW2d 669; Rob-Lee Corp. v Cushman (Mo App) 727 SW2d 455; Pollock v Rapid Industrial Plastics Co. (2d Dept) 113 App Div 2d 520, 497 NYS2d 45; State v Champagne (ND) 198 NW2d 218; McConnell v Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co. (Okla) 563 P2d 632; Red Eagle Oil Co. v ITT Eason Oil Co. (Okla App) 693 P2d 1280, 83 OGR 367; Stinson v Daniel, 220 Tenn 70, 414 SW2d 7.

Footnote 30. United States v Brown (CA10 Colo) 943 F2d 1246, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1286, related proceeding (Colo) 841 P2d 1066, holding the inference of knowledge of illegal scheme supported the further inference that defendant's purpose, in failing to intervene at the deposition and in destroying the records, was to participate in the clients' scheme to defraud the United States and the clients' creditors.

The inference that defendant had handled a package in Mexico was proven with sufficient strength to permit the further inference that defendant knew its contents when he mailed it to the United States. United States v Shahane (CA8 ND) 517 F2d 1173, cert den 423 US 893, 46 L Ed 2d 124, 96 S Ct 191.

From proof that defendant possessed stolen car and car keys, and also a firearm which had been stolen from a locked apartment, it was permissible for the jury to infer that the defendant also possessed the stolen pass key. People v Sigal (5th Dist) 249 Cal App 2d 299, 57 Cal Rptr 541 (other aspects ovrl'd by People v Sears (Cal) 74 Cal Rptr 872, 450 P2d 248).

Store receipts and palmprints of defendant on those receipts permitted the jury to infer that the defendant had purchased materials a day before the bombing identical to those used in the bomb, which in turn permitted the jury to infer that defendant had built and detonated a bomb. Benson v State (Fla App D2) 526 So 2d 948, 13 FLW 1235, review den (Fla) 536 So 2d 243 and cert den 489 US 1069, 103 L Ed 2d 817, 109 S Ct 1349.

It was not an improper inference on an inference to find that defendant had shot the victim based on testimony of a witness who was in same apartment but not in same room, where only defendant and deceased were downstairs when shots were fired and someone matching the defendant's physical description was seen fleeing from the scene. People v Daniels, 163 Mich App 703, 415 NW2d 282, app den 430 Mich 854.

Footnote 31. People v Atley, 392 Mich 298, 220 NW2d 465 (presence of two people in a car with 127 pounds of marijuana, coupled with evidence that the defendant intended to sell the marijuana, does not support the inference that the two had reached an agreement to sell it, even though the men in the car had agreed to harvest the drugs and the other man was not paid for his efforts).

Where in a prosecution for unlawful possession of heroin, an officer testified that he saw the defendant make a "quick motion" and after defendant left the scene, the officers made a thorough search and found a small silver wrapper containing several white capsules of heroin, it was held that the government failed, as matter of law, to meet its burden of proof with respect to possession. Malloy v United States (Dist Col App) 246 A2d 781.

Footnote 32. Franklin v Dade County (Fla App D3) 230 So 2d 730, cert den (Fla) 237 So 2d 761; Mann v Safeway Stores, Inc., 95 Idaho 732, 518 P2d 1194 (evidence supporting the primary inference excluded all other reasonable inferences and therefore could be the basis of a second inference); Challis Irrig. Co. v State (App) 107 Idaho 338, 689 P2d 230; Carnevale v Smith, 122 RI 218, 404 A2d 836.

Where the state presented only circumstantial evidence that required the jury to infer, first, that at least two persons committed an aggravated burglary and felony murder, and second, that defendant was the second person involved in the crimes, the evidence was an improper stacking of inferences, as the facts logically allowed for the possibility that only one man committed the crimes and there was no direct evidence connecting the defendant to the crime other than his association with the other man and a nonconclusive semen match which quite possibly could have been produced by a friend of the victim. State v Williams, 229 Kan 646, 630 P2d 694.

An adjudication of delinquency based on an alleged act of larceny was reversed where the primary inference that defendant was the person seen by a bookkeeper was not the only conclusion which naturally followed from testimony that defendant was in the hallway wearing a blue shirt, and where the primary inference that defendant was the person seen with "a rather large sum of money" was not the only conclusion naturally drawn from testimony that a young man wearing a blue shirt was seen with "a rather large sum of money;" because both primary inferences were susceptible to other reasonable interpretations, any stacking of further inferences upon them was not permissible. Re Derek (RI) 448 A2d 765.

Footnote 33. Tillery v Standard Sand & Silica Co. (Fla App D2) 226 So 2d 842.

A factfinder may not draw a second inference from another inference that is itself speculative, or merely of remote possibility, or which does not exclude drawing from the same facts on which it rests a different, equally reasonable and probable inference. Ginn v Penobscot Co. (Me) 334 A2d 874, mod on other grounds (Me) 342 A2d 270.

Footnote 34. Louis & Diederich, Inc. v Cambridge European Imports, Inc. (6th Dist) 189 Cal App 3d 1574, 234 Cal Rptr 889, 3 UCCRS2d 1186; People v Sigal (5th Dist) 249 Cal App 2d 299, 57 Cal Rptr 541 (ovrld on other grounds by People v Sears (Cal) 74 Cal Rptr 872, 450 P2d 248) (although an inference can be based on an inference, an inference cannot be based solely on an inference that is too remote or conjectural).

Where the only evidence that banana peel had been on the grocery floor long enough for the store to be negligent for failing to remove it was that the peel was black, summary judgment was properly entered against plaintiff as the inference of negligence was too speculative because it depended upon an initial, unproven inference that the peel was not already black when it reached the floor. Bates v Winn-Dixie Supermarkets, Inc. (Fla App D2) 182 So 2d 309, cert den (Fla) 188 So 2d 813.

Footnote 35. Plains Transport of Kansas, Inc. v King, 224 Kan 17, 578 P2d 1095.

In an action by a father for wrongful death of his child who was struck by an automobile, evidence was sufficient to establish that defendant was the driver of the automobile who waived for the child to cross the street, and that the child saw him wave and relied on his signal when stepping onto the street. Such evidence did not constitute an impermissible inference based solely on another inference, where the driver's own testimony established that he was the driver, and independent evidence supported the second inference that the child saw him waive and relied on that signal. Bell v Giamarco (Franklin Co) 50 Ohio App 3d 61, 553 NE2d 694.

Footnote 36. Stinson v Daniel, 220 Tenn 70, 414 SW2d 7.

§ 201 Conflicting presumptions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

One approach to resolving conflicting or inconsistent presumptions is a more-or-less mechanical rule: conflicting or inconsistent presumptions cancel each other, and the judge and jury should proceed without regard to either. 37 A second approach requires the judge to determine which presumption should prevail, based upon factors such as public policy. However, if the considerations of policy are of equal weight, neither presumption applies. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 37. Legille v Dann, 178 US App DC 78, 544 F2d 1, 191 USPQ 529 (holding that conflicting applications of the presumption that public officials, employees, and agencies perform their duties properly and efficiently cancel each other); Lynn v Cepurneek, 352 Pa Super 379, 508 A2d 308, later proceeding 373 Pa Super 479, 541 A2d 771.

Footnote 38. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 301(b).

Inconsistent presumptions between Paternity Act, which provided that where a blood test shows a probability of paternity of 97 percent or greater the alleged father is presumed to be the father and that the presumption may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence, and rules of evidence, which provided that the legitimacy of a child conceived or born during marriage can be challenged only by proof beyond a reasonable doubt, were disregarded. Atkinson v Hall (Me) 556 A2d 651.

Law Reviews: Presumptions in Civil Actions Reconsidered, 66 Iowa L Rev 843 (1981).

E. Particular Presumptions [202-300]

Research References

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 123 et seq.

ALR Index: Presumptions and Burden of Proof

8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Form 356

7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:931

Jones on Evidence (7th ed) §§ 5:8 et seq., 6:1 et seq.

Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) §§ 35 et seq.

1. Relating to Official Conduct [202-213]

a. Official Acts, Duties, and Proceedings [202-206]

§ 202 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Public officials and agencies are presumed to act in good faith and in accordance with applicable law and regulations. 39 Where an official act is shown on its face to have been regularly taken, it is presumed to be regular and valid in all respects. 40 Such a situation arises when a party seeks to prove that an agency or officer, who is not a party to the case, acted in a certain way, to support some other inference. 41 For example, judgments imposing prior prison sentences constituted court orders directing the prison warden to carry out the judgment and permitted the presumption that a public official acts in accordance with his or her duty and satisfies the prosecutor's burden of proof that defendant actually served the sentence, unless defendant offered sufficient evidence rebutting the presumption. 42

The law's recognition of the probability of official regularity is applied in other contexts as well, such as at an evidentiary hearing in which a party challenges the validity of a public agency's act or decision, where the challenger has the burdens of production and persuasion to prove invalidity. 43 Courts often refer to a presumption of official regularity and propriety; but it is more precise and accurate to eschew the term "presumption" in this context, and to refer directly to the petitioner's burden of proving impropriety. 44

When assessing the fairness of an agency's proceeding and the validity of its action, a court's scope of review is generally limited. 45 In expressing this principle, courts sometimes refer to a "presumption" that the agency's action was valid, 46 and speak of a party's heavy burden of proof to overcome the presumption. 47 When used in an evidentiary hearing, such statements describe the burden of persuasion imposed upon the party seeking to overturn the agency action. 48

Footnotes

Footnote 39. People v Goodenough, 89 Misc 2d 455, 391 NYS2d 940; Edmondson v Burke (Okla) 435 P2d 576; Houston v Moody (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 572 SW2d 13, writ ref n r e (Dec 6, 1978) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Feb 7, 1979).

Footnote 40. Citizens to Preserve Overton Park, Inc. v Volpe, 401 US 402, 28 L Ed 2d 136, 91 S Ct 814, 2 Env't Rep Cas 1250, 1 ELR 20110, on remand (WD Tenn) 335 F Supp 873, 3 Env't Rep Cas 1510, 2 ELR 20061, supp op (WD Tenn) 357 F Supp 846, 5 Env't Rep Cas 1241, 3 ELR 20423, rev'd (CA6 Tenn) 494 F2d 1212, 6 Env't Rep Cas 1573, 4 ELR 20327, cert den 421 US 991, 44 L Ed 2d 481, 95 S Ct 1997; Re Petersen, 51 Cal 2d 177, 331 P2d 24, 77 ALR2d 1291, app dismd 360 US 314, 3 L Ed 2d 1259, 79 S Ct 1294; Florida Nat. Bank v Simpson (Fla) 59 So 2d 751, 33 ALR2d 581; Skinner v New Mexico State Tax Com., 66 NM 221, 345 P2d 750, 76 ALR2d 1071; State v Lumbra, 122 Vt 467, 177 A2d 356, 91 ALR2d 1235.

Footnote 41. Smiddy v Varney (CA9 Cal) 665 F2d 261, cert den 459 US 829, 74 L Ed 2d 66, 103 S Ct 65, later proceeding (CD Cal) 574 F Supp 710, later proceeding (CA9 Cal) 803 F2d 1469, reh gr, in part, amd, reh den, in part (CA9 Cal) 811 F2d 504.

Footnote 42. People v Elmore (1st Dist) 225 Cal App 3d 953, 275 Cal Rptr 315, 90 CDOS 8591, review den (Cal) 1991 Cal LEXIS 483.

Footnote 43. Southeast Grove Management, Inc. v McKiness (Fla App D1) 578 So 2d 883, 16 FLW D 1197 (a nonfinal order entered by the Department of Agriculture in favor of growers in a dispute with a fruit-picker/producer created a "presumption" that growers were entitled to relief, that is, imposed upon the picker/producer the burden of producing credible evidence to the contrary at the Department's final hearing).

Footnote 44. Person v Department of Social Services, 234 Neb 865, 453 NW2d 390 (party appealing the denial of public assistance has the burden of proving its entitlement to the benefits).

Footnote 45. 2 Am Jur 2d, Administrative Law.

Footnote 46. United States v R. Enters., Inc., 498 US 292, 112 L Ed 2d 795, 111 S Ct 722, 91 CDOS 650, 91 Daily Journal DAR 954, on remand (CA4 Va) 955 F2d 229, 19 Media L R 1953; Van Dalen v Washington Township, 120 NJ 234, 576 A2d 819, later proceeding 247 NJ Super 186, 588 A2d 1248, certif den 127 NJ 557, 606 A2d 369 and revd on other grounds, remanded 132 NJ 1, 622 A2d 1257 (citing the presumption of validity and reasonableness in upholding the decision by the State Council on Affordable Housing to rely upon a ten-year-old State Development Guidance Plan in assessing whether the township had complied with the state's Fair Housing Act); McCallen v Memphis (Tenn) 786 SW2d 633 (explaining that review is limited to whether the official or agency exceeded its authority or acted illegally, arbitrarily or fraudulently, court cited the presumption that a public agency acted properly); Brammer v West Virginia Human Rights Comm'n, 183 W Va 108, 394 SE2d 340.

Footnote 47. McCallen v Memphis (Tenn) 786 SW2d 633.

Footnote 48. Permian Basin Area Rate Cases, 390 US 747, 20 L Ed 2d 312, 88 S Ct 1344, 28 OGR 689, reh den 392 US 917, 20 L Ed 2d 1379, 88 S Ct 2050.

§ 203 Presumptions related to government officers

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Until the contrary appears, due appointment to office may be presumed from the fact that one has acted in an official capacity. 49

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the law assumes that public officials have performed their duties properly, 50 unless the official act in question appears irregular on its face. 51

A public officer, acting in his official capacity, is presumed to act with knowledge of what he is doing 52 and of the material facts upon which his official action is predicated. 53

The presumption has been applied to the acts of almost every class of federal officers, including the President of the United States, 54 cabinet officers and their assistants, 55 and all other federal officers, such as agents of the Treasury Department. 56 Similarly, the presumption applies to state officials, including the governor of a state, 57 the secretary of state, 58 the attorney general and his assistants, 59 the state highway commissioner, 60 the insurance commissioner, 61 a superintendent of banks, 62 and lesser state officials, such as a water commissioner, 63 a tax assessor, 64 and a receiver of an insolvent bank. 65

The same presumption applies to county and municipal officers generally, 66 including, for example, county commissioners, 67 county treasurers, 68 county attorneys, 69 district attorneys, prosecuting attorneys, and state's attorneys, 70 sheriffs, 71 police officers, 72 health officers, 73 fire commissioners, 74 county fiscal officers, 75 election officers, 76 and school officers. 77

Under appropriate circumstances the presumption that public officials perform their official duties regularly and legally applies as well to officials of a foreign government. 78

Footnotes

Footnote 49. State ex rel. White v Mills, 99 Conn 217, 121 A 561, 36 ALR 500; Winchester v Ring, 312 Ill 544, 144 NE 333, 36 ALR 520 (not followed on other grounds by Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co. v Hoffman (3d Dist) 127 Ill App 3d 496, 82 Ill Dec 323, 468 NE2d 977).

Footnote 50. First Nat. Bank v Filer, 107 Fla 526, 145 So 204, 87 ALR 267; State ex rel. White v Grant Superior Court, 202 Ind 197, 172 NE 897, 71 ALR 1354; Re Moynihan, 332 Mo 1022, 62 SW2d 410, 91 ALR 74; Milwaukie Co. of Jehovah's Witnesses v Mullen, 214 Or 281, 330 P2d 5, 74 ALR2d 347, cert den and app dismd 359 US 436, 3 L Ed 2d 932, 79 S Ct 940.

Footnote 51. United States v Roses, Inc., 1 Fed Cir Trade Cas 39, 706 F2d 1563; Alfred J. Sweet, Inc. v Auburn, 134 Me 28, 180 A 803, 104 ALR 784; Gilmore v Walker, 195 NC 460, 142 SE 579, 59 ALR 53.

Footnote 52. Pan American Petroleum & Transp. Co. v United States, 273 US 456, 71 L Ed 734, 47 S Ct 416, appeal after remand (DC Cal) 24 F2d 206.

Footnote 53. United States v Chemical Foundation, Inc., 272 US 1, 71 L Ed 131, 47 S

Ct 1 (superseded by statute on another point as stated in Blue Cross Asso. & Blue Shield Asso. (ASBCA) 89-2 BCA ¶ 21840).

Footnote 54. United States v Chemical Foundation, Inc., 272 US 1, 71 L Ed 131, 47 S Ct 1 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Blue Cross Asso. & Blue Shield Asso. (ASBCA) 89-2 BCA ¶ 21840); Shurtleff v United States, 189 US 311, 47 L Ed 828, 23 S Ct 535 (if the President removes someone from office, it must be assumed that he acted with reference to his constitutional duty to faithfully execute the duties of his official position).

Footnote 55. United States v Carr, 132 US 644, 33 L Ed 483, 10 S Ct 182.

An assistant Secretary of the Treasury must be presumed to have had the power to order that a position of customs inspector be abolished, where his action was reduced to writing and became a part of the archives of the Department, does not appear to have been modified, or in any way changed by the Secretary, and there is nothing in the record to show that his action did not have the full sanction and approval of the Secretary. Norris v United States, 257 US 77, 66 L Ed 136, 42 S Ct 9.

Footnote 56. Cooper v United States (CA8 Mo) 233 F2d 821, 56-2 USTC ¶ 9655, 49 AFTR 1334, cert den 352 US 837, 1 L Ed 2d 55, 77 S Ct 58.

Footnote 57. State ex rel. Funk v Turner, 328 Mo 604, 42 SW2d 594; State ex rel. Davey v Owen, 133 Ohio St 96, 10 Ohio Ops 102, 12 NE2d 144, 114 ALR 686.

Footnote 58. Randles v Washington State Liquor Control Board, 33 Wash 2d 688, 206 P2d 1209, 9 ALR2d 531.

Footnote 59. De Marco v Board of Chosen Freeholders, 36 NJ Super 382, 115 A2d 635, affd 21 NJ 136, 121 A2d 396; Martin v Smith, 239 Wis 314, 1 NW2d 163, 140 ALR 1063.

Footnote 60. State ex rel. Atty. Gen. v Broadway, 192 Ark 634, 93 SW2d 1248.

Footnote 61. Long v National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, 209 Tenn 435, 354 SW2d 255.

Footnote 62. Manley v Mobley, 174 Ga 228, 162 SE 536.

Footnote 63. Laramie Irrig. & Power Co. v Grant, 44 Wyo 392, 13 P2d 235.

Footnote 64. Great N. R. Co. v Weeks, 297 US 135, 80 L Ed 532, 56 S Ct 426; R. H. Stearns Co. v United States, 291 US 54, 78 L Ed 647, 54 S Ct 325, 4 USTC ¶ 1210, 13 AFTR 842; Welch v Helvering, 290 US 111, 78 L Ed 212, 54 S Ct 8, 3 USTC ¶ 1164, 12 AFTR 1456; Vale v Du Pont (Sup) 37 Del 254, 182 A 668, 103 ALR 946; Florida Nat. Bank v Simpson (Fla) 59 So 2d 751, 33 ALR2d 581; Murray v Zook, 205 Ind 669, 187 NE 890, 90 ALR 321; Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v Drainage Dist. of Lyon County, 133 Kan 586, 1 P2d 253, 82 ALR 552; Josenhans, Inc. v Jenkins, 203 Md 465, 102 A2d 257, 43 ALR2d 961; Oakley Country Club v Long, 325 Mass 109, 89 NE2d 260, 14 ALR2d 377; Soderberg v Holt, 86 Utah 485, 46 P2d 428, 99 ALR 1041.

Footnote 65. Lothstein v Fitzpatrick, 171 Or 648, 138 P2d 919.

Footnote 66. Lloyd Corp. v Bannock County, 53 Idaho 478, 25 P2d 217; Liberty Consol. School Dist. v Schindler, 246 Iowa 1060, 70 NW2d 544; Thorne v Squier, 264 Mich 98, 249 NW 497, 89 ALR 126; Ambrozich v Eveleth, 200 Minn 473, 274 NW 635, 112 ALR 269; Wiget v St. Louis, 337 Mo 799, 85 SW2d 1038, 100 ALR 1284; Evans v Berry, 262 NY 61, 186 NE 203, 89 ALR 387; Hall v Fayetteville, 248 NC 474, 103 SE2d 815.

Footnote 67. Lloyd Corp. v Bannock County, 53 Idaho 478, 25 P2d 217; State ex rel. Fletcher v Naumann, 213 Iowa 418, 239 NW 93, 81 ALR 483; Josenhans, Inc. v Jenkins, 203 Md 465, 102 A2d 257, 43 ALR2d 961; Oklahoma County v Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., 195 Okla 131, 156 P2d 340.

Footnote 68. Consolidated Motors, Inc. v Skousen, 56 Ariz 481, 109 P2d 41, 132 ALR 1040, cert den 314 US 631, 86 L Ed 507, 62 S Ct 64 (a county treasurer, charged with the duty of selling property for unpaid taxes, will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to have mailed a copy of the notice of sale as required by statute).

Footnote 69. Oklahoma County v Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., 195 Okla 131, 156 P2d 340.

Footnote 70. Smiddy v Varney (CA9 Cal) 665 F2d 261, cert den 459 US 829, 74 L Ed 2d 66, 103 S Ct 65; CBS, Inc. v Partee (1st Dist) 198 Ill App 3d 936, 145 Ill Dec 30, 556 NE2d 648, 52 BNA FEP Cas 1534, 17 Media L R 2051, app den 133 Ill 2d 553, 149 Ill Dec 317, 561 NE2d 687.

Footnote 71. Harrison v Day, 201 Va 386, 111 SE2d 504.

Footnote 72. NLRB v Bibb Mfg. Co. (CA5) 188 F2d 825, 28 BNA LRRM 2007, 19 CCH LC ¶ 66302.

Footnote 73. Baker v Lake City Sewer Dist., 30 Wash 2d 510, 191 P2d 844.

Footnote 74. Kane v Walsh, 295 NY 198, 66 NE2d 53, 163 ALR 1351.

Footnote 75. Linz v Eastland County (Tex Com App) 39 SW2d 599, 77 ALR 1466.

Footnote 76. Burke v Beasley (Fla) 75 So 2d 7, 46 ALR2d 1381; O'Neil v Jones, 185 Tenn 539, 206 SW2d 782, 1 ALR2d 581; State ex rel. Robinson v Hutcheson, 180 Tenn 46, 171 SW2d 282, 168 ALR 850.

Footnote 77. Goodman v School Dist. No. 1 (CA8 Colo) 32 F2d 586, 63 ALR 92; Merryman v School Dist., 43 Wyo 376, 5 P2d 267, 86 ALR 1181.

Footnote 78. Hayes v United States, 170 US 637, 42 L Ed 1174, 18 S Ct 735.

§ 204 Administrative and regulatory agencies, and other public bodies

Courts have shown deference, whether by recognition of a presumption, allocation of burden of proof, or application of a maxim defining the scope of judicial review, to a variety of agencies, both federal and local, for example, the grant of a patent for an invention carries with it a presumption of validity 79 and operability; 80 a presumption of validity attaches to acts, regulations and decisions of the Board of Immigration Appeal, 81 the National Labor Relations Board, 82 and the Securities and Exchange Commission. 83 Similarly, courts show deference to a wide variety of state and local agencies, 84 including a Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, 85 a city council, 86 a state corporation commission, 87 a board of education, 88 a board of highway directors, 89 a housing council, 90 a board of prison directors, 91 and a public service commission. 92

Footnotes

Footnote 79. Radio Corp. of America v Radio Engineering Laboratories, Inc., 293 US 1, 79 L Ed 163, 54 S Ct 752, reh den 293 US 522, 79 L Ed 634, 55 S Ct 66.

Footnote 80. Powers-Kennedy Contracting Corp. v Concrete Mixing & Conveying Co., 282 US 175, 75 L Ed 278, 51 S Ct 95.

Footnote 81. Kaczmarczyk v INS (CA7) 933 F2d 588, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 608, 112 S Ct 583 and (criticized on other grounds by Gebremichael v INS (CA1) 10 F3d 28) and (criticized on other grounds by De La Llana-Castellon v INS (CA10) 1994 US App LEXIS 2654).

Footnote 82. NLRB v Ohio New & Rebuilt Parts, Inc. (CA6) 760 F2d 1443, 119 BNA LRRM 2473, 102 CCH LC ¶ 11471, cert den 474 US 1020, 88 L Ed 2d 554, 106 S Ct 569, 120 BNA LRRM 3456, 103 CCH LC ¶ 11621.

Footnote 83. Blinder, Robinson & Co. v United States SEC (CA10 Colo) 748 F2d 1415, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 91850, cert den 471 US 1125, 86 L Ed 2d 272, 105 S Ct 2655.

Footnote 84. Thompson v Consolidated Gas Utilities Corp., 300 US 55, 81 L Ed 510, 57 S Ct 364; Boswell v Bethea, 242 Ala 292, 5 So 2d 816; Liberty Consol. School Dist. v Schindler, 246 Iowa 1060, 70 NW2d 544; Ingelson v Olson, 199 Minn 422, 272 NW 270, 110 ALR 167; Evans v Berry, 262 NY 61, 186 NE 203, 89 ALR 387; Fleming v Commonwealth, 191 Va 288, 61 SE2d 1.

Footnote 85. Southeast Grove Management, Inc. v McKiness (Fla App D1) 578 So 2d 883, 16 FLW D 1197.

Footnote 86. McCallen v Memphis (Tenn) 786 SW2d 633.

Footnote 87. Fleming v Commonwealth, 191 Va 288, 61 SE2d 1.

Footnote 88. Liberty Consol. School Dist. v Schindler, 246 Iowa 1060, 70 NW2d 544.

In an action to restrain a school board from excluding a minor from school because he had not complied with school regulations with respect to his haircut, it was presumed that the rules adopted were based on mature deliberation and for the welfare of the community, as the rule in this case had a reasonable connection with the successful operation of the school. Leonard v School Committee of Attleboro, 349 Mass 704, 212 NE2d 468, 14 ALR3d 1192.

Footnote 89. State v Wendler, 83 Idaho 213, 360 P2d 697.

Footnote 90. Van Dalen v Washington Township, 120 NJ 234, 576 A2d 819, later proceeding 247 NJ Super 186, 588 A2d 1248, cert den 127 NJ 557, 606 A2d 369 and revd on other grounds, remanded 132 NJ 1, 622 A2d 1257.

Footnote 91. Re Sichofsky, 201 Cal 360, 257 P 439, 53 ALR 615.

Footnote 92. Darnell v Edwards, 244 US 564, 61 L Ed 1317, 37 S Ct 701.

§ 205 Legislative acts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is often said that the law presumes the regularity and validity of legislative acts of all levels of government, including the official acts of Congress; 93 state legislative bodies; 94 the electorate at large, acting by initiative; 95 municipal ordinances; 96 rules and regulations adopted by a city commission or board; 97 and disciplinary rules and regulations promulgated by a board of school trustees. 98

Footnotes

Footnote 93. United States v Butler, 297 US 1, 80 L Ed 477, 56 S Ct 312, 4 Ohio Ops 401, 36-1 USTC ¶ 9039, 16 AFTR 1289, 102 ALR 914; Becker Steel Co. v Cummings, 296 US 74, 80 L Ed 54, 56 S Ct 15; Tim v Long Branch, 135 NJL 549, 53 A2d 164, 171 ALR 320.

Footnote 94. Ex parte Ashton, 231 Ala 497, 165 So 773, 104 ALR 54; Duhamel v State Tax Com., 65 Ariz 268, 179 P2d 252, 171 ALR 684; Rebsamen Motor Co. v Phillips, 226 Ark 146, 289 SW2d 170, 57 ALR2d 1256 (ovrld on other grounds by Arkansas Motor Vehicle Com. v Cliff Peck Chevrolet, Inc., 277 Ark 185, 640 SW2d 453); North Little Rock Transp. Co. v North Little Rock, 207 Ark 976, 184 SW2d 52, 159 ALR 813; Adams v Spillyards, 187 Ark 641, 61 SW2d 686, 86 ALR 1493; Rainey v Michel, 6 Cal 2d 259, 57 P2d 932, 105 ALR 148; Smith v Peterson (4th Dist) 131 Cal App 2d 241, 280 P2d 522, 49 ALR2d 1194; Amsel v Brooks, 141 Conn 288, 106 A2d 152, 45 ALR2d 1234, app dismd 348 US 880, 99 L Ed 693, 75 S Ct 125; Sage-Allen Co. v Wheeler, 119 Conn 667, 179 A 195, 98 ALR 897; Bodner v Gray (Fla) 129 So 2d 419, 89 ALR2d

860; McDougall v Lueder, 389 Ill 141, 58 NE2d 899, 156 ALR 1059; People ex rel. Barrett v Union Bank & Trust Co., 362 Ill 164, 199 NE 272, 104 ALR 1090; Peachey v Boswell, 240 Ind 604, 167 NE2d 48, 89 ALR2d 801; Bolivar Tp. Bd. of Finance v Hawkins, 207 Ind 171, 191 NE 158, 96 ALR 271; Stoner McCray System v Des Moines, 247 Iowa 1313, 78 NW2d 843, 58 ALR2d 1304; Rohan v Detroit Racing Ass'n., 314 Mich 326, 22 NW2d 433, 166 ALR 1246; Boyer-Campbell Co. v Fry, 271 Mich 282, 260 NW 165, 98 ALR 827; State v Hales, 256 NC 27, 122 SE2d 768, 90 ALR2d 804; Milwaukie Co. of Jehovah's Witnesses v Mullen, 214 Or 281, 330 P2d 5, 74 ALR2d 347, cert den and app dismd 359 US 436, 3 L Ed 2d 932, 79 S Ct 940; Re Estate of Moore, 210 Or 23, 307 P2d 483, 65 ALR2d 715, recalled 210 Or 44, 308 P2d 180; Dufour v Maize, 358 Pa 309, 56 A2d 675, 1 ALR2d 563; Narragansett Electric Lighting Co. v Sabre, 50 RI 288, 146 A 777, 66 ALR 1553, reh den (RI) 147 A 668, 66 ALR 1567 and appeal after remand 51 RI 37, 150 A 756, 70 ALR 46, reh den (RI) 151 A 363, 70 ALR 52; Re Squires, 114 Vt 285, 44 A2d 133, 161 ALR 349; Staples v Gilmer, 183 Va 613, 33 SE2d 49, 158 ALR 495; Robb v Tacoma, 175 Wash 580, 28 P2d 327, 91 ALR 1010.

Footnote 95. Commonwelath v Higgins, 277 Mass 191, 178 NE 536, 79 ALR 1304.

Footnote 96. New Orleans Public Service, Inc. v New Orleans, 281 US 682, 74 L Ed 1115, 50 S Ct 449; Sedalia ex rel. Bauman v Standard Oil Co. (CA8 Mo) 66 F2d 757, 95 ALR 1514, cert den 290 US 706, 78 L Ed 607, 54 S Ct 374; Re Petersen, 51 Cal 2d 177, 331 P2d 24, 77 ALR2d 1291, app dismd 360 US 314, 3 L Ed 2d 1259, 79 S Ct 1294; Re Porterfield, 28 Cal 2d 91, 168 P2d 706, 19 BNA LRRM 2585, 11 CCH LC ¶ 63132, 167 ALR 675; Murphy, Inc. v Westport, 131 Conn 292, 40 A2d 177, 156 ALR 568; Palangio v Chicago, 23 Ill 2d 570, 179 NE2d 663, 92 ALR2d 1276; State Bank & Trust Co. v Wilmette, 358 Ill 311, 193 NE 131, 96 ALR 1327 (ovrld on other grounds by La Salle Nat. Bank v Evanston, 57 Ill 2d 415, 312 NE2d 625) as stated in Champaign v Kroger Co. (4th Dist) 88 Ill App 3d 498, 43 Ill Dec 661, 410 NE2d 661; Matheny v Hutchinson, 154 Kan 682, 121 P2d 227, 151 ALR 1187; Cities Service Oil Co. v Marysville, 117 Kan 514, 231 P 1031, 43 ALR 854, error dismd 270 US 665, 70 L Ed 788, 46 S Ct 207; G. I. Veterans' Taxicab Ass'n v Yellow Cab Co., 192 Md 551, 65 A2d 173, 8 ALR2d 568; 122 Main Street Corp. v Brockton, 323 Mass 646, 84 NE2d 13, 8 ALR2d 955; Osius v St. Clair Shores, 344 Mich 693, 75 NW2d 25, 58 ALR2d 1079; Harrigan & Reid Co. v Burton, 224 Mich 564, 195 NW 60, 33 ALR 142; Ballard v Smith, 234 Miss 531, 107 So 2d 580, 75 ALR2d 152; Bettey v Sidney, 79 Mont 314, 257 P 1007, 56 ALR 872; Samuel Braen, Inc. v Mayor & General Council of Waldwick, 28 NJ 476, 147 A2d 40, 75 ALR2d 371; Durham v Southern R. Co., 185 NC 240, 117 SE 17, 35 ALR 1313, affd 266 US 178, 69 L Ed 231, 45 S Ct 51; Fylken v Minot, 66 ND 251, 264 NW 728, 103 ALR 320; Milwaukie Co. of Jehovah's Witnesses v Mullen, 214 Or 281, 330 P2d 5, 74 ALR2d 347, cert den and app dismd 359 US 436, 3 L Ed 2d 932, 79 S Ct 940; Greenberg v Lee, 196 Or 157, 248 P2d 324, 35 ALR2d 567; Bellaire v Lamkin, 159 Tex 141, 317 SW2d 43, 66 ALR2d 1289.

Footnote 97. Thorne v Squier, 264 Mich 98, 249 NW 497, 89 ALR 126; Hartman v May, 168 Miss 477, 151 So 737, 93 ALR 1408.

Footnote 98. McLeod v State, 154 Miss 468, 122 So 737, 63 ALR 1161.

§ 206 Quasi-public officers

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption of regularity has been applied to acts of quasi-public officers, such as administrators and executors, 99 a guardian ad litem, 1 and a notary public. 2

Footnotes

Footnote 99. Beebe v Kirkpatrick, 321 Ill 612, 152 NE 539, 47 ALR 891; Leach v Farmers' Sav. Bank, 205 Iowa 114, 213 NW 414, 56 ALR 801, mod on other grounds 205 Iowa 119, 217 NW 437, 56 ALR 806.

Footnote 1. Spotts v Spotts, 331 Mo 917, 55 SW2d 977, 87 ALR 660.

Footnote 2. White v Inman, 212 Miss 237, 54 So 2d 375, 30 ALR2d 380.

b. Regularity of Judicial Proceedings [207-213]

§ 207 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

When any judicial or official act is shown to have been done in a manner substantially regular it is presumed that the court complied with the formal requisites for its validity. 3 The burden is on the individual challenging the action to show unlawfulness or illegality. 4

The law presumes, absent a strong showing to the contrary, that a grand jury acts within the legitimate scope of its authority. 5

Footnotes

Footnote 3. Winegar v Corrections Dept. (WD Mich) 400 F Supp 392, affd without op (CA6 Mich) 549 F2d 803, cert den 430 US 972, 52 L Ed 2d 366, 97 S Ct 1660; Houston v Hennessey (Mo App) 534 SW2d 52.

A court order empaneling a special grand jury enjoyed a presumption of regularity; hence it is presumed that the grand jury, called to investigate the nursing home industry, was regularly empaneled. L & S Hospital & Institutional Supplies Co. v Hynes, 84 Misc 2d 431, 375 NYS2d 934, affd (1st Dept) 51 App Div 2d 515, 378 NYS2d 78.

Footnote 4. United States v Roses, Inc., 1 Fed Cir Trade Cas 39, 706 F2d 1563;

Applewhite v Kreiger (Fla App D4) 392 So 2d 317.

Footnote 5. United States v R. Enters., Inc., 498 US 292, 112 L Ed 2d 795, 111 S Ct 722, 91 CDOS 650, 91 Daily Journal DAR 954, on remand (CA4 Va) 955 F2d 229, 19 Media L R 1953.

§ 208 Subject matter jurisdiction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes that a court has acted within its jurisdiction in the absence of a clear showing to the contrary. 6

Where the judgment recites the facts conferring jurisdiction, the recitals are presumed to be correct. 7 This presumption is rebuttable in a subsequent direct proceeding between the parties to the judgment. 8 In a collateral attack on a judgment, the law presumes the original court acted within its jurisdiction, that is, defendant has the burden of proving lack of jurisdiction even if the jurisdictional facts do not appear on the record. 9

Footnotes

Footnote 6. Smith v United States (CA8 Mo) 339 F2d 519; Pardo v Wilson Line of Washington, Inc., 134 US App DC 249, 414 F2d 1145; Re Adoption of a Minor, 94 US App DC 131, 214 F2d 844, 47 ALR2d 813.

An appellate court cannot presume the absence of subject matter jurisdiction in a case in which the record does not disclose a lack of jurisdiction; instead any presumption is in favor of the trial court's action, deciding the jurisdictional question presented. Schoffstall v Failey, 180 Ind App 528, 389 NE2d 361.

Footnote 7. Cook v Cook, 342 US 126, 96 L Ed 146, 72 S Ct 157; State v Hashimoto, 46 Hawaii 183, 377 P2d 728.

Footnote 8. Farnsworth v United States, 98 US App DC 59, 232 F2d 59, 62 ALR2d 423.

Footnote 9. Smith v United States (CA8 Mo) 339 F2d 519.

§ 209 Courts of general or special jurisdiction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A court of general jurisdiction is presumed to have jurisdiction unless someone proves that there is some valid constitutional or legislative enactment that has withdrawn jurisdiction in a particular case. 10 With regard to certain inferior courts of special and limited jurisdiction, however, the presumption in favor of jurisdiction does not apply. 11 Because an inferior court's judgment enjoys no presumption that it was within the court's jurisdiction, the judgment of such a court should affirmatively demonstrate through the record or minutes that the court acted within the scope of its authority, and that all essential jurisdictional facts existed. 12

It does not necessarily follow, however, that the judgment is absolutely void if the matters essential to jurisdiction do not thus appear; although there is no presumption in favor of jurisdiction, it has sometimes been held permissible to show the necessary facts by extraneous evidence. 13 It is also sometimes held contrarily that where a court of limited jurisdiction does not show affirmatively on the face of the record that court has authority to act, the order or judgment of court is without jurisdiction and void. 14

The rule that no presumptions are indulged in favor of the proceedings of inferior courts applies only to the question of jurisdiction; these courts, like others, are presumed to have acted correctly as to matters within their jurisdictions. 15

Footnotes

Footnote 10. People v Kellerman (3d Dept) 102 App Div 2d 629, 479 NYS2d 815.

Footnote 11. Burge v San Francisco, 41 Cal 2d 608, 262 P2d 6; Culberth v Keith (Fla App D4) 354 So 2d 460; State ex rel. Sorensen v Baird, 201 Or 240, 269 P2d 535.

Annotation: Res judicata as affected by limitation of jurisdiction of court which rendered judgment, 83 ALR2d 977.

Footnote 12. Re Application of Rosewell (1st Dist) 139 Ill App 3d 482, 94 Ill Dec 75, 487 NE2d 952, revd on other grounds 117 Ill 2d 479, 111 Ill Dec 619, 512 NE2d 1256; State ex rel. Smilack v Bushong (Allen Co) 93 Ohio App 201, 50 Ohio Ops 499, 112 NE2d 675, affd 159 Ohio St 259, 50 Ohio Ops 280, 111 NE2d 918; State ex rel. Sorensen v Baird, 201 Or 240, 269 P2d 535.

Footnote 13. Burge v San Francisco, 41 Cal 2d 608, 262 P2d 6.

Footnote 14. Re Jennings (2d Dist) 32 Ill App 3d 857, 336 NE2d 786, affd, cause remanded 68 Ill 2d 125, 11 Ill Dec 256, 368 NE2d 864.

Footnote 15. Doherty v McMillen (Mo App) 805 SW2d 361 (a small claims court judgment has res judicata effect); Sines v Ball, 182 W Va 719, 391 SE2d 632 (a civil action filed in appellate court could not be dismissed on grounds that it was based on matters tried and determined in a lower magistrate court, that is, that the magistrate court was not competent to rule on the matter).

§ 210 --Probate courts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The authority given to probate courts is governed by state statute. Hence, the records of their judgments in some states must show on their face the jurisdictional facts conferring power on the courts to enter judgment, and no intendment will be made in its favor. 16

Most courts, however, view probate courts as courts of general or superior jurisdiction in respect of the settlement, distribution and partition of estates coming within their cognizance; orders and judgments of such courts are entitled to the same favorable presumptions and the same immunity from collateral attack as are those of courts of general jurisdiction. 17

Footnotes

Footnote 16. Curtiss v McCall (Fla App D1) 224 So 2d 354, cert dismd (Fla) 237 So 2d 533 (probate courts are not courts of general jurisdiction and are not subject to the rule of presumptions as to jurisdiction); J. A. Mennella Foods Corp. v Neptune's Nuggets, Inc., 74 Misc 2d 839, 346 NYS2d 43.

Footnote 17. Lappan v Lovette (Ala) 577 So 2d 893; Cloyd v Dawson (Okla App) 569 P2d 534; Mower v Boyer (Tex) 811 SW2d 560 (a probate court acting within its statutory powers is a court of general jurisdiction whose judgments are immune from collateral attack); Estate of Torrance v State (Tex App El Paso) 812 SW2d 393; Hadley v Cowan, 60 Wash App 433, 804 P2d 1271.

§ 211 Judgments in other states

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under the doctrine of comity and under the doctrine of full faith and credit, a judgment rendered by a court in one state (referred to hereinafter as the "judgment state") is generally enforceable by the tribunals of a sister state (hereinafter, the "forum state") unless the judgment was invalid. 18 Unless the record demonstrates lack of jurisdiction on its face, the forum state court will assume that the judgment was properly rendered, that is, the burden is upon the defendant to establish that the judgment court lacked jurisdiction; 19 and this is true even though the facts upon which jurisdiction depend do not affirmatively appear. 20 If defendant claims that the judgment court lacked jurisdiction to render the judgment according to the laws of the judgment state, defendant has the burden of proving what the law of the judgment state is. 21 If the party supplies the forum state court with the necessary materials and information, in most states the forum state court must take judicial notice of the laws of the judgment state. 22 If the party fails to provide these materials and information, the forum state court may take such judicial notice sua sponte, 23 but is not obliged to do so; instead, the forum state court may presume that the law of the judgment state is the same as that of the forum state. This latter presumption should be applied, however, only if it is consistent with the presumption that the judgment state court acted within its jurisdiction. 24

Footnotes

Footnote 18. 30 Am Jur 2d, Execution and Enforcement of Judgments.

Footnote 19. Takahashi v Board of Trustees (CA9 Cal) 783 F2d 848, 40 BNA FEP Cas 267, 39 CCH EPD ¶ 36033, cert den 476 US 1182, 91 L Ed 2d 545, 106 S Ct 2916, 40 BNA FEP Cas 1873, 40 CCH EPD ¶ 36248, later proceeding (5th Dist) 202 Cal App 3d 1464, 249 Cal Rptr 578, reh den (Aug 18, 1988) and review den (Oct 12, 1988); Davis v Davis (Mo App) 799 SW2d 127; G & R Gourmet Foods, Inc. v Natural Choice, Inc. (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 811 SW2d 184; Reiff v McGuire (Tex Civ App Texarkana) 616 SW2d 349.

Footnote 20. Takahashi v Board of Trustees (CA9 Cal) 783 F2d 848, 40 BNA FEP Cas 267, 39 CCH EPD ¶ 36033, cert den 476 US 1182, 91 L Ed 2d 545, 106 S Ct 2916, 40 BNA FEP Cas 1873, 40 CCH EPD ¶ 36248, later proceeding (5th Dist) 202 Cal App 3d 1464, 249 Cal Rptr 578, reh den (Aug 18, 1988) and review den (Oct 12, 1988) and (criticized on other grounds by Rojo v Kliger (2nd Dist) 205 Cal App 3d 646, 252 Cal Rptr 605) and cert den 490 US 1011, 104 L Ed 2d 168, 109 S Ct 1654.

Unless extrinsic evidence or record establishes that the foreign court lacked jurisdiction to render judgment, a state court will presume that the foreign court did have jurisdiction. G & R Gourmet Foods, Inc. v Natural Choice, Inc. (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 811 SW2d 184.

Footnote 21. Johnson v Johnson (Mo App) 770 SW2d 483 (a foreign judgment, regular on its face, is entitled to strong presumption that foreign court had jurisdiction both over parties and subject matter and that court followed its laws and entered valid judgment; the burden of overcoming this presumption of validity is upon party attacking the judgment in subsequent proceeding).

Footnote 22. See §§ 109 et seq. for a discussion of judicial notice of foreign laws.

Footnote 23. Boyles v Boyles, 59 NC App 389, 297 SE2d 405, affd 308 NC 488, 302 SE2d 790, later proceeding 70 NC App 415, 319 SE2d 923 (a court may make its own independent inquiry into jurisdiction of a court which rendered judgment by examining laws of judgment state); Prather, Thomas, Campbell, Pridgeon, Inc. v Florilina Properties, Inc., 29 NC App 316, 224 SE2d 289.

Footnote 24. Barnhill v Barnhill (La App 3d Cir) 488 So 2d 299.

§ 212 Service

View Entire Section

When the civil rules regarding service of process are followed, there is a presumption that service was valid. 25 This presumption is based on the premise that judicial acts are duly and regularly performed. 26

No such presumption is indulged for service prescribed by a statute or rule for substituted or constructive service. 27 Strict compliance with statutes which allow service on nonresidents will be enforced and no presumption of regularity will be followed. 28 The inquiry in those situations must be as to whether the requisites of the statute have been complied with, and such compliance must appear on the record. 29

No presumption may be given effect, however, against the express statement of the record. 30 In addition, there is no presumption of validity when direct attack is made upon default judgment. 31

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Greenup v Register, 104 NC App 618, 410 SE2d 398; Rogers v United Presidential Life Ins. Co. (Franklin Co) 36 Ohio App 3d 126, 521 NE2d 845; Reed v Reed (Utah) 806 P2d 1182, 154 Utah Adv Rep 6.

Footnote 26. Winegar v Corrections Dept. (WD Mich) 400 F Supp 392, affd without op (CA6 Mich) 549 F2d 803, cert den 430 US 972, 52 L Ed 2d 366, 97 S Ct 1660; Principal Mut. Life Ins. Co. v Dohm (2d Dist) 201 Ill App 3d 960, 147 Ill Dec 391, 559 NE2d 564; Comyn v Southeastern Pennsylvania Transp. Authority, 141 Pa Cmwlth 53, 594 A2d 857.

Footnote 27. Prudential Property & Casualty Ins. Co. v Dickerson (1st Dist) 202 Ill App 3d 180, 147 Ill Dec 514, 559 NE2d 854.

Footnote 28. Polskie Linie Oceaniczne v Seasafe Transport A/S (CA11 Fla) 795 F2d 968; Oriental Imports & Exports, Inc. v Maduro & Curiel's Bank, N.V. (CA11 Fla) 701 F2d 889.

Footnote 29. Electro Engineering Products Co. v Lewis (Fla) 352 So 2d 862 (to withstand an attack on service under a long-arm statute, a plaintiff must substantiate the jurisdictional allegations in the complaint by affidavits or other competent proof, not merely reiterating the factual allegations).

Footnote 30. Dickinson v National Soc. of Health (La App 5th Cir) 589 So 2d 632.

Footnote 31. Allied Bank of Dallas v Pleasant Homes, Inc. (Tex App Dallas) 757 SW2d 460.

§ 213 Regularity of proceedings subsequent to gaining jurisdiction

The presumption of regularity applies not only to the fact of jurisdiction, but also to proceedings subsequent to the gaining of jurisdiction. 32 When the jurisdiction of a competent court has attached, every act is presumed to have been rightly done until the contrary appears. 33

Unless the record shows the contrary, it will be presumed that the trial court gave due consideration to testimony appearing in the record, 34 that a criminal defendant was properly arraigned, 35 that the court considered sending defendants to a state youth facility, 36 that a defendant did, as indicated by court records, serve a prison sentence for a prior conviction, thereby qualifying for enhanced sentencing, 37 that the trial judge found preliminary requisites to the admissibility of evidence, 38 and that the jury followed the instructions given to them. 39

Footnotes

Footnote 32. Prouty v Prouty (Ala App) 388 So 2d 1012 (a trial court's decisions have a presumption of correctness); Robert Half of Iowa, Inc. v Citizens Bank of Newburg (Iowa App) 453 NW2d 236; Middleburg Heights v Brown, 24 Ohio St 3d 66, 24 Ohio BR 215, 493 NE2d 547.

Footnote 33. Burden v Zant, 498 US 433, 112 L Ed 2d 962, 111 S Ct 862, 91 Daily Journal DAR 2049, on remand (CA11 Ga) 975 F2d 771, 6 FLW Fed C 1244, reh, en banc, den (CA11 Ga) 983 F2d 1084 and revd on other grounds, remanded (US) 126 L Ed 2d 611, 114 S Ct 654, 94 Daily Journal DAR 364 (trial court's finding that a codefendant had testified under an immunity agreement was entitled to the presumption of correctness).

A reviewing court should presume that trial court followed the law, until the contrary is shown. Shelby Mut. Ins. Co. v Grand Rapids, 6 Mich App 95, 148 NW2d 260.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it is presumed that a court of general jurisdiction has proceeded within the general scope of its powers and this presumption of regularity attaches with particularity to judicial proceedings in which the jurisdiction of the tribunal is unquestioned. John v Centennial Ins. Co. (3d Dept) 91 App Div 2d 1104, 458 NYS2d 350.

Footnote 34. Columbus Gas & Fuel Co. v Public Utilities Com., 292 US 398, 78 L Ed 1327, 54 S Ct 763, 91 ALR 1403.

Footnote 35. People v Guevara (2nd Dist) 132 Cal App 3d 193, 183 Cal Rptr 18.

Footnote 36. People v Waite (4th Dist) 146 Cal App 3d 585, 194 Cal Rptr 245.

Footnote 37. People v Crockett (2nd Dist) 222 Cal App 3d 258, 271 Cal Rptr 500, review den (Cal) 1990 Cal LEXIS 4423.

Footnote 38. Stitt v Tribe, 270 Mass 204, 170 NE 48.

Footnote 39. Carnation Co. v Hill, 115 Wash 2d 184, 796 P2d 416.

2. Relating to the Family [214-235]

a. Marriage [214-225]

(1). Existence and Validity [214-217]

§ 214 Ceremonial marriage

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes that any marriage which has been solemnized in accordance with the laws of the jurisdiction where the ceremony is performed is valid. 40 This presumption may shift the burden of persuasion as well as the burden of production. 41 Courts categorize this presumption as particularly strong, 42 some going so far as to say that it can be overcome only by clear and convincing evidence. 43 Moreover, where there is proof of a marriage ceremony, the law will presume the capacity of the parties, and all essentials to the validity of the marriage. 44

The presumption in favor of the validity of a marriage increases with time. 45 It is a logical extension of these presumptions that the marital relationship, once entered into, is presumed to continue until its dissolution by death, annulment or divorce. 46

Footnotes

Footnote 40. Dennis v Railroad Retirement Bd. (CA6) 585 F2d 151; Re Estate of Nowak (2d Dist) 130 Ill App 2d 573, 264 NE2d 307; Miller v AMF Harley-Davidson Motor Co. (Iowa App) 328 NW2d 348; Re Estate of Tomlinson (Mo App) 493 SW2d 402; Guggenmos v Guggenmos, 218 Neb 746, 359 NW2d 87; Johnson v Johnson (ND) 104 NW2d 8, 82 ALR2d 1029.

Annotation: Rights in decedent's estate as between lawful and putative spouses, 81 ALR3d 6.

Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19.

Mental capacity to marry, 82 ALR2d 1040.

Validity of solemnized marriage as affected by absence of license required by statute,

61 ALR2d 847.

What constitutes intoxication sufficient to warrant annulment of marriage, 57 ALR2d 1250.

Divorce decree as res judicata or estoppel as to previous marital status, against or in favor of third persons, 20 ALR2d 1163.

Practice References Validity of Marriage. 36 Am Jur POF2d 441.

Footnote 41. Guggenmos v Guggenmos, 218 Neb 746, 359 NW2d 87.

Footnote 42. Compton v Davis Oil Co. (DC Wyo) 607 F Supp 1221, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587 (once the existence of a marriage is established, a strong, though rebuttable, presumption arises that such marriage is valid; Miller v AMF Harley-Davidson Motor Co. (Iowa App) 328 NW2d 348 (a marriage in fact is presumed valid)).

Footnote 43. Compton v Davis Oil Co. (DC Wyo) 607 F Supp 1221, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587.

Footnote 44. Stewart v Hampton (Fla App D5) 506 So 2d 70, 12 FLW 1134 (once a marriage is shown to have been ceremonially entered into, it is presumed legal and valid); Smith v Weir (Miss) 387 So 2d 761 (the burden of producing evidence to rebut the presumption of validity attaching to an individual's ceremonial marriage rested on the parties attacking it, and that burden of proof could be met only by producing proof so cogent and conclusive as fairly to preclude any other result).

Annotation: Recognition by forum state of marriage which, although invalid where contracted, would have been valid if contracted within forum state, 82 ALR3d 1240.

Footnote 45. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Manning (CA2 NY) 568 F2d 922; Milano v Secretary of Health & Human Services (ED NY) 586 F Supp 1431; Compton v Davis Oil Co. (DC Wyo) 607 F Supp 1221, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587.

Footnote 46. Heyman v Heyman (ND Ill) 548 F Supp 1041; Commonwealth ex rel. Alexander v Alexander, 445 Pa 406, 289 A2d 83.

§ 215 Common law marriage; cohabitation and repute

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

When a couple cohabits together and are reputedly husband and wife, the law has traditionally recognized a presumption that they are in fact married; 47 and this presumption is applied whether the underlying marriage was ceremonial or contracted pursuant to common-law. 48 The rule allowing a finding of marriage based on cohabitation and reputation alone, moreover, is one of necessity to be applied only where other proof is unavailable. 49

Both cohabitation and reputation must be shown in order to raise the presumption of marriage. 50 Cohabitation and reputation are often required to be constant and continuous. 51 Proof of reputation must also be general and not confined to a few persons in the immediate neighborhood. 52

The presumption may be said to gain strength, as measured by the test of probability, in proportion to the length of time during which cohabitation and reputation of marriage have continued. 53 But each case is decided on its own facts. 54

In a divorce action, some courts, reasoning that the plaintiff can testify that a marriage had taken place, have held that the presumption should therefore be inapplicable. 55

Parties to a common-law marriage are presumed to have had the requisite mental capacity to contract marriage. 56

Footnotes

Footnote 47. Langdon v Langdon, 204 Ind 321, 183 NE 400, 85 ALR 1297.

Footnote 48. Re Marriage of Gebhardt (Iowa App) 426 NW2d 651 (cohabitation and reputation raise fair presumption that common-law marital relationship exists); Rahill v 645 Restaurant Corp. (3d Dept) 59 App Div 2d 988, 399 NYS2d 342 (cohabitation does not create marriage but merely raises presumption that marriage exists); Estate of Gavula, 490 Pa 535, 417 A2d 168 (rebuttable presumption of marriage where constant cohabitation and general reputation of marriage coexist); Jackson v Culp, 400 Pa Super 519, 583 A2d 1236, app den 529 Pa 621, 600 A2d 537 (there must at least be evidence of cohabitation and reputation of marriage to give rise to presumption of common-law marriage); Re Estate of Corace, 364 Pa Super 269, 527 A2d 1058.

Annotation: Common-law marriage between parties previously divorced, 82 ALR2d 688.

Practice References Presumptions concerning marriage relation. 36 Am Jur POF2d 441.

Footnote 49. Cross v Cross (1st Dept) 146 App Div 2d 302, 541 NYS2d 202.

Footnote 50. Compton v Davis Oil Co. (DC Wyo) 607 F Supp 1221, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587; Weaver v G.D. Searle & Co. (ND Ala) 558 F Supp 720; Re Estate of Fisher (Iowa) 176 NW2d 801; Jackson v Culp, 400 Pa Super 519, 583 A2d 1236, app den 529 Pa 621, 600 A2d 537.

Footnote 51. McCoy v District of Columbia (Dist Col App) 256 A2d 908 (cohabitation cannot be established on basis of a two-day visit to the District of Columbia); Cross v Cross (1st Dept) 146 App Div 2d 302, 541 NYS2d 202 (fact that parties stayed in Pennsylvania two nights at most was not enough to establish presumption of marriage based on cohabitation and reputation); Re Estate of Kovalchick, 345 Pa Super 229, 498 A2d 374.

Footnote 52. Re Estate of Rees, 331 Pa Super 225, 480 A2d 327.

Footnote 53. Re Estate of Marden (Fla App D3) 355 So 2d 121, cert den (Fla) 361 So 2d 833 and cert den (Fla) 361 So 2d 833.

Footnote 54. People v Vogel, 46 Cal 2d 798, 299 P2d 850; Cross v Cross (1st Dept) 146 App Div 2d 302, 541 NYS2d 202 (even though both parties divorced their former spouses and cohabited for about eighteen years, and represented themselves as husband and wife, the court found that no marriage existed because they argued over whether to get married and were still married to both former spouses during much of their cohabitation); Steadman v Turner, 357 Pa Super 361, 516 A2d 21, app den 515 Pa 624, 531 A2d 431 (evidence of cohabitation and reputation do not raise presumption of marriage where parties know their relationship is meretricious).

Footnote 55. East v East (Dist Col App) 536 A2d 1103.

Annotation: Court's authority to award temporary alimony or suit money in action for divorce, separate maintenance, or alimony where the existence of a valid marriage is contested, 34 ALR4th 814.

Footnote 56. Re Estate of Hendrickson, 248 Kan 72, 805 P2d 20.

§ 216 --Rebutting presumption; shifting burdens

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Once a presumption of marriage has been created by proof of cohabitation and repute, the burden of persuasion shifts to the adverse party to disprove its existence by clear evidence. 57

Footnotes

Footnote 57. Cross v Rudder (Ala) 380 So 2d 766, appeal after remand (Ala) 404 So 2d 8; Carter v Carter (Fla App D3) 309 So 2d 625 (once prima facie case of common-law marriage has been proved, thereby raising the presumption from proof of general repute and cohabitation, burden of proving illegality of marriage shifts to those who challenge it); Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Johnson, 103 Idaho 122, 645 P2d 356 (presumption of marriage, once established, must be overcome by clear and positive evidence); Re Estate of Lowney (2d Dept) 152 App Div 2d 574, 543 NYS2d 698 (where persons live and cohabit as husband and wife and are reputed to be such, a presumption arises that they have been legally married and this presumption, especially in a case involving legitimacy, can be rebutted only by cogent and satisfactory evidence); Re Estate of Allen (Okla) 738 P2d 142; Steadman v Turner, 357 Pa Super 361, 516 A2d 21, app den 515 Pa 624, 531 A2d 431 (cohabitation and reputation are only mere circumstances from which a marriage may be presumed and rebutted by other facts and circumstances).

§ 217 --Cohabitation without marriage

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes that cohabitation that was illicit or meretricious at its outset remains so. 58 The presumption that a relationship that begins as meretricious continues as such depends on two related things—the knowledge of the parties and the intent of the parties. 59

A relationship which began as nonmarital cohabitation may, and often does, ripen into marriage: the couple may exchange vows in a formal wedding ceremony, or they may contract a common-law marriage. 60 Because the relationship began as nonmarital cohabitation, however, the law presumes that the relationship remained nonmarital. 61 Thus, the party seeking to prove that the couple did at some point marry each other has at least the initial burden to produce evidence to overcome the presumption. 62

Footnotes

Footnote 58. Beebe v Beebe, 227 Ga 248, 179 SE2d 758; Dowd v Dowd, 275 Pa Super 472, 418 A2d 1387; Yarbrough v Yarbrough (App) 280 SC 546, 314 SE2d 16 (a relationship illicit at its inception does not ripen into common-law marriage once the impediment to marriage is removed; Lightsey v Lightsey, 56 Tenn App 394, 407 SW2d 684.

Footnote 59. Beebe v Beebe, 227 Ga 248, 179 SE2d 758; Dowd v Dowd, 275 Pa Super 472, 418 A2d 1387; Lightsey v Lightsey, 56 Tenn App 394, 407 SW2d 684.

Footnote 60. Coleman v Aubert (Ala) 531 So 2d 881; Fields v Fields (Montgomery Co) 39 Ohio App 3d 187, 530 NE2d 933.

Footnote 61. Mixon v Mize (Fla App D1) 198 So 2d 373, cert den (Fla) 204 So 2d 211; Re Estate of Murnion, 212 Mont 107, 686 P2d 893; Cross v Cross (1st Dept) 146 App Div 2d 302, 541 NYS2d 202; Re Estate of Dodge, 361 Pa Super 188, 522 A2d 77; Re Estate of Kovalchick, 345 Pa Super 229, 498 A2d 374.

See 52 Am Jur 2d, Marriage § 132 for a discussion of the presumption of the existence of a marriage from cohabitation and reputation.

Footnote 62. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Johnson, 103 Idaho 122, 645 P2d 356.

(2). Validity of Second Marriage [218-222]

§ 218 Generally

The law presumes that a second marriage, like the first, 63 is valid and that a prior marriage of one of the parties ended in death or divorce. A key factor in raising the presumption will be evidence that the parties acted in good faith and intended to marry. 64

Once it is proven that a marriage exists, the law presumes that the marriage is valid and lawful and continues without termination. 65 The presumption of the validity of a marriage, on the other hand, supports the inference that the second marriage was valid and that the first marriage therefore ended prior to the second marriage. 66 When confronting this inconsistency, the law generally gives the latter presumption precedence, presuming the validity of the second marriage. 67

Among the policy considerations supporting this presumption is the need to protect family stability, particularly where invalidating the second marriage would render children born of that marriage illegitimate. 68 But the presumption is also occasionally indulged in, even though children are not involved. 69 Another important reason for the presumption is the need to protect the financial interests of an innocent spouse who was unaware of the other spouse's prior marriage or doubts as to its dissolution. 70

The party seeking to invoke the presumption must first prove the basic fact—that there was an apparently valid second marriage. 71

Footnotes

Footnote 63. See §§ 214 et seq., for a discussion of the presumption of the validity and continuance of marriages.

Footnote 64. Kelly v Kelly, 144 Ga App 43, 240 SE2d 312, appeal after remand 147 Ga App 745, 250 SE2d 194; Re Felber's Estate, 193 Or 231, 238 P2d 203, 31 ALR2d 231; Dowd v Dowd, 275 Pa Super 472, 418 A2d 1387.

Footnote 65. See 52 Am Jur 2d, Marriage § 137 for a discussion of the presumption of the continuance of existing marriages.

Footnote 66. See 52 Am Jur 2d, Marriage §§ 140 et seq. for a discussion of the presumption in favor of the validity of the latest of successive marriages.

Footnote 67. Grey v Heckler (CA2 NY) 721 F2d 41; Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Manning (CA2 NY) 568 F2d 922; McKnight v Schweiker (DC Md) 516 F Supp 1102; Crosby v Ellsworth (CA9 Mont) 431 F2d 35; Gainey v Flemming (CA10 Colo) 279 F2d 56; Compton v Davis Oil Co. (DC Wyo) 607 F Supp 1221, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587; Brantley v Skeens, 105 US App DC 246, 266 F2d 447; Yarbrough v United States, 169 Ct Cl 589, 341 F2d 621; Lockett v Coleman, 293 Ala 613, 308 So 2d 689, cert den 423 US 839, 46 L Ed 2d 59, 96 S Ct 69; Wilson v Wilson, 1 Ariz App 77, 399 P2d 698; Clark v Clark, 19 Ark App 280, 719 SW2d 712, supp op, en banc 19 Ark App 283, 725

SW2d 1; Vargas v Superior Court of Los Angeles County (2nd Dist) 9 Cal App 3d 470, 88 Cal Rptr 281; Williamson v Williamson (Super) 48 Del 379, 104 A2d 463; Re Estate of Yohn (Fla) 238 So 2d 290; Re Estate of Donner (Fla App D3) 364 So 2d 742; Johnson v Johnson, 239 Ga 714, 238 SE2d 437; Glover v Glover, 172 Ga App 278, 322 SE2d 755; Re Application of Soriano, 35 Hawaii 756; Nicholas v Idaho Power Co., 63 Idaho 675, 125 P2d 321; Baer v De Berry (1st Dist) 31 Ill App 2d 86, 175 NE2d 673; Ross v Red Cab Co., 105 Ind App 440, 14 NE2d 333; Miller v AMF Harley-Davidson Motor Co. (Iowa App) 328 NW2d 348; Harper v Dupree, 185 Kan 483, 345 P2d 644; Rose v Rose, 274 Ky 208, 118 SW2d 529; Gathright v Smith (La) 368 So 2d 679; Zanders v Zanders (La App 1st Cir) 434 So 2d 1213; Browning v Browning, 224 Md 399, 168 A2d 506; Re Estate of Adams, 362 Mich 624, 107 NW2d 764; Smith v Weir (Miss) 387 So 2d 761; Estate of Holloway v Whitaker (Mo App) 697 SW2d 551; Villalon v Bowen, 70 Nev 456, 273 P2d 409; Dawson v Hatfield Wire & Cable Co., 59 NJ 190, 280 A2d 173; Allen v Allen, 98 NM 652, 651 P2d 1296; Re Estate of Lowney (2d Dept) 152 App Div 2d 574, 543 NYS2d 698; Stewart v Rogers, 260 NC 475, 133 SE2d 155; Re Estate of Swinson, 62 NC App 412, 303 SE2d 361; Norton v Coffield (Okla) 357 P2d 434; Smith v Smith, 169 Or 650, 131 P2d 447; Yarbrough v Yarbrough (App) 280 SC 546, 314 SE2d 16; Troxel v Jones, 45 Tenn App 264, 322 SW2d 251; Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v Elder, 155 Tex 27, 282 SW2d 371; Medrano v State (Tex App El Paso) 701 SW2d 337, petition for discretionary review ref (Oct 22, 1986) and appeal after remand (Tex App El Paso) 768 SW2d 502, petition for discretionary review ref (Oct 25, 1989); Martin v Martin, 29 Utah 2d 413, 510 P2d 1102; Parker v American Lumber Corp., 190 Va 181, 56 SE2d 214, 14 ALR2d 1; Davis v Davis, 3 Wash 2d 448, 101 P2d 313; Meade v State Compensation Com'r, 147 W Va 72, 125 SE2d 771.

Footnote 68. Faggard v Filipowich, 248 Ala 182, 27 So 2d 10; Re Estate of Adams, 362 Mich 624, 107 NW2d 764.

Footnote 69. Re McNell's Estate (Sur) 66 NYS2d 217, affd 270 App Div 857, 61 NYS2d 392.

Footnote 70. Grey v Heckler (CA2 NY) 721 F2d 41; Parker v American Lumber Corp., 190 Va 181, 56 SE2d 214, 14 ALR2d 1.

Footnote 71. Belle Isle v Belle Isle, 47 Ga App 168, 170 SE 211.

§ 219 Subsequent common-law marriage

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Courts also generally apply the presumption of the validity of a subsequent marriage to a subsequent common-law marriage. ⁷² The presumption's application raises no serious difficulty if the spouse from the first marriage had not been heard from for more than seven years prior to the second marriage, ⁷³ because this is consistent with the presumption that a person who has been neither seen nor heard from for seven years is dead. ⁷⁴ Even without a seven-year period, courts have been willing to apply a presumption that the first marriage ended in death or divorce in order to recognize a subsequent common-law marriage. 75

A few cases have been unwilling to recognize as a common law marriage a relationship that began as cohabitation during the existence of the first marriage. 76

Footnotes

Footnote 72. Georgia Casualty & Surety Co. v Bloodworth, 120 Ga App 313, 170 SE2d 433.

Footnote 73. Georgia Casualty & Surety Co. v Bloodworth, 120 Ga App 313, 170 SE2d 433 (presumptions that one who was absent from his accustomed place of abode and unheard from for seven years was dead and, in absence of proof to the contrary, that death occurred at the end of seven-year period, operated in favor of the validity of a subsequent common-law marriage).

Footnote 74. See 22A Am Jur 2d, Death § 551 for a discussion of the presumption of death after seven years.

Footnote 75. Lott v Toomey (Ala) 477 So 2d 316; Barnett v Barnett, 262 Ala 655, 80 So 2d 626; Sikes v Guest (Fla App D2) 170 So 2d 322; Carr v Walker, 205 Ga 1, 52 SE2d 426; Warner v Warner, 76 Idaho 399, 283 P2d 931; Miller v AMF Harley-Davidson Motor Co. (Iowa App) 328 NW2d 348; Braymer v Overton Mach. Co., 324 Mich 648, 37 NW2d 659; Re Estate of Erwin (Miss) 317 So 2d 55; Re Marriage of Sumners (Mo App) 645 SW2d 205; Winn v Wiggins, 47 NJ Super 215, 135 A2d 673; Mayo v Mayo, 73 NC App 406, 326 SE2d 283; Hill v Shreve (Okla) 448 P2d 848; Re Estate of Booker, 27 Or App 779, 557 P2d 248; Troxel v Jones, 45 Tenn App 264, 322 SW2d 251; Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v Elder, 155 Tex 27, 282 SW2d 371.

Footnote 76. Pace v Celebrezze (SD W Va) 243 F Supp 317; Cross v Cross (1st Dept) 146 App Div 2d 302, 541 NYS2d 202.

§ 220 Equitable considerations affecting standing to raise the presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption that a second marriage is valid does not run in favor of a spouse who has been shown to have a prior undissolved marriage unless that spouse can show good faith in contracting the second marriage. 77 The spouse of the second marriage, however, would be entitled to rely on the presumption of validity without proof of his or her own good faith where it was her deceased spouse who had a prior undissolved marriage. 78

The presumption is particularly strong when there are children of the second marriage 79 or when an undeserving party seeks an inequitable advantage. 80

Courts have refused to allow a party to the second marriage to use the presumption to deny the continued validity of his own first marriage. 81 This refusal is based on two considerations: the party's presumed access to direct proof, and judicial unwillingness to allow the party to use the presumption to gain an unfair advantage. 82 Courts have also refused to permit use of the presumption in situations in which the party seeking to invoke it had unclean hands or sought to use it unfairly, 83 or where equitable considerations favored the surviving spouse of the first marriage. 84

Several courts have also made it particularly difficult for strangers to the marriage to invoke the presumption to deny death benefits or similar benefits to the surviving spouse. 85

Footnotes

Footnote 77. Succession of City v Succession of Manuel (La App 3d Cir) 469 So 2d 467.

Footnote 78. Succession of City v Succession of Manuel (La App 3d Cir) 469 So 2d 467.

A claim by heirs of the second husband of a twice-married woman to real property that had been owned by the woman and her second husband as tenants by entirety, based on successive deaths of woman and second husband, was properly upheld as against the woman's collateral heirs, based on presumption of validity of woman's second marriage where no evidence was produced to show the lack of a divorce dissolving the woman's first marriage, or that the second husband contracted the marriage in absence of honest and reasonable belief that such marriage was valid and no legal impediment to it existed. Zanders v Zanders (La App 1st Cir) 434 So 2d 1213.

Footnote 79. Esmond v Thomas Lyons Bar & Grill (3d Dept) 26 App Div 2d 884, 274 NYS2d 225.

Footnote 80. Re Marriage of Sumners (Mo App) 645 SW2d 205 (defendant was equitably estopped from attacking validity of prior divorce in light of the fact that he and his second wife cohabited for 16 years, had four children together, had, throughout the marriage, filed joint income tax returns together, had acquired several parcels of realty as tenants by entirety, and the defendant judicially admitted, in original answer filed in divorce action, that the second marriage was lawful).

Footnote 81. Lands v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 239 La 782, 120 So 2d 74; Mara v Mara (La App 4th Cir) 452 So 2d 329, later proceeding (La App 4th Cir) 513 So 2d 1220, cert den (La) 517 So 2d 813.

Footnote 82. Mara v Mara (La App 4th Cir) 452 So 2d 329, later proceeding (La App 4th Cir) 513 So 2d 1220, cert den (La) 517 So 2d 813.

Footnote 83. Succession of City v Succession of Manuel (La App 3d Cir) 469 So 2d 467, holding that the presumption of validity of a second marriage does not run in favor of a spouse who has been shown to have a prior undissolved marriage, unless that spouse can show good faith in contracting a second marriage; Mara v Mara (La App 4th Cir) 452 So 2d 329, later proceeding (La App 4th Cir) 513 So 2d 1220, cert den (La) 517 So 2d 813; Mayer v Mayer, 66 NC App 522, 311 SE2d 659, review den 311 NC 760, 321 SE2d 140.

The presumption is not available to one who deserted or abandoned the spouse of prior marriage in another state and subsequently in this state remarried in bad faith and without reason to believe that first marriage had been dissolved by death, divorce, or annulment. Lands v Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 239 La 782, 120 So 2d 74.

Alleged husband was held to have no interest in the estate property of deceased wife, who had left all her property to her children, where their ceremonial marriage was void by reason of a prior undissolved common-law marriage between the alleged husband and a woman whose previous husband had been absent for 22 years prior to the alleged husband's common-law marriage. Estate of Claveria v Claveria (Tex) 615 SW2d 164, reh'g of cause overr'd (Mar 18, 1981) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Russell v Russell (Tex) 865 SW2d 929).

Footnote 84. Boyd v Heckler (ED NY) 588 F Supp 31 (presumption in favor of the validity of decedent's latest marriage was rebutted where: (a) no record of divorce was found in two locations most likely for a divorce to have been procured; (b) the wife and a daughter of the first marriage testified that there was no divorce; and (c) equitable considerations did not weigh as heavily in favor of the second marriage, which was of short duration and yielded no children).

Footnote 85. Steele v Richardson (CA2 NY) 472 F2d 49; Miller v AMF Harley-Davidson Motor Co. (Iowa App) 328 NW2d 348; Esmond v Thomas Lyons Bar & Grill (3d Dept) 26 App Div 2d 884, 274 NYS2d 225.

§ 221 Strength and effect of presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption that a second marriage is valid, that is, that a previous marriage of a spouse terminated by death or divorce prior to the second marriage, is a particularly strong one. 86 Although a few cases state that the party seeking to invalidate the second marriage need only do so by a preponderance of the evidence, 87 most courts insist that the challenging party must disprove every reasonable possibility that the second marriage is valid, 88 or establish the validity of the first marriage at the time of the second by clear and convincing 89 or even stronger proof. 90

Jurisdictions that follow Federal Rule 301 direct that presumptions shift only the burden of production, not the burden of persuasion, unless otherwise provided by statute, 91 affording the presumption less weight than it had been given prior to the adoption of the rule. 92

Footnotes

Footnote 86. Boyd v Heckler (ED NY) 588 F Supp 31; McKnight v Schweiker (DC Md) 516 F Supp 1102; Yarbrough v Celebrezze (MD NC) 217 F Supp 943; Gardner v Oldham

(CA5 Fla) 381 F2d 804; Smith v Heckler (CA11 Fla) 707 F2d 1284; Yarbrough v United States, 169 Ct Cl 589, 341 F2d 621; Cole v Cole, 249 Ark 824, 462 SW2d 213; Blythe v Blythe, 241 Ark 768, 410 SW2d 379; Williamson v Williamson (Super) 48 Del 277, 101 A2d 871, adhered to (Super) 48 Del 379, 104 A2d 463; Mayo v Ford (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 184 A2d 38, revd on other grounds (Dist Col App) 191 A2d 603; Stewart v Hampton (Fla App D5) 506 So 2d 70, 12 FLW 1134; McBride v McBride (Fla App D2) 130 So 2d 302; Quinn v Quinn, 4 Mich App 536, 145 NW2d 252; Booker v James Spence Iron Foundry, Inc., 80 NJ Super 68, 192 A2d 860; Re Estate of Hadley, 57 Misc 2d 652, 293 NYS2d 224, affd (2d Dept) 32 App Div 2d 1078, 303 NYS2d 1012; Re Estate of Davis, 55 Or App 982, 640 P2d 692, adhered to 57 Or App 145, 643 P2d 1351.

Footnote 87. Gardner v Oldham (CA5 Fla) 381 F2d 804.

Footnote 88. Teel v Nolen Brown Motors, Inc. (Fla) 93 So 2d 874 (first wife is not required to eliminate every remote possibility that divorce might have been secured by her husband, but she must establish absence of reasonable probability that husband actually secured divorce); Harper v Dupree, 185 Kan 483, 345 P2d 644 (every reasonable possibility of validity must be negated by evidence that is clear, strong, and satisfactory and so persuasive as to leave no room for reasonable doubt); Re Will of Goethie, 9 Misc 2d 906, 161 NYS2d 785.

Footnote 89. Newburgh v Arrigo, 88 NJ 529, 443 A2d 1031, 42 ALR4th 795; Dawson v Hatfield Wire & Cable Co., 59 NJ 190, 280 A2d 173; Allen v Allen, 98 NM 652, 651 P2d 1296; Panzer v Panzer, 87 NM 29, 528 P2d 888; Schall v Schall (App) 97 NM 665, 642 P2d 1124; Re Estate of Steinberg, 34 Or App 293, 578 P2d 487; Anderson v Anderson, 121 Utah 237, 240 P2d 966.

Footnote 90. United States ex rel. Kazanos v Murff (DC NY) 170 F Supp 182 (requiring evidence which is so strong, clear, distinct, and satisfactory as not only to demonstrate the fact and validity of the earlier marriage and its subsistence at the time of the later marriage, but also to aggressively exclude every indication or suggestion which might conceivably rescue the second marriage from the taint of invalidity); United States v Marlow (CA5 La) 235 F2d 366 (to overcome presumption of validity of second marriage, positive proof must be adduced to establish that prior marriage was never dissolved by judicial decree or death); Harper v Dupree, 185 Kan 483, 345 P2d 644 (evidence must be clear, strong, and satisfactory and so persuasive as to leave no room for reasonable doubt); Browning v Browning, 224 Md 399, 168 A2d 506 (evidence must be sufficient to establish mental conviction which amounts to moral certainty); Marcum v Zaring (Okla) 406 P2d 970 (presumption of validity can be rebutted only by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence).

Footnote 91. See § 195 for a discussion of the burden shifting effects of FRE See § 301.

Footnote 92. Hewitt v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (ED Va) 490 F Supp 1358 (when the party challenging the strong presumption that the marriage last in time is valid introduces evidence which will afford reasonable grounds to presume the former marriage was not dissolved, the burden of proof shifts to the other party); Spearman v Spearman (CA5 Ala) 482 F2d 1203 (once the first wife presents evidence that her marriage was not dissolved, the burden of persuasion shifts to the second wife to show the first marriage was dissolved); Patrick v Simon, 237 Ga 742, 229 SE2d 746 (the burden is on the party asserting validity of the second marriage to go forward with evidence to show that first marriage was dissolved by divorce).

§ 222 Rebutting presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

To rebut the presumption of validity of a second marriage a litigant must show, first, that at least one party to the second marriage had been married previously; second, that the prior marriage was itself valid; and third, that the prior marriage had not terminated by annulment, divorce, or the death of the other spouse. 93

Where a party to a first marriage contracts a second marriage, but then resumes living with the first spouse, courts usually conclude that the presumption has been rebutted, that is, that the first marriage never terminated and that the second, therefore, is invalid. 94

Testimony by the spurned or abandoned spouse about the first marriage, that he or she never filed for divorce and never received divorce papers, may 95 or may not 96 suffice.

The burden of proving that no court record exists of the termination of the first marriage by divorce or annulment depends on whether there was an adequate search in the jurisdictions of the prior residences of the spouses. 97 Failure to pursue a divorce action to finality is also a factor. 98

Footnotes

Footnote 93. Tatum v Tatum (CA9 Cal) 241 F2d 401; Briggs v United States, 116 Ct Cl 638, 90 F Supp 135; Mayo v Owen, 208 Ga 483, 67 SE2d 709.

Footnote 94. Hewitt v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (ED Va) 490 F Supp 1358; Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co. v Watford, 245 Ala 425, 17 So 2d 166; Vargas v Superior Court of Los Angeles County (2nd Dist) 9 Cal App 3d 470, 88 Cal Rptr 281; Beaudin v Suarez, 365 Mich 534, 113 NW2d 818; Harrison v Burton (Okla) 303 P2d 962.

Footnote 95. Milano v Secretary of Health & Human Services (ED NY) 586 F Supp 1431.

Footnote 96. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Manning (CA2 NY) 568 F2d 922; Pigford Bros. Constr. Co. v Evans, 225 Miss 411, 83 So 2d 622; Texas Employers' Ins. Asso. v Gomez (Tex Civ App Eastland) 313 SW2d 956, writ ref n r e (Oct 8, 1958) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Nov 5, 1958).

Footnote 97. Grey v Heckler (CA2 NY) 721 F2d 41 (record searches in every jurisdiction in which decedent spouse would have been likely to seek a divorce had turned up no evidence of such divorce); Lott v Toomey (Ala) 477 So 2d 316 (affidavits showed a lack of any record of divorce in any of four counties in two states in which decedent and her first husband had lived); Jenkins v Estate of Jenkins (Fla App D1) 384 So 2d 266

(presumption was not overcome by proof that no record of divorce could be found in Florida, where the parties to the former marriage had also resided in Georgia and no evidence was introduced that a divorce had not been obtained in Georgia); Re Estate of Erwin (Miss) 317 So 2d 55 (prior spouse must show where each party to prior marriage resided up to time of second marriage and obtain a certificate from court in each appropriate county that no divorce or annulment was granted by the court of that county); Davis v Davis (Tex) 521 SW2d 603, reh'g of cause overr (May 7, 1975) (presumption of the validity of the second marriage was overcome by evidence that no divorce proceedings were instituted in any jurisdiction where the husband might reasonably have been expected to pursue them).

Where decedent traveled extensively, evidence that decedent did not obtain a divorce in one place, New Mexico, was not enough to rebut the presumption. Schall v Schall (App) 97 NM 665, 642 P2d 1124.

Evidence that the first wife never instituted divorce proceedings and was never served with divorce papers from her husband successfully rebutted the presumption that husband's second marriage was valid. Mayo v Mayo, 73 NC App 406, 326 SE2d 283.

Footnote 98. Stokes v Heckler (CA8 Ark) 773 F2d 990; Re Estate of Warren (2d Dept) 131 App Div 2d 681, 516 NYS2d 759, app dismd, in part, app den, in part 70 NY2d 950, 524 NYS2d 674, 519 NE2d 620 (presumption of the validity of the second marriage was rebutted by evidence that a divorce decree had not become final until more than one year after second marriage).

Annotation: Presumption as to validity of second marriage, 14 ALR2d 7.

(3). Relationship Between Spouses [223-225]

§ 223 Property ownership

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Property acquired by either spouse subsequent to the marriage and prior to dissolution is presumed to be marital property regardless of how title is held. 99 In many states the community property system prevails, which presumes that property acquired after marriage is community property of husband and wife. 1 The party asserting that property is separate has the burden of overcoming this presumption. 2

The presumption that property acquired by either spouse during the marriage is marital property can be overcome by showing that the property was acquired by gift, devise, descent, or bequest. 3

The common law presumed that the husband was the owner of all property possessed during marriage; and the vestiges of this presumption still prevail in some jurisdictions. 4 But this presumption has been largely abandoned 5 and its validity is constitutionally

Footnotes

Footnote 99. Re Jacobs (BC SD Cal) 48 BR 570.

Footnote 1. Egle v Egle (CA5 Canal Zone) 715 F2d 999, writ den 469 US 1032, 83 L Ed 2d 437, 105 S Ct 549; Edwards v Commissioner (CA9) 680 F2d 1268, 82-2 USTC ¶ 9472, 50 AFTR 2d 82-5390.

As to community property, generally, see 15A Am Jur 2d, Community Property §§ 1 et seq.

Footnote 2. Carroll v Lee, 148 Ariz 10, 712 P2d 923; In re Marriage of Fabian, 41 Cal 3d 440, 224 Cal Rptr 333, 715 P2d 253.

Footnote 3. Wilson v Wilson (Mo App) 822 SW2d 917; Pemelton v Pemelton (Tex App Corpus Christi) 809 SW2d 642, writ granted (Tex) 35 Tex Sup Ct Jour 38 and rev'd on other grounds (Tex) 836 SW2d 145, mod, cause remanded (Sep 9, 1992).

Footnote 4. Re Ferguson (BC DC Colo) 15 BR 439 (it will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that household goods, where husband and wife are living together, belong to the husband); Cleveland v State, 155 Ga App 267, 270 SE2d 687 (husband, as head of family, constructively possessed drugs found in marital home).

Annotation: Estates by entirety in personal property, 64 ALR2d 8.

Proceeds or derivatives of real property held by entirety as themselves held by entirety, 22 ALR4th 459.

Footnote 5. Sawada v Endo, 57 Hawaii 608, 561 P2d 1291 (married women are equal with husband as to ownership of the marital estate); Moulton v Moulton (Me) 309 A2d 224 (by force of married women's acts, passed in all jurisdictions, the common-law doctrine that marriage deprives a woman of separate property has been abrogated).

Footnote 6. Kirchberg v Feenstra, 450 US 455, 67 L Ed 2d 428, 101 S Ct 1195 (striking down Louisiana law permitting husband to dispose of jointly owned marital property); Peddy v Montgomery (Ala) 345 So 2d 631, appeal after remand (Ala) 355 So 2d 698 (state statute limiting freedom of married women to alienate or mortgage her lands without husband's assent violates equal protection clause of state constitution).

As to the property rights of spouses, generally, see 41 Am Jur 2d, Husband and Wife §§ 29 et seq.

§ 224 Gifts and advancements

View Entire Section

A conveyance of property from one spouse to another is presumed to be a gift. 7 Expenditures made by a spouse on property held by the entirety are presumed gifts, each spouse owning one-half unless rebutted by clear and convincing evidence that such payments were made with the intention not to be considered gifts. 8 Even where one spouse supplies all the consideration for property held as tenants by the entireties, there is a presumption of a gift to the marriage. 9

Transfer of title from one spouse to the other creates a presumption of gift; that presumption can be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence. 10 And if a spouse transfers title of her separate property to joint names, a gift will be presumed. 11 There also is a presumption where property is held by the entireties that either spouse may act for both without specific authority, as long as the benefit inures to both. 12

Footnotes

Footnote 7. Cook v United States (CA1 Mass) 904 F2d 107, 90-1 USTC ¶ 50288, 65 AFTR 2d 90-1156.

Footnote 8. Re Youmans (BC DC NJ) 117 BR 113, 20 BCD 1430; Amato v Amato (Fla App D4) 16 FLW D 2803, substituted op, on reh (Fla App D4) 596 So 2d 1243, 17 FLW D 984; Heinemann v Heinemann (Fla App D1) 314 So 2d 220, cert den (Fla) 336 So 2d 106.

Footnote 9. Re Marriage of Cupp (App) 152 Ariz 161, 730 P2d 870 (when real property is paid for by one spouse and taken jointly in both names, law presumes a gift; Valladee v Valladee (App) 149 Ariz 304, 718 P2d 206 (investment properties purchased with husband's separate funds created a presumption of a gift to wife which husband failed to overcome simply by after-the-fact testimony that property was placed in joint tenancy only as means of avoiding probate); Brown v Borland, 230 Neb 391, 432 NW2d 13; Lawrence v Lawrence, 100 NC App 1, 394 SE2d 267 (it must be shown by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that no gift was intended).

Footnote 10. Graham v Graham, 104 Nev 473, 760 P2d 772.

Footnote 11. Charlton v Charlton, 186 W Va 670, 413 SE2d 911.

Footnote 12. Sgro v Sgro, 259 Pa Super 425, 393 A2d 900.

§ 225 Agency; duty to provide

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The marital relation alone raises no presumption of agency between husband and wife. 13

The burden of proof is on the one asserting agency. 14 If there is an express statutory provision, the husband is presumed to be acting as the wife's agent where she permits him custody, control, and management of her separate estate, but this presumption can be overcome by evidence. 15

At common law, a husband was under a duty to provide his wife with the necessities of life, and she was thus presumed to have authority to bind him for necessities; should the husband neglect his duty, he may be liable to third parties for necessities furnished by them to the wife. 16 There is authority that the doctrine is still viable. 17 But, as the partners in the marital relationship become more interdependent than dependent, this common-law rule has become more egalitarian. 18

Footnotes

Footnote 13. Re Tara of North Hills (BC ED NC) 116 BR 455, affd without op (CA4 NC) 904 F2d 701; Holt v Commissioner, 67 TC 829; Bennett v Mack's Supermarkets, Inc. (Ky) 602 SW2d 143.

Footnote 14. United States v Nelson (WD Mich) 485 F Supp 941; McCarthy v Wahby (Mo App) 717 SW2d 571.

Footnote 15. Priddy v Wood, 245 Ark 209, 431 SW2d 744.

Footnote 16. Smith v Hernandez (Okla App) 794 P2d 772 (husband is not unconditionally liable for necessities furnished to wife, but becomes liable only when he neglects to make adequate provision for her support).

Footnote 17. Re Steingesser (CA2 NY) 602 F2d 36, 5 BCD 449, 20 CBC 761, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 67155; Richland Memorial Hospital v Burton, 282 SC 159, 318 SE2d 12.

Annotation: Necessity, in action against husband for necessities furnished wife, of proving husband's failure to provide necessities, 19 ALR4th 432.

Footnote 18. Webb v Hillsborough County Hospital Authority (Fla App D2) 521 So 2d 199, 13 FLW 448, corrected (Fla App D2) 13 FLW 478; White v Neeland (3d Dist) 114 Ill App 3d 174, 69 Ill Dec 931, 448 NE2d 649 (under statute both husband and wife are jointly and severally liable for expenses of the family); Jermunson v Jermunson, 181 Mont 97, 592 P2d 491 (wife has joint and mutual obligation to pay for necessities).

b. Children [226-235]

(1). Presumption of Legitimacy [226-231]

§ 226 Generally

View Entire Section

The presumption of legitimacy is considered one of the strongest in the law. 19 As such, with a few exceptions, 20 it nearly always takes more than a mere preponderance of the evidence to overcome it. Courts express this burden in a variety of ways: substantial; 21 clear and convincing; 22 strong and conclusive. 23

Traditionally, the presumption of legitimacy could be rebutted only by proof that a husband was incapable of procreation 24 or had no access to his wife during the relevant period. 25 And, under the common law, neither husband nor wife could be a witness to prove access or nonaccess. 26

Footnotes

Footnote 19. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573; Re Estate of Thomas, 228 Ark 658, 310 SW2d 248; Maxwell v Maxwell, 15 Mich App 607, 167 NW2d 114; McLeod v State Board of Health (Miss) 393 So 2d 479; Peoples Nat. Bank v Manos Bros., Inc., 226 SC 257, 84 SE2d 857, 45 ALR2d 1070.

Annotation: Proof of husband's impotency or sterility as rebutting presumption of legitimacy, 84 ALR3d 495.

Footnote 20. Doe v Roe, 3 Hawaii App 233, 647 P2d 305 (requiring only a preponderance of the evidence).

Footnote 21. Adoption of Stroope (1st Dist) 232 Cal App 2d 581, 43 Cal Rptr 40; Lonning v Leonard (Mo App) 767 SW2d 577.

Footnote 22. Pyeatte v Pyeatte, 21 Ariz App 448, 520 P2d 542, 84 ALR3d 486; Cartee v Carswell (Fla App D5) 425 So 2d 204; C.C. v A.B., 406 Mass 679, 550 NE2d 365; Younkin v Younkin, 221 Neb 134, 375 NW2d 894.

Footnote 23. Finkenbinder v Burton (Ala App) 477 So 2d 459; Whitman v Whitman, 140 Ind App 289, 215 NE2d 689; Austin v Austin (Okla) 418 P2d 347.

Footnote 24. § 230.

Footnote 25. § 229.

Footnote 26. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573.

§ 227 Scope of presumption

The presumption of legitimacy applies to a child conceived during a marriage but born after annulment, divorce or separation. 27 To rebut the presumption, the presumed father must assert and prove the same grounds as if the couple had still been married when the child was born. 28

Moreover, the presumption applies to children conceived before but born during marriage. 29 The presumption is particularly strong where the husband knew that his wife was pregnant before their marriage. 30

The presumption of legitimacy is upheld sometimes even in the face of conclusive evidence proving that the man married by the pregnant woman was not, in fact, the biological father. 31

Postbirth marriage is some evidence that the husband is the child's father, but, without more, is insufficient to prove paternity, 32 even if the husband seeks status as the child's father. 33

Footnotes

Footnote 27. Miller v Sybouts, 97 Wash 2d 445, 645 P2d 1082.

See 10 Am Jur 2d, Bastards §§ 10 et seq. for a discussion of the scope of the presumption of legitimacy and paternity of children.

Annotation: Presumption of legitimacy of child born after annulment, divorce, or separation, 46 ALR3d 158.

Footnote 28. Kusior v Silver, 54 Cal 2d 603, 7 Cal Rptr 129, 354 P2d 657.

Footnote 29. Sturdy v Sturdy (4th Dist) 67 Ill App 2d 469, 214 NE2d 607; Madden v Madden (Miss) 338 So 2d 1000; B. S. P. v W. W. W. (Mo App) 411 SW2d 834; Lawson v Baker (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 351 SW2d 571; Ripplinger v Ripplinger, 9 Wash App 166, 511 P2d 82; M. v M., 162 W Va 273, 250 SE2d 40.

Annotation: Presumption of legitimacy, or of paternity, of child conceived or born before marriage, 57 ALR2d 729.

Footnote 30. Blitch v Blitch (Fla App D1) 341 So 2d 251; Verneuille v Verneuille (La App 4th Cir) 438 So 2d 615, cert den (La) 443 So 2d 596; Re W.C., 206 Mont 432, 671 P2d 621.

Footnote 31. Cook v Perron (La App 3d Cir) 427 So 2d 499, cert den (La) 433 So 2d 1054.

Footnote 32. Re Estate of Braun, 36 Misc 2d 727, 233 NYS2d 857; Re Marriage of Gridley, 28 Or App 145, 558 P2d 1277.

Footnote 33. Re Custody of C.C., 215 Mont 72, 695 P2d 816 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Marriage of Miller, 251 Mont 300, 825 P2d 189).

§ 228 Standing to rebut the presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some states, by statute or court rule, limit those who may challenge a child's legitimacy, affording standing, at most, only to members of the immediate family, that is, wife, child, husband, and their descendants. 34

When the child's mother was married to another man at the time of conception or birth and the husband considers himself to be the father, a conflict between the purported unwed father's paternal rights and the presumption of legitimacy arises. 35 Natural fathers, who were not the husbands of the child's mother, have generally been denied standing to bring legitimacy actions alleging their own paternity, 36 although occasionally natural fathers in such circumstances have been granted standing. 37 A statute denying standing to the purported biological father by means of a conclusive presumption does not violate the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. 38 Nondescendant relatives of the deceased husband are also denied standing to question the presumed legitimacy of children who had been conceived by or born to the wives of the deceased husbands. 39

Footnotes

Footnote 34. State ex rel. Goodno v Cobb (Ala App) 567 So 2d 376; Puffpaff v Hull, 169 Mich App 688, 426 NW2d 778; Banta v Banta (Okla App) 782 P2d 946; Davis v Houston (Tex App Fort Worth) 734 SW2d 210.

Annotation: Who may dispute presumption of legitimacy of child conceived or born during wedlock, 90 ALR3d 1032.

Footnote 35. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573.

Footnote 36. Pierce v Pierce (Minn App) 374 NW2d 450; Czajak v Vavonese, 104 Misc 2d 601, 428 NYS2d 986; Cline v Drew (Tenn App) 735 SW2d 232; In Interest of M.R.M. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 807 SW2d 779, writ of error filed (May 7, 1991) and writ den (Jun 19, 1991) and reh of writ of error overr (Sep 5, 1991).

Footnote 37. Williams v Milliken, 351 Pa Super 567, 506 A2d 918, later proceeding 2 Pa D & C4th 263.

Footnote 38. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573.

Footnote 39. Re Estate of Raulston (Okla App) 805 P2d 113.

§ 229 Grounds—lack of access

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The common-law rule that husband and wife are not competent to testify as to lack of intercourse as a way of proving that a child was illegitimate has been rejected in many jurisdictions. 40 In some states, however, the rule remains in force. 41 In such cases, corroboration of inaccessibility is sometimes required. 42

Footnotes

Footnote 40. Vasquez v Esquibel, 141 Colo 5, 346 P2d 293; Peters v District of Columbia (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 84 A2d 115; Gibbons v Maryland Casualty Co., 114 Ga App 788, 152 SE2d 815; Ventresco v Bushey, 159 Me 241, 191 A2d 104; Shelley v Smith, 249 Md 619, 241 A2d 682; C.C. v A.B., 406 Mass 679, 550 NE2d 365; Re L---- (Mo) 499 SW2d 490; Melvin v Kazhe, 83 NM 356, 492 P2d 138; Commonwealth ex rel. Savruk v Derby, 235 Pa Super 560, 344 A2d 624; Davis v Davis (Tex) 521 SW2d 603, reh'g of cause overr (May 7, 1975); State v Schimschal, 73 Wash 2d 141, 437 P2d 169; Schmidt v Schmidt, 21 Wis 2d 433, 124 NW2d 569.

Annotation: Comment Note.—Rule as regards competency of husband or wife to testify as to nonaccess, 49 ALR3d 212.

Presumption of legitimacy of child born after annulment, divorce, or separation, 46 ALR3d 158.

Footnote 41. Wright v Vales, 1 Ark App 175, 613 SW2d 850; People ex rel. Adams v Mitchell (1st Dist) 89 Ill App 3d 1023, 45 Ill Dec 327, 412 NE2d 678.

Wife not permitted to testify to the ultimate fact of illegitimacy, but the trial court did properly permit her and the first husband to testify as to the first husband's nonaccess at time of conception, thus showing the impossibility of the first husband's paternity. Evans v Evans (Ala App) 434 So 2d 254, cert quashed (Ala) 434 So 2d 257.

Although the mother could not properly testify to the ultimate fact of illegitimacy, she could testify to circumstances from which nonaccess, and the impossibility that her husband was the father, could be inferred. Adams v State (Ala App) 428 So 2d 117.

§ 230 --Husband's sterility

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence of a husband's sterility, without more, does not generally overcome the presumption of legitimacy. 43

However, evidence that the husband has undergone a vasectomy prior to conception, coupled with postpregnancy evidence of sterility, has often been considered sufficient to overcome the presumption of legitimacy. 44 But where the couple was cohabiting and having sex at the time the wife became pregnant and there was no evidence, other than the pregnancy, suggesting that the wife had intercourse with anyone other than her husband, courts have seized on comparatively minor weaknesses in the husband's evidence to conclude that evidence of a vasectomy was insufficient to overcome the presumption. 45

Footnotes

Footnote 43. Pyeatte v Pyeatte, 21 Ariz App 448, 520 P2d 542, 84 ALR3d 486; Shepherd v Shepherd, 314 Ky 575, 236 SW2d 477; Lucas v Williams, 218 Md 322, 146 A2d 764; Houston v Houston, 199 Misc 469, 99 NYS2d 199; Smith v Smith, 71 SD 305, 24 NW2d 8.

The fact that the husband was diagnosed as having a low sperm count did not overcome presumption of legitimacy. Happel v Mecklenburger (1st Dist) 101 Ill App 3d 107, 56 Ill Dec 569, 427 NE2d 974.

Annotation: Proof of husband's impotency or sterility as rebutting presumption of legitimacy, 84 ALR3d 495.

Footnote 44. Adoption of Stroope (1st Dist) 232 Cal App 2d 581, 43 Cal Rptr 40; Hughes v Hughes, 125 Cal App 2d 781, 271 P2d 172; Re Adoption of McFadyen (1st Dist) 108 Ill App 3d 329, 64 Ill Dec 43, 438 NE2d 1362, cert den 460 US 1015, 75 L Ed 2d 486, 103 S Ct 1259; S---- v S---- (Mo App) 520 SW2d 652; Re Kessler's Estate, 76 SD 158, 74 NW2d 599; Cochran v Cochran, 2 Wash App 514, 468 P2d 729.

Footnote 45. Tosh v Tosh (1st Dist) 214 Cal App 2d 483, 29 Cal Rptr 613 (the doctor who performed the vasectomy testified that there was a one-in-fifty chance that a man might regain fertility after a vasectomy); Whitman v Whitman, 140 Ind App 289, 215 NE2d 689 (the doctor who conducted a pretrial fertility test testified only that it was almost certain that the husband could not have fathered the child); L. v M., 134 NJ Super 69, 338 A2d 227 (tests normally taken in the second and third month following a vasectomy were not taken); Walkup v Walkup (Brown Co) 31 Ohio App 3d 248, 31 Ohio

BR 532, 511 NE2d 119 (the test to determine whether vasectomy had been successful was not performed until approximately ten years after surgery and five years after child's birth, and his own expert stated that vasectomies sometimes fail and that their effect may be reversible); Barcelo v Barcelo (Tex Civ App Houston (14th Dist)) 603 SW2d 276, writ dismissed (Oct 29, 1980).

§ 231 Scientific evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Scientific tests are generally admissible to rebut the presumption of legitimacy; indeed, the result of a properly conducted test that satisfies legal standards of probability is sufficient to permit a factfinder to conclude that the presumption has been overcome. 46 But scientific evidence is not admissible where there is a conclusive presumption of legitimacy. 47 Nor is scientific evidence admissible if a husband is estopped by law from denying paternity. 48

When a married woman alleges that a man other than her husband fathered her child, scientific evidence may suffice to overcome the presumption of legitimacy when the husband does not contest the issue. 49 Scientific evidence may also be admissible where a wife seeks to overcome the presumption of legitimacy in order to deprive her husband of his rights as father to a child he has loved, supported and helped to raise. 50

But even the certainty of scientific evidence will sometimes give way to pragmatic and policy considerations surrounding the child's overall welfare. 51

Footnotes

Footnote 46. Blake v Division of Child Support Enforcement (Del Sup) 525 A2d 154, holding that a presumption that a man is father of a child where he and the mother are married to each other when the child is born can be overcome by clear and convincing evidence, such as by results of scientific tests and incidents of sexual intercourse between the mother and the putative father near the time of conception.

Footnote 47. Michael H. v Gerald D., 491 US 110, 105 L Ed 2d 91, 109 S Ct 2333, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 634, 110 S Ct 22 and reh den 499 US 984, 113 L Ed 2d 739, 111 S Ct 1645 and motion den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 538, 112 S Ct 1931, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 604 NYS2d 573, upholding the constitutionality of such a conclusive presumption; Vincent B. v Joan R. (2nd Dist) 126 Cal App 3d 619, 179 Cal Rptr 9, app dismissed 459 US 807, 74 L Ed 2d 45, 103 S Ct 31.

Footnote 48. Smith v Smith (La App 3d Cir) 300 So 2d 205; McRae v McRae, 115 NH 353, 341 A2d 762; Brite v Brite, 61 Misc 2d 10, 305 NYS2d 65; Commonwealth ex rel. Palchinski v Palchinski, 253 Pa Super 171, 384 A2d 1285.

Where putative father held himself out to be father of child by marrying mother and assuming responsibility for care of child, paternity was established and evidence of blood tests was inadmissible to disprove paternity for any purpose. Re Montenegro, 365 Pa Super 98, 528 A2d 1381.

Footnote 49. Wake County ex rel. Manning v Green, 53 NC App 26, 279 SE2d 901, holding that HLA blood-grouping tests may be admitted to rebut the presumption of legitimacy of a child born of a married woman where she was estranged from her husband and did not know where he was or how to locate him at the time of the child's conception or delivery.

Footnote 50. Atkinson v Atkinson, 160 Mich App 601, 408 NW2d 516, 84 ALR4th 643, app den 429 Mich 884 (trial court properly admitted the results of husband's test; a husband denying paternity is permitted to present the best evidence to overcome the presumption of legitimacy, the court reasoned; a wife similarly should be allowed as mother to present the best evidence challenging father's claim of paternity).

Footnote 51. Re Marriage of Ross, 245 Kan 591, 783 P2d 331, mod on other grounds (Kan) 1990 Kan LEXIS 1 (prior to deciding whether to order blood tests to determine whether a presumed parent is the biological parent, the District Court must consider the best interests of the child, including its physical, mental, and emotional needs).

(2). Other Presumptions Involving Children [232-235]

§ 232 Possibility of having children

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

American courts have frequently, with regard to both men and women and under various circumstances involving property rights, applied the presumption that the possibility of issue is never extinct as long as a person lives. 52 With respect to women, most of the cases recognizing the presumption have supported the view that the presumption is conclusive or absolute, and is applicable even though the underlying facts seemingly support a contrary conclusion. 53 However, in an increasing number of cases, it has been held that the presumption will not be followed in the face of positive evidence that a woman is incapable of having children, and other cases have, without discussion, simply disregarded the presumption of the possibility of issue. 54 In one such case it has been said that the principle that there is an "irrebuttable presumption," or rule of substantive law, that a woman is capable of bearing children throughout her life, regardless of the actual truth of the matter, is not so firmly established in the law as to require its indiscriminate application in all cases, but whether it is applicable must depend upon the nature of the particular case. 55 Advanced age, 56 or a surgical operation resulting in the cessation of the power to procreate, 57 has been frequently considered as the primary factor in determining that the evidence was sufficient to rebut such presumption.

There is authority to the effect that while the presumption of the possibility of issue may be rebuttable as far as women are concerned, it is not rebuttable as to a man. 58 Currently, however, the rebuttability of the presumption of the possibility of issue as to a man has been gaining recognition. 59 Evidence of a physical condition showing the lack of the power to procreate has been held sufficient to rebut the presumption. 60

Footnotes

Footnote 52. Farrington v Commissioner (CA1) 30 F2d 915, 1 USTC ¶ 370, 7 AFTR 8510, 67 ALR 535, cert den 279 US 873, 73 L Ed 1008, 49 S Ct 513; Willimantic Investors, Inc. v Covell, 147 Conn 34, 156 A2d 473; P v Wilmington Trust Co., 41 Del Ch 109, 188 A2d 361; Byers v Beddow, 106 Fla 166, 142 So 894; Landrum v National City Bank, 210 Ga 316, 80 SE2d 300; Burrell v Jean, 196 Ind 187, 146 NE 754; Brown v Owsley, 198 Ky 344, 248 SW 889; Marty v First Nat. Bank, 209 Md 210, 120 A2d 841; Schumacher v Howard Sav. Inst., 126 NJ Eq 325, 8 A2d 908; Re Lawton's Estate, 231 App Div 406, 248 NYS 110; Griffin v Springer, 244 NC 95, 92 SE2d 682; Re Sterrett's Estate, 300 Pa 116, 150 A 159; Lux v Lux, 109 RI 592, 288 A2d 701; Crockett v Scott, 199 Tenn 90, 284 SW2d 289, 56 ALR2d 442; Donald v Troxell (Tex Civ App Eastland) 346 SW2d 398, writ ref n r e (Oct 18, 1961) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Nov 29, 1961); Tiffany v Thomas, 168 Va 31, 190 SE 101; Betchard v Iverson, 35 Wash 2d 344, 212 P2d 783.

In the absence of any showing to the contrary, it was presumed that a female was capable of bearing children. Fletcher v Hurdle, 259 Ark 640, 536 SW2d 109.

Annotation: Modern status of presumption against possibility of issue being extinct, 98 ALR2d 1285.

Footnote 53. Chase Nat. Bank v Guthrie, 139 Conn 178, 90 A2d 643; Landrum v National City Bank, 210 Ga 316, 80 SE2d 300; Betchard v Iverson, 35 Wash 2d 344, 212 P2d 783.

Footnote 54. United States v Provident Trust Co., 291 US 272, 78 L Ed 793, 54 S Ct 389, 4 USTC ¶ 1229, 13 AFTR 861; Korten v Chicago City Bank & Trust Co. (1st Dist) 178 Ill App 3d 397, 127 Ill Dec 484, 533 NE2d 102 (under the theory that once evidence is introduced contrary to the presumption, the bubble bursts and the presumption vanishes, if evidence is introduced showing that it is contrary to the presumption that a woman is still capable of bearing children, the presumption vanishes); Re Bassett's Estate, 104 NH 504, 190 A2d 415, 98 ALR2d 1281; Re Will of Lattouf, 87 NJ Super 137, 208 A2d 411.

The Restatement of Property § 274 states four instances in which the presumption of the possibility of issue is not conclusive: (1) to enable the distribution of an estate or fund; (2) to terminate a trust; (3) to permit specific performance of a contract for the sale of land; and (4) in determining the amount of an estate tax. As to application of the rule against perpetuities, the Restatement of Property § 377 has adopted the traditional view treating the presumption as conclusive. Similar provisions are not contained in Restatement 2d, Property, although Restatement 2d, Property (Donative Transfers) § 1.4, Comment h, adopts a wait and see approach, under which the failure of an interest that may occur as the result of the birth of another child will not occur if another child is not born.

Footnote 55. Commissioner of Corps. & Taxation v Bullard, 313 Mass 72, 46 NE2d 557, 146 ALR 772.

Footnote 56. Korten v Chicago City Bank & Trust Co. (1st Dist) 178 Ill App 3d 397, 127 Ill Dec 484, 533 NE2d 102 (65 and 72-year-old women); Commissioner of Corps. & Taxation v Bullard, 313 Mass 72, 46 NE2d 557, 146 ALR 772 (62-year-old woman); Re Estate of Ransom, 89 NJ Super 224, 214 A2d 521 (72-year-old woman); Lare's Estate, 57 Pa D & C 163 (woman near 70).

Footnote 57. United States v Provident Trust Co., 291 US 272, 78 L Ed 793, 54 S Ct 389, 4 USTC ¶ 1229, 13 AFTR 861; Citizens Nat. Bank v Longshore (Miss) 304 So 2d 287; Re Will of Lattouf, 87 NJ Super 137, 208 A2d 411; Hicks v Hicks, 259 NC 387, 130 SE2d 666.

Footnote 58. Owings v Owings (Ky) 247 SW2d 221.

Footnote 59. Re Bassett's Estate, 104 NH 504, 190 A2d 415, 98 ALR2d 1281; Kelby Estate, 80 Pa D & C 1.

In Hamilton Nat. Bank v United States (ED Tenn) 236 F Supp 1005, 65-2 USTC ¶ 12319, 15 AFTR 2d 1373, affd (CA6 Tenn) 367 F2d 554, 66-2 USTC ¶ 12430, 18 AFTR 2d 6290, it was held that a finding that the possibility of a life beneficiary having issue was "so remote as to be negligible" within the meaning of a treasury regulation respecting the possibility that a charitable transfer will not become effective was supported by evidence that a life beneficiary was 54 years old, had been single since his divorce about 30 years previously, had never had children and was unknown to have had any association of any kind with the opposite sex since his divorce, and was described as being dirty, offensive, and an odd character, with a history of ill health and lack of co-operation with medical advisers.

Footnote 60. Kelby Estate, 80 Pa D & C 1 (man was impotent and sterile).

§ 233 Custody; primary caretaker preference

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In awarding child custody, some states recognize a presumption that the best interests of the child, particularly one of tender years, would be served by awarding custody to the parent that was the primary caretaker. 61 Under the primary caretaker presumption, the court must determine whether the primary caretaker is a fit parent, that is, whether he or she achieves a minimum objective standard of behavior which qualifies him or her as a fit parent. 62

The primary caretaker analysis replaces the common-law presumption that, at least as to children of tender years, usually below the age of five, a preference should be afforded to the mother. 63

Footnotes

Footnote 61. Sefkow v Sefkow (Minn) 427 NW2d 203; David M. v Margaret M., 182 W Va 57, 385 SE2d 912.

Footnote 62. Stacy v Stacy (W Va) 332 SE2d 260.

Footnote 63. Cochran v Lowe (Ala App) 532 So 2d 1265; Stamm v Stamm (Fla App D5) 489 So 2d 851, 11 FLW 1289; Re Marriage of Mangan (1st Dist) 182 Ill App 3d 140, 130 Ill Dec 631, 537 NE2d 960; Re Marriage of Lacaeyse (Iowa App) 461 NW2d 475; Grubbs v Grubbs, 5 Kan App 2d 694, 623 P2d 546, review den 229 Kan 669; Nicklson v Nicklson (La App 3d Cir) 488 So 2d 375; Linderman v Linderman (Minn App) 364 NW2d 872; Re Marriage of Bell (Mo App) 796 SW2d 130; Bier v Sherrard (Mont) 623 P2d 550; Fleharty v Fleharty, 202 Neb 245, 274 NW2d 871; Arnold v Arnold, 95 Nev 951, 604 P2d 109; Lemay v Lemay, 109 NH 217, 247 A2d 189; Linda R. v Richard E. (App Div, 2d Dept) 561 NYS2d 29, later proceeding (2d Dept) 162 App Div 2d 48, 560 NYS2d 750, later proceeding (App Div, 2d Dept) 560 NYS2d 750; Charles v Charles (Franklin Co) 23 Ohio App 3d 109, 23 Ohio BR 175, 491 NE2d 378; Re Marriage of Van Dyke, 48 Or App 965, 618 P2d 465; Hugo v Hugo, 288 Pa Super 1, 430 A2d 1183; Prentice v Prentice (SD) 322 NW2d 880; Sharp v Sharp (Tex App Dallas) 710 SW2d 696; Visikides v Derr, 3 Va App 69, 348 SE2d 40; Re Marriage of Janovich, 30 Wash App 169, 632 P2d 889; David M. v Margaret M., 182 W Va 57, 385 SE2d 912.

§ 234 Capacity to commit torts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some states may recognize a rebuttable presumption that a child between specified ages was incapable of committing a tort. 64 A few states recognize a rebuttable presumption that children between certain ages, usually between seven and fourteen, are not capable of acting negligently. 65 Most states that say that a child under a specified age is unable to commit negligence as matter of law 66 do not recognize any true presumptions as to whether a child above these specified ages is liable for a negligent tort; the prevailing view is that children above that age may be capable of negligence and that whether a particular child was negligent is a question of fact. 67 Occasionally, a child's noncompliance with the law raises a rebuttable presumption of negligence, so that the child has the burden of showing that he exercised the standard of care reasonably expected of a child of like age, experience, education, and intelligence. 68

Footnotes

Footnote 64. Faia v Landry (La App 4th Cir) 249 So 2d 317 (child between the ages of seven and ten years presumed incapable of committing a tortious act).

Footnote 65. Kurowsky v Deutsch (Ind) 533 NE2d 1210 (between seven and fourteen); Willoughby v Stilz (Ky) 387 SW2d 10 (acknowledging the presumption for children between the ages of seven and fourteen years where a nine-year-old plaintiff struck by a car was held accountable for his contributory negligence while crossing the street on the red light); Dunn v Teti, 280 Pa Super 399, 421 A2d 782; Prater v Burns (Tenn App) 525 SW2d 846.

As to the rule governing the standard of care of a child in a negligence case, see 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 197 et seq. Particular presumptions regarding the capacity of a young child to commit a tort are discussed in 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 968 et seq.

Footnote 66. 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence § 963.

Footnote 67. Seaburg v Williams (2d Dist) 23 Ill App 2d 25, 161 NE2d 576; Peterson v Taylor (Iowa) 316 NW2d 869 (ovrld on other grounds by Goetzman v Wichern (Iowa) 327 NW2d 742); American Family Mut. Ins. Co. v Grim, 201 Kan 340, 440 P2d 621; Camerlinck v Thomas, 209 Neb 843, 312 NW2d 260, 27 ALR4th 1; Deliso v Cangialosi, 117 Misc 2d 105, 457 NYS2d 396, affd (Sup App T) 124 Misc 2d 822, 480 NYS2d 315; Federer v Davis (Okla) 434 P2d 197; Thomas v Inman, 282 Or 279, 578 P2d 399.

Footnote 68. Kurowsky v Deutsch (Ind) 533 NE2d 1210.

§ 235 --Contributory negligence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A child below some certain age is conclusively presumed incapable of contributory negligence. 69 A few states recognize a rebuttable presumption of incapacity for children between certain ages. 70

Footnotes

Footnote 69. Wagh v Duke Corp. (MD NC) 248 F Supp 626; Chambers v United States (SD Tex) 656 F Supp 1447; English v 1st Augusta, Ltd. (SD Ga) 614 F Supp 1406; Mort v Walter, 98 Ill 2d 391, 75 Ill Dec 228, 457 NE2d 18; McFarland v Industrial Helicopters, Inc. (La App 3d Cir) 502 So 2d 593; Hampton v Hammons (Okla) 743 P2d 1053.

Annotation: Modern trends as to contributory negligence of children, 32 ALR4th 56.

Contributory negligence of child injured while climbing over or through railroad train blocking crossing, 11 ALR3d 1168.

Footnote 70. Smith v Bradford (Ala) 475 So 2d 526, later proceeding (Ala) 512 So 2d 50; Matthews v State Farm Fire & Casualty Ins. Co. (La App 3d Cir) 550 So 2d 936; Learue v State (Tenn App) 757 SW2d 3.

3. Relating to Criminal Law or Proceedings [236-242]

§ 236 Presumption of innocence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption of innocence has been described as that axiomatic and elementary principle whose enforcement lies at the foundation of the administration of our criminal law. ⁷¹ But it is not a presumption at all in the legal sense; the term presumption of innocence is merely an inaccurate, shorthand description of the right of the criminal defendant to remain inactive and secure, until the prosecution has taken up its burden and produced evidence. ⁷² It is not evidence, but merely determines the burden of proof. ⁷³

The presumption of innocence may also arise in civil cases where the commission of a crime comes collaterally into question, in which case the law presumes, until the contrary is shown, that a criminal offense was not committed. ⁷⁴ However, in a civil case, this presumption controls only to the point that it is overcome by the preponderance of the evidence. ⁷⁵

Footnotes

Footnote 71. Re Winship, 397 US 358, 25 L Ed 2d 368, 90 S Ct 1068, 51 Ohio Ops 2d 323, conformed to 27 NY2d 728, 314 NYS2d 536, 262 NE2d 675 and (criticized on other grounds by Patterson v New York, 432 US 197, 53 L Ed 2d 281, 97 S Ct 2319) as stated in State v Krantz, 241 Mont 501, 788 P2d 298, cert den 498 US 938, 112 L Ed 2d 306, 111 S Ct 341.

As to jury instructions on the presumption of innocence, see 75B Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 1297 et seq.

Forms: Instruction—Presumption of innocence. 8 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Criminal Procedure, Form 356; 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed 20:931.

Footnote 72. Taylor v Kentucky, 436 US 478, 56 L Ed 2d 468, 98 S Ct 1930.

Law Reviews: Fox, The "Presumption of Innocence" as Constitutional Doctrine, 28 Cath U L Rev 253, 258-262 (1979).

Footnote 73. Holt v United States, 218 US 245, 54 L Ed 1021, 31 S Ct 2; United States v Nimerick (CA2 Vt) 118 F2d 464, 152 ALR 620, cert den 313 US 592, 85 L Ed 1546, 61 S Ct 1117; Re Mayberry, 295 Mass 155, 3 NE2d 248, 105 ALR 976; White v Philadelphia, 197 Miss 166, 19 So 2d 493, sugg of error overr 197 Miss 178, 19 So 2d 744.

Footnote 74. Southern Pacific Co. v Schuyler, 227 US 601, 57 L Ed 662, 33 S Ct 277; Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113); Falls v Kamping (Hamilton Co) 105 Ohio App 157, 5 Ohio Ops 2d 430, 144 NE2d 894.

Footnote 75. Kurz v Doerr, 180 NY 88, 72 NE 926.

§ 237 --Effect of exhibiting defendant in prison garb or restraints

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Identifiable prison garb robs an accused of the respect and dignity accorded other participants in a trial and constitutionally due the accused as an element of the presumption of innocence, and tends to brand him in the eyes of the jurors with an unmistakable mark of guilt. 76

The issue of necessary restraints upon a defendant during trial, however, has led to different results. 77 The use of physical restraints has been upheld in the absence of disruptive conduct at trial where the trial court has reason to believe it is necessary to maintain the security of the courtroom, 78 and in appropriate circumstances, the accused's right to the indicia of innocence before the jury must bow to the competing right of participants in the courtroom and society at large. 79

Footnotes

Footnote 76. Estelle v Williams, 425 US 501, 48 L Ed 2d 126, 96 S Ct 1691, reh den 426 US 954, 49 L Ed 2d 1194, 96 S Ct 3182 and on remand (CA5 Tex) 537 F2d 856.

Footnote 77. Illinois v Allen, 397 US 337, 25 L Ed 2d 353, 90 S Ct 1057, 51 Ohio Ops 2d 163, reh den 398 US 915, 26 L Ed 2d 80, 90 S Ct 1684.

Footnote 78. Holbrook v Flynn, 475 US 560, 89 L Ed 2d 525, 106 S Ct 1340, where the Court held that the presence four extra uniformed state troopers sitting in the front row during trial as an extra security measure did not violate the defendant's right to a fair trial; Loux v United States (CA9 Wash) 389 F2d 911, cert den 393 US 867, 21 L Ed 2d 135, 89 S Ct 151 and cert den 393 US 869, 21 L Ed 2d 138, 89 S Ct 156; Woodard v Perrin (CA1 NH) 692 F2d 220 (no abuse of discretion by the trial judge to have defendant shackled during trial where there were extensive pretrial hearings to decide whether the defendant would restrain himself during the trial and had grossly misbehaved earlier in the week); Payne v Smith (CA6 Ky) 667 F2d 541, cert den 456 US 932, 72 L Ed 2d 449, 102 S Ct 1983 (held no error where judge remarked to sheriff that defendants should consider themselves in custody); Harrell v Israel (CA7 Wis) 672 F2d 632 (use of shackles on defendant and his witnesses not error where the judge made great efforts to be sure jury did not see the restraints); State v Woolcock, 201 Conn 605, 518 A2d 1377, habeas corpus proceeding (Conn Super) 1990 Conn Super LEXIS 1104 (shackling defendant not error where trial judge found him to be a security risk), People v Cox, 53 Cal 3d 618, 280 Cal Rptr 692, 809 P2d 351, 91 CDOS 3261, 91 Daily Journal DAR 5280, reh den (Cal) 1991 Cal LEXIS 2899 and stay gr (Cal) 1991 Cal LEXIS 5363 and cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 114, 112 S Ct 945 (shackling defendant during trial not error where judge took precautions that restraints not be seen even though it was an abuse of discretion to have defendant restrained).

But shackling the defendant was error upon consideration of the whole record, which reflected that he was seen in restraints by the jurors and the defendant's guilt presented a close question. Dickson v State, 108 Nev 1, 822 P2d 1122.

Footnote 79. Harrell v Israel (CA7 Wis) 672 F2d 632.

§ 238 Capacity of children to commit crime

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A child under the age of seven years is presumed to lack the capacity to commit a criminal offense. 80

At common law, a child between the ages of seven and fourteen years was presumed to lack the capacity to form mens rea, the mental element of crime. 81 This presumption could be rebutted by evidence tending to show capacity. 82

Occasionally the presumed incapacity was physical; for example, common law presumed that a male between age seven and fourteen was incapable of committing rape, acknowledging a presumption that could be rebutted with proof that the child had reached puberty. 83 The modern trend is to reject the presumption of incapacity in sexual assault cases, requiring the state to prove capacity beyond a reasonable doubt once the defendant, of whatever age, introduces minimal evidence of incapacity. 84

Footnotes

Footnote 80. Re Gault, 387 US 1, 18 L Ed 2d 527, 87 S Ct 1428, 40 Ohio Ops 2d 378 (criticized on other grounds by Allen v Illinois, 478 US 364, 92 L Ed 2d 296, 106 S Ct 2988); Gammons v Berlat, 144 Ariz 148, 696 P2d 700; Re William A., 313 Md 690, 548 A2d 130, 83 ALR4th 1125; Re M., 91 Misc 2d 813, 398 NYS2d 824.

Footnote 81. Gammons v Berlat, 144 Ariz 148, 696 P2d 700; In re Billie Y. (5th Dist) 220 Cal App 3d 127, 269 Cal Rptr 212, review den (disapproved on other grounds by In re Manuel L., 7 Cal 4th 229, 94 CDOS 751, 94 Daily Journal DAR 1238); Re William A., 313 Md 690, 548 A2d 130, 83 ALR4th 1125; Re M., 91 Misc 2d 813, 398 NYS2d 824; State v Q.D., 102 Wash 2d 19, 685 P2d 557.

Footnote 82. Re Gault, 387 US 1, 18 L Ed 2d 527, 87 S Ct 1428, 40 Ohio Ops 2d 378

(criticized on other grounds by Allen v Illinois, 478 US 364, 92 L Ed 2d 296, 106 S Ct 2988); Gammons v Berlat, 144 Ariz 148, 696 P2d 700; In re Billie Y. (5th Dist) 220 Cal App 3d 127, 269 Cal Rptr 212, review den (disapproved on other grounds by In re Manuel L., 7 Cal 4th 229, 94 CDOS 751, 94 Daily Journal DAR 1238); Re William A., 313 Md 690, 548 A2d 130, 83 ALR4th 1125; State v Barrette (RI) 554 A2d 1045.

Footnote 83. State v Barrette (RI) 554 A2d 1045.

Footnote 84. In Interest of Dow (1st Dist) 75 Ill App 3d 1002, 31 Ill Dec 39, 393 NE2d 1346; State v Danny A. (Me) 536 A2d 1136; State ex rel. Juvenile Dept. of Deschutes County v Merritt, 83 Or App 378, 732 P2d 46 (rejecting both the conclusive and rebuttable presumptions of physical incapacity, and holding that the physical incapacity of a male under the age of fourteen, as with any other claim of impotence, was a matter of defense.

Annotation: Impotency as defense to charge of rape, attempt to rape, or assault with intent to commit rape, 23 ALR3d 1351.

§ 239 Intent to distribute drugs based on quantity possessed

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Some statutes include a provision that possession of more than a specified quantity of certain drugs creates a presumption that the defendant intended to distribute them. 85 As with any criminal presumption, the prosecutor must satisfy its burden of persuasion as to the basic fact—possession. 86 Moreover, the presumption must satisfy the rational connection test. 87 Application of the test in this context depends both upon the quantity specified in the statute, and the facts of the case, including the quantity actually possessed by the defendant. Several courts have upheld presumptions specifying comparatively small quantities of marijuana, 88 although other courts have held otherwise. 89 By contrast, given their high cost and potency, there clearly is a rational connection between possession and intent to distribute of even a few grams of heroin, cocaine, and other controlled substances. 90

Even in the absence of a statutory presumption, the principle is well established that intent to sell may be inferred from the quantity of drugs possessed. 91

Possession of comparatively small quantities, however, will not support the inference of intent to distribute. 92

§ 239 ----Intent to distribute drugs based on quantity possessed [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Court did not err in using total quantity of cocaine seized rather than quantity found on defendant in calculating defendant's offense level where evidence indicated defendant had access to cocaine in co- defendants' apartment, hence defendant could have reasonably foreseen amount of drugs involved in jointly undertaken criminal activity. Ramey v United States (1993, CA8 Mo) 8 F3d 1313, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 33962.

Footnotes

Footnote 85. Lockwood v State, 257 Ga 796, 364 SE2d 574, on remand 186 Ga App 223, 367 SE2d 887 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Christopher v State, 190 Ga App 393, 379 SE2d 205) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in McCrief v State, 260 Ga 87, 390 SE2d 32) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in White v State, 196 Ga App 813, 397 SE2d 299).

Annotation: Validity and construction of statute creating presumption or inference of intent to sell from possession of specified quantity of illegal drugs, 60 ALR3d 1128.

Footnote 86. Lockwood v State, 257 Ga 796, 364 SE2d 574, on remand 186 Ga App 223, 367 SE2d 887 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Christopher v State, 190 Ga App 393, 379 SE2d 205) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in McCrief v State, 260 Ga 87, 390 SE2d 32) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in White v State, 196 Ga App 813, 397 SE2d 299).

Footnote 87. § 191.

Footnote 88. State v Garcia, 16 NC App 344, 192 SE2d 2, 60 ALR3d 1123, cert den 282 NC 427, 192 SE2d 837 (upholding a statutory presumption that possession of 5 grams—less than one-fifth of an ounce—was presumptive evidence of intent to distribute); State v Birdwell, 6 Wash App 284, 492 P2d 249, review den 80 Wash 2d 1009 and cert den and app dismd 409 US 973, 34 L Ed 2d 237, 93 S Ct 346 (possession of more than 40 grams was more likely than not with intent to sell).

Footnote 89. People v Serra, 55 Mich App 514, 223 NW2d 28 (ovrld on other grounds by People v Gallagher, 68 Mich App 63, 241 NW2d 759) and (disapproved on other grounds by People v Gallagher, 404 Mich 429, 273 NW2d 440) (a statutory presumption that possession of more than 2 ounces of marijuana created prima facie case of possession with intent to deliver violated the due process clauses of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments of United States Constitution; there was no rational connection between proven fact, possession of 2 ounces of marijuana, and presumed fact, intent to deliver, in light of today's common experience).

Footnote 90. Traylor v State (Del Sup) 458 A2d 1170 (a statute, which included in its prohibition of drug "trafficking," actual or constructive possession of eight grams or more of any morphine derivative including heroin, was not invalid on the basis that it created a rebuttable presumption that anyone possessing such quantity of heroin mixture was engaged in trafficking drug).

Footnote 91. United States v Rush (CA1 Me) 738 F2d 497, cert den 470 US 1004, 84 L Ed 2d 378, 105 S Ct 1355, reh den 471 US 1120, 86 L Ed 2d 269, 105 S Ct 2370; United States v Edwards (CA1 Mass) 602 F2d 458; United States v Tussa (CA2 NY) 816 F2d 58, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1415, later proceeding (ED NY) 723 F Supp 888; United States v Gaviria (CA2 NY) 740 F2d 174; United States v Forrest (ED Pa) 434 F Supp 1131, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 573 F2d 1302; United States v Seni (CA4 NC) 662 F2d 277, cert den 455 US 950, 71 L Ed 2d 664, 102 S Ct 1453; United States v Laughman (CA4 SC) 618 F2d 1067, cert den 447 US 925, 65 L Ed 2d 1117, 100 S Ct 3018; United States v Romero-Reyna (CA5 Tex) 867 F2d 834, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 889 F2d 559, cert den 494 US 1084, 108 L Ed 2d 948, 110 S Ct 1818; United States v Hernandez-Beltran (CA5 Tex) 867 F2d 224, cert den 490 US 1094, 104 L Ed 2d 995, 109 S Ct 2439; United States v Williams-Hendricks (CA5 Tex) 805 F2d 496, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 808 F2d 56; United States v Del Aguila-Reyes (CA5 Tex) 722 F2d 155; United States v Mendoza (CA5 La) 722 F2d 96, reh den (CA5 La) 727 F2d 448; United States v Freeze (CA5 Tex) 707 F2d 132; United States v Borchardt (CA5 Tex) 698 F2d 697, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 613; United States v Dreyfus-De Campos (CA5 Tex) 698 F2d 227, cert den 461 US 937, 77 L Ed 2d 312, 103 S Ct 2107 and cert den 461 US 947, 77 L Ed 2d 1306, 103 S Ct 2128 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Jackson (CA5 Tex) 825 F2d 853, 94 ALR Fed 327); United States v Kloock (CA5 Fla) 652 F2d 492, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1110; United States v Mazyak (CA5 Fla) 650 F2d 788, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1288, cert den 455 US 922, 71 L Ed 2d 464, 102 S Ct 1281 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Michelena-Orovio (CA5 La) 702 F2d 496, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1794); United States v De Leon (CA5 Tex) 641 F2d 330; United States v Richards (CA5 Fla) 638 F2d 765, reh den (CA5 Fla) 646 F2d 962 and cert den 454 US 1097, 70 L Ed 2d 638, 102 S Ct 669, post-conviction proceeding (CA11 Fla) 837 F2d 965 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Garcia (CA11 Fla) 672 F2d 1349, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 359); United States v Goldstein (CA5 Fla) 635 F2d 356, reh den (CA5 Fla) 640 F2d 385 and cert den 452 US 962, 69 L Ed 2d 972, 101 S Ct 3111 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Beale (CA9 Cal) 674 F2d 1327) and (criticized on other grounds by Horton v Goose Creek Independent School Dist. (CA5 Tex) 677 F2d 471, 34 FR Serv 2d 221); United States v Grayson (CA5 Fla) 625 F2d 66; United States v Butler (CA5 Ga) 611 F2d 1066, reh den (CA5 Ga) 615 F2d 685 and cert den 449 US 830, 66 L Ed 2d 35, 101 S Ct 97; United States v Cortez (CA5 Tex) 521 F2d 1; United States v Mather (CA5 Fla) 465 F2d 1035, cert den 409 US 1085, 34 L Ed 2d 672, 93 S Ct 685; Norristown-Penn Trust Co. v Cole (CA5 Tex) 80 F2d 888, cert den 297 US 723, 80 L Ed 1007, 56 S Ct 670; United States v Wilson (SD Tex) 432 F Supp 223, affd on other grounds (CA5 Tex) 553 F2d 896; United States v Giles (CA6 Mich) 536 F2d 136; United States v Garza-Hernandez (CA7 Ill) 623 F2d 496; United States v Washington (CA7 Ill) 586 F2d 1147 (criticized on other grounds by United States v Brock (CA9 Or) 667 F2d 1311, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1686, 70 ALR Fed 721); United States v Nocar (CA7 Ill) 497 F2d 719, cert den 419 US 1038, 42 L Ed 2d 315, 95 S Ct 526; United States v Garrett (ND Ill) 712 F Supp 1327, affd (CA7 Ill) 903 F2d 1105, cert den 498 US 905, 112 L Ed 2d 227, 111 S Ct 272; United States v Wood (CA8 Mo) 851 F2d 185, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45; United States v Brischetto (CA8 Mo) 538 F2d 208; United States v Mora (CA9 Cal) 876 F2d 76; United States v Espinosa (CA9 Cal) 827 F2d 604, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 963, cert den 485 US 968, 99 L Ed 2d 441, 108 S Ct 1243; United States v Daniels (CA9) 549 F2d 665; United States v Pirolli (CA11 Fla) 742 F2d 1382, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1347, cert den 471 US 1067, 85 L Ed 2d 500, 105 S Ct 2143; Valle v State (Ind) 550 NE2d 746 (possession of 112.3 grams of unusually pure cocaine supported the inference of intent to deal).

But see United States v Manbeck (CA4 SC) 744 F2d 360, cert den 469 US 1217, 84 L Ed 2d 342, 105 S Ct 1197 and (criticized by United States v Wright-Barker (CA3 NJ) 784 F2d 161) which stated that the inference that a person possessing a large quantity of marijuana intends to distribute it is well recognized, but is not applicable where crew members of a boat are charged with both conspiracy to import and conspiracy to distribute; the only supportable inference was that the crew members' knowledge of the presence of the drugs may be inferred from the large quantity on board, and that such inference supported convictions for joining a conspiracy to import; the large quantity indicated that someone planned to distribute the marijuana, but not whether the crewmembers did).

Annotation: Sufficiency of evidence that possessor of controlled substance other than cocaine, heroin, or marijuana had intent to distribute it, so as to violate 21 USCS § 841(a)(1), 80 ALR Fed 507.

Sufficiency of evidence that possessor of cocaine had intent to distribute it, so as to violate 21 USCS § 841(a)(1), 80 ALR Fed 397.

Sufficiency of evidence that possessor of marijuana had intent to distribute it, so as to violate 21 USCS § 841(a)(1), 79 ALR Fed 113.

Sufficiency of evidence that possessor of heroin had intent to distribute it, so as to violate 21 USCS § 841(a)(1), 78 ALR Fed 413.

Footnote 92. Turner v United States, 396 US 398, 24 L Ed 2d 610, 90 S Ct 642, reh den 397 US 958, 25 L Ed 2d 144, 90 S Ct 939 and (not followed on other grounds by James v People (Colo) 727 P2d 850); United States v Latham (CA1 Me) 874 F2d 852; United States v Gaviria (CA2 NY) 740 F2d 174; United States v Clark (CA2 NY) 475 F2d 240, appeal after remand (CA2 NY) 498 F2d 535; United States v Moses (WD Pa) 360 F Supp 301; United States v Olvera (CA5 Tex) 523 F2d 1252; United States v Clayborn (WD Tex) 383 F Supp 1186; United States v Owens (WD Tex) 344 F Supp 1355, affd on other grounds (CA5 Tex) 475 F2d 759; Jackson v Wyrick (CA8 Mo) 730 F2d 1177, cert den 469 US 849, 83 L Ed 2d 102, 105 S Ct 167; United States v Franklin (CA8 Mo) 728 F2d 994, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 174, 80 ALR Fed 385; United States v Martin (CA9 Cal) 599 F2d 880, cert den 441 US 962, 60 L Ed 2d 1067, 99 S Ct 2407, 99 S Ct 2408 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v De Bright (CA9 Ariz) 710 F2d 1404) and (ovrld on other grounds by United States v De Bright (CA9 Ariz) 730 F2d 1255) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Binkley (CA7 Ill) 903 F2d 1130, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 543); United States v Brown (CA11 Fla) 872 F2d 385, cert den 493 US 898, 107 L Ed 2d 203, 110 S Ct 253; United States v Walker, 146 US App DC 95, 449 F2d 1171.

§ 240 Alcohol tests—presumption of impairment

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

State statutes that make it a crime to operate a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol create a presumption that a person whose test reveals more than the statutorily permitted concentration of alcohol is in fact impaired or intoxicated. 93 It is, generally speaking, unconstitutional to treat such provisions as creating a mandatory presumption,

94 but it is permissible to treat them as creating a permissible inference. 95 Other states take a second approach which more straightforwardly makes it a crime for a person to drive while having a concentration of alcohol in his system in excess of the permitted percent. 96 Such a statute does not presume a defendant having the specified blood-alcohol concentration is impaired or intoxicated; hence, it can not violate due process rules governing presumptions. 97

Such statutes might be said, however, to establish the subsidiary presumption that if a defendant had a specified percent blood alcohol level at the time the test was performed, he also had at least that level at the time he was driving the vehicle; assuming the statute requires the test to be taken fairly soon after the defendant is stopped, however, this is no bar to constitutionality. 98

Nor do such statutes impermissibly shift the burden of proof to the defendant. 99

§ 240 ----Alcohol tests--presumption of impairment [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Driving Under the Influence: Tactical Considerations in Sobriety Checkpoint Cases. 59 Am Jur Trials 79.

Footnotes

Footnote 93. Uniform Chemical Test for Intoxication Act, which provides that if a chemical analysis shows there was 0.05 percent or less by weight of alcohol in a person's blood, such fact is prima facie evidence that the person was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor; if the amount was in excess of 0.05 percent but less than 0.15 percent by weight of alcohol, such evidence is relevant but is not to be given prima facie effect in indicating whether the person was under the influence of intoxicating liquor; and if evidence discloses that there was, at that time, 0.15 percent or more by weight of alcohol, such evidence shall be admitted as prima facie evidence that the person was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Footnote 94. Ethridge v State, 9 Ark App 111, 654 SW2d 595; Busch v State (Fla App D4) 547 So 2d 245, 14 FLW 1719, review den (Fla) 560 So 2d 232; Commonwealth v Moreira, 385 Mass 792, 434 NE2d 196; Olympia v Sprout, 5 Wash App 897, 492 P2d 586.

Annotation: Construction and application of statutes creating presumption or other inference of intoxication from specified percentages of alcohol present in system, 16 ALR3d 748.

Validity of legislation creating presumption of intoxication or the like from presence of specified percentage of alcohol in blood, 46 ALR2d 1176.

Footnote 95. State v Tollefson, 239 Mont 305, 780 P2d 621, cert den 495 US 918, 109 L Ed 2d 309, 110 S Ct 1946 (a statutory presumption that a person with an alcohol concentration of 0.10 or more was under influence of alcohol created a permissive inference rather than relieving state from being required to prove every element of case beyond reasonable doubt and was thus constitutional); State v Ball, 164 W Va 588, 264

SE2d 844 (a statute providing that one tenth of one percent or more, by weight, of blood-alcohol in defendant's system would be admitted as prima facie evidence of intoxication was not unconstitutional).

Footnote 96. Coxe v State (Del Sup) 281 A2d 606.

Annotation: Validity, construction, and application of statutes directly proscribing driving with blood-alcohol level in excess of established percentage, 54 ALR4th 149.

Law Reviews: Driving with 0.10% Blood Alcohol: Can the State Prove It? 16 U San Fran L Rev 817 (Summer 1983).

Footnote 97. State v Lujan (App) 139 Ariz 236, 677 P2d 1344; Tausch v State, 285 Ark 226, 685 SW2d 802; People v Lewis (4th Dist) 148 Cal App 3d 614, 196 Cal Rptr 161; Coxe v State (Del Sup) 281 A2d 606; Cunningham v State, 255 Ga 35, 334 SE2d 656; People v Ziltz, 98 Ill 2d 38, 74 Ill Dec 40, 455 NE2d 70; State v Conner (Iowa App) 377 NW2d 664; State v Larson, 12 Kan App 2d 198, 737 P2d 880, later proceeding (Kan App) 1988 Kan App LEXIS 279; State v Marble (Minn App) 396 NW2d 708; State v Tischio, 208 NJ Super 343, 506 A2d 14, cert den 104 NJ 420, 517 A2d 416, reconsideration gr 105 NJ 518, 523 A2d 163 and affd 107 NJ 504, 527 A2d 388, app dismd 484 US 1038, 98 L Ed 2d 855, 108 S Ct 768; People v Lebron (Sup App T) 130 Misc 2d 831, 501 NYS2d 975; State v Howren, 312 NC 454, 323 SE2d 335; State v Tanner, 15 Ohio St 3d 1, 15 Ohio BR 1, 472 NE2d 689, 54 ALR4th 139; State v Evans (Portage Co) 21 Ohio App 3d 169, 21 Ohio BR 180, 486 NE2d 1248; State v Clark, 286 Or 33, 593 P2d 123; Commonwealth v Hernandez, 339 Pa Super 32, 488 A2d 293; Scherlie v State (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 689 SW2d 294, petition for discretionary review gr (Jan 29, 1986) and affd (Tex Crim) 715 SW2d 653.

Footnote 98. Chilcutt v State (Ind App) 544 NE2d 856.

Footnote 99. Doty v State, 285 Ark 270, 686 SW2d 413; People v Ziltz, 98 Ill 2d 38, 74 Ill Dec 40, 455 NE2d 70; Chilcutt v State (Ind App) 544 NE2d 856 (among conflicting authorities noted in Sturgeon v State (Ind App) 575 NE2d 679, which held that a jury instruction tracking the language of such a statute without an advisement that the jury was free to accept or reject the presumption if the defendant did not come forward with evidence to rebut it, did compel the trier of fact to find the presumed fact of blood alcohol content at the time of vehicle operation, which under the facts of the case resulted in reversible error); State v Marble (Minn App) 396 NW2d 708; Commonwealth v Hernandez, 339 Pa Super 32, 488 A2d 293; Scherlie v State (Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 689 SW2d 294, petition for discretionary review gr (Jan 29, 1986) and affd (Tex Crim) 715 SW2d 653.

§ 241 Possession of stolen property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Possession of recently stolen property, if not satisfactorily explained, is ordinarily a circumstance from which the factfinder may reasonably draw the inference that the person in possession knew the property had been stolen. 1

A properly worded instruction on this inference does not constitute a comment on the defendant's failure to testify, and therefore does not violate the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination. 2 An instruction that "intent to commit theft is presumed" unless otherwise explained, however, violates due process and cannot be harmless error. 3

Footnotes

Footnote 1. Barnes v United States, 412 US 837, 37 L Ed 2d 380, 93 S Ct 2357; People v Roder, 33 Cal 3d 491, 189 Cal Rptr 501, 658 P2d 1302; State v Anonymous, 190 Conn 715, 463 A2d 533; Winborne v State (Del Sup) 455 A2d 357; Williamson v State, 248 Ga 47, 281 SE2d 512; Ward v State (Ind) 439 NE2d 156; State v Atkinson, 215 Kan 139, 523 P2d 737; Bush v State (Tenn) 541 SW2d 391.

Annotation: Presumptions and inferences arising in Prosecutions under National Motor Vehicle Theft Act (Dyer Act) (18 USCS §§ 2312, 2313) from unexplained possession of stolen motor vehicle, 15 ALR Fed 856.

Footnote 2. Barnes v United States, 412 US 837, 37 L Ed 2d 380, 93 S Ct 2357; United States v Johnson, 140 US App DC 54, 433 F2d 1160; State v Dixon (App) 127 Ariz 554, 622 P2d 501; Wells v People, 197 Colo 350, 592 P2d 1321; State v Young (Fla) 217 So 2d 567, cert den 396 US 853, 24 L Ed 2d 101, 90 S Ct 112; Weldon v Barnes, 251 Ga 689, 309 SE2d 137; People v Housby, 84 Ill 2d 415, 50 Ill Dec 834, 420 NE2d 151, cert den 454 US 845, 70 L Ed 2d 131, 102 S Ct 160; Luman v State (Okla Crim) 626 P2d 869.

Annotation: Modern status: instruction allowing presumption or inference of guilt from possession of recently stolen property as violation of defendant's privilege against self-incrimination, 88 ALR3d 1178.

Footnote 3. Carella v California, 491 US 263, 105 L Ed 2d 218, 109 S Ct 2419, reh den 492 US 937, 106 L Ed 2d 636, 110 S Ct 23; Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965 (criticized on other grounds by Estelle v McGuire (US) 116 L Ed 2d 385, 112 S Ct 475, 91 Daily Journal DAR 14785, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305) as stated in People v Clair, 2 Cal 4th 629, 7 Cal Rptr 2d 564, 828 P2d 705, 92 CDOS 3966, 92 Daily Journal DAR 6358, reh den (Cal) 1992 Cal LEXIS 3179 and stay gr (Cal) 1992 Cal LEXIS 4259 and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 155, 113 S Ct 1006; Sandstrom v Montana, 442 US 510, 61 L Ed 2d 39, 99 S Ct 2450, on remand 184 Mont 391, 603 P2d 244 and (criticized on other grounds by Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965) as stated in Myrick v Maschner (CA10 Kan) 799 F2d 642.

§ 242 Presumption that witnesses tell truth

View Entire Section

An instruction to the jury that the law presumes that every witness is telling the truth conflicts with the prosecution's burden to prove defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. 4 Although improper, the instruction may not require a court to set aside a conviction on due process grounds as long as the rest of the jury instructions undo the damage by emphasizing the prosecution's burden. 5

◆ Caution: It is uncertain whether this tolerance survives the case dealing with the prosecution's burden to prove defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt on all issues. 6

A related instruction, that it is the jury's duty to reconcile, if possible, conflicts between different witnesses' testimony, but that if such reconciliation is not possible the jury must decide which witnesses are to be believed, does not constitute an improper presumption of truth instruction. 7

Footnotes

Footnote 4. Cupp v Naughten, 414 US 141, 38 L Ed 2d 368, 94 S Ct 396, on remand (CA9 Or) 489 F2d 734 and (ovrld on other grounds by Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965) as stated in Lakes v Ford (CA11 Ga) 779 F2d 1578.

Annotation: Propriety and prejudicial effect of instruction, in federal criminal trial, that witnesses are presumed to tell the truth, 8 ALR Fed 319.

Footnote 5. Cupp v Naughten, 414 US 141, 38 L Ed 2d 368, 94 S Ct 396, on remand (CA9 Or) 489 F2d 734 and (ovrld on other grounds by Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965) as stated in Lakes v Ford (CA11 Ga) 779 F2d 1578.

Footnote 6. County Court of Ulster County v Allen, 442 US 140, 60 L Ed 2d 777, 99 S Ct 2213, discussed in § 192.

Footnote 7. United States v Hyman (CA7 Ind) 741 F2d 906, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 87.

4. Nonproduction, Suppression, or Fabrication of Evidence [243-257]

a. In General [243-246]

§ 243 Fabrication of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The fabrication of evidence raises a presumption or inference that the supposed cause of action or defense of the party guilty of fabrication is without substantial foundation. 8 A party's attempt to procure false testimony or to corrupt a witness, though collateral to the issues, is competent as an admission by acts and conduct that the party's case is weak and its evidence dishonest. 9 However, such presumption or inference may be overcome by evidence giving a satisfactory explanation, even when there is actual tampering with the evidence. 10 Such presumption or inference cannot prevail where the other evidence in the case establishes the cause of action or the defense. 11

Footnotes

Footnote 8. Silva v Northern California Power Co., 32 Cal App 139, 162 P 412; Kuhnen v Kuhnen, 351 Ill 591, 184 NE 874; Nowack v Metropolitan S. R. Co., 166 NY 433, 60 NE 32; Western States Grocery Co. v Mirt, 190 Okla 299, 123 P2d 266; Hall v Pennsylvania R. Co., 257 Pa 54, 100 A 1035.

In Lubin v Lubin (2nd Dist) 144 Cal App 2d 781, 302 P2d 49, it was said that the fact that one testifies falsely may, and usually does, afford an inference that he or she is concealing the truth, but it does not reveal the truth itself or warrant an inference that the truth is the direct converse of the rejected testimony.

The representative character of an executrix will not prevent evidence that she has attempted to procure false testimony, especially when she is personally interested in the litigation. McHugh v McHugh, 186 Pa 197, 40 A 410.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) §§ 86, 87.

Footnote 9. People v Davis, 43 NY2d 17, 400 NYS2d 735, 371 NE2d 456, cert den 435 US 998, 56 L Ed 2d 88, 98 S Ct 1653 and cert den 438 US 914, 57 L Ed 2d 1160, 98 S Ct 3143.

Annotation: Admissibility and effect, on issue of party's credibility or merits of his case, of evidence of attempts to intimidate or influence witness in civil action, 4 ALR4th 829.

Footnote 10. Wong v Swier (CA9 Wash) 267 F2d 749.

Footnote 11. Kuhnen v Kuhnen, 351 Ill 591, 184 NE 874.

§ 244 Destruction or spoliation of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

It is a general rule that the intentional spoliation or destruction of evidence relevant to a case raises a presumption, or, more properly, an inference, that this evidence would have been unfavorable. 12 Such a presumption or inference arises, however, only where the act was intentional, and indicates fraud and a desire to suppress the truth, 13 and it does not arise where the destruction was a matter of routine with no fraudulent intent. 14 Thus, a conscious awareness of the existence of the dispute and that the act done will destroy evidence or access to evidence are prerequisites to applying the inference. 15 Furthermore, any presumption that may arise from the spoliation or destruction of evidence is not conclusive, but rather is rebuttable, 16 the spoliation of evidence being a circumstance open to explanation. 17

The presumption against a person who has damaged or destroyed evidence does not relieve the other party of the obligation to meet his or her burden of proof. 18 This presumption or inference does not amount to substantive proof and cannot take the place of proof of a fact necessary to the other party's cause. 19 Thus, even though it was established that a doctor altered a hospital record, the doctrine of spoliation only gave rise to the inference that the record previously stated that a patient's knee was burned, not ulcerated, and not that the knee was burned in fact. 20

§ 244 ----Destruction or spoliation of evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Evidence spoliation warrants presumption of negligence, 140 Chi Daily L Bull 236:5 (1995).

Plaintiff can sue over evidence lost in product liability case, 141 Chi Daily L Bull 13:1 (1995).

Do not fold, spindle, or mutilate: The trend toward recognition of spoliation as a separate tort, 43 Def LJ 4:723-756 (1995).

Spoliation of evidence in products litigation, 35 For the Defense 5:8 (1993).

Federal courts' authority to impose sanctions for prelitigation or pre-order spoliation of evidence, 156 FRD 2:313 (1994).

Do not fold spindle or mutilate: The trend towards recognition of spoliation as a separate tort, 30 Idaho LR 37 (1994).

Spoliation of evidence is not affirmative defense, 17 Pa L Weekly 30:9 (1994).

When relevant evidence no longer exists; The bright-line approach to spoliation gives way to a balancing test, 18 Pa L Weekly 4:11 (1995).

Future battlegrounds in spoliation; Design v. manufacturing defects, tort remedies, are just two of the new issues, 18 Pa L Weekly 5:13 (1995).

Spoliation of evidence in California, 24 Southw U LR 1:123 (1994).

The spoliation tort: An approach to underlying principles, 26 St Mary's LJ 2:351 (1995).

Spoliation: Remedies—Including punitive damages, 38 Tr Law Guide 4:519 (1995).

Case authorities:

In products liability action against fire engine manufacturer, district court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence suggesting that injured firefighter was involved in destruction of fire house journal that may have recorded some of details of accident since court did not allow manufacturer to focus jury's attention on allegedly missing journal and evidence that was admitted regarding close relationship among firefighters could be understood as simply providing jury with background information. Walsh v Emergency One (1994, CA7 Ill) 26 F3d 1417, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13950.

In suit alleging rape and other torts resulting from abuse of plaintiff while a child, testimony of witness that defendant called her after not seeing him for 20 years, and threatened to bring up something about a relationship if she testified, was properly admitted as evidence of spoliation, showing defendant's state of mind as to his consciousness of weakness of his case. Shpak v Schertle (1993, Md App) 625 A2d 1037, op withdrawn, reported at 96 Md App 579, adopted, on reconsideration 97 Md App 207, 629 A2d 763.

The trial court did not err in refusing to strike the testimony of a State's witness and in denying defendant's motion for mistrial based on the State's failure to produce a videotaped interview of the witness, since the tape appeared to be lost; a subsequent interview of the witness was conducted; the statement given then was consistent with the videotaped statement and was provided to defendant; and there was no bad faith on the part of the State with respect to production of the videotape. GS § 15A- 910. State v Thibodeaux (1995) 341 NC 53, 459 SE2d 501.

Defendant's due process rights were not denied by the destruction of the rape kit and all articles of clothing worn by the victim on the night of the rape after a computer printout indicated that the case had been voluntarily dismissed, where the evidence was not exculpatory and there was no evidence of bad faith. State v Graham (1995) 118 NC App 231, 454 SE2d 878, review den 340 NC 262, 456 SE2d 834.

Finding of bad-faith or egregious conduct in context of document destruction case consists of conscious attempt to affect outcome of litigation or flagrant, knowing disregard of judicial process. Milwaukee Constructors II v Milwaukee Metro. Sewerage Dist. (1993, App) 177 Wis 2d 523, 502 NW2d 881, review den (Wis) 508 NW2d 421.

Footnotes

Footnote 12. Equitable Trust Co. v Gallagher (Sup) 32 Del Ch 401, 77 A2d 548; Maszczenski v Myers, 212 Md 346, 129 A2d 109; Trupiano v Cully, 349 Mich 568, 84 NW2d 747; Fonda v St. Paul C. R. Co., 71 Minn 438, 74 NW 166, motion den 72 Minn 1, 80 NW 366; McHugh v McHugh, 186 Pa 197, 40 A 410; Thurman-Bryant Electric Supply Co. v Unisys Corp. (Tenn App) CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13077, app den (Tenn) 1992 Tenn LEXIS 263 (noting that cases from other jurisdictions are generally in accord with this rule); F. R. Patch Mfg. Co. v Protection Lodge International Ass'n of Machinists, 77 Vt 294, 60 A 74; Hay v Peterson, 6 Wyo 419, 45 P 1073.

The behavior of a litigant with respect to relevant evidence may permit an inference that his behavior was prompted by a conscious appreciation that the evidence might or would be hurtful to his position. State by Commissioner of Transp. v Council in Div. of Resource Dev., etc., 60 NJ 199, 287 A2d 713, 3 Env't Rep Cas 1765.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) §§ 86, 87.

Footnote 13. Berthold-Jennings Lumber Co. v St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. (CA8 Mo) 80 F2d 32, 102 ALR 688, cert den 297 US 715, 80 L Ed 1001, 56 S Ct 591; Trupiano v Cully, 349 Mich 568, 84 NW2d 747.

Footnote 14. Berthold-Jennings Lumber Co. v St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. (CA8 Mo) 80 F2d 32, 102 ALR 688, cert den 297 US 715, 80 L Ed 1001, 56 S Ct 591; State v Langlet (Iowa) 283 NW2d 330 (recognizing rule); Washington v State (Miss) 478 So 2d 1028.

In the case of evidence sought by the accused to be suppressed on the ground of its acquisition by the prosecution in violation of a federal statute prohibiting wiretapping, and sought by the prosecution to be introduced on the ground that the wiretapping information had not led directly or indirectly to discovery of the evidence involved, an inference is not justified, under the canon contra spoliatores that disks and resumes of wiretapping in New York and destroyed by the New York prosecution agents contained leads to some of the evidence involved, where it appears that the disks and papers were destroyed pursuant to a practice of the New York office to send letters of its contents to Washington weekly and destroy the originals after a fixed period, and where such letters were preserved and produced at the trial. United States v Coplon (CA2 NY) 185 F2d 629, 28 ALR2d 1041, cert den 342 US 920, 96 L Ed 688, 72 S Ct 362 and (disapproved on other grounds by McCray v Illinois, 386 US 300, 18 L Ed 2d 62, 87 S Ct 1056) as stated in United States v De Los Santos (CA5 Tex) 819 F2d 94, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1821.

Footnote 15. State by Commissioner of Transp. v Council in Div. of Resource Dev., etc., 60 NJ 199, 287 A2d 713, 3 Env't Rep Cas 1765.

Footnote 16. Wong v Swier (CA9 Wash) 267 F2d 749; State v Langlet (Iowa) 283 NW2d 330.

Footnote 17. Trupiano v Cully, 349 Mich 568, 84 NW2d 747.

Footnote 18. Estate of Bould (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 260, 287 P2d 8, hear den by sup ct as reported in (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 277, 289 P2d 15; Trupiano v Cully, 349 Mich 568, 84 NW2d 747; State by Commissioner of Transp. v Council in Div. of Resource Dev., etc., 60 NJ 199, 287 A2d 713, 3 Env't Rep Cas 1765; F. R. Patch Mfg. Co. v Protection Lodge International Ass'n of Machinists, 77 Vt 294, 60 A 74.

Footnote 19. Maszczenksi v Myers, 212 Md 346, 129 A2d 109.

Footnote 20. Furlong v Stokes (Mo) 427 SW2d 513, 35 ALR3d 1059.

§ 245 Withholding of evidence

View Entire Section

An inference may be drawn that withheld evidence would be unfavorable if it is relevant evidence which would properly be part of a case is within the control of the party whose interest it would naturally be to produce it. 21 Similarly, it is the rule that where a party has the means in his power of rebutting and explaining evidence adduced against him if it does not tend to the truth, the failure to furnish rebuttal evidence gives rise to a strong presumption or inference that he cannot do so. 22 But these rules apply only to a party in presenting evidence in support of his own case, no unfavorable inference arising from the failure of a party to produce evidence who has not been called upon to do so. 23 The rules do not apply where the party against whom they are sought to be invoked has no right to submit the evidence without the consent of his adversary. 24

If weaker and less satisfactory evidence is given and relied on in support of a fact when it is apparent to the court and jury that proof of a more direct and explicit character is within the power of the party, it may be presumed or inferred that the better evidence, if given, would have been unfavorable. 25

The presumption or inference arising from the failure of a party to produce available evidence does not amount to substantive proof and does not take the place of proof of a fact necessary to the other party's case. 26 It will not supply a missing link in an adversary's case and cannot be treated as independent evidence of a fact otherwise unproved. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 21. Wetmore v Rymer, 169 US 115, 42 L Ed 682, 18 S Ct 293; Kirby v Tallmadge, 160 US 379, 40 L Ed 463, 16 S Ct 349; Runkle v Burnham, 153 US 216, 38 L Ed 694, 14 S Ct 837; Wood v Holly Manuf'g. Co., 100 Ala 326, 13 So 948; Saliba v Saliba, 178 Ark 250, 11 SW2d 774, 61 ALR 1348; Western & A. R. Co. v Morrison, 102 Ga 319, 29 SE 104; Lyon v Melgard, 66 Idaho 599, 163 P2d 1019; Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932; Quint-Cities Petroleum Co. v Maas, 259 Iowa 122, 143 NW2d 345; Re Ratner, 194 Kan 362, 399 P2d 865; McClure v McClintock, 150 Ky 265, 150 SW 332, motion overr 150 Ky 773, 150 SW 849; Kennon v Brooks-Scanlon Co., 148 La 120, 86 So 675; Critzer v Shegogue, 236 Md 411, 204 A2d 180; D'Addio v Hinckley Rendering Co., 213 Mass 465, 100 NE 647; Barringer v Arnold, 358 Mich 594, 101 NW2d 365; Vorlicky v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 206 Minn 34, 287 NW 109; Cheney v Dunlap, 27 Neb 401, 43 NW 178; Stocker v Boston & M. R. R., 84 NH 377, 151 A 457, 70 ALR 1320; Orange & Rockland Utilities, Inc. v Amerada Hess Corp. (2d Dept) 59 App Div 2d 110, 397 NYS2d 814, 22 UCCRS 310, 96 ALR3d 1263; State v Farmer, 156 Ohio St 214, 46 Ohio Ops 97, 102 NE2d 11; State ex rel. Raydel v Raible (App, Cuyahoga Co) 69 Ohio L Abs 356, 117 NE2d 480, 40 ALR2d 950, app dismd for want of debat q 162 Ohio St 74, 54 Ohio Ops 18, 120 NE2d 590; Loyal Protective Ins. Co. v Shoemaker, 178 Okla 612, 63 P2d 960; Weber v Rothchild, 15 Or 385, 15 P 650; Alexander v Wilkes-Barre Anthracite Coal Co., 254 Pa 1, 98 A 794; Collins v Merrimack Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 210 SC 207, 42 SE2d 67; Standard Oil Co. v State, 117 Tenn 618, 100 SW 705; Bowe v Palmer, 36 Utah 214, 102 P 1007; F. R. Patch Mfg. Co. v Protection Lodge International Ass'n of Machinists, 77 Vt 294, 60 A 74; State v Davis, 73 Wash 2d 271, 438 P2d 185 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Braun, 82 Wash 2d 157, 509 P2d 742) as stated in State v Davis, 34 Wash App 546, 662 P2d 78, review den 100 Wash 2d 1005; British Columbia Breweries (1918), Ltd. v King County, 17 Wash 2d 437, 135 P2d 870; Coney v Milwaukee & Suburban Transport Corp., 8 Wis 2d 520, 99 NW2d 713; Hay v Peterson, 6 Wyo 419, 45 P 1073.

A liberal presumption ought to be indulged in favor of the plaintiff's evidence as to the value of land in controversy, when this is a jurisdictional question, and the court gave leave to both parties to file affidavits on the question, and the defendant fails to procure a single sworn statement on the subject. Wetmore v Rymer, 169 US 115, 42 L Ed 682, 18 S Ct 293.

Where an adversary withholds evidence in his possession or control that would be likely to support his version of the case for which support is needed, the strongest inferences may be drawn against him which the opposing evidence in the record permits. Jarrett v Madifari (1st Dept) 67 App Div 2d 396, 415 NYS2d 644.

Forms: Instructions on inferences drawn from failure to produce evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 62 et seq.

Footnote 22. Mammoth Oil Co. v United States, 275 US 13, 72 L Ed 137, 48 S Ct 1; Lebanon Light, Heat & Power Co. v Leap, 139 Ind 443, 39 NE 57; Donald v Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 93 Iowa 284, 61 NW 971.

Footnote 23. Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932; Hogue v Wurdack (Mo App) 298 SW2d 492; Hubbard v Cleveland, Columbus & Cincinnati Highway, Inc. (Franklin Co) 81 Ohio App 445, 37 Ohio Ops 279, 50 Ohio L Abs 78, 76 NE2d 721; Horicon v Langlois' Estate, 115 Vt 470, 66 A2d 16, 9 ALR2d 195.

Footnote 24. Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932.

Footnote 25. Interstate Circuit, Inc. v United States, 306 US 208, 83 L Ed 610, 59 S Ct 467, 40 USPQ 299; Runkle v Burnham, 153 US 216, 38 L Ed 694, 14 S Ct 837; Clifton v United States, 45 US 242, 4 How 242, 11 L Ed 957; Goodwin v Misticos, 207 Miss 361, 42 So 2d 397; Masonite Corp. v Hill, 170 Miss 158, 154 So 295, 95 ALR 157; State v Farmer, 156 Ohio St 214, 46 Ohio Ops 97, 102 NE2d 11.

Footnote 26. Guthrie v Gillespie, 319 Mo 1137, 6 SW2d 886; Epton v Moskee Inv. Co., 180 Or 86, 174 P2d 418.

Footnote 27. Collins v Merrimack Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 210 SC 207, 42 SE2d 67.

§ 246 --Documentary evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In the application of the rule that an unfavorable inference may be drawn from the failure of a party, without satisfactory explanation, to produce evidence, properly a part of a case, which is within the party's control, 28 the law ordinarily creates an unfavorable inference from the failure of a party to produce pertinent documents or papers. 29 If, after due notice to produce available books and papers at the trial, a party refuses or fails to do so, it may be presumed that such failure or refusal is because such books or papers, if produced, would operate against his claim and in favor of the claim of the opposite party. 30 For instance, the failure by hospital employees or a physician to produce medical records may lead to a rebuttable 31 presumption or inference of negligence. 32 However, no adverse inference can be raised against a party for failure to produce books or papers, where secondary evidence fully establishes their contents so far as they are material. 33 It is further clear that where a party lacks notice that any issue will be raised which will make production of a document material, 34 or where he has no right to give a document in evidence without the consent of his adversary, and he is not called upon to produce it, 35 an unfavorable inference from its nonproduction cannot be raised. Nor can an unfavorable inference be drawn against a party for failure to produce a record if the evidence is uncontradicted that no such record was kept. 36

The failure to produce demanded books and papers does not raise the inference that, if produced, they would establish the facts which it is alleged they would prove. 37

Footnotes

Footnote 28. § 245.

Footnote 29. Runkle v Burnham, 153 US 216, 38 L Ed 694, 14 S Ct 837; The Cheshire, 70 US 231, 3 Wall 231, 18 L Ed 175; Clifton v United States, 45 US 242, 4 How 242, 11 L Ed 957; Maciejewska v Lombard Bros., Inc., 171 Conn 35, 368 A2d 206 (recognizing rule); Pullman Co. v Schaffner, 126 Ga 609, 55 SE 933; Hodgson v John Deere Plow Co., 104 Kan 237, 178 P 607; Arthur v Commonwealth (Ky) 307 SW2d 182; People ex rel. Woronoff v Mallon, 222 NY 456, 119 NE 102, 4 ALR 463; Mullen v J. J. Quinlan & Co., 195 NY 109, 87 NE 1078; Bowe v Palmer, 36 Utah 214, 102 P 1007; West Milwaukee v Bergstrom Mfg. Co., 242 Wis 137, 7 NW2d 587.

It may be presumed that if record evidence of title exists it will be produced. Romero v United States, 68 US 721, 1 Wall 721, 17 L Ed 627.

The suppression by one accused of causing a surety to withdraw from a bond of a letter alleged to have contained the false statement causing such action and the failure to produce it in response to a subpoena duces tecum are sufficient to support a verdict against him. McClure v McClintock, 150 Ky 265, 150 SW 332, motion overr 150 Ky 773, 150 SW 849.

Footnote 30. Hanson v Lessee of Eustace, 43 US 653, 2 How 653, 11 L Ed 416; Lebanon Light, Heat & Power Co. v Leap, 139 Ind 443, 39 NE 57; Donald v Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 93 Iowa 284, 61 NW 971; Vorlicky v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 206 Minn 34, 287 NW 109; Scott v Astoria R. Co., 43 Or 26, 72 P 594; F. R. Patch Mfg. Co. v Protection Lodge International Ass'n of Machinists, 77 Vt 294, 60 A 74; Board of Trustees v Mankin Inv. Co., 118 W Va 134, 189 SE 96; Hay v Peterson, 6 Wyo 419, 45 P 1073.

Notices to produce documents for discovery are generally discussed in 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery §§ 244 et seq. Subpoenas duces tecum to compel witnesses to bring documents to court are discussed in 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 18 et seq.

Footnote 31. Thor v Boska (2nd Dist) 38 Cal App 3d 558, 113 Cal Rptr 296; Public Health Trust v Valcin (Fla) 507 So 2d 596, 12 FLW 211, 69 ALR4th 895; DeLaughter v Lawrence County Hosp. (Miss) 601 So 2d 818.

Footnote 32. Carr v St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (WD Ark) 384 F Supp 821 (applying Arkansas law); May v Moore (Ala) 424 So 2d 596; Public Health Trust v Valcin (Fla) 507 So 2d 596, 12 FLW 211, 69 ALR4th 895; DeLaughter v Lawrence County Hosp. (Miss) 601 So 2d 818.

Annotation: Medical malpractice: presumption or inference from failure of hospital or doctor to produce relevant medical records, 69 ALR4th 906.

Footnote 33. Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932.

Footnote 34. Rochester German Ins. Co. v Monumental Sav. Ass'n, 107 Va 701, 60 SE 93.

Footnote 35. Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932.

Footnote 36. Hench v Pennsylvania R. Co., 246 Pa 1, 91 A 1056.

Footnote 37. Hanson v Lessee of Eustace, 43 US 653, 2 How 653, 11 L Ed 416; Cartier v Troy Lumber Co., 138 Ill 533, 28 NE 932; Hench v Pennsylvania R. Co., 246 Pa 1, 91 A 1056.

b. Failure to Call or Examine Witnesses [247-257]

§ 247 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

If a party knows of the existence of an available witness on a material issue and such witness is within his control, and if, without satisfactory explanation, he fails to call him, the jury may draw the inference that the testimony of the witness would not have been favorable to such party. 38 Even in criminal cases, if a party has it peculiarly within his power to produce witnesses whose testimony would elucidate the transaction, the fact that he does not do it creates the presumption or inference that the testimony, if produced, would be unfavorable. 39 Thus, a state's failure to call police officers as witnesses in a criminal case to contradict the defendant's version of the events may lend support to the conclusion that their testimony would have been unfavorable to the prosecution, 40 at least where such testimony would not have been cumulative. 41 However, the continued validity of the principle that the testimony of an uncalled witness would be unfavorable has been questioned in light of Rule 607, providing, in effect, that a party no longer has to vouch for the credibility of the witnesses he or she calls, 42 on the basis that since neither party vouches for any witness's credibility, the failure to call a witness cannot be treated as an evidentiary fact that permits any inference as to the content of the witness's testimony. 43 Also, the principle of allowing comment on the failure of a criminal defendant to call witnesses may be to impermissibly distort the allocation of the burden of proof, 44 and if allowed at all, is to be applied cautiously, and with a strict regard for the rights of persons accused, and the jury should ordinarily be instructed not to draw inferences from the neglect of a defendant to call witnesses, unless it appears to be within his power to call others than himself, and unless the evidence against him is so strong that, if innocent, he would be expected to call them. 45 In effect, when it is shown why the witness was not called upon to testify and the reasons for not calling him are reasonable and proper, no inference that his testimony would be unfavorable is permitted. 46

§ 247 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In action by railroad engineer against railroad under Federal Employers' Liability Act to recover for hearing loss caused by noise in workplace, railroad was entitled to invoke adverse inference from plaintiff's failure to produce treating physician who initially gave hearing examination that revealed plaintiff's hearing loss, where physician's diagnosis of plaintiff's hearing problems, and any opinion he might have had of their cause, as well as possible history taken from plaintiff, was important in determining defendant's liability. Further, whether plaintiff was advised by physician of possible cause of his hearing problems was relevant to pleaded defense of statute of limitations. Although physician's records were before jury, that did not preclude utilization of adverse inference, and records did not contain information about which doctor could have been expected to testify, i.e., diagnosis, history, and/or causation. Piper v Missouri P. R. Co. (1993, Mo App) 847 SW2d 907.

Footnotes

Footnote 38. Culbertson v The Steamer Southern Belle, 59 US 584, 18 How 584, 15 L Ed 493; Overstreet v Missouri P. R. Co. (WD Ark) 195 F Supp 542; Billeci v United States, 87 US App DC 274, 184 F2d 394, 24 ALR2d 881; Waller v State, 242 Ala 1, 4 So 2d 911; Hays v Viscome, 122 Cal App 2d 135, 264 P2d 173, 39 ALR2d 1435; Freitas v Peerless Stages, Inc., 108 Cal App 2d 749, 239 P2d 671, 33 ALR2d 778; State v Leecan, 198 Conn 517, 504 A2d 480, 79 ALR4th 667, cert den 476 US 1184, 91 L Ed 2d 550, 106 S Ct 2922, habeas corpus den (CA2 Conn) 893 F2d 1434, cert den 496 US 929, 110 L Ed 2d 647, 110 S Ct 2627, habeas corpus dismissed (DC Conn) 822 F Supp 54; East T., V. & G. R. Co. v Kane, 92 Ga 187, 18 SE 18; Re Heirich, 10 Ill 2d 357, 140 NE2d 825, 67 ALR2d 827, cert den 355 US 805, 2 L Ed 2d 49, 78 S Ct 22; Santucci Constr. Co. v County of Cook (1st Dist) 21 Ill App 3d 527, 315 NE2d 565; Bircher v Wasson, 133 Ind App 27, 180 NE2d 118; Quint-Cities Petroleum Co. v Maas, 259 Iowa 122, 143 NW2d 345; Succession of Yeates, 213 La 541, 35 So 2d 210; Bates v Blitz, 205 La 536, 17 So 2d 816; Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725; Commonwealth v Groce, 25 Mass App 327, 517 NE2d 1297; Barringer v Arnold, 358

Mich 594, 101 NW2d 365; State v Engstrom, 226 Minn 301, 32 NW2d 553; Hawkins v Rye, 233 Miss 132, 101 So 2d 516, 77 ALR2d 663; Linton v State Dept. of Public Health & Welfare (Mo App) 252 SW2d 841; Stocker v Boston & M. R. R., 84 NH 377, 151 A 457, 70 ALR 1320; Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730; Ridge v Norfolk S. R. Co., 167 NC 510, 83 SE 762; Scherbenske v Maier (ND) 71 NW2d 770; Llewellyn v Cincinnati S. R. Co. (Hamilton Co) 66 Ohio App 107, 19 Ohio Ops 360, 32 Ohio L Abs 153, 32 NE2d 33; Alexander v Wilkes-Barre Anthracite Coal Co., 254 Pa 1, 98 A 794; Robinson v Duke Power Co., 213 SC 185, 48 SE2d 808; Ex parte Hernlen, 156 SC 181, 153 SE 133, 69 ALR 443; National Life & Acci. Ins. Co. v Eddings, 188 Tenn 512, 221 SW2d 695; Bland v Richmond, 190 Va 42, 55 SE2d 289; British Columbia Breweries (1918), Ltd. v King County, 17 Wash 2d 437, 135 P2d 870; Coney v Milwaukee & Suburban Transport Corp., 8 Wis 2d 520, 99 NW2d 713.

When the government has introduced evidence in a proceeding to cancel an oil lease, which is uncontradicted and unexplained, and is sufficient to sustain its charge of fraud in the procuring of the lease, it is not required to call the principal representative of the corporation defendant as a witness, but his silence operates against the corporation as though he personally held the lease and failed to testify. Mammoth Oil Co. v United States, 275 US 13, 72 L Ed 137, 48 S Ct 1.

There are two criteria to be met before a jury may infer that the testimony of an absent witness would have been adverse: the witness is peculiarly within the power of the party to produce and the testimony is likely to elucidate the transaction at issue. Kleinbart v United States (Dist Col App) 426 A2d 343, recalled, appeal after remand (Dist Col App) 553 A2d 1236, remanded (Dist Col App) 604 A2d 861.

Availability is not the sole criterion; there must also be some evidence to support a finding that the witness had knowledge of the facts and was apparently qualified to testify about them. Goodman v Firmin Desloge Hospital (Mo App) 540 SW2d 907.

As to the propriety of argument regarding the failure of a party to call witnesses, see 75A Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 590 et seq.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine transferor, transferee, broker, or other person allegedly involved in transaction at issue—modern cases, 81 ALR4th 939.

Adverse presumption or inference based on state's failure to produce or examine informant in criminal prosecution—modern cases, 80 ALR4th 547.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine witness with employment relationship to party—modern cases, 80 ALR4th 405.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine family member other than spouse—modern cases, 80 ALR4th 337.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine friend—modern cases, 79 ALR4th 779.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine spouse—modern cases, 79 ALR4th 694.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine witness who was occupant of vehicle involved in accident—modern cases, 78 ALR4th 616.

Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine that party's attorney—modern cases, 78 ALR4th 571.

Forms: Instructions on inferences drawn from failure to produce evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 62 et seq.

Footnote 39. Graves v United States, 150 US 118, 37 L Ed 1021, 14 S Ct 40; Ford v United States (CA5 Tex) 210 F2d 313, 54-1 USTC ¶ 9233, 45 AFTR 319; Commonwealth v Domanski, 332 Mass 66, 123 NE2d 368.

Footnote 40. Sims v Georgia, 389 US 404, 19 L Ed 2d 634, 88 S Ct 523, conformed to 224 Ga 36, 159 SE2d 290; People v King (1st Dist) 4 Ill App 3d 1066, 282 NE2d 746; People v Erts, 73 NY2d 872, 537 NYS2d 796, 534 NE2d 833; Ex parte Turner (Tex Crim) 545 SW2d 470.

Footnote 41. People v Brown, 34 NY2d 658, 355 NYS2d 579, 311 NE2d 650.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on state's failure to produce or examine law enforcement personnel—modern cases, 81 ALR4th 872.

Footnote 42. FR Civ P 607; Uniform Rules of Evidence Rule 607, generally discussed in 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 978 et seq.

Footnote 43. State v Brewer (Me) 505 A2d 774.

Footnote 44. State v Brewer (Me) 505 A2d 774; State v Jefferson, 116 RI 124, 353 A2d 190, later proceeding (RI) 472 A2d 1200 and (ovrld on other grounds by State v Romano (RI) 456 A2d 746) as stated in State v Caruolo (RI) 524 A2d 575.

Footnote 45. State v Parker, 261 Iowa 88, 151 NW2d 505; Commonwealth v Domanski, 332 Mass 66, 123 NE2d 368.

The use of the missing witness inference should be only reluctantly permitted in a criminal trial, because of concern that it creates evidence out of nonevidence. Carr v United States (Dist Col App) 531 A2d 1010.

Footnote 46. Critzer v Shegogue, 236 Md 411, 204 A2d 180.

§ 248 Control and availability

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

If an inference is based upon the absence of a possible witness, it must appear that the witness is in the "control" of the party and "available." 47 "Control" in this connection means only that the witness is in such relationship with the party that it is likely that his presence could be procured. 48 The word "available" is sometimes used with a meaning similar to "control," 49 and is held not to mean merely available or accessible for service of compulsory process. 50 Under this meaning of the word, the question whether a witness is available to one or the other of contending parties depends upon such matters as the one party's superior means of knowledge of the existence and identity of the witness, the nature of the testimony that the witness would be expected to give in the light of his previous statements or declarations, if any, about the facts of the case, 51 and the relationship borne by the witness to a particular party as the same would reasonably be expected to affect his personal interest in the outcome of the litigation. 52 However, in some cases the meaning ascribed to the word "available" has been the narrower one of immediate physical availability. 53 And a distinction has been recognized between civil and criminal cases, with one court saying that in criminal cases there is a stringent requirement that the absent witness be peculiarly available to the defendant, rather than simply available as in civil cases, for an adverse inference to arise, in order to protect the defendant's Sixth Amendment right to confront witnesses. 54

It has frequently been stated that an unfavorable inference cannot arise because of the failure of a party to call a witness who is equally available to the other party. 55 But this rule does not apply where there is likelihood of bias on the part of the person not called as a witness in favor of one party, for then that person is not, in a true sense, "equally available" to both parties. 56 Furthermore, there is authority to the effect that the failure to call a witness equally available to both parties gives rise to an inference against both parties, the particular strength of the inference depending on the circumstances. 57 And even though an adverse inference would normally be drawn against a party for failure to call a witness whose testimony would, presumably, be favorable to his cause, only where the witness would be more easily available to the party against whom the inference is to be drawn, it is fair for defense counsel to state in closing argument that the plaintiff's counsel said in opening argument that he would call a particular witness, but did not do so, regardless of whether the witness was equally available to both sides. 58

There should be no adverse inference from the nonproduction of a witness where it appears that the party has made all reasonable effort to procure his testimony. 59 And, in the absence of a special relationship, 60 a witness may be considered equally available to both sides, if his name and address are included in a witness list produced before trial, 61 or his whereabouts have otherwise been disclosed, 62 since once the witness is identified, the opposition can subpoena him or her. 63

◆ Practice guide: It is improper to give a missing witness instruction unless the jury is first told that it must determine whether the witness was available at the time of the trial. Thus, the party seeking the missing witness instruction should lay a foundation, giving the name of the potential witness and the reason why his or her testimony would be material. This gives the opposing party an opportunity to either call the witness or to explain the witness's absence. 64

A witness who is presumptively entitled to refuse to testify by invoking the privilege against self incrimination is not within the power of a party to produce. 65 Such a witness is not available to the government, even though it is claimed that the government has the right to grant immunity, and in such a case the defendant is not entitled to a missing witness instruction. 66

The rule applicable to a party who fails to call witnesses exclusively in his control does not apply to a defendant who introduces no evidence at all, 67 since the defendant may let the case go to the jury on the basis that the plaintiff did not meet his or her burden of proof. 68

Footnotes

Footnote 47. Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725; Llewellyn v Cincinnati S. R. Co. (Hamilton Co) 66 Ohio App 107, 19 Ohio Ops 360, 32 Ohio L Abs 153, 32 NE2d 33.

Footnote 48. Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725.

Footnote 49. Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725.

Footnote 50. Blick v Nickel Sav., Inv. & Bldg. Ass'n (Mo) 216 SW2d 509.

Footnote 51. Blick v Nickel Sav., Inv. & Bldg. Ass'n (Mo) 216 SW2d 509.

Availability may mean either physical availability or practical availability, the latter which may be affected by a special relationship with one party creating an expectation that the witness may be hostile to the other party, such as where, because of prior grand jury testimony, the prosecution already knew that the witness's testimony was not likely to favor the defendant. Dent v United States (Dist Col App) 404 A2d 165.

Footnote 52. §§ 249 et seq.

Footnote 53. Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725.

Footnote 54. Hayes v State, 57 Md App 489, 470 A2d 1301, cert den 300 Md 90, 475 A2d 1201.

Footnote 55. Mutual Ben. Health & Acci. Ass'n v Bradford, 242 Ala 431, 7 So 2d 20; Waller v State, 242 Ala 1, 4 So 2d 911; Parker v State, 265 Ark 315, 578 SW2d 206; Gillett v Gillett (2nd Dist) 168 Cal App 2d 102, 335 P2d 736; State v Zagora, 6 Conn Cir 260, 270 A2d 574; Pippin v Burnum, 172 Ga App 553, 323 SE2d 857; Young v State, 161 Ind App 532, 316 NE2d 435; State v Parker, 261 Iowa 88, 151 NW2d 505 (no presumption arises when it is shown that witness is equally available to either party or when testimony would be merely cumulative); Commonwealth v Leonard, 352 Mass 636, 227 NE2d 721; Barringer v Arnold, 358 Mich 594, 101 NW2d 365; Brown v State, 98 Miss 786, 54 So 305; Jefferson-Gravois Bank v Cunningham (Mo App) 674 SW2d 561; Douglas v Hoeh (Mo App) 622 SW2d 765; Longacre v Yonkers R. Co., 236 NY 119, 140 NE 215, 28 ALR 1030; State ex rel. Raydel v Raible (App, Cuyahoga Co) 69 Ohio L Abs 356, 117 NE2d 480, 40 ALR2d 950, app dismd for want of debat q 162 Ohio St 74, 54 Ohio Ops 18, 120 NE2d 590; Watonga v Morrison, 78 Okla 74, 189 P 737; Vogt v S. M. Byrne Constr. Co., 17 Wis 2d 96, 115 NW2d 485, mod on other grounds 17 Wis 2d 100, 117 NW2d 362.

Footnote 56. United States v Beekman (CA2 NY) 155 F2d 580; People v Alexander (1st Dist) 184 Ill App 3d 855, 133 Ill Dec 83, 540 NE2d 949, app den (Ill) 136 Ill Dec 591, 545 NE2d 115.

While a witness is not equally available if he or she is hostile to one party, an adverse inference cannot be claimed if such hostility is not the case. Prestype, Inc. v Carr (Iowa) 248 NW2d 111.

Footnote 57. United States v Dibrizzi (CA2 NY) 393 F2d 642, 68 BNA LRRM 2377, 57 CCH LC ¶ 12645; United States v Cotter (CA2 NY) 60 F2d 689, cert den 287 US 666, 77 L Ed 575, 53 S Ct 291; Wood v Mobil Chemical Co. (5th Dist) 50 Ill App 3d 465, 8 Ill Dec 701, 365 NE2d 1087.

In a prosecution for violating the proxy and reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the trial judge properly instructed the jury that an adverse inference could be drawn against either side from their failure to call accountants, where the prosecutor and defense had both questioned the accountants prior to trial. United States v Dixon (CA2 NY) 536 F2d 1388, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 95471.

Footnote 58. Hinton v Waste Techniques Corp., 243 Pa Super 189, 364 A2d 724 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in McDevitt v Terminal Warehouse Co., 346 Pa Super 186, 499 A2d 374).

Footnote 59. Pittsburg, C., C. & S. L. R. Co. v Robson, 204 Ill 254, 68 NE 468; Commonwealth v Spencer, 212 Mass 438, 99 NE 266.

See, for instance, Spright v State, 254 Ind 420, 260 NE2d 770, holding that an unfavorable inference cannot be drawn against the state by reason of the absence of a witness who was subpoenaed, but who, through no fault of the state, failed to appear, and Bergeron v Murrell (La App 4th Cir) 499 So 2d 356, noting that a subpoena could not be served because the witness was no longer at his last address and could not be located.

Footnote 60. §§ 249 et seq.

Footnote 61. Thoreson v Milwaukee & Suburban Transport Co., 56 Wis 2d 231, 201 NW2d 745.

Footnote 62. Hinnant v United States (Dist Col App) 520 A2d 292 (once a criminal defendant testified that he knew how to reach his employer and co-workers, identifying them by name and giving precise addresses for most of them, the trial judge should not have given a missing witness instruction without first inquiring whether the government had been able to locate any of the named witnesses).

Footnote 63. Carr v United States (Dist Col App) 531 A2d 1010.

Footnote 64. Benevides v Canario, 111 RI 204, 301 A2d 75.

Footnote 65. People v Nilsson, 44 Ill 2d 244, 255 NE2d 432, cert den 398 US 954, 26 L Ed 2d 296, 90 S Ct 1881.

Footnote 66. United States v St. Michael's Credit Union (CA1 Mass) 880 F2d 579, 28

Fed Rules Evid Serv 840; United States v Stulga (CA6 Tenn) 584 F2d 142; Morrison v United States, 124 US App DC 330, 365 F2d 521; State v Rosa, 170 Conn 417, 365 A2d 1135, cert den 429 US 845, 50 L Ed 2d 116, 97 S Ct 126; People v Bracey (1st Dist) 93 Ill App 3d 864, 49 Ill Dec 202, 417 NE2d 1029.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on failure to produce or examine codefendant or accomplice who is not on trial—modern criminal cases, 76 ALR4th 812 § 11.

Footnote 67. Robins Dry Dock & Repair Co. v Navigazione Libera Triestina, S.A. (CA2 NY) 32 F2d 209, cert den 280 US 574, 74 L Ed 626, 50 S Ct 30; Johnson v Toscano, 144 Conn 582, 136 A2d 341; Tucker v Delmar Cleaners, Inc. (Mo App) 637 SW2d 222; State v Simmons, 267 SC 479, 229 SE2d 597.

Footnote 68. Robins Dry Dock & Repair Co. v Navigazione Libera Triestina, S.A. (CA2 NY) 32 F2d 209, cert den 280 US 574, 74 L Ed 626, 50 S Ct 30; Tucker v Delmar Cleaners, Inc. (Mo App) 637 SW2d 222.

§ 249 Effect of relationship between party and witness

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

One of the factors that is determinative of the question as to whether the failure of a party to call a witness will justify an inference that the testimony of such witness would be adverse to the party who failed to call him is the relationship that the potential witness bears to the parties, the logical inference being that a person will be likely to call as a witness one bound to him by ties of interest or affection unless he has reason to believe that the testimony given would be unfavorable, and that a party closely connected with the witness will be more likely to be able to determine in advance what his testimony will be if he is called. In addition to family, 69 economic, 70 or professional 71 relationships, inferences have been drawn based on a failure to call—

—sellers or prior owners in litigation involving contract or property rights. 72

—an alleged donor of property. 73

—a broker or sales agent. 74

—a creditor. 75

—passengers as witnesses in an automobile accident case, 76 although there are other cases holding that the failure to call a passenger as a witness would not give rise of an adverse inference. 77

—an alibi witness, 78 unless the witness is presumptively entitled to refuse to testify by invoking his privilege against self incrimination. 79

—a friend, roommate, or cohabitant, where the witness was particularly available to one party, 80 but not where the requisite relationship of interest or affection was not present. 81

The failure of a defendant in a criminal case to call a codefendant or accomplice not presently on trial has, in most cases, been held not to justify any adverse inference against the accused, especially if it is likely that the witness would be likely to invoke his own Fifth Amendment right not to testify, 82 although there is some authority to the contrary. 83 An insurer's failure to call an insured as a witness does not give rise to an unfavorable presumption, usually on the basis that the insured is not under the insurance company's control. 84

Footnotes

Footnote 69. § 250.

Footnote 70. § 251.

Footnote 71. §§ 252, 253.

Footnote 72. United States Bond & Mortg. Co. v Reddick, 199 Ark 82, 133 SW2d 23; Dawson v Davis, 125 Conn 330, 5 A2d 703; Canton Motorcar Works, Inc. v Di Martino, 6 Conn App 447, 505 A2d 1255, cert den 200 Conn 802, 509 A2d 516; Re Estate of Ruebush (3d Dist) 53 Ill App 2d 54, 202 NE2d 344; Scott v Slater (Ky) 253 SW2d 232; Fidelity Financial Services, Inc. v McCoy (La App 1st Cir) 392 So 2d 118.

Where defendant alleged that the stolen windshield wiper found in his possession had been purchased by him from another, but he failed to call the alleged seller to corroborate his testimony, it was held in Phelps v Commonwealth, 255 Ky 655, 75 SW2d 217, that there was a presumption that the witness would not have testified in his favor.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine transferor, transferee, broker, or other person allegedly involved in transaction at issue—modern cases, 81 ALR4th 939.

Footnote 73. Scanlon v United States (CA1 NH) 223 F2d 382, 55-1 USTC ¶ 9508, 47 AFTR 1271 (tax evasion case).

Footnote 74. Karavos Compania Naviera S. A. v Atlantica Export Corp. (CA2 NY) 588 F2d 1; Christman v Maristella Compania Naviera (SD NY) 349 F Supp 845, affd (CA2 NY) 468 F2d 620; Williams v Morgan (La App 2d Cir) 180 So 2d 11; R. T. Cornell Pharmacy, Inc. v Guzzo (3d Dept) 135 App Div 2d 1000, 522 NYS2d 725, 81 ALR4th 933, motion dismd 71 NY2d 928, 528 NYS2d 826, 524 NE2d 146; General Electric Credit Corp. v Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., 437 Pa 463, 263 A2d 448.

Footnote 75. Lynn v Caraway (WD La) 252 F Supp 858, affd (CA5 La) 379 F2d 943, 3 ALR Fed 587, cert den 393 US 951, 21 L Ed 2d 362, 89 S Ct 373; Nunez v Nunez (La App 4th Cir) 436 So 2d 682; South Orange Trust Co. v Conner, 228 SC 218, 89 SE2d 372.

Footnote 76. Moore v Bellamy (5th Dist) 183 Ill App 3d 110, 131 Ill Dec 658, 538 NE2d 1214; Rohrkaste v Terre Haute (Ind App) 470 NE2d 738; Rigouts v Larkan, 244 La 479, 153 So 2d 363; Moore v Skidmore (La App 4th Cir) 301 So 2d 428; Grady v Collins Transp. Co., 341 Mass 502, 170 NE2d 725; Daugharty v Anderson, 275 Minn 371, 147 NW2d 378; Hancock v Light (Mo App) 435 SW2d 695; Litt v Allen (Mo App) 313 SW2d 183; Baker v Salvation Army, Inc., 91 NH 1, 12 A2d 514; Rosa v Blander (2d Dept) 47 App Div 2d 865, 366 NYS2d 36; Kuntz v Stelmachuk (ND) 136 NW2d 810; Canady v Martschink Beer Distributors, Inc., 255 SC 119, 177 SE2d 475; Daniels v State, 167 Tex Crim 219, 319 SW2d 321.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine witness who was occupant of vehicle involved in accident—modern cases, 78 ALR4th 616.

Footnote 77. Sileo v Curran, 161 Conn 572, 290 A2d 325 (witness was out of state and his deposition had been introduced into evidence); Ballard v Jones (1st Dist) 21 Ill App 3d 496, 316 NE2d 281 (testimony would have been cumulative); Clinton G. Cauldwell, Inc. v Patterson, 133 Ind App 138, 177 NE2d 490 (passenger equally available); Watson v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (La App 4th Cir) 353 So 2d 403 (testimony would have been cumulative); Barringer v Arnold, 358 Mich 594, 101 NW2d 365 (cumulative and witness was equally available); Bean v Riddle (Mo) 423 SW2d 709 (deposition available); Benevides v Canario, 111 RI 204, 301 A2d 75 (witness not available); Oliphant v Snyder, 206 Va 932, 147 SE2d 122 (not shown that testimony would be material); Thoreson v Milwaukee & Suburban Transport Co., 56 Wis 2d 231, 201 NW2d 745 (missing witness instruction should not have been given where witnesses were equally available, but error was not prejudicial under facts of case); Schmiedeck v Gerard, 42 Wis 2d 135, 166 NW2d 136 (witness not under driver's control).

Footnote 78. Commonwealth v Wright, 444 Pa 536, 282 A2d 323.

Footnote 79. People v Nilsson, 44 Ill 2d 244, 255 NE2d 432, cert den 398 US 954, 26 L Ed 2d 296, 90 S Ct 1881.

Footnote 80. United States v Lawrenson (CA4 Md) 298 F2d 880, cert den 370 US 947, 8 L Ed 2d 812, 82 S Ct 1594; United States v Parr (CA5 Tex) 516 F2d 458; State v Daniels, 180 Conn 101, 429 A2d 813; State v McNellis, 15 Conn App 416, 546 A2d 292, 79 ALR4th 745, app den 209 Conn 809, 548 A2d 441; Brown v United States (Dist Col App) 555 A2d 1034; Wells v United States (Dist Col App) 281 A2d 226, cert den 405 US 995, 31 L Ed 2d 464, 92 S Ct 1271; People v Carr (1st Dist) 114 Ill App 2d 370, 252 NE2d 912; State v Pounds (La) 359 So 2d 150; Campo v Dupre (La App 4th Cir) 470 So 2d 234; Robinson v State, 315 Md 309, 554 A2d 395; Whitley v Whitley (Mo App) 778 SW2d 233; State v Karnes (Mo App) 608 SW2d 455; State v Collins (Mo App) 587 SW2d 303; State v Irving, 114 NJ 427, 555 A2d 575; People v Morales (2d Dept) 126 App Div 2d 575, 510 NYS2d 693; Orsuto v Orsuto, 171 Pa Super 532, 91 A2d 284; Wray v Commonwealth, 191 Va 738, 62 SE2d 889.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine friend—modern cases, 79 ALR4th 779.

Footnote 81. Woodland v State, 62 Md App 503, 490 A2d 286, cert den 304 Md 96, 497 A2d 819.

Footnote 82. United States v Chapman (CA5 Fla) 435 F2d 1245, cert den 402 US 912, 28 L Ed 2d 654, 91 S Ct 1392; Bradley v United States, 136 US App DC 339, 420 F2d 181; Morgan v State, 49 Ala App 330, 272 So 2d 256, cert den 289 Ala 747, 272 So 2d 261; Lawson v United States (Dist Col App) 514 A2d 787; State v Cavness, 46 Hawaii 470, 381 P2d 685; Christiansen v State, 274 Md 133, 333 A2d 45, appeal after remand 33 Md App 635, 365 A2d 562; State v Hustead (Mo App) 615 SW2d 556; Commonwealth v Rohach, 344 Pa Super 229, 496 A2d 768; Commonwealth v Sacarakis, 196 Pa Super 455, 175 A2d 127; Russell v Commonwealth, 216 Va 833, 223 SE2d 877; Werner v State, 189 Wis 26, 206 NW 898.

An instruction that the jury might draw an inference against the defendant from failure to call witnesses named by the prosecution as participants in gambling activities was erroneous where the witnesses were not peculiarly available to the defendant and the government called some and not others. Billeci v United States, 87 US App DC 274, 184 F2d 394, 24 ALR2d 881.

A trial court erroneously ruled that a defendant could avoid a missing witness instruction only by presenting the witness in the presence of the jury to see if he would invoke his Fifth Amendment privilege. State v Crews, 208 NJ Super 224, 505 A2d 198, certif gr 104 NJ 428, 517 A2d 422 and affd 105 NJ 498, 523 A2d 149.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on failure to produce or examine codefendant or accomplice who is not on trial—modern criminal cases, 76 ALR4th 812.

Footnote 83. United States v Deutsch (CA2 NY) 451 F2d 98, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 93231, cert den 404 US 1019, 30 L Ed 2d 667, 92 S Ct 682; United States v Craven, 147 US App DC 383, 458 F2d 802; People v Ford, 45 Cal 3d 431, 247 Cal Rptr 121, 754 P2d 168, 76 ALR4th 785; State v Madden, 170 Iowa 230, 148 NW 995; State v Hogan, 115 Iowa 455, 88 NW 1074; State v Wilkerson (Mo App) 559 SW2d 228; Herring v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 758 SW2d 849, reh overr (Tex App Corpus Christi) 1988 Tex App LEXIS 2673, petition for discretionary review ref (May 24, 1989) and motion for rehearing on PDR denied (Jun 28, 1989) and cert den 493 US 896, 107 L Ed 2d 197, 110 S Ct 247.

Footnote 84. Florists' Mut. Ins. Co. v Homecraft Corp. (La App 1st Cir) 506 So 2d 746, cert den (La) 512 So 2d 435; Dugan v Rippee (Mo App) 278 SW2d 812; Moon Cab Corp. v De Hart (1st Dept) 56 App Div 2d 516, 391 NYS2d 125.

In a subrogation case brought in the insured homeowner's name, where the real party in interest is the insurer, the insurer has less control over witnesses in the homeowner's family than the homeowner; thus no unfavorable inference arose out of the failure to have the homeowner's children testify. Sollberger v Walcott (La App 1st Cir) 101 So 2d 483.

§ 250 --Family relationship

View Entire Section

In civil cases, the failure of a party to call his or her spouse, 85 parent, 86 child, 87 brother or sister, 88 or other relative 89 who is available, to give relevant testimony, has frequently been held to give rise to an inference that such testimony would have been unfavorable to the cause of action or the defense of such party. Moreover, such an adverse inference has generally been raised with respect to the failure of the defendant in a criminal case to call his or her spouse, 90 parent, 91 child, 92 brother or sister, 93 or other relative, 94 where available and within his control.

Where applicable, a marital privilege or statute providing that spouses are disqualified from testifying against each other 95 precludes an adverse inference based on a criminal defendant's failure to call his or her spouse to testify. 96 However, where the defendant can waive the privilege, it has sometimes been held that the spouse is more available to the defendant than the prosecution, and that an adverse inference may be made if the defendant fails to call the spouse as a witness. 97 If the privilege is not applicable, such as where an alibi is not considered a confidential communication subject to the privilege, a missing witness instruction may be given if a spouse does not testify in support of the defendant's alibi. 98

It may be improper to make an adverse inference where the defendant failed to call his or her young child who was not competent to testify or who might have suffered psychological harm as a result of the incident. 99

Footnotes

Footnote 85. Steiner v Commissioner (CA7) 350 F2d 217, 65-2 USTC ¶ 9550, 16 AFTR 2d 5174; Broderick v Shea, 143 Conn 590, 124 A2d 229; Pennsylvania Fire Ins. Co. v Thomason, 293 Ky 142, 168 SW2d 547; Rider v R. P. Farnsworth Co. (La App 2d Cir) 61 So 2d 204; Wright v Bubar, 151 Me 85, 115 A2d 722; Feese v Anderson (Mo App) 648 SW2d 638; Garrison v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (Mo App) 506 SW2d 87; Kuntz v Stelmachuk (ND) 136 NW2d 810; McCanless v Pearson, 190 Tenn 123, 228 SW2d 84; Davis v Davis, 190 Va 468, 57 SE2d 137; Carr v Amusement, Inc., 47 Wis 2d 368, 177 NW2d 388; Jones v Wettlin, 39 Wyo 331, 271 P 217, 69 ALR 840.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine spouse—modern cases, 79 ALR4th 694.

Footnote 86. Re Rickey (BC MD Fla) 8 BR 860, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 67866; Estate of Guerin (2nd Dist) 194 Cal App 2d 566, 15 Cal Rptr 512; Graham v Lounsbury, 341 Ill App 76, 93 NE2d 135; Fontana v Ford Motor Co., 278 Mich 199, 270 NW 266; Hawkins v Rye, 233 Miss 132, 101 So 2d 516, 77 ALR2d 663; Spica v McDonald (Mo) 334 SW2d 365; Donato v Wyman (2d Dept) 32 App Div 2d 1061, 303 NYS2d 935; Duchossois v Duchossois, 139 Pa Super 1, 10 A2d 824.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine family member other than spouse—modern cases, 80 ALR4th 337.

Footnote 87. Illinois T. R. Co. v Friedman (CA8 Mo) 210 F2d 229; Williams v Williams, 86 Ariz 201, 344 P2d 161; Zack v Guzauskas, 171 Conn 98, 368 A2d 193; Biehler v White Metal Rolling & Stamping Corp. (3d Dist) 65 Ill App 3d 1001, 22 Ill Dec 634, 382 NE2d 1389; Martin v Howard Bros. Discount (La App 2d Cir) 412 So 2d 631; McGeorge v Grand Realty Trust, Inc., 316 Mass 373, 55 NE2d 694; Irle v Irle (Mo App) 284 SW2d 44; Burney v Washington Nat. Ins. Co., 68 NJ Super 373, 172 A2d 449; Davidson v Davidson, 191 Pa Super 305, 156 A2d 549; First State Bank v Dillard (Tex Civ App) 71 SW2d 407.

Footnote 88. United States Bond & Mortg. Co. v Reddick, 199 Ark 82, 133 SW2d 23; Western & A. R. Co. v Morrison, 102 Ga 319, 29 SE 104 (dictum); Monk v Monk, 243 La 429, 144 So 2d 384; Schwab on behalf of Schwab v Galuszka (La App 4th Cir) 463 So 2d 737, cert den (La) 464 So 2d 1386 and cert den and app dismd 474 US 803, 88 L Ed 2d 30, 106 S Ct 37; Ausch v St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (2d Dept) 125 App Div 2d 43, 511 NYS2d 919, app den 70 NY2d 610, 522 NYS2d 110, 516 NE2d 1223; Hodges v Hodges, 243 SC 299, 133 SE2d 816.

Footnote 89. Stoumen v Commissioner (CA3) 208 F2d 903, 54-1 USTC ¶ 9112, 45 AFTR 60 (brother-in-law); Williams v Williams, 86 Ariz 201, 344 P2d 161 (son-in-law); Northern Ins. Co. v Fischer (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 103 A2d 581 (brother-in-law); Nakis v Amabile (1st Dist) 103 Ill App 3d 840, 59 Ill Dec 498, 431 NE2d 1255 (cousin); Jolivet v Lafayette (La App 3d Cir) 408 So 2d 309, cert den (La) 413 So 2d 495, cert den 459 US 867, 74 L Ed 2d 124, 103 S Ct 147 (cousin); Burney v Washington Nat. Ins. Co., 68 NJ Super 373, 172 A2d 449 (son-in-law); Button v Knight, 95 Vt 381, 115 A 499 (mother-in-law); Lubner v Peerless Ins. Co., 19 Wis 2d 364, 120 NW2d 54 (close relatives who were in courtroom during trial).

Footnote 90. United States ex rel. Young v Rundle (ED Pa) 308 F Supp 147; Ford v United States (CA5 Tex) 210 F2d 313, 54-1 USTC ¶ 9233, 45 AFTR 319; Clayton v United States (CA9 Wash) 152 F2d 402; Marrone v State (Alaska) 359 P2d 969; State v Leecan, 198 Conn 517, 504 A2d 480, 79 ALR4th 667, cert den 476 US 1184, 91 L Ed 2d 550, 106 S Ct 2922, habeas corpus den (CA2 Conn) 893 F2d 1434, cert den 496 US 929, 110 L Ed 2d 647, 110 S Ct 2627, habeas corpus dismissed (DC Conn) 822 F Supp 54 (common-law wife); State v Hassard, 45 Hawaii 221, 365 P2d 202; People v Tervin (4th Dist) 23 Ill App 3d 409, 318 NE2d 656; Commonwealth v Happnie, 3 Mass App 193, 326 NE2d 25; State v Lowery, 49 NJ 476, 231 A2d 361; People v Rodriguez (2d Dept) 38 NY2d 95, 378 NYS2d 665, 341 NE2d 231; Hampton v State, 7 Okla Crim 291, 123 P 571; Fisher v State (Tex Crim) 511 SW2d 506; Seyle v State (Wyo) 584 P2d 1081.

Footnote 91. United States v Welp (CA9 Or) 446 F2d 867, cert den 405 US 933, 30 L Ed 2d 808, 92 S Ct 991; State v Ruiz, 202 Conn 316, 521 A2d 1025; People v Carr (1st Dist) 114 Ill App 2d 370, 252 NE2d 912; State v Thomas, 127 La 576, 53 So 868; State v Clark (Mo App) 711 SW2d 928; State v Davis (Mo App) 686 SW2d 503; State v Martin, 32 NM 48, 250 P 842; Cooper v State (Tex App Texarkana) 783 SW2d 235.

Footnote 92. State v Michaels (Fla) 454 So 2d 560; State v Gardin, 251 Minn 157, 86 NW2d 711; State v Parker, 172 Mo 191, 72 SW 650.

Footnote 93. United States v Garcia (CA10 NM) 412 F2d 999, 69-2 USTC ¶ 9600, 24 AFTR 2d 69-5253; State v Greene, 209 Conn 458, 551 A2d 1231, 80 ALR4th 315; State v Reid, 193 Conn 646, 480 A2d 463; Harris v United States (Dist Col App) 430 A2d 536; Contreras v State, 242 Ga 369, 249 SE2d 56; People v Morando (1st Dist) 169 Ill App 3d 716, 120 Ill Dec 150, 523 NE2d 1061, app den 122 Ill 2d 587, 125 Ill Dec 229, 530 NE2d

257; State v Wilkins, 215 Kan 145, 523 P2d 728; Brown v State, 200 Miss 881, 27 So 2d 838; State v Sanders (Mo App) 619 SW2d 344; People v Rides, 273 NY 214, 7 NE2d 105; Commonwealth v Bright, 361 Pa Super 261, 522 A2d 573, app den 517 Pa 597, 535 A2d 1056; Simon v State (Tex Crim) 406 SW2d 460, cert den 386 US 968, 18 L Ed 2d 123, 87 S Ct 1054.

Footnote 94. Barnes v State, 31 Ala App 187, 14 So 2d 242, cert den 244 Ala 597, 14 So 2d 246 (party's wife's brother-in-law); People v Romero (1st Dist) 244 Cal App 2d 495, 53 Cal Rptr 260 (in-laws); People v McElroy (1st Dist) 81 Ill App 3d 1067, 36 Ill Dec 931, 401 NE2d 1069 (cousin); State v Boyd, 199 Iowa 1206, 200 NW 205, reh overr (Iowa) 203 NW 36 (stepson); Hamilton v Georgia Pacific Corp. (La App 1st Cir) 344 So 2d 400 (nephew); State v Hemphill (Mo App) 721 SW2d 86 (cousin and uncle); Commonwealth v Dorman, 377 Pa Super 419, 547 A2d 757, app den 524 Pa 617, 571 A2d 380 (cousin); Torres v State (Tex Crim) 552 SW2d 821 (sister-in-law); Thomas v State (Tex Crim) 519 SW2d 430 (prosecutor could call to jury's attention defendant's failure to call niece to testify on his behalf, but it was improper to suggest that the reason that the niece did not testify was that she was afraid of the defendant).

Footnote 95. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 242 et seq.

Footnote 96. United States v Smith (CA5 Ala) 591 F2d 1105; United States v Tapia-Lopez (CA9 Cal) 521 F2d 582; Ex parte Tomlin (Ala) 540 So 2d 668, on remand (Ala App) 540 So 2d 674, appeal after remand (Ala App) 591 So 2d 550; State v Holsinger, 124 Ariz 18, 601 P2d 1054; Ferry v State, 161 Ga App 795, 287 SE2d 732, 26 ALR4th 1; Simpson v State (Miss) 497 So 2d 424; State v Wyatt (Mo) 276 SW2d 86 (by implication); George v State, 98 Nev 196, 644 P2d 510; State v Frank, 92 NM 456, 589 P2d 1047; Commonwealth v Moore, 453 Pa 302, 309 A2d 569; Commonwealth v Whiting, 358 Pa Super 465, 517 A2d 1327; Jones v Commonwealth, 218 Va 732, 240 SE2d 526; State v Charlton, 90 Wash 2d 657, 585 P2d 142.

Footnote 97. United States ex rel. Young v Rundle (ED Pa) 308 F Supp 147; Marrone v State (Alaska) 359 P2d 969; State v Walker, 80 NJ 187, 403 A2d 1 (defendant waived privilege by testifying that he had been home with his wife at the time of the alleged offense); State v Ayers, 16 Or App 300, 518 P2d 190, cert den 419 US 1093, 42 L Ed 2d 686, 95 S Ct 687 (by implication); Collvins v State (Tex App Texarkana) 686 SW2d 647, petition for discretionary review ref (Oct 23, 1985).

Footnote 98. People v Wilson, 64 NY2d 634, 485 NYS2d 40, 474 NE2d 248.

Footnote 99. State v Scott, 20 Conn App 513, 568 A2d 1048, app den 214 Conn 802, 573 A2d 316; State v Francis (Tenn) 669 SW2d 85.

§ 251 --Employment relationship

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In the absence of special circumstances, a party's employee is generally considered to be under the party's control so that the party's failure to call the employee may lead to a missing witness inference. 1 However, some courts have rejected presumptions of availability arising from special relationships of a party and a witness, in favor of an analysis of various factors including one party's superior means of knowledge of the existence and identity of the witness; the nature of the testimony the witness would be expected to give in light of previous statements or declarations; and the relationship borne by the witness to a particular party as it would reasonably be expected to affect the witness' personal interest in the outcome of the litigation and make it natural that the witness would be expected to testify in favor of one party against the other. 2 A former employee is not ordinarily considered to be under the control of the party for the purpose of the missing witness rule, 3 but courts in some situations have justified the application of the rule permitting an adverse inference although the missing witness was no longer employed by the party at the time of the trial. 4 It has also been indicated that in an action by an employee against the employer, the employee-plaintiff is not entitled to a missing witness instruction because a fellow worker failed to testify, where there is no factual basis for concluding that the missing witness would have testified more favorably for the plaintiff or the corporate employer. 5

Similarly, it has generally been held that the failure of a principal to introduce the testimony of his agent entitles the opposing party to an inference that the testimony would have been adverse, if given. 6

In some cases it has been held that the employer or supervisor of a party stood in such close relation to him that his failure to call the superior as a witness justified an adverse inference, 7 but not where the supervisor was no longer employed by the party's employer, and the individual did not know the former supervisor's current address. 8 It has been suggested or held that the failure of a party to call fellow workers should justify an adverse inference, 9 but not when the fellow workers are equally available to both the plaintiff and the employer or other type of defendant. 10

Footnotes

Footnote 1. United States ex rel. Cannon v Smith (CA2 NY) 527 F2d 702 (detectives who were still government employees); Acme Boat Rentals, Inc. v J. Ray McDermott & Co. (CA5 La) 424 F2d 393; Wilcox v Kerr-McGee Corp. (ED La) 706 F Supp 1258; Grant v Arizona Public Service Co., 133 Ariz 434, 652 P2d 507; Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Ins. Co. v McGibboney, 245 Ark 1016, 436 SW2d 824; Thomas v United States (Dist Col App) 447 A2d 52 (recognizing rule); Tri-State Systems, Inc. v Department of Transp. (Fla App D1) 500 So 2d 212, 11 FLW 2193, review den (Fla) 506 So 2d 1041 (government employee); Western & A. R. Co. v Morrison, 102 Ga 319, 29 SE 104; Johnson v Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. (4th Dist) 233 Ill App 3d 425, 174 Ill Dec 583, 599 NE2d 129, app den 147 Ill 2d 627, 180 Ill Dec 150, 606 NE2d 1227 and cert den (US) 124 L Ed 2d 246, 113 S Ct 2335; Shiner v Friedman (1st Dist) 161 Ill App 3d 73, 112 Ill Dec 253, 513 NE2d 862; Slade v Slade, 337 Ill App 575, 86 NE2d 425 (auditor); Rigouts v Larkan, 244 La 479, 153 So 2d 363; Hawthorne v Kinder Corp. (La App 2d Cir) 513 So 2d 509; Commonwealth v United Food Corp., 374 Mass 765, 374 NE2d 1331; Patton v Oakman, 298 Mich 672, 299 NW 761; Ellerman v Skelly Oil Co., 227 Minn 65, 34 NW2d 251, 5 ALR2d 886; Lambert v Hamlin, 73 NH 138, 59 A 941; Michaels v Brookchester, Inc., 26 NJ 379, 140 A2d 199; Schultz v Hinz, 20 NJ Super 346, 90 A2d 19; Trainor v Oasis Roller World, Inc. (1st Dept) 151 App Div 2d 323, 543

NYS2d 61, appeal after remand (1st Dept) 168 App Div 2d 235, 562 NYS2d 501; Ridge v Norfolk S. R. Co., 167 NC 510, 83 SE 762; Alexander v Wilkes-Barre Anthracite Coal Co., 254 Pa 1, 98 A 794; Duckworth v First Nat. Bank, 254 SC 563, 176 SE2d 297; Brown v State, 1 Tenn Crim 294, 441 SW2d 485 (adverse inference against criminal defendant who did not call employee); Dealers Supply Co. v First Christian Church, 38 Tenn App 568, 276 SW2d 769; John Deere Co. v May (Tex App Waco) 773 SW2d 369, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12271, writ den (Dec 13, 1989) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Feb 7, 1990); Dunn Bros. Pipe Line Contractors v Caldwell (Tex Civ App) 224 SW2d 765; Evans v State Compensation Director, 150 W Va 161, 144 SE2d 663 (ovrld on other grounds by Brogan v Workers' Compensation Comm'r, 174 W Va 517, 327 SE2d 694).

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine witness with employment relationship to party—modern cases, 80 ALR4th 405.

Footnote 2. Kelly v Jackson (Mo) 798 SW2d 699.

Footnote 3. D.S. Magazines, Inc. v Warner Publisher Services, Inc. (SD NY) 640 F Supp 1194; Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine v George A. Fuller Co. (CA7 Ill) 719 F2d 1335, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 635, appeal after remand (CA7 Ill) 776 F2d 198, later proceeding (CA7 Ill) 801 F2d 908, 5 FR Serv 3d 1242; RKO Bottlers of Forrest City, Inc. v Halley, 265 Ark 129, 577 SW2d 409; New England Whalers Hockey Club v Nair, 1 Conn App 680, 474 A2d 810; Buckley v R. H. Johnson & Co. (Super) 41 Del 546, 25 A2d 392; Goshey v Dunlap (1st Dist) 16 Ill App 3d 29, 305 NE2d 648; Universal C. I. T. Corp. v Kennedy (La App 1st Cir) 185 So 2d 542; Heina v Broadway Fruit Market, Inc., 304 Mass 608, 24 NE2d 510; Urban v Public Bank, 365 Mich 279, 112 NW2d 444; Hahn v Aetna Finance Co., 251 Minn 315, 87 NW2d 588; Zuber v Northern P. R. Co., 246 Minn 157, 74 NW2d 641; Ellerman v Skelly Oil Co., 227 Minn 65, 34 NW2d 251, 5 ALR2d 886; Farley v Johnny Londoff Chevrolet, Inc. (Mo App) 673 SW2d 800; Hershkovitz v St. Michel (2d Dept) 143 App Div 2d 809, 533 NYS2d 344; Sachs v Fumex Sanitation, Inc. (2d Dept) 75 App Div 2d 595, 426 NYS2d 817; Peugeot Motors of America, Inc. v Stout, 310 Pa Super 412, 456 A2d 1002, 36 UCCRS 34; Helms v T & L Bldg. Contractors, Inc., 287 SC 605, 340 SE2d 548.

Footnote 4. United Broadcasting Co. v Armes (CA5 Tex) 506 F2d 766, 19 FR Serv 2d 888, cert den 421 US 965, 44 L Ed 2d 452, 95 S Ct 1953; King v Karpe (4th Dist) 170 Cal App 2d 344, 338 P2d 979; Donnelly v Washington Nat. Ins. Co. (1st Dist) 136 Ill App 3d 78, 90 Ill Dec 605, 482 NE2d 424; Santiemmo v Days Transfer, Inc. (1st Dist) 9 Ill App 2d 487, 133 NE2d 539; Clark v Skaggs Cos. (Mo App) 724 SW2d 545; Central Nat. Gulfbank v Comdata Network, Inc. (Tex App Corpus Christi) 773 SW2d 626.

An adverse inference from failure of a party to call a former employee was proper where there was no showing that he was beyond the reach of process or that his whereabouts were unknown. White v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (Mo App) 218 SW2d 795.

Footnote 5. Felice v Long Island R. Co. (CA2 NY) 426 F2d 192, cert den 400 US 820, 27 L Ed 2d 47, 91 S Ct 37.

Footnote 6. Milbank Mut. Ins. Co. v Wentz (CA8 ND) 352 F2d 592 (insurance company's failure to call agent); Christian Benev. Burial Ass'n. v Huff, 241 Ala 119, 1 So 2d 390; Jones v Jones, 227 Ark 836, 301 SW2d 737 (insurance agent); Masterson v Pig'n Whistle Corp. (2nd Dist) 161 Cal App 2d 323, 326 P2d 918; Ezzo v Geremiah, 107 Conn 670, 142 A 461; Arnone v Anzalone (La App 1st Cir) 481 So 2d 1047 (insurance agent); Matthews v National Fidelity Ins. Co., 228 SC 124, 89 SE2d 95; Shelby Mut. Ins. Co. v Wilson, 53 Tenn App 428, 383 SW2d 791.

Where a person acting for the defendant in a personal injury case engaged a photographer to take photographs of the highway where the accident occurred, it was held in Woodman v Peck, 90 NH 292, 7 A2d 251, 122 ALR 1402, that it was proper for the plaintiff's counsel to comment on the failure to present such person as a witness to prove the instructions given the photographer, and to suggest to the jury that his evidence, if presented, would have been unfavorable to defendant.

Failure of a fire insurance company to call its adjuster warranted an inference that his testimony would have been unfavorable to the company's contention. American Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v Green, 233 SC 588, 106 SE2d 265.

Footnote 7. Milton v United States, 71 App DC 394, 110 F2d 556; Bartlett v Cain (Mo App) 366 SW2d 491 (comment allowed on the absence of plaintiff's boss).

Footnote 8. Goshey v Dunlap (1st Dist) 16 Ill App 3d 29, 305 NE2d 648.

Footnote 9. Felice v Long Island R. Co. (CA2 NY) 426 F2d 192, cert den 400 US 820, 27 L Ed 2d 47, 91 S Ct 37; United States v Stevenson, 138 US App DC 10, 424 F2d 923; Hughes v Chrysler Corp. (La App 4th Cir) 216 So 2d 636; Wooten v Thompson (La App 1st Cir) 69 So 2d 557; State v Collins (Mo App) 587 SW2d 303; McGowan v Nelson, 36 Mont 67, 92 P 40; Bayer v Frank P. Farrell, Inc., 69 NJ Super 347, 174 A2d 221, certif den 36 NJ 597, 178 A2d 388.

Footnote 10. Ponce v Industrial Com. (App) 120 Ariz 134, 584 P2d 598; George v United Fruit Co. (La App 4th Cir) 131 So 2d 360; Zipp v Gasen's Drug Stores, Inc. (Mo) 449 SW2d 612.

§ 252 --Physician-patient relationship

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

An adverse inference can be drawn from a failure to call a treating physician as a witness, usually based on the view that a physician is or presumed to be available to the patient for the purposes of the missing witness inference. 11 However, the presumption that a treating physician is more available to the patient may be rebutted by the facts and circumstances of the particular case. 12 Former treating physicians may not be under the control of a party or willing to provide favorable testimony, 13 although the burden is on the party opposing the missing witness inference to show that the former doctor was not available or under his or her control. 14

A party's waiver of the physician-patient privilege usually renders the physician equally available to testify for either party, thereby making the inference unnecessary, 15 unless the physician is not considered "available" to the other party for other reasons, such as personal interest. 16 However, a refusal to waive the privilege makes the doctor unavailable to the defense, justifying an inference that the testimony would be unfavorable to the plaintiff. 17

When a defendant has a physician examine the plaintiff, but then fails to call the doctor as a witness, an adverse inference against the defendant may be warranted, 18 unless the doctor is not within the defendant's power to produce. 19

Footnotes

Footnote 11. Cromling v Pittsburgh & L. E. R. Co. (CA3 Pa) 327 F2d 142; Townsend v Sullivan, 149 Conn 666, 183 A2d 266; Beardsley v Suburban Coach Co., 83 Ga App 381, 63 SE2d 911; Pattison v B.F. Goodrich Co. (La App 4th Cir) 522 So 2d 1212; Paxton v American Family Mut. Ins. Co. (Mo App) 682 SW2d 896; Wilson v Bodian (2d Dept) 130 App Div 2d 221, 519 NYS2d 126; Martin v Estrella, 107 RI 247, 266 A2d 41; American Ben. Life Ins. Co. v Hill Country Life Ins. Co. (Tex Civ App Fort Worth) 582 SW2d 227, writ ref n r e (Oct 17, 1979) and reh of writ of error overr (Nov 21, 1979).

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or question examining doctor—modern cases, 77 ALR4th 463.

Footnote 12. O'Donnell v Heutel (Mo App) 637 SW2d 377 (orthopedist was equally available to both parties, where the patient did not chose orthopedist but was referred to him, both parties had equal access, and no previous statements existed to indicate whether the orthopedist's testimony would be harmful to either party).

Proof of the existence of the relationship alone will not satisfy the burden of availability, as it must also be shown that the patient can secure the doctor's presence in court. McGloin v Southington, 15 Conn App 668, 546 A2d 906, app den 209 Conn 813, 550 A2d 1083.

Footnote 13. Wilson v Bodian (2d Dept) 130 App Div 2d 221, 519 NYS2d 126; Oswald v Heaney (2d Dept) 70 App Div 2d 653, 416 NYS2d 826.

Footnote 14. Shiner v Insetta (Sup App T) 137 Misc 2d 1012, 525 NYS2d 982.

Footnote 15. Patania v Silverstone, 3 Ariz App 424, 415 P2d 139 (criticized on other grounds by Buffa v Scott (App) 147 Ariz 140, 708 P2d 1331); Magda v Johns, 374 Mich 14, 130 NW2d 902; Dubois v Clark, 253 Minn 556, 93 NW2d 533; Ward v Foster (Miss) 517 So 2d 513.

The physician-patient privilege is discussed in 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 436 et seq.

Footnote 16. Eickmann v St. Louis Public Service Co. (Mo) 323 SW2d 802.

Footnote 17. Jackson v Brumfield (Miss) 458 So 2d 736.

Footnote 18. Hays v Viscome, 122 Cal App 2d 135, 264 P2d 173, 39 ALR2d 1435; Dugan v Weber (1st Dist) 175 Ill App 3d 1088, 125 Ill Dec 598, 530 NE2d 1007, 77

ALR4th 447, app den 124 Ill 2d 554, 129 Ill Dec 148, 535 NE2d 913; Hollembaek v Dominick's Finer Foods, Inc. (1st Dist) 137 Ill App 3d 773, 92 Ill Dec 382, 484 NE2d 1237; Parnell v Monroe (La App 2d Cir) 98 So 2d 820; Stacy v Goff, 241 Minn 301, 62 NW2d 920; Hamilton v Ross (Mo) 304 SW2d 812; Parentini v S. Klein Dept. Stores, Inc., 94 NJ Super 452, 228 A2d 725, certif den 49 NJ 371, 230 A2d 402; Grey v United Leasing, Inc. (1st Dept) 91 App Div 2d 932, 457 NYS2d 823; Feldstein v Harrington, 4 Wis 2d 380, 90 NW2d 566.

Footnote 19. Herbert v Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (CA5 La) 911 F2d 1044, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 273, reh den, en banc (CA5 La) 917 F2d 559.

§ 253 --Attorney-client relationship

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Some courts have been reluctant to base an adverse inference on the failure of a party to call his attorney to testify, particularly in view of the privileged nature of the attorney-client relationship, 20 and in several cases have refused to draw such an inference. 21 On other occasions, however, such an adverse inference has been drawn, 22 particularly in cases where the attorney-client privilege does not apply or has been waived. 23

In post-conviction proceedings, the petitioner's failure to present testimony from the attorney who represented him or her in the criminal proceedings has usually resulted in an adverse inference or presumption against the petitioner. 24

Footnotes

Footnote 20. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 337 et seq.

Footnote 21. Ravenscroft v Stull, 280 Ill 406, 117 NE 602; Lipton Realty, Inc. v St. Louis Housing Authority (Mo App) 705 SW2d 565, 78 ALR4th 557.

Annotation: Adverse presumption or inference based on party's failure to produce or examine that party's attorney—modern cases, 78 ALR4th 571.

Footnote 22. Harris v Commissioner (CA5) 461 F2d 554, 72-1 USTC ¶ 12853, 29 AFTR 2d 72-1587 (taxpayer's counsel had drafted trust documents); Coal Processing Equipment, Inc. v Campbell (SD Ohio) 578 F Supp 445, 211 USPQ 986 (patent holder's testimony that he had relied on the advice of his attorney when sending infringement letters was undercut by the fact that the attorney did not testify); Re Unit, Inc. (BC SD Ohio) 45 BR 425 (attorney had taken lead in settlement negotiations for limited partnership); Leitch v Gay, 64 Cal App 2d 16, 147 P2d 631; Marcus v Marcus, 175 Conn 138, 394 A2d 727 (need for attorney to testify regarding the intent of the parties and the drafting of a separation agreement); Fried v Bradley, 219 La 59, 52 So 2d 247; Guilbeau v C & D Reprographics-Lafayette, Inc. (La App 3d Cir) 568 So 2d 206, cert den (La) 571

So 2d 653 (attorney who drafted lease); Welsh v Lagasse (La App 4th Cir) 128 So 2d 705 (failure of attorney to explain real estate transaction he handled); Sebree v Rosen (Mo) 393 SW2d 590; Brandolini v Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, etc., 358 Pa 303, 56 A2d 662; Arnold v Yarborough (App) 281 SC 570, 316 SE2d 416 (noting need to support defendant's position that his attorney had proceeded without authority); Bayou Drilling Co. v Baillio (Tex Civ App Houston (1st Dist)) 312 SW2d 705, writ ref n r e (Oct 1, 1958); Macon v Commonwealth, 187 Va 363, 46 SE2d 396.

Where an attorney was the scrivener and a subscribing witness to a will, his failure to testify must be considered as a material and damaging circumstance against the proponents. Re Estate of McFadden, 177 Pa Super 37, 108 A2d 247.

Footnote 23. Failure of defendants to call the attorney, who drafted a joint will, to testify as to statements made to him by the parties who executed the will, such statements not being privileged, raised an inference that his testimony would have been adverse if produced. Van Houten v Whitaker (2nd Dist) 169 Cal App 2d 510, 337 P2d 900.

When the defendant testified as to legal advice given him he waived the privilege he could have otherwise had asserted to testimony of his attorney, and such waiver also raises an inference that testimony would be unfavorable and allows comment to the jury on the failure to call the attorney as a witness. McClanahan v United States (CA5 Tex) 230 F2d 919, cert den 352 US 824, 1 L Ed 2d 47, 77 S Ct 33.

Footnote 24. Bell v State, 243 Ark 839, 422 SW2d 668; Dickson v State (Ind) 533 NE2d 586; McChristion v State (Ind) 511 NE2d 297; Schmittler v State, 228 Ind 450, 93 NE2d 184 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Lindsey, 231 Ind 126, 106 NE2d 230); State ex rel. Schuler v Tahash, 278 Minn 302, 154 NW2d 200; Commonwealth ex rel. Spader v Myers, 187 Pa Super 654, 145 A2d 870; Lampkins v State, 51 Wis 2d 564, 187 NW2d 164.

§ 254 Failure to examine witnesses as to particular issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The fact that a witness is called and gives testimony but is not examined as to some of the issues in the case as to which he apparently has information has been held to justify an inference against the party calling the witness that such testimony, if elicited, would have been unfavorable. 25 Any relationship between the party and the witness, either economic, professional, or familial, gives weight to such inference. 26

When a party calls a witness and questions her about some issues, that party cannot then comment about the failure of the opposing party to produce that witness and question her on other issues. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Balcus v Sterling Express Co., 94 NH 270, 51 A2d 479; Anderson v Dutton, 100 Vt 464, 139 A 210.

Where the plaintiff in an action arising from an automobile accident failed to question her guest passenger about the accident itself, the questioning being confined merely to her injuries, the presumption was that the testimony of the passenger relating to the cause of the accident would have been adverse. Talbot v Eusea (La App 4th Cir) 151 So 2d 531.

Failure to examine further the attending physician called as a witness by the defendant on another issue, after he incidentally made a statement favorable to the plaintiff, warrants the inference that his testimony would have been unfavorable, in that respect, to the defendant. Gibson County Electric Membership Corp. v Hall, 32 Tenn App 394, 222 SW2d 689.

Footnote 26. Carson v State, 80 Tex Crim 311, 190 SW 145 (doctors); Anderson v Dutton, 100 Vt 464, 139 A 210 (wife).

Footnote 27. Anderson v Universal Delta (1st Dist) 90 Ill App 2d 105, 234 NE2d 21.

§ 255 Corroborative or cumulative testimony

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The failure of a party to call a witness to prove facts does not give rise to an inference that the testimony of the witness, if he had been called, would have been unfavorable to such party, where other qualified witnesses have testified for the party concerning such facts, 28 or such facts have been admitted by the pleadings of the opposite party 29 or otherwise, 30 so that the testimony of the uncalled witness would have been merely cumulative or corroborative. Under this rule, a party is not bound to introduce every witness who might know anything about the matter at issue, at the risk of being burdened with an unfavorable inference because of his failure to do so. 31 A party should not be forced to act at its peril when determining that the testimony of a particular witness is not necessary, 32 and the testimony of a possible witness that is for any reason comparatively unimportant, cumulative, or inferior to what has been offered should be dispensed with on the ground of expense and inconvenience, without anticipating that an adverse inference will be created. 33 Similarly, testimony may be considered cumulative, in view of the witness's testimony at a deposition, if the deposition testimony was not of a weak or inferior nature so as to create an unfavorable presumption, 34 where nothing in the deposition testimony gives rise to a sound inference that the witness's testimony at trial would have been unfavorable, 35 or where the deposition indicated that it would be doubtful that the missing witness could have shed any more light on the question at issue. 36 Some courts have adopted the view, however, that while no unfavorable inference arises, as a matter of law, from the failure of a party to call available witnesses where he has introduced other witnesses who testified concerning the same matters, yet the jury is at liberty to consider such an omission and to draw from it whatever inferences it may deem warranted under the circumstances. 37

The failure of a party to introduce an available witness to corroborate a witness who has been contradicted by other witnesses has been held in some cases to give rise to an inference that the testimony so withheld would have been unfavorable. 38 And in numerous cases the failure of a party to produce an available witness to corroborate the testimony of another witness on a disputed point has been treated by the courts as a suspicious circumstance. 39

Testimony by character witnesses does not elucidate the transaction at issue, and where several character witnesses have already been presented, the testimony of additional character witnesses is cumulative. Thus, in such a situation, even if assuming that the missing witness rule applies to character witnesses, the jury should not be required to speculate why the defendant did not call other available character witnesses. 40

§ 255 ----Corroborative or cumulative testimony [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Although the State is not required to corroborate a victim's testimony, when the key witness's credibility has been put in issue, it cannot be doubted that corroborating testimony may play a substantial role in the jury's weighing of the evidence, where accused was convicted of armed burglary, 3 counts of sexual battery with a deadly weapon, and armed robbery with a firearm, and the alleged victim's credibility as to the use of a weapon was attacked by the defense, and the State sought to bolster its case by introducing impermissible hearsay testimony from a police dispatch report and victim's examining physician. Conley v State (1993, Fla) 620 So 2d 180, 18 FLW S 298.

There was no prejudice in a first- degree murder prosecution from the court's exclusion of testimony concerning a bullet mark on the porch of the apartment where the killing occurred and the direction from which the bullet came where there was other testimony to the same effect and there was nothing particularly significant about the direction from which the shots were fired. State v Perry (1994) 338 NC 457, 450 SE2d 471.

Footnotes

Footnote 28. United States v Jennings (CA5 Miss) 724 F2d 436, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1625, cert den 467 US 1227, 81 L Ed 2d 877, 104 S Ct 2682, later proceeding (Miss) 533 So 2d 443; Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Larisey, 269 Ala 203, 112 So 2d 203; Howard v Obie, 190 Ga 394, 9 SE2d 666; Lewis v Cotton Belt Route-St. Louis Southwestern Ry. (5th Dist) 217 Ill App 3d 94, 159 Ill Dec 995, 576 NE2d 918, app den 142 Ill 2d 655, 164 Ill Dec 918, 584 NE2d 130; Chuhak v Chicago Transit Authority (1st Dist) 152 Ill App 3d 480, 105 Ill Dec 590, 504 NE2d 875; Watson v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (La App 4th Cir) 353 So 2d 403; Galloway v Gaspard (La App 1st Cir) 340 So 2d 579; Commonwealth v Groce, 25 Mass App 327, 517 NE2d 1297; Barringer v Arnold, 358 Mich 594, 101 NW2d 365; Wild v Roman, 91 NJ Super 410, 220 A2d 711; Weinstein v Daman (2d Dept) 132 App Div 2d 547, 517 NYS2d 278, app dismd without op 70 NY2d 872, 523 NYS2d 498, 518 NE2d 8 and app dismd without op 70 NY2d 951, 524 NYS2d 678, 519 NE2d 624; State v Davis, 73 Wash 2d 271, 438 P2d 185 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Braun, 82 Wash 2d 157, 509 P2d 742) as stated in State v Davis, 34

Wash App 546, 662 P2d 78, review den 100 Wash 2d 1005; Wright v Safeway Stores, Inc., 7 Wash 2d 341, 109 P2d 542, 135 ALR 1367; Montgomery v Chesapeake & Potomac Tel. Co., 121 W Va 163, 3 SE2d 58.

No jurisprudential presumption arose that plaintiff's wife who did not testify would have testified adversely to plaintiff where plaintiff positively testified and produced an independent witness of unquestioned veracity. Watson v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (La App 4th Cir) 353 So 2d 403.

Footnote 29. East T., V. & G. R. Co. v Kane, 92 Ga 187, 18 SE 18.

Footnote 30. Sollberger v Walcott (La App 1st Cir) 101 So 2d 483 (no unfavorable inference arose from a failure to call children who had witnessed the incident, given that there was no indication that the children could testify to anything other than what was admitted by all parties).

In a malpractice case involving the failure to diagnose a tumor, the trial judge erroneously gave a missing witness instruction with respect to the plaintiff's failure to call certain doctors who had treated him, where the defendant doctors did not dispute that there was a tumor and the hospital records were admitted into evidence. Weinstein v Daman (2d Dept) 132 App Div 2d 547, 517 NYS2d 278, app dismd without op 70 NY2d 872, 523 NYS2d 498, 518 NE2d 8 and app dismd without op 70 NY2d 951, 524 NYS2d 678, 519 NE2d 624.

Footnote 31. King v Robbins, 201 Kan 748, 443 P2d 308; Fulsom-Morris Coal & Mining Co. v Mitchell, 37 Okla 575, 132 P 1103; Baker v Baker, 24 Tenn App 220, 142 SW2d 737; Robinson v Commonwealth, 207 Va 66, 147 SE2d 730.

A malpractice plaintiff is not under an obligation to call as a witness every doctor he has seen or else be subject to an adverse inference. Alexander v Bergmann (Mo App) 666 SW2d 849.

Footnote 32. Ponce v Industrial Com. (App) 120 Ariz 134, 584 P2d 598.

Footnote 33. State v Brown, 169 Conn 692, 364 A2d 186.

Footnote 34. Meacham v Barber, 183 Ga App 533, 359 SE2d 424.

Footnote 35. Kerr v Allard, 130 NH 247, 536 A2d 197.

Footnote 36. United States v Warwick (CA7 Wis) 695 F2d 1063.

Footnote 37. Sugarman v Brengel, 68 App Div 377, 74 NYS 167.

Footnote 38. Pope v Hoopes (CC NJ) 84 F 927; Bates v Blitz, 205 La 536, 17 So 2d 816; Button v Knight, 95 Vt 381, 115 A 499.

Footnote 39. Nalls v United States (CA5 Tex) 240 F2d 707; Pruyn v Young, 51 La Ann 320, 25 So 125; Schwier v New York C. & H. R. R. Co., 90 NY 558; Galveston, H. & S. A. R. Co. v Walker, 38 Tex Civ App 76, 85 SW 28.

If an interested party tells an improbable story, the failure to call an available corroborating witness, who must be cognizant of the facts, will weigh heavily against such party, and the testimony of such a witness becomes more unsatisfactory upon failure to produce corroboration which might have been easily produced. Graham v Lounsbury, 341 Ill App 76, 93 NE2d 135.

Footnote 40. Woodland v State, 62 Md App 503, 490 A2d 286, cert den 304 Md 96, 497 A2d 819.

§ 256 Probative force and effect of inference

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The unfavorable inference arising from the failure of a party to call available witnesses 41 does not amount to substantive proof and cannot take the place of proof of a fact necessary to the other party's case; 42 it does not relieve the other party from the burden of proving his case. 43 The rule has been stated that the inference will not supply a missing link in an adversary's case and cannot be treated as independent evidence of a fact otherwise unproved. 44 Evidence of such conduct is persuasive rather than probative and cannot be invoked as substantive proof of any facts essential to the case of the opponent. 45 The extent of a party's right to invoke his opponent's failure to call an available witness, when such right exists, is to impair the value of the latter's proofs and to give greater credence to the positive evidence of the former, upon any issue upon which it is shown that such witness might have knowledge. 46

The unfavorable inference arising from the failure of a party to call an available material witness relates only to the question of contradicting or corroborating evidence that is already in the case. No inference may be drawn as to the possible testimony of the witness upon a new subject not touched upon by the proof in the case, but rather, the most the jury can be allowed to infer is that the witness would not have contradicted the proof offered by the adverse party, concerning the matter with which the witness was presumably familiar, or that the witness would not have corroborated or supported the proof offered by the party in whose control he was. 47 The inference from the failure to call the witness therefore is operative only in the process of weighing the evidence in the case; it cannot be used as the basis for a finding upon a point on which there is no evidence in the case at all. 48 Accordingly, the inference has the effect only of authorizing the jury to give greater weight to the evidence of the adverse party, or to give less weight to the evidence of the party who had failed to call the witness, than it might otherwise have done. 49 Conversely, a defendant is not entitled to a verdict at the close of the plaintiff's evidence, even though the plaintiff's failure to call witnesses who were readily available may raise a presumption that their testimony would have been adverse to the plaintiff, since this conclusion is merely a permissible inference available to the trier of fact and does not foreclose the possibility that other favorable inferences may support the plaintiff's case. 50

§ 256 ----Probative force and effect of inference [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

There was no prejudice in a first- degree murder prosecution from the court's exclusion of testimony concerning a bullet mark on the porch of the apartment where the killing occurred and the direction from which the bullet came where there was other testimony to the same effect and there was nothing particularly significant about the direction from which the shots were fired. State v Perry (1994) 338 NC 457, 450 SE2d 471.

Footnotes

Footnote 41. §§ 247 et seq.

Footnote 42. People v Wade (2nd Dist) 138 Cal App 2d 531, 292 P2d 303; Stimpson v Hunter, 234 Mass 61, 125 NE 155, 7 ALR 1067; Stocker v Boston & M. R. R., 84 NH 377, 151 A 457, 70 ALR 1320; Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730; National Life & Acci. Ins. Co. v Eddings, 188 Tenn 512, 221 SW2d 695.

In Stimpson v Hunter, 234 Mass 61, 125 NE 155, 7 ALR 1067, where a father denied liability for dental services rendered to, and at the request of, his minor son, it was held that the failure of the father and of the son to testify, although present in the courtroom, was not equivalent to affirmative proof of facts necessary to maintain the action.

Footnote 43. El Rancho, Inc. v First Nat. Bank (CA9 Nev) 406 F2d 1205, cert den 396 US 875, 24 L Ed 2d 133, 90 S Ct 150 and cert den 396 US 875, 24 L Ed 2d 133, 90 S Ct 154; National Life & Acci. Ins. Co. v Eddings, 188 Tenn 512, 221 SW2d 695; Vogue, Inc. v Cox, 28 Tenn App 344, 190 SW2d 307; British Columbia Breweries (1918), Ltd. v King County, 17 Wash 2d 437, 135 P2d 870; Stout v Sands, 56 W Va 663, 49 SE 428 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Kopa, 173 W Va 43, 311 SE2d 412).

The adverse presumption arising from the failure of a party to produce testimony relating to a fact peculiarly within his own knowledge does not operate to relieve a party from proving his necessary allegations merely because it is difficult or inconvenient to do so. Sturgeon v Baker, 312 Ky 338, 227 SW2d 202, 17 ALR2d 593.

Footnote 44. Estate of Bould (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 260, 287 P2d 8, hear den by sup ct as reported in (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 277, 289 P2d 15; Guthrie v Gillespie, 319 Mo 1137, 6 SW2d 886; National Life & Acci. Ins. Co. v Eddings, 188 Tenn 512, 221 SW2d 695; British Columbia Breweries (1918), Ltd. v King County, 17 Wash 2d 437, 135 P2d 870.

Footnote 45. Waller v State, 242 Ala 1, 4 So 2d 911; Estate of Bould (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 260, 287 P2d 8, hear den by sup ct as reported in (2nd Dist) 135 Cal App 2d 277, 289 P2d 15; Stocker v Boston & M. R. R., 84 NH 377, 151 A 457, 70 ALR 1320; Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730; British Columbia Breweries (1918), Ltd. v King County, 17 Wash 2d 437, 135 P2d 870.

Footnote 46. Stocker v Boston & M. R. R., 84 NH 377, 151 A 457, 70 ALR 1320.

Footnote 47. Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730.

Footnote 48. Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730.

Footnote 49. Laffin v Ryan (3d Dept) 4 App Div 2d 21, 162 NYS2d 730.

Footnote 50. Williams v Vaughan, 214 Va 307, 199 SE2d 515.

§ 257 Failure or refusal of party in civil case to testify

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In a few jurisdictions it has been held that in a civil case the failure or refusal of a party to testify with respect to material facts peculiarly within his knowledge does not give rise to an adverse inference against him. 51 In most jurisdictions, however, the rule is that the failure or refusal of a party to testify under such circumstances gives rise to an inference that his testimony, if it had been elicited, would have been unfavorable to his cause or defense. 52

More properly, it has been said that while ordinarily, in a civil action, the failure to testify, standing alone, counts for naught against a party, and the jury should presume nothing from it, when the case is such as to call for an explanation, or the evidence is such as to call for a denial, the situation is different. 53 In any event, an unfavorable inference does not arise from the refusal or failure of a party to testify to material facts in issue where he has no personal knowledge of such facts, 54 or where such facts are fully known to other witnesses, 55 or where it is unnecessary for him to testify, 56 or where he has a good excuse for not attending the trial. 57

Where a party, without his own testimony, makes out a prima facie case that is not rebutted by evidence on the other side, his unexplained failure to testify does not raise any unfavorable inference against him. 58 Conversely, where a party who has the burden of proof fails to make out a prima facie case, the failure of the opposing party to testify does not raise any unfavorable inference against the latter. 59

The fact that a party does not testify on direct examination does not give rise to an adverse inference where he does testify on cross-examination as to all facts that the opposing party seeks to elicit. 60 Likewise, the fact that a party does not testify at his pretrial deposition does not give rise to an unfavorable inference against him where he later testifies at the trial. 61

It is generally held that the failure to testify fully of a party taking the stand raises an unfavorable inference against him. 62 The refusal of a party taking the stand to answer questions that involve no self-incrimination or privileged communications raises an inference that his answers to such questions would be adverse to his interests. 63 And drawing an adverse inference from a defendant's failure to take the stand in his own behalf in a civil action does not infringe on his privilege against self-incrimination. 64

The unfavorable inference arising from the failure of a party in a civil action to testify does not constitute affirmative proof of the facts sought to be established through such party. 65 The inference drawn from the failure to testify does not supply the place of evidence of material facts and does not shift the burden of proof so as to relieve the party upon whom it rests of the necessity of establishing a prima facie case, although it may turn the scale when the evidence is closely balanced. 66 In other words, such an inference will not supply a missing link in an adversary's case, and cannot be treated as independent evidence of a fact otherwise unproved, but it can be considered in measuring the credibility or probative force of the evidence presented. 67

Footnotes

Footnote 51. McCallie v McCallie, 192 Ga 699, 16 SE2d 562; Thompson v Davitte, 59 Ga 472; Lowe v Massey, 62 Ill 47.

In McCallie v McCallie, 192 Ga 699, 16 SE2d 562, it was held that a statute providing that where a party who has evidence within his power by which he may repel a charge against him omits to produce it, a presumption arises that the charge is well founded, does not apply to raise a presumption against a party who fails to testify on a material issue. However, in Johnson v Johnson, 218 Ga 28, 126 SE2d 229, such statute was applied to raise a presumption of adultery on the part of a wife who failed to testify on such issue in a divorce action.

Footnote 52. Northern R. Co. v Page, 274 US 65, 71 L Ed 929, 47 S Ct 491; The New York, 175 US 187, 44 L Ed 126, 20 S Ct 67; Runkle v Burnham, 153 US 216, 38 L Ed 694, 14 S Ct 837; Daniel v United States (CA5 Tex) 234 F2d 102, cert den 352 US 971, 1 L Ed 2d 324, 77 S Ct 362; Meier v Commissioner (CA8) 199 F2d 392, 52-2 USTC ¶ 9514, 42 AFTR 705; Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Larisey, 269 Ala 203, 112 So 2d 203; Morgan v Kendall, 124 Ind 454, 24 NE 143; Henks v Panning, 175 Kan 424, 264 P2d 483; State v Jahraus, 117 La 286, 41 So 575; Arthur & Boyle v Morrow Bros., 131 Md 59, 101 A 777; Stimpson v Hunter, 234 Mass 61, 125 NE 155, 7 ALR 1067; Mooney v Davis, 75 Mich 188, 42 NW 802; Guthrie v Gillespie, 319 Mo 1137, 6 SW2d 886; Re Adoption of L, 56 NJ Super 46, 151 A2d 435; Rozan v Rozan (ND) 129 NW2d 694; Huyett v Reading, 34 Pa D & C2d 193; Weeks v McNulty, 101 Tenn 495, 48 SW 809; Mitchell v Watson, 58 Wash 2d 206, 361 P2d 744; Glasgow v Nicholls, 124 Wash 281, 214 P 165, 35 ALR 419, adhered to 127 Wash 693, 219 P 883, 35 ALR 427 and mod on other grounds 129 Wash 319, 225 P 1118; Kirchner v Smith, 61 W Va 434, 58 SE 614.

The failure of a party to testify in reference to an instrument, when its contents were peculiarly within his knowledge, justifies the presumption that its provisions would have been unfavorable to his position. Runkle v Burnham, 153 US 216, 38 L Ed 694, 14 S Ct 837.

In an action for personal injuries caused by a horse when it jumped out of an exhibition ring and struck plaintiff with its hoofs, the failure of the defendant in charge of the horse to testify, after it was shown that the horse had previously jumped out of the ring into an area where spectators could stand, justifies an inference that her testimony would not have been favorable to the defense. Talizin v Oak Creek Riding Club (1st Dist) 176 Cal App 2d 429, 1 Cal Rptr 514, 80 ALR2d 878.

Failure of the principal contractor to take the stand in a suit by a subcontractor to hold him for money due, which he alleges to have been released by an intermediate contractor, raises a presumption against him. Arthur & Boyle v Morrow Bros., 131 Md 59, 101 A Footnote 53. Cuthrell v Greene, 229 NC 475, 50 SE2d 525.

Footnote 54. Thomas v Ganezer, 137 Conn 415, 78 A2d 539; Wilson v St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 108 Mo 588, 18 SW 286; Johnson v Windham, 224 SC 502, 80 SE2d 234.

Footnote 55. Weeks v McNulty, 101 Tenn 495, 48 SW 809.

Footnote 56. Atlantic C. L. R. Co. v Larisey, 269 Ala 203, 112 So 2d 203.

Footnote 57. Wodehouse v Commissioner (CA2) 177 F2d 881, 83 USPQ 405, 49-2 USTC ¶ 9474, 38 AFTR 998.

Footnote 58. Hanifen v Lupton (CC Pa) 95 F 465, revd on other grounds (CA3 Pa) 101 F 462; Russo v Dinerstein, 138 Conn 220, 83 A2d 222.

Footnote 59. Hosford v Henry, 107 Cal App 2d 765, 238 P2d 91; Hinds v Bowen, 268 Mass 55, 167 NE 332.

Footnote 60. State ex rel. Johnson v Mooney (App, Cuyahoga Co) 86 Ohio L Abs 105, 171 NE2d 918.

Footnote 61. Buzard v Griffin, 89 Ariz 42, 358 P2d 155.

Footnote 62. Illinois Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v Malloy, 50 Ill 419.

Evasive answers in patent cases afford strong presumptive evidence against the respondents. Agawam Co. v Jordan, 74 US 583, 7 Wall 583, 19 L Ed 177, costs/fees proceeding (CCD Mass) 3 Cliff 239, 13 F Cas 1084, No 7516.

Footnote 63. United States ex rel. Vajtauer v Commissioner of Immigration, 273 US 103, 71 L Ed 560, 47 S Ct 302 (criticized on other grounds by Garner v United States, 424 US 648, 47 L Ed 2d 370, 96 S Ct 1178, 76-1 USTC ¶ 9301, 76-1 USTC ¶ 16218, 37 AFTR 2d 76-1042-A); Memphis Keeley Institute v Leslie E. Keeley Co. (CA6 Tenn) 155 F 964; Harding v American Glucose Co., 182 Ill 551, 55 NE 577, error dismd 187 US 651, 47 L Ed 349, 23 S Ct 841; Morgan v Kendall, 124 Ind 454, 24 NE 143; Belknap Hardware Co. v Sleeth, 77 Kan 164, 93 P 580; Aragon Coffee Co. v Rogers, 105 Va 51, 52 SE 843.

Footnote 64. Duratron Corp. v Republic Stuyvesant Corp., 95 NJ Super 527, 231 A2d 854, certif den 50 NJ 404, 235 A2d 897.

A party to a civil action need not incriminate himself, but he has no constitutional assurance that the jurors must seal up their minds to the only reasonable inference that could be drawn from his failure to give evidence that would throw light upon the matter before the court. Gerard v Young, 20 Utah 2d 30, 432 P2d 343.

Footnote 65. Stimpson v Hunter, 234 Mass 61, 125 NE 155, 7 ALR 1067.

Footnote 66. Russo v Dinerstein, 138 Conn 220, 83 A2d 222; Gilmore v Alexander, 268 Pa 415, 112 A 9.

5. Foreign Laws [258-260]

§ 258 Laws of foreign countries

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In some jurisdictions and cases it has been held that there is no presumption that the laws of foreign countries whose systems of jurisprudence are in no way connected with our own or the common law are the same as those of the forum, so that when made an issue in a case, such laws must be pleaded and proved like other facts. 68 In particular, these courts will not presume that the statutory law of a foreign country is the same as that of the forum. 69

Most courts subscribe to the view that in the absence of evidence to the contrary, it will be presumed that the common law prevails in a foreign country of common-law origin, and they will indulge such presumption rather than the presumption that the foreign law is the same as that of the forum. 70 Thus, the presumption may be indulged with respect to the law of the provinces of Canada, 71 or the law of England, 72 the jurisprudence of which is judicially known to be based upon the common law. However, some courts are committed to the presumption that the law of a foreign country is the same as that of the forum regardless of whether the law of the forum is common law or statutory, and since such presumption is not dependent upon the basis of the jurisprudence of the foreign country, the courts committed to it apply it without regard to whether the jurisprudence of the foreign country is based upon the common law or the civil law, or springs from a source not judicially known. 73

A number of cases reflect the broad view that in the absence of proof of the law of a foreign country which should properly govern a transaction or question involved, the law of the forum should be applied without any presumption as to the foreign law, because the law of the forum is the only law on the subject of which the court may take judicial cognizance, and the parties, by failing to prove the foreign law, have tacitly agreed to have their controversy determined under the local law. 74 This doctrine has frequently been applied by courts which are in general committed to the presumption in favor of the common law, but which could not indulge that presumption in the particular case because the foreign country was not of common-law origin. 75

Many courts presume that certain principles of law consonant with reason and natural justice in other countries are the same as the law of the place of trial. 76 Thus, the right of self-preservation, the privileges and exemptions of necessity, the common duties of humanity, and other similar characteristics of a civilized state of society, will be recognized as existent in foreign states. 77 In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it will be presumed that in countries in which the common law does not prevail, the law of such country recognizes an enforceable obligation arising out of a simple contract to pay money for a valuable consideration. 78 Similarly, the right to immunity from personal restraint and personal violence is such a natural right and so broadly recognized that he who sues for assault in another country need not in the first instance prove that the act complained of was unlawful where committed. 79

Footnotes

Footnote 68. Cuba R. Co. v Crosby, 222 US 473, 56 L Ed 274, 32 S Ct 132; Lloyd v Mathews, 155 US 222, 39 L Ed 128, 15 S Ct 70; Wickersham v Johnston, 104 Cal 407, 38 P 89; Banco De Sonora v Bankers' Mut. Casualty Co., 124 Iowa 576, 100 NW 532; Gordon v Knott, 199 Mass 173, 85 NE 184; Aslanian v Dostumian, 174 Mass 328, 54 NE 845; Robertson v Stead, 135 Mo 135, 36 SW 610; St. Sure v Lindsfelt, 82 Wis 346, 52 NW 308.

As to whether a court will take judicial notice of laws of another country, see §§ 112 et seq.

Annotation: Comment Note.—Presumption as to law of foreign countries, 75 ALR2d 529.

Practice References 21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction.

Footnote 69. Philp v Macri (CA9 Wash) 261 F2d 945, 75 ALR2d 523; Booth v Scott, 276 Mo 1, 205 SW 633, error dismd 253 US 475, 64 L Ed 1020, 40 S Ct 484.

Footnote 70. Connecticut Valley Lumber Co. v Maine C. R. R., 78 NH 553, 103 A 263; Leary v Gledhill, 8 NJ 260, 84 A2d 725; St. Sure v Lindsfelt, 82 Wis 346, 52 NW 308.

Footnote 71. Stewar's Adm'x v Bacon, 253 Ky 748, 70 SW2d 522.

Footnote 72. Wickersham v Johnston, 104 Cal 407, 38 P 89; Leary v Gledhill, 8 NJ 260, 84 A2d 725.

Footnote 73. The Hoxie (CA4 Md) 297 F 189, cert den 266 US 608, 69 L Ed 465, 45 S Ct 91 (Denmark); Wells Fargo & Co., Express, S. A., v Tribolet, 46 Ariz 311, 50 P2d 878 (Mexico); Seth v Lew Hing, 125 Cal App 729, 14 P2d 537, reh den 125 Cal App 738, 15 P2d 190 (China); Linton v Moorhead, 209 Pa 646, 59 A 264 (England).

Footnote 74. The "Scotland", 105 US 24, 15 Otto 24, 26 L Ed 1001, appeal after remand 118 US 507, 30 L Ed 153, 6 S Ct 1174; Pauska v Daus, 31 Tex 67.

The decision of The "Scotland", 105 US 24, 15 Otto 24, 26 L Ed 1001, appeal after remand 118 US 507, 30 L Ed 153, 6 S Ct 1174, was subsequently limited in Cuba R. Co. v Crosby, 222 US 473, 56 L Ed 274, 32 S Ct 132, to admiralty cases involving collision between vessels belonging to different nations, and so subject to no common law.

Two accepted theories governing the presumption as to foreign law are that foreign law is identical to the law of the forum, or that, dispensing with the presumption, the law of the forum is to govern unless the court is satisfied that some other law should displace it.

Michael v SS Thanasis (ND Cal) 311 F Supp 170.

Footnote 75. Leary v Gledhill, 8 NJ 260, 84 A2d 725; Ehag Eisenbahnwerte Holding Aktiengesellschaft v Banca Nationala A Romaniei, 306 NY 242, 117 NE2d 346.

Footnote 76. Tidewater Oil Co. v Waller (CA10 Okla) 302 F2d 638; Bethune v Bethune, 192 Ark 811, 94 SW2d 1043, 105 ALR 814; Mittenthal v Mascagni, 183 Mass 19, 66 NE 425.

The court cannot presume the laws of any country to have been enacted in terrorem or that they will be disregarded by its judicial authority. Talbot v Seeman, 5 US 1, 1 Cranch 1, 2 L Ed 15.

Footnote 77. Cuba R. Co. v Crosby, 222 US 473, 56 L Ed 274, 32 S Ct 132; Rice v Ames, 180 US 371, 45 L Ed 577, 21 S Ct 406; Wickersham v Johnston, 104 Cal 407, 38 P 89; Parrot v Mexican C. R. Co., 207 Mass 184, 93 NE 590; Gordon v Knott, 199 Mass 173, 85 NE 184; State v Morrill, 68 Vt 60, 33 A 1070.

Footnote 78. Parrot v Mexican C. R. Co., 207 Mass 184, 93 NE 590.

Footnote 79. Carpenter v Grand Trunk R. Co., 72 Me 388; State v Morrill, 68 Vt 60, 33 A 1070.

§ 259 Laws of sister states

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The rule has frequently been stated that in the absence of a showing to the contrary, the law of a sister state will be presumed to be the same as the law of the forum. ⁸⁰ Another way in which the rule has been stated is that unless the court's attention is directed to a statute or decision of another state bearing on a question before it, the law of such state will be presumed to be the same as that of the forum. ⁸¹ In the absence of proof to the contrary it will be presumed that the common law prevails and is in force in sister state which is judicially known to be of common-law origin, ⁸² and that the common law of such sister state is the same as the common law of the forum. ⁸³ In any event, the common law will not be presumed to be in force in a sister state the jurisprudence of which is not founded upon, or derived from, the common law. ⁸⁴ Even though a statute provides that the courts of a state shall take judicial notice of the law of other states, the presumption with respect to the common law continues, and will prevail unless overcome by evidence or by pertinent decisions or statutes called to or coming to the attention of the court. ⁸⁵

The court of one state cannot presume that the common law has been altered in another state, in the absence of proof to that effect. ⁸⁶ Thus, in a suit upon a contract made and to be executed in another state, the court will presume that the rules of the common law still prevail in such jurisdiction, unless, of course, proof is presented to the contrary. ⁸⁷

Footnotes

Footnote 80. Reeves v Schulmeier (CA5 Tex) 303 F2d 802, 97 ALR2d 718; Southern Express Co. v Owens, 146 Ala 412, 41 So 752; Brown v Wright, 58 Ark 20, 22 SW 1022; Mercantile Acceptance Co. v Frank, 203 Cal 483, 265 P 190, 57 ALR 696; American Woolen Co. v Maaget, 86 Conn 234, 85 A 583; Hagen v Viney, 124 Fla 747, 169 So 391; Thomas v Clarkson, 125 Ga 72, 54 SE 77 (ovrld on other grounds by Balboa Ins. Co. v A. J. Kellos Const. Co., 247 Ga 393, 276 SE2d 599) as stated in Preston Carroll Co. v Morrison Assur. Co., 173 Ga App 412, 326 SE2d 486; Gapsch v Gapsch, 76 Idaho 44, 277 P2d 278, 54 ALR2d 416; Occidental Chemical Co. v Agri Profit Systems, Inc. (2d Dist) 37 Ill App 3d 599, 346 NE2d 482; Mitchell v Burnett (5th Dist) 1 Ill App 3d 24, 272 NE2d 393; Blystone v Burgett, 10 Ind 28; Eddards v Suhr (Iowa) 193 NW2d 113; Re Estate of Drumheller, 252 Iowa 1378, 110 NW2d 833, 87 ALR2d 1233; Scott v Mundy & Scott, 193 Iowa 1360, 188 NW 972, 23 ALR 460; United States Banking v Veale, 84 Kan 385, 114 P 229; Williams v Pope Mfg. Co., 52 La Ann 1417, 27 So 851; Frericks v General Motors Corp., 274 Md 288, 336 A2d 118, 16 UCCRS 1232, appeal after remand 278 Md 304, 363 A2d 460, 20 UCCRS 371; Schultz v Howard, 63 Minn 196, 65 NW 363; Lyons v Metropolitan S. R. Co., 253 Mo 143, 161 SW 726; Bannard v Duncan, 79 Neb 189, 112 NW 353; Gaines v Jacobsen, 308 NY 218, 124 NE2d 290, 48 ALR2d 312; Woods v Western Union Tel. Co., 148 NC 1, 61 SE 653; Allen v Allen, 201 Okla 442, 209 P2d 172, 14 ALR2d 216, cert den 336 US 956, 93 L Ed 1110, 69 S Ct 891; Cushing v Perot, 175 Pa 66, 34 A 447; Moore v Hood, 30 SC Eq 311; Commercial Credit Co. v Nissen, 49 SD 303, 207 NW 61, 51 ALR 287, mod on other grounds 51 SD 357, 213 NW 943, 51 ALR 293; Loud v Hamilton (Tenn Ch) 51 SW 140; Burgess v Western Union Tel. Co., 92 Tex 125, 46 SW 794; Dickson v Mullings, 66 Utah 282, 241 P 840, 43 ALR 136; State v Shattuck, 69 Vt 403, 38 A 81; German American Bank v Wright, 85 Wash 460, 148 P 769; Save-Way Drug, Inc. v Standard Invest. Co., 5 Wash App 726, 490 P2d 1342; Osborn v Blackburn, 78 Wis 209, 47 NW 175, error dismd 149 US 766, 37 L Ed 960, 13 S Ct 1043.

As to whether a court will take judicial notice of laws of another state, see §§ 110 et seq.

Practice References 21 Am Jur POF2d 1, Law of Foreign Jurisdiction.

Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 51.

Footnote 81. Hanson v Hanson, 287 Mass 154, 191 NE 673, 93 ALR 701.

Footnote 82. Birmingham Waterworks Co. v Hume, 121 Ala 168, 25 So 806; Garner v Wright, 52 Ark 385, 12 SW 785; Thompson v Monrow, 2 Cal 99; Wolf v Burke, 18 Colo 264, 32 P 427; Slaton v Hall, 168 Ga 710, 148 SE 741, 73 ALR 891, conformed to 40 Ga App 288, 149 SE 306; Green v Johnson, 71 Ga App 777, 32 SE2d 443; Maloney v Winston Bros. Co., 18 Idaho 740, 111 P 1080; Forsyth v Barnes, 228 Ill 326, 81 NE 1028; Jackson v Pittsburgh, C., C. & S. L. R. Co., 140 Ind 241, 39 NE 663; Hudson v Northern P. R. Co., 92 Iowa 231, 60 NW 608; Carpenter v Grand Trunk R. Co., 72 Me 388; Dimpfel v Wilson, 107 Md 329, 68 A 561; Engstrand v Kleffman, 86 Minn 403, 90 NW 1054; Burdiet v Missouri P. R. Co., 123 Mo 221, 27 SW 453; Leary v Gledhill, 8 NJ 260, 84 A2d 725; Friedman v Greenberg, 110 NJL 462, 166 A 119, 87 ALR 849; Fisher v Fisher, 250 NY 313, 165 NE 460, 61 ALR 1523; Terry v Robbins, 128 NC 140, 38 SE 470; Hanson v Great N. R. Co., 18 ND 324, 121 NW 78.

In a suit upon a contract made and to be executed in another state, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, the court will presume that the rules of the common law prevail there. Pattillo v Alexander, 96 Ga 60, 22 SE 646.

Statutory restrictions on the alienation of property will not be presumed to be the law of another state, but the common-law rules in equity will be presumed to obtain there in the absence of proof on the subject. First Nat. Bank v National Broadway Bank, 156 NY 459, 51 NE 398.

Footnote 83. Southern Express Co. v Owens, 146 Ala 412, 41 So 752; Garner v Wright, 52 Ark 385, 12 SW 785; Mercantile Acceptance Co. v Frank, 203 Cal 483, 265 P 190, 57 ALR 696; Smith v Kent Oil Co., 128 Colo 80, 261 P2d 149; Hoxie v New York, N. H. & H. R. Co., 82 Conn 352, 73 A 754; Thomas v Clarkson, 125 Ga 72, 54 SE 77 (ovrld on other grounds by Balboa Ins. Co. v A. J. Kellos Const. Co., 247 Ga 393, 276 SE2d 599) as stated in Preston Carroll Co. v Morrison Assur. Co., 173 Ga App 412, 326 SE2d 486; Maloney v Winston Bros. Co., 18 Idaho 740, 111 P 1080; Baltimore & O. S. W. R. Co. v Read, 158 Ind 25, 62 NE 488; Scott v Mundy & Scott, 193 Iowa 1360, 188 NW 972, 23 ALR 460; Sykes v Citizens' Nat. Bank, 78 Kan 688, 98 P 206; Public Service Co. v Schneider's Adm'r, 260 Ky 334, 85 SW2d 676, 102 ALR 712; Strout v Burgess, 144 Me 263, 68 A2d 241, 12 ALR2d 939; American Garment Co. v Taylor, 308 Mass 527, 33 NE2d 296, 135 ALR 453; Hite v Hite, 301 Mass 294, 17 NE2d 176, 119 ALR 517; State ex rel. Shapiro v Wall, 187 Minn 246, 244 NW 811, 85 ALR 114; Wentz v Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 259 Mo 450, 168 SW 1166; Scott v Scott, 153 Neb 906, 46 NW2d 627, 23 ALR2d 1431; International Text-Book Co. v Connelly, 206 NY 188, 99 NE 722; Southworth v Morgan, 205 NY 293, 98 NE 490; Gooch v Faucett, 122 NC 270, 29 SE 362; Heater v Mittendorf (Hamilton Co) 72 Ohio App 4, 26 Ohio Ops 508, 38 Ohio L Abs 323, 50 NE2d 559, motion overr; Owens v Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Co., 58 RI 162, 192 A 158, 112 ALR 113, reh den 58 RI 268, 192 A 464, 112 ALR 124; Commercial Credit Co. v Nissen, 49 SD 303, 207 NW 61, 51 ALR 287, mod on other grounds 51 SD 357, 213 NW 943, 51 ALR 293; German American Bank v Wright, 85 Wash 460, 148 P 769.

Footnote 84. Brown v Wright, 58 Ark 20, 22 SW 1022; Garner v Wright, 52 Ark 385, 12 SW 785; Gatton v Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 95 Iowa 112, 63 NW 589; Owen v Boyle, 15 Me 147; Aslanian v Dostumian, 174 Mass 328, 54 NE 845.

The common law is not presumed to exist in the state of Louisiana. Peet v Hatcher, 114 Ala 514, 21 So 711.

Footnote 85. Strout v Burgess, 144 Me 263, 68 A2d 241, 12 ALR2d 939; Haggard v First Nat. Bank, 72 ND 434, 8 NW2d 5; Respole v Respole (CP) 34 Ohio Ops 1, 70 NE2d 465, 170 ALR 942.

Notwithstanding the Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act, the statutory rule of Nebraska refusing recognition to common-law marriages will be presumed by Nebraska courts to be the law of the state where the parties lived together, in the absence of pleading and presentation of the laws of that state. Scott v Scott, 153 Neb 906, 46 NW2d 627, 23 ALR2d 1431.

Annotation: Uniform Judicial Notice of Foreign Law Act, 23 ALR2d 1437.

Footnote 86. Vanderpoel v Gorman, 140 NY 563, 35 NE 932; Heater v Mittendorf (Hamilton Co) 72 Ohio App 4, 26 Ohio Ops 508, 38 Ohio L Abs 323, 50 NE2d 559, motion overr.

Footnote 87. Pattillo v Alexander, 96 Ga 60, 22 SE 646.

§ 260 --Statutory enactments

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

There is some difference of opinion as to whether the principle that in the absence of a showing to the contrary the laws of a sister state are presumed to be the same as those in the forum⁸⁸ extends to the statutory law of another state. While that principle, as thus stated, would appear to be broad enough to extend to such statutory law, there is a line of authorities which squarely supports the view that there is no presumption that the statutory law of another state is the same as that of the forum, unless it is a codification of the common law,⁸⁹ but rather the statutory law of another state is a fact that must be proved like any other fact.⁹⁰

On the other hand, a number of courts have adopted the rule that in the absence of proof of the statutory law of a sister state, the presumption is that it is the same as the statutory law of the state within which an action is brought.⁹¹ Such presumptions, however, do not extend to such statutory enactments as are penal in their nature,⁹² or which prescribe penalties and forfeitures.⁹³

Footnotes

Footnote 88. § 259.

Footnote 89. Standard Casing Co. v California Casing Co., 233 NY 413, 135 NE 834.

Footnote 90. Smith v Kent Oil Co., 128 Colo 80, 261 P2d 149; Thomas v Clarkson, 125 Ga 72, 54 SE 77 (ovrld on other grounds by Balboa Ins. Co. v A. J. Kellos Const. Co., 247 Ga 393, 276 SE2d 599) as stated in Preston Carroll Co. v Morrison Assur. Co., 173 Ga App 412, 326 SE2d 486; Sealy v Missouri, K. & T. R. Co., 84 Kan 479, 114 P 1077; Holbrook v Libby, 113 Me 389, 94 A 482; Cherry v Sprague, 187 Mass 113, 72 NE 456; Wilcox v Bergman, 96 Minn 219, 104 NW 955; Conrad v Fisher, 37 Mo App 352; First Nat. Bank v National Broadway Bank, 156 NY 459, 51 NE 398; O'Reilly v New York & N. E. R. Co., 16 RI 388, 17 A 171, supp op on other grounds 16 RI 395, 19 A 244 and (ovrld on other grounds by Woodward v Stewart, 104 RI 290, 243 A2d 917); Dickson v Mullings, 66 Utah 282, 241 P 840, 43 ALR 136; State v Shattuck, 69 Vt 403, 38 A 81.

In a controversy over a contract made in another state, it will not be presumed that such other state has any statute upon the subject, although there is one in the state of the forum. Meuer v Chicago, M. & S. P. R. Co., 11 SD 94, 75 NW 823.

The statute of limitations of the state in which a cause of action arose is not available in an action in another jurisdiction for the enforcement of such cause of action, unless offered in evidence. Eingartner v Illinois Steel Co., 94 Wis 70, 68 NW 664.

Footnote 91. Hobbs v Tom Reed Gold Mining Co., 164 Cal 497, 129 P 781; United Mercantile Agencies v Bissonnette, 155 Fla 22, 19 So 2d 466, 155 ALR 916; Gapsch v Gapsch, 76 Idaho 44, 277 P2d 278, 54 ALR2d 416; O'Brien v Rautenbush, 10 Ill 2d 167, 139 NE2d 222 (ovrld on other grounds by Rylander v Chicago S. L. R. Co., 17 Ill 2d 618, 161 NE2d 812); Re Kees' Estate, 239 Iowa 287, 31 NW2d 380; Williams v Pope Mfg. Co., 52 La Ann 1417, 27 So 851; Scott v Scott, 153 Neb 906, 46 NW2d 627, 23 ALR2d 1431; Baid's, Inc. v Frankel (Erie Co) 56 Ohio App 305, 9 Ohio Ops 391, 25 Ohio L Abs 27, 10 NE2d 787; Allen v Allen, 201 Okla 442, 209 P2d 172, 14 ALR2d 216, cert den 336 US 956, 93 L Ed 1110, 69 S Ct 891; Cousineau v Cousineau, 155 Or 184, 63 P2d 897, 109 ALR 643; Cushing v Perot, 175 Pa 66, 34 A 447; Pennsylvania R. Co. v Naive, 112 Tenn 239, 79 SW 124; Van Riper v Constitutional Government League, 1 Wash 2d 635, 96 P2d 588, 125 ALR 1100.

Footnote 92. St. Sure v Lindsfelt, 82 Wis 346, 52 NW 308.

Footnote 93. State ex rel. Beck v Associates Discount Corp., 168 Neb 298, 96 NW2d 55, mod on other grounds and reh den 168 Neb 803, 97 NW2d 583 and (ovrld on other grounds by Dailey v A. C. Nelsen Co., 178 Neb 881, 136 NW2d 186).

6. Communications [261-269]

§ 261 Presumptions regarding whether letter was mailed

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Proof of the failure of a letter to arrive at its destination raises a presumption that it was never mailed. 94 Thus, if there is no direct evidence that a letter was received, there must be evidence that the letter was duly mailed, otherwise the rule that proof of due mailing raises a presumption of receipt 95 is not available. 96 A presumption that a letter was mailed may arise from the testimony of the officer of a corporation that he wrote a letter and placed it in the regular course for mailing followed by mail going out from the corporation. 97

There is no presumption that a letter was mailed on the day of its date or on the day it was written; 98 and no presumption arises from the date of a postmark on a letter 99 that it was not put in the post office until that day, although the date of the postmark is some evidence that it was forwarded on the day named. 1

§ 261 ----Presumptions regarding whether letter was mailed [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Instruction to jury—Presumption that account mailed was received. 1 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Accounts and Accounting 1 Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev) Form 80.

Footnotes

Footnote 94. Matlock v Citizens' Nat. Bank, 43 Idaho 214, 250 P 648, 50 ALR 1418; American Family Ins. Group v Ford, 155 Ind App 573, 293 NE2d 524.

Footnote 95. § 262.

Footnote 96. U.S. Life Title Ins. Co. v Department of Commerce & Ins. (Tenn App) 770 SW2d 537.

Footnote 97. Myers v Moore-Kile Co. (CA5 Tex) 279 F 233, 25 ALR 1.

Although pertinent records of an insurer regarding the cancellation of its insured's policy had been destroyed by a fire, defendant sufficiently raised the presumption that it had properly addressed and mailed a notice of cancellation to its insured, where its witness, a member of the underwriting department of its assigned risk department, testified in detail as to when the notice of cancellation was drawn, its contents and type size, and the procedure followed in depositing it in the mail. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v Romero (1st Dept) 109 App Div 2d 712, 487 NYS2d 37.

Footnote 98. Phelan v Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 113 NY 147, 20 NE 827; Associates Discount v Barstow, 2 Ohio Misc 73, 30 Ohio Ops 2d 463, 205 NE2d 667.

Footnote 99. Schlobohm v Police Bd. of Chicago (1st Dist) 122 Ill App 3d 541, 78 Ill Dec 17, 461 NE2d 601.

Footnote 1. Shelburne Falls Nat. Bank v Townsley, 102 Mass 177.

In Copren v State Bar, 64 Nev 364, 183 P2d 833, 173 ALR 284, it was held that the possibility that envelopes were postmarked at a later date than that on which they were claimed to have been mailed is not sufficient to create a reasonable doubt as to the falsity of an affidavit of earlier mailing.

§ 262 Presumption of receipt of letter from proof of mailing

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

It is generally recognized that a presumption of the due receipt of a letter or of a communication through the mails arises upon proof that such letter or communication properly addressed to the addressee and properly stamped with sufficient postage was mailed—that is, deposited in the post office or other place where mail may properly and legally be deposited for collection and transmission. 2 The presumption is based on the probability that postal employees perform their duty in transmitting and delivering mail. 3 However, the evidence must establish the elements described above before the presumption can be invoked. 4

The rule that the receipt of a letter is presumed from its mailing is not affected by the contents of the letter. 5 Under the general rule stated, the due receipt of a necessary notice may be presumed from proof of the mailing of the notice properly addressed to the person to whom such notice is required to be given. 6 The presumption exists even where the receipt of the letter subjects the person sending it to a penalty. 7

The presumption of the receipt of a letter which was duly mailed is strengthened where the envelope bears a notice requesting the return of the letter to the sender if not delivered within a specified time and it appears that the letter was never returned. 8

◆ Recommendation: Since a sender becomes aware that a certified letter was not received, if it is returned and not signed for, it was suggested in one case that ordinary mailing should then be used to create the presumption of receipt. 9

When the usual course of business is for an agent to receive his principal's mail, the presumption is that the agent received it, rather than the principal. 10

The presumption that a letter properly mailed was received by the person to whom it was addressed is generally viewed as a presumption of fact, and not of law, 11 and hence subject to explanation by other facts in the case 12 and to rebuttal. 13 The presumption is ordinarily followed only in the absence of evidence to the contrary. 14 Furthermore, the presumption of receipt of a letter duly mailed will not apply where the law requires actual delivery of a letter 15 or, according to some decisions, where the person addressed has no opportunity to deny the receipt of a letter claimed to have been mailed to him. 16

◆ Caution: While evidence of mailing may be sufficient to give rise to an inference that a letter was received, it does not necessarily prove that the contents of the letter were communicated to a third party, which is an essential element of such causes of action as defamation. 17

§ 262 ----Presumption of receipt of letter from proof of mailing [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of mailing of letter creates rebuttable presumption that letter was delivered and received which merely shifts to challenging party burden of presenting credible evidence of nonreceipt and presumption may not be given conclusive effect without violating due process clause. State ex rel. Flores v State (1994) 183 Wis 2d 587, 516 NW2d 362.

For purposes of creating presumption that mailed letter was delivered and received, proof of office practice or routine as to mailing does not necessarily require testimony by person who actually typed or deposited letter. State ex rel. Flores v State (1994) 183 Wis 2d 587, 516 NW2d 362.

Footnotes

Footnote 2. Hagner v United States, 285 US 427, 76 L Ed 861, 52 S Ct 417; Davidson S.S. Co. v United States, 205 US 187, 51 L Ed 764, 27 S Ct 480; Atherton v Atherton, 181 US 155, 45 L Ed 794, 21 S Ct 544; Corry v Sylvia y Cia, 192 Ala 550, 68 So 891; State v Mays, 96 Ariz 366, 395 P2d 719; Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; German Nat. Bank v Burns, 12 Colo 539, 21 P 714; Console v Torchinsky, 97 Conn 353, 116 A 613; Thompson v Coe, 96 Conn 644, 115 A 219, 17 ALR 1233; American Surety Co. v Blake, 54 Idaho 1, 27 P2d 972, 91 ALR 153; Matlock v Citizens' Nat. Bank, 43 Idaho 214, 250 P 648, 50 ALR 1418; Keogh v Peck, 316 Ill 318, 147 NE 266, 38 ALR 1151; Roshek Realty Co. v Roshek Bros. Co., 249 Iowa 349, 87 NW2d 8; Shriver v Union Stockyards Nat. Bank, 117 Kan 638, 232 P 1062; McFerren v Goldsmith-Stern Co., 137 Md 573, 113 A 107, 18 ALR 1125; Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71; Merchants Nat. Bank v Detroit Trust Co., 258 Mich 526, 242 NW 739, 85 ALR 350; First Nat. Bank v Mid-Century Ins. Co. (Mo App) 559 SW2d 50; Farmer v Pitts, 108 Neb 9, 187 NW 95, 24 ALR 719; Hurley v Olcott, 198 NY 132, 91 NE 270; New York New Jersey Producer Dealers Cooperative, Inc. v Mocker (3d Dept) 59 App Div 2d 970, 399 NYS2d 280; Holloman v Southern R. Co., 172 NC 372, 90 SE 292; Myra Foundation v Harvey (ND) 100 NW2d 435, 76 ALR2d 1313; Kvale v Keane, 39 ND 560, 168 NW 74, 9 ALR 972; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Larocque v Rhode Island Joint Reinsurance Asso. (RI) 536 A2d 529; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925; U.S. Life Title Ins. Co. v Department of Commerce & Ins. (Tenn App) 770 SW2d 537; Southern Region Industrial Realty, Inc. v Chattanooga Warehouse & Cold Storage Co. (Tenn App) 612 SW2d 162, 27 ALR4th 259; W. E. Richmond & Co. v Security Nat. Bank, 16 Tenn App 414, 64 SW2d 863; Employers' Nat. Life Ins. Co. v Willits (Tex Civ App Amarillo) 436 SW2d 918, writ ref n r e (Mar 5, 1969) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Apr 2, 1969); Campbell v Gowans, 35 Utah 268, 100 P 397; Walworth v Seaver, 30 Vt 728; Hartford Fire Ins. Co. v Mutual Sav. & Loan Co., 193 Va 269, 68 SE2d 541, 31 ALR2d 1191; Lieb v Webster, 30 Wash 2d 43, 190 P2d 701; Antonwich v Home Life Ins. Co. (1935) 116 W Va 155, 179 SE 601.

Practice References Proof of mailing of letter, raising presumption of receipt. 7 Am Jur Proof of Facts 417, Mailing, Proof 1.

Footnote 3. Roshek Realty Co. v Roshek Bros. Co., 249 Iowa 349, 87 NW2d 8.

Footnote 4. State v Kleen (Mo) 481 SW2d 229.

Footnote 5. Rosenthal v Walker, 111 US 185, 28 L Ed 395, 4 S Ct 382.

Footnote 6. Minnick v State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (Super) 54 Del 125, 174 A2d 706; Keogh v Peck, 316 Ill 318, 147 NE 266, 38 ALR 1151; Bickerdike v Allen, 157 Ill 95, 41 NE 740; Pennypacker v Capital Ins. Co., 80 Iowa 56, 45 NW 408; Boston v Boston Port Dev. Co., 308 Mass 72, 30 NE2d 896, 133 ALR 515; Merchants Nat. Bank v Detroit Trust Co., 258 Mich 526, 242 NW 739, 85 ALR 350.

A postal card notice properly addressed and mailed will be presumed to have been received, in the absence of evidence that it was not. Holloman v Southern R. Co., 172

NC 372, 90 SE 292.

Footnote 7. Hagner v United States, 285 US 427, 76 L Ed 861, 52 S Ct 417.

Footnote 8. Roshek Realty Co. v Roshek Bros. Co., 249 Iowa 349, 87 NW2d 8; Hedden v Roberts, 134 Mass 38; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Lieb v Webster, 30 Wash 2d 43, 190 P2d 701.

Footnote 9. Larocque v Rhode Island Joint Reinsurance Asso. (RI) 536 A2d 529.

Footnote 10. Schutz v Jordan, 141 US 213, 35 L Ed 705, 11 S Ct 906.

Footnote 11. Schutz v Jordan, 141 US 213, 35 L Ed 705, 11 S Ct 906; Henderson v Carbondale Coal & Coke Co., 140 US 25, 35 L Ed 332, 11 S Ct 691; Pitts v Hartford Life & Annuity Ins. Co., 66 Conn 376, 34 A 95; Sullivan v Kuykendall, 82 Ky 483; Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71; Long Bell Lumber Co. v Nyman, 145 Mich 477, 108 NW 1019; Plath v Minnesota Farmers' Mut. Fire Ins. Asso., 23 Minn 479; Austin v Holland, 69 NY 571; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Campbell v Gowans, 35 Utah 268, 100 P 397; Walworth v Seaver, 30 Vt 728.

Footnote 12. Merchants Nat. Bank v Detroit Trust Co., 258 Mich 526, 242 NW 739, 85 ALR 350.

Footnote 13. § 266.

Footnote 14. Roshek Realty Co. v Roshek Bros. Co., 249 Iowa 349, 87 NW2d 8; Cox v Brookings International Life Ins. Co. (SD) 331 NW2d 299; Ebert v Ft. Pierre Moose Lodge # 1813 (SD) 312 NW2d 119.

Footnote 15. Commonwealth v O'Bryan, Utley & Co., 153 Ky 406, 155 SW 1126; Groton v Lancaster, 16 Mass 110.

Footnote 16. Cleghorn v State, 8 Ala App 272, 62 So 329.

Footnote 17. Young v First State Bank (Okla) 628 P2d 707.

§ 263 --Mailing and payment of postage

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is self evident that no presumption of the receipt of a letter can arise in the absence of proof of the proper mailing of the letter. 18 It must first appear that the letter was deposited in some post office, 19 or other place, 20 such as a mail chute, 21 where mail may properly and legally be deposited for collection.

Prepayment of postage is also one of the essential and necessary elements on which the presumption of the receipt of a letter is founded, and this fact must be made to appear before the courts will indulge in such presumption. 22 Many courts hold, however, that in view of the universality of the prepayment of postage on letters and mail, the inference of prepayment necessarily follows proof of mailing, 23 although this inference is not universally adopted. 24

Decisions in which the general statement is made that proof of the proper mailing of a letter or other communication raises the presumption of receipt, must be understood to include in the term "mailing," both addressing and stamping. 25 Moreover, in cases in which it is said that proof of proper mailing and addressing raises the presumption of receipt, it is evident that the courts mean to include stamping in the term "mailing." 26

Footnotes

Footnote 18. Reserve Ins. Co. v Johnson, 260 Iowa 740, 150 NW2d 632; Sawyer v Central Louisiana Electric Co. (La App 3d Cir) 136 So 2d 153; Suits v Order of United Commercial Travelers, 139 Minn 246, 166 NW 222.

Footnote 19. Keese v Beardsley, 190 Cal 465, 213 P 500, 26 ALR 1538; Matlock v Citizens' Nat. Bank, 43 Idaho 214, 250 P 648, 50 ALR 1418; Kvale v Keane, 39 ND 560, 168 NW 74, 9 ALR 972.

Footnote 20. Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925.

Footnote 21. Tobin v Taintor, 229 Mass 174, 118 NE 247.

Footnote 22. Keese v Beardsley, 190 Cal 465, 213 P 500, 26 ALR 1538; Hartford Trust Co. v West Hartford, 84 Conn 646, 81 A 244; Reserve Ins. Co. v Johnson, 260 Iowa 740, 150 NW2d 632; State v Kleen (Mo) 481 SW2d 229; Feder Silberberg Co. v McNeil, 18 NM 44, 133 P 975; Kvale v Keane, 39 ND 560, 168 NW 74, 9 ALR 972; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925.

Footnote 23. Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; Johnson v New York, N. H. & H. R. R., 111 Me 263, 88 A 988; Feder Silberberg Co. v McNeil, 18 NM 44, 133 P 975; People ex rel. Soer v Crane, 125 NY 535, 26 NE 736.

Footnote 24. Morton v Morton, 16 Colo 358, 27 P 718; Bankers Mut. Casualty Co. v Peoples Bank of Talbotton, 127 Ga 326, 56 SE 429.

Footnote 25. Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; Garland v Gaines, 73 Conn 662, 49 A 19; George F. Sloan & Bro. v Grollman, 113 Md 192, 77 A 577; Long Bell Lumber Co. v Nyman, 145 Mich 477, 108 NW 1019; Russell v Buckley, 4 RI 525.

Footnote 26. Schutz v Jordan, 141 US 213, 35 L Ed 705, 11 S Ct 906; Kimberly v Arms, 129 US 512, 32 L Ed 764, 9 S Ct 355; Rosenthal v Walker, 111 US 185, 28 L Ed 395, 4 S Ct 382; Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71; Austin v Holland, 69 NY 571.

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A correct address is one of the essential elements on which the presumption of the receipt of a letter from evidence of its proper mailing is founded; as a general rule, a failure to show that the letter was correctly addressed will deprive the sender of the benefit of such presumption. 27 No presumption arises that a person to whom a letter is sent by mail received it unless he resides in the city or town to which the letter is addressed. 28 The street and number of the addressee must ordinarily be included in the address, 29 although, where the addressee is a large corporation or a well-known public official, a more general and less definite designation or address may be sufficient. 30 There is no presumption that the addressee of a letter received it from the fact that it was not returned to the sender, if it was not directed to the place in which the addressee resided at the time. 31

Where it is shown that the postal authorities have been informed of a change in address, the law presumes that a communication addressed to a person at his former residence or place of business has been forwarded. 32

According to the view that is adopted in some jurisdictions, proof of the mailing of a letter carries with it the implication that it was properly addressed; 33 others hold that no such implication arises from the mere fact of mailing. 34 The more reasonable rule on this point would seem to be that while the inference from mailing is broad enough to include all things necessary to proper mailing in the general terms, including the prepayment of postage, 35 it does not go further and does not, therefore, imply that the letter was properly addressed to the addressee. 36

Footnotes

Footnote 27. Minnick v State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (Super) 54 Del 125, 174 A2d 706; Reserve Ins. Co. v Johnson, 260 Iowa 740, 150 NW2d 632; Goodwin v Provident Sav. Life Assur. Soc., 97 Iowa 226, 66 NW 157; Sawyer v Central Louisiana Electric Co. (La App 3d Cir) 136 So 2d 153; State v Kleen (Mo) 481 SW2d 229; Feder Silberberg Co. v McNeil, 18 NM 44, 133 P 975; Phelan v Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 113 NY 147, 20 NE 827; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925.

In Grannis v Ordean, 234 US 385, 58 L Ed 1363, 34 S Ct 779, a letter addressed to Albert Guilfuss in a designated place was presumed to have been received by a person in that place who is named Albert Geilfuss, for whom it was intended.

It could be presumed that bank statements were regularly received where the address, to which the statements were mailed, was proper. Swanco Trust Co. v Nebraska Nat. Bank, 1 NCA 41, 1992 Neb App LEXIS 54.

Footnote 28. Henderson v Carbondale Coal & Coke Co., 140 US 25, 35 L Ed 332, 11 S Ct 691.

Footnote 29. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v Chickasha Nat. Bank (CA8 Okla) 174 F 923; Fleming & Ayrest Co. v Evans, 9 Kan App 858, 61 P 503, revd on other grounds 62 Kan 811, 64 P 591; Manhattan Life Ins. Co. v Fields (Tex Civ App) 26 SW 280.

Footnote 30. American Surety Co. v Blake, 54 Idaho 1, 27 P2d 972, 91 ALR 153; Barnet v Norton, 90 Vt 544, 99 A 238.

Footnote 31. Goodwin v Provident Sav. Life Assur. Soc., 97 Iowa 226, 66 NW 157.

Footnote 32. Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71.

Footnote 33. Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; Model Mill Co. v Webb, 164 NC 87, 80 SE 232.

Footnote 34. Johnson v New York, N. H. & H. R. R., 111 Me 263, 88 A 988; Feder Silberberg Co. v McNeil, 18 NM 44, 133 P 975.

Footnote 35. § 263.

Footnote 36. Feder Silberberg Co. v McNeil, 18 NM 44, 133 P 975.

§ 265 --Time of receipt

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is well settled that where it is proved that a letter was properly mailed, the presumption arises that it was received in the ordinary course of the public mails, in the absence of evidence to the contrary. 37 But no presumption as to the time of the receipt of a letter will be indulged in the absence of any proof as to where and when it was mailed or as to the frequency of the mails or the usual course or time of the mails between the place of mailing and the place of the purported receipt of the letter. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 37. Schutz v Jordan, 141 US 213, 35 L Ed 705, 11 S Ct 906; Rosenthal v Walker, 111 US 185, 28 L Ed 395, 4 S Ct 382; Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; German Nat. Bank v Burns, 12 Colo 539, 21 P 714; Pitts v Hartford Life & Annuity Ins. Co., 66 Conn 376, 34 A 95; Matlock v Citizens' Nat. Bank, 43 Idaho 214, 250 P 648, 50 ALR 1418; Plath v Minnesota Farmers' Mut. Fire Ins. Asso., 23 Minn 479; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925.

Footnote 38. Starr v Holck, 318 Mich 452, 28 NW2d 289, 172 ALR 413; Boon v State Ins. Co., 37 Minn 426, 34 NW 902; Hood v M. F. A. Mut. Ins. Co. (Mo App) 379 SW2d 806.

The presumption did not arise, where, inter alia, there was no evidence as to the time for delivery in the ordinary course of the mails of a letter mailed from one town in Missouri to another. State v Kleen (Mo) 481 SW2d 229.

A letter will not be presumed to have reached the person to whom it was addressed on the day of its date or at any time earlier than it is actually shown to have been in his possession, when it is found among his papers after his death, but is addressed to him at a place other than his regular post-office address. Phelan v Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 113 NY 147, 20 NE 827.

Absent proof of the normal course of the mails and the time usually required to convey a letter from the place of dispatch to the place of delivery, the law indulges no presumption as to the time a letter was received. Davis v American Interinsurance Exchange, 228 Va 1, 319 SE2d 723.

§ 266 --Rebuttal and probative effect of presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The presumption that a letter properly mailed was received by the addressee is not conclusive, but may be rebutted by evidence showing that the letter was not in fact received. 39 Some authority holds that the presumption is entirely overcome by the uncontradicted testimony of the addressee that the letter was never received, 40 but the rule followed by most of the courts is that the denial of the receipt of the letter raises an issue of fact to be determined by the jury. 41 In such cases, the question of the credibility of the rebutting testimony is for the trier of fact. 42 In any event, the presumption arising from proof of mailing a communication has been held not to be overcome by the testimony of the addressee that he does not remember whether he received it, but that he is inclined to think that he did not, 43 or that he did not remember seeing it, 44 or by the testimony of an officer or employee of a firm showing that he did not receive the communication, without a showing that no one else in authority received it. 45 Similarly, the denial of receipt of a letter by company officials in charge of a branch office to which the letter was mailed will not overcome the presumption of its receipt. 46

There is authority to the effect that the presumption that a letter properly mailed was received by the addressee is not evidence and has no weight as such, but is merely a rule controlling the duty of going forward with evidence. 47 There is other authority holding that the presumption continues as evidence, even in the face of controverting evidence, to be considered in the light of all the facts and circumstances adduced on the trial, and to be given such weight as the triers think it entitled to in determining the fact at issue—that is, whether the mailed letter was received. 48

§ 266 --Rebuttal and probative effect of presumption [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

If defendant denies receipt of mailing, rebuttable presumption of delivery and receipt of mailing created by evidence of mailing is spent and question of fact is raised so that issue is then one of credibility for factfinder and factfinder may believe or disbelieve denial of receipt. State ex rel. Flores v State (1994) 183 Wis 2d 587, 516 NW2d 362.

Footnotes

Footnote 39. Schutz v Jordan, 141 US 213, 35 L Ed 705, 11 S Ct 906; Henderson v Carbondale Coal & Coke Co., 140 US 25, 35 L Ed 332, 11 S Ct 691; Rosenthal v Walker, 111 US 185, 28 L Ed 395, 4 S Ct 382; Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; German Nat. Bank v Burns, 12 Colo 539, 21 P 714; Pitts v Hartford Life & Annuity Ins. Co., 66 Conn 376, 34 A 95; American Surety Co. v Blake, 54 Idaho 1, 27 P2d 972, 91 ALR 153; Roshek Realty Co. v Roshek Bros. Co., 249 Iowa 349, 87 NW2d 8; Sullivan v Kuykendall, 82 Ky 483; McFerren v Goldsmith-Stern Co., 137 Md 573, 113 A 107, 18 ALR 1125; Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71; Merchants Nat. Bank v Detroit Trust Co., 258 Mich 526, 242 NW 739, 85 ALR 350; Plath v Minnesota Farmers' Mut. Fire Ins. Asso., 23 Minn 479; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925; W. E. Richmond & Co. v Security Nat. Bank, 16 Tenn App 414, 64 SW2d 863; Gregg v De Shong (Tex Civ App) 107 SW2d 893, writ dismissed; Campbell v Gowans, 35 Utah 268, 100 P 397; Walworth v Seaver, 30 Vt 728; Yanago v Aetna Life Ins. Co., 164 Va 258, 178 SE 904; Antonowich v Home Life Ins. Co., 116 W Va 155, 179 SE 601; Department of Labor v I. Employment Secur. v Davidson (Terr Ct) 25 VI 109, 1990 VI LEXIS 18.

Footnote 40. Planters' Mut. Ins. Ass'n v Green, 72 Ark 305, 80 SW 151; Campbell v Gowans, 35 Utah 268, 100 P 397.

A tax collector's denial that he received a check claimed to have been mailed was held sufficient to overcome any presumption of its receipt. State ex rel. Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. v Downs, 10 La App 234, 119 So 723.

Upon the assumption that a letter was mailed to a partnership, positive testimony of both of the partners and their bookkeeper that it was not received has been held to overcome such assumption. George F. Sloan & Bro. v Grollman, 113 Md 192, 77 A 577.

Footnote 41. Rosenthal v Walker, 111 US 185, 28 L Ed 395, 4 S Ct 382; Wright v Grain Dealers Nat. Mut. Fire Ins. Co. (CA4 Va) 186 F2d 956; Simpson v Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co. (CA6 Ohio) 465 F2d 1320, 65 Ohio Ops 2d 196; Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913; American Surety Co. v Blake, 54 Idaho 1, 27 P2d 972, 91 ALR 153; B. F. Bonewell & Co. v Jacobson, 130 Iowa 170, 106 NW 614; Osborne v Unigard Indem. Co. (Ky App) 719 SW2d 737; Marston v Bigelow, 150 Mass 45, 22 NE 71; Long Bell Lumber Co. v Nyman, 145 Mich 477, 108 NW 1019; Plath v Minnesota Farmers' Mut. Fire Ins. Asso., 23 Minn 479; Crissey v State Highway

Com., 147 Mont 374, 413 P2d 308; Austin v Holland, 69 NY 571; Myra Foundation v Harvey (ND) 100 NW2d 435, 76 ALR2d 1313; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925; Walworth v Seaver, 30 Vt 728.

The testimony of an officer of a mercantile company that he did not remember seeing a letter and was sure it had not been received was held to raise an issue for the jury, together with any other facts or circumstances tending to rebut the presumption of receipt. McFerren v Goldsmith-Stern Co., 137 Md 573, 113 A 107, 18 ALR 1125.

Footnote 42. Larocque v Rhode Island Joint Reinsurance Asso. (RI) 536 A2d 529.

Footnote 43. Ashley Wire Co. v Illinois Steel Co., 164 Ill 149, 45 NE 410; Jensen v McCorkell, 154 Pa 323, 26 A 366.

Footnote 44. McFerren v Goldsmith-Stern Co., 137 Md 573, 113 A 107, 18 ALR 1125.

Footnote 45. Merchants' Exch. Co. v Sanders, 74 Ark 16, 84 SW 786; Pennypacker v Capital Ins. Co., 80 Iowa 56, 45 NW 408; Merchants Nat. Bank v Detroit Trust Co., 258 Mich 526, 242 NW 739, 85 ALR 350; Whitmore v Dwelling House Ins. Co., 148 Pa 405, 23 A 1131; Bank of Ipswich v Harding County Farmers Mut. Fire & Lightning Ins. Co., 55 SD 261, 225 NW 721, 63 ALR 925.

A sales manager's statement that to the best of his knowledge and belief and from the course and custom of the business at his office, a letter was not received, where at least 12 persons there handled correspondence and he never opened a letter himself, will not overcome the presumption of its receipt. Southern Engine & Boiler Works v Vaughan, 98 Ark 388, 135 SW 913.

Footnote 46. American Surety Co. v Blake, 54 Idaho 1, 27 P2d 972, 91 ALR 153.

Footnote 47. Dunn v Goldman, 111 NJL 249, 168 A 299.

Footnote 48. Atlantic Dredging & Constr. Co. v Nashville Bridge Co. (CA5 Fla) 57 F2d 519.

A jury was properly instructed that proof that a properly directed letter was placed in a post office created a presumption that it reached its destination and was actually received by the addressee, and that the jury could regard such presumption as sufficient evidence of the basic fact established by the presumption, but was not required to do so. United States v Perry (CA10 Okla) 496 F2d 429.

In sustaining a finding that a money order in payment of a life insurance premium was received in due course, the jury could take into account testimony by a postmaster that postal employees could have made a mistake as to the time and date of a postmark, and that the alleged delay in receipt was unusual, as such testimony tended to sustain the presumed finding of fact, where the only substantial probative evidence to the contrary was that the stamp was cancelled on September 14 and that a letter mailed on that date would not have reached its destination in the due course of the mail before September 15; a fact issue was presented which the jury resolved in favor of the sender of the letter. Employers' Nat. Life Ins. Co. v Willits (Tex Civ App Amarillo) 436 SW2d 918, writ ref n r e (Mar 5, 1969) and reh of writ of error overr (Apr 2, 1969).

Annotation: Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19 § 16.

§ 267 Receipt of telegram

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The delivery of a properly addressed telegram to a telegraph company for transmission, with the required fee, or the sending of the message, raises a presumption in the absence of proof to the contrary that the telegram reached its destination and was delivered to the sendee in accordance with the obligation which the law imposes upon telegraph companies. 49 In other words, the same presumption exists, in such cases, as arises when a letter has been deposited in the mail duly addressed and stamped. 50 The presumption is one of fact and is entitled to more or less weight, according to the circumstances under which the telegram was sent, but its receipt may be disproved. 51

Proper dispatch usually means that the telegram was sent prepaid, properly addressed, and delivered to the telegraph company. 52 But in the absence of any evidence of how or for what purpose a supposed telegram comes into the telegraph company's possession, proof that the requisite fee was paid or that the telegram was sent is no basis for the inference of delivery. 53 And in at least one state it has been held that before the presumption applies it must be shown that the telegram was received by the telegraph company at its office in the place to which it was directed. 54

The rule that the receipt of a telegram is presumed from its delivery for transmission is limited to actions involving disputes between the sender and sendee and their privies, and the presumption will not arise where the telegraph company is a party to the action. 55 Nor does the presumption apply, it has been held, to cablegrams sent during a period of unusual disturbance such as war. 56

Footnotes

Footnote 49. Wagner Tractor, Inc. v Shields (CA9 Or) 381 F2d 441, 24 ALR3d 1423 (applying Oregon law); Corry v Sylvia y Cia, 192 Ala 550, 68 So 891; Eppinger v Scott, 112 Cal 369, 44 P 723; Ottumwa v McCarthy Improv. Co., 175 Iowa 233, 150 NW 586, supp op on other grounds 175 Iowa 235, 154 NW 306; Smith v Easton, 54 Md 138; Long Bell Lumber Co. v Nyman, 145 Mich 477, 108 NW 1019; Perry v German-American Bank, 53 Neb 89, 73 NW 538; Oregon S.S. Co. v Otis, 100 NY 446, 3 NE 485, error dismd 116 US 548, 29 L Ed 719, 6 S Ct 523; Western Twine Co. v Wright, 11 SD 521, 78 NW 942.

Annotation: Applicability and application, in civil case, of presumption of addressee's receipt of telegram, 24 ALR3d 1434.

Footnote 50. Ottumwa v McCarthy Improv. Co., 175 Iowa 233, 150 NW 586, supp op on other grounds 175 Iowa 235, 154 NW 306; Perry v German-American Bank, 53 Neb 89, 73 NW 538; Oregon S.S. Co. v Otis, 100 NY 446, 3 NE 485, error dismd 116 US 548, 29 L Ed 719, 6 S Ct 523.

As to presumption of receipt of letter from proof of mailing, see § 262.

Footnote 51. Eppinger v Scott, 112 Cal 369, 44 P 723; Ottumwa v McCarthy Improv. Co., 175 Iowa 233, 150 NW 586, supp op on other grounds 175 Iowa 235, 154 NW 306.

Footnote 52. Wagner Tractor, Inc. v Shields (CA9 Or) 381 F2d 441, 24 ALR3d 1423 (holding that it would not be reasonable to presume delivery where there was no evidence that the addressee's name or street address was on the telegram, and the only evidence was the telegraph operator's recollection that the message was sent to the city where the addressee lived).

Footnote 53. Ottumwa v McCarthy Improv. Co., 175 Iowa 233, 150 NW 586, supp op on other grounds 175 Iowa 235, 154 NW 306.

Footnote 54. State v Gritzner, 134 Mo 512, 36 SW 39.

Footnote 55. Commercial Cable Co. v Philipp Bauer Co., 100 Misc 663, 165 NYS 399, revd on other grounds 102 Misc 699, 169 NYS 450.

Footnote 56. Commercial Cable Co. v Philipp Bauer Co., 100 Misc 663, 165 NYS 399, revd on other grounds 102 Misc 699, 169 NYS 450.

§ 268 Authenticity of reply to letter or message

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A letter received in due course of mail in response to a letter sent by the receiver is presumed, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, to be the letter of the person whose name is signed on it. 57 This is especially true where the letter is written on his business stationery. 58 The broad principle underlying this rule is that there exists a presumption that those in charge of receiving and transmitting mail perform their duties in the regular and proper manner. 59 However, testimony that a person received a letter which he believed was from a certain person, but which was not signed, and whose writing he was not acquainted with, is no proof that the letter was written by such person. 60

It is also well settled that a telegram received in reply to a telegram addressed to the sender is presumed to be genuine, and is admissible in evidence without further proof of the identity of the sender. 61 However, such a presumption is rebuttable, the question of the genuineness of the telegram being for the jury. 62

Footnotes

Footnote 57. New York, N. H. & H. R. Co. v Cella, 88 Conn 515, 91 A 972; Marcotte's Estate v Clay, 170 Kan 189, 224 P2d 998; Gulf Refining Co. v Bagby, 200 La 258, 7 So 2d 903; American Bonding Co. v Ensey, 105 Md 211, 65 A 921; Leunis Co. v Singer, 102 NJL 68, 130 A 457; Edwards Bros. v Erwin, 148 NC 429, 62 SE 545; First Nat. Bank v Ford, 30 Wyo 110, 216 P 691, 31 ALR 1441.

Footnote 58. Marcotte's Estate v Clay, 170 Kan 189, 224 P2d 998.

Footnote 59. Gulf Refining Co. v Bagby, 200 La 258, 7 So 2d 903; Edwards Bros. v Erwin, 148 NC 429, 62 SE 545.

Footnote 60. Cochran v Butterfield, 18 NH 115.

Footnote 61. House Grain Co. v Finerman & Sons, 116 Cal App 2d 485, 253 P2d 1034; People v Hammond, 132 Mich 422, 93 NW 1084; Western Twine Co. v Wright, 11 SD 521, 78 NW 942.

Footnote 62. House Grain Co. v Finerman & Sons, 116 Cal App 2d 485, 253 P2d 1034.

§ 269 --Telephone calls

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

One who answers a telephone call at the place of business of the person called for, and undertakes to respond as the agent, is presumed to speak for him in respect to matters of the general business carried on by such person at that place. 63 The presumption rests on the apparent authority of an agent. 64 The presumption may be very slight or strong, according to the circumstances, but the statements of such persons should be admitted in evidence as prima facie the statements of one having authority to speak. 65

◆ Caution: The presumption extends only to communications relating to the usual business carried on at the place from which the telephone communication comes. 66

As the result of the presumption that the person answering the telephone in place of business has authority to speak in respect to matters of the general business carried on at such establishment, the burden rests on the business establishment to rebut the presumption, and in the absence of such rebutting evidence, the presumption controls as a matter of law. The presumption may be rebutted by showing that the person calling the place of business was not acting in good faith or had no reason to believe that the person answering the telephone had authority to act. Once evidence competent to rebut the presumption is introduced, it becomes a question of fact whether the person calling had good reason to rely on the apparent authority of the person answering. 67

Footnotes

Footnote 63. New York Life Ins. Co. v Silverstein (CA8 Mo) 53 F2d 986; Collins v Lewis, 111 Conn 299, 149 A 668; Sauber v Northland Ins. Co., 251 Minn 237, 87 NW2d 591; Cohen v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 194 SC 533, 9 SE2d 222.

Footnote 64. Sauber v Northland Ins. Co., 251 Minn 237, 87 NW2d 591.

Footnote 65. Collins v Lewis, 111 Conn 299, 149 A 668; Cohen v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 194 SC 533, 9 SE2d 222; Gilliland v Southern R. Co., 85 SC 26, 67 SE 20.

Generally, as to the admissibility in evidence of telephone conversations, see §§ 577 et seq.

Footnote 66. Gilliland v Southern R. Co., 85 SC 26, 67 SE 20.

Footnote 67. Sauber v Northland Ins. Co., 251 Minn 237, 87 NW2d 591.

7. Conditions or Character [270-277]

§ 270 Regularity and legality

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes integrity of conduct and that one intends to do only what one has a right to do. 68 Thus, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, there is a presumption that persons act fairly, honestly, and in good faith. 69 One may assume that others will obey the law. 70 However, the presumption is rebuttable, by evidence which demonstrates that the parties intended to conduct the activity in a manner not sanctioned by the law. 71 In addition, the question may be presented whether the factual conclusion desired necessarily flows from the presumption that someone acted in accord with his contractual obligations. 72

Footnotes

Footnote 68. Golden Press, Inc. v Rylands, 124 Colo 122, 235 P2d 592, 28 ALR2d 672; Kalpakis v Kalpakis, 221 La 739, 60 So 2d 217, 33 ALR2d 1224; Cunningham v Great N. R. Co., 73 ND 315, 14 NW2d 753.

Footnote 69. Sunday Lake Iron Co. v Wakefield, 247 US 350, 62 L Ed 1154, 38 S Ct 495 (not followed by Rocky Mountain Oil & Gas Asso. v State Bd. of Equalization, Dept. of Revenue & Taxation (Wyo) 749 P2d 221); Queen Ins. Co. v Jones, 76 Ariz 198, 262 P2d 241; Golden Press, Inc. v Rylands, 124 Colo 122, 235 P2d 592, 28 ALR2d 672; Whittington v Cameron, 385 Ill 99, 52 NE2d 134, 150 ALR 551; Farmers' Nat. Bank v Jones, 234 Ky 591, 28 SW2d 787, 70 ALR 335; Kalpakis v Kalpakis, 221 La 739, 60 So 2d 217, 33 ALR2d 1224; Mairs v Madden, 307 Mass 378, 30 NE2d 242, 132 ALR 256

(ovrld on other grounds by Donahue v Rodd Electrotype Co., 367 Mass 578, 328 NE2d 505); Bernheimer v First Nat. Bank, 359 Mo 1119, 225 SW2d 745 (ovrld on other grounds by Re L---- (Mo) 499 SW2d 490) as stated in Retirement Bd. of Police Retirement System v Noel (Mo App) 652 SW2d 874; Cunningham v Great N. R. Co., 73 ND 315, 14 NW2d 753; Maberry v Julian (Tex Civ App Texarkana) 456 SW2d 234, appeal after remand (Tex Civ App Dallas) 479 SW2d 770, writ ref n r e (Oct 4, 1972) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Nov 1, 1972); Shaw v Massachusetts Bonding & Ins. Co. (Tex Civ App Dallas) 373 SW2d 553; New York Life Ins. Co. v Davis, 96 Va 737, 32 SE 475.

Where evidence is equally capable of an honest or dishonest interpretation, the court will adopt the interpretation that favors honesty. Hendrickson v Syverson (ND) 82 NW2d 827.

The burden placed on an insurer to rebut the presumption that a settlement is presumptive evidence of the liability of the insured and the amount of damages, by showing that the settlement was unreasonable or in bad faith, is consistent with the general assumption that in the absence of contrary evidence, persons act fairly, honestly, and in good faith. Griggs v Bertram, 88 NJ 347, 443 A2d 163.

Footnote 70. Cooper v Dasher, 290 US 106, 78 L Ed 203, 54 S Ct 6; Roadway Express, Inc. v Piekenbrock (Iowa) 306 NW2d 784; Wilcox Oil Co. v Corporation Com. (Okla) 393 P2d 242, 21 OGR 67; Norton v Coffield (Okla) 357 P2d 434.

One is entitled to the benefit of the presumption that the law has been obeyed, that everyone will conduct his or her business in conformity with the law, that an individual intends to do right rather than wrong, and intends to do only what he or she has a right to do. Acting Director, Dept. of Forests & Parks v Walker, 271 Md 711, 319 A2d 806.

In a loitering prosecution, where the defendant's presence may have had a proper purpose, it does not give rise to any presumption of improper activity. Palmentere v Wright (Mo) 485 SW2d 104.

Footnote 71. Lynn v Cepurneek, 352 Pa Super 379, 508 A2d 308, later proceeding 373 Pa Super 479, 541 A2d 771.

Footnote 72. Maberry v Julian (Tex Civ App Texarkana) 456 SW2d 234, appeal after remand (Tex Civ App Dallas) 479 SW2d 770, writ ref n r e (Oct 4, 1972) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Nov 1, 1972) (holding that even though a real-estate broker is presumed to have acted properly when returning a deposit because he thought the real-estate purchase contract had terminated, the inference could not be made that the purchaser did indeed terminate the contract).

§ 271 Intent as to consequences of acts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Every sane person is presumed to intend the ordinary, natural, probable, or necessary consequence of his or her voluntary, intentional, and deliberate act. 73 Stated otherwise, persons of sound mind and discretion must in general be understood to intend, in the ordinary transactions of life, that which is the necessary and unavoidable consequence of their acts. 74 In some cases, it is said that one is conclusively presumed to intend the obvious and probable consequences of his voluntary act. 75 However, in light of the requirement that the prosecution prove every element of a criminal offense beyond a reasonable doubt, there can be no conclusive presumption of intent where intent is an element of the crime charged, 76 even if the jury is instructed that the presumption may be rebutted, 77 in criminal cases, the statement that a person intends the ordinary consequences of his acts is merely a rule assisting the jury in reaching its conclusion upon a question of fact, and is not a presumption of law; it establishes only a permissive inference and does not shift the burden of proof. 78 Thus, it is sounder to say that in light of the circumstances of a particular case and normal human experience, it is reasonable to infer that the results of a defendant's acts were intended. 79 In many criminal cases where there is no direct evidence of intent, intent is established by the jury's inference of malice from the defendant's conduct. 80

Footnotes

Footnote 73. Whitfield v United States, 92 US 165, 2 Otto 165, 23 L Ed 705; Wilson v City Bank, 84 US 473, 17 Wall 473, 21 L Ed 723; Duke v United States (CA4 Va) 90 F2d 840, 112 ALR 317, cert den 302 US 685, 82 L Ed 528, 58 S Ct 33, reh den 302 US 349, 82 L Ed 503, 58 S Ct 135 and reh den 302 US 650, 82 L Ed 504, 58 S Ct 261 and reh den 302 US 785, 82 L Ed 600, 58 S Ct 135; Cleo-Syrup Corp. v Coca-Cola Co. (CA8 Mo) 139 F2d 416, 60 USPQ 98, 150 ALR 1056, cert den 321 US 781, 88 L Ed 1074, 64 S Ct 638, 60 USPQ 578; Continental Casualty Co. v Cunningham, 188 Ala 159, 66 So 41; People ex rel. Connor v Stapleton, 18 Colo 568, 33 P 167; Brown v Jacobs Pharmacy Co., 115 Ga 429, 41 SE 553; Long v State, 192 Ind 524, 137 NE 49, 24 ALR 1234; State v Eye, 161 Kan 69, 166 P2d 572; Weikel v Sterns, 142 Ky 513, 134 SW 908; Smith v Lyons, 142 La 975, 77 So 896; Smith v Clark, 242 Mass 1, 136 NE 66, 23 ALR 582; Foster v Wright, 240 Miss 566, 127 So 2d 873; Peterson v Wahlquist, 125 Neb 247, 249 NW 678, 89 ALR 747; Delaware, L. & W. R. Co. v Reich, 61 NJL 635, 40 A 682; May v Western Union Tel. Co., 157 NC 416, 72 SE 1059; State v Farmer, 156 Ohio St 214, 46 Ohio Ops 97, 102 NE2d 11; Benway v Hooper, 110 Vt 497, 8 A2d 658; Conrad v Baltimore & O. R. Co., 64 W Va 176, 61 SE 44; Pewaukee v Savoy, 103 Wis 271, 79 NW 436 (criticized on other grounds by Haase v Kingston Co-op. Creamery Ass'n, 212 Wis 585, 250 NW 444) as stated in Klingeisen v Department of Natural Resources (App) 163 Wis 2d 921, 472 NW2d 603, review den (Wis) 477 NW2d 287.

Footnote 74. Clarion Bank v Jones, 88 US 325, 21 Wall 325, 22 L Ed 542; Foster v Wright, 240 Miss 566, 127 So 2d 873.

Footnote 75. Peterson v Wahlquist, 125 Neb 247, 249 NW 678, 89 ALR 747; Jamison v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 24 Tenn App 398, 145 SW2d 553.

In a civil matter, a person is presumed to have intended the necessary and unavoidable consequences of his voluntary act no matter how earnestly he asserts a different intent. Standard Oil Co. v Review Board of Indiana Employment Secur. Div., 119 Ind App 576, 88 NE2d 567.

Footnote 76. Sandstrom v Montana, 442 US 510, 61 L Ed 2d 39, 99 S Ct 2450.

Footnote 77. Francis v Franklin, 471 US 307, 85 L Ed 2d 344, 105 S Ct 1965.

Footnote 78. State v Burton, 235 Kan 472, 681 P2d 646; People v Flack, 125 NY 324, 26 NE 267.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 74.

Footnote 79. State v Boisvert (Me) 236 A2d 419; State v Jones, 143 Mont 155, 387 P2d 913.

Footnote 80. Rose v Clark, 478 US 570, 92 L Ed 2d 460, 106 S Ct 3101 (among conflicting authorities noted on other grounds in State v Seward (La) 509 So 2d 413) and on remand (CA6) 822 F2d 596.

Annotation: Homicide: presumption of deliberation or premeditation from the circumstances attending the killing, 96 ALR2d 1435.

Homicide: presumption of deliberation or premeditation from the fact of killing, 86 ALR2d 656.

§ 272 Health and physical condition

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that a person is in average normal health. 81 As far as the natural functions of the body or organs are concerned, all persons are presumed to be normal until the contrary is made to appear. 82 There is also a presumption that every organ of the human body, including glands, has some function to perform in maintaining the body in sound health. 83

Human beings are not sufficiently alike to warrant the presumption that when a drug produces a certain effect upon a person, it will to a certain extent similarly affect another, taking into account age, strength, and other conditions present. 84

A blind person is presumed, in the absence of proof of experience, to be unfit to travel alone. 85

Footnotes

Footnote 81. Green v Los Angeles T. R. Co., 143 Cal 31, 76 P 724.

Footnote 82. Ledy v National Council K. L. S., 129 Minn 137, 151 NW 905; Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213; Brooker v Silverthorne, 111 SC 553, 99 SE 350, 5 ALR 1283; Harris v Ogden Steam Laundry Co., 39 Utah 436, 117 P 700 (holding that if the gases or fumes emanating from a particular liquid or substance are shown to have had certain effects when they come in contact with a number of individuals, it is fair to infer that all persons will be similarly affected under like circumstances).

Footnote 83. Hively v Higgs, 120 Or 588, 253 P 363, 53 ALR 1052.

This presumption is not overcome with respect to the tonsils by the fact that medical science has not discovered the precise function performed by them. Hively v Higgs, 120 Or 588, 253 P 363, 53 ALR 1052.

Footnote 84. Ohio County Drug Co. v Howard, 201 Ky 346, 256 SW 705, 31 ALR 1355.

Footnote 85. Illinois C. R. Co. v Smith, 85 Miss 349, 37 So 643.

§ 273 Sobriety or drunkenness

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A state of sobriety is the normal condition and it is the condition which is presumed to exist as to every person in any given case; this presumption stands in favor of a party in the place of proof. 86 Where evidence is introduced tending to show a condition of intoxication, the presumption of a state of sobriety is overcome. 87 However, the fact that one is in possession of liquor does not have the effect of overcoming the presumption of sobriety. 88

§ 273 ----Sobriety or drunkenness [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The Court of Appeals did not err in considering the granting of a summary judgment motion for defendant social hosts in declining to consider any evidence of the driver's condition or appearance after he left the party. While admissible to prove intoxication, the evidence was not probative on the question of whether defendants knew or should have known that he was intoxicated at the time alcohol was served to him at the party. Camalier v Jeffries (1995) 340 NC 699, 460 SE2d 133.

Footnotes

Footnote 86. Richardson v Sioux City, 172 Iowa 260, 154 NW 430; Re Townley's Will (Sur) 144 NYS 750, affd 164 App Div 919, 149 NYS 1114.

Footnote 87. Hubbard v Mason City, 60 Iowa 400, 14 NW 772.

Statutory presumptions arising from medical or chemical tests administered to persons suspected of driving while intoxicated are discussed in § 240.

Footnote 88. Richardson v Sioux City, 172 Iowa 260, 154 NW 430.

§ 274 Character and reputation

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

While it has been said that the law does not presume that a witness does or does not tell the truth, 89 it has also been said that the law presumes every person to be reputed truthful until evidence is produced to the contrary. 90 In civil cases the law presumes that the reputation of the plaintiff is good until the contrary is shown. 91

It has been held that the fact that one has committed an offense involving turpitude is conclusive evidence that he was not at the time of good moral character, and reformation is not to be presumed merely from the lapse of a brief period. 92

Footnotes

Footnote 89. State v Halvorson, 103 Minn 265, 114 NW 957.

Footnote 90. Johnson v State, 129 Wis 146, 108 NW 55.

Footnote 91. Burns v Burns (Mo App) 193 SW2d 951; Sloneker v Van Ausdall, 106 Ohio St 320, 1 Ohio L Abs 134, 140 NE 121, 28 ALR 759; Lewis v Williams, 105 SC 165, 89 SE 647.

Footnote 92. Hempstead v Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Hospital Ass'n, 112 Kan 241, 210 P 492, 30 ALR 243.

§ 275 --In criminal cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In criminal cases, the doctrine which is supported by most of the cases is that there is no presumption one way or the other upon the question whether the general character of the accused in a criminal case is good or bad. 93 The accused is not bound to place his character in issue; in the event he omits to do so, no inference of his guilt can be drawn therefrom by the jury. In other words, the omission to show the good character of the accused does not justify a presumption that his character is bad, from which an inference of guilt can be drawn. 94 The fact, however, that in a criminal case the state cannot offer evidence to impeach the character of the accused until the accused has put his character in issue by offering evidence in support of it 95 has led many courts to assert that the law invests every person accused of crime with a presumption in favor of good character, 96 which continues and must be indulged so long, at least, as the accused rests upon the presumption without offering affirmative evidence of his character. 97 Moreover, the offering by the accused of evidence of his good character for truth and veracity does not deprive him of the presumption that his character is good. 98

The presumption of good character in behalf of the defendant in a criminal prosecution has been held not to constitute evidence and to have no probative effect when countervailing proof is given. 99

Footnotes

Footnote 93. Greer v United States, 245 US 559, 62 L Ed 469, 38 S Ct 209; Price v United States (CA8 Okla) 218 F 149; Danner v State, 54 Ala 127; People v Walls, 231 Mich 110, 203 NW 656; People v Lingley, 207 NY 396, 101 NE 170, reh den 208 NY 597, 102 NE 1109; State v Runnion, 122 W Va 134, 7 SE2d 648.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 44.

Footnote 94. United States v Lancaster (CC Ga) 44 F 896; Bennett v State, 86 Ga 401, 12 SE 806.

Footnote 95. § 365.

Footnote 96. Bennett v State, 86 Ga 401, 12 SE 806; Fletcher v State, 49 Ind 124; Biester v State, 65 Neb 276, 91 NW 416; Sabo v State, 119 Ohio St 231, 6 Ohio L Abs 386, 163 NE 28; State v Mewhinney, 43 Utah 135, 134 P 632 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in State v Crick (Utah) 675 P2d 527).

In Durham v State, 128 Tenn 636, 163 SW 447, which recognized such a presumption, it was held that the presumption of good character does not have any effect as evidence and cannot be resorted to as an independent probative element to re-enforce the presumption of innocence and to create a reasonable doubt.

Footnote 97. Fletcher v State, 49 Ind 124.

Footnote 98. Durham v State, 128 Tenn 636, 163 SW 447.

Footnote 99. Chambliss v United States (CA8 Okla) 218 F 154; Price v United States (CA8 Okla) 218 F 149.

Annotation: Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19 §§ 8 et seq.

§ 276 Consent or acquiescence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The conduct of an individual may give rise to an inference or presumption that he has consented to a particular state of affairs. 1 In particular, the assent or acquiescence of a party to an act done for his benefit ordinarily will be presumed, 2 even though he is a minor. 3

Assent may be inferred or presumed from silence and acquiescence insofar as no other explanation is equally consistent with silence. 4 However, no implication of assent or presumption of acquiescence can arise from the failure of an incompetent to act. 5

Footnotes

Footnote 1. Weaver Bros., Inc. v Newlin (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 74 A2d 65, 18 ALR2d 877 (landlord by its conduct impliedly gave consent to the keeping of a dog).

Footnote 2. Games v Stiles, 39 US 322, 14 Pet 322, 10 L Ed 476; Carver v Jackson, 29 US 1, 4 Pet 1, 7 L Ed 761; Smith v Fox (Okla) 289 P2d 126.

The assent of a creditor to an absolute assignment of property to him by his debtor, to secure a pre-existing debt, will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary. Grove v Brien, 49 US 429, 8 How 429, 12 L Ed 1142.

An acceptance by the grantees of a deed of assignment for creditors, absolute and unconditional, will be presumed in the absence of all evidence to the contrary. Tompkins v Wheeler, 41 US 106, 16 Pet 106, 10 L Ed 903.

Footnote 3. Standiford v Standiford, 97 Mo 231, 10 SW 836.

Footnote 4. Carroll County v Smith, 111 US 556, 28 L Ed 517, 4 S Ct 539; Barings v Dabney, 86 US 1, 19 Wall 1, 22 L Ed 90; Withers v Withers, 33 US 355, 8 Pet 355, 8 L Ed 972; Brashear v West, 32 US 608, 7 Pet 608, 8 L Ed 801; Roberts v Sioux City & P. R. Co., 73 Neb 8, 102 NW 60; Burton v Horn & Hardart Baking Co., 371 Pa 60, 88 A2d 873, 63 ALR2d 731.

As to whether silence or inaction constitutes acceptance of an offer under the law of contracts, see 17A Am Jur 2d, Contracts § 103.

Footnote 5. Andrews v Bassett, 92 Mich 449, 52 NW 743.

§ 277 Solvency

The law presumes solvency, rather than insolvency. 6 Insolvency may, however, be inferred from the circumstances surrounding a transaction. 7

Proof of insolvency at a particular time does not create a presumption that the same condition existed at any considerable time before that. 8 Also, there is no presumption that an adjudication of insolvency indicates that a party continues to be insolvent. 9

Footnotes

Footnote 6. Benton v Benton, 78 Kan 366, 97 P 378; Stewart v Citizens Casualty Co., 61 Misc 2d 809, 306 NYS2d 973, revd on other grounds (1st Dept) 34 App Div 2d 525, 308 NYS2d 513, motion gr 26 NY2d 963, 311 NYS2d 6, 259 NE2d 478 and affd 27 NY2d 685, 314 NYS2d 7, 262 NE2d 215, cert den 401 US 910, 27 L Ed 2d 808, 91 S Ct 871; Commonwealth, Ins. Dept. v Safeguard Mut. Ins. Co., 18 Pa Cmwlt 195, 336 A2d 674, mod on other grounds 478 Pa 592, 387 A2d 647.

Illustrative applications of the rule include that an indorser was presumably solvent (Lee v Southern Pipe & Supply Co., 283 Ala 37, 214 So 2d 313), that a judgment debtor is presumed solvent and a judgment is worth its face value (Bush v Reid (Alaska) 516 P2d 1215, 74 ALR3d 669), that a criminal defendant is presumed solvent under a statute providing for the appointment of counsel (Holmes v State (Fla App D1) 448 So 2d 1070 (among conflicting authorities noted in Chiles v State (Fla App D5) 454 So 2d 726, 9 FLW 1794)), and that, for the purpose of contribution, joint tortfeasors are presumed to be solvent (Hardy v State (La App 3d Cir) 404 So 2d 981, cert den (La) 407 So 2d 741 and cert den (La) 407 So 2d 741; Underwood v Waterslides of Mid-America, Inc. (Tenn App) 823 SW2d 171).

A bank, so long as it is a going institution receiving deposits and paying out moneys in the usual way, will be presumed to have funds on hand with which to pay the checks of its depositors in the usual manner. Schafer v Olson, 24 ND 542, 139 NW 983.

As to the presumption of solvency in a fraudulent conveyance case, see 37 Am Jur 2d, Fraudulent Conveyances § 218.

Footnote 7. Frederick Town Sav. Inst. v Michael, 81 Md 487, 32 A 189. See also Re Howell's Estate, 66 Neb 575, 92 NW 760.

Footnote 8. Ellis v State, 138 Wis 513, 119 NW 1110.

Footnote 9. Stewart v Citizens Casualty Co., 61 Misc 2d 809, 306 NYS2d 973, revd on other grounds (1st Dept) 34 App Div 2d 525, 308 NYS2d 513, motion gr 26 NY2d 963, 311 NYS2d 6, 259 NE2d 478 and affd 27 NY2d 685, 314 NYS2d 7, 262 NE2d 215, cert den 401 US 910, 27 L Ed 2d 808, 91 S Ct 871.

8. Suicide or Accidental Death [278-281]

§ 278 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In cases where the cause of death is in issue but there is nothing to show how death was caused, there is a negative presumption against suicide ¹⁰ and an affirmative presumption of death by accidental means. ¹¹ However, there is no presumption that death was caused by accidental means where it is shown to be caused by external and violent means. ¹²

The presumption against suicide is one of law and not of fact. ¹³ It is based on the almost universal human characteristics of love of life and fear of death, ¹⁴ rather than upon any difficulty of producing evidence. ¹⁵

Although a presumption against suicide is recognized, it does not follow that the law should also create a presumption against attempted suicide, since when death does not result, the injured party is normally available to testify as to his version of the occurrence. ¹⁶

Footnotes

Footnote 10. Del Vecchio v Bowers, 296 US 280, 80 L Ed 229, 56 S Ct 190; International Life Ins. Co. v Carroll (CA6 Tenn) 17 F2d 42, 50 ALR 362; Industrial Com. of Colorado State Compensation Ins. Fund v Peterson, 151 Colo 289, 377 P2d 542; Smith v Miller, 241 Iowa 625, 40 NW2d 597, 14 ALR2d 345; Muzenich v Grand Carniolian Slovenian Catholic Union, 154 Kan 537, 119 P2d 504, 138 ALR 818; Re Von Ette, 223 Mass 56, 111 NE 696; Re Sponatski, 220 Mass 526, 108 NE 466; State ex rel. Hawkins v Industrial Com. of Minnesota, 157 Minn 33, 195 NW 766, 36 ALR 394; Bragg v Ross, 349 Mo 511, 162 SW2d 263; Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213; Dill v Sovereign Camp W. O. W., 126 SC 303, 120 SE 61, 37 ALR 167; Carter v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 65 Utah 465, 238 P 259, 41 ALR 1495; McDaniel v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 119 W Va 650, 195 SE 597.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 38.

Footnote 11. Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitrass v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113).

Footnote 12. Smith v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. (WD Pa) 254 F Supp 622.

Footnote 13. Strawhorne v Atlantic Coast Life Ins. Co., 238 SC 40, 119 SE2d 101.

Footnote 14. Consumers Co. v Industrial Com., 364 Ill 145, 4 NE2d 34, 107 ALR 811; Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113); Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213.

Footnote 15. Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co. v Clemmer (CA4 Va) 79 F2d 724, 103 ALR 171.

Footnote 16. Rinaldo v New York City Transit Authority, 39 NY2d 285, 383 NYS2d 571, 347 NE2d 897 (holding that a personal injury plaintiff, who suffered severe personal injuries in a subway accident, was not entitled to a jury charge that there is a presumption against suicide in personal injury actions, where there was evidence that he threw himself headlong at the lead car of a decelerating subway train when it was no more than ten feet away).

§ 279 Insanity as affecting presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The sanity or insanity of a decedent is of material weight and aid in determining the vital question as to whether he committed suicide, 17 because the presumption against suicide is said to rest upon the common knowledge that sane persons do not ordinarily kill themselves. 18 The presumption against suicide does not exist where it appears that the decedent was insane, 19 particularly where the insanity was of a nature usually accompanied by suicidal tendencies. 20 In other words, proof of insanity will ordinarily rebut any presumption that might otherwise arise against suicide. 21 However, the presumption against suicide is not necessarily vitiated merely by mental unsoundness, it being necessary to take into consideration the variety, phase, or degree of the illness. 22

Footnotes

Footnote 17. Van Norman v Modern Brotherhood of America, 143 Iowa 536, 121 NW 1080; Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v Plunkett, 129 Okla 292, 264 P 827.

Footnote 18. Travelers' Ins. Co. v Wilkes (CA5 Fla) 76 F2d 701, cert den 296 US 604, 80 L Ed 428, 56 S Ct 120.

Footnote 19. Webster v New York Life Ins. Co., 160 La 854, 107 So 599; Honrath v New York Life Ins. Co., 65 SD 480, 275 NW 258, 112 ALR 1272.

Footnote 20. Wasey v Travelers' Ins. Co., 126 Mich 119, 85 NW 459.

Footnote 21. Bachmeyer v Mutual Reserve Fund Life Ass'n., 87 Wis 325, 58 NW 399.

Footnote 22. Van Norman v Modern Brotherhood of America, 143 Iowa 536, 121 NW 1080.

§ 280 Probative force and effect of presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption against suicide is a rule of law which permits, and according to some courts requires, the conclusion, in the event of an unexplained death by violent injury, that the death was not suicidal, until credible evidence of self-destruction is offered. 23 It is a strong presumption which should not be displaced by slight contrary proof, 24 and can be overcome by circumstantial evidence only if it is of such quality and weight as to negate every reasonable inference of death by accident. 25 Of course, the presumption does not control where there is substantial proof from which rational consideration may reach the conclusion of suicide. 26

The authorities are not agreed upon the broad question whether the presumption against suicide has any probative force after the introduction of evidence bearing upon the claim of suicide. Most courts adhere to the view that this presumption does not constitute evidence or possess probative force after the introduction of evidence tending to show how death occurred. 27 According to this view, the presumption will serve as and in the place of evidence in favor of one party or the other until prima facie evidence has been adduced by the opposite party, but the presumption should never be placed in the scale to be weighed as evidence 28 and it disappears when circumstances are adduced showing how the death occurred. 29 In other words, when such evidence is offered in the course of either the plaintiff's or the defendant's proof, the presumption as a rule of law disappears from the case and the triers of the facts pass upon the issues in the usual way. 30

There are other courts affirming the view that the presumption against suicide is in the nature of evidence, to be submitted to, and weighed by, the jury in the light of the other facts and circumstances in determining the issue of suicide. 31 The presumption remains throughout the trial unless the evidence of suicide is so conclusive that suicide is the only reasonable deduction that can be drawn from the evidence; then it becomes a question of law for the court to decide. 32 It has been said that the proper practice is to submit to the jury the presumption against suicide and to leave to the jury the question whether the evidence overbalances the presumption. 33 Of course, even under such view, where there is direct and positive evidence of suicide, and there is no conflicting inference from any evidence as to suicide, the presumption against suicide has no field of operation. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 23. Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co. v Clemmer (CA4 Va) 79 F2d 724, 103 ALR 171; Standard Life & Acci. Ins. Co. v Thornton (CA6 Tenn) 100 F 582.

Footnote 24. State ex rel. Hawkins v Industrial Com. of Minnesota, 157 Minn 33, 195 NW 766, 36 ALR 394.

Footnote 25. Bragg v Ross, 349 Mo 511, 162 SW2d 263; Carter v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 65 Utah 465, 238 P 259, 41 ALR 1495.

Footnote 26. State ex rel. Hawkins v Industrial Com. of Minnesota, 157 Minn 33, 195 NW 766, 36 ALR 394.

Footnote 27. New York Life Ins. Co. v Gamer, 303 US 161, 82 L Ed 726, 58 S Ct 500, 114 ALR 1218; Del Vecchio v Bowers, 296 US 280, 80 L Ed 229, 56 S Ct 190; Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co. v Clemmer (CA4 Va) 79 F2d 724, 103 ALR 171; Wirthlin v Mutual Life Ins. Co. (CA10 Utah) 56 F2d 137, 86 ALR 138; Hinds v John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 155 Me 349, 155 A2d 721, 85 ALR2d 703 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Poitras v R. E. Glidden Body Shop, Inc. (Me) 430 A2d 1113); State ex rel. Hawkins v Industrial Com. of Minnesota, 157 Minn 33, 195 NW 766, 36 ALR 394; Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213; Carson v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 165 Ohio St 238, 59 Ohio Ops 310, 135 NE2d 259; Watkins v Prudential Ins. Co., 315 Pa 497, 173 A 644, 95 ALR 869; McMillan v General American Life Ins. Co., 194 SC 146, 9 SE2d 562; Woodmen of World v Alexander (Tex Civ App) 239 SW 343; McDaniel v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 119 W Va 650, 195 SE 597.

Annotation: Comment Note.—Effect of presumption as evidence or upon burden of proof, where controverting evidence is introduced, 5 ALR3d 19 § 9.

Footnote 28. Headlee v New York Life Ins. Co., 69 SD 499, 12 NW2d 313.

The presumption against suicide is only a term to designate the burden, upon the side against which the presumption operates, of producing evidence to rebut the finality of the legal conclusion which might be drawn from it. Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213.

Footnote 29. Wirthlin v Mutual Life Ins. Co. (CA10 Utah) 56 F2d 137, 86 ALR 138; Carson v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 156 Ohio St 104, 45 Ohio Ops 103, 100 NE2d 197, 28 ALR2d 344.

Footnote 30. Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co. v Clemmer (CA4 Va) 79 F2d 724, 103 ALR 171; Brunswick v Standard Acc. Ins. Co., 278 Mo 154, 213 SW 45, 7 ALR 1213; McMillan v General American Life Ins. Co., 194 SC 146, 9 SE2d 562.

Footnote 31. Dick v New York Life Ins. Co., 359 US 437, 3 L Ed 2d 935, 79 S Ct 921 (under North Dakota law); Travellers' Ins. Co. v McConkey, 127 US 661, 32 L Ed 308, 8 S Ct 1360; Pilot Life Ins. Co. v Boone (CA5 Ala) 236 F2d 457; Fleetwood v Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co., 246 Ala 571, 21 So 2d 696, 159 ALR 171; Aetna Life Ins. Co. v Taylor, 128 Ark 155, 193 SW 540; Allison v Bankers Life Co., 230 Iowa 995, 299 NW 889; Reddick v Grand Union Tea Co., 230 Iowa 108, 296 NW 800; Wirtanen v Prudential Ins. Co., 27 Mich App 260, 183 NW2d 456; Fisher v Travelers' Ins. Co., 124 Tenn 450, 138 SW 316; Life & Casualty Ins. Co. v Daniel, 209 Va 332, 163 SE2d 577.

Footnote 32. Life & Casualty Ins. Co. v Daniel, 209 Va 332, 163 SE2d 577.

Footnote 33. Krogh v Modern Brotherhood of America, 153 Wis 397, 141 NW 276.

Footnote 34. Fleetwood v Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co., 246 Ala 571, 21 So 2d 696, 159 ALR 171.

Annotation: Insurance: coroner's verdict or report as evidence on issue of suicide, 28 ALR2d 352 § 15.

§ 281 Effect of death certificate or coroner's inquest to overcome presumption

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

An official death certificate giving the cause of death as suicide has been held sufficient to prevail over the presumption against suicide, where by statute it is made prima facie evidence of the facts stated in it and there is no conflicting inference as to suicide arising from rebuttal evidence in the case. 35 However, where the statement of the cause of death as suicide in a death certificate is not warranted by the evidence in the case, such a certificate is not sufficient to take the presumption against suicide out of the case. 36

It has been held that the presumption against suicide is not overcome by the introduction in evidence of the coroner's finding or the verdict of a coroner's jury indicating that death was caused by suicide. 37 And even though a death certificate listing the cause of death as suicide is admissible, it does not create a presumption of death by suicide. 38 However, there is some authority to the effect that a coroner's verdict may be prima facie evidence of the fact of suicide. 39

Footnotes

Footnote 35. Fleetwood v Pacific Mut. Life Ins. Co., 246 Ala 571, 21 So 2d 696, 159 ALR 171.

Footnote 36. Basham v Prudential Ins. Co., 232 Mo App 782, 113 SW2d 126.

Footnote 37. New York Life Ins. Co. v Turner, 213 Ala 286, 104 So 643; Goldschmidt v Mutual Life Ins. Co., 102 NY 486, 7 NE 408.

Annotation: Insurance: coroner's verdict or report as evidence on issue of suicide, 28 ALR2d 352 § 15.

Footnote 38. Schleunes v American Casualty Co. (CA5 La) 528 F2d 634.

Footnote 39. Bickford v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (1974) 114 NH 237, 317 A2d 573 (under statute making report prima facie evidence in any judicial proceeding); Mutual Life Ins. Co. v Hayward (Tex Civ App) 27 SW 36, writ dismissed 88 Tex 315 and appeal after remand 12 Tex Civ App 392, 34 SW 801.

9. Knowledge [282-284]

§ 282 Generally; knowledge of facts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A knowledge of facts may be presumed or inferred under the circumstances of case, 40 at least insofar as there is a duty to know such facts. 41 One is presumed to know the truth in regard to facts within his own special means of knowledge, 42 what a reasonable person ought to know from facts brought to his attention, 43 and, where there is a duty of inquiry, whatever proper inquiry would disclose. 44 The actual existence of a condition for a considerable period of time is presumptive evidence of notice or knowledge of its existence. 45 Every person is presumed to know his or her own signature 46 and the contents of contracts to which he becomes a party. 47 Even in criminal prosecutions, even though there is no general presumption of the knowledge of facts, 48 the law raises a presumption in some cases that the defendant had knowledge of the existence of the facts involved in the case. 49

The presumption of knowledge of facts which inquiry would disclose may be rebutted by showing the existence of other and attendant circumstances of a nature to allay suspicion, and to lead to the belief that inquiry was unnecessary. 50 Furthermore, the law does not presume that a fact once known is never forgotten. 51

Footnotes

Footnote 40. Avery v Commissioner (CA5) 22 F2d 6, 1 USTC ¶ 254, 6 AFTR 7019, 55 ALR 1277; Farley v Edward E. Tower & Co., 271 Mass 230, 171 NE 639, 86 ALR 941; South Texas Development Co. v Martwick (Tex Civ App Waco) 328 SW2d 230, writ re n r e (Mar 16, 1960) and rehg of writ of error overr (Apr 20, 1960); Green v Ashland Water Co., 101 Wis 258, 77 NW 722.

Local authorities are presumed to have knowledge of local conditions. Missouri P. R. Co. v Omaha, 235 US 121, 59 L Ed 157, 35 S Ct 82.

Footnote 41. Voorhees v Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 325 Mo 835, 30 SW2d 22, 70 ALR 1106.

Footnote 42. Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v Johns' Adm'x, 155 Ky 264, 159 SW 822; Clifton v Montague, 40 W Va 207, 21 SE 858 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Teller v McCoy, 162 W Va 367, 253 SE2d 114).

One who has been ousted from possession of his real estate by an open, visible, and exclusive possession in another, which has continued uninterruptedly for the limitation period, will be presumed to have had knowledge of it. Carney v Hennessey, 74 Conn 107, 49 A 910.

The owner of property is presumed to know the business conducted thereon. State ex rel.

Wilcox v Gilbert, 126 Minn 95, 147 NW 953, 5 ALR 1449.

Corporate officials are presumed to have knowledge of the contents of instruments and documents shown to be in their possession. South Texas Development Co. v Martwick (Tex Civ App Waco) 328 SW2d 230, writ ref n r e (Mar 16, 1960) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Apr 20, 1960).

Footnote 43. Avery v Commissioner (CA5) 22 F2d 6, 1 USTC ¶ 254, 6 AFTR 7019, 55 ALR 1277.

The law assumes that one who has knowledge of a danger has knowledge of the injurious results naturally and proximately flowing from the danger. Nordstrom v Spokane & I. E. R. Co., 55 Wash 521, 104 P 809.

Footnote 44. Rochester & C. Turnpike Road Co. v Paviour, 164 NY 281, 58 NE 114.

Footnote 45. Kanawha & M. R. Co. v Kerse, 239 US 576, 60 L Ed 448, 36 S Ct 174.

The condition of a city prison for several months is presumed to be within the knowledge of the authorities. Shields v Durham, 118 NC 450, 24 SE 794.

However, a tenant in an apartment house is not, by reason of her occupancy of the premises for a year prior to a fire in it, conclusively presumed to have had knowledge that there were no fire escapes provided, as required by law, and to have waived their erection. Cittadino v Schackter, 83 NJL 593, 85 A 174.

As to actual and constructive notice of a defect in premises, see 62 Am Jur 2d, Premises Liability §§ 39, 40.

Footnote 46. Cooke v United States, 91 US 389, 1 Otto 389, 23 L Ed 237.

Footnote 47. 17A Am Jur 2d, Contracts §§ 224 et seq.

Footnote 48. Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 52.

Footnote 49. State v Scoggins, 107 NC 959, 12 SE 59.

Footnote 50. Gifford v Rutland Sav. Bank, 63 Vt 108, 21 A 340.

Footnote 51. Hall & Brown Wood Working Mach. Co. v Haley Furniture & Mfg. Co., 174 Ala 190, 56 So 726.

§ 283 Knowledge of law

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A rule frequently stated is that everyone is presumed to know the law, 52 and this rule has been deemed applicable whether the law involved is state 53 or federal. 54 This presumption is merely a restatement of the substantive rule that ignorance of the law is not a defense, or excuses no one, or is wholly irrelevant. 55 While ignorance of the law excuses no one from the legal consequences of his wrongful or negligent acts, nor will it relieve him from the legal effect of his contract obligations, 56 in cases where ignorance of the law is a defense, such as where a statute includes a specific intent requirement, 57 the rule has no application. 58

Parties to business or commercial transactions are conclusively presumed to know the relevant law. 59 It has been held that everyone is presumed to know the limitations fixed by law upon powers of corporations, 60 the effect of recording as constructive notice of title, 61 the power and authority of federal agencies with which he deals, 62 laws establishing legal relations, such as joint tenancy, 63 the law of descent and wills, 64 that the use of certain dangerous devices or products is subject to regulation, 65 and the validity or invalidity of a divorce decree to which he is a party. 66

It has sometimes been broadly stated that the presumption that all persons know the law is conclusive. 67 However, a better statement is that such presumption is rebuttable, varying in force with the facts—strong in the case of a lawyer, or with respect to general laws which are matters of common knowledge, and weak, almost nonexistent, in respect to details or to laws which touch few persons. 68 While a person is, for public reasons, held responsible for his conduct, although ignorant of the law, there is no conclusive presumption that he actually knows the law. 69 Furthermore, while everyone is presumed to know the general laws of a state or country where he resides, 70 everyone is not presumed to know orders of local officials, 71 or regulations of administrative departments. 72 However, all persons who contract with reference to a subject matter within the limits of a municipality as to which there are police regulations are charged with knowledge of and are presumed to know the provisions of the regulations, to have entered into such contracts with reference to them. 73

Footnotes

Footnote 52. Lawder v Stone, 187 US 281, 47 L Ed 178, 23 S Ct 79; Parsons v District of Columbia, 170 US 45, 42 L Ed 943, 18 S Ct 521; United States v Realty Co., 163 US 427, 41 L Ed 215, 16 S Ct 1120; Banigan v Bard, 134 US 291, 33 L Ed 932, 10 S Ct 565; Southern Express Co. v Owens, 146 Ala 412, 41 So 752; State v Paup, 13 Ark 129; Macfarlane v Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, 51 Cal 2d 84, 330 P2d 769; Hallett v Alexander, 50 Colo 37, 114 P 490; Appeal of Lane, 57 Conn 182, 17 A 926; First Nat. Bank v Monroe, 135 Ga 614, 69 SE 1123; Kessel v Murray, 197 Iowa 17, 196 NW 591, 33 ALR 1346; Thornton v State, 232 Md 542, 194 A2d 617; Smith v State, 38 Nev 477, 151 P 512; Widmer v Mahwah, 151 NJ Super 79, 376 A2d 567; Regional Agricultural Credit Corp. v Stewart, 69 ND 694, 289 NW 801; Roth v State, 51 Ohio St 209, 37 NE 259; Clark v Board of Com'rs, 62 Okla 7, 161 P 791; Scott v Ford, 45 Or 531, 78 P 742, reh den 45 Or 550, 80 P 899; State v Butts, 3 SD 577, 54 NW 603; Haynes v State, 118 Tenn 709, 105 SW 251; State ex rel. Utah Sav. & Trust Co. v Salt Lake City, 35 Utah 25, 99 P 255; Corbett v Physicians' Casualty Ass'n, 135 Wis 505, 115 NW 365.

It is presumed that a driver knows the law regarding the use of public highways. Vigil v Motor Vehicle Div. of Dept. of Revenue, 184 Colo 142, 519 P2d 332.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 50.

Footnote 53. Closson v Closson, 30 Wyo 1, 215 P 485, 29 ALR 1371.

Footnote 54. Wilkes v Dinsman, 48 US 89, 7 How 89, 12 L Ed 618 (not followed by Trerice v Pedersen (CA9 Cal) 769 F2d 1398) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Knutson v Wisconsin Air Nat'l Guard (CA7 Wis) 995 F2d 765); Regional Agricultural Credit Corp. v Stewart, 69 ND 694, 289 NW 801.

Footnote 55. Edwards v United States (CA5 Fla) 334 F2d 360, 64-2 USTC ¶ 15577, 15 AFTR 2d 746, cert den 379 US 1000, 13 L Ed 2d 702, 85 S Ct 721 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Cheeves v Southern Clays, Inc. (MD Ga) 797 F Supp 1570, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 958); Grantham v State (Ala App) 540 So 2d 775, revd on other grounds (Ala) 540 So 2d 779, on remand (Ala App) 540 So 2d 782; Schaffer v Federal Trust Co., 132 NJ Eq 235, 28 A2d 75; State ex rel. Kaser v Leonard, 164 Or 579, 94 P2d 1113.

Footnote 56. Jacksonville Public Service Corp. v Calhoun Water Co., 219 Ala 616, 123 So 79, 64 ALR 1550; Harper v Atlanta & W. P. R. Co., 33 Ga App 259, 125 SE 885.

Footnote 57. 21 Am Jur 2d, Criminal Law § 130.

Footnote 58. Edwards v United States (CA5 Fla) 334 F2d 360, 64-2 USTC ¶ 15577, 15 AFTR 2d 746, cert den 379 US 1000, 13 L Ed 2d 702, 85 S Ct 721 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in Cheeves v Southern Clays, Inc. (MD Ga) 797 F Supp 1570, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 958); Hargrove v United States (CA5 Tex) 67 F2d 820, 3 USTC ¶ 1192, 13 AFTR 401, 90 ALR 1276.

Footnote 59. Mammoth Oil Co. v United States, 275 US 13, 72 L Ed 137, 48 S Ct 1 (holding that one purchasing structures erected on government property by one operating under a lease of the property, which lease is void because not authorized by law, is presumed to know that no law authorized the making of the lease); Cooke v United States, 91 US 389, 1 Otto 389, 23 L Ed 237 (holding that all who deal with the government in respect of treasury notes are presumed to know the exclusive authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to act for the government in retiring them); Jacksonville Public Service Corp. v Calhoun Water Co., 219 Ala 616, 123 So 79, 64 ALR 1550; Territory v Craig Enterprises, Inc. (Alaska) 355 P2d 397, 84 ALR2d 1082; Kessel v Murray, 197 Iowa 17, 196 NW 591, 33 ALR 1346 (holding that one indorsing a promissory note is presumed to know the law governing his liability thereon); Sachs Steel & Supply Co. v St. Louis Auto Parts & Salvage Co. (Mo App) 322 SW2d 183.

The owner of land is chargeable with knowledge of general laws prescribing the manner in which it may be enjoyed or the title thereto affected. McDaniel v McElvy, 91 Fla 770, 108 So 820, 51 ALR 731.

Parties to a contract are charged with knowledge of the law existing at the time they enter into the contract and at the time it is to become operative. Twiehaus v Rosner, 362 Mo 949, 245 SW2d 107, 28 ALR2d 1192.

One contracting with a national bank for information as to the financial standing of persons is conclusively presumed to know that he acquires no rights thereby which may be enforced against the bank. People's Nat. Bank v Southern States Finance Co., 192 NC 69, 133 SE 415, 48 ALR 519.

A party is presumed to know about the statute of frauds. Czapla v Grieves (Wyo) 549 P2d 650.

Footnote 60. First Nat. Bank v Monroe, 135 Ga 614, 69 SE 1123; Crimmins & Peirce Co. v Kidder Peabody Acceptance Corp., 282 Mass 367, 185 NE 383, 88 ALR 1122; People's Nat. Bank v Southern States Finance Co., 192 NC 69, 133 SE 415, 48 ALR 519; Pollitz v Public Utilities Com., 96 Ohio St 49, 117 NE 149.

Knowledge on the part of the holder, of the invalidity of corporate stock, its validity being a question of law, must be presumed. Banigan v Bard, 134 US 291, 33 L Ed 932, 10 S Ct 565.

Every creditor of a corporation must be presumed to understand the nature and incidents of such a body politic and to contract with reference to them. Mumma v Potomac Co., 33 US 281, 8 Pet 281, 8 L Ed 945.

Footnote 61. Goldberg v Parker, 87 Conn 99, 87 A 555.

Footnote 62. Wilber Nat. Bank v United States, 294 US 120, 79 L Ed 798, 55 S Ct 362; Regional Agricultural Credit Corp. v Stewart, 69 ND 694, 289 NW 801.

Footnote 63. Melton v Ensley (Mo App) 421 SW2d 44 (disapproved on other grounds by Re Estate of La Garce (Mo) 487 SW2d 493) as stated in Re Estate of Hysinger (Mo App) 785 SW2d 619.

Footnote 64. Hallett v Alexander, 50 Colo 37, 114 P 490; Muse v Muse, 186 Va 914, 45 SE2d 158, 2 ALR2d 603.

Footnote 65. United States v International Minerals & Chemical Corp., 402 US 558, 29 L Ed 2d 178, 91 S Ct 1697.

Footnote 66. Arthur v Israel, 15 Colo 147, 25 P 81, appeal after remand 18 Colo 158, 32 P 68, error dismd 152 US 355, 38 L Ed 474, 14 S Ct 583; Hopping v Hopping, 233 Iowa 993, 10 NW2d 87, 152 ALR 436.

Footnote 67. Jacksonville Public Service Corp. v Calhoun Water Co., 219 Ala 616, 123 So 79, 64 ALR 1550; Hallett v Alexander, 50 Colo 37, 114 P 490; Smith v State, 38 Nev 477, 151 P 512; Regional Agricultural Credit Corp. v Stewart, 69 ND 694, 289 NW 801.

Footnote 68. Schaffer v Federal Trust Co., 132 NJ Eq 235, 28 A2d 75.

Footnote 69. Harper v Atlanta & W. P. R. Co., 33 Ga App 259, 125 SE 885; Hess v Culver, 77 Mich 598, 43 NW 994; Black v Ward, 27 Mich 191.

Footnote 70. Hospelhorn v Poe, 174 Md 242, 198 A 582, 118 ALR 682; Prucha v Department of Motor Vehicles, 172 Neb 415, 110 NW2d 75, 88 ALR2d 1055.

Footnote 71. State v Butts, 3 SD 577, 54 NW 603, holding that a quarantine order prohibiting a person from going upon the street is not like a general law, of which he will be presumed to have knowledge.

Footnote 72. Schaffer v Federal Trust Co., 132 NJ Eq 235, 28 A2d 75.

Footnote 73. Sachs Steel & Supply Co. v St. Louis Auto Parts & Salvage Co. (Mo App) 322 SW2d 183.

§ 284 --Law of foreign jurisdiction

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law will ordinarily indulge no presumption of knowledge of the law in the instance of the law of a foreign jurisdiction ⁷⁴ or the law of another state. ⁷⁵ However, a person who transacts business in a foreign jurisdiction is presumed to know so much of the law of that jurisdiction as is applicable to his business there. ⁷⁶

Footnotes

Footnote 74. Waterman v Sprague Manuf'g Co., 55 Conn 554, 12 A 240; Stedman v Davis, 93 NY 32.

Footnote 75. Smeltzer v White, 92 US 390, 2 Otto 390, 23 L Ed 508; Bolinger v Beacham, 81 Kan 746, 106 P 1094.

Footnote 76. Farmers' Sav. Bank v Jameson, 175 Iowa 676, 157 NW 460; Corbett v Physicians' Casualty Ass'n, 135 Wis 505, 115 NW 365.

10. Identity of Names and Persons [285-287]

§ 285 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is generally held that identity of names gives rise to a presumption of identity of persons, or is prima facie evidence of it. ⁷⁷ At best, however, the presumption of identity of person from identity of name is ordinarily deemed to be an inference of a slight and inconclusive character; ⁷⁸ it is a weak presumption which may be shaken by the very slightest proof of facts or showing of circumstances which produces a doubt of identity. ⁷⁹

It has been held that the fact that there are many persons of the same name does not defeat the presumption of identity of person from arising from identity of name, 80 although there is other authority to the effect that the presumption will not arise where the name is a very common one. 81 It has also been said that if any circumstance appears to cast a reasonable doubt upon the identity of the person upon which a matter depends, a mere similarity of names will not suffice to establish such presumption. 82

Footnotes

Footnote 77. Stebbins v Duncan, 108 US 32, 27 L Ed 641, 2 S Ct 313; Eley v Gamble (CA4 Va) 75 F2d 171; Simon v Wyler, 222 Ala 91, 130 So 778; Re Estate of Williams, 128 Cal 552, 61 P 670; Summer v Mitchell, 29 Fla 179, 10 So 562; Howell v J. Mandelbaum & Sons, 160 Iowa 119, 140 NW 397; Atwood v Sault Ste. Marie Light Heat & Power Co., 148 Mich 224, 111 NW 747; State v West, 175 Minn 516, 221 NW 903; Huston v Graves (Mo) 213 SW 77, 5 ALR 423; Rupert v Penner, 35 Neb 587, 53 NW 598; State v Mitchner, 256 NC 620, 124 SE2d 831; Mozingo v Board of Liquor Control (CP) 69 Ohio L Abs 597, 118 NE2d 925; Herbert v Northern Trust Co., 269 Pa 306, 112 A 471; Memorial Hospital v Woolf, 86 RI 357, 134 A2d 397; Chamblee v Tarbox, 27 Tex 139.

Footnote 78. State v Mitchner, 256 NC 620, 124 SE2d 831; State v Kilmer, 31 ND 442, 153 NW 1089.

Footnote 79. Re Estate of Williams, 128 Cal 552, 61 P 670; Woolridge v La Crosse Lumber Co., 291 Mo 239, 236 SW 294, 19 ALR 1068.

Footnote 80. Flournoy v Warden, 17 Mo 435.

Footnote 81. Wilson v Holt, 83 Ala 528, 3 So 321.

Footnote 82. Ambs v Chicago, S. P., M. & O. R. Co., 44 Minn 266, 46 NW 321.

§ 286 Name in chain of title

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

The rule that a presumption of identity of persons arises from identity of names or, as is often stated, that identity from name is presumptive or prima facie evidence of identity of person, 83 is often applied in tracing titles to real property. Thus, if the same name appears successively in a chain of title as grantee or grantor, the presumption is that it was the same person in each case, 84 or as it is often said, such identity of names is prima facie evidence of identity of person. 85 The fact that the residence of the person is not the same in the two instruments does not alter the rule. 86

If the same name appears as a witness to the execution of a deed and to the certificate of acknowledgement as the officer taking it, it may be presumed, in support of the certificate, that these names represent the same person. 87

Footnotes

Footnote 83. § 285.

Footnote 84. Breznik v Braun, 11 Ill 2d 564, 144 NE2d 586; Brown v Metz, 33 Ill 339; Huston v Graves (Mo) 213 SW 77, 5 ALR 423; Rupert v Penner, 35 Neb 587, 53 NW 598.

Footnote 85. Stebbins v Duncan, 108 US 32, 27 L Ed 641, 2 S Ct 313; Rupert v Penner, 35 Neb 587, 53 NW 598; Chamblee v Tarbox, 27 Tex 139.

Footnote 86. Geer v Missouri Lumber & Mining Co., 134 Mo 85, 34 SW 1099.

The fact that the grantee is of a certain city and the grantor, 20 years later, is of a county in another state across a river from such city, does not interfere with the conclusion of identity. Tillotson v Webber, 96 Mich 144, 55 NW 837.

Footnote 87. Summer v Mitchell, 29 Fla 179, 10 So 562.

§ 287 In criminal cases

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

In a criminal prosecution where the name is not a common one and there is nothing to indicate that more than one person in the vicinity was known by the same name, proof of the identity of names is sufficient to warrant the conclusion of identity of persons, until the contrary appears. 88 The rule has been held to be otherwise where the name is a common one and there are several persons who are known by it and are located in the same place. 89

Identity can be presumed from the name and other circumstances, 90 and there is some authority to the effect that identity of names alone, without other circumstances, gives rise to a rebuttable presumption of identity of persons. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 88. Garrett v State, 76 Ala 18; State v Mitchner, 256 NC 620, 124 SE2d 831; Mozingo v Board of Liquor Control (CP) 69 Ohio L Abs 597, 118 NE2d 925.

As to evidence showing the identity of a habitual offender, see 39 Am Jur 2d, Habitual Criminals and Subsequent Offenders § 26.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) § 43.

Footnote 89. People v Cline, 44 Mich 290, 6 NW 671; Mozingo v Board of Liquor Control (CP) 69 Ohio L Abs 597, 118 NE2d 925.

Footnote 90. State v Nelson, 130 Mont 466, 304 P2d 1110.

Footnote 91. People v Theodore, 121 Cal App 2d 17, 262 P2d 630; Application of De Gina, 94 NJ Super 267, 228 A2d 74, certif den 49 NJ 368, 230 A2d 400.

11. Possession, Ownership, and Value of Property [288-290]

§ 288 Possession and ownership of property—real property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It is a general rule that the fact that a person is in the possession of real property, exercising rights of ownership and performing acts of dominion, creates a rebuttable presumption that he is invested with some right or title to it, 92 which, where the possession was peaceably acquired, is lawful. 93 Possession of land is always presumed to be in subservience to the title of the true owner, 94 and it is also presumed that possession continues under the same right by which it was originally taken. 95 Where one enters into possession of land under a deed, it is presumed that he claims only that title given him by his deed and that his possession is restricted to the premises granted. 96

Unimproved and unoccupied land is deemed to be in possession of the holder of the legal title. 97

Footnotes

Footnote 92. Gonzales v Ross, 120 US 605, 30 L Ed 801, 7 S Ct 705; Oaksmith's Lessee v Johnston, 92 US 343, 2 Otto 343, 23 L Ed 682; Younge v Guilbeau, 70 US 636, 3 Wall 636, 18 L Ed 262; Potter v Cline, 161 Ind App 349, 316 NE2d 422; Howard v Mitchell, 268 Ky 429, 105 SW2d 128; Broadsword v Kauer, 161 Ohio St 524, 53 Ohio Ops 395, 120 NE2d 111, 46 ALR2d 1309; Kramp v Toledo Edison Co. (Lucas Co) 114 Ohio App 9, 18 Ohio Ops 2d 298, 180 NE2d 172, motion overr; Hanns v Friedly, 181 Or 631, 184 P2d 855.

Whenever one claims property as owner and exercises acts of ownership over it, unquestioned and without objection by those most deeply interested, until the statute of limitations has run, the presumption is that his title is correctly stated by him. Teall v Schroder, 158 US 172, 39 L Ed 938, 15 S Ct 768.

A party will be presumed to have an interest in land that he can sell or assign where, at the time of the contract of sale, he is in possession and cultivating the premises and afterward acquires a complete legal title. Townsend v Boyd, 217 Pa 386, 66 A 1099.

Footnote 93. Sabariego v Maverick, 124 US 261, 31 L Ed 430, 8 S Ct 461; Ricard v Williams, 20 US 59, 7 Wheat 59, 5 L Ed 398; Broadsword v Kauer, 161 Ohio St 524, 53 Ohio Ops 395, 120 NE2d 111, 46 ALR2d 1309.

Long-continued possession and use of real property create a presumption of lawful origin. Fletcher v Fuller, 120 US 534, 30 L Ed 759, 7 S Ct 667.

Footnote 94. Rock Springs v Sturm, 39 Wyo 494, 273 P 908, 97 ALR 1.

Ownership and possession being shown of a building located upon the land of another, it will not be presumed that the building was located without authority. Jones v Great N. R. Co., 100 Minn 56, 110 NW 260.

Footnote 95. M'Iver v Ragan, 15 US 25, 2 Wheat 25, 4 L Ed 175.

Footnote 96. Edwards v Fleming, 83 Kan 653, 112 P 836.

Footnote 97. Butler v Smith, 84 Neb 78, 120 NW 1106.

§ 289 --Personal property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

As a general rule, proof of the possession of personal property is prima facie evidence of title or is said to raise a presumption of ownership, 98 which may be rebutted or overcome by evidence of ownership in another, 99 or by evidence of the circumstances surrounding the possession. 1 Statutory provisions creating a disputable presumption that things in possession of a person are owned by him are but declarations of the general common-law rule. 2 But a rebuttable presumption that contraband found in a house belongs to the husband by virtue of his statutory status as head of the household is unconstitutional. 3

When a question of a party's possession and control of personal property or its use is an issue, proof of his ownership at the time in question implies that it was in his possession or that he had the right of possession and control. 4

Footnotes

Footnote 98. Vaughan v Borland, 234 Ala 414, 175 So 367, 111 ALR 1370; Golenternek v Kurth, 213 Ark 643, 212 SW2d 14, 3 ALR2d 593; Herr v Denver Milling & Mercantile Co., 13 Colo 406, 22 P 770; Warman v First Nat. Bank, 185 Ill 60, 57 NE 6; Howell v J. Mandelbaum & Sons, 160 Iowa 119, 140 NW 397; State v Wilson (Kan App) 1992 Kan App LEXIS 104, review den 250 Kan 807; Scott v Slater (Ky) 253 SW2d 232;

James v Wood, 82 Me 173, 19 A 160; Frye v Baskin, 241 Mo App 319, 231 SW2d 630; Bank of Italy v Burns, 39 Nev 326, 156 P 932, reh den 39 Nev 334, 159 P 863; Adrian v McCaskill, 103 NC 182, 9 SE 284; Wipperman Mercantile Co. v Robbins, 23 ND 208, 135 NW 785; Mielke v Leeberson, 150 Ohio St 528, 38 Ohio Ops 352, 83 NE2d 209, 7 ALR2d 1342; Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v Newburn, 27 Okla 9, 110 P 1065; Re Wohleber's Estate, 320 Pa 83, 181 A 479, 101 ALR 829.

In an action of trespass de bonis asportatis the ownership of the property need not be alleged or proved; possession is sufficient, because it is prima facie evidence of some sort of rightful ownership or title. Northern P. R. Co. v Lewis, 162 US 366, 40 L Ed 1002, 16 S Ct 831.

Possession of a certificate, with power of attorney from the stockholder authorizing the holder to transfer the stock, is prima facie evidence that he is at least the equitable owner. Tafft v Presidio & F. R. Co., 84 Cal 131, 24 P 436.

Where one is in possession of a house or land which he occupies and over which he manifests an intention of exercising a control and preventing unauthorized interference and something is found in that house or on that land by a stranger or a servant, the presumption is that the possession of the article found is in the owner of the locus in quo. Ferguson v Ray, 44 Or 557, 77 P 600.

As to presumption of ownership of negotiable paper, see 12 Am Jur 2d, Bills and Notes §§ 1189, 1194.

Footnote 99. State v Wilson (Kan App) 1992 Kan App LEXIS 104, review den 250 Kan 807; Mielke v Leeberson, 150 Ohio St 528, 38 Ohio Ops 352, 83 NE2d 209, 7 ALR2d 1342; Re Wohleber's Estate, 320 Pa 83, 181 A 479, 101 ALR 829; Escamilla v Pingree, 44 Utah 421, 141 P 103.

Footnote 1. Bergen v Riggs, 34 Ill 170.

Where the source of title to personalty is a will, possession raises no presumption as to extent of the interest. Hopkins v Heywood, 86 Vt 486, 86 A 305.

Footnote 2. Dencer v Jory, 131 Or 653, 284 P 163, 70 ALR 855.

Footnote 3. Knighton v State, 248 Ga 199, 282 SE2d 102.

Footnote 4. Howell v J. Mandelbaum & Sons, 160 Iowa 119, 140 NW 397; Dennery v Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., 82 NJL 517, 81 A 861; Judson v Bee Hive Auto Service Co., 136 Or 1, 294 P 588, 74 ALR 944, different results reached on reh 136 Or 5, 297 P 1050, 74 ALR 944; Birch v Abercrombie, 74 Wash 486, 133 P 1020, mod and reh den (Wash) 135 P 821.

As to the application of this rule in cases involving the identity of person driving a motor vehicle at the time of an accident, see 8 Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic § 996.

§ 290 Value of property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

As a general rule, there is no presumption as to the value of property other than the presumption sometimes indulged that value once shown may be presumed to continue in the absence of proof to the contrary. 5 Proof of value is generally required whenever value is in issue, 6 and it will not be presumed that the value of property is what it cost at an earlier date. 7

§ 290 ----Value of property [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In trial on amount of compensation for land allegedly taken or damaged in construction of state highway, it was error for court to allow evidence of comparable sales that took place after taking. State ex rel. Dep't of Transp. v Panell (1993, Okla App) 853 P2d 244.

Footnotes

Footnote 5. § 294.

Footnote 6. Rogers v State, 248 Ark 696, 453 SW2d 393, appeal after remand 250 Ark 68, 464 SW2d 56; Barrier v Kelly, 82 Miss 233, 33 So 974.

Footnote 7. Burnet v Porter, 283 US 230, 75 L Ed 996, 51 S Ct 416, 2 USTC ¶ 711, 9 AFTR 1433; Burnet v Henry, 283 US 229, 75 L Ed 995, 51 S Ct 416, 9 AFTR 1433; Burnet v Houston, 283 US 223, 75 L Ed 991, 51 S Ct 413, 2 USTC ¶ 710, 9 AFTR 1430.

12. Continuance of Condition or State of Facts [291-298]

§ 291 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

When the existence of a condition or state of facts is once established by proof, an inference or rebuttable presumption arises that the condition or state of facts continues to exist as before, until the contrary is shown. 8 Such inference or presumption is not a rule of law to be applied in all cases, with or without reason, but rather it calls for the exercise of sound discretion by a trial judge according to the likelihood of the persistence of a condition or fact under the circumstances of the case at bar. 9 In general, with the lapse of time such inference or presumption loses probative force. 10 Accordingly, the only rule that can be formulated as to when the inference or presumption of continuance will arise is the broad one calling for a discretionary determination in which the nature of the subject matter and the time interval must figure prominently. 11

The inference or presumption of the continuance of a condition or state of facts is a rule of evidence. 12 It has been held to be subordinate to the presumption of innocence, 13 and given the inviolate nature of the presumption of innocence, there is authority that the presumption of the continuance of a state of facts once proved does not apply in criminal cases. 14

Footnotes

Footnote 8. Bean v Morris, 221 US 485, 55 L Ed 821, 31 S Ct 703 (holding that it will be presumed that states upon their incorporation will continue the system of prior appropriation that has prevailed theretofore and make no changes other than those necessarily implied or expressed); Williams v Paine, 169 US 55, 42 L Ed 658, 18 S Ct 279; Sparks v Southeastern Greyhound Lines (DC Miss) 173 F Supp 896, revd on other grounds (CA5 Miss) 283 F2d 44; Asbury v New York Life Ins. Co. (DC Ky) 45 F Supp 513; Curtis v Cutler (CA8 Minn) 76 F 16; Vidmer v Lloyd, 193 Ala 386, 69 So 480; Day v Frazer, 51 Ariz 474, 78 P2d 140; White v White, 82 Cal 427, 23 P 276; State v Halpin, 2 Conn Cir 409, 199 A2d 570; Smith v Reed, 145 Ga 724, 89 SE 815; Old Salem Chautauqua Asso. v Illinois Dist. Council of Assembly of God, 16 Ill 2d 470, 158 NE2d 38, cert den 361 US 864, 4 L Ed 2d 104, 80 S Ct 123; Metzger v Schultz, 16 Ind App 454, 43 NE 886, reh overr 16 Ind App 463, 45 NE 619; Bunn v Standard Oil Co., 251 Iowa 7, 99 NW2d 436; Chilletti v Missouri, K. & T. R. Co., 102 Kan 297, 171 P 14; Quaker Realty Co. v Starkey, 136 La 28, 66 So 386; Louisiana State Bd. of Medical Examiners v Boisvert (La App 2d Cir) 103 So 2d 507; Hartford v McGillicuddy, 103 Me 224, 68 A 860; Searle v Roman Catholic Bishop, 203 Mass 493, 89 NE 809; Fowler v Hamilton Moving & Storage Co., 324 Mich 614, 37 NW2d 649; Benson v Lehigh Valley Coal Co., 124 Minn 222, 144 NW 774; Tesar v Bartles, 149 Neb 889, 32 NW2d 911, 2 ALR2d 1037; Blochowitz v Blochowitz, 122 Neb 385, 240 NW 586, 82 ALR 949; Table Mountain Gold & Silver Mining Co. v Waller's Defeat Silver Mining Co., 4 Nev 218; Brinson v Hernandez, 24 NJ 391, 132 A2d 289; Buffalo v Delaware, L. & W. R. Co., 190 NY 84, 82 NE 513; Wails v Farrington, 27 Okla 754, 116 P 428; Marsters v Umpqua Valley Oil Co., 49 Or 374, 90 P 151; Proctor v M'Call, 18 SCL 298; National Bank of Commerce v Bottolfson, 55 SD 196, 225 NW 385, 69 ALR 892; Mayhew v McFarland, 137 Tex 391, 153 SW2d 428, conformed to (Tex Civ App) 154 SW2d 214; Partridge v Cole, 96 Vt 281, 119 A 398, 32 ALR 854 (holding that a healthy condition of livestock will be presumed to continue over a period of few months, in the absence of evidence to the contrary); State v Jackson, 59 Wash 2d 117, 366 P2d 217; Union Bank & Trust Co. v Long Pole Lumber Co., 70 W Va 558, 74 SE 674; S. S. Kresge Co. v Garrick Realty Co., 209 Wis 305, 245 NW 118, 85 ALR 283.

Proof of the establishment of a highway raises a presumption of its continuance, placing the burden of proof of abandonment of a portion thereof on him who asserts it. Central P. R. Co. v Alameda County, 284 US 463, 76 L Ed 402, 52 S Ct 225.

A blockade once established and duly notified must be presumed to continue until notice of discontinuance, in the absence of positive proof of discontinuance. The Circassian, 69 US 135, 2 Wall 135, 17 L Ed 796.

A foreign law proved by a governmental publication is presumed to continue until the present time, in the absence of proof to the contrary. Re Gehrig's Estate, 126 NY 537, 27 NE 784.

A quorum shown to have been present will be presumed to continue present at proceedings taken the same day, until the contrary is shown. State ex rel. State ex rel. Stanford v Ellington, 117 NC 158, 23 SE 250.

Footnote 9. Maggio v Zeitz, 333 US 56, 92 L Ed 476, 68 S Ct 401; State v Halpin, 2 Conn Cir 409, 199 A2d 570; Brinson v Hernandez, 24 NJ 391, 132 A2d 289; Yankton Nat. Bank v Benson, 33 SD 399, 146 NW 582.

The presumption that conditions, once existing, continue until they are shown to have changed is no more than a common sense inference, as strong or as weak as the nature of the surrounding circumstances permits. Hynes v Sloma (4th Dept) 59 App Div 2d 1014, 399 NYS2d 745.

Footnote 10. Louisiana State Bd. of Medical Examiners v Boisvert (La App 2d Cir) 103 So 2d 507.

Footnote 11. Brinson v Hernandez, 24 NJ 391, 132 A2d 289.

Footnote 12. Herzog v Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co., 153 Cal 496, 95 P 898; Steele v Locke Cotton Mills Co., 231 NC 636, 58 SE2d 620.

Footnote 13. White v State, 183 Miss 351, 184 So 303; State v Sanford, 44 NM 66, 97 P2d 915.

Footnote 14. Sokolic v State, 228 Ga 788, 187 SE2d 822.

Practice References Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th ed, Torcia) §§ 38 et seq.

§ 292 Business, property, and financial matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The rule that a condition or state of facts once shown to exist is presumed to continue to exist ¹⁵ has been applied so as to raise a presumption or inference as to the continuance of an occupation, or business, ¹⁶ or of the status as an independent contractor, ¹⁷ previously established by proof. Where one engages in a business or profession without a license or permit as required by statute, an inference or presumption arises that such illegal activity continues to exist. ¹⁸

The condition of an instrument once proved to exist is presumed to continue until a modification or addition is proved. 19 It has also been held that a heavily encumbered condition of real estate will be presumed to continue unless something to the contrary appears. 20 And where personal property is situated in a specified county immediately prior to the time a mortgage on it is recorded, it is presumed that the property is in such county on the date on which the mortgage is filed for record. 21

The rent charged for the lease of property at a particular date does not give rise to an inference or presumption that such is the rent for such property many years thereafter. 22 Nor is the defective condition of property at a particular time presumed to continue to exist, at least where such defective condition is of a very temporary character. 23 And the presumption of continued conditions does not apparently overcome the presumption of solvency. 24

Footnotes

Footnote 15. § 291.

Footnote 16. Mayhew v McFarland, 137 Tex 391, 153 SW2d 428, conformed to (Tex Civ App) 154 SW2d 214, holding that proof that a defendant was doing business in a county as a common carrier only a short time prior to the filing of a suit against the defendant as such is sufficient to raise a prima facie presumption of his doing business as a common carrier in such county at the time the suit is filed.

Footnote 17. Winerich Motor Sales Co. v Ochoa (Tex Civ App) 58 SW2d 193, revd on other grounds 127 Tex 542, 94 SW2d 416.

Footnote 18. Louisiana State Bd. of Medical Examiners v Boisvert (La App 2d Cir) 103 So 2d 507; Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners v Stephenson (La App 1st Cir) 93 So 2d 330.

Footnote 19. Curtis v Cutler (CA8 Minn) 76 F 16; Park-In Theatres, Inc. v Paramount-Richards Theatres, Inc. (DC Del) 81 F Supp 466, 80 USPQ 6, affd (CA3 Del) 185 F2d 407, 88 USPQ 165, cert den 341 US 950, 95 L Ed 1373, 71 S Ct 1017, 89 USPQ 650.

Footnote 20. Childs v Merrill, 63 Vt 463, 22 A 626.

Footnote 21. United States v White (DC Idaho) 143 F Supp 754.

Footnote 22. Brinson v Hernandez, 24 NJ 391, 132 A2d 289.

Footnote 23. Fanelty v Rogers Jewelers, Inc., 230 NC 694, 55 SE2d 493.

Footnote 24. § 277.

§ 293 --Ownership and possession of property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Title to, or ownership of, property shown to have existed in a particular person, is presumed to continue to exist until such time as it appears from the evidence that such person was divested of it by his own act or by operation of law. 25 The weight of such a presumption is affected by such factors as the length of time that has elapsed, the character of the property as salable, consumable, or perishable, and the character of the alleged owner as thrifty or extravagant. 26

Inasmuch as possession is a fact continuous in its nature, it is, when its existence is once shown, presumed to continue until the contrary is proved. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Vidmer v Lloyd, 193 Ala 386, 69 So 480; McCune v Phoenix, 83 Ariz 98, 317 P2d 537; Old Salem Chautauqua Asso. v Illinois Dist. Council of Assembly of God, 16 Ill 2d 470, 158 NE2d 38, cert den 361 US 864, 4 L Ed 2d 104, 80 S Ct 123; State v Rosenberg, 238 Iowa 621, 27 NW2d 904; Preston v Newcomb, 149 Mich 512, 113 NW 29; Oxford Sporting Goods Mfg. Co. v Gillman (Hamilton Co) 97 Ohio App 269, 56 Ohio Ops 63, 125 NE2d 214; Keifer v Schuneman (Cuyahoga Co) 82 Ohio App 285, 38 Ohio Ops 5, 50 Ohio L Abs 423, 78 NE2d 780; Re Wohleber's Estate, 320 Pa 83, 181 A 479, 101 ALR 829; Dahlberg v Holden, 150 Tex 179, 238 SW2d 699.

Footnote 26. Maggio v Zeitz, 333 US 56, 92 L Ed 476, 68 S Ct 401.

Footnote 27. Lazarus v Phelps, 156 US 202, 39 L Ed 397, 15 S Ct 271; Wimberly v State, 214 Ark 930, 218 SW2d 730; State v Rosenberg, 238 Iowa 621, 27 NW2d 904; Tesar v Bartles, 149 Neb 889, 32 NW2d 911, 2 ALR2d 1037; Wails v Farrington, 27 Okla 754, 116 P 428; Higgins v Lewis, 23 Tenn App 648, 137 SW2d 308.

§ 294 --Value of property

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption of the continuance of a condition or fact has been applied to the matter of value of property. 28 Such presumption is clearly not conclusive, but is deemed relatively weak and becomes progressively weaker with the passing of time. 29

Footnotes

Footnote 28. Stout v Haynes, 165 La 680, 115 So 823; Re Morrissey's Will, 171 Misc 204, 12 NYS2d 324.

Footnote 29. Monk v Park Royal, Inc., 275 App Div 905, 89 NYS2d 682, affd 302 NY 575, 96 NE2d 889.

§ 295 --Sanity

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In the absence of proof to the contrary, a person is presumed to be of a sound mind at any particular time and the condition is presumed to continue to exist. 30 Thus, where sanity is shown to have existed just prior to and immediately after the commission of a crime, it is presumed to have existed at the time of the act, in the absence of evidence to the contrary. 31

Footnotes

Footnote 30. Norwood v Norwood, 207 Ga 148, 60 SE2d 449.

Competency and freedom from undue influence, shown to have existed, are presumed to continue until the contrary is shown. Blochowitz v Blochowitz, 122 Neb 385, 240 NW 586, 82 ALR 949.

Footnote 31. State v Roy, 40 NM 397, 60 P2d 646, 110 ALR 1; Commonwealth v Wireback, 190 Pa 138, 42 A 542.

§ 296 --Insanity or mental incapacity

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Whether a presumption of the continuance of insanity or an unsound mental condition will be invoked depends upon the character of the mental condition. 32 It is generally held that the presumption arises only where the earlier insanity shown by the evidence was permanent, chronic, or of a continuing nature, and not merely temporary or spasmodic. 33

In line with the generally recognized requirement that in order to give rise to a presumption of continuing insanity the prior insanity must have been of a permanent or continuing nature, it has generally been held that no such presumption arises from evidence that on prior occasions the accused has been subject to fits or spells of delirium tremens. 34 Similarly, where the insanity is of such a nature that, while permanent and continuing, it is interrupted by lucid intervals, no presumption of continuing insanity

Where a person has been adjudged to be insane, 36 or where one has been acquitted of crime on the ground of insanity, 37 the insanity is presumed to continue until overcome by evidence to the contrary. 38 While a prior adjudication of insanity is not a condition precedent to the presumption of continuing insanity, such an adjudication is the most satisfactory form of such evidence. In the majority of the cases where a presumption of continuing insanity was recognized without any statement of the qualification that the prior insanity must be permanent or continuing, the court has been dealing with prior insanity shown by an unreversed adjudication. 39 But while the courts in one state have abandoned the requirement of a showing of permanency where a prior adjudication is relied upon, 40 there are decisions from other jurisdictions indicating that an adjudication is not, of itself, conclusive evidence of the permanency of the prior insanity. 41

Some courts have indicated that in order to justify a presumption of continuing insanity in a criminal case, it must be shown that the prior insanity was of such a nature as to excuse the offense charged, or that the commission of the offense was affected by the insanity. 42

A number of courts have held that the existence, or at least the weight, of the presumption of continuing insanity in a criminal case, may be affected by the remoteness of the evidence as to the prior insanity relied upon to raise the presumption. 43 It has frequently been held that the presumption of continuing insanity will not arise in a criminal case from evidence that the defendant on an earlier occasion was adjudged or declared insane and committed to an asylum, where it is shown that he was subsequently declared sane, or discharged as cured; 44 however, a provisional discharge from a hospital may not be sufficient to rebut the presumption of continued insanity. 45 There is some question as to the evidentiary value of a certificate of discharge, with a case holding that it is sufficient to rebut the presumption of continuing insanity, 46 but with another court stating that a discharge certificate and letter from a doctor could be considered by the jury as rebutting the presumption that the condition of incompetency had continued, but no more. 47

The presumption of the continued state of insanity or mental incapacity of a person shown to have existed is not conclusive, but may be rebutted by competent proof to the contrary. 48 The presumption is one of fact rather than of law. 49

Where there is no presumption of continuing insanity under a state's statutory scheme, an adjudication that a criminal defendant previously was afflicted with a mental disease or defect only constitutes one item of evidence to be weighed by the jury. 50

Footnotes

Footnote 32. Re Murphy's Estate, 43 Mont 353, 116 P 1004.

Footnote 33. Re Dennis, 51 Cal 2d 666, 335 P2d 657; People v Baker, 42 Cal 2d 550, 268 P2d 705 (criticized on other grounds by People v Saille, 54 Cal 3d 1103, 2 Cal Rptr 2d 364, 820 P2d 588, 91 Daily Journal DAR 15308); Hixon v State (Fla App D2) 165 So 2d 436; Glenn v People, 9 Ill 2d 335, 137 NE2d 336; Ex parte Clark, 86 Kan 539, 121 P 492; Broz v Omaha Maternity & General Hospital Ass'n., 96 Neb 648, 148 NW 575; State v Garver, 190 Or 291, 225 P2d 771, 27 ALR2d 105.

Proof that the defendant was afflicted with permanent insanity, as distinguished from temporary or transient insanity, prior to the commission of the crime charged, will raise the presumption that his insanity continued to exist until the time of commission of the crime. Re Dennis, 51 Cal 2d 666, 335 P2d 657.

Holding that there was no presumption of continuing insanity except where the defendant's prior insanity was permanent and incurable, the court in Commonwealth ex rel. Mulligan v Smith, 156 Pa Super 469, 40 A2d 701, noted that in the present case the relator's insanity was not permanent, since he was admittedly sane at the present time and had been for years.

Annotation: Presumption of continuing insanity as applied to accused in criminal case, 27 ALR2d 121.

Footnote 34. State v Potts, 100 NC 457, 6 SE 657; State v Garver, 190 Or 291, 225 P2d 771, 27 ALR2d 105.

Holding that evidence that on several occasions before the murder with which he was charged, the defendant, when drinking, had been subject to hallucinations such as usually manifest themselves in cases of mania a potu was properly rejected, the court in People v Bremer, 24 Cal App 315, 141 P 222, said that while, when the existence of general insanity was established, it was presumed to continue, this presumption did not apply to that form of the disease known as delirium tremens, brought on by one's own procurement and passing away with the removal of the exciting cause.

Footnote 35. Grammer v State, 239 Ala 633, 196 So 268; Murphy v State, 70 Ga App 387, 28 SE2d 198; Commonwealth ex rel. Mulligan v Smith, 156 Pa Super 469, 40 A2d 701; Trahan v State, 117 Tex Crim 320, 35 SW2d 169; Starr v State, 134 Ga App 149, 213 SE2d 531.

A jury was entitled to rely on observations that there were remissions between the defendant's delusional episodes. Abbott v Cunningham (CA1 NH) 959 F2d 1.

Footnote 36. Re Kehler (CA2 NY) 159 F 55, cert den 212 US 573, 53 L Ed 656, 29 S Ct 683; Clark v Beto (CA5 Tex) 359 F2d 554, cert den 386 US 927, 17 L Ed 2d 799, 87 S Ct 875 and on remand (SD Tex) 283 F Supp 272, affd (CA5 Tex) 415 F2d 71; Hurt v United States (CA8 ND) 327 F2d 978; Livingston v State (Fla App D2) 383 So 2d 947, appeal after remand (Fla App D2) 415 So 2d 872; Hixon v State (Fla App D2) 165 So 2d 436; Hankinson v State, 129 Ga App 568, 200 SE2d 315; Weber v Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 175 Iowa 358, 151 NW 852; Manning v State (Tex Crim) 730 SW2d 744, motion for rehearing on PDR denied (May 20, 1987) and appeal after remand (Tex App Dallas) 766 SW2d 551, affd (Tex Crim) 773 SW2d 568; Morris v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 744 SW2d 290, petition for discretionary review ref (May 25, 1988); Criez v Sunset Motor Co., 123 Wash 604, 213 P 7, 32 ALR 627; State ex rel. Thompson v Snell, 46 Wash 327, 89 P 931.

But where the petition on which the prior order was based did not charge the defendant with insanity but merely that he was "a psychopathic and defective delinquent," the order based thereon was not an adjudication of insanity and the defendant was not entitled to an instruction on a presumption of continued insanity. State v Jensen, 209 Or 243, 296 P2d 618, app dismd 352 US 948, 1 L Ed 2d 241, 77 S Ct 329, reh den 352 US 990, 1 L Ed 2d 369, 77 S Ct 388.

The previous adjudication of the defendant as a feeble-minded person did not, in a criminal prosecution, give rise to a continuing presumption of insanity. Martinez v State, 169 Tex Crim 229, 333 SW2d 370.

Footnote 37. Re Franklin, 7 Cal 3d 126, 101 Cal Rptr 553, 496 P2d 465 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in People v Catron (4th Dist) 200 Cal App 3d 546, 246 Cal Rptr 303) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in People v Tilbury, 54 Cal 3d 56, 284 Cal Rptr 288, 813 P2d 1318, 91 CDOS 6061, 91 Daily Journal DAR 9444); State ex rel. Thompson v Snell, 46 Wash 327, 89 P 931.

Footnote 38. Until there has been a judicial determination of restored competency, one who has been judicially determined to be incompetent is, at least prima facie, legally incapable of making the choices involved in such processes as abandonment, waiver, or consent. Blunt v United States, 100 US App DC 266, 244 F2d 355.

An adjudication of insanity created a rebuttable presumption of continued insanity or mental incompetency, and it is constitutional error to ignore the presumption and simply leave it to counsel to decide whether to raise any question of the party's mental condition. Bumgarner v Lockhart (ED Ark) 361 F Supp 829.

Footnote 39. Byrd v Pescor (CA8 Mo) 163 F2d 775, cert den 333 US 846, 92 L Ed 1129, 68 S Ct 648; Waters v State, 22 Ala App 644, 119 So 248; People v Scott, 326 Ill 327, 157 NE 247.

Footnote 40. Kizer v State, 130 Tex Crim 185, 92 SW2d 439.

Footnote 41. State v Peterson (Mo) 154 SW2d 134; Commonwealth ex rel. Smith v Ashe, 364 Pa 93, 71 A2d 107, cert den 340 US 812, 95 L Ed 597, 71 S Ct 40.

A bona fide doubt as to a defendant's present sanity is not necessarily raised by a prior adjudication of mental illness, unless it appears that the insanity was of a permanent and continuing nature. Holden Hospital Corp. v Southern Illinois Hospital Corp., 22 Ill 2d 150, 174 NE2d 793.

Footnote 42. Grammer v State, 239 Ala 633, 196 So 268.

An instruction placing the burden upon the prosecution of proving that the defendant was of sound mind at the time he killed the deceased, based upon the conception that insanity once established was presumed to continue, was held to have been properly refused, the court saying that no such presumption arose in a criminal prosecution, where it was necessary to show not only insanity, but the inability to distinguish right from wrong, or insufficient willpower to control the defendant's actions. Gulley v Commonwealth, 284 Ky 98, 143 SW2d 1059.

In a murder prosecution involving the stabbing of a patient in a state hospital to which the defendant had been committed by a probate court, the defendant was not entitled to a proposed instruction regarding a presumption of continuing insanity, given that the prior commitment was a civil commitment, and where the trial court's instruction that the prosecution was required to prove sanity beyond a reasonable doubt was more favorable. People v Stockwell, 68 Mich App 290, 242 NW2d 559.

A criminal defendant was not entitled to an instruction that insanity, once having been shown to exist, was legally presumed to continue, even though the defendant had previously been involuntarily committed to a mental institution, since the defendant did not limit his request to the particular diagnosed condition that resulted in the civil commitment. State v Weller, 285 Or 457, 591 P2d 732.

Footnote 43. Armstrong v State, 30 Fla 170, 11 So 618; People v Woods, 26 Ill 2d 557, 188 NE2d 1, cert den 373 US 945, 10 L Ed 2d 699, 83 S Ct 1555; Glenn v People, 9 Ill 2d 335, 137 NE2d 336.

Holding that the trial court had erred in refusing to receive evidence of an adjudication of the defendant's insanity entered over 7 years earlier, the court in State v McMurry, 61 Kan 87, 58 P 961, said that it knew of no subsequent time at which the presumption ceased, although the lapse of much time during which the patient had not been confined for his malady, or known as a fact to be insane, might so materially weaken the presumption as practically to neutralize it.

Footnote 44. Daly v United States (CA7 Ill) 33 F2d 443; State v Snethen (Iowa) 245 NW2d 308, post-conviction proceeding (Iowa) 308 NW2d 11, habeas corpus proceeding (CA8 Iowa) 736 F2d 1241, habeas corpus proceeding (CA8 Iowa) 885 F2d 456, cert den 496 US 940, 110 L Ed 2d 670, 110 S Ct 3223 (after being first found incompetent to stand trial, defendant was held at medical facility and director then reported that defendant had been mentally restored); State v Stucker, 352 Mo 1056, 180 SW2d 719.

An administrative release, after several months of therapy, cancelled the continuing presumption of insanity arising from the original commitment. Gilbert v State, 235 Ga 501, 220 SE2d 262.

Footnote 45. State v Jensen, 278 Minn 212, 153 NW2d 339, appeal after remand 286 Minn 65, 174 NW2d 226.

Footnote 46. State v Myers, 47 Wash 2d 840, 290 P2d 253 (not followed by State v Smith, 16 Wash App 425, 558 P2d 265).

Footnote 47. Johnson v State (Fla App D2) 118 So 2d 234.

Footnote 48. Hurt v United States (CA8 ND) 327 F2d 978; Kitchens v United States (CA10 Wyo) 272 F2d 757, 60-1 USTC ¶ 9178, 4 AFTR 2d 6008, cert den 362 US 942, 4 L Ed 2d 772, 80 S Ct 809; Wells v State (Fla) 98 So 2d 795; Eason v State (Fla App D3) 421 So 2d 35; Hixon v State (Fla App D2) 165 So 2d 436; Glenn v People, 9 Ill 2d 335, 137 NE2d 336; People ex rel. McElhaney v Robinson, 413 Ill 401, 108 NE2d 772; Covington v O'Meara, 133 Ky 762, 119 SW 187; Galbraith v Lackey (Okla Crim) 340 P2d 497; State v Garver, 190 Or 291, 225 P2d 771, 27 ALR2d 105.

Evidence of a party's subsequent conduct and that his relatives and friends may be sufficient to overcome the presumption of continued insanity. Field v Koonce, 178 Ark 862, 12 SW2d 772, 68 ALR 1303.

The jury should be instructed that where it was undisputed that the defendant had been adjudged insane and not restored to sanity, the presumption had to be overcome by the state by competent evidence. Johnson v State (Fla App D2) 118 So 2d 234.

The fact that defendant was insane once, or several times before, may render it more probable that he was insane at the time of the offense, if there is any direct proof that he was insane at that time. But standing by itself it proves nothing where the state shows a subsequent return to reason. State v Scelfo, 58 NJ Super 472, 156 A2d 714, cert denied 31 NJ 555, 158 A2d 454 and cert denied 371 US 847, 9 L Ed 2d 83, 83 S Ct 82.

Footnote 49. Yankulov v Bushong (Allen Co) 80 Ohio App 497, 36 Ohio Ops 292, 77 NE2d 88.

Footnote 50. Burton v State (Mo) 641 SW2d 95.

§ 297 --Drunkenness

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

It has been held that the habit of drunkenness, once established, is presumed to continue, 51 although there is authority to the contrary. 52 However, it has also been held that it cannot be presumed that a drinking man, or one addicted to the use of liquor, is always drunk, or always in a condition which excludes the possibility of exercising due care. 53 In any event, it is clear that the fact that the habitual drunkenness of an individual is established on a particular date does not give rise to a presumption that this habit existed at any previous point of time. 54

It may be presumed or inferred from the fact that a person was drunk a few hours before an accident in which he was involved that he was drunk at the time of the accident. 55

Footnotes

Footnote 51. McGraw v McGraw, 171 Mass 146, 50 NE 526.

Footnote 52. Meares v Meares, 256 Ala 596, 56 So 2d 661.

Footnote 53. Langworthy v Green, 88 Mich 207, 50 NW 130.

Footnote 54. Ceresola v Joseph F. Paul Co., 224 Mass 395, 113 NE 358.

Footnote 55. Cowgill v Boock, 189 Or 282, 218 P2d 445, 19 ALR2d 405 (overruled on other grounds by Winn v Gilroy, 296 Or 718, 681 P2d 776).

§ 298 Retrospective presumption or inference as to previous condition or state of

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The presumption or inference of the continued existence of a condition or state of facts is generally considered to be prospective, and not retrospective. 56 It has frequently been said that such a presumption never runs backward, the law not presuming, from proof of the existence of present conditions or facts, that the same facts or conditions had existed or continued for any length of time previously. 57 Thus, the presumption of continuing insanity 58 runs from the date of its establishment and does not run backward; it is prospective and not retrospective, 59 and proof of insanity at a particular time is not competent to prove, on the principle of natural and probable relation, the same condition for a considerable prior period. 60

There is other authority, however, to the effect that presumptions can run backward, and that a presumption or an inference, as to the past existence of a condition or state of facts may be proper under some circumstances. 61 Whether the past existence of a condition or a state of facts may be inferred or presumed from a later condition or state of facts depends on the facts and circumstances of the individual case, and on the likelihood of intervening circumstances. 62 Likewise, the interval of time to which any such retrospective presumption or inference will be allowable depend on the nature of the thing and the circumstances of the particular case. 63

Footnotes

Footnote 56. Killoren Electric Co. v Hon, 211 Ark 403, 200 SW2d 775; State v Halpin, 2 Conn Cir 409, 199 A2d 570; Bunn v Standard Oil Co., 251 Iowa 7, 99 NW2d 436; Nash v Normandy State Bank (Mo) 201 SW2d 299; Richardson v Farmers Union Oil Co., 131 Mont 535, 312 P2d 134; Burrows v Nash, 199 Or 114, 259 P2d 106 (criticized on other grounds by Arena v Gingrich, 305 Or 1, 748 P2d 547).

Footnote 57. Killoren Electric Co. v Hon, 211 Ark 403, 200 SW2d 775; Professional Bldg., Inc. v Reagen, 129 Ga App 183, 199 SE2d 266; Butler v Ragsdale, 54 Ga App 565, 188 SE 578; Snowwhite v Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 344 Mo 705, 127 SW2d 718; Rounds v Bucher, 137 Mont 39, 349 P2d 1026, 98 ALR2d 962; Richardson v Farmers Union Oil Co., 131 Mont 535, 312 P2d 134; Tonopah & G. R. Co. v Fellanbaum, 32 Nev 278, 107 P 882; Burrows v Nash, 199 Or 114, 259 P2d 106 (criticized on other grounds by Arena v Gingrich, 305 Or 1, 748 P2d 547).

Annotation: Comment Note.—Relation back of presumption of continuance of condition of property, 7 ALR3d 1302 § 3.

Footnote 58. § 296.

Footnote 59. Davidson v Piper, 221 Iowa 171, 265 NW 107.

Footnote 60. Re Estate of Perkins, 195 Cal 699, 235 P 45; Ellis v State, 138 Wis 513, 119 NW 1110.

Footnote 61. People v Wong (1st Dist) 245 Cal App 2d 844, 54 Cal Rptr 273; Slovick v James I. Barnes Constr. Co. (2nd Dist) 142 Cal App 2d 618, 298 P2d 923; Shipley v Southern Pacific Co. (1st Dist) 44 Ill App 2d 1, 193 NE2d 862; Grand T. W. R. Co. v M. S. Kaplan Co. (1st Dist) 43 Ill App 2d 230, 193 NE2d 456, 7 ALR3d 1289; Laplante v Warren Cotton Mills, 165 Mass 487, 43 NE 294; Henderson v William Moors Concrete Products, Inc., 353 Mich 509, 91 NW2d 910; Byrd v Baltimore & O. R. Co. (Montgomery Co) 10 Ohio App 2d 187, 39 Ohio Ops 2d 376, 227 NE2d 252; Barbour v Baltimore & O. R. Co. (Summit Co) 105 Ohio App 191, 6 Ohio Ops 2d 30, 152 NE2d 134.

Footnote 62. Jenkins v Hawthorne, 269 NC 672, 153 SE2d 339; Miller v Lucas, 267 NC 1, 147 SE2d 537.

Footnote 63. Millman v United States Mortg. & Title Guaranty Co., 121 NJL 28, 1 A2d 265, wherein the court said that it is elementary that the condition of a place or thing at the time of an injury may always be evidenced by showing its condition before or after that time, provided no substantial change has occurred, and added that the propriety of an inference in the individual case will depend on the likelihood of intervening circumstances as the true origin of the subsequent existence.

In Henderson v William Moors Concrete Products, Inc., 353 Mich 509, 91 NW2d 910, an action for injuries sustained by the plaintiff when cinder blocks which had been delivered to a building site collapsed while the plaintiff was removing blocks from the pile, the court held that from the fact that the planks on which the blocks were placed were uneven on the date of the accident it would be reasonable to infer that they were equally uneven 4 days earlier when the blocks were placed there.

13. Other Particular Presumptions and Inferences [299, 300]

§ 299 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The law presumes that a child was alive when born. 64 There is also a presumption against the fact that a person found dead was murdered. 65 But no presumption as to the age of a person at time of death arises from evidence of the age of his oldest child and of his widow. 66

It is to be presumed that neither party to an action will offer any evidence other than the exact facts. 67

Footnotes

Footnote 64. Turner v Person, 175 NC 219, 95 SE 362.

Footnote 65. Nichols v Mutual Life Ins. Co., 178 Tenn 209, 156 SW2d 436.

Footnote 66. Re Kueter's Estate, 45 SD 341, 187 NW 625, 21 ALR 1330.

Footnote 67. Western Union Tel. Co. v Williams, 129 Ky 515, 112 SW 651.

§ 300 Proper execution of written instruments

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Contracts and other written instruments which are regular on their face are presumed to have been properly executed and to have had included in their execution all formalities which were essential to their validity. 68 It is presumed also that a written instrument was executed on the day of its date 69 and, if it purports to have been witnessed, that it was witnessed at the time of its execution. 70 Such presumptions are rebuttable, 71 and it has been said that after testimony is adduced tending to overcome them, they cease to have probative force. 72

Footnotes

Footnote 68. Clements v Macheboeuf, 92 US 418, 2 Otto 418, 23 L Ed 504; Ogonowski v Bankers Leasing Corp., 8 Ariz App 484, 447 P2d 576; Gates v American Nat. Bank, 173 Colo 371, 479 P2d 285.

An unconditional legal delivery of a note may be presumed from its manual delivery. Cockrell v Taylor, 122 Fla 798, 165 So 887, 105 ALR 1338.

Footnote 69. Conley v Finn, 171 Mass 70, 50 NE 460; Jackson City Bank & Trust Co. v Sternburg, 281 Mich 313, 274 NW 806, 112 ALR 1195; McFarlane v Loudon, 99 Wis 620, 75 NW 394.

As to presumption of date of execution of a deed, see 23 Am Jur 2d, Deeds § 109.

Footnote 70. Pringle v Dunn, 37 Wis 449.

Footnote 71. The presumption that a receipt was made on the date it bears is not conclusive. Erickson v Brookings County, 3 SD 434, 53 NW 857.

Footnote 72. Jackson City Bank & Trust Co. v Sternburg, 281 Mich 313, 274 NW 806, 112 ALR 1195.

V. ADMISSIBILITY, GENERALLY [301-657]

A. Relevant, Competent and Material Evidence (Rules 401, 402) [301-323]

Research References

US Const, Amends 4, 6

FRE 401-412

Uniform Rules of Evidence 401-412

8 USCS § 1202; 10 USCS §§ 3392, 8693; 13 USCS § 9(a); 18 USCS § 3501; 47

USCS § 605(a)

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 1134-1413

ALR Index: Character and Reputation; Demonstrative and Real Evidence; Description and Identification; Documentary Evidence; Entrapment; Evidence; Evidence Rules; Experiments or Tests; Expert and Opinion Evidence; Hypothetical Questions; Impeachment of Witnesses; Offer of Proof; Rebuttal; Same or Similar Acts or Matters; Witnesses

1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court §§ 1:3623, 1:3624; 7

Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure §§ 20:646, 20:647, 20:649

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 15, 18, 20, 104, 105, 108

1 Wharton's Criminal Evidence (14th Ed) § 92

1. General Principles [301-306]

§ 301 Requirement that evidence be admissible

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence offered by either party in the trial of an action, to be admissible against the objection of the other party, must be relevant to the issues of the case and tend to establish or disprove them; matters that are wholly irrelevant and that are incapable of affording any legitimate proof, presumption, or inference regarding the fact or facts in issue, must be excluded. 73

The Federal Rules provide that all relevant evidence is admissible, except as otherwise provided by the Constitution of the United States, by act of Congress, by the Federal Rules of Evidence, or by other rules prescribed by the Supreme Court pursuant to statutory authority. 74 To similar effect, the Uniform Rules provide that all relevant evidence is admissible, except as otherwise provided by statute, by the Rules of Evidence or by other rules applicable in the courts of the adopting state. 75 Both the Federal and Uniform Rule further provide that evidence which is not relevant is not admissible. 76

The principle of full revelation of pertinent evidence to the trier is embodied in Rule 102, 401, and 402, 77 and it is necessary to refer to the definition of "relevant evidence" in Rule 401 to determine what constitutes "relevant evidence" so as to be admissible under Rule 402. 78 Relevant evidence is admissible under Rule 402 unless made

◆ Practice guide: Where irrelevant evidence is admitted, such admission will often constitute no more than harmless error, 80 although in some instances such admission may constitute prejudicial error. 81

◆ Caution: While admissible evidence is relevant, not all relevant evidence is admissible. Such evidence may be excluded because it is untestable and untrustworthy, as in the case of hearsay, 82 or because it is contrary to scientific principles or in conflict with natural laws; 83 or because of practical considerations of undue delay, confusion of issues, or risks of prejudice to a party. 84

It has been held that the burden is on the party seeking to exclude relevant evidence to show a reason for inadmissibility. 85 But it has also been said that if evidence offered by a party is objected to as inadmissible, the party offering the evidence has the burden of establishing its admissibility. 86

◆ Caution: Counsel must show the relevance and probative value of the evidence when it is offered; if counsel fails to do so and the evidence is ruled inadmissible, the fact that the evidence's relevancy becomes clear in retrospect after the trial does not affect the ruling as to its inadmissibility. 87 Where counsel seeks no opportunity to alter a pretrial ruling of inadmissibility, but disregards the ruling and repeatedly suggests to the jury the fact of such evidence, a new trial must be ordered in the interest of fairness to the parties. 88

§ 301 ----Requirement that evidence be admissible [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In hostile work environment context for Title VII claims, scope of admissibility of evidence of events which preceded 300-day period preceding filing of administrative complaint must be grounded in substantive law at issue and therefore statutory limitations period is not necessarily bar to admissibility of pre-statute acts which bear on work environment and on employer's awareness of that environment. West v Philadelphia Elec. Co. (1995, CA3 Pa) 45 F3d 744, 66 BNA FEP Cas 1524.

Evidence of negotiations over terms of effort to refinance shopping center is relevant under FRE 402 and admissible under FRE 403, where shopping center land purchaser is suing seller regarding its and consultant's breach of environmental audit and cleanup agreement, because it is certainly probative that lender abandoned refinancing due to its environmental concerns, jury will not be so confused as to award damages to purchaser for failed refinancing, and seller and consultant may impeach lender on cross-examination. Hawthorne Partners v AT & T Technologies (1993, ND Ill) 831 F Supp 1398, motion den (ND Ill) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 17119.

Evidence of crack cocaine conspiracy defendant's possession of cocaine was properly admitted since defendant gave pretrial notice that he might rely on defense of lack of knowledge of contraband and lack of intent. United States v Minh The Tran (1994, CA8 Mo) 16 F3d 897.

Offer of proof that defendant had purchased property adjacent to plaintiffs' property because defendant had polluted that property with its oil field activities was insufficient since it could not be determined from it whether excluded evidence would have been relevant or helpful to plaintiffs' case; therefore, district court did not abuse its discretion in excluding evidence. Inselman v S & J Operating Co. (1995, CA10 Okla) 44 F3d 894.

It was error in a murder prosecution for the court to permit the State to elicit testimony from a witness (defendant's girlfriend) that defendant had discussed Satanism with her and for the prosecutor to refer to Satanism in his final argument. However, defendant was not prejudiced by this error since there was no real contention that defendant practiced Satanism, and there was other evidence concerning bizarre behavior and conversations by defendant. State v Lovin (1995) 339 NC 695, 454 SE2d 229.

Admissibility of evidence is determined by trial judge subject to limits of relevancy and adequacy of proof (Stats § 901.04). In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 1993 Wisc LEXIS 754.

Admissibility of evidence is determined by trial judge subject to limits of relevancy and adequacy of proof (Stats § 901.04). In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 505 NW2d 142.

Footnotes

Footnote 73. § 308.

Evidence that is prima facie irrelevant should be rejected unless the person offering it shows how it can be made relevant by connecting it with other facts and circumstances. § 311.

Footnote 74. FRE 402.

◆ Comment: Prior to a 1972 amendment, the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure (Rule 26) provided that the admissibility of evidence and the competency and privileges of witnesses shall be governed, except when an act of Congress or these rules otherwise provide, by the principles of the common law as they may be interpreted by the courts of the United States in the light of reason and experience. This Rule contemplated the development of a uniform body of rules of evidence to be applicable in trials of criminal cases in the Federal courts; it was based on Funk v United States, 290 US 371, 78 L Ed 369, 54 S Ct 212, 93 ALR 1136 and Wolfie v United States, 291 US 7, 78 L Ed 617, 54 S Ct 279 which indicated that in the absence of statute, the Federal Courts in criminal cases are not bound by the state law of evidence but are guided by common law principles as interpreted by the Federal courts "in the light of reason and experience." Notes of Advisory Committee to USCS Rules of Crim Proc, Rule 26.

This part of Rule 26 was deleted by the 1972 amendment because the Federal Rules of Evidence now govern admissibility of evidence. Notes of Advisory Committee on 1972 Amendments to Rules (USCS Rules of Crim Proc, Rule 26).

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 111.

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 32.5.

Forms: Allegation–Error of law–In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3623.

Allegation–Error of law–In admitting inadmissible evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3624.

Footnote 75. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 402.

Footnote 76. FRE 402; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 402.

Footnote 77. United States v King (ED NY) 73 FRD 103, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 521.

In connection with a competency issue, the general rule is that the trial court should freely admit all evidence that appears to be relevant. United States v Bennett (CA10 Kan) 539 F2d 45, cert den 429 US 925, 50 L Ed 2d 293, 97 S Ct 327.

Footnote 78. United States v Brown (CA5 La) 574 F2d 1274, 78-2 USTC ¶ 9550, 42 AFTR 2d 78-5253, reh den (CA5 La) 578 F2d 871 and cert den 439 US 1046, 58 L Ed 2d 704, 99 S Ct 720 and appeal after remand (CA5 La) 628 F2d 471, reh den (CA5 La) 633 F2d 582; United States v Watkins (CA9 Or) 600 F2d 201, 79-2 USTC ¶ 9548, 44 AFTR 2d 79-5222, cert den 444 US 871, 62 L Ed 2d 96, 100 S Ct 148.

For a discussion of FRE 401, see §§ 307 et seq.

Footnote 79. United States v Juarez (CA7 Ind) 549 F2d 1113.

Footnote 80. Baker v Elcona Homes Corp. (CA6 Ohio) 588 F2d 551, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1592, cert den 441 US 933, 60 L Ed 2d 661, 99 S Ct 2054.

Footnote 81. United States v Brown (CA9 Or) 720 F2d 1059, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1592.

Footnote 82. §§ 658 et seq.

Footnote 83. Kelly v Jones, 290 Ill 375, 125 NE 334, 8 ALR 792; Wolf v City R. Co., 50 Or 64, 85 P 620; Seiwell v Hines, 273 Pa 259, 116 A 919, 21 ALR 139.

Footnote 84. §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 85. United States v Dupee (CA9 Wash) 569 F2d 1061.

Footnote 86. Liebow v Jones Store Co. (Mo) 303 SW2d 660.

Footnote 87. Jones v United States (CA10 Kan) 387 F2d 1004, 68-1 USTC ¶ 9111, 21 AFTR 2d 420, cert den 392 US 927, 20 L Ed 2d 1385, 88 S Ct 2284.

Footnote 88. Brown v Royalty (CA8 Mo) 535 F2d 1024.

§ 302 Exceptions to rule of admissibility: federal constitutional and statutory provisions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Relevant evidence that is inadmissible pursuant to the United States Constitution includes evidence obtained illegally, since the 4th Amendment prohibits unreasonable searches and seizures, 89 and incriminating statements elicited from the accused in violation of the right to counsel, since the 6th Amendment guarantees the right of the accused to the assistance of counsel. 90

Evidence that is relevant but inadmissible pursuant to an act of Congress includes records of refusal of visas or permits to enter the United States; 91 replacement certificates of honorable discharge from the Army 92 or the Air Force; 93 census information; 94 wire or radio communications, unless authorized by the sender, 95 and a confession not given voluntarily. 96

Regulations may also bar the admission of evidence. Thus, it has been held that it was error to admit as evidence conclusions and recommendations of Coast Guard investigating officers made in reports arising out of a maritime accident where federal regulations forbade use of such reports in civil or criminal proceedings, since Congress may impose limitations on admissibility of evidence beyond those provided in Federal Rules of Evidence. 97

§ 302 ----Exceptions to rule of admissibility: federal constitutional and statutory provisions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence that is admissible for some purposes or parties may not be admissible for others and, in such event, court may admit evidence but must instruct jury as to proper scope of admission. In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 1993 Wisc LEXIS 754.

Footnotes

Footnote 89. Katz v United States, 389 US 347, 19 L Ed 2d 576, 88 S Ct 507; Weeks v United States, 232 US 383, 58 L Ed 652, 34 S Ct 341 (ovrld on other grounds by Elkins v United States, 364 US 206, 4 L Ed 2d 1669, 80 S Ct 1437).

For a discussion of illegally obtained evidence, see §§ 589 et seq.

Generally, as to unreasonable searches and seizures, see 68 Am Jur 2d, Searches and Seizures.

Footnote 90. Massiah v United States, 377 US 201, 12 L Ed 2d 246, 84 S Ct 1199.

Footnote 91. 8 USCS § 1202(f).

Footnote 92. 10 USCS § 3392.

Footnote 93. 10 USCS § 8693.

Footnote 94. 13 USCS § 9(a).

Footnote 95. 47 USCS § 605(a).

Footnote 96. 18 USCS § 3501.

Footnote 97. Huber v United States (CA9 Cal) 838 F2d 398, 1988 AMC 1796, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 283.

§ 303 --Checklist of rules creating exceptions to rule of admissibility

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal and Uniform Rules of Evidence specifically preclude the admission of certain relevant evidence:

- Rule 403, involving prejudicial, confusing, or time-wasting evidence
- Rule 404, involving character evidence
- Rule 407, relating to subsequent remedial measures
- Rule 408, relating to compromise and offers to compromise
- Rule 409, relating to payment of medical and similar expenses
- Rule 410, relating to offers to plead guilty or nolo contendere, and to withdrawn pleas of guilty
- Rule 411, relating to liability insurance
- Rule 412, relating to a rape victim's past sexual behavior 98
- Rule 501, relating to privileges
- Rules 608-611, relating to the character and conduct of witnesses, their credibility, and their religious beliefs or opinions

- Rules 701-705, specifying requirements with respect to opinion and expert testimony
- Rule 802, excluding hearsay not falling within an exception
- Rules 1003-1004, restricting the admissibility of a duplicate and of evidence of the contents of a writing or recording

Rules of court other than the Federal Rules of Evidence which preclude the admission of relevant evidence include—

—FR Civ P 30(b) and 32(a), which place limits on the use of relevant depositions.

—FR Civ P 37(b)(2)(B), which authorizes sanctions by the court in the form of an order prohibiting a party from introducing designated matters in evidence for failure to obey an order to provide or permit discovery.

—FR Crim P 15, which restricts the use of depositions in criminal cases.

Footnotes

Footnote 98.

- ◆ Observation: The Uniform Rules, as originally promulgated, did not contain a Rule 412; while such a rule was added in 1986, it has not been adopted in a number of states. See 13A ULA, Uniform Rules of Evidence (Supp), Note to Rule 412.

§ 304 "Materiality" requirement

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Prior to the adoption of the Federal and Uniform Rules of Evidence, one of the elementary rules of evidence was that matters offered in evidence in a case must not only be relevant to the issues and tend to establish or disprove them, 99 but that they must also be "material" in that they must relate to the issues in the case. The sole fact that evidence is logically relevant was said not to require its admission; the evidence must also have some probative force over and above logical relevancy, 1 which was referred to as "legal relevancy" or "materiality." 2

- ◆ Distinction: "Immaterial" denotes evidence that is offered to prove or disprove a fact or proposition that is not at issue, whereas "irrelevant" denotes evidence that does not logically tend to prove or disprove any material fact or proposition. 3

The term "material" is not used in Rule 401, because it is considered "loosely used and ambiguous." 4 Thus, where evidence is related to the central issues in a case, it cannot be excluded on grounds that it is not material, since such a ground for inadmissibility does not appear in the Federal Rules of Evidence, or in any other exception listed in Rule 402. 5

◆ Observation: The Rules in effect substitute the phrase "fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action" 6 for the term "materiality." 7 It has been noted that the decision of the federal rulemakers to avoid the term "material" is perhaps unfortunate, as the usage in the Model Code and the former uniform rules seems to be sufficiently settled to create no appreciable confusion, and the consequential fact terminology is no less ambiguous. 8

◆ Caution: Some states, despite their adoption of the Uniform Rules, still appear to recognize the effect of materiality. 9 Furthermore, materiality may continue to be a necessary element in states that have not adopted the Uniform Rules. 10

§ 304 ----"Materiality" requirement [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Conditional probative value and the reconstruction of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 94 Mich LR 2:419 (1995).

Case authorities:

In a prosecution for first-degree murder of a police officer who was executing a search warrant for defendant's apartment wherein defendant contended that he and others in his apartment did not hear the police yell, "Police, search warrant," because they were listening to a compact disc entitled "Blacktronic Science," the State did not violate Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, by failing to disclose to defendant that the "Blacktronic Science" compact disc was discovered in defendant's stereo system because this evidence would not have affected the outcome of the trial and was not material where the jury heard testimony from defendant and two others that they were listening to the "Blacktronic Science" compact disc at the time police entered defendant's apartment and that the music was loud, and a visitor in another apartment testified that defendant's music was very loud that night and he did not hear the police announce their identification. State v Lyons (1995) 340 NC 646, 459 SE2d 770.

Judges exercise broad discretion with respect to admissibility of evidence as long as evidence tends to prove material fact. Material facts are those that are of consequence to merits of litigation while relevancy, in turn, is function of whether evidence tends to make existence of material fact more probable or less probable than it would be without evidence. In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 1993 Wisc LEXIS 754.

Footnotes

Footnote 99. Bird v United States, 180 US 356, 45 L Ed 570, 21 S Ct 403; Atlanta Joint Terminals v Knight, 98 Ga App 482, 106 SE2d 417, 79 ALR2d 539; Williams v Idaho Potato Starch Co., 73 Idaho 13, 245 P2d 1045; State v Knox, 236 Iowa 499, 18 NW2d 716; Whiteman v State, 119 Ohio St 285, 6 Ohio L Abs 695, 164 NE 51, 63 ALR 595.

Footnote 1. State v Lee, 227 Ind 25, 83 NE2d 778; Conley v Kaney (Mo) 250 SW2d 350;

Long v Leonard, 113 Vt 258, 32 A2d 679.

Footnote 2. State v Lee, 227 Ind 25, 83 NE2d 778; Conley v Kaney (Mo) 250 SW2d 350.

Footnote 3. Hansson v Catalytic Constr. Co., 43 NJ Super 23, 127 A2d 431.

That challenged evidence alone proves neither the connecting link in a chain of circumstances nor the ultimate fact in issue does not make it immaterial; materiality depends on whether evidence tends to link up other evidence or prove an ultimate fact in issue. State v Gersvold, 66 Wash 2d 900, 406 P2d 318.

Footnote 4. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

◆ Note: Texas enacted the following variation when it adopted the Uniform Rules:

"(a) 'Materiality' inquires whether there is any rational relationship or pertinence of the proffered evidence to any provable or controlling fact issue in dispute.

"(b) 'Relevancy' inquires whether the proffered evidence has probative value tending to establish the presence or absence, truth or falsity, of a fact.

"(c) TEST: Is it material? If not, exclude. If yes, and only in that event, is it relevant? If not exclude. If yes, admit." 13A ULA, Uniform Rules of Evidence, Note to Rule 401.

Footnote 5. United States v Carriger (CA6 Mich) 592 F2d 312, 79-1 USTC ¶ 9195, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 124, 43 AFTR 2d 79-538.

Footnote 6. For construction of this phrase, see § 310.

Footnote 7. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

Footnote 8. Wellborn, The Federal Rules of Evidence and the Application of State Law in Federal Courts, 55 Tex L Rev 371, 392 (1977).

Footnote 9. See Sims v Brown (Fla) 574 So 2d 131, 16 FLW S 112, stating that to be legally relevant, evidence must pass the test of materiality (defined as bearing on a fact to be proved), competency, and legal relevancy and must not be excluded for other countervailing reasons.

Footnote 10. People v Davis, 43 NY2d 17, 400 NYS2d 735, 371 NE2d 456, cert den 435 US 998, 56 L Ed 2d 88, 98 S Ct 1653 and cert den 438 US 914, 57 L Ed 2d 1160, 98 S Ct 3143 (relevant evidence is evidence having any tendency in reason to prove any material fact and tending to convince that the fact sought to be established is so).

In order to be admissible, the evidence offered must have some material bearing upon issues of the case. Wilmot v McPadden, 79 Conn 367, 65 A 157 (holding immaterial, in an action involving the safety of chimneys left standing during the demolition of a building, evidence that persons, in passing the building, walked on the opposite side of the street because they were afraid that the chimney would fall).

§ 305 "Competency" requirement

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Prior to the adoption of the Federal and Uniform Rules of Evidence, the courts frequently referred to the "competency" of evidence. The terms "relevancy," "competency," and "materiality" were often used conjunctively in such manner as to suggest that they are synonymous, although it was recognized that a matter relevant to an issue may be incompetent and inadmissible under the established rules of evidence, such as the rule that excludes hearsay evidence. 11

Competent evidence was defined to mean that which the very nature of things to be proved required as the fit and appropriate proof in the particular case; it was evidence which in legal proceedings was admissible for the purpose of proving relevant fact. 12 Stated otherwise, the competency of evidence depends on whether it is of the sort or type which may be accepted on any issue to which it is relevant. 13

In general, the exclusion of evidence is proper if it is incompetent on any ground. It is immaterial on what ground the court excludes it, provided its incompetency is established. 14 Incompetent and irrelevant evidence cannot be converted into competent and relevant evidence simply because it is contained in an official communication. 15 However, evidence may be clearly incompetent for one purpose but be entirely proper for another purpose; 16 such evidence was held admissible for the latter purpose even though the jury may erroneously use it for other purposes. 17

The trend of the law even prior to the adoption of the Rules was to turn away from rigid rules of incompetence, in favor of admitting testimony and allowing the trier of fact to judge the weight to be given to it. This change was wrought partially by legislation and partially by judicial construction. 18 Statutes determining the competency of a person as a witness 19 do not necessarily affect the admissibility of proof that may be offered by witness. A statute making a party to an action a competent witness does not make that part of his evidence competent that was before incompetent; but, if the evidence was in its nature competent before the statute and was unavailable by reason of incompetency of the witness, such evidence becomes available upon the statutory removal of such incompetency, so that it may be proved by such witness. 20

◆ Observation: Although the Federal and Uniform Rules of Evidence make no reference to competency or materiality, 21 some courts continue to refer to competency as an element of relevance or admissibility. 22 Thus, it has been noted that it is elementary that any evidence is competent that makes more or less probable the fact in controversy. 23

§ 305 ----"Competency" requirement [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Identical affidavits offered by five jurors stating that jury acquitted defendant of first-degree murder based on conclusion that he was not present at crime scene were not offered as part of inquiry into validity of verdict, and thus were competent evidence admissible on defendant's claim of double jeopardy. Jacobs v Marathon County (1996, CA7 Wis) 73 F3d 164, reh, en banc, den (1996, CA7 Wis) 1996 US App LEXIS 2410.

Footnotes

Footnote 11. § 659.

Footnote 12. Chiordi v Jernigan, 46 NM 396, 129 P2d 640.

Footnote 13. Mattox v News Syndicate Co. (CA2 NY) 176 F2d 897, 12 ALR2d 988, cert den 338 US 858, 94 L Ed 525, 70 S Ct 100.

Footnote 14. Egger v Egger, 225 Mo 116, 123 SW 928.

Footnote 15. United States v Corwin, 129 US 381, 32 L Ed 710, 9 S Ct 318; Chiordi v Jernigan, 46 NM 396, 129 P2d 640.

Footnote 16. Leigh v Swartz, 74 Ariz 108, 245 P2d 262; Maas v Laursen, 219 Minn 461, 18 NW2d 233, 158 ALR 215; Louis Steinbaum Real Estate Co. v Maltz (Mo) 247 SW2d 652, 31 ALR2d 1052; Caples v State, 3 Okla Crim 72, 104 P 493.

Footnote 17. Sims v Struthers, 267 Ala 80, 100 So 2d 23; Pioneer Constructors v Symes, 77 Ariz 107, 267 P2d 740, 41 ALR2d 668; Daggett v Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co., 48 Cal 2d 655, 313 P2d 557, 64 ALR2d 1283; State v Volpe, 113 Conn 288, 155 A 223, 76 ALR 1083; Martin v Mercantile Trust Co. (Mo) 293 SW2d 319; Fox v Manchester, 183 NY 141, 75 NE 1116; State v Cooper, 114 Utah 531, 201 P2d 764.

If evidence is competent for any purpose, it is not rendered incompetent by the fact that it also has a tendency to influence the mind in another direction, for which alone it would not be competent. United States v Vandersee (CA3 NJ) 279 F2d 176, cert den 364 US 943, 5 L Ed 2d 374, 81 S Ct 463; Curtin v Benjamin, 305 Mass 489, 26 NE2d 354, 129 ALR 433.

Footnote 18. Funk v United States, 290 US 371, 78 L Ed 369, 54 S Ct 212, 93 ALR 1136.

Footnote 19. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 163 et seq.

Footnote 20. Garrett v Hanshue, 53 Ohio St 482, 42 NE 256.

Footnote 21. As to materiality, see § 304.

Footnote 22. Sims v Brown (Fla) 574 So 2d 131, 16 FLW S 112 (stating that to be legally relevant, evidence must pass the test of materiality, competency—being testified by one in a position to know—and legal relevancy and must not be excluded for other countervailing reasons).

"Competent evidence" is that which tends to establish a fact in issue. Weiner v State, 217 Neb 372, 348 NW2d 879.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Consideration of competent evidence only. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 20.

Footnote 23. Cincinnati Bell, Inc. v Hinterlong, 70 Ohio Misc 38, 24 Ohio Ops 3d 52, 437 NE2d 11.

Generally as to the necessity for the evidence to tend to make probable the existence of a fact, see § 309.

§ 306 Effect of state-law restrictions on admissibility in federal court

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 402 was designed to bar common-law rules of evidence or state rules of evidence that are inconsistent with it. 24 Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 402 has been invoked to reject objections based on state-created common-law limits upon receipt of relevant evidence, and to make clear that the trial court is to apply federal relevancy standards even where state law supplies the rule of decision. 25 However, some courts have applied state restrictions on the admissibility of evidence under certain narrow circumstances. 26

◆ Observation: Although there are some matters of state policy so basic that they should be accorded the same treatment in federal courts as they have in the state courts, 27 in the absence of any indication of state policy, the Federal District Court should be guided by the literal terms of the Federal Rules of Evidence. 28

Footnotes

Footnote 24. United States v Jacobs (CA2 NY) 547 F2d 772.

Annotation: Federal Rules of Evidence or state evidentiary rules as applicable in diversity cases, 84 ALR Fed 283.

Footnote 25. United States v Jacobs (CA2 NY) 547 F2d 772, cert gr 431 US 937, 53 L Ed 2d 254, 97 S Ct 2647, cert dismd 436 US 31, 56 L Ed 2d 53, 98 S Ct 1873; Papizzo v O. Robertson Transport, Ltd. (ED Mich) 401 F Supp 540, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 109 (disapproved on other grounds by Caldarera v Eastern Airlines, Inc. (CA5 La) 705 F2d 778, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1996).

Footnote 26. Caldarera v Eastern Airlines, Inc. (CA5 La) 705 F2d 778, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1996 (applying Louisiana rule excluding evidence of remarriage in suit seeking damages for loss of spouse); Bailey v Southern Pacific Transp. Co. (CA5 Tex)

613 F2d 1385, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 956, reh den (CA5 Tex) 618 F2d 781 and cert den 449 US 836, 66 L Ed 2d 42, 101 S Ct 109 (applying state rule that evidence of remarriage not admissible for purpose of mitigation of damages).

Footnote 27. Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 540 F2d 837, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 610 F2d 360, reh den (CA5 Tex) 614 F2d 1298 and on remand (ED Tex) 487 F Supp 647, motion gr (ED Tex) 87 FRD 712, 30 FR Serv 2d 856, affd (CA5 Tex) 644 F2d 1059, reh den (CA5 Tex) 650 F2d 282 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 687 F2d 108, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1895, 34 FR Serv 2d 1485, reh den (CA5 Tex) 693 F2d 133 (applying Texas statute governing admissibility of evidence of widow's ceremonial remarriage in wrongful death action as constituting evidentiary rule so bound up with state substantive law that federal court should accord it same treatment as state courts to give full effect to state policy).

Footnote 28. Stonehocker v General Motors Corp. (CA4 SC) 587 F2d 151, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1334.

2. What Constitutes "Relevant Evidence" [307-312]

§ 307 Definition of "relevant" evidence; effect of collateral issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

"Relevant evidence" is defined by the Rules as evidence having any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence. 29 Thus, the Rules definition embodies two separate requirements, namely:

- (1) that the evidence tends to make more or less probable the existence of a fact, 30 and
- (2) that the fact be of consequence to the determination of the action. 31

It has long been recognized that evidence which, when taken alone or in connection with other evidence, 32 tends to prove or disprove a material or controlling issue or to defeat the rights asserted by one or the other of the parties, and sheds any light upon or touches the issues in such a way as to enable the jury to draw a logical and reasonable inference with respect to the matter or a principal fact in issue, is relevant. 33 As thus defined, relevancy means the logical relation between the proposed evidence and a fact to be established. 34 For evidence to be relevant, it must tend to convince that the fact sought to be established is so. 35

Evidence of collateral issues may be relevant if the fact which it tends to establish will tend to prove or disprove the fact in issue, 36 as where it has a natural tendency to corroborate or supplement admitted direct evidence. 37 In other words, while the evidence offered must be confined to, it need not bear directly upon the issue. 38

Moreover, evidence that is relevant and admissible is not made inadmissible by carrying with it collateral facts advantageous to the party offering it, which of themselves could not be offered. 39

◆ Observation: Under Rule 104(b) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence and the Federal Rules of Evidence, even the relevancy of evidence depends upon the fulfillment of a condition of fact, the court shall admit it upon, or subject to, the introduction of evidence sufficient to support a finding of the fulfillment of the condition.

§ 307 ----Definition of "relevant" evidence; effect of collateral issues
[SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of manufacturer's profits from sale of all-terrain vehicles was somewhat relevant to plaintiff's failure to warn claim since it was probative of manufacturer's explanation for its inaction, but danger that it would unfairly prejudice jury was overwhelming, particularly since limiting instruction did not alert jury to impropriety of punishing manufacturer for unsavory motive of greed. La Plante v American Honda Motor Co. (1994, CA1 RI) 27 F3d 731, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13935, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 987.

Ledger was relevant evidence in cocaine distribution conspiracy, offered as evidence of narcotics conspiracy alleged; expert testified that drug dealers generally keep ledgers recording their drug transactions and "running tab" to track balance of money due on transactions, and that entry in question appeared to be such record. United States v Quiroz (1993, CA2 NY) 13 F3d 505, on reh, in part, reh den, in part (CA2) 1994 US App LEXIS 8404.

Evidence of mail fraud victims' financial losses was relevant to proving defendants' specific intent, but some went beyond anything that was reasonable to prove such intent where witnesses testified that money they used to pay back losses came from their children's college savings or savings for other specific purposes, or that paying back money affected their health. United States v Copple (1994, CA3 Pa) 24 F3d 535, 94-1 USTC ¶ 50237, 74 AFTR 2d 94-6133, 94 TNT 178-23, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 941, cert den (1994, US) 1994 US LEXIS 7908.

District court erred in excluding employment discrimination plaintiff's evidence of racially hostile work environment and from eliciting testimony of how it related to plaintiff's performance where it admitted employer's evidence of plaintiff's performance but prohibited plaintiff from cross-examining employer's witnesses as to basis or extent of their knowledge, and evidence was relevant to whether principal nondiscriminatory reasons for employer's action was pretextual. Glass v Philadelphia Elec. Co. (1994, CA3 Pa) 34 F3d 188.

In plaintiff's action against employer alleging sexually hostile work atmosphere and retaliation for raising claims of sexual harassment, plaintiff is not ordered to execute authorization enabling employer to obtain her psychological/psychiatric records, where plaintiff withdrew claim for pain, suffering, mental anguish, humiliation, and loss of enjoyment of life, because records are not likely to lead to relevant evidence; but plaintiff is ordered to submit records to court for in camera review for purpose of determining whether psychotherapist/patient privilege applies to records. Covell v CNG Transmission Corp. (1994, MD Pa) 863 F Supp 202.

Evidence of bankruptcy fraud/money laundering defendant's declining net worth, purchase and use of cashier's checks, participation in large cash transactions, and rental or use of more than one safety deposit box was relevant to whether defendant acted with requisite intent or plan to defeat rights of his creditors. United States v West (1994, CA5 Tex) 22 F3d 586, CCH Bankr L Rptr ¶ 75970, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA5 Tex) 1994 US App LEXIS 22090.

Age-related remarks by discharged employee's supervisor over four-year period of his supervision were relevant to employee's age discrimination claim since they indicated pattern of discriminatory comments and were directly relevant to showing existence of discriminatory motive for firing employee, and fact that supervisor's supervisor is one who terminated employee did not make them less relevant since supervisor recommended employee's discharge and deciding official relied on that recommendation. EEOC v Manville Sales Corp. (1994, CA5 Tex) 27 F3d 1089, 65 BNA FEP Cas 804, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA5 Tex) 1994 US App LEXIS 27068.

Evidence of illegal kickbacks and unauthorized use of police department planes was properly admitted in obstruction of justice prosecution as relevant to defendant's motive for altering and ordering others to alter aviation department logbooks. United States v Mullins (1994, CA6 Mich) 22 F3d 1365, 1994 FED App 133P.

Court did not abuse its discretion in age discrimination case in admitting testimony that plaintiff's superior admitted to belief during his teenage years that all people over 30 should be put in concentration camps and his comment that he did not want to spend Thanksgiving with his family because he did not like to be around old people, since they were relevant to plaintiff's heavy evidentiary burden to prove that defendant's alleged discriminatory animus was not vague, ambiguous, or isolated, and any error was harmless given suspicious circumstances of plaintiff's firing and other evidence of superior's animus toward old people. Cooley v Carmike Cinemas (1994, CA6 Tenn) 25 F3d 1325, 65 BNA FEP Cas 46, 64 CCH EPD ¶ 43151, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 950, 1994 FED App 208P.

District court erred in excluding evidence that witnesses had been subjected to electroshock and beatings by defendant police officers several days before civil rights plaintiff's arrest and alleged beating and electroshock treatment by officers, since evidence was relevant to plaintiff's claims and could have been used to impeach one officer's denial of having ever used electroshock instrument. Wilson v City of Chicago (1993, CA7 Ill) 6 F3d 1233, mod, on reh, in part, reh den (CA7 Ill) 1993 US App LEXIS 31896.

Evidence that when defendant was arrested for drug trafficking he was in possession of false driver's license issued in name of deceased person and bearing that person's social security number was properly admitted since, by indicating that defendant wished to conceal his identity during ongoing involvement with drugs, it was relevant to proving culpable state of mind. United States v Acevedo (1994, CA7 Ill) 28 F3d 686.

Court in age discrimination suit did not err in excluding compilations from defendant's records listing pilots who moved into first officer positions pursuant to process known as "one-step downbidding," since relevance was predicated on factual hypothesis which was itself in dispute and debate over its validity might have consumed considerable time and distracted jury from focus on two-step downbidding at issue. Baker v Delta Air Lines (1993, CA9 Cal) 6 F3d 632, 93 CDOS 7294, 93 Daily Journal DAR 12428, 62 BNA FEP Cas 1588, 62 CCH EPD ¶ 42574, amd, on reh, reh, en banc, den (CA9 Cal) 93 CDOS 9058, 93 Daily Journal DAR 15576 and reprinted as amd (CA9 Cal) 1993 US App LEXIS 31919.

Evidence that person who sold cocaine to defendant had disappeared after his car was last seen at defendant's residence was inadmissible since it did not tend to prove any material element of any charged drug or RICO offenses, but admission was harmless since government did not argue that person's disappearance was result of foul play attributable to defendant, jury did not hear defendant's statement that he killed person, and evidence of defendant's guilt was overwhelming. United States v Robertson (1994, CA9 Cal) 15 F3d 862, 94 CDOS 745, 94 Daily Journal DAR 1264, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1340.

In prosecution of prisoner for possession of prohibited object, allegedly weapon, testimony explaining why witness had been moved from one area of correctional facility to another after confiscation of prohibited object should have been excluded since witness's transfer had to do with unrelated objects found in his shared cell area one week after object at issue had been confiscated and which allegedly could have been used in attempted escape. United States v Rodriguez (1995, CA9 Cal) 45 F3d 302, 95 CDOS 323, 95 Daily Journal DAR 547.

In prosecution for various sexual offenses, including forcible rape, defendant was entitled to instructions on lesser-related offense of prostitution where defendant admitted he engaged in acts of vaginal intercourse with victims, but claimed acts were consensual in exchange for drugs. For lesser uncharged offense to be closely related to greater charged offense, evidence of the lesser offense must be relevant to issue of whether defendant is guilty of greater one. Accordingly, if jurors believed defendant's testimony that he traded drugs for consensual sex, they would have acquitted him of rape charges. Thus, evidence that charged rapes were simply acts of prostitution was relevant to determination of defendant's guilt of greater charges and, under these circumstances, prostitution was offense closely related to rape. People v Whitfield (1993, 3rd Dist) 19 Cal App 4th 1652, 24 Cal Rptr 2d 210, 93 CDOS 8284, 93 Daily Journal DAR 14058.

Assuming arguendo that the trial court in a murder-robbery trial erred by admitting walkie-talkies, a crowbar, a Redfield scope, clips, ammunition, and a .22 caliber bolt-action rifle found in a duffel bag in defendant's apartment because these items were not linked to the crimes charged, there is no reasonable possibility that the admission of these items affected the outcome of the trial in light of the State's minimal reference to these items at trial and the State's other evidence, including defendant's inculpatory statement and firearms found in defendant's apartment which were linked to the crimes. G.S. § 15A-1443(b). State v Harris (1994) 338 NC 211, 449 SE2d 462.

In this prosecution for first-degree murder and armed robbery, the trial court did not err in sustaining the State's objections to questions concerning whether defendant's father abandoned him, when defendant's drug use began, the nature of the area where the murder- robbery occurred, and the location of the victim's husband, the reasons he was in jail, and his relationship with the codefendant since the evidence sought to be elicited was not material to any issue in the case; the psychiatrist who testified that defendant suffered from chronic and acute intoxication of cocaine, marijuana and alcohol on the day of the crimes did not state that when defendant began using drugs affected his diagnoses; and defendant was permitted to elicit from another witness that the area was known for drug activity. State v Harris (1994) 338 NC 211, 449 SE2d 462.

A juvenile's confession was not improperly admitted because the trial court sustained the State's objections to defendant's questions concerning an officer's training in taking statements from juveniles in criminal cases where such officer never conducted any interview or questioning of defendant, and his training was thus not a proper matter for consideration in determining whether defendant's confession was admissible. State v Gibson (1995) 342 NC 142, 463 SE2d 193.

Although evidence of a prior altercation with an eyewitness is relevant as a general rule, that evidence loses its relevance when, as here, the identity of the person with whom defendant argued is merely speculation. State v Floyd (1994) 115 NC App 412, 445 SE2d 54.

Where various witnesses testified that the sheriff and his deputies did not investigate other potential perpetrators in a rape case involving children, it was relevant for the sheriff to testify that "if [defendant] had any innocence, we would check it all" and that he had told defendant's father that "if [defendant] is not guilty we will prove that he is not guilty." State v Weaver (1994) 117 NC App 434, 451 SE2d 15.

Evidence pertaining to party's bias generally is relevant to question before court. In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 505 NW2d 142.

Relevant evidence is evidence having any tendency to make existence of any fact that is of consequence to determination of action more probable or less probable than it would be without evidence (Stats § 904.01). State v Patricia A. M. (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 542, 500 NW2d 289.

Matter is collateral if fact to which error is predicated could not be shown in evidence for any purpose independently of contradiction. State v Olson (1993, App) 179 Wis 2d 715, 508 NW2d 616.

Footnotes

Footnote 29. FRE 401; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 401.

◆ Observation: Although New York has not adopted the Uniform Rules, its highest court has quoted the language of Rule 401 approvingly. People v Davis, 43 NY2d 17, 400 NYS2d 735, 371 NE2d 456, cert den 435 US 998, 56 L Ed 2d 88, 98 S Ct 1653 and cert den 438 US 914, 57 L Ed 2d 1160, 98 S Ct 3143.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 91.

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 32.5.

Forms: Allegation—Error of law—In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3623.

Allegation—Error of law—In admitting inadmissible evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3624.

Footnote 30. § 309.

Footnote 31. § 310.

Footnote 32. As to effect of other evidence in the case, see § 311.

Footnote 33. Williams v Vreeland, 250 US 295, 63 L Ed 989, 39 S Ct 438, 3 ALR 1038; Chesbrough v Woodworth, 244 US 72, 61 L Ed 1000, 37 S Ct 579; Andersen v United States, 170 US 481, 42 L Ed 1116, 18 S Ct 689; Peagler v Davis, 143 Ga 11, 84 SE 59; Brazil Block Coal Co. v Gibson, 160 Ind 319, 66 NE 882; Lynch v Rosenberger, 121 Kan 601, 249 P 682, 60 ALR 376; White v Graves, 107 Mass 325; State v Knight, 356 Mo 1233, 206 SW2d 330; State v Shiren, 15 NJ Super 440, 83 A2d 620, affd 9 NJ 445, 88 A2d 601; People v Thompson, 212 NY 249, 106 NE 78; Holmes v Chartiers Oil Co., 138 Pa 546, 21 A 231.

Footnote 34. State v Knox, 236 Iowa 499, 18 NW2d 716; Keisel v Bredick, 192 Wash 665, 74 P2d 473.

Footnote 35. People v Johnson (4th Dept) 62 App Div 2d 555, 405 NYS2d 538, affd 47 NY2d 785, 417 NYS2d 925, 391 NE2d 1006, cert den 444 US 857, 62 L Ed 2d 75, 100 S Ct 116, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 764 F2d 114.

Relevant evidence is "any matter of fact the effect, tendency, or design of which, when presented to the mind, is to produce a persuasion concerning the existence of some other matter of fact—a persuasion either affirmative or disaffirmative of its existence." Edmonds v State, 163 Neb 323, 79 NW2d 453.

Footnote 36. Cleveland, C., C. & I. R. Co. v Closser, 126 Ind 348, 26 NE 159; Re Estate of Isom, 193 Kan 357, 394 P2d 21; Edgerton v H. P. Welch Co., 321 Mass 603, 74 NE2d 674, 174 ALR 462 (ovrld on other grounds by Pridgen v Boston Housing Authority, 364 Mass 696, 308 NE2d 467, 70 ALR3d 1106).

Footnote 37. Re Estate of Isom, 193 Kan 357, 394 P2d 21; People v Thompson, 212 NY 249, 106 NE 78.

Footnote 38. State v Gauger, 200 Kan 563, 438 P2d 463.

Footnote 39. Weston v Barnicoat, 175 Mass 454, 56 NE 619.

§ 308 Definition of "irrelevant" evidence; speculative evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

"Irrelevant" evidence denotes evidence that does not logically tend to prove or disprove any material fact or proposition. 40 In other words, evidence of collateral or other facts that are incapable of affording any reasonable presumption or inference as to a principal fact or matter in dispute, 41 or evidence that is too remote, 42 is irrelevant and inadmissible. 43 Thus, evidence that produces only speculative inferences is irrelevant evidence. 44

Irrelevant facts and circumstances—that is, those which do not throw any light upon, or have any logical relation to, the facts in issue that must be established by one party or disproved by the other, or that are too remote—are 45 not properly admissible in evidence and upon proper objection must be excluded. 46 In other words, where there is nothing in the issues presented to warrant the proof offered, it is properly excluded. 47

§ 308 ----Definition of "irrelevant" evidence; speculative evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution on charges of wire fraud and transporting stolen property in interstate commerce arising out of defendant's allegedly fraudulent acquisition of insurance company, district court did not abuse its discretion in excluding as irrelevant report of investigation by state's department of business regulation indicating that acquired company was in financial trouble; report was received by company after defendant had already purchased it and thus said nothing about what information might have been withheld from him prior to purchase, and was cumulative of other evidence showing that defendant had been informed repeatedly of company's precarious financial status prior to purchasing it. United States v Newman (1995, CA1 RI) 49 F3d 1.

Evidence that alleged mail fraud victims had attempted to take over defendant's business was irrelevant; fact that victims sought security after they discovered defendant's fraud with their investments hardly suggested they were previously plotting to take over his business, and even plot to obtain control would tell little about whether defendant had made false statements when he obtained their funds. United States v Camuti (1996, CA1 Mass) 78 F3d 738.

Although existence and substance of combine manufacturer's decal program and factory and field modification programs were evidence of subsequent remedial measures relevant to strict liability, its post-retrofit conduct was not relevant to liability issue, hence not relevant to issue of punitive damages since any "bad conduct" for which manufacturer might be assessed punitive damages must have occurred at or before time it sold or attempted to retrofit combine in issue with warning decal. Burke v Deere & Co. (1993, CA8 Iowa) 6 F3d 497, amd, substituted op, remanded (CA8 Iowa) CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13609, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 24434 and petition for certiorari filed (Dec 21, 1993).

Opposing counsel's references to age discrimination plaintiff as millionaire, Jewish, and recipient of unemployment compensation benefits emphasized irrelevant information having no bearing on issues and demonstrated persistent attempt to get information before jury; new trial should have been granted. Silbergleit v First Interstate Bank, N.A. (1994, CA8 ND) 37 F3d 394, 65 BNA FEP Cas 1718.

Plaintiff in sexual harassment suit would be precluded from asking defendant former university president about his sexual activity while at previous university since trustees' knowledge of president's sexual activity while at other university was irrelevant to plaintiff's sexual harassment claims; likewise plaintiff had right to be protected from invasive inquiry into her sexual history, and defendant's generalized allegation that there might be some other acts evidence somewhere in case was insufficient to overcome potential of requested discovery to harass plaintiff. Longmire v Alabama State Univ. (1992, MD Ala) 151 FRD 414.

Retailer's motion to alter or amend products liability verdict arising out of defective seat on exercise bicycle is denied, where retailer challenges exclusion of evidence regarding insurance payment of victim's medical bills incurred as result of serious impalement injury, because evidence was properly excluded as irrelevant under FRE 401, and alternatively as unfairly prejudicial, confusing, and misleading to jury under FRE 403. Craig v F.W. Woolworth Co. (1993, ND Ala) 866 F Supp 1369.

Evidence of common profiles of homes where child abuse occurs, and of child abusers, is inadmissible at trial of child abuser, because to extent that it is background information it is irrelevant to determination of guilt or innocence of individual child abuser, and to extent it is offered to show guilt of individual child abuser, it is inadmissible because it is not generally accepted as indicator of individual guilt in child abuse cases in scientific community, and is contrary to FS § :90.404(1); erroneous admission of evidence is not sufficiently harmful to require overturning abuser's conviction, where overwhelming direct evidence, including testimony of doctors, second abuser, and second child, was given and where doctor who gave profile testimony stated that it could not be used to determine guilt in individual cases. Flanagan v State (1993, Fla) 625 So 2d 827, 18 FLW S 475.

Although evidence of a prior altercation with an eyewitness is relevant as a general rule, that evidence loses its relevance when, as here, the identity of the person with whom defendant argued is merely speculation. State v Floyd (1994) 115 NC App 412, 445 SE2d 54.

In an action to set aside a deed based on undue influence, the trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of testatrix's attendant and physician regarding her mental condition, since there was no merit to defendant's contention that this testimony was irrelevant and too remote in time to be admissible. Caudill v Smith (1994) 117 NC App 64, 450 SE2d 8, review den (NC) 1995 NC LEXIS 75.

Footnotes

Footnote 40. Hansson v Catalytic Constr. Co., 43 NJ Super 23, 127 A2d 431.

Footnote 41. Bird v United States, 180 US 356, 45 L Ed 570, 21 S Ct 403; Lawson v Hicks, 38 Ala 279; Packer v Benton, 35 Conn 343; Peagler v Davis, 143 Ga 11, 84 SE 59; McKee v Trisler, 311 Ill 536, 143 NE 69, 33 ALR 1298; Pittsburgh, C. C. & S. L. R. Co. v Collard's Adm'r, 170 Ky 239, 185 SW 1108, error dismd 246 US 653, 62 L Ed

922, 38 S Ct 336; New York, P. & N. R. Co. v Waldron, 116 Md 441, 82 A 709; Third Great Western Turnpike Road Co. v Loomis, 32 NY 127; Orth v Board of Public Education, 272 Pa 411, 116 A 366, 20 ALR 1352.

In a robbery prosecution, the testimony of a detective who had been instrumental in securing the arrest of defendant attempting to establish that a large percentage of those arrested by the detective for robbery were ultimately proven guilty, was patently irrelevant since it undertook to collaterally establish the detective's investigative successes but had no probative value intending to establish the proposition in issue, the identity of defendant as one of the robbers. Dorsey v State, 276 Md 638, 350 A2d 665.

Footnote 42. § 319.

Footnote 43. A trial court has no discretion to admit irrelevant evidence. People v Babbitt, 45 Cal 3d 660, 248 Cal Rptr 69, 755 P2d 253, stay gr (Cal) 1988 Cal LEXIS 863 and cert den 488 US 1034, 102 L Ed 2d 981, 109 S Ct 849 and stay gr (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1428, stay vac (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1683.

Footnote 44. People v Babbitt, 45 Cal 3d 660, 248 Cal Rptr 69, 755 P2d 253, stay gr (Cal) 1988 Cal LEXIS 863 and cert den 488 US 1034, 102 L Ed 2d 981, 109 S Ct 849 and stay gr (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1428, stay vac (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1683 (holding that speculative inferences that are derived from evidence cannot be deemed to be relevant to establish the speculatively inferred fact in light of the California Evidence Code which requires that evidence offered to prove or disprove disputed facts must have a tendency in reason for such purpose).

Statutorily-required report of automobile-train collisions was inadmissible as speculative where report was not based upon independent investigation but upon hearsay. Harrison v Grand T. W. R. Co., 162 Mich App 464, 413 NW2d 429, app den 429 Mich 903.

Where a witness would have allegedly testified that he was afraid that prosecution's key witness would start stories about him if he testified truthfully, such testimony was properly excluded as speculative and irrelevant. Dixon v State (Okla Crim) 732 P2d 4.

Footnote 45. § 319.

Footnote 46. Bird v United States, 180 US 356, 45 L Ed 570, 21 S Ct 403; Peagler v Davis, 143 Ga 11, 84 SE 59; People v Chicago, M. & S. P. R. Co., 306 Ill 486, 138 NE 155, 28 ALR 610; Lynch v Rosenberger, 121 Kan 601, 249 P 682, 60 ALR 376; Pittsburgh, C. C. & S. L. R. Co. v Collard's Adm'r, 170 Ky 239, 185 SW 1108, error dismd 246 US 653, 62 L Ed 922, 38 S Ct 336; Harrington v Boston E. R. Co., 229 Mass 421, 118 NE 880, 2 ALR 1057; State v Knight, 356 Mo 1233, 206 SW2d 330; People v Roach, 215 NY 592, 109 NE 618; Clark v Patapsco Guano Co., 144 NC 64, 56 SE 858.

Footnote 47. Johnson v Whitfield, 124 Ala 508, 27 So 406; Hartford Deposit Co. v Sollitt, 172 Ill 222, 50 NE 178; Cromwell v Norton, 193 Mass 291, 79 NE 433; Dillon v Hunt, 105 Mo 154, 16 SW 516; Morningstar v Lafayette Hotel Co., 211 NY 465, 105 NE 656; Elder v Lykens Val. Coal Co., 157 Pa 490, 27 A 545; Bridger v Asheville & S. R. Co., 27 SC 456, 3 SE 860.

§ 309 Evidence tending to make probable existence of fact

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

One of the requirements for "relevant evidence" under the Rules is that the evidence must "tend to make more or less probable the existence of a fact." 48 Relevancy is not an inherent characteristic of any item of evidence but exists only as a relation between an item of evidence and a matter properly provable in the case, 49 a relationship summarized in Rule 401 as a "tendency to make the existence" of the fact to be proved "more probable or less probable." 50

◆ Observation: Matters tending to reduce or enhance the apparent probative value of evidence affect only the weight of such evidence and not its admissibility. 51

As stated in earlier cases, whatever to the ordinary reasoning mind is logically probative of a fact in issue is prima facie admissible and should not be excluded unless its admission violates a rule of law or policy. 52 This rule applies in all types of civil actions, that is, in contract actions, 53 as well as actions to recover for negligent injuries 54 or wrongful death, 55 as well as in criminal prosecutions, where all competent evidence which legitimately tends to show that the defendant had the opportunity of committing the crime with which he is charged is clearly admissible as tending to show his connection therewith. 56

◆ Caution: It has been noted that practical considerations do not permit the court to hear every matter that may be in any degree logically relevant to the issue, but require that matters received as evidence shall have a higher degree of probative force. 57

Relevancy has been said to describe the relationship between a proffered item of evidence and a proposition that is provable or material in a given case. There is no legal test of relevancy and reference must be made to logic or general experience to demonstrate the existence of a relationship and its proximity or remoteness. 58 According to certain authorities, no more probative worth is required than that which reasonable persons would require in making thoughtful decisions in life outside the courtroom. 59

◆ Practice guide: In determining whether evidence has any tendency to make the existence of a fact of consequence to the action more or less probable, a rule of thumb is to inquire whether a reasonable person might believe the probability of the truth of the consequential fact to be different if the person knew of the proffered evidence. 60

§ 309 ----Evidence tending to make probable existence of fact [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of carjacking victim's death, including photographs of wounds and forensic pathologist's testimony, was not unfairly prejudicial, since they were so tightly linked to elements of offense that it would be difficult to justify their exclusion on such grounds; evidence also corroborated government's theory of case. United States v Cruz-Kuilan (1996, CA1 Puerto Rico) 75 F3d 59.

In garment jobber's suit against union for unfair labor practice in picketing jobber to induce it to sign jobber's agreement, evidence of international union's letter to affiliated locals recommended that contentious clauses be reworded or removed was subsequent remedial measure and, as such, not probative of international's intent to apply trimmings clause to jobber in unlawful manner. R.M. Perlman, Inc. v New York Coat, Suit, Dresses, Rainwear & Allied Workers' Union Local 89-22- 1 (1994, CA2 NY) 33 F3d 145, 147 BNA LRRM 2092, 128 CCH LC ¶ 11163.

Lawnmower manufacturer was properly permitted to introduce evidence of safety standards addressing length of time in which lawnmower blade should stop rotating after user releases foot pedal that disengages power to blade, since it was relevant as tending to make existence of unreasonably dangerous condition more or less probable than it would be without such evidence. Miller v Yazoo Mfg. Co. (1994, CA8 Mo) 26 F3d 81, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13897.

A chrome bar or pipe recovered from underneath a murder victim's automobile at the scene of the shooting was not relevant in this murder prosecution and was properly excluded as an exhibit where the pipe itself did not impeach eyewitness testimony that no one saw the pipe until after the shooting; defendant did not contend that he acted in self-defense but relied upon the defense that he had no specific intent to kill because he could not premeditate and deliberate; and the fact that the chrome pipe was underneath the victim's automobile did not tend to make it more or less probable that defendant had no specific intent to kill the victim. State v Jackson (1995) 340 NC 301, 457 SE2d 862.

Judges exercise broad discretion with respect to admissibility of evidence as long as evidence tends to prove material fact. In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 505 NW2d 142.

Material facts are those that are of consequence to merits of litigation while relevancy, in turn, is function of whether evidence tends to make existence of material fact more probable or less probable than it would be without evidence. In Interest of Michael R.B. (1993) 175 Wis 2d 713, 499 NW2d 641, reconsideration den (Wis) 505 NW2d 142.

Relevant evidence is evidence having any tendency to make existence of any fact that is of consequence to determination of action more probable or less probable than it would be without evidence (Stats § 904.01). State v Patricia A. M. (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 542, 500 NW2d 289.

Footnotes

Footnote 48. FRE 401; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 401.

In suit by professional corporation against its professional liability insurer for breach of contract and bad faith, compensation paid to principals in professional corporation was relevant evidence for purpose of recovering damages for lost profits because such compensation tended to prove corporation's net profit. Bettius & Sanderson, P.C. v National Union Fire Ins. Co. (CA4 Va) 839 F2d 1009, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1031, appeal after remand (CA4 Va) 892 F2d 34.

It suffices for purposes of admissibility if, by fair preponderance of the evidence, it is more probable than not that the exhibit is one related to the case. State v Nason (Me) 498 A2d 252.

Footnote 49. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1.

In a non-Rule state it has been said that a fact is relevant to another fact when the existence of the one renders the existence of the other highly probable or highly improbable, according to the common course of events. People v Nitzberg, 287 NY 183, 38 NE2d 490, 138 ALR 1253, reh den 287 NY 754, 40 NE2d 40, 138 ALR 1266.

Footnote 50. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

Law enforcement officer's testimony about radio communication received from undercover agent concerning imminent drug transaction was admissible to explain why officers were observing defendant. United States v Martinez (CA7 Ill) 937 F2d 299, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 334.

Footnote 51. United States v Bear Killer (CA8 SD) 534 F2d 1253, cert den 429 US 846, 50 L Ed 2d 118, 97 S Ct 129; United States v Dupee (CA9 Wash) 569 F2d 1061.

Footnote 52. Thiede v Utah Territory, 159 US 510, 40 L Ed 237, 16 S Ct 62; White v Van Horn, 159 US 3, 40 L Ed 55, 15 S Ct 1027; People v Jennings, 252 Ill 534, 96 NE 1077; Cleveland, C., C. & I. R. Co. v Closser, 126 Ind 348, 26 NE 159; Epp v Hinton, 91 Kan 513, 138 P 576, mod and reh den 91 Kan 919, 139 P 379; Edelen v Herman, 162 Ky 500, 172 SW 936; Lewis v Tapman, 90 Md 294, 45 A 459; Harrington v Boston E. R. Co., 229 Mass 421, 118 NE 880, 2 ALR 1057; Downey v Finucane, 205 NY 251, 98 NE 391.

Footnote 53. On an issue as to whether a contract was made as claimed, any circumstances bearing thereon or any evidence which tends to render that fact probable or improbable is relevant, provided, of course, the evidence is not otherwise objectionable. Edelen v Herman, 162 Ky 500, 172 SW 936; Yezbak v Croce, 370 Pa 263, 88 A2d 80.

Footnote 54. In an action to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by reason of the defendant's negligence, proof of any facts and circumstances attending the act which produced the injury that have some tendency to prove or disprove lack of care on the part of either of the parties litigant is competent and proper to be admitted in evidence. Tombari v Connors, 85 Conn 231, 82 A 640; Illinois C. R. Co. v Slater, 129 Ill 91, 21 NE 575.

In order, however, to be admissible, the evidence offered must have some material bearing upon issues of the case. Wilmot v McPadden, 79 Conn 367, 65 A 157, holding immaterial, in an action involving the safety of chimneys left standing during the demolition of a building, evidence that persons, in passing the building, walked on the opposite side of the street because they were afraid that the chimney would fall.

As to the admissibility of evidence pertaining to the amount of damages to be awarded in a negligence action, see 22 Am Jur 2d, Damages §§ 304 et seq.

Footnote 55. On the issue of the cause of death, a description of the injuries received by the decedent is admissible in evidence, where it tends to show that they were received in the manner claimed by the plaintiff and denied by the defendant. Wende v Chicago C. R. Co., 271 Ill 437, 111 NE 275; Louisville & N. R. Co. v Smith's Adm'r., 203 Ky 513, 263 SW 29, 35 ALR 1238.

As to evidence pertaining to the amount of damages to be awarded in an action for wrongful death, see 22A Am Jur 2d, Death §§ 470 et seq.

Footnote 56. Smith v State, 133 Ala 145, 31 So 806; Everett v State, 231 Ark 880, 333 SW2d 233; Commonwealth v Polian, 288 Mass 494, 193 NE 68, 96 ALR 615; People v Roach, 215 NY 592, 109 NE 618; Goodloe v Smith, 158 Va 571, 164 SE 379.

Footnote 57. State v Lee, 227 Ind 25, 83 NE2d 778.

Footnote 58. United States v Craft (CA6 Mich) 407 F2d 1065.

◆ Observation: It has been noted that whether the necessary relationship exists depends upon principles evolved by experience or science, applied logically to the situation at hand. James, Relevancy, Probability and the Law, 29 Cal L Rev 689, 696, n 15 (1941).

Footnote 59. Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 91.

Footnote 60. United States v Brashier (CA9 Cal) 548 F2d 1315, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 95827, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1285, cert den 429 US 1111, 51 L Ed 2d 565, 97 S Ct 1149.

§ 310 Evidence of fact of consequence to determination of action

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A basic requirement for "relevant evidence" under the Rules is that the fact be of "consequence to the determination of the action." 61 It has been noted that three general categories of facts are covered by this requirement, namely—

—facts which amount to elements of a claim or defense, that is, those facts which may properly be alleged in the pleadings, and to which the applicable substantive law assigns legal consequences in the case.

—facts from which may be inferred facts amounting to elements of claims or defenses, that is, facts that are properly viewed as circumstantial evidence of the elements of claims and defenses. 62

—facts which bear upon the evaluation of other evidence in the case, including the assessment of the credibility of a witness. 63

Whether a proposition is of consequence to a determination of the action is question that is governed by substantive law, which simply stated means that the proposition to be proved must be part of the hypothesis governing the case, must be a matter that is in issue, or must be probative of the matter that is in issue. 64 The fact to be proved may be ultimate, intermediate, or evidentiary, so long as it is of consequence to the determination of the action. 65 The facts to which the evidence is directed need not be in dispute; for example, background material may be offered and admitted as an aid to understanding. 66 Furthermore, evidence need not be dispositive of an issue to be relevant. For example, the reasonableness of a manufacturer's conduct is not at issue in a strict liability case; nevertheless, industry custom is relevant in a strict liability case if it has any bearing on the condition of the product. 67

In particular, credibility is always an issue of consequence. 68 Thus, testimony as to bias on the part of a witness is relevant under Rule 401, since it would have a tendency to make the facts to which the witness testified less probable in the eyes of the jury than it would be without such testimony. 69

Any evidence revealing a relationship between parties is relevant because it may tend to make their relative positions less credible. 70 In general, matters which show a prior background of acquaintanceship, or the nature and existence of the relationship, between persons charged with an offense and persons who are witnesses are relevant matters. 71

Under Rule 401, the practice of "bolstering" an identification, whereby an identification made by one witness is corroborated by the testimony of another witness who merely testifies that the identification did occur, is admissible assuming no unfair prejudice prohibited by Rule 403 would result, in the judgment of the trial court. 72

◆ Illustration: In a defendant's second trial on drug charges, the fact that he was acquitted in the earlier trial on two counts of drug charges is inadmissible, since it has no tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would have been without the evidence. 73

Under non-Rule law, it has been held that evidence of the defendant's presence near the scene of a crime about the time of its commission is admissible upon trial of an indictment charging him with its commission, 74 and if wearing apparel and other items of personal property belonging to the accused, such as he would likely have upon his person, are found at or near the scene of the crime with which he is charged, such fact may be shown as tending to connect the defendant with the crime as its guilty agent. 75 Similarly, where an accused is identified as having been at or near the scene of a crime about the time of its commission, evidence showing that he owned, possessed, or had access to any articles with which the crime was or might have been committed is admissible. 76

§ 310 ----Evidence of fact of consequence to determination of action

[SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In § 1983 action by diagnosed paranoid schizophrenic who claimed that police officers used excessive force in subduing him while he advanced toward them with hatchet, district court did not abuse its discretion in excluding certified documents showing number of involuntary commitment petitions that had been filed in county court over three-year period since documents did not indicate in which, if any, police had played role and thus did not make fact of consequence more or less probable. McKeel v City of Pine Bluff (1996, CA8 Ark) 73 F3d 207.

Footnotes

Footnote 61. FRE 401; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 401.

Footnote 62. As to the admissibility of circumstantial evidence, see §§ 313 et seq.

Footnote 63. Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 95.

Footnote 64. United States v Hall (CA5 La) 653 F2d 1002, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1342.

Footnote 65. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

Footnote 66. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

Footnote 67. Carter v Massey-Ferguson, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 716 F2d 344, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9803, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 566.

Footnote 68. United States v Quinto (CA2 NY) 582 F2d 224, 78-2 USTC ¶ 9633, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1097, 42 AFTR 2d 78-5601, 47 ALR Fed 621.

Footnote 69. United States v Abel, 469 US 45, 83 L Ed 2d 450, 105 S Ct 465, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 838.

Footnote 70. Brocklesby v United States (CA9 Cal) 767 F2d 1288, cert den 474 US 1101, 88 L Ed 2d 918, 106 S Ct 882 (admitting indemnity agreement between government and private publisher of graphic aircraft instrument approach chart in wrongful death action against them).

Footnote 71. United States v Di Pasquale (ED Pa) 561 F Supp 1338, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 773, affd (CA3 Pa) 740 F2d 1282, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 499, cert den 469 US 1228, 84 L Ed 2d 364, 105 S Ct 1226, 105 S Ct 1227.

Footnote 72. Snow v Reid (SD NY) 619 F Supp 579.

Footnote 73. United States v Hill (ED Pa) 550 F Supp 983, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1943, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 716 F2d 893, cert den 464 US 1039, 79 L Ed 2d 165, 104 S Ct 699.

Footnote 74. Commonwealth v Minnich, 250 Pa 363, 95 A 565, holding this to be so although his presence there is explained in a manner consistent with his innocence to the satisfaction of his counsel.

Footnote 75. Thornton v State, 113 Ala 43, 21 So 356; Commonwealth v O'Toole, 326 Mass 35, 92 NE2d 618.

Footnote 76. State v Montgomery, 175 Kan 176, 261 P2d 1009; State v Miller (Mo) 368 SW2d 353.

§ 311 Effect of other evidence in case

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It has been recognized that evidence need not necessarily, standing alone, be relevant and material, but that it is sufficient if it forms a chain or link which, when connected with other evidence, will be relevant and material. 77 In other words, any legal evidence from which a jury may legitimately deduce fact in issue is admissible, if, when taken with other evidence in the case, its relevancy appears. 78 However, evidence that is prima facie irrelevant should be rejected unless the person offering it shows how it can be made relevant by connecting it with other facts and circumstances. 79

◆ Practice guide: If evidence is permitted to be introduced over the objection that it is irrelevant, upon the theory that its relevancy may be shown by subsequent evidence, and evidence showing such relevancy is not introduced, it is generally held that the objection to it should be renewed. 80

Evidence not in and of itself admissible may become admissible, by reason of evidence introduced by an adversary, in explanation of testimony that has been given. 81

◆ Caution: Where evidence that is prejudicially immaterial is admitted, 82 it is not made material and relevant by the addition of corroborating immaterial evidence. 83

Footnotes

Footnote 77. State ex rel. Boswell v Curtis (Mo App) 334 SW2d 757.

Practice References Eliciting testimony subject to connection. 5 Am Jur Trials 611, Presenting Plaintiff's Case § 25.

Footnote 78. Pool v State, 16 Ala App 395, 78 So 311; Thompson v State, 58 Fla 106, 50 So 507; Stone v State, 118 Ga 705, 45 SE 630; Cleveland, C., C. & I. R. Co. v Closser, 126 Ind 348, 26 NE 159.

In a prosecution for robbery and murder of a pharmacist, exclusion of testimony of a defense witness that the pharmacist had sold drugs without prescription to young men in the neighborhood was reversible error where that evidence would have supported the accused's defense that he entered the pharmacy only to pick up some barbiturates that he had purchased earlier. Commonwealth v Greene, 469 Pa 399, 366 A2d 234, appeal after remand 483 Pa 195, 394 A2d 978.

Law Reviews: Ball, The Myth of Conditional Relevancy. 1977 Ariz St LJ 295.

Footnote 79. Abney v Kingsland, & Co., 10 Ala 355; Wilkins v Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. (Tex Civ App) 260 SW 214, writ diss.

Footnote 80. 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 602.

Footnote 81. Packet Co. v Sickles, 72 US 580, 5 Wall 580, 18 L Ed 550; Dundas v Lansing, 75 Mich 499, 42 NW 1011; Parker v Atlantic C. L. R. Co., 133 NC 335, 45 SE 658; Kramer v Kister, 187 Pa 227, 40 A 1008.

Footnote 82. As to the exclusion of prejudicial evidence, see §§ 331 et seq.

Footnote 83. Gordon v State (Fla) 104 So 2d 524 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Marshall (Fla) 476 So 2d 150, 10 FLW 445) as stated in State v DiGuilio (Fla) 491 So 2d 1129, 11 FLW 339.

§ 312 Determining relevancy

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Relevancy of an exhibit or testimony can only be determined in the context of the proposition which it seeks to prove: if a contested item tends to prove or disprove the matter under consideration, then it is relevant and admissible unless its receipt is prohibited by the Rules of Evidence or the Constitution. 84

The relevancy of a given piece of circumstantial evidence must be determined by the trial judge in view of the judge's experience, judgment, and knowledge of human motivation and conduct. 85 The court's function is usually to decide whether a reasonable person might have his or her assessment of the probabilities of a material proposition changed by the piece of evidence sought to be admitted; if it may affect that evaluation, it is relevant and admissible, subject to other rules. 86 Relevancy and admissibility of evidence are to be tested without deciding the weight or significance of such evidence when received, or the validity of the theory upon which a party presents its case. 87

◆ Practice guide: The relevancy of evidence is a threshold inquiry, and the rule that the party introducing evidence carries the burden of establishing its relevance does not also require the introducing party to anticipate and rebut possible objections to the offered evidence. 88

The trial judge has broad discretion to determine what evidence is relevant and when relevant evidence should be excluded because of the considerations enumerated in Rule 403 and similar state rules. 89 Similarly, it has been held in non-Rule jurisdictions that the exclusion of evidence as not relevant or material because it is either too remote, too uncertain, or too conjectural, is a matter largely within the discretion of the trial court. 90 An appellate court will not substitute its judgment for that of the trial court but will determine only whether the court has abused its discretion, 91 and a determination of irrelevance will not be disturbed absent a clear showing of abuse of discretion 92 that affects substantial rights. 93

◆ Caution: There is some authority that before evidence can be excluded on the ground that it is irrelevant, it must appear so beyond doubt. 94

◆ Practice guide: In doubtful cases, where relevancy is not immediately apparent, the judge and counsel should clearly identify the terms of the relevancy relationship by describing the item of evidence being proffered, the consequential fact to which it is directed, and the hypothesis required to infer the consequential fact from the evidence; such analysis is necessary to a decision of how the evidence may alter the probability of the existence of the consequential fact. 95 The following devices may assist the trial judge in ruling on relevancy: (1) varying the order of proof, particularly where evidence can be said to be relevant only upon fulfillment of a factual condition; (2) delaying a ruling on relevancy questions, particularly in judge-tried cases; (3) hearing a proffer of evidence first in chambers; and (4) seeking the assistance of counsel to learn the "general premise" or "evidential hypothesis" that links the proffered proof to the proposition sought to be proved. 96

◆ Comment: Since the rules of evidence furnish no test of relevancy outside the guidelines set forth in Federal Rules of Evidence 404-412, relevancy issues must be decided on a case-by-case basis, each issue being highly dependent upon the particular surrounding facts and circumstances. For guidance, the trial judge has the standard of relevancy prescribed in Federal Rules of Evidence 401, and case law. 97

§ 312 ----Determining relevancy [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Exaggerated and misleading reports of the death of conditional relevance, 93 Mich LR 3:478-484 (1995).

Case authorities:

Evidence of plaintiff's alcohol consumption on night of his auto accident is not admissible in medical malpractice action against hospital, because evidence was not relevant to (1) assessment of his overall condition by emergency personnel, (2) show that plaintiff was combative with emergency personnel during ambulance ride, (3) plaintiff's combativeness and failure to cooperate in hospital emergency room, (4) length of time plaintiff remained under anesthesia, and (5) issue of purported dispute between plaintiff's wife and police over whether police could take blood alcohol sample from plaintiff. Walsh v New London Hosp. (1994, DC NH) 856 F Supp 22.

Documents and testimony relating to advice by counsel that client was not infringing on patent were relevant and admissible under FRE 401, where alleged infringer was responding to claim of willful infringement, because issue of good- faith reliance on legal advice was relevant to willfulness of infringement. Thorn EMI N. Am. v Micron Technology (1993, DC Del) 837 F Supp 616, 29 USPQ2d 1872.

In prosecution for conspiring to illegally transport hazardous wastes, evidence that defendant knew of other wastes stored at facility to which defendant transported wastes in question, though not relevant to defendant's knowledge of contents of drums he transported, was harmless in light of evidence of defendant's knowledge of contents of drums he transported. United States v Bentley-Smith (1993, CA5 La) 2 F3d 1368, motion gr, reh den (CA5 La) 1993 US App LEXIS 29021 and reh den (CA5 La) 1993 US App LEXIS 29026.

District court erred in having jury decide whether cocaine was admissible under plain view exception to search warrant requirement; preliminary question was within sole province of district court since cocaine's relevancy did not depend upon fulfillment of condition of fact because it would have been relevant to show defendant's guilt of charged offense notwithstanding whether officer saw it in plain view. United States v Lang (1993, CA5 Miss) 8 F3d 268.

In prisoner's excessive force claim, evidence that prisoner spat on guard immediately before being punched was relevant to guard's use of force, and guard's testimony that prisoner ignored his repeated orders to return to his cell, jerked away from him and was going to hit him if he didn't strike him first, was relevant to guard's claims that he felt threatened. Wilson v Groaning (1994, CA7 Ill) 25 F3d 581.

In § 1983 action by high school student for, inter alia, being impregnated by truant officer, evidence of plaintiff's abortions and other sexual relationships was properly admitted on damages issues since defendant was not responsible for any emotional or physical injuries caused by plaintiff's sexual activity with other men, evidence was relevant to whether defendant impregnated her, and each time such evidence was elicited trial court instructed jury to consider it only as to plaintiff's request for damages. Berry v Deloney (1994, CA7 Ill) 28 F3d 604.

Admission into evidence of firearms found in heroin distribution conspirator's bedroom was not unduly prejudicial despite defendant's claim that there was already ample evidence to show that she was engaged in heroin trafficking, since presence of loaded firearms in house where drug transactions occurred is evidence that they were used to facilitate drug trafficking and helped to establish conspiracy with which defendant was charged. United States v Logan (1995, CA8 Mo) 54 F3d 452.

In breach of warranty suit by recreational vehicle manufacturer against adhesive supplier, trial court did not err in introducing evidence that another RV manufacturer used defendant's adhesive on its fiberglass-sided vehicles and suffered similar delamination problems since two manufacturers' experiences with adhesive were startlingly similar. Western Recreational Vehicles v Swift Adhesives (1994, CA9 Wash) 23 F3d 1547, 94 CDOS 3319, 94 Daily Journal DAR 6300.

In trial on intentional gender discrimination in employment practices, evidence of supervisor's sexual harassment and disparaging remarks about women was relevant since it made it more or less probable that employee was discharged or not rehired because of her gender. EEOC v Farmer Bros. Co. (1994, CA9 Cal) 31 F3d 891, 94 CDOS 5967, 94 Daily Journal DAR 10869, 65 BNA FEP Cas 857.

Trial court's failure to sua sponte strike conditionally admitted evidence of ammunition and rifle clip found when drug defendant was arrested after prosecution failed to establish its relevance, did not affect defendant's substantial rights since evidence did not have any bearing on credibility of either defendant or witness in whose apartment evidence was found, neither was asked about items, and case turned on whether jury believed witness. United States v Ruffin (1994, App DC) 40 F3d 1296.

In prosecution for sexual assault of daughter, trial court did not abuse its discretion by admitting evidence of defendant's prior uncharged sexual misconduct with his daughter, where defendant's history of incestuous relationship with his daughter was particularly relevant because it supplied context within which charged incidents of sexual misconduct occurred, point of establishing existence of incestuous relationship was not to make issue of defendant's general character for sexually abusing females of minor age, but was to establish specifically defendant's propensity to engage in sexual contact with his daughter as object of his desire, and daughter's allegations of sexual contact on one night would have seemed incredible absent context of continuous sexual relationship with her father. State v Forbes (1993, Vt) 640 A2d 13.

In arson prosecution in which trial court properly admitted testimony of neighbor that 3 nights before the arson she had seen defendant and another man set fire to car parked in front of residence they allegedly burned 3 nights later, trial court erred in excluding defense evidence in form of testimony of another witness who would have testified that he saw companion set fires alone, without defendant, on two prior occasions. Evidence was relevant and admissible, and, if believed, it weakened inference that because defendant aided companion in burning car, he aided him in burning house; it showed that only sometimes did defendant aid companion in setting fires, but at other times companion set them alone and, therefore, may have set subject fire alone. People v Robinson (1995, 2nd Dist) 31 Cal App 4th 494, 37 Cal Rptr 2d 183, 95 CDOS 339, 95 Daily Journal DAR 533, review den (Apr 12, 1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 84. United States v American Cyanamid Co. (SD NY) 427 F Supp 859, 1977-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 61408, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 672, later proceeding (SD NY) 556 F Supp 357, 1983-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65400, 36 FR Serv 2d 152, later proceeding (SD NY) 556 F Supp 361, 1982-83 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65152, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA2 NY) 719 F2d 558, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65656, 37 FR Serv 2d 1034, cert den 465 US 1101, 80 L Ed 2d 127, 104 S Ct 1596, later proceeding (SD NY) 598 F Supp 1516, 1985-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 66385, amd (SD NY) 1989-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 68517.

Practice References Relevancy to the issues. 6 Am Jur Trials 208.

Footnote 85. United States v Williams (CA8 Ark) 545 F2d 47, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 440.

As to the admissibility of circumstantial evidence, generally, see § 313.

Footnote 86. United States v Williams (CA8 Ark) 545 F2d 47, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv

Footnote 87. United States v American Cyanamid Co. (SD NY) 427 F Supp 859, 1977-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 61408, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 672, later proceeding (SD NY) 556 F Supp 357, 1983-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65400, 36 FR Serv 2d 152, later proceeding (SD NY) 556 F Supp 361, 1982-83 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65152, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA2 NY) 719 F2d 558, 1983-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65656, 37 FR Serv 2d 1034, cert den 465 US 1101, 80 L Ed 2d 127, 104 S Ct 1596, later proceeding (SD NY) 598 F Supp 1516, 1985-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 66385, amd (SD NY) 1989-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 68517.

Footnote 88. Dowling v United States, 493 US 342, 107 L Ed 2d 708, 110 S Ct 668, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1.

Footnote 89. United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558; United States v Williams (CA8 Ark) 545 F2d 47, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 440; People v Babbitt, 45 Cal 3d 660, 248 Cal Rptr 69, 755 P2d 253, stay gr (Cal) 1988 Cal LEXIS 863 and cert den 488 US 1034, 102 L Ed 2d 981, 109 S Ct 849 and stay gr (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1428, stay vac (Cal) 1989 Cal LEXIS 1683.

Law Reviews: Waltz, Judicial Discretion in the Admission of Evidence Under the Federal Rules of Evidence. 79 Northw U LR 1097 (1985-1986).

Footnote 90. Big Apple Super Markets, Inc. v W. J. Milner & Co., 111 Ga App 282, 141 SE2d 567; State v Lee, 227 Ind 25, 83 NE2d 778; State v Schuman, 151 Kan 749, 100 P2d 706; Liebow v Jones Store Co. (Mo) 303 SW2d 660; Conley v Kaney (Mo) 250 SW2d 350; State v Shiren, 15 NJ Super 440, 83 A2d 620, affd 9 NJ 445, 88 A2d 601; Elliott v Black River Electric Cooperative, 233 SC 233, 104 SE2d 357, 74 ALR2d 907.

Footnote 91. United States v Ashley (CA5 Fla) 555 F2d 462, reh den (CA5 Fla) 559 F2d 29 and cert den 434 US 869, 54 L Ed 2d 147, 98 S Ct 210; United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558; United States v Williams (CA8 Ark) 545 F2d 47, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 440; United States v Hanigan (CA9 Ariz) 681 F2d 1127, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1553, cert den 459 US 1203, 75 L Ed 2d 435, 103 S Ct 1189.

Forms: Allegation—Error of law—In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3623.

Footnote 92. United States v Ashley (CA5 Fla) 555 F2d 462, reh den (CA5 Fla) 559 F2d 29 and cert den 434 US 869, 54 L Ed 2d 147, 98 S Ct 210; United States v Kelley (CA8 Mo) 545 F2d 619, 94 BNA LRRM 2550, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13124, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 469, cert den 430 US 933, 51 L Ed 2d 777, 97 S Ct 1555, 94 BNA LRRM 2962, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13128.

Footnote 93. Marquis v Chrysler Corp. (CA9 Cal) 577 F2d 624, 1978-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62155, 25 FR Serv 2d 1314.

Footnote 94. State v Tevis (Mo App) 340 SW2d 415; Luechtefeld v Marglous (Mo App) 151 SW2d 710.

Footnote 95. United States v Mann (CA1 Puerto Rico) 590 F2d 361, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 339.

Footnote 96. Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 96.

Footnote 97. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 401.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 96.

3. Specific Types of Evidence [313-323]

§ 313 Circumstantial evidence, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

◆ Definition: Circumstantial evidence means proof that does not actually assert or represent the proposition in question, but that asserts or describes something else, from which the trier of fact may either (1) reasonably infer the truth of the proposition, in which case the evidence is not only relevant under Rule 401 but is sufficient as well, or (2) at least reasonably infer an increase in the probability that the proposition is in fact true, in which case the evidence is relevant under Rule 401 (assuming that the proposition is of consequence to the determination of the action) 98 but may not be sufficient by itself to create a question for the trier of fact to decide. 99

The basic distinction between direct and circumstantial evidence is that in the former instance the witnesses testify directly of their own knowledge as to the main facts to be proved, while in the latter case proof is given of facts and circumstances from which the jury may infer other connected facts which reasonably follow, according to common experience. 1 Circumstantial evidence tells the story of a past transaction by the similitude between the things shown to have been done and what in human experience has been found to be generally the cause or result of similar occurrences. 2

In many cases, circumstantial evidence may be the only evidence available, as where evidence of state of mind is crucial to the case. 3 Such evidence is usually the only means of proving intent, knowledge, 4 or fraud. 5 In fact, despite the lack of any reference in the Rules to circumstantial evidence, modern cases have recognized that circumstantial evidence is intrinsically as probative as direct evidence, 6 and that circumstantial facts may even be strong enough to overcome the effect of direct testimony to the contrary. 7

◆ Caution: When it is disclosed that direct evidence of a material fact is probably in existence, circumstantial evidence of that fact cannot be resorted to without accounting for the absence of the direct evidence, according to some authority. 8

When necessity for resort to circumstantial evidence arises either from the nature of the inquiry or the failure of direct proof, considerable latitude is allowed in its reception. 9 To render circumstantial evidence admissible, it is necessary only that it tend to prove the issue or that it constitute a link in the chain of evidence; 10 it must lead to a reasonable inference and not a mere suspicion of the existence of the fact sought to be proved. 11 No evidence should be excluded of any fact or circumstance connected with the principal transaction in dispute from which an inference as to the truth of a disputed fact can reasonably be made. 12 Objections upon the ground of irrelevancy are not favored for the reason that the force and effect of circumstantial facts usually and almost necessarily depend upon their connection with each other. 13 However, a fact is admissible as a basis of an inference only where the desired inference is a probable or natural explanation of the fact and a more probable and natural one than other explanations, if any. 14

◆ Practice guide: The relevancy of a given piece of circumstantial evidence must be determined by the trial judge in view of his or her experience, judgment, and knowledge of human motivation and conduct. 15

§ 313 ----Circumstantial evidence, generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: The circumstantial evidence generation: Twenty-five tips to help you win the circumstantial evidence case, 18 Tr Dipl J 2:IV (1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 98. § 679.

Footnote 99. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 94.

Footnote 1. McCoy v United States (CA9 Mont) 169 F2d 776, cert den 335 US 898, 93 L Ed 433, 69 S Ct 298; Devine v Delano, 272 Ill 166, 111 NE 742; State v Famber, 358 Mo 288, 214 SW2d 40; Franz v State, 156 Neb 587, 57 NW2d 139.

A written confession, duly signed, attested, and proved, is not circumstantial evidence within the provision of a statute forbidding infliction of the death penalty on circumstantial evidence; and the same is true of a duly established oral confession. Mitchell v People, 76 Colo 346, 232 P 685, 40 ALR 566.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Character of evidence—Direct or circumstantial. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 104, 105.

—Circumstantial evidence to be considered in connection with other evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 108.

Footnote 2. Aetna Life Ins. Co. v Milward, 118 Ky 716, 82 SW 364.

Footnote 3. As to evidence of state of mind, see §§ 556 et seq.

Footnote 4. Crane v Lessee of Morris, 31 US 598, 6 Pet 598, 8 L Ed 514; Gantner &

Mattern Co. v Hawkins, 89 Cal App 2d 783, 201 P2d 847.

The knowledge of an adverse claim to property, necessary in order that the inference of a grant may arise from acquiescence by the apparent owner in the adverse claim, may be shown by circumstances, and the consequent acquiescence may also be shown in the same way and by the same circumstances. Masterson v Harris County Houston Ship Channel Nav. Dist. (Tex Com App) 15 SW2d 1011, 67 ALR 1324, reh den (Tex Com App) 18 SW2d 588, 67 ALR 1332.

Footnote 5. 37 Am Jur 2d, Fraud and Deceit § 450.

Footnote 6. United States v Russell (CA1 Mass) 919 F2d 795; United States v Brown (CA8 Iowa) 605 F2d 389, cert den 444 US 972, 62 L Ed 2d 387, 100 S Ct 466; United States v Knife (CA8 SD) 592 F2d 472, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 284; United States v Pelton (CA8 Mo) 578 F2d 701, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 334, cert den 439 US 964, 58 L Ed 2d 422, 99 S Ct 451; United States v Young (CA8 Mo) 568 F2d 588.

The fact that evidence is categorized as circumstantial does not make it less probative. United States v Bycer (CA3 Pa) 593 F2d 549.

Footnote 7. Madison v Deseret Livestock Co. (CA10 Utah) 574 F2d 1027.

Footnote 8. Sollberger v Walcott (La App 1st Cir) 101 So 2d 483; Gabrielsky v State, 13 Tex App 428.

Footnote 9. Thiede v Utah Territory, 159 US 510, 40 L Ed 237, 16 S Ct 62; Bowline v Cox, 248 Ala 55, 26 So 2d 574; State v Marcus, 240 Iowa 116, 34 NW2d 179.

Footnote 10. State v Marcus, 240 Iowa 116, 34 NW2d 179; State v Sedig, 235 Iowa 609, 16 NW2d 247; Haley v State, 84 Tex Crim 629, 209 SW 675, 3 ALR 779.

Footnote 11. Bowline v Cox, 248 Ala 55, 26 So 2d 574.

Footnote 12. Holmes v Goldsmith, 147 US 150, 37 L Ed 118, 13 S Ct 288; Bond v Williams, 279 Mo 215, 214 SW 202, 16 ALR 755; Karnes v Commonwealth, 125 Va 758, 99 SE 562, 4 ALR 1509.

The whole conduct of a county, before, at the time of, and after, the issue of its bonds, may be shown to aid in determining under what statute and by what authority the county proceeded in the issue of the bonds. Knox County v Ninth Nat. Bank, 147 US 91, 37 L Ed 93, 13 S Ct 267.

Footnote 13. Moore v United States, 150 US 57, 37 L Ed 996, 14 S Ct 26; Castle v Bullard, 64 US 172, 23 How 172, 16 L Ed 424; Bowline v Cox, 248 Ala 55, 26 So 2d 574.

Footnote 14. Doane v Farmers Cooperative Co., 250 Iowa 390, 94 NW2d 115, 81 ALR2d 128; Engel v United Traction Co., 203 NY 321, 96 NE 731; Toler v Commonwealth, 188 Va 774, 51 SE2d 210.

Footnote 15. United States v Williams (CA8 Ark) 545 F2d 47, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 440.

§ 314 --In civil cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In the absence of a statute 16 or a valid and binding contractual provision 17 to the contrary, circumstantial evidence is regarded by law as competent to prove any given fact in issue in a civil case 18 and is sometimes as cogent and irresistible as direct and positive testimony. Upon the issue of reasonableness of conduct, all the surrounding circumstances become facts material to the case. 19

In tort actions, evidence of the relevant conditions and circumstances surrounding and relating to the tortious acts complained of is admissible in order that the jury may draw the inferences, if any, which they create. 20 The law does not require every fact and circumstance that make up a case of negligence to be proved by direct and positive testimony, or by the testimony of eyewitnesses. 21 Negligence and contributory negligence may be shown by circumstantial, as well as by direct, proof. 22

The terms of an oral contract, and the assent of the parties to it, may be shown by their acts and the attending circumstances, as well as by the words they have employed. 23 Also, in accordance with the rules for the construction of contracts, 24 where a contract is ambiguous on its face, evidence of the surrounding circumstances and the subsequent conduct of the parties thereto in the execution of the contract is admissible, 25 not to contradict or vary the contract, but to aid in its interpretation. 26 And the circumstances in which the parties to a contract are placed are generally admissible in evidence where they will throw light upon the problems submitted to the court. 27

§ 314 --In civil cases [SUPPLEMENT]Case authorities:

Evidence of precomplaint negotiations between RTC and S&L director defendants was not relevant to whether defendant law firm breached any fiduciary duty or negligently performed any duties by failing to adequately recognize, investigate, and disclose to either RTC or directors damaging facts regarding certain loan transactions. Resolution Trust Corp. v Blasdel (1993, DC Ariz) 154 FRD 675.

Footnotes

Footnote 16. Wittemann v Sands, 238 NY 434, 144 NE 671, 37 ALR 1216.

Footnote 17. § 8.

Footnote 18. Franke's, Inc. v Wallace, 219 Ark 467, 242 SW2d 968; Continental Nat.

Bank v Cole, 51 Idaho 140, 3 P2d 1103, 77 ALR 484; Bunten v Davis, 82 NH 304, 133 A 16, 45 ALR 1409; Rewis v New York Life Ins. Co., 226 NC 325, 38 SE2d 97; Watkins v Prudential Ins. Co., 315 Pa 497, 173 A 644, 95 ALR 869.

Fact that a plaintiff in a negligence action is required to rely, for the most part, upon circumstantial evidence, is not fatal where the chain of circumstances leads to a conclusion that is more probable than any other hypothesis reflected by the evidence. McComis v Baker (Madison Co) 40 Ohio App 2d 332, 69 Ohio Ops 2d 304, 319 NE2d 391, motion overr.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Character of evidence—Direct or circumstantial. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 104, 105.

Circumstantial evidence to be considered in connection with other evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 108.

Footnote 19. Bunten v Davis, 82 NH 304, 133 A 16, 45 ALR 1409.

Footnote 20. Petro v Hines, 299 Ill 236, 132 NE 462, 18 ALR 1106; Judd v Rudolph, 207 Iowa 113, 222 NW 416, 62 ALR 1174; Harrington v Boston E. R. Co., 229 Mass 421, 118 NE 880, 2 ALR 1057; Bond v Williams, 279 Mo 215, 214 SW 202, 16 ALR 755; Lyman v Boston & M. R. Co., 66 NH 200, 20 A 976; Fagan v Atlantic C. L. R. Co., 220 NY 301, 115 NE 704; Rodgers v Saxton, 305 Pa 479, 158 A 166, 80 ALR 280; Fuller v Bailey, 237 SC 573, 118 SE2d 340.

Footnote 21. Sollberger v Walcott (La App 1st Cir) 101 So 2d 483.

Footnote 22. 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 1102, 1103.

As to the admissibility of circumstantial evidence in motor vehicle accident cases, see 8 Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic § 1020.

Footnote 23. Newark Mach. Co. v Kenton Ins. Co., 50 Ohio St 549, 35 NE 1060; Yezbak v Croce, 370 Pa 263, 88 A2d 80.

Footnote 24. 17A Am Jur 2d, Contracts § 355.

Footnote 25. Michigan Crown Fender Co. v Welch, 211 Mich 148, 178 NW 684, 13 ALR 896; Light v E. M. Grant & Co., 73 W Va 56, 79 SE 1011.

Footnote 26. Michigan Crown Fender Co. v Welch, 211 Mich 148, 178 NW 684, 13 ALR 896.

Footnote 27. Yellowstone Sheep Co. v Diamond Dot Live Stock Co., 43 Wyo 15, 297 P 1107, 75 ALR 1151.

§ 315 --In criminal cases

View Entire Section

The admissibility of circumstantial evidence in criminal cases is well established and has been repeatedly affirmed. 28 The rule is one of necessity since only few convictions could be obtained if direct testimony of eyewitnesses was required. 29 The modern doctrine is extremely liberal in the admission of any circumstances that may throw light upon the matter being investigated, 30 and great latitude must be given the prosecution in the production of its evidence in proof of criminal charges. 31 In general, whatever may be established by direct evidence in a criminal case may also be established by circumstantial evidence. 32 However, circumstantial evidence may be inadmissible where it is so vague that it does not have any probative value. 33 Moreover, it may as irrelevant be inadmissible because a link in the chain of facts is missing which is required to give probative value to the evidence. 34

Much is left to the discretion of the trial judge, but where the proper determination of a fact depends upon circumstantial evidence, the safe practical rule to follow is that in no case is evidence to be excluded of facts or circumstances connected with the principal transaction from which an inference can be reasonably drawn as to the truth of a disputed fact. 35

In criminal cases, all facts tending to elucidate the matter at issue 36 that are referable to the point in issue, tend to exhibit the res gestae, or tend to establish a chain of circumstantial evidence in respect of the act charged, 37 are admissible. It is necessary only that they tend to prove the issue or constitute a link in the chain of evidence. 38 Evidence of circumstances which tend to connect the accused with the commission of a crime is properly admitted, even though inconclusive in character. 39

Circumstantial evidence is competent to establish many varying facts in criminal cases. 40 Circumstantial evidence may alone be available in proving elements of crime, such as malice, intent, or motive, which exist only in the mind of the perpetrator of the deed. 41 But evidence of intent to commit crime, if circumstantial, must exclude every reasonable hypothesis except guilt. 42

§ 315 --In criminal cases [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of defendant's threats against lives of prosecutor, judges, and other public officials involved in defendant's trial on conspiracy, racketeering, and other charges relating to defendant's involvement in international drug cartel is not admissible, where defendant was not charged with threatening public officials or attempting to escape from lawful custody and acts of terrorism charged in indictment were acts directed against Columbian officials, not United States officials, because evidence was not relevant to crime for which defendant was on trial. United States v Escobar (1994, ED NY) 842 F Supp 1519.

Evidence seized from defendant's home consisting of weapons, ammunition, bullet-proof vest, and spoon coated with cocaine residue was properly admitted in prosecution for cocaine distribution conspiracy and weapons charge since it was similar to evidence seized in instant offense, hence relevant to defendant's intent. United States v Elwood (1993, CA5 La) 999 F2d 814, reh den (CA5 La) 1993 US App LEXIS 27090.

In trial on charges of drug distribution and money laundering conspiracy, evidence regarding defendant's aliases, carrying of briefcase containing $ 10,000, and putting assets in other persons' names will not be excluded, because, depending on context, evidence could be relevant under FRE 401. United States v Messino (1995, ND Ill) 873 F Supp 1177.

Evidence that defendant, charged with sexual abuse based on consensual intercourse with 11-year- old, had made sexual advances toward two other teen-aged girls was relevant to charged crime only insofar as they showed propensity to commit such acts, hence should not have been admitted. United States v Has No Horse (1993, CA8 SD) 11 F3d 104.

Evidence that defendant charged with cocaine distribution conspiracy had previously been arrested for selling cocaine to undercover police officer was admissible as relevant to whether defendant agreed to distribute cocaine in instant case. United States v Casas (1993, CA8 Iowa) 999 F2d 1225, reh den (CA8 Iowa) 1993 US App LEXIS 22644 and petition for certiorari filed (Dec 2, 1993).

Evidence of cocaine found on defendant when he was arrested was not admissible in his trial on charges of marijuana distribution and using firearm during drug trafficking crime since it was not relevant evidence to prove any elements of those crimes. United States v Sauseda (1994, CA10 NM) 24 F3d 97, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 939.

Evidence of three carjackings committed by defendant during three weeks prior to carjacking in instant case were properly admitted to demonstrate defendant's identity, which he placed in issue with his alibi defense; in each case defendant cruised shopping centers accompanied by one or two companions looking for high-performance sports cars to steal, used a gun to wrest car from its occupant, and deposited stolen car in same neighborhood. United States v Clemons (1994, CA11 Ala) 32 F3d 1504, 8 FLW Fed C 659.

Plaster cast of boot print was properly admitted as relevant evidence since it was same size as defendant's, thus counsel was not ineffective for failing to object to its admission. Snow v State (1994, Okla Crim) 876 P2d 291, reh den (Okla Crim) 879 P2d 150.

Footnotes

Footnote 28. Tot v United States, 319 US 463, 87 L Ed 1519, 63 S Ct 1241; United States v Brown (CA8 Iowa) 605 F2d 389, cert den 444 US 972, 62 L Ed 2d 387, 100 S Ct 466; Politano v United States (CA10 Colo) 220 F2d 217; Corbett v People, 153 Colo 457, 387 P2d 409, cert den 377 US 939, 12 L Ed 2d 302, 84 S Ct 1346; Pittman v State, 51 Fla 94, 41 So 385; Des Moines v Rosenberg, 243 Iowa 262, 51 NW2d 450; Shanks v State, 185 Md 437, 45 A2d 85, 163 ALR 931; Commonwealth v O'Toole, 326 Mass 35, 92 NE2d 618; State v Paglino (Mo) 291 SW2d 850; Liakas v State, 161 Neb 130, 72 NW2d 677, cert den 351 US 924, 100 L Ed 1454, 76 S Ct 780; State v Mihoy, 98 NH 38, 93 A2d 661, 35 ALR2d 852; State v Weinstein, 224 NC 645, 31 SE2d 920, 156 ALR 625, cert den 324 US 849, 89 L Ed 1410, 65 S Ct 689; Williams v Kozlowski, 313 Pa 219, 169 A 148, 94 ALR 536; State v Brown, 103 SC 437, 88 SE 21; Toler v

Commonwealth, 188 Va 774, 51 SE2d 210; State v Bennett, 6 Wash 2d 208, 107 P2d 344; State v Dunn, 10 Wis 2d 447, 103 NW2d 36.

Generally, as to instructions as to the proper use of circumstantial evidence in criminal cases, see 75B Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 1387 et seq.

Forms: Instructions to jury—Character of evidence—Direct or circumstantial. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Forms 104, 105.

Circumstantial evidence to be considered in connection with other evidence. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 108.

Footnote 29. State v Cor, 144 Mont 323, 396 P2d 86; Toler v Commonwealth, 188 Va 774, 51 SE2d 210; State v Dunn, 10 Wis 2d 447, 103 NW2d 36; Buel v State, 104 Wis 132, 80 NW 78.

Footnote 30. Coffin v United States, 162 US 664, 40 L Ed 1109, 16 S Ct 943; Karnes v Commonwealth, 125 Va 758, 99 SE 562, 4 ALR 1509; Kopacka v State, 22 Wis 2d 457, 126 NW2d 78.

In a prosecution for commercial obscenity, statistical evidence of community patronage of the movie "Deep Throat," offered as circumstantial evidence of the contemporary community standards, was legally relevant and its exclusion was reversible error. Keller v State (Tex Crim) 606 SW2d 931.

Footnote 31. State v Sedig, 235 Iowa 609, 16 NW2d 247; Kopacka v State, 22 Wis 2d 457, 126 NW2d 78.

Footnote 32. Politano v United States (CA10 Colo) 220 F2d 217; Moffitt v United States (CA10 Okla) 154 F2d 402, cert den 328 US 853, 90 L Ed 1625, 66 S Ct 1343; Debaca v People, 160 Colo 543, 418 P2d 286; State v Cor, 144 Mont 323, 396 P2d 86; Toler v Commonwealth, 188 Va 774, 51 SE2d 210.

Footnote 33. People v Rickey, 375 Ill 525, 31 NE2d 973; Commonwealth v Libonati, 346 Pa 504, 31 A2d 95.

Footnote 34. People v Kauffman, 48 Cal App 2d 393, 119 P2d 998; Hodgins v State, 139 Fla 226, 190 So 875, 124 ALR 450.

Footnote 35. State v Myers, 248 Iowa 44, 79 NW2d 382; Karnes v Commonwealth, 125 Va 758, 99 SE 562, 4 ALR 1509; State v Dunn, 10 Wis 2d 447, 103 NW2d 36.

Footnote 36. Johnson v Commonwealth, 115 Pa 369, 9 A 78.

Footnote 37. State v Buck, 88 Kan 114, 127 P 631; State v Dunn, 10 Wis 2d 447, 103 NW2d 36.

Footnote 38. Haley v State, 84 Tex Crim 629, 209 SW 675, 3 ALR 779; Kopacka v State, 22 Wis 2d 457, 126 NW2d 78.

Footnote 39. Pittman v State, 51 Fla 94, 41 So 385.

Footnote 40. Carr v State, 24 Tex App 562, 7 SW 328.

Footnote 41. United States v Stoehr (MD Pa) 100 F Supp 143, 52-1 USTC ¶ 9118, 41 AFTR 67, affd (CA3 Pa) 196 F2d 276, 52-1 USTC ¶ 9299, 41 AFTR 1190, 33 ALR2d 836, cert den 344 US 826, 97 L Ed 643, 73 S Ct 28; McCoy v United States (CA9 Mont) 169 F2d 776, cert den 335 US 898, 93 L Ed 433, 69 S Ct 298; Corbett v People, 153 Colo 457, 387 P2d 409, cert den 377 US 939, 12 L Ed 2d 302, 84 S Ct 1346; State v Paglino (Mo) 291 SW2d 850.

Footnote 42. McGuire v State (Fla App D4) 288 So 2d 271.

§ 316 --Circumstantial evidence of "consciousness of guilt"

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Proof that after a crime was committed, the accused did any number of acts calculated to avoid detection, arrest, prosecution or conviction has been considered circumstantial evidence probative of a mental state called "consciousness of guilt." 43

Behavior indicative of a "guilty mind" encompasses a wide range of acts, including such acts as:

- Concealment or flight by the accused 44
- Attempted suicide by the accused 45
- Alteration of appearance 46
- Possession of stolen goods 47
- Destruction or concealment of evidence 48
- Attempt to bribe public officials in order to secure the accused's freedom 49
- Refusal to cooperate in government attempt to obtain fingerprints 50
- Use of false identification or aliases 51
- Threats or killings to impede witnesses for the prosecution 52
- Motives, declarations, preparations for committing the crime 53

§ 316 --Circumstantial evidence of "consciousness of guilt" [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence that tax fraud defendant's clients had received large sums from his firm and then returned money to defendant personally was relevant to defendant's scheme to defraud, notwithstanding his contention that his "crazed" state of mind caused him to want to hide money from his ex-wife who was making excessive alimony demands. United States v Myerson (1994, CA2 NY) 18 F3d 153, petition for certiorari filed (Jun 3, 1994).

Evidence that the defendant misrepresented his identity to a police officer on the day after the assault and robbery at issue was properly admitted to show consciousness of guilt, notwithstanding the contention that the officer was investigating an unrelated crime at the time of the misrepresentation and that it was likely that the defendant misrepresented his identity to the officer because of the unrelated crime, which occurred on the same day that he spoke to the officer. Commonwealth v Jackson (1995) 419 Mass 716, 647 NE2d 401.

Testimony that defendant and his friends threatened the State's principal witness and warned him not to testify and that defendant on one occasion shot the witness in the thigh was relevant to show defendant's awareness of his guilt, and the trial court did not err by finding that the probative value of this testimony was not substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403. State v Mason (1994) 337 NC 165, 446 SE2d 58.

Evidence of a defendant's attempt to dispose of a witness may be relevant and admissible to establish consciousness of guilt. Commonwealth v Jones (1995, Pa) 658 A2d 746, reh den (Pa) 1995 Pa LEXIS 494.

In a prosecution for murder, it was error for the court to permit a prosecution witness to testify that the defendant attempted to kill her because she knew that he had murdered the victim where (1) the witness, who was a prostitute, had sexual relations with the defendant after the murder and was given cocaine as payment, (2) the witness thought that the cocaine was either not real cocaine or that it was tainted, based on its smell and her attempt to cook it, and (3) the witness testified that when she next saw the defendant, he looked at her like he saw a ghost; the witness's opinion that the cocaine was tainted was highly speculative, and it was also conjecture to assume that the defendant knew that the cocaine was defective. Commonwealth v Jones (1995, Pa) 658 A2d 746, reh den (Pa) 1995 Pa LEXIS 494.

Footnotes

Footnote 43.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 97.

Generally, as to state of mind, see §§ 556 et seq.

Footnote 44. §§ 532 et seq.

Footnote 45. People v Campbell (2d Dist) 126 Ill App 3d 1028, 82 Ill Dec 39, 467 NE2d 1112, cert den 471 US 1136, 86 L Ed 2d 695, 105 S Ct 2677; State v Mitchell (Iowa)

450 NW2d 828; Pettie v State, 70 Md App 602, 522 A2d 394, cert gr 310 Md 144, 527 A2d 331 and revd, en banc on other grounds 316 Md 509, 560 A2d 577; State v Brown, 128 NH 606, 517 A2d 831.

Testimony that defendant slashed his left forearm in jail on night of his arrest for murder was admissible as tending to show consciousness of guilt. People v Butler (2nd Dist) 12 Cal App 3d 189, 90 Cal Rptr 497.

As to the admissibility of evidence of an attempted suicide, generally, see § 536.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence relating to accused's attempt to commit suicide, 22 ALR3d 840.

Footnote 46. United States v Felix-Gutierrez (CA9 Cal) 940 F2d 1200, 91 CDOS 5808, 91 Daily Journal DAR 8790, related proceeding (CA9 Cal) 970 F2d 583, 92 CDOS 6022, 92 Daily Journal DAR 9487, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 51, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 440, 113 S Ct 504 and related proceeding (CA9 Cal) 94 CDOS 532, 94 Daily Journal DAR 924 and cert den (US) 124 L Ed 2d 244, 113 S Ct 2332 (cosmetic surgery and removal of tattoo).

Footnote 47. § 541.

Footnote 48. United States v Briscoe (CA7 Ill) 896 F2d 1476, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 831, cert den 498 US 863, 112 L Ed 2d 137, 111 S Ct 173; Marcoux v United States (CA9 Ariz) 405 F2d 719.

Footnote 49. United States v Posey (CA5 Ga) 611 F2d 1389, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 771 (evidence that defendant offered sheriff $100,000 to let him out of the car).

Footnote 50. United States v Terry (CA2 NY) 702 F2d 299, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 951, cert den 461 US 931, 77 L Ed 2d 304, 103 S Ct 2095, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 731 F2d 138, cert den 469 US 1188, 83 L Ed 2d 963, 105 S Ct 956, later proceeding (SD NY) 741 F Supp 409, later proceeding (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 6362 and reconsideration den (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 7095 and affd without op (CA2 NY) 930 F2d 910 and cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 680, 104 S Ct 482.

Footnote 51. United States v Levy (CA3 NJ) 865 F2d 551, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 474 (false passport); United States v Guerrero (CA9 Or) 756 F2d 1342, cert den 469 US 934, 83 L Ed 2d 270, 105 S Ct 334 (accused carrying false ID papers at time of arrest); Marcoux v United States (CA9 Ariz) 405 F2d 719.

Footnote 52. United States v Cirillo (CA2 NY) 468 F2d 1233, cert den 410 US 989, 36 L Ed 2d 188, 93 S Ct 1501, later proceeding (SD NY) 425 F Supp 1254, affd (CA2 NY) 554 F2d 54, cert dismd 434 US 801, 54 L Ed 2d 59, 98 S Ct 28, later proceeding (SD NY) 566 F Supp 1340, affd without op (CA2 NY) 742 F2d 1445, later proceeding (SD NY) 666 F Supp 613; United States v Adcock (CA5 Fla) 651 F2d 338, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1268; United States v Maddox (CA6 Mich) 944 F2d 1223, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1254; United States v Flick (CA7 Ind) 516 F2d 489, cert den 423 US 931, 46 L Ed 2d 260, 96 S Ct 282 and cert den 423 US 931, 46 L Ed 2d 260, 96 S Ct 282.

Footnote 53. People v Morrow, 60 Cal 142; Carlton v People, 150 Ill 181, 37 NE 244.

§ 317 Incomplete or inconclusive evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The mere fact that evidence otherwise relevant and of probative value is incomplete, 54 or will not independently establish a fact at issue, 55 or will not, standing alone, justify a verdict, 56 does not render it inadmissible under the rules of relevancy. Evidence is relevant and admissible if it tends to prove a certain element of an ultimate fact even though it does not tend to establish all elements of the ultimate fact necessary to be proved; and evidence is relevant and admissible if it tends to corroborate evidence of certain, although not all, elements of a necessary ultimate fact. 57

Relevancy does not depend upon the conclusiveness of the evidence offered, but upon its legitimate tendency to establish a controverted fact. 58 Evidence that tends to prove a fact, regardless of how slight such tendency is, should be admitted. 59

§ 317 ----Incomplete or inconclusive evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Allegations that police officer had planted cocaine on suspect in unrelated case were properly excluded since there was no evidence that would lead to reasonable inference that officer planted cocaine on defendant in instant case. United States v Peters (1994, CA6 Tenn) 15 F3d 540, reh, en banc, den (CA6) 1994 US App LEXIS 5949.

Footnotes

Footnote 54. Commonwealth v Tucker, 189 Mass 457, 76 NE 127; Adams v Moberg, 356 Mo 1175, 205 SW2d 553.

Footnote 55. Livingston v Barnett, 193 Ga 640, 19 SE2d 385; Cleveland, C., C. & I. R. Co. v Closser, 126 Ind 348, 26 NE 159.

Footnote 56. Interstate Commerce Com. v Baird, 194 US 25, 48 L Ed 860, 24 S Ct 563, 4 AFTR 4683; Dougherty v White (Sup) 25 Del 316, 2 Boyce 316, 80 A 237.

Footnote 57. Fox v Industrial Com. of Ohio, 162 Ohio St 569, 55 Ohio Ops 472, 125 NE2d 1.

Footnote 58. Interstate Commerce Com. v Baird, 194 US 25, 48 L Ed 860, 24 S Ct 563, 4 AFTR 4683; Holmes v Goldsmith, 147 US 150, 37 L Ed 118, 13 S Ct 288; Evans v Oregon S. L. R. Co., 37 Utah 431, 108 P 638.

Footnote 59. Holmes v Goldsmith, 147 US 150, 37 L Ed 118, 13 S Ct 288; Alabama G. S. R. Co. v Hill, 93 Ala 514, 9 So 722; Chilton v 85 Mining Co., 23 NM 451, 168 P 1066; People v Roach, 215 NY 592, 109 NE 618; Clark v Patapsco Guano Co., 144 NC 64, 56 SE 858; Rodgers v Stophel, 32 Pa 111.

§ 318 Negative evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The definition of relevant evidence encompasses evidence tending to establish negative facts as well as positive ones. 60 It has long been recognized that negative testimony is admissible where the attending circumstances are such as to show that it has some probative force, 61 provided the competency of the witness and his knowledge of the matter of which he speaks are established. 62 In other words, the testimony of a witness is not confined to what he saw or heard, but he may also state what he did not see or did not hear. 63 For instance, if a crime involves the presence of certain persons, testimony by a witness who lived next door to the effect that he had never seen such persons on the premises of the accused is admissible. 64 Evidence is admissible that the witness did not see the defendant, 65 or that he did not see the defendant approach the victim with a knife. 66 And when the defendant claims that the victim of the homicide had struck him on the head with a hammer, a state toxicologist may testify that he found nothing on the hammer. 67

Negative testimony is admissible when a qualified person, who has examined certain records or documents, testifies that he did not find any reference to or entry of a particular item or transaction. 68 When it is claimed that the defendant entered fictitious names of purchasers on his records, government investigators may testify to their search for such purchasers and that they were unable to find any evidence that they existed. 69

If the absence of positive evidence of the fact does not logically suggest the negative, evidence of a negative character is not admissible. 70 Thus in a prosecution for murder by poisoning, evidence that no druggist immediately accessible to the defendant had sold him poison within two years was not admissible, since such evidence had no value unless it were shown that the accused could not have obtained the poison in any other manner. 71 Similarly, testimony of a lay witness that he never observed an abnormal act by the defendant is not significant unless the witness had a continued and prolonged relationship with the defendant of such nature that he would have observed an abnormal act had any been committed. 72

The absence of a complaint by third persons as to the conduct of the defendant is not admissible as evidence that his conduct was lawful, 73 nor is the fact that the defendant did not commit the same offense at other times. 74

When negative evidence is admissible, it is no objection that such evidence is not by itself so persuasive as to be dispositive of the facts in controversy, and the weight to be ascribed to it is for the determination of the jury. 75

◆ Caution: Negative evidence is weak and usually not sufficient to overcome positive testimony that the alleged fact did exist. 76

Negative evidence is admissible to establish a good reputation, 77 and frequently, for certain purposes in negligence actions, evidence is held to be admissible to show the absence of other similar accidents or injuries. 78

Footnotes

Footnote 60. United States v Fearn (CA7 Ill) 589 F2d 1316, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1329.

Footnote 61. Nelson v Iverson, 24 Ala 9; Calkins v Hartford, 33 Conn 57; Berg v New York C. R. Co., 391 Ill 52, 62 NE2d 676; Snow v Cannelton Sewer Pipe Co., 138 Ind App 119, 210 NE2d 118; Loos v Wilkinson, 110 NY 195, 18 NE 99, appeal after remand 113 NY 485, 21 NE 392; McBroom v Meyer (Okla) 303 P2d 303; Comstock's Adm'r v Jacobs, 84 Vt 277, 78 A 1017; Webber v Park Auto Transp. Co., 138 Wash 325, 244 P 718, 47 ALR 590.

Evidence that a railroad company made no attempt during the winter and after an accident to remove snow from cattle guards is admissible as tending to show a failure to exercise any diligence or degree of care in respect of such cattle guards. Grahlman v Chicago, St. P. & K. C. R. Co., 78 Iowa 564, 43 NW 529.

Negative evidence is relevant and admissible when it tends to prove the nonexistence of a material fact. State v Smtih (Mo) 222 SW 455.

Footnote 62. Wilson v Hartford Acci. & Indem. Co., 272 NC 183, 158 SE2d 1 (witness may not testify to nonexistence of a fact where the fact might have existed without his being aware of it).

A bank teller should not be permitted to testify that he had no information of any money being received at the bank on a specified date from a given person where it does not appear that payments of money might have been made to the bank without his knowledge. Xenia Bank v Stewart, 114 US 224, 29 L Ed 101, 5 S Ct 845.

In an action to recover for damages to plaintiff's truck which was struck while being towed by one defendant, the trial court erred in allowing the jury to consider negative evidence that the amber light on defendant's tow truck was not flashing, since the witness who gave the negative testimony could not tell whether the light was flashing because of the noonday sun. Leisure Products, Inc. v Clifton, 44 NC App 233, 260 SE2d 803.

Law Reviews: Saunders, The Mythic Difficulty in Proving a Negative. 15 Set H LR 276 (1985).

Footnote 63. Webber v Park Auto Transp. Co., 138 Wash 325, 244 P 718, 47 ALR 590.

Footnote 64. Railey v State, 170 Ark 979, 282 SW 5, appeal after remand 174 Ark 742, 297 SW 819.

Footnote 65. Underwood v State, 239 Ala 29, 193 So 155.

Footnote 66. Sanders v State, 243 Ala 691, 11 So 2d 740.

Footnote 67. Morris v State, 268 Ala 60, 104 So 2d 810.

Footnote 68. People v Kosearas, 410 Ill 456, 102 NE2d 534.

The absence of an entry from a record may be testified to by a person who has examined the record, as against the contention that only the custodian of the record could so testify. Jackson v United States (CA5 Ala) 250 F2d 897.

Footnote 69. Keith v United States (CA5 Tex) 250 F2d 355.

Footnote 70. State v Berube, 139 Me 11, 26 A2d 654; State v Corn, 215 SC 166, 54 SE2d 559.

Footnote 71. State v Smtih (Mo) 222 SW 455.

Footnote 72. Wright v United States, 102 US App DC 36, 250 F2d 4.

Footnote 73. United States v Paddock (DC Mo) 68 F Supp 407.

Footnote 74. United States v Shapiro (CA2 NY) 159 F2d 890, affd 335 US 1, 92 L Ed 1787, 68 S Ct 1375, reh den 335 US 836, 93 L Ed 388, 69 S Ct 9.

Footnote 75. Railey v State, 170 Ark 979, 282 SW 5, appeal after remand 174 Ark 742, 297 SW 819; People v Chambers (4th Dist) 162 Cal App 2d 215, 328 P2d 236.

Footnote 76. As to weight of negative evidence, see Division VII of this article, dealing with weight and sufficiency of evidence.

Footnote 77. § 383.

Footnote 78. §§ 553 et seq.

§ 319 Remote nature of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence may appear relevant but may relate to a time so remote from the date of an occurrence or the commission of the crime that the evidence has no probative value. Evidence must relate to, and be connected with, the transaction which it is to elucidate, and this connection must be immediate. 79 However, that a fact is remote in point of time or probative value does not of itself preclude its admissibility, its admissibility depending to a large extent on the nature and circumstances of the case. 80 In applying the federal rules, it has been stated that matters tending to reduce or enhance the apparent probative value of evidence affect only the weight of such evidence and not its admissibility. 81

◆ Observation: In effect, the objection that evidence is too remote goes to the credibility of the evidence rather than to its admissibility, unless the remoteness is so great that the proffered evidence has no probative value at all. 82 However, a federal court has excluded testimony on the ground that evidence dealing with a remote incident had a potential to confuse and mislead the jury under Rule 403. 83

Evidence will be excluded as irrelevant when it relates to a matter too remote in point of time to have probative value, 84 but there being no fixed standard for determining remoteness, 85 it is necessary to consider all the attendant circumstances, the nature of the evidence offered, and in criminal prosecutions, the nature of the crime. 86 Thus, in a prosecution for killing his wife, evidence of threats made by the accused three weeks before the killing, 87 or an indefinite period before the killing, 88 have been held not too remote. And while evidence that after defendant had sexual intercourse with a 13-year-old girl, he had continued encounters with her in efforts to encourage her to have sex with him again was not admissible to show his character or propensity, it was admissible to show why the girl did not report the sexual assault until some 9 months after it had occurred. 89

◆ Observation: Remoteness may refer to distance as well as to time. 90

The question whether evidence is too remote to be relevant is left to the discretion of the trial judge, 91 and his decision will not be disturbed unless a clear abuse of that discretion has been demonstrated. 92 If given evidence is relevant, the interval of time between the event to which the offered evidence relates and the commission of the offense is a factor for the jury to consider in evaluating the weight or probative value of the offered evidence. 93

§ 319 ----Remote nature of evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Defendant's in court identification was admissible despite significant lapse of time between commission of crime and trial, where witness had ample opportunity to view defendant for 30 minutes in well-lighted room and witness described defendant's vehicle and appearance in significant detail. United States v Rutledge (1994, CA7 Ill) 40 F3d 879, reh, en banc, den (1995, CA7 Ill) 1995 US App LEXIS 9.

It was error to permit witness to testify that he accompanied victim to defendant's house on several occasions more than 10 years prior to crime since such evidence was so remote as to be irrelevant; error was exacerbated when court noted during jury charge that witness was called by People and then refused to remind jurors that his testimony had been stricken and that they were to disregard it. People v Andre (1992, 2d Dept) 185 AD2d 276, 585 NYS2d 792.

In an action to set aside a deed based on undue influence, the trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of testatrix's attendant and physician regarding her mental condition, since there was no merit to defendant's contention that this testimony was irrelevant and too remote in time to be admissible. Caudill v Smith (1994) 117 NC App 64, 450 SE2d 8, review den (NC) 1995 NC LEXIS 75.

Footnotes

Footnote 79. Westinghouse v Boyden Power Brake Co., 170 US 537, 42 L Ed 1136, 18 S Ct 707; United States v Budd, 144 US 154, 36 L Ed 384, 12 S Ct 575; Aetna Life Ins. Co. v Ward, 140 US 76, 35 L Ed 371, 11 S Ct 720; Gormley v Bunyan, 138 US 623, 34 L Ed 1086, 11 S Ct 453.

Evidence relating to contributory negligence of the beneficiaries of the action has been held inadmissible where such alleged negligent acts were a remote, and not a proximate, cause of the injury and death. Davis v Raymond, 102 Vt 65, 146 A 5.

Footnote 80. Big Apple Super Markets, Inc. v W. J. Milner & Co., 111 Ga App 282, 141 SE2d 567; State v Shiren, 15 NJ Super 440, 83 A2d 620, affd 9 NJ 445, 88 A2d 601; Parker v Hoefer, 118 Vt 1, 100 A2d 434, 38 ALR2d 1216.

Footnote 81. United States v Bear Killer (CA8 SD) 534 F2d 1253, cert den 429 US 846, 50 L Ed 2d 118, 97 S Ct 129; United States v Dupee (CA9 Wash) 569 F2d 1061.

Deposition describing events that occurred during Korean War will not be excluded despite fact that deponent fails to recall many details surrounding incident in question and that parts of deposition are contradicted by other witnesses, because deposition implicates none of dangers proscribed by Rule 403; rather, objections to deposition go to weight of testimony, which is a jury question. Robertson v McCloskey (DC Dist Col) 680 F Supp 412, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 682, later proceeding (DC Dist Col) 680 F Supp 414.

Generally as to applicability of Rule 403 (exclusions on ground of prejudice, etc.) see § 331.

Footnote 82. State v Satterfield, 114 Mont 122, 132 P2d 372.

Footnote 83. Patterson v McLean Credit Union (CA4 NC) 805 F2d 1143, 42 BNA FEP Cas 662, 41 CCH EPD ¶ 36644, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 104, cert gr 484 US 814, 98 L Ed 2d 29, 108 S Ct 65, 44 CCH EPD ¶ 37425, later proceeding on other grounds 485 US 617, 99 L Ed 2d 879, 108 S Ct 1419, 46 BNA FEP Cas 979, 46 CCH EPD ¶ 37923 (in racial harassment suit by employee laid off in 1982, it was not error to exclude testimony by former employee that she had experienced harassment in 1972).

Confusion of issues and misleading the jury are discussed in §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 84. Bird v United States, 180 US 356, 45 L Ed 570, 21 S Ct 403; Cotton v United States (CA8 Mo) 361 F2d 673; People v Chambers, 22 Cal App 2d 687, 72 P2d 746; State v Isaacson, 114 Conn 567, 159 A 483; State v Vaccaro, 142 NJ Super 167, 361 A2d 47, certif den 71 NJ 518, 366 A2d 674.

Trial court did not err in refusing affidavits presented by inmates under sentence of death seeking to show that jury instructions could have been interpreted as not allowing jury to consider mitigating circumstances where such affidavits were offered 8 years after trial by 7 academic experts in fields such as anthropology, linguistics, and communications; such affidavits are irrelevant to show how reasonable juror would have interpreted instructions after hearing 3 weeks of testimony. McDougall v Dixon (CA4 NC) 921 F2d 518, cert den (US) 115 L Ed 2d 1009, 111 S Ct 2840 and stay den, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 274, 112 S Ct 334.

Evidence of statements and acts at a time when the deceased merely threatened to strike defendant, a year before the quarrel began that led to the shooting, is too remote. Pruitt v State, 198 Ind 141, 152 NE 830.

A plaintiff's bankruptcy 30 years previous is too remote in time to render evidence of its details admissible in an action for slander. Gambrill v Schooley, 95 Md 260, 52 A 500.

Where ex-wife had not lived with shooting victim for 15 months, her knowledge of his drinking habits was too remote to establish the current pattern of the victim's conduct. Stouffer v State (Okla Crim) 738 P2d 1349, mod, in part, reh den, in part (Okla Crim) 742 P2d 562 and cert den 484 US 1036, 98 L Ed 2d 779, 108 S Ct 763, post-conviction proceeding (Okla Crim) 817 P2d 1275, motion gr (US) 117 L Ed 2d 402, 112 S Ct 1153 and cert den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 217, 112 S Ct 1573.

Footnote 85. State v O'Toole, 118 Me 314, 108 A 99.

Footnote 86. State v Fenley, 309 Mo 520, 275 SW 36.

In a prosecution for drunken driving, evidence of the defendant's condition a half-hour after the collision is not too remote. Rice v State, 98 Ga App 803, 107 SE2d 270.

The victim's condition about twelve hours after the offense is not too remote in a prosecution for forcible rape. State v Chandler (Mo) 314 SW2d 897.

Footnote 87. Rooker v State, 211 Ga 361, 86 SE2d 307.

Footnote 88. Belton v Commonwealth, 200 Va 5, 104 SE2d 1.

Footnote 89. State v Zybach, 308 Or 96, 775 P2d 318.

Footnote 90. Hart v State, 75 Wis 2d 371, 249 NW2d 810 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Estate of Safran, 102 Wis 2d 79, 306 NW2d 27, 25 ALR4th 766) (in prosecution for homicide by negligent use of vehicle, witness's testimony that defendant ran 2 stop signs and tailgated a truck more than 12 miles from place where accident occurred was too remote to be relevant to defendant's conduct at scene of accident).

Footnote 91. Barbour v State, 262 Ala 297, 78 So 2d 328; People v Arrangoiz, 24 Cal App 2d 116, 74 P2d 789; State v Penn, 144 Conn 148, 127 A2d 833; State v Schuman, 151 Kan 749, 100 P2d 706; State v White, 339 Mo 1019, 99 SW2d 72; State v Kollarik, 22 NJ 558, 126 A2d 875; Hart v State, 75 Wis 2d 371, 249 NW2d 810 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Estate of Safran, 102 Wis 2d 79, 306 NW2d 27, 25 ALR4th 766).

How far back before the commission of a crime one may go in the admission of evidence is a matter of degree, within the general control of the trial judge. United States v Hickey (CA7 Ill) 360 F2d 127, cert den 385 US 928, 17 L Ed 2d 210, 87 S Ct 284.

Footnote 92. State v Schuman, 151 Kan 749, 100 P2d 706; State v Kollarik, 22 NJ 558, 126 A2d 875.

Footnote 93. Gray v State, 219 Md 557, 150 A2d 221; State v Satterfield, 114 Mont122, 132 P2d 372; State v Shook, 224 NC 728, 32 SE2d 329.

§ 320 Acts or declarations of nonparties

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In some jurisdictions, evidence of acts and declarations of nonparties, or dealings of parties with nonparties, 94 is declared inadmissible as a rule on the ground of irrelevancy. 95 The rationale underlying this rule of evidence is that such collateral facts are incapable of affording any reasonable presumption or inference as to the principal matter in dispute. 96 However, because the focus of the rule is upon the relevancy of the evidence, rather than the fact that the evidence involves the acts and declarations of a non-party to the lawsuit, relevant evidence has been found admissible even though involving the acts and declarations of a non-party to the lawsuit. 97 Furthermore, it has been held that this doctrine no longer exists independently of Rules 401, 402, 403, and 404(b), the thrust of which is that all relevant evidence is admissible unless otherwise provided by Constitution, statute, or court rule. 98

Footnotes

Footnote 94. Kabel v Brady (Ala) 519 So 2d 912.

Footnote 95. Gruss v Cummins (Tex Civ App El Paso) 329 SW2d 496, 12 OGR 567, writ ref n r e (Mar 16, 1960).

Footnote 96. State v McCarty (Iowa) 179 NW2d 548.

Footnote 97. Loftin's Rent-All, Inc. v Universal Petroleum Services, Inc. (Ala App) 344 So 2d 781.

Footnote 98. Missouri Pac. R.R. Co. v Roberts (Tex App Eastland) 849 SW2d 367, writ den (Jun 3, 1993).

§ 321 Evidence admissible for limited purposes only

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence may be inadmissible for one purpose but be entirely proper for another purpose; 99 such evidence is admissible for the latter purpose even though the jury may erroneously use it for other purposes. 1 In other words, evidence competent for one purpose cannot be excluded because it is incompetent for another purpose, 2 unless the risk of confusion by the jury is so great as to upset the balance of advantage of receiving it. 3

Evidence may be admissible in connection with only one count, charge, or defense in a criminal case, and in a civil case only upon one count, claim, or defense, and in such circumstances the adversary upon request is entitled under Federal Rules of Evidence 105 to an instruction so limiting the evidence. 4 Examples of evidence that may be admissible on one claim, charge, or issue while inadmissible on others include:

(1) hearsay evidence offered to prove the state of mind of the declarant rather than to prove the truth of the matter asserted; 5

(2) evidence of remedial measures subsequent to alleged negligent or culpable conduct offered to show exercise of control by a defendant over certain premises, 6 to show the existence of a condition, 7 to show the duty of a party to make repairs, 8 or to show the feasibility of preventive measures, 9 and not to show the negligence of a party;

(3) evidence of liability insurance to show ownership or agency, 10 not to show that a defendant acted negligently;

(4) evidence for impeachment purposes, rather than as substantive evidence, 11 or use of evidence of prior crimes of an accused to impeach the accused as a witness if the accused takes the stand; 12

(5) the use of charts and materials of like nature to illustrate, summarize, or amplify and dramatize testimony of a witness; 13

(6) evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts admitted under Federal Rules of Evidence 404(b). 14

◆ Practice guide: A proponent of apparently inadmissible evidence offered for a limited purpose has the burden of identifying the limited purpose before the trial court rules on the admissibility of such evidence. 15

Evidence may also be admissible against one party but not another whenever there is more than one party on a single side of a trial, in civil as well as criminal cases. Thus, in an action against two defendants, evidence may be admitted notwithstanding it is competent as against only one of them. 16 Examples of evidence admissible against one party but inadmissible against another include:

(1) an out of court admission or confession of one defendant implicating another, unless one defendant's Sixth Amendment right to confront witnesses is violated when the codefendant who confessed is not present at trial; 17

(2) guilty pleas by one of two or more codefendants where the pleas are entered after the jury has been impaneled; 18 and

(3) evidence that one of two or more codefendants have previously been convicted of a crime. 19

However, evidence that is incompetent as to one issue or party, but admissible as to another, cannot properly be considered for its bearing on the former issue or party. 20 Such evidence should be offered by a party and received by the court only for the specific purpose for which it is competent. 21

The mere fact that a trial is bifurcated does not preclude consideration in one phase of the trial of evidence introduced during another phase. 22

§ 321 ----Evidence admissible for limited purposes only [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In declaratory judgment action brought by manufacturer of polyurethane flotation foam used in construction of 2 docks after designer and builder of floating dock system used at 2 marinas alleged loss of "freeboard" (distance between dock and water), admission into evidence of defendants' decision to put tops or seals on their pontoons was not erroneous where it was not offered as proof of defendants' negligence, but rather to impeach defendants' evidence that tops were not necessary to keep water out of pontoons, and that their floating dock system was "one of strongest in world." Polythane Sys., Inc. v Marina Ventures Int'l, Ltd. (1993, CA5) 993 F2d 1201, reh, en banc, den (CA5 Tex) 1993 US App LEXIS 24118.

A collateral crime proven by similar evidence need not be absolutely identical to the crime charged. Schwab v State (1994, Fla) 636 So 2d 3, 19 FLW S 113.

Similar fact evidence of other crimes is relevant and admissible if it casts light upon the character of the act under investigation by showing motive, intent, absence of mistake, common scheme identity or a system or general pattern of criminality, and should be admitted if relevant for any purpose save that of showing bad character or propensity. Schwab v State (1994, Fla) 636 So 2d 3, 19 FLW S 113.

There was no error in a prosecution for attempted rape and first- degree murder in the trial court's limiting instruction on evidence of another rape. The evidence was relevant and the instructions properly expounded the theories underlying the admissibility of the evidence. State v Carter (1994) 338 NC 569, 451 SE2d 157.

Trial court in personal-injury action arising from single-vehicle accident in which college baseball team van blew tire and rolled over properly allowed limited testimony that severely injured team member had dream of professional baseball career, where evidence was admitted solely to establish mental- suffering element of damages and not as to any claimed loss of future income, and where court specifically told jury that no evidence was in record to indicate that loss of future professional opportunity had resulted in compensable income loss. Clement v Griffin (1994, La App 4th Cir) 634 So 2d 412, cert den (La) 637 So 2d 478 and cert den (La) 637 So 2d 478 and cert den (La) 637 So 2d 478 and cert den (La) 637 So 2d 479 and cert den (La) 637 So 2d 479 and cert den (La) 637

Footnotes

Footnote 99. Leigh v Swartz, 74 Ariz 108, 245 P2d 262; Maas v Laursen, 219 Minn 461, 18 NW2d 233, 158 ALR 215; Louis Steinbaum Real Estate Co. v Maltz (Mo) 247 SW2d 652, 31 ALR2d 1052; Caples v State, 3 Okla Crim 72, 104 P 493.

Footnote 1. Sims v Struthers, 267 Ala 80, 100 So 2d 23; Daggett v Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co., 48 Cal 2d 655, 313 P2d 557, 64 ALR2d 1283; State v Volpe, 113 Conn 288, 155 A 223, 76 ALR 1083 (holding that evidence of a contrary statement made by a witness out of court, when admissible, is allowed for the purpose of affecting credibility and weakening the force of the testimony, but is not evidence of the fact); Irvine v Baxter Stove Co., 70 Ind App 105, 123 NE 185; Martin v Mercantile Trust Co. (Mo) 293 SW2d 319; Blodgett v Park, 76 NH 435, 84 A 42; Dolan v Newark Iron & Metal Co., 18 NJ Super 450, 87 A2d 444; Fox v Manchester, 183 NY 141, 75 NE 1116; Nappi v Falcon Truck Renting Corp., 286 App Div 123, 141 NYS2d 424, affd 1 NY2d 750, 152 NYS2d 297, 135 NE2d 51.

In a prosecution for burglary and grand larceny, inadmissibility of evidence on the grand larceny issue because of the naming of the wrong person in the information as the owner of the property taken does not preclude its admission on the burglary issue. State v Turner (Mo) 272 SW2d 266, 48 ALR2d 1008.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Consideration of evidence admitted for limited purpose. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 18.

Footnote 2. Palmiter v Monroe County Bd. of Rd. Comrs., 149 Mich App 678, 387 NW2d 388.

If evidence is competent for any purpose, it is not rendered incompetent by the fact that it also has a tendency to influence the mind in another direction, for which alone it would not be competent. Curtin v Benjamin, 305 Mass 489, 26 NE2d 354, 129 ALR 433.

Footnote 3. §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 4. § 322.

Footnote 5. United States v De Carlo (CA3 NJ) 458 F2d 358, cert den 409 US 843, 34 L Ed 2d 83, 93 S Ct 107, 93 S Ct 112.

Footnote 6. Woolard v Mobil Pipe Line Co. (CA5 Tex) 479 F2d 557, reh den (CA5 Tex) 480 F2d 925 and cert den 414 US 1025, 38 L Ed 2d 316, 94 S Ct 450.

Footnote 7. Bailey v Kawasaki-Kisen, K. K. (CA5 La) 455 F2d 392, 16 FR Serv 2d 324, appeal after remand (CA5 La) 478 F2d 839.

Footnote 8. Wallner v Kitchens of Sara Lee, Inc. (CA7 Ill) 419 F2d 1028.

Footnote 9. Nice v Chesapeake & O. R. Co. (WD Mich) 305 F Supp 1167; Boeing Airplane Co. v Brown (CA9 Wash) 291 F2d 310.

Footnote 10. Newell v Harold Shaffer Leasing Co. (CA5 Miss) 489 F2d 103.

Footnote 11. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Solomon (CA11 Fla) 686 F2d 863, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 717); United States v Eddy (CA5 Ala) 597 F2d 430, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 629.

Footnote 12. United States v Oakes (CA1 Mass) 565 F2d 170, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 513.

Footnote 13. Lloyd v United States (CA5 Ala) 226 F2d 9, 55-2 USTC ¶ 9665, 47 AFTR 1955.

Footnote 14. §§ 404 et seq.

Footnote 15. Anthony v State (Iowa) 374 NW2d 662.

Footnote 16. Illinois C. R. Co. v Houchins, 121 Ky 526, 89 SW 530; Grimm v Gargis (Mo) 303 SW2d 43, 74 ALR2d 599; Lamm v Gardner, 250 NC 540, 108 SE2d 847.

Footnote 17. Cruz v New York, 481 US 186, 95 L Ed 2d 162, 107 S Ct 1714, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 369, on remand 70 NY2d 733, 519 NYS2d 959, 514 NE2d 379 and (ovrld on other grounds by Idaho v Wright, 497 US 805, 111 L Ed 2d 638, 110 S Ct 3139, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 24) as stated in People v Watkins, 438 Mich 627, 475 NW2d 727, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 105, 112 S Ct 933, habeas corpus den (ED Mich) 784 F Supp 390, affd without op (CA6 Mich) 983 F2d 1067, reported in full (CA6) 1992 US App LEXIS 33622 and cert den (US) 123 L Ed 2d 182, 113 S Ct 1624; Bruton v United States, 391 US 123, 20 L Ed 2d 476, 88 S Ct 1620, appeal after remand (CA8 Mo) 416 F2d 310, 21 ALR Fed 958, cert den 397 US 1014, 25 L Ed 2d 428, 90 S Ct 1248.

Footnote 18. United States v Johnson (CA4 Va) 451 F2d 1321, cert den 405 US 1018, 31 L Ed 2d 480, 92 S Ct 1298.

Footnote 19. United States v Arcuri (CA2 NY) 405 F2d 691, cert den 395 US 913, 23 L Ed 2d 227, 89 S Ct 1760.

Footnote 20. McDonald v United States, 335 US 451, 93 L Ed 153, 69 S Ct 191; Stronge v Supreme Lodge, K. P., 189 NY 346, 82 NE 433; William Deering & Co. v Mortell, 21 SD 159, 110 NW 86; Mankin v Jones, 63 W Va 373, 60 SE 248.

The fact that evidence is admissible for the purpose of contradicting a witness does not authorize its use as affirmative evidence of a fact in dispute. Fox v Manchester, 183 NY 141, 75 NE 1116.

Footnote 21. Waldron v Waldron, 156 US 361, 39 L Ed 453, 15 S Ct 383; Wabash, S. L. & P. R. Co. v McDougall, 126 Ill 111, 18 NE 291; Schworm v Fraternal Bankers' Reserve Soc., 168 Iowa 579, 150 NW 714.

One offering in evidence documents that are competent for one purpose, and incompetent for all others, has a right to protect himself against their use as evidence upon any other question by limiting his offer to the specific purpose for which they are competent. Close v Stuyvesant, 132 Ill 607, 24 NE 868.

Footnote 22. Foreman & Clark Corp. v Fallon, 3 Cal 3d 875, 92 Cal Rptr 162, 479 P2d 362 (even had an appropriate request for limitation of scope of evidence been made, that request would properly have been denied and the evidence considered for all purposes).

§ 322 --Court's duty to restrict use of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Rule 105 provides that when evidence which is admissible as to one party or for one purpose but not admissible as to another party or for another purpose is admitted, 23 the court, upon request, must restrict the evidence to its proper scope and instruct the jury accordingly. 24 This Rule codifies earlier law which was to the effect that the court should limit its application of such evidence by proper instructions, at least when requested to do so or when objection is made to the introduction of the evidence. 25

◆ Comment: A close relationship exists between Federal Rules of Evidence 105 and Federal Rules of Evidence 403, which requires exclusion of relevant evidence when the probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of the time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence. 26 Federal Rules of Evidence 105 recognizes the practice of admitting evidence for a limited purpose and instructing the jury accordingly, and the availability and effectiveness of this practice must be taken into consideration in reaching a decision whether to exclude evidence for unfair prejudice under Federal Rules of Evidence 403. 27 Thus, although evidence may be of such low probative value against one defendant or conspirator that the possibility of prejudicial use of the evidence against another defendant calls for its exclusion altogether under Federal Rules of Evidence 403, the probative value of evidence against one defendant may outweigh its potential prejudicial affect on another defendant under the circumstances, and such evidence may be received subject to a cautionary instruction to the jury not to consider the evidence against the defendant who would be prejudiced by it. 28

Although proper limiting instructions may not entirely prevent a jury from considering evidence, either consciously or unconsciously, for a purpose other than the limited purpose for which it may have been introduced, there is a strong presumption that proper limiting instructions will reduce the possibility of prejudice to an acceptable level. 29 Federal Rules of Evidence 105 calls for a limiting instruction only if the evidence complained of has been admitted, and not, for example, where prior testimony is used to refresh the memory of a witness. 30

◆ Reminder: Counsel may wish to refrain from requesting an instruction under Federal Rules of Evidence 105 in order not to emphasize potentially damaging evidence. 31 However, counsel wishing to object to the admissibility of evidence for a limited purpose must comply with the requirements of Rule 103 in order to preserve the point for review on appeal. 32

◆ Practice guide: The burden of requesting a limiting jury instruction under Federal Rules of Evidence 105 falls on the party who desires that the instruction be given. 33 Moreover, the request must be explicit and cannot be implied based on counsel's comment at the time of admission about what the opposing party's evidence was apparently being admitted for. 34

Upon receiving a request for limiting jury instructions, a trial judge is required to give such instruction where the evidence in question has only limited admissibility. 35 The failure of the court to give such a limiting instruction upon request may be reversible error 36 and entitle the party adversely affected to a new trial. 37 However, the trial court properly refuses to give an instruction requested by counsel where the instruction proposed is manifestly intended to present the defendant's construction of the evidence as opposed to the government's. 38

§ 322 --Court's duty to restrict use of evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Trial court should not have excluded, on grounds of confusing and misleading jury and delaying proceedings, evidence that victim's husband had assaulted her when she was living with him, since it showed that someone other than defendant, victim's boyfriend, had opportunity, ability, and motive to commit crime, would have lent support to defendant's theory that someone else beat victim and undermined prosecutor's claim that more thorough investigation would have turned up nothing of value; it actually could have decreased confusion by providing explanation for victim's changing testimony and posed only minimal risk of delay. United States v Crosby (1996, CA9 Ariz) 75 F3d 1343, 96 CDOS 633, 96 Daily Journal DAR 962, 43 Fed Rules Evid Serv 974, amd, reh den (1996, CA9) 1996 US App LEXIS 6295.

Although the correct procedure would have been for the trial court to give defendant's requested limiting instruction with regard to a prior inconsistent statement at the time the request was made and in conjunction with the admission of the statement, because the trial court gave a correct limiting instruction in its charge, the error was not prejudicial. State v Williams (1995) 341 NC 1, 459 SE2d 208.

The purpose for which the jury could consider corroborating evidence was adequately explained to the jury where the court instructed the jury to consider a prior statement solely for corroborating the witness's testimony at trial if the jury found that the prior statement did corroborate the trial testimony; the court instructed the jury not to consider prior statements as evidence of the truth of what was said at the earlier time; and defendant made no special request for an instruction concerning the difference between corroborative and substantive evidence. State v Williams (1995) 341 NC 1, 459 SE2d 208.

Footnotes

Footnote 23. As to the admissibility of such evidence, see § 321.

Footnote 24. FRE 105; Uniform Rules of Evidence 105.

Practice References Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 41:4.

Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 40-44.

Footnote 25. Howard v State, 172 Ala 402, 55 So 255; Daggett v Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co., 48 Cal 2d 655, 313 P2d 557, 64 ALR2d 1283; Denton v Etheridge, 73 Ga App 221, 36 SE2d 365; Grimm v Gargis (Mo) 303 SW2d 43, 74 ALR2d 599; State v Dolbow, 117 NJL 560, 189 A 915, 109 ALR 1488, app dismd 301 US 669, 81 L Ed 1334, 57 S Ct 943.

Footnote 26. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 105.

For a discussion of FRE 403, see §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 27. United States v Beechum (CA5 Tex) 582 F2d 898, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185, cert den 440 US 920, 59 L Ed 2d 472, 99 S Ct 1244.

Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 105.

Footnote 28. United States v Alpern (CA7 Ill) 564 F2d 755, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 763.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Consideration of evidence admitted for limited purpose. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 18.

Footnote 29. United States v Kilcullen (CA1 Mass) 546 F2d 435, cert den 430 US 906, 51 L Ed 2d 582, 97 S Ct 1175.

Generally, as to the court's instructions to the jury on limiting the use of evidence, see 75B Am Jur 2d, Trial § 1283.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 45.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Duty to disregard stricken testimony. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 15.

Footnote 30. United States v Booty (CA5 La) 621 F2d 1291, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 737, mod and reh den (CA5 La) 627 F2d 762.

Footnote 31. United States v Barnes (CA5 Fla) 586 F2d 1052, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1278.

Footnote 32. § 323.

Footnote 33. United States v Capital Sav. Asso. (ND Ind) 576 F Supp 790, 83-2 USTC ¶ 9585, 52 AFTR 2d 83-6179; United States v Gilmore (CA8 Mo) 730 F2d 550, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 721; United States v McLennan (CA9 Or) 563 F2d 943, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 750, cert den 435 US 969, 56 L Ed 2d 60, 98 S Ct 1607; United States v Bridwell (CA10 Okla) 583 F2d 1135, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 628.

Footnote 34. United States v Capital Sav. Asso. (ND Ind) 576 F Supp 790, 83-2 USTC ¶ 9585, 52 AFTR 2d 83-6179.

Footnote 35. United States v Washington (CA2 NY) 592 F2d 680, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 878; United States v Dugger (ED Tenn) 422 F Supp 1344.

Footnote 36. United States v Washington (CA2 NY) 592 F2d 680, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 878.

Footnote 37. Sprynczynatyk v General Motors Corp. (CA8 ND) 771 F2d 1112, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 952, cert den 475 US 1046, 89 L Ed 2d 572, 106 S Ct 1263.

Footnote 38. United States v Multi-Management, Inc. (CA9 Mont) 743 F2d 1359, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 603.

§ 323 --Effect of failure to request limiting instructions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The failure of a party to request a limiting instruction pursuant to Federal Rules of Evidence 105, either during the trial or at the close of the case in the charge to the jury, precludes review on appeal of the alleged error in failing to give such an instruction. 39 Thus, a party may waive any objection as to a trial court's failure to give a limiting instruction under Federal Rules of Evidence 105 so as to restrict the way in which the jury should consider certain evidence, where such party does not object to the omission of the limiting instruction nor ask for any others. 40

Even in the absence of a request for a limiting instruction a Court of Appeals may reverse if plain error exists. 41 However, only in those rare situations in which other aggravating circumstances have exacerbated the prejudice will the failure to give cautionary instructions in the absence of a request result in plain and reversible error. 42 The prevailing inquiry is one of fairness, and to this end jury instructions are important only insofar as they protect the substantive rights of the accused. 43

In the usual case, the court is not required to give a limiting instruction sua sponte, 44 and no such limiting instruction is required where:

- (1) the evidence is relevant to an issue in the case; 45
- (2) the probative nature of the evidence outweighs the possibility for prejudice; 46
- (3) any potential for prejudice is negated. 47

Since the impact on a party's substantial rights varies with the facts of each case, it cannot be said that plain error may never result from the failure of the trial court to give cautionary instructions in the absence of a request where the conduct shown is egregious and its particular relevance questionable. 48 Thus, the failure of a court to give a limiting instruction, in the absence of a request to do so, that impeachment evidence is not admitted as evidence in the offeror's favor or to establish the truth of the subject matter, but merely to destroy the credibility of a witness, may be plain error when the impeaching evidence is extremely damaging, the need for instruction is obvious, and the failure to give it is so prejudicial as to affect the substantial rights of the accused. 49 On the other hand, a trial court's failure to give a limiting instruction sua sponte on the limited use of evidence is not plain error where such failure is not extremely damaging in view of testimony of other witnesses, 50 or where the court's instructions as a whole are taken into account. 51

§ 323 --Effect of failure to request limiting instructions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Because party cannot wait until after receiving unfavorable verdict, then raise objection or state different grounds in motions after verdict, defendant's objection to learned treatises on relevancy grounds in motions after verdict was untimely because it prevented trial court from reviewing relevancy of evidence before it was presented to jury, and defendant's failure to object or move to strike in timely manner waived objection to learned treatises evidence. Wingad v John Deere & Co. (1994, App) 187 Wis 2d 441, 523 NW2d 274.

Footnotes

Footnote 39. United States v Natale (CA2 NY) 526 F2d 1160, cert den 425 US 950, 48 L Ed 2d 193, 96 S Ct 1724; United States v Echeverri-Jaramillo (CA4 NC) 777 F2d 933, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1106, cert den 475 US 1031, 89 L Ed 2d 345, 106 S Ct 1237.

Footnote 40. United States v Barrett (CA1 Mass) 539 F2d 244, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1154; United States v Christian (CA6 Tenn) 786 F2d 203; United States v Gilmore (CA8 Mo) 730 F2d 550, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 721.

Footnote 41. FRE 103(d).

Footnote 42. United States v Christian (CA6 Tenn) 786 F2d 203.

Footnote 43. United States v Christian (CA6 Tenn) 786 F2d 203.

Footnote 44. United States v Sliker (CA2 NY) 751 F2d 477, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1089, cert den 470 US 1058, 84 L Ed 2d 832, 105 S Ct 1772 and cert den 471 US 1137, 86 L Ed 2d 697, 105 S Ct 2679; United States v Multi-Management, Inc. (CA9 Mont) 743 F2d 1359, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 603; United States v McLennan (CA9 Or) 563 F2d 943, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 750, cert den 435 US 969, 56 L Ed 2d 60, 98 S Ct 1607.

Footnote 45. United States v Conley (CA8 Mo) 523 F2d 650, cert den 424 US 920, 47 L Ed 2d 327, 96 S Ct 1125.

Footnote 46. United States v Brown (CA9 Wash) 562 F2d 1144, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 741.

Footnote 47. United States v Christian (CA6 Tenn) 786 F2d 203 (the admission of the guilty plea of the codefendant was not prejudicial to the defendant as it was reasonable to believe that the jury used the testimony regarding the specific facts underlying the crimes in issue to convict the codefendant and the testimony regarding the guilty plea to assess the witness' credibility).

Footnote 48. United States v Cooper (CA6 Tenn) 577 F2d 1079, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 969, cert den 439 US 868, 58 L Ed 2d 179, 99 S Ct 196.

Footnote 49. United States v Garcia (CA5 Tex) 530 F2d 650, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 564.

Footnote 50. United States v Barnes (CA5 Fla) 586 F2d 1052, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1278.

Footnote 51. United States v Barrett (CA1 Mass) 539 F2d 244, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1154.

B. Exclusion of Relevant Evidence Where Probative Value is Outweighed by Specified Dangers (Rule 403) [324-356]

Research References

US Const, Amend 6

FRE Rules 403, 608, 609

Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 403

22 USCS §§ 2751 et seq.; 42 USCS § 1983

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 1134-1413

ALR Index: Character and Reputation; Demonstrative and Real Evidence; Description and Identification; Documentary Evidence; Entrapment; Evidence; Evidence Rules; Experiments or Tests; Hypothetical Questions; Impeachment of Witnesses; Offer of Proof; Rebuttal; Same or Similar Acts or Matters; Witnesses

1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court §§ 1:3623, 1:3624; 7

Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure §§ 20:646, 20:647, 20:649, 20:926, 20:955

Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 124, 125

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 32.6

1. In General [324-330]

§ 324 Generally

Rule 403 provides that evidence, although relevant, may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence. 52 The Rule is substantially a restatement of pre-existing law. 53 It is meant to relax the iron rule of relevance by permitting the trial judge to preserve the fairness of the proceedings by excluding evidence despite its relevance. 54

FRE Rule 403 may justify the exclusion of evidence the necessary rebuttal of which would require undue consumption of time and excessive cost, 55 and of matters of scant or cumulative probative force dragged in by the heels for the sake of its prejudicial effect. 56 However, exclusion of relevant evidence under FRE Rule 403 is said to be an extraordinary remedy to be used sparingly, 57 and the less drastic action of compelling compliance with conditions to remove or alleviate prejudicial or time-wasting aspects of the introduction of evidence is also authorized under FRE Rule 403. 58

Where a defendant makes a motion to exclude evidence under FRE Rule 403 but the balancing test required by that Rule cannot be done effectively in advance of trial, the motion can be denied without prejudice to its renewal at trial. 59

◆ Comment: The grounds stated in FRE Rule 403 are the sole grounds for exclusion of relevant evidence which is otherwise admissible. 60 FRE Rule 403 does not include surprise as a ground of exclusion. Although claims of unfair surprise may be justified despite procedural requirements of notice and discovery, the grant of a continuance is a more appropriate remedy than exclusion of the evidence under FRE Rule 403. 61

◆ Observation: It has been noted that the problem under FRE Rule 403 of balancing probative force and counterweights such as confusion of issues normally constitutes a procedural matter and therefore may be decided without reference to state law, and that state decisions or statutes striking the balance in a different way for particular offers in particular kinds of cases need not be followed. However, state decisions of this nature should be carefully examined because if they are so bound up with the accompanying substantive rule that to ignore the evidentiary determination would significantly "modify" the substantive rule, the federal court ought not ignore such evidentiary determinations. 62

§ 324 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In a criminal case, when the probative force of the prosecution's evidence depends on the circumstances in which it was obtained, and those circumstances raise a possibility of fraud, indications of conscientious police work will enhance probative force and slovenly work will diminish it. Kyles v Whitley (1995, US) 131 L Ed 2d 490, 115 S Ct 1555, 95

Defendant may not develop evidence of codefendants' post-indictment plan to bribe or kill witness, where defendant was not involved in plan but seeks to use his lack of participation in plan to prove lack of participation in racketeering acts for which all three stand trial, since evidence sought is only marginally relevant but is extremely prejudicial to codefendants. United States v Ruggiero (1993, SD NY) 824 F Supp 379.

District court did not err in excluding testimony of defendant's expert economist concerning worklife expectancy of oilfield worker, in oilfield worker's suit for damages, since, without some indication of how oilfield worklife differs from that of other occupations, district court could have excluded evidence upon finding that probative value of expert's study did not outweigh prejudice to plaintiffs or that it was not sufficiently reliable. Marcel v Placid Oil Co. (1994, CA5 La) 11 F3d 563.

Evidence that mail and wire fraud defendant had once filed false charges against former employee was not probative of defendant's intent to defraud in instant case, but admission was harmless in view of overwhelming evidence against defendant. United States v Macey (1993, CA7 Ill) 8 F3d 462.

Defendant waived argument that he was prejudiced by court's refusal to exclude witnesses where he never moved to exclude them. United States v Abbott (1994, CA7 Ill) 30 F3d 71.

The trial court did not err in a first-degree murder sentencing hearing by not excluding as more prejudicial than probative testimony from the victim's five-year-old daughter delivered from her stepmother's lap. Although defendant contended that the testimony concerned only background matters and was only cumulative while the manner in which it was introduced was highly inflammatory, the Supreme Court paid deference to the ruling of the trial judge and could not say that he committed error in the admission of otherwise relevant testimony because of the manner in which the testimony was presented. State v Reeves (1994) 337 NC 700, 448 SE2d 802.

Even if relevant, evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by other factors, including risk of unfair prejudice (Stats § 904.03). State v Patricia A. M. (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 542, 500 NW2d 289.

Evidence which is relevant may nonetheless be excluded pursuant to statute if its probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading jury (Stats § 904.03). State v Patricia A. M. (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 542, 500 NW2d 289.

Evidence which is relevant may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading jury. Johnson by Adler v Kokemoor (1996) 199 Wis 2d 615, 545 NW2d 495.

Footnotes

Footnote 52. FRE Rule 403; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 403.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Propriety under Rule 403 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, permitting exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, of attack on credibility of witness for party, 48 ALR Fed 390.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 124.

Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 32.6.

Forms: Allegation—Error of law—In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:1964.

Allegation—Error of law—In admitting inadmissible evidence. 1 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:1965.

Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion—To exclude evidence of other crimes—Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 53. United States v Hajal (CA6 Mich) 555 F2d 558, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, cert den 434 US 849, 54 L Ed 2d 117, 98 S Ct 159.

If evidence pertaining to collateral matters, otherwise relevant, brings into a case new controversial matters which would result in confusion of issues, constitute unfair surprise, or cause prejudice wholly disproportionate to the value and usefulness of the offered evidence, it should be excluded. Vogel v Sylvester, 148 Conn 666, 174 A2d 122, 96 ALR2d 893 (criticized on other grounds by State v John, 210 Conn 652, 557 A2d 93); Conley v Kaney (Mo) 250 SW2d 350.

Evidence which will only serve to prejudice the minds of the jury is properly excluded. McKay v State, 90 Neb 63, 132 NW 741, mod 91 Neb 281, 135 NW 1024; Deitz v Providence Washington Ins. Co., 33 W Va 526, 11 SE 50.

If evidence is proximately relevant, it may be rejected if its probative value is outweighed by the danger that its admission would prolong the trial to an unreasonable extent without any corresponding advantage; or would confuse the main issue and mislead the jury; or unfairly surprise a party; or create substantial danger of undue prejudice to one of the parties. People v Davis, 43 NY2d 17, 400 NYS2d 735, 371 NE2d 456, cert den 435 US 998, 56 L Ed 2d 88, 98 S Ct 1653 and cert den 438 US 914, 57 L Ed 2d 1160, 98 S Ct 3143.

Footnote 54. United States v McRae (CA5 Tex) 593 F2d 700, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 503, reh den (CA5 Tex) 597 F2d 283 and cert den 444 US 862, 62 L Ed 2d 83, 100 S Ct 128.

Footnote 55. United States v Callahan (DC Minn) 442 F Supp 1213, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 890, later proceeding (DC Minn) 455 F Supp 524, revd on other grounds (CA8 Minn) 596 F2d 759.

Footnote 56. United States v McRae (CA5 Tex) 593 F2d 700, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 503, reh den (CA5 Tex) 597 F2d 283 and cert den 444 US 862, 62 L Ed 2d 83, 100 S Ct 128.

Footnote 57. K-B Trucking Co. v Riss International Corp. (CA10 Kan) 763 F2d 1148, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 682; United States v Terzado-Madruga (CA11 Ga) 897 F2d 1099, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 662; United States v Elkins (CA11 Ga) 885 F2d 775, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1469, cert den 494 US 1005, 108 L Ed 2d 477, 110 S Ct 1300; United States v Blanton (CA11 Ga) 793 F2d 1553, 105 CCH LC ¶ 11990, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 25, reh den, en banc (CA11 Ga) 801 F2d 404 and cert den 479 US 1021, 93 L Ed 2d 728, 107 S Ct 678; Ebanks v Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Co. (CA11 Fla) 688 F2d 716, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980, reh den (CA11 Fla) 693 F2d 135, cert den 460 US 1083, 76 L Ed 2d 346, 103 S Ct 1774 and on remand (MD Fla) 613 F Supp 1428, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA11 Fla) 832 F2d 1540, 1988 AMC 2278, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 949, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 837 F2d 1095 and reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 837 F2d 1095 and reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 837 F2d 1095 and cert den 486 US 1033, 100 L Ed 2d 604, 108 S Ct 2017, 1988 AMC 2402, later proceeding (MD Fla) 1990 AMC 2247, revd on other grounds (CA11 Fla) 957 F2d 1575, 1992 AMC 2310, 6 FLW Fed C 419, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 388, 113 S Ct 484.

Footnote 58. United States v Algie (ED Ky) 503 F Supp 783, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 800, revd on other grounds, remanded (CA6 Ky) 667 F2d 569, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1206, appeal after remand (CA6 Ky) 721 F2d 1039.

Footnote 59. United States v Rastelli (ED NY) 653 F Supp 1034.

Footnote 60. United States v Dolliole (CA7 Ill) 597 F2d 102, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 318, 99 S Ct 2894.

Footnote 61. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Footnote 62. Wellborn, The Federal Rules of Evidence and the Application of State Law in Federal Courts, 55 Tex L Rev 371, 406 (1977).

§ 325 Relation to other rules

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

FRE Rule 403 is closely related to, and must be read in conjunction with, other rules. Thus, one must look to FRE Rule 401 for the definition of "relevant evidence," 63 and under FRE Rule 402 a judge is required to admit evidence, otherwise relevant on an issue under FRE Rule 401, unless he finds it excludible under an exception provided in FRE Rule 403. 64

◆ Comment: FRE Rules 404-412 are concrete applications designed for particular situations; they reflect the policies underlying FRE Rule 403, which constitutes a guide for the handling of situations for which no specific rules have been formulated. 65

When determining admission of relevant evidence of similar acts under FRE Rule 404(b), the judge must find that the probative value of the evidence is not substantially outweighed by one of the dangers enumerated in FRE Rule 403. 66 Thus, evidence of other crimes, which prove identity, scheme or motive, although admissible under Rule 404, may not be admissible if its probative value is outweighed by its potential prejudice. 67 FRE Rule 403 was not designed to allow the blanket exclusion of evidence of insurance 68 absent some indicia of prejudice, as such a result would defeat the obvious purpose of FRE Rule 411. 69

FRE Rule 403 might afford a trial court discretion to exclude evidence of a witness's prior conviction even where the defendant in a criminal case is not the party prejudiced. 70

§ 325 ----Relation to other rules [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In action by former employee against employer, alleging entitlement to benefits under collective bargaining agreement, ledger pages allegedly containing evidence of illegal bribes employer paid to union officer are admitted subject to renewal of motion to exclude at trial, because even if pages are authenticated and relevant, substantial issue exists as to whether they should be excluded pursuant to T28 403. Ladson v Ulltra E. Parking Corp. (1995, SD NY) 878 F Supp 25.

Admission of all evidence that is least bit probative of credibility of witness is not always constitutionally required. State v Olson (1993, App) 179 Wis 2d 715, 508 NW2d 616.

Footnotes

Footnote 63. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 64. Contemporary Mission, Inc. v Famous Music Corp. (CA2 NY) 557 F2d 918, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 16.

Footnote 65. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Footnote 66. United States v Williams (CA2 NY) 596 F2d 44, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 57, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 317, 99 S Ct 2893.

Footnote 67. United States v Martinez (CA10 Colo) 744 F2d 76, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 797, later proceeding on other grounds (CA10 Colo) 771 F2d 424, mod, in part, reh den, in part on other grounds (CA10 Colo) 778 F2d 553, vacated on other grounds 475 US 1138, 90 L Ed 2d 333, 106 S Ct 1787, on remand (CA10 Colo) 800 F2d 230.

Footnote 68. Generally, as to the admissibility of evidence concerning insurance coverage, see §§ 483 et seq.

Footnote 69. Charter v Chleborad (CA8 Neb) 551 F2d 246, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 878, cert den 434 US 856, 54 L Ed 2d 128, 98 S Ct 176.

Footnote 70. United States v Dixon (CA9 Cal) 547 F2d 1079, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 256.

Forms: Affidavit—In support of motion to exclude evidence of prior convictions—Need for defendant's testimony on other issues. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:649.

§ 326 --In impeachment situations

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Although the extent of impeachment of witnesses is committed to the discretion of the trial court by FRE Rule 608(b), 71 the court must determine whether the probative value of impeachment evidence is outweighed by the danger of confusion, prejudice, or waste of time under FRE Rule 403. 72 Thus, cross-examination of a witness may be limited where the Sixth Amendment interest in full confrontation is outweighed by the danger of harassing witnesses or unduly prejudicing the jury, and the trial court may limit or even prohibit a proffered line of inquiry that is minimally relevant. 73

In a criminal case, the general balancing test of FRE Rule 403 is not applicable to impeachment under FRE Rule 609(a)(2) by introduction of evidence of crimes involving dishonesty or false statement, 74 and the trial court has no discretion to prevent introduction for impeachment purposes of evidence of prior convictions for crimes involving dishonesty or false statement, subject only to the 10-year time limit embodied in FRE Rule 609(b). 75

With regard to civil cases, a 1990 amendment to Rule 609(a)(1) requires the application of Rule 403 before the criminal record of a civil defendant can be used against him or her for impeachment purposes. 76

◆ Observation: The FRE Rule 403 balancing test is considerably different from the FRE Rule 609(a) balancing test. Under Rule 609(a), the court looks to see if the probative value outweighs the prejudicial effect, while the FRE Rule 403 balancing test requires that the probative value be substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice before the evidence is excluded. 77

§ 326 --In impeachment situations [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Impeachment by conviction evidence: Judicial discretion and the politics of Rule 609, 15 Card LR 2295 (1994).

Case authorities:

Defendant did not attempt to explain away his prior burglary convictions or otherwise equivocate in self-serving manner; therefore, that part of government's cross-examination related only to defendant's credibility and any impeachment by evidence of convictions should have been conducted in accordance with rule. United States v Rogers (1994, CA1 NH) 41 F3d 25.

Evidence that government informant solicited sex for money from defendant when they first met, had been arrested for deviate sexual conduct, and had sex with man just prior to meeting defendant to exchange drugs was properly excluded to impeach informant. United States v Gootee (1994, CA7 Ind) 34 F3d 475.

District court did not abuse its discretion in preventing defense counsel from questioning witnesses about other armed robberies in which they were allegedly involved to impeach their credibility, since their credibility was already severely damaged by testimony district court did allow. United States v Nelson (1994, CA7 Ind) 39 F3d 705.

Convicted cocaine conspirator is denied new trial on basis of newly discovered evidence of alleged wrongdoing by one of prosecution's primary witnesses, even though such wrongdoing—taking money allocated to government informants, lying on search warrant applications, and stealing money found during police searches—was unquestionably serious and would have been of value for impeachment purposes, because FRE 608(b) would have precluded defense counsel from impeaching witness with extrinsic evidence supporting allegations against witness, who did not know of allegations at time he testified and who now has denied them all; and counsel would not have been able to change outcome of trial since he would have been unable to elicit any admissible material evidence impacting on witness's credibility. United States v Veras (1994, ND Ill) 860 F Supp 471.

In a prosecution of defendant for the murder of a four-month-old child, Alamance County DSS records relating to the one-year supervision and investigation of the child's mother following the child's death were not admissible to show the mother's guilt of the murder where the records showed that the mother was having difficulty in performing her parental duties but contained no evidence that the mother physically abused or acted violently toward her children. Further, any probative value of this evidence to impeach the mother's testimony that she had done nothing wrong to her other children was substantially outweighed by the danger of confusion and undue delay where defendant had been allowed to impeach the mother with evidence similar to the evidence in the DSS records and the evidence in the DSS records would have been merely cumulative. GS § 8C-1, Rule 403. State v Burr (1995) 341 NC 263, 461 SE2d 602.

Footnotes

Footnote 71. United States v Lustig (CA9 Alaska) 555 F2d 737, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 300, 46 ALR Fed 714, cert den 434 US 926, 54 L Ed 2d 285, 98 S Ct 408 and cert den 434 US 1045, 54 L Ed 2d 795, 98 S Ct 889.

As to impeachment of witnesses, generally, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 862 et seq.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Propriety under Rule 403 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, permitting exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, of attack on credibility of witness for party, 48 ALR Fed 390.

Footnote 72. Moore v Volkswagenwerk, A.G. (DC Md) 575 F Supp 919, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 614; United States v Lustig (CA9 Alaska) 555 F2d 737, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 300, 46 ALR Fed 714, cert den 434 US 926, 54 L Ed 2d 285, 98 S Ct 408 and cert den 434 US 1045, 54 L Ed 2d 795, 98 S Ct 889; United States v Atwell (CA10 Okla) 766 F2d 416, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1064, cert den 474 US 921, 88 L Ed 2d 259, 106 S Ct 251.

Footnote 73. United States v Herzberg (CA5 Tex) 558 F2d 1219, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 454, cert den 434 US 930, 54 L Ed 2d 290, 98 S Ct 417.

Footnote 74. United States v Leyva (CA9 Cal) 659 F2d 118, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 169, cert den 454 US 1156, 71 L Ed 2d 314, 102 S Ct 1030.

Annotation: Construction and application of Rule 609(a) of the Federal Rules of Evidence permitting impeachment of witness by evidence of prior conviction of crime, 39 ALR Fed 570.

Footnote 75. United States v Kuecker (CA7 Wis) 740 F2d 496, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 2050.

Footnote 76. Davis v Marion (CA7) 1991 US App LEXIS 13544.

Footnote 77. Donald v Wilson (CA6 Ohio) 847 F2d 1191, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1308 (disapproved by Green v Bock Laundry Machine Co., 490 US 504, 104 L Ed 2d 557, 109 S Ct 1981, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 577) (the point of disapproval being on whether the FRE Rule 403 standard should prevail, the Supreme Court holding, as noted above, that FRE Rule 609 overrides FRE Rule 403).

Rule 403 has no application to use of convictions to impeach witness' testimony in either criminal or civil case where, as in Rule 609(a), Congress has taken pains to specify conditions for both admission and exclusion of a specific class of evidence; District Courts may not use Rule 403 to set that specification aside, and therefore, District Court did not err when it refused to exclude evidence of plaintiff's prior convictions for rape and kidnapping in suit alleging violation of civil rights of arrestee. Hernandez v Cepeda

§ 327 Assessing probative value of evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The term "probative value" is not defined by Rule 403, but in weighing the probative value of an item of evidence against the specific considerations enumerated in the Rule, the courts have considered certain factors, including—

—whether the same facts could be proved by other evidence 78 (in a criminal case, the prosecutorial need for such evidence), 79 because, where ample evidence is available to establish a particular element of a case, the probative value of particular evidence is often greatly reduced, and the risk which accompanies admission of such evidence may not be justified. 80

—the length of time which separates the crime charged from other crimes of the accused offered in evidence for specific purposes, since remoteness in time depreciates the probative value of such other crimes evidence. 81

—the reliability of the evidence, such as evidence of a prior crime, which must be clear and convincing to overcome its inherent potential for prejudice. 82

—the length of the chain of inferences necessary to connect the evidence with the ultimate facts to be proved, 83 such that when the evidence indicates a closer relationship to the offense charged, the balance should be struck in favor of admissibility. 84

—the existence of a close parallel between the offense charged and the acts shown, 85 particularly where evidence of similar acts is used to prove willfulness or intent. 86

◆ Practice guide: It is usually preferable for the trial court to await the conclusion of the defendant's case before admitting inherently prejudicial evidence, since the prosecutor's need for the evidence is most apparent at that time, and the weighing of probative value can then be best accomplished. 87

◆ Observation: It has been suggested that the probative value of a piece of evidence involves a measurement of the degree to which the evidence persuades the trier of fact that the particular fact exists and the distance of the particular fact from the ultimate issues of the case. Because a piece of evidence is generally not offered solely for its immediate inference but rather as part of a sequence or chain of inferential steps, the probative value of evidence in general will depend upon two distinct factors, namely (1) its probative value with respect to an immediate fact, and (2) the logical distance between the immediate fact and the ultimate issues of the case. 88

§ 327 ----Assessing probative value of evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Taperecorded conversation in wire fraud conspiracy case involving "land flip" scheme, in which defendant discussed using falsified employment information for third person, was probative of defendant's knowledge concerning how to defraud a lender and properly admitted. United States v Cassiere (1993, CA1 Mass) 4 F3d 1006, summary op at (CA1 Mass) 22 M.L.W. 66, 14 R.I.L.W. 495.

Evidence that FBI agent gave information to member of Persico faction of Colombo organized crime family is ruled out under FRE 403, in murder conspiracy case against 7 members of Orena faction, where defendants allege evidence would support defense of entrapment and counter evidence of intent to murder by showing motive of self-defense, because there is no basis for defense of entrapment, and admission would require diversionary trial of issues of no critical or substantial probative value in case. United States v Cutolo (1994, ED NY) 868 F Supp 39.

Pretrial motion in limine to prohibit insurer from using evidence of 1986 and 1989 fires in case regarding dispute over coverage of 1990 fires is denied at this time with leave to renew at such time as precise use of evidence and any prejudice resulting therefrom is made clear, where insurer intends to show that previous fires were incendiary and were started in manner similar to start of 1990 fires, because several courts have found that such evidence is admissible under FRE 404(b) to show motive and intent, but probative/prejudicial balance under FRE 403 cannot be determined before trial commencement. Wagschal v Sea Ins. Co. (1994, SD NY) 861 F Supp 263.

District court abused its discretion in excluding evidence that sexual discrimination/harassment plaintiff's superior solicited and accepted loans from plaintiff in violation of federal regulations since it was probative to understanding why plaintiff's coworkers continued to see her privately with superior even after she and superior knew of rumors that they were having affair and why superior did not take steps to stop rumors. Spain v Gallegos (1994, CA3 Pa) 26 F3d 439, 65 BNA FEP Cas 141, 64 CCH EPD ¶ 43153, 29 FR Serv 3d 706.

Evidence of RICO defendant's affiliation with organized crime family, indicative of knowledge of structure of family enterprise, did not violate Rule 403; evidence was probative of existence of defendant's knowing participation in and association with RICO enterprise, both essential elements of RICO charges. United States v DiSalvo (1994, CA3 Pa) 34 F3d 1204, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA3 Pa) 1994 US App LEXIS 27599 and reh, en banc, den (1994, CA3 Pa) 1994 US App LEXIS 27600.

Evidence that coconspirators had sold defendant's mother cocaine at residence she shared with defendant, although it revealed defendant's mother's identity to jury, was more probative than prejudicial where coconspirators testified that they had been discussing legitimate business venture in defendant's residence and denied ever discussing cocaine deal, and also particularly probative in connection with other evidence that defendant's mother had introduced coconspirators to defendant. United States v Johnson-Dix (1995, CA7 Ill) 54 F3d 1295.

Indictment against debtor is not admissible in action by receiver of defunct investment entities against defendants to whom debtor made monetary conveyances during pendency of fraudulent investment scheme, because indictment is conclusory, contains only hearsay, and is of no probative value. Scholes v African Enter. (1994, ND Ill) 854 F Supp 1315.

In prosecution arising out of defendants' conduct in diverting drugs purchased at institutional prices presumably for nursing home inpatients and reselling them to pharmaceutical wholesalers, evidence that—when one diverter asked codefendant why he had not received defendant's diversion business—codefendant testified that "number one person in Kansas City liked" his competitor was properly admitted; it had significant probative value in that it showed that quoted codefendant was no longer in charge of diversion operation and implied that defendant was, and was not unfairly prejudicial since there was no reason to believe jury would infer that reference was to Mafia. United States v Costanzo (1993, CA8 Mo) 4 F3d 658, reh den (CA8 Mo) 1993 US App LEXIS 26304.

Witness's testimony about defendant's accidentally shooting him and defendant's possession of handgun prior to his arrest was probative of crime charged, i.e., being felon in possession of firearm, because it tended to prove that defendant knowingly possessed handgun and provided context for defendant's arrest. United States v Klein (1994, CA8 Mo) 13 F3d 1182, reh, en banc, den (CA8 Mo) 1994 US App LEXIS 3674 and petition for certiorari filed (May 17, 1994).

District court did not abuse its discretion in admitting autopsy photographs of involuntary manslaughter victim since they were circumstantial evidence of pistol's firing position because trajectory of bullet was relevant to whether defendant acted negligently. United States v Moore (1994, CA8 SD) 38 F3d 977.

Evidence of plaintiff's intoxication, including blood-alcohol test taken at hospital where he was treated, is admissible under FRE 403 in automobile products liability case seeking recovery for injuries sustained in car fire started either by (1) design defect, or (2) plaintiff's passing out in parking place with car running and his foot on gas pedal, because probative value exceeds danger of unfair prejudice. Hansen v General Motors Corp. (1996, ED Mo) 915 F Supp 118, 43 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1046.

In suit involving alleged breach of agreement between typeface designers, report by principal of company that specialized in design of digital typefaces for computer formats, in which he stated opinion that typefaces he had been asked to work on for computer software firm were not legitimate, had been copied, and violated moral code of typographical trade association, was properly excluded under Rule 403 since court explained that author's opinion based on industry moral code and his own beliefs as to certain typefaces did not represent useable standard for opinion testimony which would assist jury, and, when author made his initial statement that typefaces were copies, he had not seen actual typefaces. Monotype Corp. PLC v International Typeface Corp. (1994, CA9 Wash) 43 F3d 443, 94 CDOS 9633, 94 Daily Journal DAR 17901, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 86.

Although defendant opened door to government's asking defense witness whether he'd heard that civil RICO action had been filed against defendant by asking witness to vouch for defendant's character, evidence was not probative, since witness's negative answer was entirely consistent with his original testimony that he had never known defendant to be in trouble before, and it was highly prejudicial since it suggested that RICO charges represented separate incident in defendant's past when in fact they were based on same misconduct as instant criminal charges. United States v Bush (1995, CA9 Cal) 58 F3d 482, 95 CDOS 4924, 95 Daily Journal DAR 8482.

District judge did not abuse her discretion in ruling that evidence of insured's epileptic seizures and medications he took to control them had little probative value, bearing only on insured's loss of memory, was outweighed by potential of inappropriate appeal to jury's sympathy in action against insurer, particularly where jury had already learned of insured's earlier heart attack but been instructed to disregard that fact. Thompson v State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (1994, CA10 Okla) 34 F3d 932.

Employer is not entitled to new trial of former employee's sex discrimination claim after verdict in favor of employee, where court admitted evidence of other employees who claimed to have been discriminated against or harassed by same supervisor within past few years, because (1) testimony was relevant and highly probative since it provided direct evidence of contemporaneous hostile environment regarding preferential treatment toward attractive women, (2) it concerned substantially similar behavior when compared with acts alleged by plaintiff, and (3) limiting instruction given minimized any prejudice testimony caused. Webb v Hyman (1994, DC Dist Col) 861 F Supp 1094.

Extrajudicial statements by three witnesses relating to shooting of homicide victim and identifying defendants as perpetrators were admissible as substantive evidence at defendants' trial for first-degree murder, after statements were repudiated by witnesses, where there were adequate guarantees that substance of those statements was of probative value: Witnesses were interviewed about events they said they had observed first hand; they provided full, descriptive answers, rather than responses of "Yes" or "No," to questions asked; questions were not unduly leading; detectives committed their questions and declarants' answer to paper as literally as possible, which gave little room for subjective interpretation of what was said; witnesses expressly acknowledged contents of written statements to be true and accurate, and then signed them; and witnesses were present at trial for cross-examination and thus available to explain, if they could, inconsistencies between their trial testimony and prior statements. Factual portion of inconsistent out-of-court statement is sufficiently trustworthy to be offered as substantive evidence of guilt when statement is based on declarant's own knowledge of facts, is reduced to writing and signed or otherwise adopted by him, and he is subject to cross-examination at trial in which prior statement is introduced. Nance v State (1993) 331 Md 549, 629 A2d 633.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion in a sentencing hearing for first-degree murder by allowing the State to ask a psychiatrist questions on cross-examination which revealed rapes and assaults by defendant in Virginia and Tennessee. The witness testified that he had used the evidence of the Tennessee and Virginia crimes in forming his opinion as to defendant's condition, which made it relevant under G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 705. Whether evidence should be excluded under G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403 as being more prejudicial than probative is within the discretion of the judge. State v Reeves (1994) 337 NC 700, 448 SE2d 802.

Although not introduced in defendant wife's murder prosecution, expert testimony regarding battered woman syndrome would be admissible as probative evidence of defendant's state of mind as it relates to theory of self-defense. Commonwealth v Miller (1993, Pa Super) 634 A2d 614.

In murder prosecution involving drive-by shooting, trial court properly excluded evidence that at least one and possibly two other drive-by shootings had occurred that same evening. As to one alleged other shooting, evidence consisted of nothing more than that witness had heard noise that sounded like gunshot, while as to other, only evidence was marks on tire that could have been made by shotgun; in view of weakness of evidence, any probative value in defendant's favor was outweighed by state's legitimate interest in presenting reliable evidence and promoting orderly and efficient trials. State v Larson (1994, SD) 512 NW2d 732.

In prosecution for sexual assault, trial court did not err in admitting tape of victim's call to 911 operator; tape had probative value in that it showed victim's hysterical state of mind, which was relevant in case, and such value outweighed tape's prejudicial effect. Brooks v State (1992, Tex App Fort Worth) 833 SW2d 302, petition for discretionary review ref (Sep 30, 1992).

In prosecution for offense of indecency with a child, trial court erred in admitting, for impeachment purposes, evidence of defendant's 15-year-old prior conviction for rape where, despite court order to do so, prosecution did not advise defendant as to its intent to use prior conviction until after defendant had already testified on direct, and probative value of former- conviction evidence did not outweigh its prejudicial effect. Brown v State (1994, Tex App El Paso) 880 SW2d 249.

Footnotes

Footnote 78. Gross v Black & Decker (U.S.), Inc. (CA5 Tex) 695 F2d 858, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9498, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 716.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 79. United States v Spletzer (CA5 Tex) 535 F2d 950, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 218.

Footnote 80. United States v Check (CA2 NY) 582 F2d 668, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 685 (disapproved on other grounds by United States v Inadi, 475 US 387, 89 L Ed 2d 390, 106 S Ct 1121, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1009) as stated in Reardon v Manson (CA2 Conn) 806 F2d 39, cert den 481 US 1020, 95 L Ed 2d 509, 107 S Ct 1903 (death threat); United States v Dolliole (CA7 Ill) 597 F2d 102, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 318, 99 S Ct 2894.

Footnote 81. United States v Beechum (CA5 Tex) 582 F2d 898, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185, cert den 440 US 920, 59 L Ed 2d 472, 99 S Ct 1244; United States v Krohn (CA7 Ill) 560 F2d 293, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 166, cert den 434 US 895, 54 L Ed 2d 182, 98 S Ct 275.

Generally, as to effect of remoteness of evidence, see § 319.

Footnote 82. United States v Dolliole (CA7 Ill) 597 F2d 102, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv

1030, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 318, 99 S Ct 2894.

Footnote 83. United States v Lyles (CA2 NY) 593 F2d 182, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 928, cert den 440 US 972, 59 L Ed 2d 789, 99 S Ct 1537 and cert den 440 US 975, 59 L Ed 2d 794, 99 S Ct 1545 and cert den 444 US 847, 62 L Ed 2d 61, 100 S Ct 94.

Footnote 84. United States v Day, 192 US App DC 252, 591 F2d 861, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1523.

Footnote 85. United States v Beechum (CA5 Tex) 582 F2d 898, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185, cert den 440 US 920, 59 L Ed 2d 472, 99 S Ct 1244.

Footnote 86. United States v Leonard (CA2 NY) 524 F2d 1076, 75-2 USTC ¶ 9695, 75-2 USTC ¶ 9852, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 82, 36 AFTR 2d 75-5679, 36 AFTR 2d 75-6358, cert den 425 US 958, 48 L Ed 2d 202, 96 S Ct 1737.

Footnote 87. United States v Danzey (CA2 NY) 594 F2d 905, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, cert den 441 US 951, 60 L Ed 2d 1056, 99 S Ct 2179.

Footnote 88. Dolan, Rule 403: The Prejudice Rule in Evidence, 49 Southern Cal L Rev 220, 233 (1976).

§ 328 Balancing probative value against particular dangers in admitting evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In weighing the delicate balance between the probative value of testimony and its capacity to engender vindictive passions within the jury or to confuse the issues, the court should seek to maximize its legitimate bearing upon the issues while minimizing its potentially abusive overtones. 89 The task of striking such a balance is clearly committed to the trial judge's discretion, 90 and the trial court was not required to make explicit finding of probative versus prejudicial value where its balancing process is apparent from the record as whole. 91 The balancing process involves a sensitive analysis of the need for the evidence as proof of a contested factual issue, of the prejudice which may eventuate from admission, and of the relevant public policies. 92 The balance between probativeness and prejudice will differ according to the purpose for which an item of evidence is to be admitted. 93

Since FRE Rule 403 requires that the probative value of the challenged evidence be substantially outweighed by the danger of prejudice, the rule favors admissibility of relevant evidence, 94 and tilts toward admission of evidence in close cases. 95 Thus, a slight danger that the admission of such evidence will cause unfair prejudice is to be ignored. 96

Since the discretion allowed by FRE Rule 403 must be applied evenhandedly between the parties, the court may not exclude the otherwise admissible opinion of a party's expert on a critical issue, while allowing the opinion of his adversary's expert on the same issue. 97 However, there may be cases in which the prejudicial effect of evidence outweighs its probative value when it is sought to be introduced on direct examination, but where, once the defense introduces contradictory evidence, such as on cross-examination, the probative value of the evidence is enhanced such that it outweighs its prejudicial effect and may be admitted. 98

§ 328 ----Balancing probative value against particular dangers in admitting evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of loansharking operative's statement that he should "cut out" debtor's eyes was pertinent in depicting nature of loansharking organization which defendant had associated and, as mere threat, with no actual known victim, did not overwhelm jury. United States v Weiner (1993, CA1 Mass) 3 F3d 17, summary op at (CA1 Mass) 21 M.L.W. 3363, 14 R.I.L.W. 437 and digest op at (CA1 Mass) RICO Bus Disp Guide (CCH) ¶ 8374 and amd (Aug 26, 1993).

Comments and evidence of how plant manager treated older employees were probative of whether he harbored discriminatory attitude against older workers and made existence of improper motive for plaintiff's discharge more probable, and was not outweighed by its prejudicial impact; because discriminatory comments by executive connected with decisionmaking process will often be plaintiff's strongest circumstantial evidence of discrimination, they are highly relevant and trial court's decision to admit such evidence should ordinarily be upheld. Abrams v Lightolier Inc. (1995, CA3 NJ) 50 F3d 1204, 67 BNA FEP Cas 543, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1046.

District court did not abuse its discretion in sex discrimination trial in excluding testimony by plaintiff's coworker that hotel supervisor had made suggestive remark upon seeing woman in tight dress and had refused coworker's offer to park cars with comment that she could not do so because she was woman; comments had little probative value as to whether supervisor had gender-based animus against plaintiff and whether this animus was determinative of actions taken, yet raised substantial danger of unfair prejudice. Sheridan v E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. (1996, CA3 Del) 74 F3d 1439, 69 BNA FEP Cas 1705, 67 CCH EPD ¶ 43868, op withdrawn, vacated, reh, en banc, gr (1996, CA3) 70 BNA FEP Cas 98, 67 CCH EPD ¶ 43950.

Defendant charged with conspiracy to possess cocaine with intent to distribute was properly cross-examined about his silence between his arrest and Miranda warnings since it had probative value on defendant's claim at trial that he and his coconspirators were simply trying to get DEA reward money by turning in narcotics dealers; reasonable juror may have supposed that defendant would have explained, when confronted by police, if he was in fact trying to assist police in catching drug dealers. United States v Musquiz (1995, CA5 Tex) 45 F3d 927.

Tax court did not abuse its discretion in excluding taxpayers' polygraph tests under Rule 403; neither court nor Commissioner were aware that taxpayers voluntarily and unilaterally arranged for such tests after Commissioner refused to agree to them. Conti v Commissioner (1994, CA6) 39 F3d 658, 94-2 USTC ¶ 50582, 94 TNT 223-21, 1994 FED App 379P.

Probative value of photographs of storage room to which defendant had access and which contained 20 kilograms of cocaine on day of cocaine transaction for which defendant was convicted was not outweighed by its prejudicial effect; at minimum, it was relevant of defendant's knowledge and involvement in drug activity. United States v Thompson (1996, CA7 Ill) 76 F3d 166.

Introduction of DNA match testimony without evidence concerning statistical probability that another individual could provide matching DNA was not reversible error where court followed proper procedures in admitting evidence and excluded, at defense counsel's request, 1:2600 probability evidence on grounds that it was more prejudicial than probative. United States v Martinez (1993, CA8 Minn) 3 F3d 1191, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 863, op withdrawn, substituted op (CA8 Minn) 1993 US App LEXIS 31026, cert den (US) 62 USLW 3453.

Evidence that drug-trafficking defendant illegally entered country with woman with same last name as codefendant might make more probable some relationship with codefendant six months before conspiracy at issue and could not have been prejudicial since relationship was established by other evidence. United States v Casares- Cardenas (1994, CA8 Minn) 14 F3d 1283, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1994 US App LEXIS 4543.

Cross-examination of narcotics defendant on his prior use of another name on his application for permanent residency status was proper since defendant's past use of another name was probative of his truthfulness; if person would lie about his name, jury may infer that he would lie about other matters. United States v Ojeda (1994, CA8 Iowa) 23 F3d 1473.

Evidence that third party may have set fire forming basis of arson charge against defendant was properly excluded as having slight probative value where it consisted of dismissed arson charge against third party and possible eyewitness to another fire allegedly set by third party. United States v Flaherty (1996, CA8 Minn) 76 F3d 967, 43 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025 (criticized in United States v Gomez (1996, CA9 Cal) 1996 US App LEXIS 15768).

In trial on charge of being felon in possession of firearm, proof of more than one prior felony adds very little of probative value and amounts to unfair piling on; error was not harmless in instant case where evidence linking defendant to firearm was limited to rifle's presence behind seat of stolen car he was driving, no fingerprints or other indicia of ownership were introduced, so it was likely that jury's inference from circumstantial evidence was influenced by knowledge of defendant's prior criminal history. United States v Breitreutz (1993, CA9 Idaho) 8 F3d 688, 93 CDOS 8001, 93 Daily Journal DAR 13704.

Evidence of government informant's unauthorized drug sales and use was properly excluded since it was not probative of bias or self- interest; there was no evidence that government was aware of informant's use and sale of drugs while working for task force, or that it agreed to overlook them in exchange for his testimony. United States v McCoy (1994, CA9 Or) 23 F3d 216, 94 CDOS 2247, 94 Daily Journal DAR 4245.

Evidence that defendant's codefendants had been warned by third party that defendant had been previously involved in similar fraudulent scheme was properly admitted since codefendants raised lack of knowledge defense and evidence was directly probative of issue, and any resultant prejudice was minimized by limiting instruction. United States v Mende (1995, CA9 Cal) 43 F3d 1298, 95 CDOS 55, 95 Daily Journal DAR 151.

In murder prosecution, trial court did not err in admitting tape recording of victims' child's emergency telephone call, reporting her parents' death, where court found that probative value of recording outweighed danger of unfair prejudice; tape went to prove integrity of crime scene with regard to whether child had disturbed bodies before police arrived. Lynch v State (1991, Del Sup) 588 A2d 1138.

Even if hearsay testimony was not used to prove the truth of the matter asserted, the inherently prejudicial effect of admitting into evidence an out-of-court statement relating accusatory information to establish the logical sequence of events outweighed the probative value of such evidence, where accused was convicted of armed burglary, 3 counts of sexual battery with a deadly weapon, and armed robbery with a firearm, and although a police dispatch report indicating that an unidentified informant had called to report that a man with a rifle was chasing a female down the street was admitted to show why the officer had been dispatched to the scene, the State linked the report with other evidence to establish that accused had used a rifle to commit the offenses, because the contents of the statement were not relevant to establish a logical sequence of events, nor was the reason why officers arrived at the scene a material issue in the case. Conley v State (1993, Fla) 620 So 2d 180, 18 FLW S 298.

Even if evidence on collateral matters has some relevancy, the evidence is subject to exclusion if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of confusing the issues, unfair prejudice, misleading the jury, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence. Caruso v State (1994, Fla) 645 So 2d 389, 19 FLW S 508.

In prosecution for "DUI, less safe driver," trial court did not err in limiting defendant's cross-examination of arresting officer regarding officer's alleged past misconduct, consisting of sexual misconduct and having struck pedestrian with his patrol car; court acted within its discretion in finding that officer's conduct was irrelevant in that it was unrelated to investigation of charges pending against defendant, and in determining that probative value of evidence was substantially outweighed by its potential prejudicial effect. Chapman v State (1994) 215 Ga App 340, 449 SE2d 903, 94 Fulton County D R 3948.

In murder prosecution, video of coroner's examination of victim's body at crime scene, showing coroner turning body over and examining injuries to victim's head, neck, and arms, was properly admitted in light of defendant's claims of accident and self-defense, to assist jury in assessing nature and extent of victim's injuries, and in ascertaining whether they were deliberate or result of accident; tape was relevant to illustrate testimony of both pathologist and coroner, and tape was not unduly gruesome, nor was its prejudicial impact excessive compared to its probative value. Isaacs v State (1995, Ind) 659 NE2d 1036, reh den (Apr 9, 1996).

Tape was properly admitted, even though it contained police officer's moans made prior to his death, where tape tended to disprove self-defense theory and showed that officer was talking on radio prior to being shot, and evidence was presented that procedure forbade talking on radio while holding weapon, supporting theory that officer drew gun after being shot; tape also was probative of intent to kill where it showed that defendant shot second time after hearing moans. In addition, defendant was not in police custody for Fifth and Sixth Amendment purposes when tape was made in conjunction with questioning and search of home. State v Chamberlain (1991) 112 NM 723, 819 P2d 673.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion during the penalty phase of a first-degree murder trial by permitting the State, as a part of its proof of the aggravating circumstance that defendant had previously been convicted of three felonies involving violence against the person, to introduce extensive testimony by defendant's three prior victims describing the circumstances of defendant's prior violent felonies, especially since defendant was able to elicit testimony during cross-examination of the witnesses tending to temper the evidence of defendant's prior convictions. G.S. § 15A-2000(e)(3). State v Jones (1994) 339 NC 114, 451 SE2d 826, reconsideration den (NC) 453 SE2d 188.

A witness's testimony which described acts of prostitution between the witness and defendant and her finding a metal pipe under defendant's pillow a month before the death of the victim, a known prostitute, was properly admitted in defendant's murder trial to show that the pipe was in defendant's bedroom in reasonable proximity to the time of the victim's death where other evidence tended to show that the victim was killed by a blunt object, such as a pipe, and since defendant's confession indicated that he had thrown a pipe away prior to the victim's death. Furthermore, the trial court did not err by finding that this testimony was more probative than prejudicial under the balancing test of Rule 403. N.C.G.S. § 8C-1, Rules 403 and 404(b). State v Weathers (1994) 339 NC 441, 451 SE2d 266.

The trial court did not err in a first-degree murder prosecution involving poisoning by allowing the State to introduce testimony from a registered nurse who had cared for the victim during his final illness concerning medical techniques and medical equipment used to treat the victim. Although defendant contended that the sole purpose of the testimony was to generate sympathy for the victim's family, the testimony was probative to show that defendant had access to the victim in the hospital, that a correlation existed between defendant's feeding the victim and the onset of his symptoms, that the victim manifested symptoms associated with multiple system failure incident to arsenic poisoning, that the victim could swallow food notwithstanding the tubes, that arsenic could have been introduced into the victim's body via the feeding tubes, and that the victim suffered inordinate pain over an extended period of time. The probative value of the testimony outweighed any unfair prejudice to defendant; furthermore, the record discloses that similar evidence from other witnesses was admitted without objection. State v Moore (1994) 335 NC 567, 440 SE2d 797.

The trial court did not err in a sentencing hearing for first-degree murder by submitting evidence of a prior attempted rape conviction, submitting the aggravating circumstance of a prior felony involving violence, or in its instructions where the State submitted evidence that defendant had been convicted by General Court Martial of attempted rape. Attempted rape is a felony under North Carolina law, as well as under military law, and, since the military courts have held all rapes to be crimes of violence under military law, and all attempts to commit rape therefore by definition involve the use or threat of force, there was no need to consider whether there is a non-violent crime of attempted rape under North Carolina law. The evidence presented concerning the prior felony was proper and sufficient to establish that the defendant had been convicted of a prior felony involving the use or threat of violence to the person and the court's instruction did not constitute an impermissible conclusive presumption as it permitted the jury to make the determination as to whether defendant had been convicted. G.S. § 15A-2000(e)(3). State v Green (1994) 336 NC 142, 443 SE2d 14.

The trial court did not err in a first- degree murder sentencing hearing by not excluding as more prejudicial than probative testimony from the victim's five-year- old daughter delivered from her stepmother's lap. Although defendant contended that the testimony concerned only background matters and was only cumulative while the manner in which it was introduced was highly inflammatory, the Supreme Court paid deference to the ruling of the trial judge and could not say that he committed error in the admission of otherwise relevant testimony because of the manner in which the testimony was presented. State v Reeves (1994) 337 NC 700, 448 SE2d 802.

The trial court did not err in a first- degree murder prosecution by excluding evidence tending to show that defendant played with younger children where defendant contended that the jury should be allowed to infer from this that he was immature. Defendant's association with younger children is an ambiguous indicator of his maturity level, his maturity level is not relevant to the case in the absence of evidence that he lacked the capacity to form the intent required for the crimes charged, and, assuming relevance, exclusion of the evidence was within the court's discretion under G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403 because the evidence would have unnecessarily confused the issues in the case, given its slight probative value. State v Huggins (1994) 338 NC 494, 450 SE2d 479.

The trial court did not err in a prosecution for attempted rape and first-degree murder by admitting evidence of another rape to which defendant pled guilty, where the similarity between the two crimes, closely connected temporally, clearly supports the admission of the other rape to prove identity and intent. N.C.G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). State v Carter (1994) 338 NC 569, 451 SE2d 157.

The jury's finding of the aggravating circumstance in a capital trial that defendant had previously been convicted of a felony involving the use or threatened use of violence to the person was supported by evidence that defendant had previously been convicted of common law robbery and two counts of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury. G.S. § 15A-2000(e)(3). State v Jones (1994) 339 NC 114, 451 SE2d 826, reconsideration den (NC) 453 SE2d 188.

There was no prejudicial error in a noncapital prosecution for first-degree murder, armed robbery, first- degree burglary, and second- degree arson where defendant's teacher testified on direct examination that there was an odor of feces about defendant in the classroom two days after the crime and that she thought he had had a bowel movement, which he did when under stress, and testified on cross-examination that this had happened to defendant fifteen or twenty a times in the past. The testimony had little probative value but did not have a tendency to prejudice defendant. State v Beamer (1994) 339 NC 477, 451 SE2d 190.

In fraud action, trial court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to admit tape recordings of conversations plaintiff had with several agents of defendant where, although tapes contained admissions against interest of defendant, probative value was outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice in form of cumulative, self-serving, and over- emphasized testimony. James v State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1991, Okla) 810 P2d 365.

Where statute did not mention use of evidence of DUI defendant's refusal to submit to test, such evidence would be admissible provided that, on request of either prosecution or defendant, trial court first held in camera hearing to determine whether probative value of such evidence outweighed its possible prejudicial effect, and if cautionary jury instruction were given, if requested. State v Cozart (1986) 177 W Va 400, 352 SE2d 152.

Footnotes

Footnote 89. United States v Green (CA6 Ohio) 548 F2d 1261, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 661.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion—To exclude evidence of other crimes—Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 90. United States v De Vincent (CA1 Mass) 546 F2d 452, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1237, cert den 431 US 903, 52 L Ed 2d 387, 97 S Ct 1694, post-conviction proceeding (DC Mass) 461 F Supp 1181, revd on other grounds (CA1 Mass) 602 F2d 1006, appeal after remand (CA1 Mass) 632 F2d 145, cert den 449 US 1038, 66 L Ed 2d 501, 101 S Ct 618; United States v Brady (CA6 Tenn) 595 F2d 359, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 492, cert den 444 US 862, 62 L Ed 2d 84, 100 S Ct 129; United States v McPartlin (CA7 Ill) 595 F2d 1321, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416, cert den 444 US 833, 62 L Ed 2d 43, 100 S Ct 65; United States v Derring (CA8 Ark) 592 F2d 1003, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 160; Cohn v Papke (CA9 Cal) 655 F2d 191, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1362; United States v Watkins (CA9 Or) 600 F2d 201, 79-2 USTC ¶ 9548, 44 AFTR 2d 79-5222, cert den 444 US 871, 62 L Ed 2d 96, 100 S Ct 148; Fernandez v Curley (Iowa) 463 NW2d 5; Chapin v State, 78 Wis 2d 346, 254 NW2d 286; Banks v Crowner (Wyo) 694 P2d 101.

In weighing the tendency of offered evidence to prove an issue in dispute against its tendency to produce passion and prejudice out of proportion to its probative value, the matter is largely within the sound discretion of the trial court. State v Flett, 234 Or 124, 380 P2d 634, 94 ALR2d 1082.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 125.

Footnote 91. United States v Bradshaw, 290 US App DC 129, 935 F2d 295, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 241, on remand (DC Dist Col) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 159.

Footnote 92. John McShain, Inc. v Cessna Aircraft Co. (CA3) 563 F2d 632, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 479.

Footnote 93. United States v Anderson (SD NY) 575 F Supp 31, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 324.

In prosecution for burning a cross outside a black family's home, evidence that the defendant had once asked to join a "skinhead" picnic and that he had blamed the instant crime on "skinheads" outweighed the prejudicial effect of reference to "skinheads" since it tended to establish defendant's racial animus and that he might act on his beliefs. United States v Skillman (CA9 Cal) 922 F2d 1370, 91 CDOS 230, 91 Daily Journal DAR 161, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1133, cert dismd (US) 116 L Ed 2d 275, 112 S Ct 353.

Footnote 94. Gross v Black & Decker (U.S.), Inc. (CA5 Tex) 695 F2d 858, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9498, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 716.

Footnote 95. United States v Moore, 235 US App DC 381, 732 F2d 983, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151.

Footnote 96. Gross v Black & Decker (U.S.), Inc. (CA5 Tex) 695 F2d 858, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9498, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 716.

Footnote 97. United States v Sellers (CA4 SC) 566 F2d 884, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 840 (District Court abused discretion in not permitting defendant's expert to testify that in his opinion certain photographs of bank robbery showed that defendant was not the bandit, while permitting government's expert to express opinion that it was impossible to determine from photographs whether defendant was the bandit).

Footnote 98. United States v Johnson (CA11 Fla) 730 F2d 683, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1115, cert den 469 US 857, 83 L Ed 2d 119, 105 S Ct 186 and cert den 469 US 867, 83 L Ed 2d 142, 105 S Ct 211.

§ 329 Review of discretionary rulings

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

On appeal from a ruling including or excluding evidence, on the ground that its probative value did or did not outweigh the danger of unfair prejudice, the sole issue is whether the District Court abused its discretion. 99 In reviewing a decision concerning the probative value and prejudicial attributes of particular evidence, the appellate court does not reweigh the value of the material against the potential harm to the defendant, but looks at the evidence in the light most favorable to its proponent, thus maximizing its probative value and minimizing its prejudicial effect. 1

An appellate court normally defers to the trial court's judgment, 2 unless the trial court has clearly abused its broad discretion, 3 as, for example, by admitting evidence which is so prejudicial as to outweigh its probative value. 4

◆ Observation: The assumption that the court acted within its discretion is so strong that it has been said that to overturn the judge's decision, appellant must show that the decision was "so unprincipled" as to amount to an abuse of discretion, 5 or that the judge acted "arbitrarily or irrationally." 6

The test for assessing whether the trial court abused discretion under Rule 403 by limiting cross-examination is substantially the same as the test for assessing whether the trial court violated the confrontation clause by limiting cross-examination. 7

Where a judge carefully considers arguments of counsel, weighs the competing interests before admitting evidence which might be prejudicial, and delays its admission until virtually all other proof is introduced, the judge's decision generally must be upheld. 8

Footnotes

Footnote 99. United States v Martinez (CA2 NY) 775 F2d 31, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 640, habeas corpus proceeding (SD NY) 1989 US Dist LEXIS 13110; Crawford v Edmonson (CA7 Ill) 764 F2d 479, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 415, cert den 474 US 905, 88 L Ed 2d 234, 106 S Ct 273 (trial court's balancing of unfair prejudice and probative value is accorded "great deference"); Lewis v District of Columbia, 253 US App DC 290, 793 F2d 361, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1101 (trial court's ruling will be overturned on appeal only upon clear showing that District Court abused its large discretion).

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 1. United States v Semaan (CA8 Minn) 594 F2d 1215, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 561, cert den 441 US 965, 60 L Ed 2d 1070, 99 S Ct 2413.

Forms: Allegation–Error of law–In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3623.

Footnote 2. United States v Derring (CA8 Ark) 592 F2d 1003, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 160.

Footnote 3. United States v Dwyer (CA2 NY) 539 F2d 924, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294; Block v R.H. Macy & Co. (CA8 Mo) 712 F2d 1241, 32 BNA FEP Cas 609, 32 CCH EPD ¶ 33730, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1453; Miller v Poretsky, 193 US App DC 395, 595 F2d 780; English-Clark v Tucson (App) 142 Ariz 522, 690 P2d 1235.

Footnote 4. United States v Little (CA8 Ark) 562 F2d 578.

Footnote 5. United States v York (CA7 Ill) 933 F2d 1343, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 426, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 262, 112 S Ct 321, reh den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 668, 112 S Ct 651, later proceeding (ND Ill) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 2212.

Footnote 6. United States v Coiro (CA2 NY) 922 F2d 1008, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 296, cert den (US) 115 L Ed 2d 996, 111 S Ct 2826.

Footnote 7. United States v Jenkins (CA9 Or) 884 F2d 433, cert den 493 US 1005, 107 L Ed 2d 562, 110 S Ct 568 (in prosecution for preparation of false income tax returns, Court did not err in prohibiting use of words "duress" and "coercion" where defendant's lawyer was permitted to explore at length pressures felt by prosecution witness at time affidavit was signed, and jury had benefit of considerable information with which to appraise motivations in signing affidavit).

§ 330 --Need for express articulation of balancing process

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Where an objection invokes FRE Rule 403, the trial court should articulate the factors considered in balancing the probative value of the evidence against the negative considerations stated in the Rule, so that the court's exercise of discretion may be fairly reviewed on appeal. 9 The trial judge should indicate explicitly the reasons for the ruling, acknowledging and weighing both the prejudice and the probative worth of the proffered evidence. 10 A mere statement that evidence would be confusing is not enough since factual controversy naturally breeds confusion. 11 But while the practice of entering a written finding that the act of balancing has been performed is encouraged, failure to enter such a finding should not mandate a reversal, 12 so long as it appears from the record that an adequate balancing occurred before admission of the evidence. 13

Where issues under the Rule have not been reached by the trial court, a case can be remanded to the District Court for such necessary determinations to be made, 14 or the reviewing court can undertake to examine the record itself. 15 Under certain circumstances, a failure to articulate the balancing process may be found to be an abuse of discretion, such as where the trial judge excludes evidence which is crucial to the defense and the judge's refusal to put the reasons for exclusion of the evidence on the record substantially impairs the appellate court's ability to ascertain the source of the "prejudice" to which the judge refers in his ruling and prevents the appellate court from ascertaining what prompted or could have prompted the trial court to act as it did. 16 But a trial court's failure to make findings on the record that the probative value of evidence did not substantially outweigh the potential prejudicial effect would not require reversal where defense counsel made no request for such on-the-record balancing, and where a review of the record indicated that the evidence was properly admissible. 17

Footnotes

Footnote 9. United States v Lebovitz (CA3 Pa) 669 F2d 894, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1264, cert den 456 US 929, 72 L Ed 2d 446, 102 S Ct 1979, later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 716 F2d 893, cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 681, 104 S Ct 484, reh den 464 US 1064, 79 L Ed 2d 205, 104 S Ct 748, later proceeding (WD Pa) 586 F Supp 265, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 746 F2d 1468.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 10. United States v Dwyer (CA2 NY) 539 F2d 924, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294; John McShain, Inc. v Cessna Aircraft Co. (CA3) 563 F2d 632, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 479; United States v Robinson, 174 US App DC 224, 530 F2d 1076, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1092.

The District Court erred in admitting extrinsic offense evidence under Rule 404(b) where the court did not determine, on the record, that proffered evidence possessed probative value not substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, and other requirements of Rule 403, particularly since it was clear that factors in evaluation were not readily apparent from the record and the court only found that the evidence in question would not inflame the jury's passions and that the jury was probably confused as to distinctions between the crimes under the indictment and those to which the testimony related. United States v Zabaneh (CA5 Tex) 837 F2d 1249, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1075.

Footnote 11. United States v Collorafi (CA2 NY) 876 F2d 303, 90-1 USTC ¶ 50188, 64 AFTR 2d 89-5013.

Footnote 12. United States v Dolliole (CA7 Ill) 597 F2d 102, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 318, 99 S Ct 2894.

Footnote 13. United States v Lebovitz (CA3 Pa) 669 F2d 894, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1264, cert den 456 US 929, 72 L Ed 2d 446, 102 S Ct 1979, later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 716 F2d 893, cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 681, 104 S Ct 484, reh den 464 US 1064, 79 L Ed 2d 205, 104 S Ct 748, later proceeding (WD Pa) 586 F Supp 265, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 746 F2d 1468; United States v Sangrey (CA9 Mont) 586 F2d 1312, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368.

Footnote 14. Contemporary Mission, Inc. v Famous Music Corp. (CA2 NY) 557 F2d 918, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 16.

Footnote 15. United States v Lebovitz (CA3 Pa) 669 F2d 894, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1264, cert den 456 US 929, 72 L Ed 2d 446, 102 S Ct 1979, later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 716 F2d 893, cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 681, 104 S Ct 484, reh den 464 US 1064, 79 L Ed 2d 205, 104 S Ct 748, later proceeding (WD Pa) 586 F Supp 265, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 746 F2d 1468.

Footnote 16. United States v Dwyer (CA2 NY) 539 F2d 924, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294.

Footnote 17. United States v Acosta-Cazares (CA6 Ky) 878 F2d 945, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 154, cert den 493 US 899, 107 L Ed 2d 204, 110 S Ct 255.

2. Unfair Prejudice [331-346]

a. Nature and Degree of Prejudice [331-334]

§ 331 Unfair character of prejudice

In the context of FRE Rule 403, which provides that relevant evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, 18 "unfair prejudice" is defined as an undue tendency to suggest decision on an improper basis, commonly, though not necessarily, an emotional one. 19 "Unfair prejudice" has also been defined as a tendency to influence the outcome of a trial by improper means. 20 The danger of unfair prejudice in the admission of evidence always exists where it is used for something other than its logical probative force, 21 that is, its tendency to make the existence of a material fact more or less probable. 22

◆ Comment: Absent counterbalancing probative value, evidence having a strong emotional or inflammatory impact may pose a risk of unfair prejudice because it tends to distract the jury from the issues in the case and permits the trier of fact to reward the good person and punish the bad person because of their respective characters, regardless of what the evidence in the case shows actually happened. 23 The effect in such a case might be to arouse the jury's passions to a point where they would act irrationally in reaching a verdict. 24

"Unfair prejudice" is not to be equated with testimony simply adverse to an opposing party; rather, the prejudice must be "unfair." 25 Relevant evidence is inherently prejudicial; 26 but it is only unfair prejudice, substantially outweighing probative value, which permits exclusion of relevant matter under FRE Rule 403. 27 In a criminal prosecution, there is no requirement that the government choose the least prejudicial method of proving its case. 28

Under pre-Rule law, it was stated that relevant evidence will not be excluded upon the ground that it would create unfair prejudice if permitted, 29 at least where such evidence is not merely circumstantial. 30 Nor is the admission of evidence otherwise competent affected by the gruesome and shocking character of the evidence. Even in a criminal case the admission of gruesome evidence does not deny the defendant a fair trial as guaranteed by law. 31 However, evidence which will only serve to prejudice the minds of the jury was held properly excluded. 32

In addition to the situation of a jury decision on an improper basis, unfair prejudice may result where evidence is discovered too late for the opposing party to have an adequate opportunity to investigate and evaluate it. 33

The testimony of a government witness concerning the defendant's attorney's activities is not unfairly prejudicial within the meaning of FRE Rule 403 by reason of the fact that admission of such testimony will require the defendant to call the attorney as a witness, thereby depriving the defendant of the attorney of his choice. 34

◆ Observation: It has been noted that the lack of a clear-cut definition of "prejudice" compels an attempt to infer a definition from cases in which prejudice has been found, by which at least three common themes of prejudice are discoverable: (1) evidence which seeks to affect irrationally the jurors' perception of a party, either favorably or unfavorably, because of some intrinsic characteristic of the individual litigant, most commonly through evidence of past crimes or bad acts, bad habits, or a party's past good acts; (2) evidence damaging the position of a party because of the party's association with certain groups, as by showing that a party is insured or associated with an unpopular political group; and (3) evidence which will incite the jury's rage or desire for revenge against defendant, the most successful method being introduction of inflammatory pictures. 35

§ 331 ----Unfair character of prejudice [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In context of bench trial, evidence should not be excluded under Rule 403 on ground that it is unfairly prejudicial since district court can hear relevant evidence, weigh its probative value, and reject any improper inferences; Rule was designed to keep evidence not germane to any issue outside purview of jury's consideration. Schultz v Butcher (1994, CA4 Va) 24 F3d 626, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1165.

In negligence action by passenger of small passenger boat, evidence of operator's consumption of alcohol was improperly excluded as more prejudicial than probative in bench trial, and its exclusion was not harmless error since operator's consumption of alcohol was relevant to his perceptive abilities at the time of the accident and determination of comparative fault among plaintiff, operator, and larger passenger vessel whose wake smaller boat crossed, resulting in plaintiff's injury. Schultz v Butcher (1994, CA4 Va) 24 F3d 626, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1165.

Any error in admitting government witness's testimony that defendant conducted her affairs like rat or snake and was low person capable of anything, even murder, was harmless in light of overwhelming evidence against defendant and fact that defense counsel tried to bring out witness's prejudices against defendant on cross-examination. United States v Whittington (1994, CA4 NC) 26 F3d 456.

Evidence that defendant charged with manufacture and possession of destructive device falsely told her friends and acquaintances that she suffered from and was undergoing treatment for cancer was unfairly prejudicial and should not have been admitted since its probative value was slight and it was not admissible to impeach defendant's credibility. United States v Brooke (1993, CA9 Ariz) 4 F3d 1480, 93 CDOS 6987, 93 Daily Journal DAR 11921, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1019.

In prosecution of defendant for mail and wire fraud arising out of agreements to place her unborn child with victims for adoption, defendant should have been permitted to question one victim witness about her movie contract since it might have affected victim's testimony both because of pecuniary benefit to her of guilty verdict and because of nonpecuniary benefit of favorable portrayal in movie, and information regarding movie contract was only prejudicial in as much as it revealed potential reason for witness to distort truth relating to her experiences with defendant. United States v Dees (1994, CA9 Cal) 34 F3d 838, 94 CDOS 6695, 94 Daily Journal DAR 12353.

In prosecution for receiving stolen property, officers' testimony that they were working as undercover narcotics agents and their testimony regarding criminal activity of individual other than defendant, but which related to officer's investigation of defendant, did not warrant mistrial, where trial court was in best position to determine if officers' testimony was prejudicial and comment relating to criminal activity of another was no more than background statement explaining why officer would have been talking to this individual during investigation and there was no indication that defendant was linked in any way with theft of any of vehicles purchased from other individual. State v Fleischer (1994, Mo App) 873 SW2d 310.

The trial court did not err in a noncapital murder prosecution by excluding under GS § 8C-1, Rule 403 the pretrial statements of a codefendant who had not yet been tried who invoked the Fifth Amendment when called by defendant where the probative value of the statements was slight and the trial court specifically found the statements to be untrustworthy. The admission of a statement that is so clearly false and that was made by a witness who is unavailable to testify or be cross-examined would have been misleading to the jury. State v Brown (1994) 335 NC 477, 439 SE2d 589.

There was no prejudicial error in a noncapital prosecution for first-degree murder, armed robbery, first- degree burglary, and second- degree arson where defendant's teacher testified on direct examination that there was an odor of feces about defendant in the classroom two days after the crime and that she thought he had had a bowel movement, which he did when under stress, and testified on cross-examination that this had happened to defendant fifteen or twenty a times in the past. The testimony had little probative value but did not have a tendency to prejudice defendant. State v Beamer (1994) 339 NC 477, 451 SE2d 190.

Any error was harmless beyond a reasonable doubt in a first- degree murder sentencing hearing where the trial court sustained the State's objection to defendant's question to defendant's psychotherapist concerning the witness's opinion of defendant as a friend and defense counsel concluded his questioning of the witness without an offer of proof. Even assuming that the issue was properly preserved for review, the jury heard testimony from numerous witnesses, including defendant's sister and his minister, about his good character, his quest for self-improvement while incarcerated, and his leadership role within his family. The excluded testimony would have been merely cumulative. State v Miller (1995) 339 NC 663, 455 SE2d 137.

In a will contest action the admission of evidence concerning theocratic warfare and allegations that Jehovah's Witnesses would lie to protect their congregation was improperly permitted, where although questions regarding the witness's affiliation with the Jehovah's Witnesses and work he had performed for the church were permissible to show bias, the remainder of the questions amounted to an attack on the tenets of the Jehovah's Witnesses' beliefs, and this tactic went beyond the issue of bias, focused on credibility, and violated the principles of relevancy, unfair prejudice, religious freedom, tolerance, and personal privacy that underlie Evid R 610. Redman v Watch Tower Bible & Tract Soc'y, 69 OS3d 98, 630 NE2d 676, reh den 69 OS3d 1445, 632 NE2d 913.

Evidence is unduly prejudicial when it threatens fundamental goals of accuracy and fairness of trial by misleading jury or by influencing jury to decide case on improper basis, and unfairness attaches if evidence tends to influence outcome by improper means, or it appeals to jury's sympathies, arouses its sense of horror, promotes its desire to punish, or otherwise causes jury to base its decision on extraneous considerations. State v Patricia A. M. (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 542, 500 NW2d 289.

Question of whether otherwise admissible evidence is nevertheless unfairly prejudicial rests with discretion of circuit court. Johnson by Adler v Kokemoor (1996) 199 Wis 2d 615, 545 NW2d 495.

In prosecution for sexual abuse of child, testimony of sheriff and sheriff's wife regarding victim's allegations against defendant, which victim made after improper influence arose, should not have been admitted as substantive evidence; however, defendant failed to timely object, and testimony was not equivocal violation of clear rule of law, and did not result in substantial prejudice to defendant. Frenzel v State (1993, Wyo) 849 P2d 741.

Drug dealer's motions to exclude evidence of his gang affiliation and of police officers' commendations, awards, and honors are granted, where dealer sues officers under § 1983 alleging police brutality, because prejudicial effect of evidence of gang affiliation substantially outweighs any probative value, and court finds no merit in officers' claim that evidence of their awards would be relevant to rebutting evidence of their prior acts of misconduct since such evidence would more likely serve improper function of showing their character for purpose of proving action in conformity therewith on night in question. Charles v Cotter (1994, ND Ill) 867 F Supp 648.

Footnotes

Footnote 18. § 324.

Footnote 19. Gross v Black & Decker (U.S.), Inc. (CA5 Tex) 695 F2d 858, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9498, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 716; Crawford v Edmonson (CA7 Ill) 764 F2d 479, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 415, cert den 474 US 905, 88 L Ed 2d 234, 106 S Ct 273; United States v Bailleaux (CA9 Cal) 685 F2d 1105, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1300; Cohn v Papke (CA9 Cal) 655 F2d 191, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1362.

Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Propriety under Rule 403 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, permitting exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, of attack on credibility of witness for party, 48 ALR Fed 390.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion—To exclude evidence of other crimes—Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 20. Christensen v Economy Fire & Casualty Co., 77 Wis 2d 50, 252 NW2d 81.

Footnote 21. Empire Gas Corp. v American Bakeries Co. (ND Ill) 646 F Supp 269, later proceeding (ND Ill) 1987 US Dist LEXIS 1324.

Footnote 22. United States v Bailleaux (CA9 Cal) 685 F2d 1105, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1300.

Footnote 23. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Footnote 24. United States v Robinson (CA2 NY) 560 F2d 507, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 752, cert den 435 US 905, 55 L Ed 2d 496, 98 S Ct 1451.

Footnote 25. United States v Ingraham (CA1 Me) 832 F2d 229, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 259, cert den 486 US 1009, 100 L Ed 2d 202, 108 S Ct 1738; Pine Crest Preparatory School, Inc. v Phelan (CA4 SC) 557 F2d 407, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 96; Gross v Black & Decker (U.S.), Inc. (CA5 Tex) 695 F2d 858, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9498, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 716; Dollar v Long Mfg., N. C., Inc. (CA5 Ga) 561 F2d 613, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 760, 24 FR Serv 2d 408, reh den (CA5 Ga) 565 F2d 163 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 565 F2d 163 and cert den 435 US 996, 56 L Ed 2d 85, 98 S Ct 1648; Koloda v General Motors Parts Div., General Motors Corp. (CA6 Ohio) 716 F2d 373, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9804, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1567; Crawford v Edmonson (CA7 Ill) 764 F2d 479, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 415, cert den 474 US 905, 88 L Ed 2d 234, 106 S Ct 273; United States v Bailleaux (CA9 Cal) 685 F2d 1105, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1300; Cohn v Papke (CA9 Cal) 655 F2d 191, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1362; Borden, Inc. v Florida E. C. R. Co. (CA11 Fla) 772 F2d 750, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 33, 3 FR Serv 3d 1360.

Footnote 26. United States v McNeese (CA7 Wis) 901 F2d 585, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383.

Fact that evidence was detrimental or damaging, and therefore prejudicial does not necessarily make it "unfairly prejudicial." United States v Russell (CA1 Mass) 919 F2d 795.

Footnote 27. United States v McRae (CA5 Tex) 593 F2d 700, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 503, reh den (CA5 Tex) 597 F2d 283 and cert den 444 US 862, 62 L Ed 2d 83, 100 S Ct 128.

Rules of Evidence do not preclude admission of evidence where its relevance is not substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice. State v Kalani, 3 Hawaii App 334, 649 P2d 1188.

Footnote 28. United States v Dixon (CA11 Fla) 698 F2d 445, 83-1 USTC ¶ 9213, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 610, 51 AFTR 2d 83-995.

Footnote 29. United States v Vandersee (CA3 NJ) 279 F2d 176, cert den 364 US 943, 5 L Ed 2d 374, 81 S Ct 463.

Footnote 30. Bunten v Davis, 82 NH 304, 133 A 16, 45 ALR 1409; State v Whitener, 228 SC 244, 89 SE2d 701, cert den 350 US 861, 100 L Ed 764, 76 S Ct 101.

Footnote 31. State v King, 111 Kan 140, 206 P 883, 22 ALR 1006.

◆ Observation: "Gruesome" evidence frequently takes the form of photographs. As to the excludability of demonstrative evidence as prejudicial, see § 335.

Footnote 32. McKay v State, 90 Neb 63, 132 NW 741, mod 91 Neb 281, 135 NW 1024; Deitz v Providence Washington Ins. Co., 33 W Va 526, 11 SE 50.

Footnote 33. Saturn Mfg., Inc. v Williams Patent Crusher & Pulverizer Co. (CA8 Mo) 713 F2d 1347, 219 USPQ 533, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1892, later proceeding (ED Mo) 598 F Supp 760, affd (CA FC) 767 F2d 882, 226 USPQ 515 (movie of device which allegedly infringed plaintiff's patent excluded when movie was first discovered during second week of trial).

Footnote 34. United States v Castellano (SD NY) 610 F Supp 1359, later proceeding (SD NY) 632 F Supp 1019, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA2 NY) 811 F2d 47, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 586, cert den 482 US 929, 96 L Ed 2d 701, 107 S Ct 3214 and cert den 483 US 1007, 97 L Ed 2d 739, 107 S Ct 3233, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 847 F2d 42.

Footnote 35. Dolan, Rule 403: The Prejudice Rule in Evidence, 49 So Cal L Rev 220, 238-239 (1976).

§ 332 --Unfairness to prosecution

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Most courts take the position that under FRE Rule 403 evidence offered by a criminal defendant that is otherwise relevant may be excluded where its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice to the prosecution. 36 Thus, in a prosecution for conspiring to violate the civil rights of another, the trial court properly granted the prosecution's motion in limine barring defense counsel from mentioning, or soliciting information during direct or cross-examination of any witness concerning defendant's acquittal in a previous trial. 37 On the other hand, some courts take the position that the danger of unfair prejudice referred to in FRE Rule 403 is danger of prejudice to a criminal defendant and not to the prosecution. 38

Footnotes

Footnote 36. United States v Fosher (CA1 Mass) 590 F2d 381, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 552; United States v Wilson (CA2 NY) 750 F2d 7, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1114, cert den 479 US 839, 93 L Ed 2d 85, 107 S Ct 143; United States v Stanfa (CA3 Pa) 685 F2d 85, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 87; United States v Sellers (CA4 SC) 566 F2d 884, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 840; United States v Burton (CA5 Tex) 737 F2d 439, 84-2 USTC ¶ 9689, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1925, 54 AFTR 2d 84-5770; United States v Cole (CA5 Ga) 670 F2d 35, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 46; United States v Johnson (CA5 La) 558 F2d 744, 77-2 USTC ¶ 9622, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 447, 40 AFTR 2d 77-5701, reh den (CA5 La) 562 F2d 1258 and cert den 434 US 1065, 55 L Ed 2d 766, 98 S Ct 1241; United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558; United States v Bear Ribs (CA8 SD) 722 F2d 420, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1113, 76 ALR Fed 691; United States v Silverman (CA11 Fla) 745 F2d 1386, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1316.

Footnote 37. United States v Irvin (CA11 Ga) 787 F2d 1506, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 749.

Footnote 38. Government of Virgin Islands v Carino (CA3 VI) 631 F2d 226, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 967; United States v Smith (CA6 Ohio) 736 F2d 1103, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1398, cert den 469 US 868, 83 L Ed 2d 143, 105 S Ct 213 (District Court erred in refusing to allow expert testimony for the defense about reliability of eyewitness identifications).

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

§ 333 Prejudice as outweighing probative value

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A finding of slight probative value is insufficient to warrant exclusion of evidence, in and of itself; prejudice from its admission must substantially outweigh that value. 39 However, evidence having little or no probative value on any issue is easily outweighed by any prejudicial effect inherent in it. 40

In reaching a decision whether to exclude evidence on grounds of unfair prejudice, the court should give consideration to the probable effectiveness or lack of effectiveness of a limiting instruction, 41 and the availability of other means of proof 42 or other evidence on the same issues already in the case. 43

§ 333 ----Prejudice as outweighing probative value [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Defendants charged with drug and firearms offenses were not unduly prejudiced by trial court's admission of folder consisting of defendant's booking photographs alongside photographs of guns and cocaine discovered near them; photos were relevant since they showed condition of evidence when it was discovered, and, although array might have prematurely connected defendants with contraband, jury was informed of how array was compiled and thus could not have concluded that defendants possessed contraband simply because their photographs were stapled alongside those of contraband, and government eventually presented overwhelming evidence connecting defendants to guns and cocaine depicted in array. United States v Lewis (1994, CA1 Mass) 40 F3d 1325.

Defense counsel's eliciting from witness reference to inmate's prior confinement in institution for mentally ill, in violation of trial court's ruling not to refer to civil rights plaintiff's psychiatric history, constituted reversible error; it risked undermining plaintiff's credibility in close case dependent on parties' conflicting testimony, and curative instruction was insufficient remedy given prejudicial factors and fact that retrial would not take long. Davidson v Smith (1993, CA2 NY) 9 F3d 4.

Admission of evidence of fight between defendant's gang and rival gang was not abuse of discretion; it was neither cumulative nor prejudicial since existence of gang had not yet been firmly established by prior evidence and was one of only two intercepted conversations in which one defendant took part, thus useful in connecting him to gang. United States v Wong (1994, CA2 NY) 40 F3d 1347.

Cocaine distribution conspirator was properly precluded from cross-examining testifying coconspirator about his sexual life since it was not probative of his character for truthfulness but exactly type of cross-examination strategy that impairs search for truth and harasses, annoys or humiliates the witness. United States v McMillon (1994, CA4 Va) 14 F3d 948, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1334.

Although allowing defendant's probation officer to testify was not per se violation of Rule, allowing him to state his occupation was unduly prejudicial, but harmless in light of overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt. United States v Pace (1993, CA5 Tex) 10 F3d 1106.

Defendant was properly precluded from cross-examining police officer about statements defendant made upon his arrest since statements about codefendant having additional drugs at residence were inadmissible hearsay as against codefendant in joint trial, and danger of unfair prejudice outweighed probative value. United States v Winston (1994, CA6 Tenn) 37 F3d 235, 1994 FED App 346p.

District court did not abuse its discretion in excluding as more prejudicial than probative evidence that medical malpractice defendant had failed board examinations. McGeshick v Choucair (1993, CA7 Wis) 9 F3d 1229.

Although evidence that defendant's medical license had been suspended 8 years earlier for overprescribing percodan was arguably relevant to whether defendant provided negligent treatment by failing to properly diagnose and hospitalize plaintiff's decedent two days before his death, danger of unfair prejudice outweighed it; license suspension was remote and did not arise out of same or similar circumstances as incident at issue. King v Ahrens (1994, CA8 Ark) 16 F3d 265, 43 Soc Sec Rep Serv 602, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1356, reh den (CA8) 1994 US App LEXIS 4239.

Admission of robbery victim's testimony was not more prejudicial than probative since not many questions were asked of victim, questions asked and answers elicited were not communicated in manner likely to appeal to jurors' emotions, and testimony was offered to prove factual issues that were in dispute and to present jury with complete picture of events that constituted crime charged. United States v Washington (1994, CA8 Mo) 17 F3d 230, reh, en banc, den (CA8 Mo) 1994 US App LEXIS 8076 and petition for certiorari filed (Jun 14, 1994).

Trial court did not err in excluding evidence of sale price offered by potential purchaser of shopping mall prior to discovery of asbestos and price for which mall sold after asbestos was removed since it was not probative of loss suffered by owners because it did not show value of property before it was diminished by presence of asbestos nor cost of repair or removal, and evidence was potentially very prejudicial since jury could have understood it to show that, despite any loss occasioned by removal and replacement of asbestos, mall was very lucrative. Perlmutter v United States Gypsum Co. (1993, CA10 Colo) 4 F3d 864, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13669.

In manslaughter prosecution, tape recording of defendant's call to his former wife for emergency help was properly admitted where, although some language in tape was inflammatory, it was not so prejudicial as to outweigh probative value; tape was relevant to prove defendant's intent and supported defense theories of provocation and accident. Blackmon v State (1990, Ala App) 574 So 2d 1037, reh den, without op (Ala App) 1990 Ala Crim App LEXIS 2103.

Even if hearsay testimony was not used to prove the truth of the matter asserted, the inherently prejudicial effect of admitting into evidence an out-of-court statement relating accusatory information to establish the logical sequence of events outweighed the probative value of such evidence, where accused was convicted of armed burglary, 3 counts of sexual battery with a deadly weapon, and armed robbery with a firearm, and although a police dispatch report indicating that an unidentified informant had called to report that a man with a rifle was chasing a female down the street was admitted to show why the officer had been dispatched to the scene, the State linked the report with other evidence to establish that accused had used a rifle to commit the offenses, because the contents of the statement were not relevant to establish a logical sequence of events, nor was the reason why officers arrived at the scene a material issue in the case. Conley v State (1993, Fla) 620 So 2d 180, 18 FLW S 298.

In drug prosecution, authenticated tape recording was properly admitted, even though tape contained minimal profanity, where profanity was not so prejudicial as to outweigh probative value. McCollum v State (1991, Ind) 582 NE2d 804, reh den (May 6, 1992).

Sounds recorded before, during, and after murder of daughter were properly admitted in prosecution against mother where her words betrayed both her state of mind during murder and her participation in it, and allowed jury to infer criminal intent; tape was highly probative and only potential prejudice was that it let jury hear truth firsthand. State v Isa (1993, Mo) 850 SW2d 876.

In prosecution for numerous counts of sexual abuse of young males, admission of evidence of acts of sexual abuse that were not subject of trial and that involved other alleged victims required reversal, where other-acts evidence was not so interrelated to charged crime that proof of one tended to establish other, and probative value of evidence was far outweighed by its prejudicial effect. State v Conley (1994, Mo) 873 SW2d 233.

In a prosecution of defendant inmates for the murder of a fellow inmate wherein defendants contended that another inmate killed the victim because he was afraid the victim would kill him, and the other inmate testified to this effect, evidence that the victim had twice been convicted of murder was not admissible under Rule 404(a)(2) as a pertinent character trait of the victim since neither defendant relied on self-defense or any other justifiable homicide which would have made the victim's character pertinent; and evidence that the victim had been convicted of two murders, in support of defendants' theory that another inmate killed the victim, would be more prejudicial than probative after the other inmate testified that he committed the murder but did not contend that he killed in self-defense. State v Leazer (1994) 337 NC 454, 446 SE2d 54.

Testimony by two defense witnesses, a police officer and a poolroom owner, was properly excluded from a murder trial on the ground that the probative value thereof was substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice where the testimony would have shown that the officer was called to investigate shots fired outside a poolroom, the murder victim attempted to hide behind a truck, a .380 semiautomatic weapon was found behind the truck, and the poolroom owner told the officer he did not want the victim on his premises, since the testimony did not show that the victim did the shooting or that anyone other than defendant had a motive to kill him, and the testimony was prejudicial to the State. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403. State v McCray (1995) 342 NC 123, 463 SE2d 176.

The trial court erred in an automobile accident case by denying plaintiffs' motion in limine and in allowing defendants to introduce evidence of mini bottles of white lightning found at the scene where the officer who found the bottles in one driver's purse testified that he had no reason to believe that alcohol consumption contributed to the accident and the driver testified that she did not remember the accident or putting the bottles in her purse. Although defendants assert that the evidence was offered to impeach the driver in that her memory was "somewhat selective," the testimony concerning the bottles was elicited on at least ten occasions. The possible prejudicial effect of the evidence exceeded any probative value that the evidence may have had. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 402; G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403. Browning v Carolina Power & Light Co. (1994) 114 NC App 229, 441 SE2d 607.

Trial court in murder prosecution abused its discretion in admitting photographs of victim, who was burned, showing charred, cracked figure with areas of red, subcutaneous yellow, and bone, and showing absence of some limbs, heavy charring around stumps, and barely recognizable skull, where photographs were not necessary to prosecution of case, since medical examiner did not rely on them in presetting his testimony, cause of death was not incineration, but was asphyxiation, and photographs were so hideous and repulsive that they provoked immediate, prejudicially emotional response. Livingston v State (1995, Okla Crim) 907 P2d 1088.

In prosecution for murder, burglary, and rape, trial court did not abuse its discretion in admitting, under residual hearsay rule, evidence of statements made by murder victim; some such statements had been made to police officers in their official capacity, which fact supported their veracity. Statements made to friends were reliable due to personal nature of subject matter of statements and to corroboratory physical evidence. All such statements were relevant to issues of defendant's motive and/or identity and, although some statements were prejudicial, they were not unfairly so for limited purpose for which they were received. State v Davi (1993, SD) 504 NW2d 844.

Under statute, trial court is given broad discretion to exclude evidence where its probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice and other factors (Stats § 904.03). Ollhoff v Peck (1993, App) 177 Wis 2d 719, 503 NW2d 323, review den (Wis) 508 NW2d 423.

Footnotes

Footnote 39. United States v Robinson (CA2 NY) 544 F2d 611, on reh (CA2 NY) 560

F2d 507, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 752, cert den 435 US 905, 55 L Ed 2d 496, 98 S Ct 1451; United States v Smith (CA6 Ohio) 736 F2d 1103, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1398, cert den 469 US 868, 83 L Ed 2d 143, 105 S Ct 213.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Footnote 40. United States v Bell (CA8 Minn) 573 F2d 1040, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 302, 44 ALR Fed 617.

Footnote 41. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Forms: Instruction—Jury not to be influenced by sympathy, passion, or prejudice. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:926.

Footnote 42. United States v Cook (CA5 Tex) 557 F2d 1149, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1056, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 767, 98 S Ct 744 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 877, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 553, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847.

Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 403.

Footnote 43. United States v Toner (CA2 NY) 728 F2d 115, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 66; United States v MacDonald (CA4 NC) 688 F2d 224, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 474, cert den 459 US 1103, 74 L Ed 2d 951, 103 S Ct 726, habeas corpus proceeding (ED NC) 640 F Supp 286, later proceeding (ED NC) 607 F Supp 1183 and affd (CA4 NC) 779 F2d 962, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151, cert den 479 US 813, 93 L Ed 2d 22, 107 S Ct 63, habeas corpus den (ED NC) 778 F Supp 1342, affd (CA4 NC) 966 F2d 854, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 542, 113 S Ct 606; United States v Milstead (CA5 La) 671 F2d 950, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 167; United States v Garza (CA7 Ill) 664 F2d 135, cert den 455 US 993, 71 L Ed 2d 854, 102 S Ct 1620; United States v Steffen (CA8 Mo) 641 F2d 591, cert den 452 US 943, 69 L Ed 2d 959, 101 S Ct 3091.

§ 334 Effect of stipulation

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

An offer to stipulate to certain evidence is a factor to be considered in carrying out the FRE Rule 403 balancing test, 44 since an important consideration relating to probative value is the prosecutorial need for such evidence, 45 and a trial court should seriously consider offers to stipulate in deciding whether to exclude or admit evidence under FRE Rule 403. 46 However, a piece of evidence can have probative value even in the event of an offer to stipulate to the issue on which the evidence is offered. 47 Where a stipulation may lessen the government's need for extensive evidence on the issue in question but the jury would still be unable to understand the government's theory of the case without the evidence, the decision to admit the evidence is not improper. 48

Determining the weight to be given an offer to stipulate in the balancing process is committed to the sound discretion of the trial court, tempered by the particular facts presented. 49 The court has the power to require the government to accept a tendered stipulation in whole or in part as well as to permit it to reject the offer to stipulate in its entirety. 50

◆ Observation: Under FRE Rule 403, when read in light of FRE Rule 102, a court may condition exclusion of unduly prejudicial evidence on a stipulation by the defendant as to aspects of the evidence which are relevant but less prejudicial in nature. 51 While eliminating references to the prejudicial material and removing the risk of inciting the jury, a stipulation can afford the jury a concrete basis for an inference of guilt and any remaining ambiguity may be intelligently evaluated by the jury in light of other evidence. 52

◆ Practice guide: Counsel should not rely upon a stipulation or an offer to stipulate as a sure-fire device to prevent reception of evidence. 53 However, in seeking to preclude the admission of evidence on the ground that there is already a stipulation or an offer to stipulate with respect thereto, counsel should point out the generous attitude of the court in considering offers to stipulate in deciding whether to admit or reject evidence under FRE Rule 403. 54

§ 334 ----Effect of stipulation [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In a prosecution for 2 murders in which evidence of the pregnancy of one murder victim was admitted both because the police used the presence of fetal remains in the pelvic area of the victim's skeleton to identify the victim and in order to establish that the victim, as well as the other victim and the victim of a later rape, were all tall, heavy black women, the court would reject the contention that the evidence was not relevant as the defendant admitted to the killing and because the defense stipulated to the identity of the victim since the Commonwealth never agreed to stipulate to the identity of the victim and was not required to do so. Commonwealth v Miller (1995, Pa) 664 A2d 1310, petition for certiorari filed (Nov 21, 1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 44. United States v Grassi (CA5 Fla) 602 F2d 1192, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 992, reh den (CA5 Fla) 606 F2d 321 and vacated on other grounds 448 US 902, 65 L Ed 2d 1131, 100 S Ct 3041, on remand (CA5 Fla) 626 F2d 444, cert den 450 US 956, 67 L Ed 2d 381, 101 S Ct 1415; United States v O'Shea (CA11 Ga) 724 F2d 1514, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1548.

As to stipulating to prior convictions or the like, see § 420.

Footnote 45. United States v Spletzer (CA5 Tex) 535 F2d 950, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 218; United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422, later proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 886, post-conviction proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 890, affd in part and remanded in part on other grounds (CA8 ND) 731 F2d 550, on remand (DC ND) 609 F Supp 1143, affd (CA8 ND) 800 F2d 772, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1017, cert den 484 US 822, 98 L Ed 2d 46, 108 S Ct 84, post-conviction proceeding, motion gr (DC Kan) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 2644, affd (CA8 SD) 997 F2d 461, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 20526.

Footnote 46. United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422, later proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 886, post-conviction proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 890, affd in part and remanded in part on other grounds (CA8 ND) 731 F2d 550, on remand (DC ND) 609 F Supp 1143, affd (CA8 ND) 800 F2d 772, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1017, cert den 484 US 822, 98 L Ed 2d 46, 108 S Ct 84, post-conviction proceeding, motion gr (DC Kan) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 2644, affd (CA8 SD) 997 F2d 461, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 20526.

Footnote 47. United States v Davis (CA5 Miss) 792 F2d 1299, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 762, cert den 479 US 964, 93 L Ed 2d 409, 107 S Ct 464 (District Court did not abuse discretion in prosecution for possessing firearms in interstate commerce after having been convicted of felony, by admitting evidence about previous seizure of two of defendant's firearms by police department and that defendant paid to obtain release of firearms, despite defendant's offer to stipulate to interstate commerce element, especially since evidence was relevant to other issues as well).

Footnote 48. United States v Pedroza (CA2 NY) 750 F2d 187, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1150, appeal after remand (CA2 NY) 790 F2d 254, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 848, cert den 479 US 842, 93 L Ed 2d 92, 107 S Ct 151 (evidence of prior cocaine transaction admissible on issue of motive for kidnapping charged in instant case).

Footnote 49. United States v Grassi (CA5 Fla) 602 F2d 1192, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 992, reh den (CA5 Fla) 606 F2d 321 and vacated 448 US 902, 65 L Ed 2d 1131, 100 S Ct 3041, on remand (CA5 Fla) 626 F2d 444, cert den 450 US 956, 67 L Ed 2d 381, 101 S Ct 1415; United States v Lowe (CA10 NM) 569 F2d 1113, cert den 435 US 932, 55 L Ed 2d 529, 98 S Ct 1507.

Footnote 50. United States v Grassi (CA5 Fla) 602 F2d 1192, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 992, reh den (CA5 Fla) 606 F2d 321 and vacated 448 US 902, 65 L Ed 2d 1131, 100 S Ct 3041, on remand (CA5 Fla) 626 F2d 444, cert den 450 US 956, 67 L Ed 2d 381, 101 S Ct 1415.

Footnote 51. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56; United States v Cook (CA3 Del) 538 F2d 1000, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 272 (government could ask defendant to stipulate that he had been convicted of felony, thereby avoiding undue prejudice from introduction of proof of sodomy conviction).

For a discussion of FRE Rule 102, regarding the construction of the Federal Rules of Evidence, see §§ 20 et seq.

Footnote 52. United States v Jackson (ED NY) 405 F Supp 938, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56.

Footnote 53. United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422, later proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 886, post-conviction proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 890, affd in part and remanded in part on other grounds (CA8 ND) 731 F2d 550, on remand (DC ND) 609 F Supp 1143, affd (CA8 ND) 800 F2d 772, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1017, cert den 484 US 822, 98 L Ed 2d 46, 108 S Ct 84, post-conviction proceeding, motion gr (DC Kan) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 2644, affd (CA8 SD) 997 F2d 461, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 20526; United States v Lowe (CA10 NM) 569 F2d 1113, cert den 435 US 932, 55 L Ed 2d 529, 98 S Ct 1507.

Footnote 54. United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422, later proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 886, post-conviction proceeding on other grounds (DC ND) 553 F Supp 890, affd in part and remanded in part on other grounds (CA8 ND) 731 F2d 550, on remand (DC ND) 609 F Supp 1143, affd (CA8 ND) 800 F2d 772, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1017, cert den 484 US 822, 98 L Ed 2d 46, 108 S Ct 84, post-conviction proceeding, motion gr (DC Kan) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 2644, affd (CA8 SD) 997 F2d 461, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 20526.

b. Excludability of Particular Kinds of Evidence as Prejudicial [335-346]

§ 335 Demonstrative evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Courts should refuse the admission of demonstrative evidence when it is likely to confuse the jury, or is more prejudicial than probative. ⁵⁵ Courts may consider whether demonstrative evidence is merely cumulative and illustrative of issues already introduced and therefore not prejudicial, or whether it is unique evidence of a factual assertion and potentially prejudicial, in determining whether evidence is more prejudicial than probative. ⁵⁶

Where evidence of a defendant's guilt is less than overwhelming, admission of a photograph which on its face implies prior criminal conduct on a defendant's part is an abuse of discretion. ⁵⁷ Also excluded was a defendant's accent exemplar which the defendant sought to present without subjecting himself to cross-examination, following testimony by a government witness that he did not recall whether the person who sold him cocaine had spoken with any distinctive accent, the court concluding that there was a possibility that the government would be unfairly prejudiced or the jury misled. ⁵⁸

A courtroom experiment may be disallowed under FRE Rule 403 if the conditions of the proposed experiment differ substantially from the actual event which the experiment is supposed to duplicate. 59 And in a products liability action against a manufacturer brought by administratrix of user of snuff tobacco, it was not an abuse of discretion to hold a videotaped deposition of a severely disfigured post-surgical cancer patient inadmissible in the absence of any evidence that the patient's oral cancer was caused by the use of snuff. 60 Similarly, it has been held that a trial court should exercise caution when ruling upon the admissibility of a filmed reenactment in a criminal case since a filmed reenactment of a particular event has the potential to cause great prejudice. 61

On the other hand, exhibits used for demonstration purposes are admissible if they are more probative than prejudicial. 62 For example, if relevant, the inflammatory nature of photographs does not necessarily outweigh the probative value. 63

§ 335 ----Demonstrative evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court properly excluded taped telephone conversation among cocaine distribution defendant's coconspirators as more prejudicial than probative, despite defendant's claim that evidence was relevant to show he did not voluntarily agree to participate in conspiracy, since conversation did not mention defendant or his position in conspiracy, was replete with derogatory and explicit language and thus inflammatory and prejudicial, and was cumulative of other evidence before jury regarding one coconspirator's demeanor. United States v Logan (1995, CA8 Mo) 49 F3d 352, reh den (1995, CA8 Mo) 1995 US App LEXIS 7624.

There was no error in a first- degree murder resentencing hearing from the introduction of photographs of the cellblock in which defendant had lived since 1985 and the argument that defendant was under a twenty-four hour watch in the most secure cell block in the most secure prison in the State of North Carolina. Defendant requested several mitigating circumstances based on his time in confinement, and it was clear from defendant's evidence that he had been in maximum security in Central Prison for six or more years dating roughly from the time of the murder. If the jury learned from defendant's evidence that he had previously received a death sentence, defendant cannot be heard to complain that the State argued against mitigation from that same evidence. State v Spruill (1994) 338 NC 612, 452 SE2d 279.

Footnotes

Footnote 55. Jenkins v Snohomish County Public Utility Dist. No. 1, 105 Wash 2d 99, 713 P2d 79.

Footnote 56. Jenkins v Snohomish County Public Utility Dist. No. 1, 105 Wash 2d 99, 713 P2d 79.

Footnote 57. United States v Fosher (CA1 Mass) 568 F2d 207, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 537, appeal after remand (CA1 Mass) 590 F2d 381, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 552.

Footnote 58. United States v Esdaille (CA2 NY) 769 F2d 104, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1125, cert den 474 US 923, 88 L Ed 2d 264, 106 S Ct 258.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 59. United States v Michelena-Orovio (CA5 La) 702 F2d 496, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1794, on reh (CA5 La) 719 F2d 738, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 123, cert den 465 US 1104, 80 L Ed 2d 135, 104 S Ct 1605.

Footnote 60. Marsee v United States Tobacco Co. (CA10 Okla) 866 F2d 319, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12023, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 694 (holding that danger of unfair prejudice to defendant far outweighed probative value of deposition).

Footnote 61. State v Leroux, 133 NH 781, 584 A2d 778.

Footnote 62. Palmer v Farmers Ins. Exch., 233 Mont 515, 761 P2d 401, related proceeding (Mont) 861 P2d 895 (where exhibits supplemented witness's spoken description of transpired event); Assadollah v State (Okla Crim) 632 P2d 1215 (drawing).

Footnote 63. Morris v State, 302 Ark 532, 792 SW2d 288; State v Kills on Top, 243 Mont 56, 793 P2d 1273, cert den (US) 115 L Ed 2d 1073, 111 S Ct 2910.

See Sudduth v State (Miss) 562 So 2d 67, stating that photographs of bodies may be admissible where they have probative value and are not so gruesome or used in such a way as to be overly prejudicial or inflammatory.

For examples of photographs found not unfairly prejudicial, see § 336.

§ 336 --Examples of demonstrative evidence found not prejudicial

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The courts have allowed the introduction of demonstrative evidence as against the contention that admission would result in unfair prejudice, 64 where the evidence consisted of:

- A kidnapped child brought into court for identification by its mother, since identification was relevant and its probative value substantially outweighed the danger of unfair prejudice to the defendant 65
- In a prosecution for fleeing a peace officer and criminal mischief, the use of an overhead projector to illustrate the route of a 14-mile chase of defendant, where it may have helped the jury to determine whether the defendant willfully drove through a beanfield during the chase 66

- Photographs of the alleged victim in a prosecution for assaulting a witness, since the extent of the injuries was an issue in the case, and such photographs, although stark, were not so gruesome or sensational as to be unduly prejudicial 67

- Photographs of dead prisoner, in his estate's civil rights action, despite their possible prejudicial effect since they were highly probative of the assertion that he called for help before his death and that his injuries were so obvious before his death that he should have received medical attention 68

- Photographs of inmate's body as evidence of conscious pain and suffering, in civil rights case arising from stabbing death of inmate 69

- Photographs of defendant's tattooed torso and testimony about his motorcycle club membership, which was allegedly used for purposes of inflaming the jury, since the evidence was used to prove that defendant owned a briefcase in which police discovered notes of drug transactions, business cards for tattoo parlors, and motorcycle club brochure 70

- Photographs of dead victims of a bank robbery, which were highly probative of the issue as to whether the killings were in the course of the robbery and whose admission outweighed their potential inflammatory effect 71

- Handguns found in defendant's car and bullet found in codefendant's home, in prosecution for bank robbery, bank larceny, and assault during bank robbery, since such evidence did not constitute other bad acts evidence but was probative of crimes charged against defendants 72

The display of drugs or drug-related evidence has frequently been held not prejudicial under the circumstances. 73

It has been stated that admitting drug courier profile testimony for the limited purpose of providing the jury with a full and accurate portrayal of the events surrounding customs officials' stop of defendant greatly reduces the potential for unfair prejudice and thus cannot amount to plain error. 74 But in a prosecution for trying to board a plane carrying a firearm, it was error to admit evidence of drug courier profile in the absence of evidence linking the defendant to the drug trade. 75

Footnotes

Footnote 64. § 335.

Footnote 65. United States v Lowe (CA10 NM) 569 F2d 1113, cert den 435 US 932, 55 L Ed 2d 529, 98 S Ct 1507.

Footnote 66. State v Erdman (ND) 422 NW2d 808.

Footnote 67. United States v Bailey (CA5 Tex) 537 F2d 845, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1186, cert den 429 US 1051, 50 L Ed 2d 767, 97 S Ct 764.

Footnote 68. Shahid v Detroit (CA6 Mich) 889 F2d 1543, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 191.

Footnote 69. Walker v Norris (CA6 Tenn) 917 F2d 1449, reh den (CA6) 1990 US App LEXIS 22991.

Footnote 70. United States v Thomlinson (CA8 Mo) 897 F2d 971, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 908.

Footnote 71. United States v Brady (CA6 Tenn) 595 F2d 359, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 492, cert den 444 US 862, 62 L Ed 2d 84, 100 S Ct 129.

Footnote 72. United States v Colkley (CA4 Md) 899 F2d 297.

Footnote 73. United States v Arango-Correa (CA2 NY) 851 F2d 54, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 23 (no abuse of discretion in allowing display of 500 pounds of cocaine before jury where cocaine was principle physical evidence in case and court was careful to limit duration of display, thereby minimizing prejudicial impact of such large quantity); United States v Goff (CA5 Tex) 847 F2d 149, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1198, mod on other grounds, reh den, en banc (CA5) 1988 US App LEXIS 11253 and cert den 488 US 932, 102 L Ed 2d 341, 109 S Ct 324, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 884 F2d 574, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 919 F2d 936 (in prosecution on multiple counts relating to importations of marijuana and cocaine, District Court did not err in allowing government to introduce in evidence weapons belonging to defendant that were seized at time of his arrest since possession of weapons is highly probative as to accused drug trafficker's criminal intent as "tools of trade" and probative value clearly outweighed any likely prejudicial impact); United States v Gonzalez (CA7 Ill) 933 F2d 417, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1054 (physical display of 2,248 kilograms of cocaine seized from defendants was relevant to establish magnitude of conspiracy as well as fact that quantity of cocaine could not have been intended for personal use rather than for purpose of possession with intent to distribute on large scale); United States v Chambers (CA9 Cal) 918 F2d 1455, 90 CDOS 8331, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 881 (photographs demonstrating expensive manner of defendant's dress where such dress allegedly fit drug career profile, but where it was highly unlikely that jurors would attach same meaning to defendant's dress as would DEA agent); United States v Savinovich (CA9 Or) 845 F2d 834, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1060, cert den 488 US 943, 102 L Ed 2d 358, 109 S Ct 369 (evidence of scales or firearms, both probative of charged crime); United States v Martinez (CA10 Colo) 938 F2d 1078, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 794 (evidence of cocaine, machine gun, cash and scales were properly admitted in cocaine distribution prosecution, since, as "standard tools of drug trafficking," they were probative of crime charged).

In a prosecution for conspiracy to produce and manufacture marijuana with intent to distribute, admission into evidence of plant food, marijuana and its residue, seeds, issues of High Times magazine and camping gear was not unfairly prejudicial on the ground that items related primarily to personal use of marijuana, since plant food could have been used to cultivate and grow marijuana, residue was evidence that defendants were stripping marijuana plants, seeds were direct evidence of manufacture and production, and camping items linked defendants to campsite found near marijuana patches. United States v Bowling (CA6 Ky) 900 F2d 926, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 226, cert den 498 US 837, 112 L Ed 2d 79, 111 S Ct 109.

Footnote 74. United States v Gomez-Norena (CA9 Cal) 908 F2d 497, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 888, cert den 498 US 947, 112 L Ed 2d 326, 111 S Ct 363.

§ 337 Documentary evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

An intangible factor inherent in the admission of evidence when such admission is disputed is the danger that it may weigh more heavily upon the jurors because of the emphasis placed upon it by limiting instructions and arguments of counsel, a possibility which is heightened with documentary evidence, about which the jury may have a tendency to assume or infer too much just because it can be seen and read. 76 The danger of unfair prejudice is even more pronounced where the evidence is strongly suggestive of other wrongs. 77 Thus, in a police officer's civil suit charging city and certain employees with violation of his constitutional rights, the District Court did not err in refusing to admit the entire transcript of the police officer's disciplinary hearing where the court properly determined that some of the information was irrelevant and would be unfairly prejudicial and the defendants were able to present alternative evidence on all issues for which they argued the transcript was necessary. 78 And in a civil rights suit against police officers for allegedly falsifying plaintiff's breathalyzer test, evidence of prior reprimands against the officers was properly not admitted since officers' characters were not at issue and danger of unfair prejudice and confusion would outweigh any probative value. 79

On the other hand, examples of documentary evidence which the courts have admitted over objections that their admission resulted in unfair prejudice have included—

—written reports of government agents for the limited purpose of consideration by the jury with respect to the credibility of the agents' testimony concerning the reports. 80

—a notebook found on board a vessel manned by narcotics defendants, which contained the name of a company known to the DEA as a front for illicit drug smuggling. 81

—two Jamaican passports in defendant's name found in a room in which drugs were located where they were the only identification evidence linking the defendant to one of the rooms in an apartment in which drugs were found. 82

—a chemical catalog found in a storage locker rented by a defendant charged with manufacturing methamphetamine since it made the existence of the fact that the defendant had access to and/or knowledge of chemicals necessary for methamphetamine manufacture more likely than it would be without the evidence and its probative value was not substantially outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice to the defendant. 83

—a business card found in a narcotics defendant's luggage with a pager number. 84

—a computer printout from a disk obtained from the office of a drug exporter containing names and addresses of coconspirators, which was analogous to a conspirator's address book and probative of defendant's involvement in the conspiracy. 85

—a warning letter written by an expert witness used to impeach the witness. 86

—case control studies regarding toxic shock syndrome conducted by the Center for Disease Control and state health departments. 87

—an attorney's desk calendar indicating the time spent by the attorney in preparing a case in an action by the attorney for recovery of attorneys' fees. 88

—drug test results, showing a subway train operator may have been impaired by cocaine at the time plaintiff's decedent leaped in front of a train and to her death, since they were quite probative on key issue of whether the operator's conduct was "wanton," since he may have had time to stop and prevent the tragedy but could not due to voluntary drug use, where the danger of prejudice and confusion from the admission of the results was reducible through trial bifurcation and was substantially outweighed by the probativeness of evidence. 89

Under certain circumstances, a court may admit only an edited portion of a proffered document in order to avoid unfair prejudice. 90

◆ Observation: It has been noted that it is a matter of judgment whether to employ cautionary instructions or to exclude evidence. Courts can correctly infer that juries are able to follow instructions dealing with many noninflammatory subjects, but the disadvantage to a proffering party in having evidence stricken and prejudice to the adverse party in having it admitted must be weighed; if the curative qualities of instructions will really tip the scales in favor of understanding by the jury, then the court is justified in relying on the instructions. Good faith, as well as good judgment, is needed. 91

§ 337 ----Documentary evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Maine's Health Security Act, pursuant to which pretrial screening panel's findings are admissible in subsequent litigation if unanimous, applied in medical malpractice action under federal court's diversity jurisdiction; provisions were bound up with state's substantive decision to encourage early, inexpensive resolution of medical malpractice claims and did not conflict with Federal Rules of Evidence, and district court handled potential prejudicial effect of this very probative evidence by removing official seal of state court and its caption and giving appropriate cautionary instruction. Daigle v Maine Medical Ctr. (1994, CA1 NH) 14 F3d 684, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1044, app dismd (CA1) 1994 US App LEXIS 1501 and summary op at (CA1 NH) 22 M.L.W. 1090, 14 R.I.L.W. 784.

List of rate clerks in employer's St. Louis office delineating their age, race, gender, and seniority, was properly excluded by trial court in age discrimination action as more prejudicial than probative, even though list permitted inference that employer was aware of demographic data relevant to St. Louis clerks at time it decided to consolidate their work with that of rate clerks in other locations. Bradford v Norfolk S. Corp. (1995, CA8 Mo) 54 F3d 1412, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1157.

Probative value of documents showing suspension of defendant's insurance license was far outweighed by its potential for generating unfair prejudice against defendant on mail fraud or wire fraud counts in insurance fraud case, but error in admitting documents was harmless given overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt in insurance fraud case. United States v Sandow (1996, CA8 Mo) 78 F3d 388, reh, en banc, den (1996, CA8) 1996 US App LEXIS 9659.

Footnotes

Footnote 76. United States v Cook (CA5 Tex) 557 F2d 1149, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1056, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 767, 98 S Ct 744 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 877, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 553, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847.

Footnote 77. United States v Cook (CA5 Tex) 557 F2d 1149, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1056, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 767, 98 S Ct 744 and appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 877, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 553, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847.

In suit asserting claims of negligence and strict liability for injuries sustained while working as sand blaster aboard an offshore drilling platform, court did not err in excluding arrest record which noted plaintiff's weight as substantially less than what he claimed he weighed at the time of the accident, for purposes of challenging his contention that plaintiff lost weight after the accident, since unfair prejudice which the contents of the arrest record would have produced substantially outweighed its probative value. Williams v Chevron U.S.A., Inc. (CA5 La) 875 F2d 501, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 296.

Footnote 78. Los Angeles Police Protective League v Gates (CA9 Cal) 907 F2d 879, amd on other grounds, reh den (CA9) 1990 US App LEXIS 16392, remanded (CA9 Cal) 995 F2d 1469, 93 CDOS 4180, 93 Daily Journal DAR 7186.

Footnote 79. Donald v Rast (CA8 Mo) 927 F2d 379, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 587, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 68, 112 S Ct 96, reh den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 820, 112 S Ct 921.

Footnote 80. United States v Juarez (CA7 Ind) 549 F2d 1113 (stating that admission of written reports by government agents is not encouraged and district judges should exercise discretion to admit them only when necessary in their judgment to remove confusion, false impressions, or other barriers to ascertainment of truth).

Footnote 81. United States v Pretel (CA5 La) 939 F2d 233, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1040, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 267, 112 S Ct 327, post-conviction proceeding (ED La) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 17437 and cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 141, 112 S Ct 978, post-conviction proceeding (ED La) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 9775, habeas corpus dismissed (ED La) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 15244, post-conviction proceeding (ED La) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 15284, post-conviction proceeding (ED La) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 15263 (held properly admitted as relevant; defendant could not complain of prejudice since defense attorney, possibly inadvertently, opened door to evidence).

Footnote 82. United States v Blackwood (CA4 NC) 913 F2d 139, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 243 (where court declined to impute to jurors the kind of xenophobia that could constitute unfair prejudice).

Footnote 83. United States v Haar (CA10 NM) 931 F2d 1368, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1250.

Footnote 84. United States v Ferguson (CA7 Ill) 935 F2d 1518, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 451 (stating that any prejudice defendant may have suffered from admission of evidence was not unfair in light of jury's awareness of beepers' many legal uses as well as their use in drug trafficking).

Footnote 85. United States v Vanwort (CA2 NY) 887 F2d 375, cert den 495 US 906, 109 L Ed 2d 290, 110 S Ct 1927 and cert den 495 US 910, 109 L Ed 2d 299, 110 S Ct 1936.

Footnote 86. Dollar v Long Mfg., N. C., Inc. (CA5 Ga) 561 F2d 613, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 760, 24 FR Serv 2d 408, reh den (CA5 Ga) 565 F2d 163 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 565 F2d 163 and cert den 435 US 996, 56 L Ed 2d 85, 98 S Ct 1648.

Footnote 87. Wolf v Procter & Gamble Co. (DC NJ) 555 F Supp 613, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294, 37 FR Serv 2d 1053.

Footnote 88. Frank v Bloom (CA10 Kan) 634 F2d 1245, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1059.

Footnote 89. Johnson v Washington Metro. Area Transit Authority (DC Dist Col) 764 F Supp 1568, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 170, amd (DC Dist Col) 773 F Supp 459 and amd, summary judgment den, ques certified (DC Dist Col) 790 F Supp 1174, later proceeding (DC Dist Col) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 1266, motion den (DC Dist Col) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 10566.

Footnote 90. Evans v Dugger (CA11 Fla) 908 F2d 801 (in inmate's action alleging prison officials were deliberately indifferent to his serious medical needs, trial court did not err in admitting only redacted portions of numerous reports and court opinions reciting lengthy history of health care failure by state department of corrections, since evidence admitted clearly informed jury of historical deficiencies within prison system and defendants' notice of such deficiencies; to admit voluminous materials offered in their entirety would have contaminated case with irrelevant and prejudicial information).

Court would allow evidence of animal studies on health risk of chemicals and expert testimony on risk of future illness, but would not admit evidence of exterminator's cessation of use of certain chemical, in homeowners' action alleging exterminator contaminated home, because: (1) animal studies on pesticides are routinely used in the scientific community and their probative value outweighs their prejudicial effect; (2) expert's testimony would not be speculative since homeowners claimed present injury; and (3) admission of evidence about exterminator's cessation of use would violate subsequent remedial measure rule. Villari v Terminix International, Inc. (ED Pa) 692 F Supp 568, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 864, 101 ALR Fed 867.

Footnote 91. Dolan, Rule 403: The Prejudice Rule in Evidence, 49 So Cal L Rev 220,

§ 338 Expert testimony

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The rule that evidence, although relevant, may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, 92 applies to expert testimony as well as to other forms of evidence. 93 The prejudicial danger of such evidence lies in its aura of special reliability and trustworthiness, when in fact it may be unreliable. 94 Thus, evidence of experts in the field of epidemiology has been excluded on the ground that epidemiology could, at best, establish probability, but could not prove causation. 95

Often, of course, expert testimony is admitted following an evaluation mandated by the rule, 96 accompanied, if necessary, by careful limiting instructions. 97 For example, expert testimony regarding "battered child syndrome" may be admissible. 98 Expert testimony which, when added to the lay testimony before the jury, might determine the verdict is of great probative value and should be admitted in the absence of a significant showing of unfair prejudice. 99

The fact that expert opinion evidence incriminating a defendant comes as part of a codefendant's defense does not affect its relevancy, nor cause it to be unfairly prejudicial. 1

On the other hand, admission of expert testimony of dubious relevance but with cumulative prejudicial impact is an abuse of discretion. 2

◆ Observation: It has been pointed out that among the types of expert evidence which should be carefully screened is background evidence in a criminal drug manufacturing case relating to the dangers inherent in the manufactured substance, which may be capable of subliminally inciting or confusing the jury. 3

◆ Caution: An expert's testimony may be discredited on the ground that he is prejudiced. 4

§ 338 ----Expert testimony [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court did not err in a capital first-degree murder prosecution by sustaining the prosecutor's objections to a psychiatrist's testimony in the guilt- innocence phase regarding depressive problems suffered by defendant's mother and mental illness in defendant's family where no evidence had yet been offered to establish that defendant and his mother suffered from the same mental illness or that the mental illness from which defendant suffered was hereditary. The witness was allowed to testify in depth in the guilt-innocence phase about defendant's home life and defendant's conflict with his father and to testify during the sentencing phase that defendant suffered from Asperger syndrome, that this syndrome would produce manic depressive illness in adult life, that manic depressive illness and Asperger syndrome "run in families," and evidence was then admitted that other members of defendant's family suffered from depression. State v Lynch (1995) 340 NC 435, 459 SE2d 679.

Footnotes

Footnote 92. § 324.

Footnote 93. Scott v Sears, Roebuck & Co. (CA4 Va) 789 F2d 1052, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 322 (testimony by "human factors expert" that condition of walkway on which plaintiff fell and was injured was "accident waiting to happen"); United States v Burton (CA5 Tex) 737 F2d 439, 84-2 USTC ¶ 9689, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1925, 54 AFTR 2d 84-5770 (no error under FRE Rule 403 in exclusion of expert testimony of tax professor that, despite its lack of legal acceptance, defendant's theory and belief that wages were not taxable income was plausible); United States v Schmidt (CA5 Tex) 711 F2d 595, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1415, reh den (CA5 Tex) 716 F2d 901 and cert den 464 US 1041, 79 L Ed 2d 169, 104 S Ct 705 (affirming exclusion of testimony by linguistic expert which defendant claimed indicated that whatever falsehoods he might have stated before grand jury were not knowingly and willfully uttered); United States v Thevis (CA5 Ga) 665 F2d 616, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025, reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and cert den 456 US 1008, 73 L Ed 2d 1303, 102 S Ct 2300 and cert den 458 US 1109, 73 L Ed 2d 1370, 102 S Ct 3489 and cert den 459 US 825, 74 L Ed 2d 61, 103 S Ct 57; United States v Milton (CA5 La) 555 F2d 1198, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 100; United States v Davis (CA7 Ill) 772 F2d 1339, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 905, cert den 474 US 1036, 88 L Ed 2d 581, 106 S Ct 603 (testimony of psychiatrist on claimed insanity defense based on compulsive gambling); United States v Scavo (CA8 Minn) 593 F2d 837, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 62; State v Saldana (Minn) 324 NW2d 227.

Exclusion of expert testimony on attorney's mental condition in suit by former client charging attorney with reckless or intentional infliction of emotional distress was proper since testimony was tentative and had substantial potential to confuse or mislead because jury might improperly consider attorney's unsubstantiated problem as excuse for his negligence. Pinkham v Burgess (CA1 Me) 933 F2d 1066, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1223.

Testimony of sociologist who conducted "ethnographical study" which allegedly showed that sexually explicit materials at issue were accepted by local adult community is not admissible as competent expert evidence of prevailing community standards where sociologist interviewed adult video store clerks, store managers and customers and newspaper editors over 8-day period, because (1) sociologist is not qualified by study to offer opinion as to contemporary community standards of obscenity, in that his "ethnography" canvassed only small fraction of public, and (2) even if sociologist were qualified, evidence is unfairly prejudicial and misleading to jury. United States v Pryba (ED Va) 678 F Supp 1225, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 755, later proceeding (ED Va) 680 F Supp 790, later proceeding (CA4 Va) 900 F2d 748, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 439, cert den

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700 § 5.

Forms: Weight and consideration to be given by jury to testimony of expert witnesses. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:955.

Footnote 94. United States v Fosher (CA1 Mass) 590 F2d 381, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 552 (affirming trial court's exclusion of testimony on unreliability of eyewitness identifications); Washington v Armstrong World Industries, Inc. (CA5 Miss) 839 F2d 1121, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 298, 10 FR Serv 3d 1189 (affidavit of expert witness that asbestos exposure could have caused colon cancer victim's death was properly excluded where expert never actually examined decedent but merely relied on examinations performed by other physicians who reached different conclusions); Mercado v Ahmed (ND Ill) 756 F Supp 1097, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 397, affd (CA7 Ill) 974 F2d 863, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 814 (excluding economist's testimony on issue of pleasure of plaintiff's life since there is no basic agreement as to what elements ought to go into life valuation).

Exclusion of "grief counselor's" expert testimony was not abuse of discretion in negligence action against hospital and doctor for treatment of pregnant plaintiff allegedly resulting in death of fetus where expert admitted that she could not testify as to grief experienced by plaintiffs immediately after death of fetus and had not met plaintiffs until 2 years after incident. Navarro de Cosme v Hospital Pavia (CA1 Puerto Rico) 922 F2d 926, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1200.

Footnote 95. Smith v Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp. (ND Ga) 770 F Supp 1561, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 511.

Annotation: Reliability of scientific technique and its acceptance within scientific community as affecting admissibility, at federal trial, of expert testimony as to result of test or study based on such technique—modern cases, 105 ALR Fed 299.

Footnote 96. Worsham v A.H. Robins Co. (CA11 Fla) 734 F2d 676, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10101, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1670 (testimony by physician as to other suits dealing with tubo-ovarian abscesses such as plaintiff in instant case claimed had been caused by Dalkon Shield, evidence being relevant to indicate that manufacturer had notice of connection between device and same type of injury suffered by plaintiff); State v Hicks (Vt) 535 A2d 776 (expert testimony that delays in reporting sexual abuse were common among child victims of abuse; admissible to explain 3-month delay in reporting sexual assault).

Footnote 97. Mullins v Seals (WD Va) 416 F Supp 1098, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 590, vacated on other grounds (CA4 Va) 562 F2d 326.

Footnote 98. State v Hernandez (App) 167 Ariz 236, 805 P2d 1057, 68 Ariz Adv Rep 25 (not inadmissible under Rule 403 in manslaughter prosecution).

Expert evidence regarding "battered child syndrome" is relevant evidence in child abuse cases, but once court finds evidence relevant, it must consider whether it is unduly prejudicial. State v Moyer (App) 151 Ariz 253, 727 P2d 31.

Footnote 99. United States v Dwyer (CA2 NY) 539 F2d 924, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294.

In eminent domain proceedings, trial court's conclusion that government's expert witness's testimony as to his opinion of fair market value of courthouse property held risk of unfair prejudice was abuse of discretion which prevented defendant from receiving fair trial notwithstanding that records on which expert based opinion may have included sale not done at arms length since credibility of testimony was subject to question on cross-examination. United States v 0.161 Acres of Land (CA11 Ala) 837 F2d 1036, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 446.

Footnote 1. United States v Rothman (CA7 Ill) 567 F2d 744, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 869.

Footnote 2. United States v Green (CA6 Ohio) 548 F2d 1261, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 661.

Where a party's own expert witness casts doubt on the possibility of reliable expert analysis of that party's exhibits, those exhibits do not have probative value and should not be received in evidence for the jury's consideration, although this does not preclude a properly qualified expert, testifying to the use of generally accepted techniques, from expressing an opinion as to authenticity, after a comparison with known works. United States v Carter, 173 US App DC 54, 522 F2d 666.

Footnote 3. United States v Green (CA6 Ohio) 548 F2d 1261, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 661.

Footnote 4. 31A Am Jur 2d, Expert and Opinion Evidence § 95.

§ 339 Consent decrees

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

As a rule, consent decrees are not admissible against defendants in antitrust actions under FRE Rule 403 and under antitrust law. 5 When sought to be introduced by the defendant to show that the defendant's conduct has been lawful since the date of the decree, the consent decree by itself is not very probative of the defendant's actual conduct, and is excludible under FRE Rule 403. 6

Footnotes

Footnote 5. Metrix Warehouse, Inc. v Daimler-Benz Aktiengesellschaft (DC Md) 555 F Supp 824, 1983-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65397, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1173.

Footnote 6. Metrix Warehouse, Inc. v Daimler-Benz Aktiengesellschaft (DC Md) 555 F Supp 824, 1983-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 65397, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1173.

§ 340 Other crimes or wrongs; threats of violence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence of other crimes or wrongs, even when logically relevant to an issue other than propensity to commit a criminal act and thus otherwise admissible under FRE Rule 404(b), 7 may be excluded under FRE Rule 403 where the probative value of the evidence is substantially outweighed by the risk that its admission will create a substantial danger of undue prejudice. 8 Rebuttal testimony introduced to prove bias which also shows a criminal enterprise of the witness is especially prejudicial, but the benefit can outweigh the prejudice where such evidence does not place the defendant in any worse light than what is already before the jury, and an appropriate cautionary instruction is given. 9

◆ Recommendation: An instruction should be requested to the effect that the jury is not to consider such evidence as going to the character of the accused but only as going to identity, intent, or whatever proper purpose for which it is admitted. 10

Admission of evidence of "prior bad act" to which appellant was not party would normally be overwhelmed by prejudicial effect and therefore not properly admitted under Rule 403. 11 However, where there was abundant evidence of appellant's personal involvement in loan transactions—in action brought by debtors against mortgage corporation and principals—evidence was not so prejudicial to the defense as to render the verdict inconsistent with substantial justice. 12

Evidence of threats of death or violence to government informants or witnesses is governed by the balancing process of FRE Rule 403. 13

◆ Practice guide: While the potential prejudice from the admission of such threats is great, the evidence should be allowed unless its prejudicial effect substantially outweighs its probative value. Because of the great potential prejudice inherent in the admission of death threat evidence, the government must have an important purpose for the evidence in order to satisfy the FRE Rule 403 balancing test. 14

§ 340 ----Other crimes or wrongs; threats of violence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Admission of narcotics defendant's prior burglary conviction did not prejudice her defense because it was defense attorney, not government, who first brought fact of prior conviction to jury's attention, and government did nothing more than complete record in offering formal judgment of conviction into evidence during defendant's cross-examination. United States v Hatchett (1994, CA7 Ill) 31 F3d 1411.

In a prosecution for sexual offenses committed against a child, evidence of uncharged conduct by the defendant toward another child must be closely related in time, place and form of acts in order to be logically probative and admissible to show a common course of conduct by the defendant toward the 2 children. Commonwealth v Barrett (1994) 418 Mass 788, 641 NE2d 1302.

Admission of defendant's membership in gang was cumulative and not prejudicial where, during voir dire, defense counsel had mentioned evidence of defendant's possible gang involvement, and where defense counsel had made no objection to prosecutor's mention of gang membership during prosecutor's opening statement. State v Griffin (1994, Mo App) 876 SW2d 43.

There was no plain error in a prosecution for felony-murder, armed robbery, and conspiracy in the admission of evidence that an accomplice had beaten the witness and stolen things from her and her children and that she was afraid to leave him because there would be trouble when he found her. This testimony was relevant to prove that the witness's fear of the accomplice was the reason she waited as long as she did before coming forward to tell of the robbery-murder. State v Lamb (1995) 342 NC 151, 463 SE2d 189.

In a prosecution for first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in which it was alleged that the defendant was the leader of the "Junior Black Mafia" (JBM) and that he and the co- defendants conspired to and murdered the victim as a message to another high-ranking JBM member who was suspected of killing another JBM member, testimony by a codefendant that "they" sold the guns used in the murder, but that "they" were going to first use the guns again to make another hit did not constitute evidence of other criminal conduct by the defendant since the statement did not directly implicate the defendant and only indicated that the witness planned to commit another murder with another unidentified person or persons. Commonwealth v Jones (Pa) 668 A2d 491, reh den (Pa) 1996 Pa LEXIS 3.

The trial court erred in a second- degree murder prosecution by allowing the State to cross-examine defendant under GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b) regarding domestic violence by defendant against his wife, who was not the victim in this case. Defendant's past violent behavior toward his wife was not relevant to prove his character in relation to motive, opportunity, intent, etc. Furthermore, there was prejudice in that the case was close, the questions alone were inflammatory and damaging, and, because defendant admitted to some violent action toward his wife, it cannot be said that the jury did not consider the evidence for the purpose of concluding that defendant had a violent disposition. State v Brooks (1994) 113 NC App 451, 439 SE2d 234.

Footnotes

Footnote 7. §§ 404 et seq.

Footnote 8. United States v Cook (CA3 Del) 538 F2d 1000, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 272.

Forms: Motion–To exclude evidence of prior conviction–Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion—To exclude evidence of other crimes—Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 9. United States v Robinson, 174 US App DC 224, 530 F2d 1076, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1092.

Footnote 10. United States v Danzey (CA2 NY) 594 F2d 905, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, cert den 441 US 951, 60 L Ed 2d 1056, 99 S Ct 2179.

Footnote 11. See Meller v Heil Co. (CA10 Colo) 745 F2d 1297, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10069, cert den 467 US 1206, 81 L Ed 2d 347, 104 S Ct 2390 (in wrongful death action by widow against manufacturer of equipment that had caused death of her husband, evidence of two hashish pipes containing marijuana found in husband's rucksack was properly excluded since probative value was substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice; defendant did not provide medical foundation for claim that husband's life expectancy had been diminished by drugs).

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence, in action for personal injury or death, of injured party's use of intoxicants or illegal drugs on issue of life expectancy, 86 ALR4th 1135.

Footnote 12. Faison v Nationwide Mortg. Corp., 268 US App DC 1, 839 F2d 680, cert den 488 US 823, 102 L Ed 2d 46, 109 S Ct 70.

Footnote 13. United States v Rosa (CA1 Mass) 705 F2d 1375, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1643 (statement properly admitted where it did not appear to have been particularly inflammatory, could have been viewed as emotional or impulsive reaction, and would have less prejudicial impact than evidence of calculated, advanced plans to commit murder); United States v Anderson (SD NY) 575 F Supp 31, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 324.

Footnote 14. United States v Anderson (SD NY) 575 F Supp 31, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 324 (finding that court could not adequately assess probative value or potential prejudice of alleged threats of violence in context of motion to suppress and that determination would have to await trial).

§ 341 --Particular evidence of crimes or acts ruled admissible

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence of other crimes or acts that has been found properly admitted, despite the prejudice inherent in such evidence, has included:

- Evidence of the defendant's assault on federal agents in a prosecution for conspiracy to illegally distribute drugs, where the officer's testimony related the incident to the investigation of the charged offense 15

- Photographs seized from the home of a defendant charged with various cocaine-related offenses, depicting the defendant standing amidst some marijuana plants and a large sum of cash spread on the floor 16
- The defendant's passport containing alterations, and related evidence, offered to raise an inference that the defendant altered dates in order to conceal his whereabouts at the times when illegal transactions were discussed or took place and thus exhibited consciousness of his guilt 17
- A tape of a telephone conversation between an unindicted coconspirator and an unknown individual, where the prosecutorial need for the evidence was substantial in that the unindicted coconspirator served as the primary connection between two of the defendants, and it was necessary to document his activities to establish his connection and ultimately the connection of the others with a motorcycle club known to be engaged in crime, and where the record was already replete with testimony concerning the violent and illegal activities of the club 18
- Expert testimony by a psychiatrist concerning behavior of the defendant three years earlier which led to the psychiatrist's conclusion that the defendant was a pathological gambler and which had led to a conviction of the defendant for, inter alia, car theft and kidnapping 19
- Evidence of a prior felony conviction, where the trial court inquired on voir dire into the possible prejudices of potential jurors as to a witness-defendant who testified admitting to a prior felony conviction, and gave proper limiting instructions 20
- Evidence, in wrongful death action, of defendant's prior murder conviction 21
- Evidence of narcotics dealings to show a defendant's motive in a robbery prosecution 22
- Testimony that a weapon was present during the robbery 23
- Evidence of possession of counterfeit bills, offered in a prosecution for distributing counterfeit bills, to prove ability to distribute the notes described in the indictment 24
- Evidence of a criminal enterprise of a witness as part of testimony offered to prove bias, where the evidence placed the defendant in no worse light than what was already before the jury and an appropriate cautionary instruction was given 25
- Evidence of other crimes reasonably offered to show the defendant's expertise with burglar alarm systems, in a burglary prosecution, where the court restricted the evidence to that reasonably related to showing the defendant's expertise and the government did not give disproportionate emphasis to the prior criminal conduct 26
- Evidence of the defendant's failure to file federal income tax returns during particular years, in a prosecution charging conspiracy to violate federal narcotics laws, offered for the purpose of negating the existence of any legitimate source for money that the defendant expended during that period 27

- Evidence of one defendant's participation in other identical offenses, in prosecution of four defendants resulting from a hijacking, for the purpose of proving identity, where identity was at issue and where the court's detailed instructions that the evidence was to be considered only against the particular defendant in question adequately protected the other defendants 28
- Evidence of a defendant's theft of timber, in a prosecution for tax evasion, offered to prove that defendant provided false information in an effort to avoid the tax, where it served the purpose of proving a plan by which the taxes were evaded and the jury was instructed as to the limited purpose for which the evidence was admitted 29
- Testimony by an unindicted coconspirator as to a prior similar scheme participated in by the defendants, in a prosecution of police officers for using illegal wiretaps to deprive narcotics offenders of their property, to prove that in a later year the witness and a defendant were involved in a similar scheme 30

§ 341 --Particular evidence of crimes or acts ruled admissible [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of charged attempted and completed burglaries that occurred before, during, and after time of charged bombing-burglary conspiracy were properly admitted since they revealed modus operandi by which defendants were to accomplish scheme charged. United States v Prevatte (1994, CA7 Ind) 16 F3d 767.

Defendant charged with being felon in possession of firearm was properly impeached with evidence of his prior convictions for burglary and aggravated battery since it was probative of his credibility and his testimony was essential because his coercion defense turned on his mental state. United States v Toney (1994, CA7 Ill) 27 F3d 1245, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1173.

Trial judge did not abuse his discretion in allowing government witness to testify regarding defendant's threats to his life, which necessarily invoked defendant's gang affiliations; government had right to rehabilitate witness by explaining his prior perjury before grand jury and threats were highly probative of witness's prior inconsistent statements. United States v Rutledge (1994, CA7 Ill) 40 F3d 879, reh, en banc, den (1995, CA7 Ill) 1995 US App LEXIS 9.

Defendant could not appeal trial court's rulings that his prior convictions could be used to impeach him during cross-examination since defendant chose not to testify. United States v Schrader (1993, CA8 SD) 10 F3d 1345.

Evidence of cocaine distribution defendant's prior arrest for possession of sawed-off shotguns was properly admitted to corroborate witness' testimony that she had purchased shotguns for defendant and was his trusted intermediary who aided him in distribution of drugs and observed him in four separate criminal transactions with which he was charged; corroboration was significant and direct. United States v Pitts (1993, CA9 Wash) 6 F3d 1366, 93 CDOS 7432, 93 Daily Journal DAR 12645.

Hospital marketing representative accused of bribery cannot have evidence of his involvement in 2 previous criminal matters excluded pretrial under FRE 609, where matters are 1986 state cocaine distribution conviction and 1990 federal conviction for filing false statement, because probative/prejudicial balancing of drug conviction must await trial as state's setting aside of conviction following completion of probation does not automatically eliminate its use for impeachment purposes; and completion of restitution, compliance with terms of probation, and law-abiding and productive life as family man for last 7 years do not preclude prosecution's use of false statement conviction. United States v Jackson (1994, DC Kan) 863 F Supp 1462.

Evidence that crack cocaine distribution conspirator had purchased cocaine from known drug dealer on several occasions was relevant to defendant's intent to deal in cocaine by developing relationships with established dealers, hence admissible. United States v Beasley (1993, CA11 Ala) 2 F3d 1551, 7 FLW Fed C 896, subsequent civil proceeding, summary judgment gr (SD Ala) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 16342.

Evidence that 8 years earlier defendant was involved in agreement that he would protect boatload of marijuana for informant was properly admitted in trial on cocaine conspiracy charges since his role in charged conspiracy was to protect coconspirators during off-loading, hence extrinsic evidence involved same mental state as charged crime because both incidents involved protecting illicit drug activity. United States v Pessefall (1994, CA11 Fla) 27 F3d 511, 8 FLW Fed C 440.

The general principles governing evidence of other crimes are applicable to sex offense cases in which children are victims. People v Novak (1994) 163 Ill 2d 93, 205 Ill Dec 471, 643 NE2d 762, reh den (Dec 5, 1994).

The trial court did not err in a sentencing hearing for first-degree murder by submitting evidence of a prior attempted rape conviction, submitting the aggravating circumstance of a prior felony involving violence, or in its instructions where the State submitted evidence that defendant had been convicted by General Court Martial of attempted rape. Attempted rape is a felony under North Carolina law, as well as under military law, and, since the military courts have held all rapes to be crimes of violence under military law, and all attempts to commit rape therefore by definition involve the use or threat of force, there was no need to consider whether there is a non-violent crime of attempted rape under North Carolina law. The evidence presented concerning the prior felony was proper and sufficient to establish that the defendant had been convicted of a prior felony involving the use or threat of violence to the person and the court's instruction did not constitute an impermissible conclusive presumption as it permitted the jury to make the determination as to whether defendant had been convicted. G.S. § 15A- 2000(e)(3). State v Green (1994) 336 NC 142, 443 SE2d 14.

There was no error in a first- degree murder and attempted rape prosecution where the court admitted evidence of a prior assault and defendant contended that the court improperly instructed the jury as to the purpose of the evidence by failing to specify the charged offense for which the evidence could be considered. The prior crime was relevant on the issue of the identity of the assailant as to both offenses. State v Carter (1994) 338 NC 569, 451 SE2d 157.

The trial court did not err in a prosecution for a first-degree murder committed in 1989 by admitting evidence of an assault committed by defendant in 1981, when he was thirteen, where there were unusual facts and strikingly similar acts in both crimes so as to permit admission of the 1981 assault for purposes of proving identity. Because the prior crime here is offered to show to show identity rather than common plan or scheme, the passage of time in this case affects the weight of the evidence rather than its admissibility. The probative value of the evidence outweighs any potential for unfair prejudice because the identity of the perpetrator was a critical issue at trial. State v Carter (1994) 338 NC 569, 451 SE2d 157.

There was no error in a first-degree murder prosecution in the admission of evidence that the four year old victim had suffered from a skull fracture and severe burns on his leg and ankle several weeks before his death where a basis existed for the jury to infer that defendant was responsible for the prior injuries and the evidence that the victim suffered from a severe skull fracture and serious burns shortly before his death was relevant to the jury's determination of whether defendant was criminally negligent. Furthermore, this evidence was relevant and admissible under GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b) as proof of defendant's preparation and planning for the commission of this crime and that the victim's death was not accidental. State v White (1995) 340 NC 264, 457 SE2d 841.

The trial court did not err in a noncapital first-degree murder prosecution by admitting evidence of defendant's alleged involvement in another murder where defendant was charged with the 1973 murder of her four year old stepson following a 1991 conspiracy to kill her husband and her motion in limine to exclude the evidence of her alleged involvement in her husband's death from the trial for the murder of her stepson was denied. The trial court's findings of fact and conclusions of law make it clear that the evidence of defendant's confession to the witness was admitted for the purpose of refuting accident and that the interwoven evidence of defendant's participation in her husband's murder was admitted for the purpose of establishing the witness's credibility and the contextual basis for defendant's confession; the evidence was so intertwined that the trial court did not err in concluding that all the evidence was admissible under the chain of circumstances rule. Finally, the trial court did not abuse its discretion under GS § 8C-1, Rule 403 by concluding that the probative value of the interwoven evidence outweighed any prejudicial effect. GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). State v White (1995) 340 NC 264, 457 SE2d 841.

The trial court did not err in the prosecution of defendant for the noncapital first-degree murder of her stepson by instructing the jury that it could consider evidence of defendant's involvement in her husband's murder to prove the absence of accident. The instruction was consistent with the trial court's findings of fact and conclusions of law in connection with the admission of this "other crimes" evidence. Furthermore, the trial court correctly limited the consideration of this evidence to the determination of the witness's credibility and absence of accident. State v White (1995) 340 NC 264, 457 SE2d 841.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion in a capital first-degree murder sentencing hearing by overruling defendant's objections and refusing a mistrial after evidence was elicited during cross-examination of two of defendant's expert witnesses that defendant had stated that he wanted "to shoot at blacks and to watch them dance." The statement was not elicited to establish any type of racial bias but instead to impeach the opinions of the experts and test the value of their testimony. The statement was also relevant to show that defendant had, prior to the shooting, manifested dangerousness and a violent attitude toward a particular group of people. Although both victims and defendant were white and nothing in the record suggests the killing of either victim was a racial act, the evidence was relevant since defendant shot at a particular group of people, his neighbors. State v Lynch (1995) 340 NC 435, 459 SE2d 679.

In a prosecution of defendant for first-degree murder of a law officer who was executing a search warrant for defendant's apartment, testimony by a witness that he had purchased marijuana from defendant the day before the shooting was properly admitted for the limited purpose of showing that defendant had a motive for the shooting where the State's theory of the case was that defendant, as a known drug dealer, had a motive to kill a law officer; the State's evidence tended to show that officers yelled "Police, search warrant" several times; the officers were in uniform, the front door was open, and one officer had stepped inside the apartment when defendant fired his pistol; and a civilian witness heard defendant tell an officer at the back door that he was tired of officers "trying to bust my house." Further, the probative value of this testimony was not substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. GS § 8C-1, Rules 404(b), 403. State v Lyons (1995) 340 NC 646, 459 SE2d 770.

Evidence of defendant's shooting of his former girlfriend at the time of their breakup and his conviction and sentence arising out of that shooting was admissible to show the chain of events that led to defendant's murder of his former girlfriend's new boyfriend just three months after their breakup and ten days after defendant's release from jail for the events surrounding their breakup. State v Ratliff (1995) 341 NC 610, 461 SE2d 325.

In a murder prosecution wherein two teenage girls testified that defendant was one of the two shooters, testimony that, prior to the shooting, Corey Best had threatened to kick the girls if he found them again in the vicinity where the shooting occurred was not inadmissible hearsay because it was not offered to show that the declarant was going to hurt the girls but to explain why the girls had left the scene before the shooting and thus could not identify defendant as one of the shooters. Therefore, the trial court erred by excluding this testimony, but the error was not prejudicial where defendant was allowed to present this evidence through the testimony of other witnesses that the two girls were not at the scene during the shooting because of an argument with Corey Best. State v Burke (1995) 342 NC 113, 463 SE2d 212.

There was no plain error in a prosecution for felony-murder, armed robbery, and conspiracy in the admission of evidence that an accomplice had beaten the witness and stolen things from her and her children and that she was afraid to leave him because there would be trouble when he found her. This testimony was relevant to prove that the witness's fear of the accomplice was the reason she waited as long as she did before coming forward to tell of the robbery-murder. State v Lamb (1995) 342 NC 151, 463 SE2d 189.

In a prosecution of defendant for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury and assault with a firearm on a governmental officer, the trial court did not err in allowing certain questions about defendant's conduct prior to a confrontation with two deputies and in admitting into evidence a videotape allegedly depicting this conduct, since the challenged evidence was part of the "chain of events" leading up to arrival of the deputies and was admissible to show defendant's state of mind immediately prior to the deputies being called to the scene. State v Price (1995) 118 NC App 212, 454 SE2d 820, cert den (NC) 1995 NC LEXIS 503.

In a prosecution for first degree murder, evidence of the defendant's rape-assaults of 2 other victims was properly admitted into evidence under the common scheme or signature crime exception to the general rule that evidence of other criminal acts of the defendant is not admissible since, notwithstanding that the victim's body was not found until 6 years after her murder, it was established (1) that the victim and the rape assault victims were all young white women, (2) that they were all slim and attractive and had brownish shoulder length hair, (3) that they all sustained multiple stab wounds on their upper bodies with a small knife, (4) that the crimes occurred a few months apart, and (5) that the victim's body was found in a remote wooded area about 200 feet from the place in which the defendant left the rape-assault victims for dead. Commonwealth v May (1995, Pa) 656 A2d 1335.

In a prosecution for the murder of a friend of the defendant's ex-girlfriend and for an assault on the ex- girlfriend, the court properly permitted the introduction of evidence regarding the defendant's prior abuse of the ex-girlfriend and threats directed at her since such evidence proved motive and intent and also showed the natural progression of the events leading up to the crimes. Commonwealth v Walker (1995, Pa) 656 A2d 90, petition for certiorari filed (Jun 20, 1995).

In a prosecution for the murder of a friend of the defendant's ex-girlfriend and for an assault on the ex- girlfriend, the court properly permitted the introduction of evidence regarding an incident in which the defendant slashed the tires of mourners at a funeral for the ex-girlfriend's grandmother and then tried to steal the minister's car where the court instructed the jury that the evidence was introduced only to show a pattern of activity by the defendant as it related to the ex- girlfriend and her family. Commonwealth v Walker (1995, Pa) 656 A2d 90, petition for certiorari filed (Jun 20, 1995).

In the prosecution of the defendant for the murder of an eyewitness to a prior murder by the defendant, evidence pertaining to the prior murder was properly introduced into evidence as res gestae; a contrary result was not required by the fact that the defendant's conviction for the prior murder had been reversed since that reversal included a remand for a new trial and since the defendant thereafter pled guilty to first degree murder. Commonwealth v Murphy (1995, Pa) 657 A2d 927.

In a murder prosecution, a witness was properly permitted to testify that the defendant attempted to rape her several hours after the murder and that he told her that she would get the same thing the murder victim got if she opened her mouth, notwithstanding that the testimony implicated the defendant in an uncharged crime, since the testimony completed the story of the murder by demonstrating the history and natural development of the facts surrounding the defendant's movements on the day of the murder. Commonwealth v Simmons (1995, Pa) 662 A2d 621, application gr (Pa) 1995 Pa LEXIS 1336 and petition for certiorari filed (Dec 14, 1995).

In a murder prosecution, the court properly permitted the introduction of testimony by a witness that the defendant stated that he had just gotten out of jail and was going to kill the first white man he saw since such testimony was admissible as proof of the defendant's motive for the crime; the defendant's statement logically raised the inference that he perceived his previous incarceration to be the result of unexplained actions by white males for which he was seeking revenge. Commonwealth v Williams (1995, Pa) 660 A2d 1316, cert den (US) 1996 US LEXIS 135.

In a murder prosecution, the court properly permitted the introduction of testimony by a witness that the defendant stated that he had just gotten out of jail and was going to kill the first white man he saw since such testimony was admissible as part of the natural sequence of events which occurred shortly before the murder which formed the history of the case. Commonwealth v Williams (1995, Pa) 660 A2d 1316, cert den (US) 1996 US LEXIS 135.

In a murder prosecution, the defendant was barred from asserting that the trial court should have sua sponte excluded testimony by a witness that the defendant stated that he had just gotten out of jail and was going to kill the first white man he saw since defense counsel employed that testimony in his cross examination of the witness; defense counsel used the testimony to question the witness regarding whether she had seen the defendant during the prior year. Commonwealth v Williams (1995, Pa) 660 A2d 1316, cert den (US) 1996 US LEXIS 135.

In a prosecution arising from the murder of a police officer during his attempt to arrest the defendant in connection with an assault from which the defendant was fleeing, evidence of the defendant's prior drug activities was properly offered to show that the defendant bore a personal grudge and an aggressive malicious dislike of the slain officer because the officer had previously arrested the defendant on unrelated drug charges, because the defendant thought that the officer secretly observed neighborhood drug activities while off duty and reported them to the police and because the defendant thought that the officer was "bothering" him. Commonwealth v Lacava (Pa) 666 A2d 221.

In a prosecution arising from the murder of a police officer during his attempt to arrest the defendant in connection with an assault from which the defendant was fleeing, a witness was properly permitted to testify that the defendant threatened the witness's brother with a gun on the day of the murder since such testimony was relevant to discredit the defendant's statement to the police that he did not have a gun on the day of the murder. Commonwealth v Lacava (Pa) 666 A2d 221.

In a prosecution arising from the murder of a police officer during his attempt to arrest the defendant in connection with an assault from which the defendant was fleeing, a witness was properly permitted to testify that the defendant threatened the witness's brother with a gun on the day of the murder because he believed that the brother had called his girlfriend a bitch since evidence of such threat, when coupled with evidence of threats and assaults perpetrated by the defendant on 2 other people, was admissible to show that the defendant's day- long rampage of violence reasonably led him to fear his capture by the police and eventual punishment by the Commonwealth, thereby causing him to resist arrest and to kill the officer. Commonwealth v Lacava (Pa) 666 A2d 221.

In a prosecution for first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in which it was alleged that the defendant was the leader of the "Junior Black Mafia" (JBM) and that he and the co- defendants conspired to and murdered the victim as a message to another high-ranking JBM member who was suspected of killing another JBM member, the court properly allowed the introduction of evidence concerning the JBM's structure and activities, notwithstanding the contention that such evidence did no more than arouse the passion and prejudice of the jury, since the evidence of the JBM's hierarchy and general activities and of the defendant's involvement in the JBM was admissible to prove the motive for the murder and the existence of the conspiracy. Commonwealth v Jones (Pa) 668 A2d 491, reh den (Pa) 1996 Pa LEXIS 3.

In a prosecution for first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in which it was alleged that the defendant was the leader of the "Junior Black Mafia" (JBM) and that he and the co- defendants conspired to and murdered the victim as a message to another high-ranking JBM member who was suspected of killing another JBM member, no error occurred when evidence was introduced that the phrase "get down or lay down" in connection with the expansion of the JBM drug network was used by the JBM to inform independent drug dealers that they could either buy drugs from the JBM or else they would be killed since such evidence was relevant to prove the motive for the killing of the victim; the evidence established that the JBM was a drug organization which enforced internal discipline with acts of violence and that in the instance at issue it resorted to murder to settle an internal dispute. Commonwealth v Jones (Pa) 668 A2d 491, reh den (Pa) 1996 Pa LEXIS 3.

Footnotes

Footnote 15. United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558.

Footnote 16. United States v Laughlin (CA7 Ill) 772 F2d 1382, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 885 (where the defendant's wife had testified that the defendant used drugs for recreational purposes, the government was entitled to introduce evidence that he also dealt in narcotics for profit).

Footnote 17. United States v Osorio Estrada (CA2 NY) 751 F2d 128, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 443, reh gr, in part, reh den, in part (CA2 NY) 757 F2d 27 and cert den 474 US 830, 88 L Ed 2d 79, 106 S Ct 97.

Footnote 18. United States v Watchmaker (CA11 Fla) 761 F2d 1459, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 330, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 766 F2d 1493, cert den 474 US 1100, 88 L Ed 2d 917, 106 S Ct 879, 106 S Ct 880, 106 S Ct 881.

Footnote 19. United States v Gillis (CA4 Md) 773 F2d 549, where the court noted that it was important that the factfinder know the basis of the psychiatrist's diagnosis in order to attribute to it the proper credibility and weight, that the government carefully avoided any reference to the outcome of the previous trial, and that the defendant could have avoided the entire area of questioning by relying solely on the diagnosis of his other expert witness.

Footnote 20. United States v Hall (CA8 Mo) 588 F2d 613, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 233.

Footnote 21. Kowalski v Gagne (CA1 Mass) 914 F2d 299, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 434 (admission was proper since there are few things more relevant to question of culpability than defendant's conviction of murder for conduct that caused wrongful death; trial court properly could have concluded that any prejudice caused by evidence of conviction was more than outweighed by its relevancy to question of defendant's blameworthiness for killing).

Footnote 22. United States v Parker (CA9 Cal) 549 F2d 1217, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 584, cert den 430 US 971, 52 L Ed 2d 365, 97 S Ct 1659.

Footnote 23. United States v Moss (CA8 Mo) 544 F2d 954, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 430, cert den 429 US 1077, 50 L Ed 2d 797, 97 S Ct 822 (robbery prosecution).

Footnote 24. United States v Fairchild (CA7 Ill) 526 F2d 185, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 157, cert den 425 US 942, 48 L Ed 2d 186, 96 S Ct 1682.

Footnote 25. United States v Robinson, 174 US App DC 224, 530 F2d 1076, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1092.

Footnote 26. United States v Barrett (CA1 Mass) 539 F2d 244, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1154.

Footnote 27. United States v Hinton (CA2 NY) 543 F2d 1002, cert den 429 US 980, 50 L Ed 2d 589, 97 S Ct 493 and cert den 429 US 1051, 50 L Ed 2d 767, 97 S Ct 764 and cert den 429 US 1066, 50 L Ed 2d 783, 97 S Ct 796 and cert den 430 US 982, 52 L Ed 2d 376, 97 S Ct 1677.

Footnote 28. United States v Di Geronimo (CA2 NY) 598 F2d 746, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 796, cert den 444 US 886, 62 L Ed 2d 117, 100 S Ct 180.

Footnote 29. United States v Watkins (CA9 Or) 600 F2d 201, 79-2 USTC ¶ 9548, 44 AFTR 2d 79-5222, cert den 444 US 871, 62 L Ed 2d 96, 100 S Ct 148.

Footnote 30. United States v Albert (CA5 Tex) 595 F2d 283, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 750, reh den (CA5 Tex) 599 F2d 449 and cert den 444 US 963, 62 L Ed 2d 375, 100 S Ct 448.

§ 342 --Evidence of crimes or acts ruled excludible

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In a number of cases the courts have excluded evidence of other crimes or acts under FRE Rule 403 on grounds of unfair prejudice, including:

- A certified copy of a prior judgment of conviction of bank robbery, offered in a prosecution for escape from federal custody, where there was no prosecutorial need for the judgment in light of a sworn admission of conviction and confinement 31
- Otherwise admissible testimony as to a subsequent similar offense, which tended to prove only criminal disposition, in a federal rape prosecution 32
- Evidence of previous pimping, pandering, and drug charges against an insured, in a declaratory action by an insurance company in which the company alleged that the defendant had set fire to his own property 33
- A tape recording and testimony of the defendant's discussion with an undercover agent concerning the murder of a coconspirator, in a prosecution for narcotics offenses 34
- Evidence of a prior similar offense offered to establish intent, where intent may be inferable from the act itself and the defense of lack of intent is not specifically raised 35

- Evidence of a conviction for possession of narcotics with intent to distribute, in a prosecution for possession of narcotics without intent to distribute, where the conviction bore questionable relevance to the charged offense and prejudice from such evidence could outweigh the value of the evidence to show motive or intent 36
- Testimony that the defendant was required to report to jail on the night of the alleged offense, in a prosecution for possession with intent to distribute and distribution of heroin, where the evidence was of little or no probative value with respect to the defendant's entrapment defense and was highly prejudicial 37
- Testimony of a prior offense revealing a modus operandi similar to that of the offenses charged in the indictment, where the evidence was admitted under a different theory from that urged on appeal, and its probative value was clearly outweighed by its prejudicial effect on the defendant's character defense 38

In a civil action, evidence of a plaintiff's past criminal conduct is excludible under FRE Rule 403 in spite of the fact that the plaintiff claims damages for a "change in personality," where the plaintiff's evidence actually describes physiological changes, such as headaches, sleeping habits, temperament, and general health, and where nothing has been brought forward to indicate that the plaintiff's moral character or honesty has been affected by the events for which he seeks damages. 39

§ 342 --Evidence of crimes or acts ruled excludible [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of cases of candy, worker's arrest, and charges filed against him must be excluded in worker's Title VII (42 USCS §§ 2000e et seq.) racial discrimination case, where candy company worker was terminated after being caught twice outside workplace without "clocking out," second time in vicinity of 2 cases of candy for which he was arrested and criminal complaint filed but subsequently dropped, because employer considered and rejected arrest as basis for termination, and introduction of evidence of arrest would create significant danger of unfair prejudice. Plair v E. J. Brach & Sons (1994, ND Ill) 864 F Supp 67, 66 BNA FEP Cas 370.

Evidence of uncharged homicide separate from attempted homicide of witness was improperly admitted and highly prejudicial since it had little probative value on alleged relationship between co- conspirators and link between two incidents was extremely weak. United States v Bradley (1993, CA9 Cal) 5 F3d 1317, 93 CDOS 7240, 93 Daily Journal DAR 12322, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 56.

In a prosecution of defendant for the murder of a four-month-old child, Alamance County DSS records relating to the one-year supervision and investigation of the child's mother following the child's death were not admissible to show the mother's guilt of the murder where the records showed that the mother was having difficulty in performing her parental duties but contained no evidence that the mother physically abused or acted violently toward her children. Further, any probative value of this evidence to impeach the mother's testimony that she had done nothing wrong to her other children was substantially outweighed by the danger of confusion and undue delay where defendant had been allowed to impeach the mother with evidence similar to the evidence in the DSS records and the evidence in the DSS records would have been merely cumulative. GS §

8C-1, Rule 403. State v Burr (1995) 341 NC 263, 461 SE2d 602.

The trial court did not erroneously admit evidence of prior unrelated drug use by defendant where the investigator properly testified that he believed defendant was under the influence of "something" the evening of the murder; he was attempting to find out what that something might be; defendant stated that he had abused a prescription drug in the past; but defendant's response to the investigator's question did not indicate that he had been charged with any type of drug use or drug dealing by his use of the prescription drug. State v Cannada (1995) 119 NC App 311, 458 SE2d 268.

Footnotes

Footnote 31. United States v Spletzer (CA5 Tex) 535 F2d 950, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 218.

Footnote 32. United States v Aims Back (CA9 Mont) 588 F2d 1283, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 937.

Footnote 33. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v Gosdin (CA11 Ga) 803 F2d 1153, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1360.

Footnote 34. United States v Vila (CA2 NY) 599 F2d 21, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 507, cert den 444 US 837, 62 L Ed 2d 48, 100 S Ct 73.

Footnote 35. § 439.

Footnote 36. United States v Partyka (CA8 Minn) 544 F2d 345, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 428, appeal after remand (CA8 Minn) 561 F2d 118, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1126, cert den 434 US 1037, 54 L Ed 2d 785, 98 S Ct 773.

Footnote 37. United States v Mejia (CA9 Cal) 529 F2d 995, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1104.

Footnote 38. United States v Herman (CA3 Pa) 589 F2d 1191, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1605, cert den 441 US 913, 60 L Ed 2d 386, 99 S Ct 2014.

Footnote 39. Williams v Union Carbide Corp. (CA6 Tenn) 790 F2d 552, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 964, cert den 479 US 992, 93 L Ed 2d 592, 107 S Ct 591.

§ 343 Defendant's flight following charged offense

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence of a defendant's flight soon after the charged offense took place is properly admitted where the trial court determines that the probative value of such evidence outweighs its tendency to cause prejudice, and where the trial court gives proper limiting instructions. 40 Where attempted flight is part of the events leading to a defendant's arrest, and such evidence reveals facts which strengthen proof of identity, probative value may outweigh potential prejudice. 41 But admission of evidence of a bribery defendant's flight was found erroneous since it was not only prejudicial but irrelevant where the defendant had stipulated that he had committed bribery and the only issue was his entrapment defense. 42

Footnotes

Footnote 40. United States v Stewart (CA5 Ga) 579 F2d 356, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 588, cert den 439 US 936, 58 L Ed 2d 332, 99 S Ct 332; United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422.

Footnote 41. United States v Milhollan (CA3 Pa) 599 F2d 518, cert den 444 US 909, 62 L Ed 2d 144, 100 S Ct 221.

Footnote 42. United States v Kang (CA5 Tex) 934 F2d 621, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 254.

§ 344 Statements of accused

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence regarding statements made by an accused have been analyzed for their prejudicial impact under FRE Rule 403. Among statements which the courts have not considered sufficiently prejudicial to require exclusion are:

- A statement by a defendant which could only be explained by the defendant's taking the stand and waiving the right to remain silent 43
- Testimony that the defendant told a police officer not to "come up here any more," upon realizing he was a police officer, where the effect of the statement lacked the impact of distortion 44
- Testimony that a defendant had commented to a witness regarding the stupid setup of a bank, six weeks prior to the charged robbery. 45
- Testimony, in prosecution for burning cross on lawn of black family, that defendant had asked her whether he could attend a skinhead picnic, because it tended to establish defendant's racial animus and that he might act on his beliefs 46
- Testimony that a defendant did not want to make a statement until he had consulted with a lawyer, where the defendant raised a defense of insanity at the time of commission of the offense, because his request and his answers to personal identification questions disclosed an understanding and awareness properly considered in determining his sanity 47

On the other hand, the exclusion of a defendant's testimony (that he had never heard of anyone being prosecuted for what he had done) was proper where the testimony was considered tangentially relevant, and outweighed by the potential prejudice to the government that might arise from the suggestion that the defendant was unfairly singled out for prosecution. 48 Also excludible, to the extent that its admission by the court constituted prejudicial error, was testimony by a policeman the sole content of which was to depict the accused as a bad man because of his vulgar statements on the street, where the offensive statements which were ascribed to the accused had no substantial tendency to prove him a member of the conspiracy charged and did not relate to any of the substantive counts against him. 49

§ 344 ----Statements of accused [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution for making extortionate loans or collection by extortionate means, testimony by one of alleged borrowers that he knew one defendant "got out of jail for murder" was properly admitted to show basis for victim's fears that defendant might resort to violence to ensure repayment, since fear of collection or reprisal by violent means went to element of offense. United States v Oreto (1994, CA1 Mass) 37 F3d 739.

Exculpatory portion of defendant's statement, that he had no knowledge of weapon under bed, should have been admitted along with inculpatory portion, that he knew of marijuana under bed, but exclusion was harmless where defendant's girlfriend testified that she had purchased gun and hid it from defendant and that he had no knowledge of it. United States v Haddad (1993, CA7 Ill) 10 F3d 1252.

In murder prosecution, trial court erred in admitting tape recording of statement made by defendant on night of shootings where tape contained inadmissible and prejudicial material in form of assertions by examining police officer. Robinson v State (1990, Ala App) 574 So 2d 910, reh den, without op (Ala App) 1990 Ala Crim App LEXIS 1975.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion in a capital first-degree murder sentencing hearing by overruling defendant's objections and refusing a mistrial after evidence was elicited during cross-examination of two of defendant's expert witnesses that defendant had stated that he wanted "to shoot at blacks and to watch them dance." The statement was not elicited to establish any type of racial bias but instead to impeach the opinions of the experts and test the value of their testimony. The statement was also relevant to show that defendant had, prior to the shooting, manifested dangerousness and a violent attitude toward a particular group of people. Although both victims and defendant were white and nothing in the record suggests the killing of either victim was a racial act, the evidence was relevant since defendant shot at a particular group of people, his neighbors. State v Lynch (1995) 340 NC 435, 459 SE2d 679.

Footnotes

Footnote 43. United States v Cowsen (CA7 Ill) 530 F2d 734, cert den 426 US 906, 48 L Ed 2d 831, 96 S Ct 2227 (accused asked a bystander "to go tell his old lady that he was gone for good this time," at the time of his arrest).

Footnote 44. United States v Robinson, 174 US App DC 224, 530 F2d 1076, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1092.

Footnote 45. United States v Moss (CA8 Mo) 544 F2d 954, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 430, cert den 429 US 1077, 50 L Ed 2d 797, 97 S Ct 822.

Footnote 46. United States v Skillman (CA9 Cal) 922 F2d 1370, 91 CDOS 230, 91 Daily Journal DAR 161, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1133, cert dismd (US) 116 L Ed 2d 275, 112 S Ct 353.

Footnote 47. United States v Trujillo (CA10 Colo) 578 F2d 285, cert den 439 US 858, 58 L Ed 2d 166, 99 S Ct 175.

Footnote 48. United States v Chiarella (CA2 NY) 588 F2d 1358, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96608, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1347, revd on other grounds 445 US 222, 63 L Ed 2d 348, 100 S Ct 1108, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97309.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 49. United States v Brown (CA9 Or) 720 F2d 1059, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1592.

§ 345 Other evidence of acts ruled admissible

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence has been admitted involving other acts offered for a variety of purposes, over objections that the prejudicial impact exceeded probative value, including:

- Testimony, in a criminal prosecution in which the defendant's cohort testified for the prosecution, by the cohort that the defendant and a defense witness belonged to a secret prison gang and that the tenets of the gang required its members to lie for one another 50
- A note from a revolutionary group advocating a prison escape, in a prosecution for harboring a prison escapee, although the note was not drafted by defendant or in his presence, where a major part of the prosecution's theory of the conspiracy was that all of the defendants were members of an organization whose central committee dictated the actions of the members who followed orders in military fashion 51
- Evidence of a refusal to submit to a breathalyzer test by a plaintiff in an action under the civil rights laws 52 for false arrest, use of excessive force in an arrest, and illegal search and seizure, the evidence being admissible on the issue of the defendant officer's good faith 53

- Evidence that loan applicants had used drugs in presence of a loan consultant charged with submitting false loan applications, as relevant to the loan consultant's state of mind concerning the creditworthiness of applicants whose loan applications he obtained for purpose of getting money from a bank to fund loans, even though such evidence may have had some prejudicial effect 54
- Cross-examination of defense witnesses about civil rights picketing, in a prosecution for violating the Hobbs Act by conspiring to extort money from promoters, where the defense opened up the matter of civil-rights picketing in its direct examination, and where the jury was constantly reminded that the civil-rights picketing itself was totally proper 55
- Negotiated checks found in the defendant's car as a result of a search, and expert testimony as to how checks were collected, in a prosecution for aiding and abetting interstate transportation of falsely made and forged checks, where the defendant admitted driving two codefendants on the route of the check-cashing scheme and a fingerprint expert identified the defendant's fingerprints on an unnegotiated check and the fingerprints of the codefendant were found on other checks 56
- A portion of grand jury transcript which highlighted the witness's consultation with his counsel, in a perjury prosecution, where it could not be characterized as possessing prejudicial impact substantially outweighing its probative force as to the deliberateness of all statements 57
- Evidence regarding the silence of the accused's accountant, at an Internal Revenue Service conference held to discuss the defendant's tax liability, where the court instructed the jury that the appellant had the right to remain silent and that his silence could not be used against him 58
- Evidence in ADEA case brought by employee discharged at age 60, that two 60-year-old employees who were kept on when the plaintiff was terminated were laid off by defendant about year later 59
- Testimony of a Secret Service agent, in a prosecution for possessing a stolen $5,000 United States Treasury note and for counterfeiting such notes, as to the seizure of counterfeit Treasury notes and that they were produced from a genuine note possessed by the defendants, and that before seizure of these notes no such other notes had come to the attention of the Secret Service 60
- Testimony by the defendant's wife and his parole officer that photos taken of a bank robber resembled the defendant, in a bank-robbery prosecution, although such testimony was cumulative, somewhat equivocal, and made comparisons which the jurors could have made 61
- Statement by wife of sexual assault defendant to law enforcement officers that "you guys better find the guy before I kill him" 62
- Testimony of a detective, in a prosecution for dealing in firearms without a license, regarding information about possible criminal activity conducted at particular bar, admitted to explain why he went to that particular bar 63

- The grand jury testimony of a witness which was inconsistent with testimony at trial, admitted into evidence to impeach the witness 64
- Testimony of five witnesses who lost portions of their right arms while clearing augers on combines, in suit alleging strict products liability against a manufacturer of such combine for damages resulting from similar accidents 65

As a general rule, evidence of collateral source payments may be admitted for the purpose of showing malingering of a condition unless the prejudicial impact attending the possibility that the jury will consider such evidence for the purpose of directly reducing recoverable damages is so high, when compared to its probative value for an acceptable purpose, that the admission of the evidence would be an abuse of discretion. 66

§ 345 ----Other evidence of acts ruled admissible [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Admissibility and prejudicial effect of evidence, in criminal prosecution, of defendant's involvement with witchcraft, satanism, or the like. 18 ALR5th 804.

Case authorities:

In a prosecution for first degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder in which it was alleged that the defendant was the leader of the "Junior Black Mafia" (JBM) and that he and the co- defendants conspired to and murdered the victim as a message to another high-ranking JBM member who was suspected of killing another JBM member, no error occurred when a witness testified to his conversation with the defendant in which he told the defendant that he suspected the high-ranking member of the JBM in the murder of the other JBM member since the testimony was relevant to prove the motive of revenge. Commonwealth v Jones (Pa) 668 A2d 491, reh den (Pa) 1996 Pa LEXIS 3.

Footnotes

Footnote 50. United States v Abel, 469 US 45, 83 L Ed 2d 450, 105 S Ct 465, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 838 (testimony offered by the prosecution to impeach the defense witness's testimony on grounds of bias).

Footnote 51. United States v Hobson (CA9 Cal) 519 F2d 765, cert den 423 US 931, 46 L Ed 2d 261, 96 S Ct 283 (where the note indicated a central committee decision both to publicize and facilitate an escape, and where there was evidence of ratification by the defendant).

Footnote 52. 42 USCS § 1983.

Footnote 53. McKinney v Galvin (CA6 Mich) 701 F2d 584, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1601.

Footnote 54. United States v Castro (CA9 Cal) 887 F2d 988, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1479.

Footnote 55. United States v Beasley (CA5 Ala) 545 F2d 403, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 263, on reh (CA5 Ala) 563 F2d 1225.

Footnote 56. United States v Brown (CA5 Ga) 547 F2d 1264, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294.

Footnote 57. United States v Kopel (CA7 Ill) 552 F2d 1265, cert den 434 US 970, 54 L Ed 2d 459, 98 S Ct 520.

Footnote 58. United States v Shields (CA9 Wash) 571 F2d 1115, 78-1 USTC ¶ 9410, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1050, 41 AFTR 2d 78-1112.

Footnote 59. Bingman v Natkin & Co. (CA10 Colo) 937 F2d 553, 56 BNA FEP Cas 570, 56 CCH EPD ¶ 40841 (such evidence was not unduly prejudicial because of prior stipulation that employees age 60 were retained in work force at time plaintiff was terminated since evidence of subsequent terminations did not contradict terms of stipulation and defendant had opportunity to present evidence and explain later terminations).

Footnote 60. United States v Strahl (CA1 Mass) 590 F2d 10, cert den 440 US 918, 59 L Ed 2d 468, 99 S Ct 1237.

Footnote 61. United States v Young Buffalo (CA9 Or) 591 F2d 506, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 145, cert den 441 US 950, 60 L Ed 2d 1055, 99 S Ct 2178.

Footnote 62. United States v Barrett (CA8 Minn) 937 F2d 1346, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 374, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 263, 112 S Ct 322 (properly admitted as relevant excited utterance and not unfairly prejudicial).

Footnote 63. United States v Vitale (CA5 La) 596 F2d 688, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 466, cert den 444 US 868, 62 L Ed 2d 93, 100 S Ct 143.

Footnote 64. United States v Brighton Bldg. & Maintenance Co. (CA7 Ill) 598 F2d 1101, 1979-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62637, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 769, cert den 444 US 840, 62 L Ed 2d 52, 100 S Ct 79, 100 S Ct 80.

Footnote 65. Wheeler v John Deere Co. (CA10 Kan) 862 F2d 1404, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11982, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 518, later proceeding (DC Kan) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 3543 and appeal after remand (CA10 Kan) 935 F2d 1090, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12850, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 292, reh, en banc, den (CA10) 1991 US App LEXIS 20184.

Footnote 66. Vanskike v ACF Industries, Inc. (CA8 Mo) 665 F2d 188, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9127, cert den 455 US 1000, 71 L Ed 2d 867, 102 S Ct 1632, appeal after remand (CA8 Mo) 725 F2d 1146, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1728.

§ 346 Other evidence of acts ruled excludible

View Entire Section

The courts have excluded a variety of evidence involving other acts where the danger of prejudicial impact was considered to exceed probative value, including:

- Evidence in a race and sex discrimination case, of an alleged assault against an employee where the assault occurred several years before her discharge, the supervisor who assaulted her had nothing to do with her discharge, and the employees who fired her apparently never knew of the assault 67
- Evidence of a victim's unchastity, in a rape prosecution, since such evidence is ordinarily insufficiently probative either of her general credibility as a witness or of her consent to intercourse with the defendant to outweigh its highly prejudicial effect 68
- Testimony by the defendant's lawyer that the plaintiff in a contract action willfully withheld documents concerning the merchantability of goods covered by the contract 69
- Evidence, in action by insured alleging a bad faith failure of the insurer to pay a claim, of the insurer's relationship with other policyholders 70
- Evidence, in a negligence action brought against a movie theater by parents of a theater patron who was stabbed and killed in the theater's parking lot, that the patron's assailant was convicted of manslaughter, notwithstanding the theater's contention that the evidence was relevant to the issue of foreseeability, where the plaintiffs offered to stipulate that the stabbing was a criminal act 71
- Testimony by a defendant as to certain covert activities of the United States in which he claimed to have participated during the years in which his alleged felonies took place 72
- Reference to an immunity agreement between a government witness and the United States in connection with the witness's testimony before a grand jury investigating a judge's assassination 73
- Testimony that an FBI agent was aware that a witness had failed certain polygraph examinations relating to his allegedly procured testimony against the defendant 74
- Evidence that the defendant was earlier picked up with another who was carrying narcotics but was released, in a prosecution for importing narcotics and possessing with intent to distribute, since its relevance is heavily outweighed by the potential for prejudice if jurors know of the previous close call 75
- Admission of drug courier profile in firearms possession prosecution, without any other evidence linking defendant to drug trade 76
- Facts relating to widespread manifestations of a conspiracy, its membership and its fruits, in a prosecution for aiding and abetting importation of narcotics 77
- Evidence that an injured plaintiff applied for retirement benefits after an accident, since the jury might conclude that the plaintiff did not intend to continue to work, thereby reducing his worklife expectancy, which would be prejudicial to the plaintiff's damages claim 78

- Evidence of other claims brought by the plaintiff to show the plaintiff's claim mindedness in a negligence case where there was no proof that the plaintiff's other claims were fraudulent 79
- Evidence, in action by shareholders challenging a leveraged buy out and the adequacy of a proxy statement, of the post-merger performance of a company since possible prejudice arising from the use of events long after the preparation of the proxy statement to cast light on defendants' earlier intention outweighed its limited probative value. 80

§ 346 ----Other evidence of acts ruled excludible [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Admissibility and prejudicial effect of evidence, in criminal prosecution, of defendant's involvement with witchcraft, satanism, or the like. 18 ALR5th 804.

Case authorities:

Exclusion of evidence of hysterectomies physician performed on other patients was not abuse of discretion in medical malpractice action alleging unnecessary hysterectomy, as more prejudicial than probative of plaintiff's punitive damages claim. Buford v Howe (1994, CA5 Miss) 10 F3d 1184, reh den (CA5) 1994 US App LEXIS 4817.

In action against sailboat manufacturer by personal representatives of estates of decedents who died when recreational sailboat on which they were passengers capsized, evidence of conviction of owner and operator of sailboat, by plea of nolo contendere to negligent homicide in connection with capsizing and evidence of plaintiffs' settlement of all potential claims against owner by accepting payment from owner's homeowner's insurer will not be admitted, because even if evidence were otherwise admissible, unfair prejudice and confusion it posed would compel its exclusion. Powers v Bayliner Marine Corp. (1994, WD Mich) 855 F Supp 199.

There was no prejudicial error in a noncapital prosecution for first-degree murder, armed robbery, first- degree burglary, and second- degree arson where defendant's teacher testified on direct examination that there was an odor of feces about defendant in the classroom two days after the crime and that she thought he had had a bowel movement, which he did when under stress, and testified on cross-examination that this had happened to defendant fifteen or twenty a times in the past. The testimony had little probative value but did not have a tendency to prejudice defendant. State v Beamer (1994) 339 NC 477, 451 SE2d 190.

Footnotes

Footnote 67. Campbell v Ingersoll Milling Machine Co. (CA7 Ill) 893 F2d 925, 51 BNA FEP Cas 1798, 52 CCH EPD ¶ 39575, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1242, 15 FR Serv 3d 753, cert den 498 US 844, 112 L Ed 2d 95, 111 S Ct 127, 53 BNA FEP Cas 1512.

Footnote 68. United States v Kasto (CA8 SD) 584 F2d 268, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 20, cert den 440 US 930, 59 L Ed 2d 486, 99 S Ct 1267.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 69. Empire Gas Corp. v American Bakeries Co. (ND Ill) 646 F Supp 269, later proceeding (ND Ill) 1987 US Dist LEXIS 1324 (where the court noted that the defendant offered the testimony not to prove the breach in question but to show what it called despicable conduct of the plaintiff during the discovery phase of the case).

Footnote 70. Jones v Automobile Ins. Co. (CA11 Ga) 917 F2d 1528, 17 FR Serv 3d 1045, reh den, en banc (CA11 Ga) 920 F2d 13.

Footnote 71. Silva v Showcase Cinemas Concessions, Inc. (CA1 RI) 736 F2d 810, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1827, cert den 469 US 883, 83 L Ed 2d 189, 105 S Ct 251.

Footnote 72. United States v Wilson (CA2 NY) 750 F2d 7, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1114, cert den 479 US 839, 93 L Ed 2d 85, 107 S Ct 143 (finding no error in the District Court's holding that the defendant could testify as to his employment with various agencies in the federal intelligence community and his involvement in covert operations but that he would not be permitted to describe the details of the operations).

Footnote 73. United States v Milstead (CA5 La) 671 F2d 950, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 167.

Footnote 74. United States v Thevis (CA5 Ga) 665 F2d 616, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025, reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and cert den 456 US 1008, 73 L Ed 2d 1303, 102 S Ct 2300 and cert den 458 US 1109, 73 L Ed 2d 1370, 102 S Ct 3489 and cert den 459 US 825, 74 L Ed 2d 61, 103 S Ct 57.

The results of a polygraph examination were properly excluded from trial as too prejudicial where the purpose of the evidence was to show that the results of the polygraph examination were fabricated as part of the conspiracy, since the jury would be reasonably likely to infer that the defendant failed the polygraph examination and was therefore guilty. United States v Bowen (CA9 Cal) 857 F2d 1337, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1324.

Footnote 75. United States v Mann (CA1 Puerto Rico) 590 F2d 361, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 339.

Footnote 76. United States v Simpson (CA4 Va) 910 F2d 154, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1219.

Footnote 77. United States v Praetorius (ED NY) 462 F Supp 924, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1344.

Footnote 78. McCarthy v Silver Bulk Shipping, Ltd. (ED Pa) 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1009.

Footnote 79. Bunion v Allstate Ins. Co. (ED Pa) 502 F Supp 340.

Footnote 80. Herskowitz v Nutri/System (CA3 Pa) 857 F2d 179, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94012, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1224, cert den 489 US 1054, 103 L Ed 2d 584, 109 S Ct 1315 and cert den 489 US 1060, 103 L Ed 2d 599, 109 S Ct 1331.

3. Confusion of Issues or Misleading Jury [347-352]

§ 347 Danger of confusion of issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Relevant evidence may be excluded where its potential for confusion of the issues outweighs its probative value. 81 This rule applies to expert 82 and documentary evidence 83 as well as to other forms of testimony and evidence.

The principle that the risk of confusion, when it is so great as to upset the balance of advantage, requires the exclusion of evidence was recognized even before the adoption of the Rules. 84

The courts have been inclined to hold relevant evidence inadmissible on grounds of confusion of the issues in certain factual situations, such as—

- when evidence with great potential to confuse is of questionable relevance, limited probative value, or both. 85
- when the same facts can be presented in a simpler manner. 86
- when material allegedly offered for a legitimate purpose carries with it highly prejudicial, inadmissible evidence which will be detected and retained by the jury. 87
- when the admission of relevant evidence would lead to litigation of collateral issues. 88

But in a personal injury action arising from alleged asbestos exposure, defendant was improperly precluded from presenting evidence of exposure to asbestos products other than its own since such evidence went to the fundamental issue of cause and its admission would cause only slight confusion, if any, and would not mislead the jury. 89

◆ Observation: Evidence may be both confusing and misleading. 90

§ 347 ----Danger of confusion of issues [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of officer's comments before Police Commission and Board of Mediation and Arbitration was properly excluded under FRE 403, where mayor found liable for invasion of privacy for criticizing officer for abuse of sick leave policy asserts that he should have been permitted to establish that Commission properly terminated officer and that Board incorrectly reversed decision, because focus of this action was upon mayor's statements concerning officer, and evidence of officer's termination or process he received before Commission concerned collateral issue that would have confused jury unnecessarily. Sargeant v Serrani (1994, DC Conn) 866 F Supp 657.

Court will exercise pendent jurisdiction over former employee's state civil rights claim in employee's age discrimination action against former employer, where state and federal claim arose out of same facts so evidence of discrimination will be same for both claims and where jury confusion and prejudice will be slight, because considerations of judicial economy, convenience, and fairness to litigants weighed in favor of hearing claims at same time. Sirota v Welbilt Appliance (1994, ED NY) 840 F Supp 11.

Former state official, charged with conspiracy to defraud IRS by concealing source of income by falsifying property sale documents, was properly precluded from introducing price paid by State for other parcels of property to show that price paid to third party in question was not unusually high, since evidence would have risked jury confusion and had little relevance since issue was whether defendant was paid by third party in order to receive special treatment, not whether he received such treatment. United States v Graves (1993, CA5 La) 5 F3d 1546, petition for certiorari filed (Jan 18, 1994).

In FTCA action arising out of plaintiff's slip and fall at post office, district court committed clear error by critically discounting probative value of expert's affidavit concerning slip resistance of floor tiles while significantly overstating risk of prejudice and confusion its admission would engender, given that case would be tried to district judge, not jury, where government did not contest expert's qualifications and affidavit supported Rule 702's requirements in support of plaintiff's theory that, wet or dry, tile floor was unreasonably slippery. Buscaglia v United States (1994, CA7 Ill) 25 F3d 530, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 679.

Tape of defendant's arrest was properly excluded, even though defendant alleged denial of due process, where jury may have been sidetracked from ultimate issues to be determined by improprieties engaged in by officers in effecting arrest, and prejudicial effect on trial would have greatly outweighed any relevance to evidence. State v Allen (1992, Utah) 839 P2d 291, 194 Utah Adv Rep 12.

Footnotes

Footnote 81. § 324.

Footnote 82. § 351.

Footnote 83. § 352.

Footnote 84. Shepard v United States, 290 US 96, 78 L Ed 196, 54 S Ct 22 (ovrld on other grounds by Chapman v California, 386 US 18, 17 L Ed 2d 705, 87 S Ct 824, 24 ALR3d 1065) as stated in Adamson v Ricketts (CA9 Ariz) 758 F2d 441, 18 Fed Rules

Evid Serv 346, op withdrawn, reh gr, en banc (CA9) 764 F2d 1343 and different results reached on reh, en banc (CA9 Ariz) 789 F2d 722, cert gr 479 US 812, 93 L Ed 2d 21, 107 S Ct 62.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Propriety under Rule 403 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, permitting exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, of attack on credibility of witness for party, 48 ALR Fed 390.

Footnote 85. United States v Bowe (CA2 NY) 360 F2d 1, cert den 385 US 961, 17 L Ed 2d 306, 87 S Ct 401 and cert den 385 US 1042, 17 L Ed 2d 686, 87 S Ct 779, reh den 386 US 969, 18 L Ed 2d 127, 87 S Ct 1040; Seven Provinces Ins. Co. v Commerce & Industry Ins. Co. (WD Mo) 65 FRD 674; Estate of Le Baron v Rohm & Haas Co. (CA9 Cal) 506 F2d 1261, 1974-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 75342.

Cross-examination of victim and her mother relating to sexual abuse of victim by current stepfather was properly limited since any relevance of evidence was outweighed by danger that it would confuse jury by raising issues of stepfather's alleged conduct instead of that of defendant. State v Weymouth (Me) 496 A2d 1053.

Footnote 86. Hamling v United States, 418 US 87, 41 L Ed 2d 590, 94 S Ct 2887, 1 Media L R 1479, reh den 419 US 885, 42 L Ed 2d 129, 95 S Ct 157.

Footnote 87. Shepard v United States, 290 US 96, 78 L Ed 196, 54 S Ct 22 (ovrld on other grounds by Chapman v California, 386 US 18, 17 L Ed 2d 705, 87 S Ct 824, 24 ALR3d 1065) as stated in Adamson v Ricketts (CA9 Ariz) 758 F2d 441, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 346, op withdrawn, reh gr, en banc (CA9) 764 F2d 1343 and different results reached on reh, en banc (CA9 Ariz) 789 F2d 722, cert gr 479 US 812, 93 L Ed 2d 21, 107 S Ct 62, motion den 479 US 981, 93 L Ed 2d 571, 107 S Ct 566 and motion gr 479 US 1015, 93 L Ed 2d 717, 107 S Ct 664 and revd on other grounds 483 US 1, 97 L Ed 2d 1, 107 S Ct 2680, on remand, en banc (CA9 Ariz) 865 F2d 1011 (disapproved on other grounds by Walton v Arizona, 497 US 639, 111 L Ed 2d 511, 110 S Ct 3047) and cert den 497 US 1031, 111 L Ed 2d 795, 110 S Ct 3287 and (not followed on other grounds by Beam v Paskett (DC Idaho) 744 F Supp 958) and stay den (CA9 Ariz) 955 F2d 614, 92 CDOS 872, 92 Daily Journal DAR 1472, 21 FR Serv 3d 765, cert den (US) 120 L Ed 2d 888, 112 S Ct 3015 and (not followed on other grounds by Williams v Clarke (DC Neb) 823 F Supp 1486).

Footnote 88. United States v Silverman (CA11 Fla) 745 F2d 1386, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1316 (in obstruction of justice prosecution, court excluded bad-check-restitution testimony which defendant sought to introduce while cross-examining his former client, in order to create inference that defendant told truth when he said that his conversations with client about paying sum of money dealt with paying restitution and not bribe).

In prosecution for bankruptcy fraud and tax evasion, exclusion of defendant's prior testimony in bankruptcy proceeding to prove substance of his allegedly false statements was not abuse of discretion where probative value was far outweighed by potential to confuse jury with facts of collateral dispute. United States v Defazio (CA7 Ill) 899 F2d 626, 90-1 USTC ¶ 50204, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 190, 65 AFTR 2d 90-1010.

Footnote 89. Laney v Celotex Corp. (CA6 Mich) 901 F2d 1319, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 152.

Footnote 90. § 349.

§ 348 --Evidence excludible because of danger of confusion of issues

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence which has been excluded on the ground that its potential for confusion of the issues far outweighed its probative value has included:

- Testimony by a witness that the government had attempted to influence him to testify against the defendants, where the witness was not a witness to any of the crimes charged, where the testimony would open the door for the government to get in evidence which the court had earlier excluded, where the defense had questioned several other witnesses about possible government intimidation, and where the testimony would divert the jury's attention to collateral issues 91
- Evidence, in a RICO prosecution of a former municipal judge, of details of the underlying state cases in which the judge had allegedly taken bribes 92
- Evidence, in a criminal prosecution, of a defendant's inability to raise bond, and that he filed a pauper's affidavit 93
- Evidence, in a criminal prosecution, that a government witness lied to authorities concerning dates of her birth and marriage 94
- Evidence, in a prosecution of border patrol officers for coercing sexual favors and sexually abusing illegal aliens, of illegal aliens' prior sexual activities, including prostitution 95
- Evidence that defendant had previously been convicted of state crimes relating to vandalism of a synagogue which was charged in a federal indictment 96
- Cross-examination of an FBI agent for the purpose of establishing the agent's bias through questions about his conversations during an investigation into alleged racketeering and corruption, in particular whether the agent had offered witnesses immunity from prosecution for accepting payoffs if they would testify against the defendant and other members of a county board 97
- Testimony that an FBI agent was aware that a witness had failed certain polygraph examinations relating to his allegedly procured testimony against the defendant 98

- Testimony tending to corroborate a defendant's claim in defense that he had been unwittingly duped into transporting contraband, specifically, that several months earlier the defendant's cousin had duped a stranger 99
- A series of exhibits and accompanying testimony offered by the defendant in support of his argument that there had been no fraudulent intent with regard to a misapplication of bank funds 1
- Comparative statistical data indicating that a discharged insurance agent had a disproportionately higher number of policy holders who had been issued a protective device discount than was the case in other areas of state 2
- Statistical evidence concerning promotions offered by an age discrimination defendant 3
- Cross-examination by a defendant of a government witness concerning her assertion that the defendant had made improper sexual advances toward her, where the defendant's sexual behavior was not an issue in the case, the witness's allegations of sexual harassment by the defendant had been made without the jury present, and the trial judge determined that evidence on this point would have diverted the jury's attention from material issues 4
- Evidence of prior accidents, where it was not established that such prior accidents occurred under conditions substantially similar to those prevailing at the time of the subject occurrence 5
- Evidence relating to a criminal defendant's contention that his indictment was a political instrument to be used coercively against him 6
- Evidence of a witness's poor financial situation offered to impeach his testimony that he gave the defendant a check as a bribe rather than as a loan repayment, in a prosecution for failure to report income on tax returns 7
- Evidence of a guilty plea and a manslaughter charge arising out of the same accident, in a wrongful death action against an automobile manufacturer alleging negligent car design 8
- Tape recordings of conversations between an undercover informant and the defendant's wife concerning a separate and subsequent narcotics transaction, in a prosecution for conspiracy to distribute heroin 9
- Legal references and citations 10

Where evidence is excluded in a criminal case on the ground of confusion of the issues and misleading the jury and it is found that the exclusion was an abuse of discretion that substantially prejudiced the defendant, a new trial may be ordered. For example, it has been held an abuse of discretion to exclude testimony of defendants' witnesses tending to link circumstantially to persons other than the defendants unexplained clues and pieces of evidence introduced at trial and thus to blunt the probative force of the government's circumstantial evidence. 11

◆ Practice guide: Where material offered in evidence may lead to jury confusion, expert testimony, presented under the watchful eye of an experienced trial court, can reduce confusion to a minimum. 12 In addition, expert testimony can avoid the possibility of a jury attempting to include in its award its own uninformed allowance for inapplicable factors, such as income taxes in a personal injury award. 13

◆ Caution: Nevertheless, expert testimony may also be excluded if it leads to confusion of issues or misleading the jury. 14

◆ Observation: It has been noted that confusion of the issues, as a prejudice rule consideration, speaks appropriately to the doctrine of limited admissibility, denoting evidence admitted for one use and not for another, and to the use of evidence from, or the result of, other trials. In these situations, where the jury often is asked to consider evidence for purposes other than the natural ones, the jury is most likely to make a good-faith error. Thus, confusion of the issues is not always the same as prejudice, and the offered testimony may be noninflammatory, encouraging not so much an irrational or emotional result as simply an incorrect one. 15

§ 348 --Evidence excludible because of danger of confusion of issues [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

On retrial of charge of conspiracy to money launder, district court did not err in excluding evidence relating to underlying transaction of laundering drug money through sale of apartments, of which defendant had been acquitted, given danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading jury; government never offered instruction that might have aided jury in distinguishing between substantive act and conspiracy. United States v Morris (1996, CA5 Miss) 79 F3d 409.

In prosecution arising out of cross burnings, district court properly excluded evidence of government witness' prior state misdemeanor conviction for unlawful use of weapon as having low probative value, great prejudicial impact, and potential to confuse and mislead jury; although witness was facing one-year prison term for violating state supervision term, he faced 18 years in jail for his role in cross burnings had he not cooperated, defendants had opportunity to cross-examine witness about deal he made with government and about his testimony that he was prejudiced against black people. United States v Hayward (1993, CA7 Ill) 6 F3d 1241, petition for certiorari filed (Jan 3, 1994).

Exclusion of evidence that occurred prior to § 1983 plaintiff's arrest on grounds that its prejudicial effect outweighed its slight probative value was not abuse of discretion since, although probative of plaintiff's claim that his confession to attempted rape was coerced, trial could quickly have become focused on whether plaintiff was guilty or innocent of attempted rape instead of on alleged constitutional rights violations by arresting officers. West v Carson (1995, CA8 Mo) 49 F3d 433, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 599.

District court in employment discrimination lawsuit did not err in excluding determination letter issued by EEOC's Washington, DC, office on grounds that danger of confusing issues substantially outweighed admittedly probative value of letter, since district court was properly concerned that admitting letter would shift jury's focus away from determining whether employer discriminated against plaintiff in terminating her and toward resolving conflicting findings of that letter and one issued by EEOC's Miami office. Walker v NationsBank N.A. (1995, CA11 Fla) 53 F3d 1548, 9 FLW Fed C 157, 68 BNA FEP Cas 314.

Footnotes

Footnote 91. United States v Cole (CA5 Ga) 670 F2d 35, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 46.

Footnote 92. United States v Glecier (CA7 Ill) 923 F2d 496, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1517, reh den, en banc (CA7) 1991 US App LEXIS 1460 and cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 31, 112 S Ct 54.

Footnote 93. United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558.

Footnote 94. United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558.

Footnote 95. United States v Davila (CA5 Tex) 704 F2d 749, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1775.

Footnote 96. United States v Greer (CA5 Tex) 939 F2d 1076, 36 Fed Rules Evid Serv 168, reh, en banc, gr (CA5 Tex) 948 F2d 934 and reinstated, in part, on reh, en banc (CA5 Tex) 968 F2d 433, reh den (CA5) 1992 US App LEXIS 23160 and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 764, 113 S Ct 1390 (holding such evidence was properly excluded since it was neither probative as to why certain other skinheads testified against defendant and was likely to confuse jury as to why it was being asked to render verdict against defendant in light of fact that he had already pleaded guilty to vandalizing temple; evidence could have hampered government unfairly by suggesting that defendant had been convicted and punished for his unlawful conduct).

Footnote 97. United States v Renfro (CA5 Miss) 620 F2d 497, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383, cert den 449 US 921, 66 L Ed 2d 149, 101 S Ct 321 (the court noting that if the evidence were admitted, the trial might have devolved into a lengthy dispute about the racketeering charges and the FBI investigation into the defendant and other parties, wasting valuable time and judicial resources and confusing and misleading the jury).

Footnote 98. United States v Thevis (CA5 Ga) 665 F2d 616, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025, reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and cert den 456 US 1008, 73 L Ed 2d 1303, 102 S Ct 2300 and cert den 458 US 1109, 73 L Ed 2d 1370, 102 S Ct 3489 and cert den 459 US 825, 74 L Ed 2d 61, 103 S Ct 57.

Footnote 99. United States v Aboumoussallem (CA2 NY) 726 F2d 906, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1403 (the court stating that the issue was somewhat close but that trial judges have considerable discretion in balancing FRE Rule 403 factors and that there was no abuse of that discretion in the case).

Footnote 1. United States v Williams (CA5 La) 639 F2d 1311, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv

1518, reh den (CA5 La) 644 F2d 34 and amd 454 US 1096, 70 L Ed 2d 637, 102 S Ct 668 and revd on other grounds 458 US 279, 73 L Ed 2d 767, 102 S Ct 3088, 34 UCCRS 385, on remand (CA5 La) 686 F2d 261.

Footnote 2. Turner v Allstate Ins. Co. (CA6 Mich) 902 F2d 1208, 5 BNA IER Cas 722, 115 CCH LC ¶ 56307, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 290, reh den, en banc (CA6) 1990 US App LEXIS 10123.

Footnote 3. Wingfield v United Technologies Corp. (DC Conn) 678 F Supp 973, 53 BNA FEP Cas 347, 49 CCH EPD ¶ 38707, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1174 (finding that without expert analysis of standard deviation, such evidence is meaningless, confusing, and irrelevant.

In an age discrimination suit, district judge did not abuse its discretion in excluding employer's statistical evidence for the company's Mid-Atlantic region as a whole, while allowing the employer to present statistical evidence concerning employees who were terminated at a branch for a period of 18 months before and 18 months after the dismissal of plaintiff, since it was reasonable to conclude that region-wide statistics would be of limited probative value in determining whether discrimination took place in a particular branch, and court had to take precautions to ensure against juror confusion. Herold v Hajoca Corp. (CA4 Va) 864 F2d 317, 48 BNA FEP Cas 972, 48 CCH EPD ¶ 38527, cert den 490 US 1107, 104 L Ed 2d 1022, 109 S Ct 3159, 49 BNA FEP Cas 1896, 50 CCH EPD ¶ 39199.

Footnote 4. United States v Marvin (CA8 Mo) 720 F2d 12, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 610.

Footnote 5. Roundtree v Seaboard C. L. R. Co. (MD Fla) 418 F Supp 220, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 561.

Footnote 6. United States v Johnson (CA7 Ind) 605 F2d 1025, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1288, cert den 444 US 1033, 62 L Ed 2d 670, 100 S Ct 706.

Footnote 7. United States v Clavey (CA7 Ill) 565 F2d 111, on reh, en banc (CA7) 578 F2d 1219, cert den 439 US 954, 58 L Ed 2d 345, 99 S Ct 351.

Footnote 8. Rozier v Ford Motor Co. (CA5 Ga) 573 F2d 1332, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 119, 25 FR Serv 2d 1133, 50 ALR Fed 914, reh den (CA5 Ga) 578 F2d 871.

Footnote 9. United States v Lyles (CA2 NY) 593 F2d 182, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 928, cert den 440 US 972, 59 L Ed 2d 789, 99 S Ct 1537 and cert den 440 US 975, 59 L Ed 2d 794, 99 S Ct 1545 and cert den 444 US 847, 62 L Ed 2d 61, 100 S Ct 94.

Footnote 10. United States v Bernhardt (CA8 Neb) 642 F2d 251, 81-1 USTC ¶ 9301, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1222, 47 AFTR 2d 81-959.

Footnote 11. United States v Larson (CA8 Minn) 596 F2d 759.

Footnote 12. Hooks v Washington Sheraton Corp., 188 US App DC 71, 578 F2d 313, appeal after remand (App DC) 30 FR Serv 2d 626.

Footnote 13. Hooks v Washington Sheraton Corp., 188 US App DC 71, 578 F2d 313, appeal after remand (App DC) 30 FR Serv 2d 626.

Footnote 14. § 351.

Footnote 15. Dolan, Rule 403: The Prejudice Rule in Evidence, 49 So Cal L Rev 220, 240-241 (1976).

§ 349 Danger of misleading the jury

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Rule 403 permits the exclusion of relevant evidence if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of misleading the jury. 16 This rule applies to expert 17 and documentary evidence. 18 The courts frequently fail to make a distinction between the danger of confusion 19 and the danger of misleading the jury, and will exclude testimony on the ground that it is both confusing and misleading. 20

◆ Observation: It has been noted that misleading the jury is not synonymous with confusing the issues, and that while it is true that evidence which confuses the issues is likely to mislead as well, the reverse is not always true. 21

§ 349 ----Danger of misleading the jury [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In strict products liability case against stove manufacturer, court will allow and disallow certain evidence of victim's alcohol use under FRE 403, where evidence consists of testimony that victim drank 2 vodka tonics before dinner, and that serum alcohol test performed after stove fire erupted and burned victim later in evening showed that alcohol level was 0.075 about 11 p.m., because evidence that victim drank 2 cocktails will not confuse or distract jury, but admitting evidence of her serum alcohol would necessitate minitrial on issue of validity, extrapolation, conversion, and contextual meaning of level, given complications caused by burn injuries and their treatment, and such conjectural evidence would be highly prejudicial to victim and only serve to confuse and distract jury from pivotal issue of failure to provide warnings on stove. Kempe v Dometic Corp. (1994, DC Del) 866 F Supp 817.

Footnotes

Footnote 16. FRE Rule 403; Uniform Rules of Evidence Rule 403.

Footnote 17. § 351.

Footnote 18. § 352.

Footnote 19. § 347.

Footnote 20. United States v Durrani (DC Conn) 659 F Supp 1183, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1828, affd (CA2 Conn) 835 F2d 410, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 535; United States v Renfro (CA5 Miss) 620 F2d 497, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383, cert den 449 US 921, 66 L Ed 2d 149, 101 S Ct 321; United States v Larson (CA8 Minn) 596 F2d 759; State v Wright (Fla App D1) 473 So 2d 268, 10 FLW 1806, review den (Fla) 484 So 2d 10; Buzzell v Bliss (Minn App) 358 NW2d 695, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10359; State v Miller (Utah) 709 P2d 350.

In sexual battery prosecution, where defense claimed that rapes as described by 14-year-old victim were unlikely, if not impossible, because of large size of defendant's penis, trial court did not abuse discretion in refusing to admit photographs and models of defendant's penis and in refusing to allow defendant to display his penis to the jury, as evidence was of dubious probative value and was potentially confusing and misleading. State v Wright (Fla App D1) 473 So 2d 268, 10 FLW 1806, review den (Fla) 484 So 2d 10.

See State v Risdal (Iowa) 404 NW2d 130, affirming a defendant's conviction of sexual abuse of two minor boys, holding that evidence offered to show that child victims who described the sexual incidents did not lack the background from which to fabricate the occurrence would not have been admissible, since the evidence of prior sexual activity was of marginal probative value and was certainly outweighed by the substantial danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, misleading of the jury, and the invasion of the victims' privacy, which the rape shield laws were designed to prevent.

Footnote 21. Dolan, Rule 403: The Prejudice Rule in Evidence, 49 Southern Cal L Rev 220, 241-242 (1976).

§ 350 --Evidence excludible because of danger of misleading the jury

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Among the types of evidence which have been excluded on grounds that the danger of misleading the jury substantially outweighed its probative value are:

- Portions of an engine overhaul report not pertaining to the mechanical parts allegedly improperly installed, in a negligence action arising from an airplane crash 22
- A certified copy of a driver's guilty plea to manslaughter charges arising out of a collision, in a tort action alleging negligent design of a vehicle's fuel tank as the cause of death of a passenger 23
- Evidence of canceled checks cashed by a defendant accused of cashing bribery checks from another company, in an extortion and bribery trial 24

- Testimony consisting of an ambiguous answer by a physician in response to an extremely complicated cross-examination question, in a deposition taken for a workers' compensation case 25
- Testimony of two associates of a defendant convicted for federal tax evasion to the effect that one of the associates was known to have the character trait of being "closed mouthed," the defendant's theory being that a government agent had given certain information to the associate as part of an effort to "frame" the defendant and that the associate had been particularly selected for the frameup because the associate was known to be "closed mouthed" and thus unlikely to discuss the matter with anyone, including the defendant 26
- Testimony that an FBI agent was aware that a witness had failed certain polygraph examinations relating to his allegedly procured testimony against the defendant, the court stating that the probative value of the evidence was slight while the risk of jury confusion was high 27
- Testimony concerning two murders which occurred in the prison wherein the defendants, charged with attempting to escape, were incarcerated, the defendants attempting to link the murders with their fear of harm and resulting compulsion to flee the prison 28
- Circumstantial evidence to show that the defendant did not receive large sums of money that a government witness claimed he had received, including an attempt to show that the defendant was unable to raise a bond fund and filed pauper's affidavit, in a conspiracy prosecution 29
- Evidence, in a slip and fall case, of the subsequent condition of a store's floors since its probative value was quite low and might have misled the jury 30
- Evidence, in products liability case, of post-accident revision of an aircraft shop manual, since it could have been construed by the jury as an admission that instructions for the aircraft that crashed were defective and thereby divert the jury from issue whether product was defective at the relevant time 31
- Evidence of a drug courier profile, in a prosecution for trying to board a plane carrying a firearm, in the absence of evidence linking the defendant to the drug trade, because of the risk of misleading the jury to focus on drug crimes 32

Photographic evidence may be excluded where it may tend to mislead the jury. 33

- ◆ Caution: Evidence of experiments creates a danger of misleading members of the jury who may attach exaggerated significance to the test. An experiment which purports to simulate the circumstances of an event, but which does not do so, is likely to be misunderstood by the jury and given exaggerated weight when the evidence is of no probative value. 34

§ 350 --Evidence excludible because of danger of misleading the jury
[SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court did not abuse its discretion in excluding from government's case-in-chief in prosecution for violations of Export Administration Act 13 exhibits consisting of records of meetings of industry working group, newspaper clippings discussing Indian government's missile program, defendants' registrations and renewal applications filed with State Department, and Indian Defense Laboratory's request for proposals for carbon/carbon processing facility for which defendant submitted winning bid, since, although exhibits had some relevance to issue of whether defendants knew that control panel for hot isostatic press required individual license, district court had every reason to be concerned that exhibits would be unfairly prejudicial as tending to suggest that defendants knew they were aiding project to develop missile technology for Indian government and that use of exhibits could divert jury's attention from whether commodity is listed and known to be and whether it is to be used for military purposes. United States v Lachman (1995, CA1 Mass) 48 F3d 586, 41 Fed Rules Evid Serv 339.

District court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to allow defendant to reopen case to present testimony of alibi witness where court had granted additional time for witnesses to appear and ordered closing arguments to begin when witnesses did not appear by end of that time period; allowing testimony of witness after closing arguments would possibly have provided defendant with unfair advantage and quite possibly confused jury. United States v Wilson (1994, CA6 Ohio) 27 F3d 1126, 1994 FED App 226P, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA6 Ohio) 1994 US App LEXIS 23935 and cert den (1994, US) 1994 US LEXIS 7763.

Footnotes

Footnote 22. Benna v Reeder Flying Service, Inc. (CA9 Alaska) 578 F2d 269, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 396.

Footnote 23. Rozier v Ford Motor Co. (CA5 Ga) 573 F2d 1332, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 119, 25 FR Serv 2d 1133, 50 ALR Fed 914, reh den (CA5 Ga) 578 F2d 871.

Footnote 24. United States v Hathaway (CA1 Mass) 534 F2d 386, cert den 429 US 819, 50 L Ed 2d 79, 97 S Ct 64.

Footnote 25. Wright v Hartford Acci. & Indem. Co. (CA5 Tex) 580 F2d 809, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 870.

Footnote 26. United States v Klein (SD NY) 474 F Supp 1243, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 61, affd without op (CA2 NY) 614 F2d 1292, cert den 447 US 905, 64 L Ed 2d 853, 100 S Ct 2985.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 27. United States v Thevis (CA5 Ga) 665 F2d 616, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025, reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and cert den 456 US 1008, 73 L Ed 2d 1303, 102 S Ct 2300 and cert den 458 US 1109, 73 L Ed 2d 1370, 102 S Ct 3489 and cert den 459 US 825, 74 L Ed 2d 61, 103 S Ct 57.

Footnote 28. United States v Garza (CA7 Ill) 664 F2d 135, cert den 455 US 993, 71 L Ed 2d 854, 102 S Ct 1620 (noting that the significant delay between the murders and the escape suggested the limited probative value of the murder evidence and that such evidence would have necessitated a trial within a trial just to prove certain inmates had harmed others and now sought to harm the defendants, other defense witnesses having already established that the defendants were in danger).

Footnote 29. United States v Harris (CA7 Ind) 542 F2d 1283, cert den 430 US 934, 51 L Ed 2d 779, 97 S Ct 1558.

Footnote 30. Le Boeuf v K-Mart Corp. (CA5 La) 888 F2d 330, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 959.

Footnote 31. Mills v Beech Aircraft Corp. (CA5 Miss) 886 F2d 758, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231, 15 FR Serv 3d 342.

Footnote 32. United States v Simpson (CA4 Va) 910 F2d 154, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1219.

Footnote 33. King v Ford Motor Co. (CA5 Ala) 597 F2d 436, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 512 (photographs of allegedly malfunctioning motor vehicle chassis, taken after it was manufactured into a truck, in action for injuries allegedly suffered as result of such malfunction); United States v Akers, 226 US App DC 408, 702 F2d 1145, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1304 (photographs offered to support claim that police officers were unable to see occurrences to which they testified, court observing that photographs did not depict view police officers had).

Where accident occurred at night, evidence of photographs taken at the scene of the accident during daylight hours would be excluded as misleading, since they distorted the accident scene with respect to contours, terrain, and distances involved. Featherly v Continental Ins. Co., 73 Wis 2d 273, 243 NW2d 806.

Footnote 34. Barnes v General Motors Corp. (CA5 Miss) 547 F2d 275.

§ 351 Expert testimony

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The possibility of confusion of the issues or misleading the jury can lead to the exclusion of expert testimony, 35 including that presented by the defendant. 36 A false aura of scientific infallibility, coupled with low probative value of the evidence, increases courts' resistance to admitting some expert evidence, since it multiplies the hazards of misleading a jury. 37 Moreover, expert testimony may be excluded 38 where it is cumulative in nature and will foster a battle of the experts. 39 Thus, expert testimony of a clinical psychologist about characteristics of "typical" child sexual offender has been excluded. 40 Furthermore, where a psychologist who did not interview the victim of alleged sexual abuse would have testified that interview techniques used on victim were professionally disfavored, exclusion on ground of danger of confusion was proper so as to avoid a "trial within trial" as to the adequacy of the investigation. 41

Exclusion of expert witnesses' testimony on the meaning of a taped conversation on money laundering, on basis of confusion was not erroneous where the court did permit the participants in the conversations to testify and the expert's testimony represented a third party's appraisal of events in which he was not involved. 42 But when defendant raises "reverse-sting" defense, expert psychological testimony should be admissible on issue of whether the mental condition of defendant rendered him incapable of forming the requisite intent. 43

§ 351 ----Expert testimony [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Admissibility of expert psychological evidence in the federal courts, 27 Ariz St LJ 4:1315 (1996).

Footnotes

Footnote 35. Rogers v Raymark Industries, Inc. (CA9 Cal) 922 F2d 1426, 91 CDOS 319, 91 Daily Journal DAR 380, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1231 (exclusion of expert testimony in asbestos case brought by widow of shipyard welder where expert's description of shipyard insulation techniques would have been relevant only to that portion of deceased's work experience which put him in close proximity to insulators, and jury might have been confused into equating expert's description of life as insulator with life as welder).

Court need not permit calling an expert witness who would change the theory of the case at the eleventh hour. Goldberg v National Life Ins. Co. (CA2 NY) 774 F2d 559, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 567.

Footnote 36. United States v MacDonald (CA4 NC) 688 F2d 224, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 474, cert den 459 US 1103, 74 L Ed 2d 951, 103 S Ct 726, habeas corpus proceeding (ED NC) 640 F Supp 286, later proceeding (ED NC) 607 F Supp 1183 and affd (CA4 NC) 779 F2d 962, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151, cert den 479 US 813, 93 L Ed 2d 22, 107 S Ct 63, habeas corpus den (ED NC) 778 F Supp 1342, affd (CA4 NC) 966 F2d 854, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 542, 113 S Ct 606 (no error in exclusion of testimony of forensic psychiatrist who would state opinion that defendant had personality configuration inconsistent with outrageous and senseless murders with which he was charged).

Generally, as to grounds for limiting expert opinion, see 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial § 342.

Annotation: Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 37. Re "Agent Orange" Product Liability Litigation (ED NY) 611 F Supp 1223.

Footnote 38. Under FRE Rule 403.

Footnote 39. United States v MacDonald (CA4 NC) 688 F2d 224, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 474, cert den 459 US 1103, 74 L Ed 2d 951, 103 S Ct 726; United States v Schmidt (CA5 Tex) 711 F2d 595, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1415, reh den (CA5 Tex) 716 F2d 901 and cert den 464 US 1041, 79 L Ed 2d 169, 104 S Ct 705 (no error in exclusion of testimony by linguistics expert that allegedly would have supported defense that falsehoods which might have been stated by defendant were not knowingly and willingly uttered; United States v Thevis (CA5 Ga) 665 F2d 616, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1025, reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and reh den (CA5 Ga) 671 F2d 1379 and cert den 456 US 1008, 73 L Ed 2d 1303, 102 S Ct 2300 and cert den 458 US 1109, 73 L Ed 2d 1370, 102 S Ct 3489 and cert den 459 US 825, 74 L Ed 2d 61, 103 S Ct 57 (court excluded testimony of polygraph examiner offered by defendant).

Footnote 40. State v Miller (Utah) 709 P2d 350.

Footnote 41. State v Russell (Me) 571 A2d 229.

Footnote 42. United States v Allibhai (CA5 Tex) 939 F2d 244, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1030, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 133, 112 S Ct 967.

Footnote 43. United States v Roberts (CA5 Tex) 887 F2d 534, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1523.

§ 352 Documentary evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Documentary evidence may be excluded where its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of confusion of the issues or misleading the jury, either alone or in conjunction with other factors. 44 Among the types of documentary evidence which have been excluded on grounds that the danger of confusion of issues or misleading the jury substantially outweighed its probative value are:

- The President's Special Review Board report on the Iran/Contra affair (the Tower Report), which a businessman charged with violations of the Arms Export Control Act claimed constituted a factual finding that there was a widespread scheme by the United States to ship missile parts to Iran in exchange for hostages in Lebanon 45
- Classified documents pertaining to foreign intelligence activities of a defendant where the evidence did not prove defendant's claim that he was innocent of swindling investors because the CIA had instructed him to spend investor money, where the evidence may have confused the jury and delayed the trial, the government's witnesses testified about defendant's CIA contacts and the defendant introduced evidence that the CIA knew of the expenditures 46

- Over 200 pages of official documents relating to the bankruptcy of a government witness offered by defendants convicted of securities fraud, mail fraud, wire fraud, and conspiracy, where no specific part of the documents were pointed out to court or jury as being inconsistent with the testimony of the government witness and only a relatively small number of excerpts bore at all on relevant subject 47
- An affidavit by the wife of a government operative probative of the operative's receipt of a kickback, and other affidavits from the defendant's trial counsel and one of his associates, supporting defendant's claim that this newly discovered evidence would enable him to prove that the operative had received kickbacks, where the probative weight of the evidence was substantially outweighed by the dangers of confusion and delay 48
- A medical publication offered in an action against a drug manufacturer for harm caused to a patient by the drug 49
- Tax returns sought to be introduced by defendant to show that he was in the upholstery business at the time of claimed drug offenses and thus had no need to look to drug trafficking for income 50
- Documentary evidence proving the validity of debts owed to a defendant 51
- Exhibits involving fuel tests, in an action arising from a plane crash, which were allegedly conducted so as to give false readings as to the amount of unusable fuel in cells, resulting in the pilot receiving misleading data, where there was no evidence that the pilot relied upon any misrepresentation and where exhibits did not mention auxiliary cells which were ones referred to as defective in the answers to interrogatories and in the pretrial order 52
- Hospital records containing technical medical terminology and depicting results of an electrocardiogram, and not accompanied by direct medical testimony 53
- Bills for medical expenses incurred by a railroad employee in an FELA action where the bills had been paid by an insurance company under a policy for which the railroad, not the employee, paid premiums, since the employee could not recover expenses reflected in the bills, they bore little relevance to case and jury might have been confused and possibly awarded double recovery 54

§ 352 ----Documentary evidence [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In suit against union for breach of duty of fair representation, trial court did not err in excluding evidence that NLRB elected not to issue complaint in case since documents did not provide factual basis for NLRB's conclusion of insufficient evidence and jury was likely to have assigned greater value to decision than it was worth. Black v Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide (1994, CA6 Tenn) 15 F3d 573, 145 BNA LRRM 2387, 127 CCH LC ¶ 11008, 1994 FED App 31P.

Footnotes

Footnote 44. Evidence offered by defendant at federal criminal trial as inadmissible, under Rule 403 of Federal Rules of Evidence, on ground that probative value is substantially outweighed by danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or misleading the jury, 76 ALR Fed 700.

Footnote 45. United States v Durrani (DC Conn) 659 F Supp 1183, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1828, affd (CA2 Conn) 835 F2d 410, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 535 (the court noting that to the extent that certain portions of the report were relevant, the businessman failed to show that the probative value of the entire report outweighed the danger of confusing the issues, misleading the jury, and delaying the trial unduly).

Footnote 46. United States v Rewald (CA9 Hawaii) 889 F2d 836, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 145, 103 ALR Fed 159, amd (CA9) 902 F2d 18 and cert den 498 US 819, 112 L Ed 2d 39, 111 S Ct 64.

Footnote 47. United States v King (CA2 NY) 560 F2d 122, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1121, cert den 434 US 925, 54 L Ed 2d 283, 98 S Ct 404.

Footnote 48. United States v Thompson (CA2 NY) 710 F2d 915, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 584, cert den 464 US 1039, 79 L Ed 2d 167, 104 S Ct 702.

Footnote 49. Apicella v McNeil Laboratories, Inc. (ED NY) 66 FRD 78, 19 FR Serv 2d 1360.

Footnote 50. United States v Williams (CA5 Ga) 613 F2d 560; United States v Tidwell (CA5 Fla) 559 F2d 262, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 185, reh den (CA5 Fla) 564 F2d 98 and cert den 435 US 942, 55 L Ed 2d 538, 98 S Ct 1520.

Footnote 51. United States v Miller (CA8 SD) 725 F2d 462, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1656 (court noting that defendants' attempt to characterize transaction as good-faith and legitimate debt collection attempt was misleading and diverted attention from crimes for which they were charged).

Footnote 52. Rigby v Beech Aircraft Co. (CA10 Utah) 548 F2d 288.

Footnote 53. McDougall v Thomas (DC Dist Col) 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 353.

Footnote 54. Varhol v National R. Passenger Corp. (CA7 Ill) 909 F2d 1557, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1152, 17 FR Serv 3d 1.

4. Undue Delay or Waste of Time [353, 354]

§ 353 General principles

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Rule 403 provides for discretionary exclusion of relevant evidence where its probative value is substantially outweighed by considerations of undue delay or waste of time. 55 The danger of waste of time increases when the proffered evidence is of low probative value and is confusing to the jury. 56 In complex and protracted litigation, waste of the factfinder's time is a particularly telling factor. 57

In a number of cases, relevant evidence has been excluded on such grounds, by——denying inquiry on cross-examination into the contents of the defendant's diaries, on the collateral issue of credibility, in a suit against a stockbroker alleging churning of accounts. 58

—refusing, in a products liability suit, to admit evidence about the collapse of another wheel manufactured by the defendant because otherwise it would be necessary to present a considerable amount of extrinsic evidence to determine whether the incidents were sufficiently similar. 59

—excluding evidence of victim's altercation with police officer three years earlier, in a case charging a Secret Service Agent with the use of excessive force, since the potential delay from allowing a mini-trial on plaintiff's conduct outweighed any likely probative value such inquiry would yield upon the question whether the agent used excessive force upon the plaintiff. 60

—excluding classified documents relating to a claim that the CIA required defendant to spend investor money where the evidence would have considerably delayed an already lengthy trial. 61

—limiting a line of inquiry relating to an Internal Revenue Service agent's suspicions of being monitored, where the questioning was bordering on the marginally relevant, in a prosecution for electronic eavesdropping on Internal Revenue Service agents. 62

—precluding introduction of evidence of a transaction in which a criminal defendant took no part, the evidence being of limited probative value, in a prosecution for failure to report income tax. 63

—excluding evidence of government offers of leniency to defendants in exchange for their cooperation, which was of doubtful relevancy to the issue of guilt or innocence, in a prosecution for kidnapping. 64

—excluding expert testimony as to community standards in effect more than four years prior to defendant's obscenity trial. 65

However, evidence should not be excluded on the ground of delay or waste of time when the proffered evidence is of central importance to the case. 66 And in a criminal prosecution, it has been held that the court cannot permit the prosecution to present its case and then deny defendant's motion to present his defense on the ground that it would be too time-consuming. 67

◆ Practice guide: Although a trial court has inherent power to ensure that cases proceed before it in a timely fashion, 68 it has been suggested that in a protracted case of several months' duration, the purpose of FRE Rule 403 can best be achieved by considering time in the aggregate and leaving to counsel the initial responsibility for making individual selections as to the relative degree of probative value for the mass of evidence available. In accomplishing this purpose, it is appropriate for the court to establish an absolute limit on the number of days available for a party to conclude presentation of its case, in light of the progress of the case to that point. 69 But there is contrary authority to the effect that a judge may not set strict time limits for a trial. 70

Footnotes

Footnote 55. FRE Rule 403; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 403.

Footnote 56. Re "Agent Orange" Product Liability Litigation (ED NY) 611 F Supp 1223, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 144.

Annotation: Propriety under Rule 403 of the Federal Rules of Evidence, permitting exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time, of attack on credibility of witness for party, 48 ALR Fed 390.

Footnote 57. Re "Agent Orange" Product Liability Litigation (ED NY) 611 F Supp 1223, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 144.

Footnote 58. Van Alen v Dominick & Dominick, Inc. (CA2 NY) 560 F2d 547, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96136, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 168.

Footnote 59. Wilson v Bicycle South, Inc. (CA11 Ga) 915 F2d 1503, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 682.

Footnote 60. United States v Schatzle (CA2 NY) 901 F2d 252, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1246.

Footnote 61. United States v Rewald (CA9 Hawaii) 889 F2d 836, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 145, 103 ALR Fed 159, and (CA9) 902 F2d 18 and cert den 498 US 819, 112 L Ed 2d 39, 111 S Ct 64 (noting that defendant had introduced other evidence that CIA required him to travel abroad).

Footnote 62. United States v Duncan (CA4 NC) 598 F2d 839, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 848, cert den 444 US 871, 62 L Ed 2d 96, 100 S Ct 148.

Footnote 63. United States v Clavey (CA7 Ill) 565 F2d 111, on reh, en banc (CA7) 578 F2d 1219, cert den 439 US 954, 58 L Ed 2d 345, 99 S Ct 351.

Footnote 64. United States v Callahan (DC Minn) 442 F Supp 1213, 2 Fed Rules Evid

Serv 890, later proceeding (DC Minn) 455 F Supp 524, revd on other grounds (CA8 Minn) 596 F2d 759.

Footnote 65. State v Loshin (Hamilton Co) 34 Ohio App 3d 62, 517 NE2d 229, motion overr (on ground that such evidence would cause undue delay or was needlessly cumulative).

Footnote 66. Busby v Orlando (CA11 Fla) 931 F2d 764, 55 BNA FEP Cas 1466, 56 CCH EPD ¶ 40860, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 760 (superseded by statute as stated in Wilson v Gillis Advertising Co. (ND Ala) 61 CCH EPD ¶ 42245).

It was error to exclude evidence plainly relevant to the issue of damages, where trial court seemed to have been prompted chiefly, if not solely, by court's impatience about the length of the trial. Bower v O'Hara (CA3 VI) 759 F2d 1117.

Footnote 67. State v Elliott (App) 96 NM 798, 635 P2d 1001.

Confusion or delay resulting from admission of testimony tending to show bias of a prosecution's sole identification witness would have to be overwhelming to satisfy the balancing test of FRE Rule 403. United States v Harvey (CA2 NY) 547 F2d 720, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 449.

Footnote 68. 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial § 182.

Footnote 69. SCM Corp. v Xerox Corp. (DC Conn) 77 FRD 10, 1978-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62399, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 485, 25 FR Serv 2d 22.

Footnote 70. See Johnson v Ashby (CA8 Neb) 808 F2d 676, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 533, where the court disapproved a ruling that each party would have three days to divide between opening statement, direct and cross-examination, and closing argument, but did not reverse since appellant failed to make timely objection and offer of proof.

And see Flaminio v Honda Motor Co. (CA7 Wis) 733 F2d 463, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10072, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 968, criticizing the trial court for allocating 18 hours to plaintiff and 15 hours to defendant since the effect was to "engender an unhealthy preoccupation with the clock," and noting that the discussion of the precise method of time-keeping resulted in "a method that made the computation almost as complicated as in a professional football game."

§ 354 Effect of "surprise"

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

While a few jurisdictions list "surprise" or "harmful surprise" as a ground for exclusion of evidence similar to undue delay, 71 neither the Federal or Uniform version of Rule 403 makes any reference to surprise. 72 The same is true of the California and New Jersey evidence codes. 73

◆ Practice guide: Continuance may be a more appropriate remedy for surprise rather than total exclusion of the evidence. 74 Nevertheless, the actions of trial courts rejecting requests for continuances based on surprise have generally been upheld. 75 And in a Uniform Rule state it has been held that testimony which results in surprise may be excluded if surprise would require a continuance causing undue delay. 76

Footnotes

Footnote 71. See Oklahoma version of Rule 403, cited in 13A Uniform Laws Annotated, Rules of Evidence, Note to Rule 403. See also Kansas and Utah statutes cited in Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence (Rev. 1985) § 130.

Footnote 72.

◆ Comment: The Advisory Committee Notes to FRE Rule 403 point out that the rule does not enumerate surprise as a ground for exclusion.

Footnote 73. See Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence (Rev. 1985) § 130.

Footnote 74. Shelak v White Motor Co. (CA5 Tex) 581 F2d 1155, 26 FR Serv 2d 355, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 636 F2d 1069; Le Maire v United States (CA10 Colo) 826 F2d 949, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 938.

Footnote 75. Conway v Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (CA5 Tex) 687 F2d 108, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1895, 34 FR Serv 2d 1485, reh den (CA5 Tex) 693 F2d 133; United States v Nakaladski (CA5 Fla) 481 F2d 289, cert den 414 US 1064, 38 L Ed 2d 469, 94 S Ct 570 and cert den 414 US 1064, 38 L Ed 2d 469, 94 S Ct 570.

Footnote 76. Lease America Corp. v Insurance Co. of North America, 88 Wis 2d 395, 276 NW2d 767.

5. Cumulative Evidence [355, 356]

§ 355 General rule as to admissibility

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Relevant evidence may be excluded if it will result in needless presentation of cumulative evidence. 77 This is a codification of the common-law rule that even though proffered evidence is otherwise relevant to the issues in a case, it will not be considered relevant and material, and therefore admissible, where it is merely surplusage 78 or cumulative.

79

The court has considerable latitude in exercising its discretion to exclude relevant but cumulative evidence, 80 although it would be error to exclude a witness's relevant noncumulative testimony. 81 Clearly, allegedly cumulative evidence may be admitted if more probative than prejudicial. 82 Photographs have frequently been held admissible even though clearly cumulative of other evidence. 83

In a criminal case, exclusion of impeachment testimony sought to be introduced by a defendant on the basis of cumulative evidence is only proper where the exclusion is weighed against the Sixth Amendment right to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in the defendant's favor. 84

◆ Practice guide: Exclusion of needlessly cumulative evidence may be made either during the presentation of the case in chief or during rebuttal. 85

§ 355 ----General rule as to admissibility [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In a hearing to determine whether a sexually abused child should be allowed supervised visitation with his parents and whether he should be moved from Durham to Cumberland County, the trial court did not err in refusing to allow the child's therapist to testify concerning her therapy session with the child following the child's in-court revelation of an incident of sexual abuse at his group home in Durham, since that testimony would have been cumulative. In re Chasse (1994) 116 NC App 52, 446 SE2d 855.

The trial court in a personal injury action did not err in excluding affidavits by plaintiff, the investigating officer, and the clerk of court, since plaintiff's affidavit was merely cumulative; the other two affidavits simply stated the offense of which defendant was convicted; and the offense of which defendant was eventually convicted had no bearing on the issue of plaintiff's contributory negligence at the time of the accident. Goodman v Connor (1994) 117 NC App 113, 450 SE2d 5, review den 338 NC 668, 453 SE2d 177.

Footnotes

Footnote 77. FRE Rule 403; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 403.

As to a trial judge's right to exclude evidence as cumulative, see 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 337-340.

Footnote 78. Layton v Campbell, 155 Ala 220, 46 So 775.

Footnote 79. Edmonds v State, 163 Neb 323, 79 NW2d 453.

Footnote 80. United States v Hearst (CA9 Cal) 563 F2d 1331, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1149, reh den (CA9 Cal) 573 F2d 579 and cert den 435 US 1000, 56 L Ed 2d 90, 98 S Ct 1656.

See also, as to the exclusion of cumulative evidence, 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 337-340.

Footnote 81. International Halliwell Mines, Ltd. v Continental Copper & Steel Industries, Inc. (CA2 NY) 544 F2d 105.

Evidence of defendant's criminal conviction for mail and wire fraud was not cumulative of other evidence that he had committed fraud as to be inadmissible, rather it served to confirm what other evidence merely suggested, that is, that defendant in fact orchestrated the very loan bond scheme for which plaintiffs were seeking money damages. Veranda Beach Club Ltd. Partnership v Western Surety Co. (CA1 Mass) 936 F2d 1364, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 809, 20 FR Serv 3d 409.

Footnote 82. Evidence of telephone orders placed by defendant were admissible in his trial for wire fraud despite allegation that it was cumulative of previous testimony and therefore prejudicial, since, in light of scheme charged, repetition of evidence was itself distinctly probative. United States v Santagata (CA1 RI) 924 F2d 391, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 219.

Footnote 83. Fairchild v State, 284 Ark 289, 681 SW2d 380, cert den 471 US 1111, 85 L Ed 2d 862, 105 S Ct 2346, post-conviction proceeding 286 Ark 191, 690 SW2d 355, habeas corpus den (ED Ark) 675 F Supp 469, affd (CA8 Ark) 857 F2d 1204, cert den 488 US 1051, 102 L Ed 2d 1007, 109 S Ct 884, habeas corpus den (ED Ark) 744 F Supp 1429, affd (CA8 Ark) 900 F2d 1292, reh den, stay den, en banc (CA8) 1990 US App LEXIS 10967, habeas corpus proceeding (CA8 Ark) 912 F2d 269, motion den (US) 1990 US LEXIS 5576 and stay den, cert den 497 US 1052, 111 L Ed 2d 834, 111 S Ct 21 and appeal after remand (CA8 Ark) 979 F2d 636, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1992 US App LEXIS 33831 and cert den (US) 125 L Ed 2d 735, 113 S Ct 3051, reh den (US) 125 L Ed 2d 778, 114 S Ct 27, motion den (CA8 Ark) 5 F3d 1124 and stay den.

A photograph of that portion of a murder victim's body showing the wounds inflicted was properly admissible even though it was cumulative and there was no dispute as to the location of the wound. Robinson v State (Ala App) 342 So 2d 1331.

Footnote 84. United States v Davis (CA5 Ga) 639 F2d 239, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1510.

Footnote 85. Bowman v General Motors Corp. (ED Pa) 427 F Supp 234.

§ 356 Cumulative evidence found excludible

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The courts have held or recognized that relevant evidence may be excluded as constituting needless presentation of cumulative evidence where:

- A defendant wished to call additional character witnesses 86
- The evidence consisted of a tire manufacturer's internal memorandum setting forth the rate of defects in tires manufactured in a particular year, the company quality control engineer having already testified as to the contents of the memorandum and the meaning of the statistics in it 87

- Evidence is offered on an uncontested fact, and the probative value of such evidence is relatively slight 88
- Proffered rebuttal testimony will simply rehash a party's basic theory of the case 89
- The testimony of several witnesses would be the same, and one witness's testimony would be sufficient 90
- The testimony would add little to statistical evidence already before the court 91
- Evidence of additional similar accidents in a products liability case, although relevant to dangerousness of product, would result in a parade of accident victims which carries the risk of unfair prejudice 92

Where a party seeks to present extensive evidence, such as a lengthy tape recording, a denial of a request to present such evidence in its entirety is no abuse of discretion, where the adverse party is not precluded from presenting pertinent portions, and the party makes no showing that the more selective and less time-consuming approach would be inadequate for his purposes, particularly where witnesses are permitted to testify freely and at length about what is contained in such evidence. 93

§ 356 ----Cumulative evidence found excludible [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

There was no prejudicial error in a first-degree murder prosecution where a psychologist was not allowed to testify that a person with the deceased's blood alcohol level would be more irritable and more prone to act on emotions where there was testimony that the deceased was a violent man and wild when drinking. Defendant was able to present stronger evidence of the deceased's violent nature than the testimony of the psychologist. State v Bunning (1994) 338 NC 483, 450 SE2d 462.

In a capital prosecution for first- degree murder, the trial court was correct in not allowing questions about family history and mental illness without a foundation establishing whether defendant's mental illness was hereditary; no prejudice resulted from disallowing a witness' testimony about defendant's background and character where the same or similar evidence was admitted through other witnesses; and no determination of whether exclusion of evidence constituted error could be made where no offer of proof was made. State v Lynch (1995) 340 NC 435, 459 SE2d 679.

In a hearing to determine whether a sexually abused child should be allowed supervised visitation with his parents and whether he should be moved from Durham to Cumberland County, the trial court did not err in refusing to allow the child's therapist to testify concerning her therapy session with the child following the child's in-court revelation of an incident of sexual abuse at his group home in Durham, since that testimony would have been cumulative. In re Chasse (1994) 116 NC App 52, 446 SE2d 855.

Footnotes

Footnote 86. United States v Garrett (CA5 Tex) 716 F2d 257, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 366, reh den (CA5 Tex) 720 F2d 1291 and cert den 466 US 937, 80 L Ed 2d 459, 104 S Ct 1910 (defendant had already called 8 character witnesses and wanted to call 10 additional ones); United States v Edwards (CA5 Tex) 702 F2d 529, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1313 (defendant who had already presented 5 character witnesses moved for a continuance to present 25 additional character witnesses who would testify as to his reputation).

Annotation: Propriety and prejudicial effect of trial court's limiting number of character or reputation witnesses, 17 ALR3d 327.

Footnote 87. Baker v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 793 F2d 1196, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 79.

Footnote 88. United States v Hearst (CA9 Cal) 563 F2d 1331, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1149, reh den (CA9 Cal) 573 F2d 579 and cert den 435 US 1000, 56 L Ed 2d 90, 98 S Ct 1656.

Footnote 89. Bowman v General Motors Corp. (ED Pa) 427 F Supp 234.

Footnote 90. United States v Stirling (CA2 NY) 571 F2d 708, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96308, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1257, cert den 439 US 824, 58 L Ed 2d 116, 99 S Ct 93; United States v Haynes (CA5 Fla) 554 F2d 231, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 333.

Footnote 91. Sledge v J. P. Stevens & Co. (CA4 NC) 585 F2d 625, 18 BNA FEP Cas 261, 18 CCH EPD ¶ 8657, 27 FR Serv 2d 137, cert den 440 US 981, 60 L Ed 2d 241, 99 S Ct 1789, 19 BNA FEP Cas 467, 19 CCH EPD ¶ 9059.

Footnote 92. Melton v Deere & Co. (CA5 Miss) 887 F2d 1241, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12302, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 224.

Footnote 93. United States v Hearst (CA9 Cal) 563 F2d 1331, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1149, reh den (CA9 Cal) 573 F2d 579 and cert den 435 US 1000, 56 L Ed 2d 90, 98 S Ct 1656.

C. Admissibility as Affected by Evidence of Other Party (Rule 106) [357-362]

Research References

FRE Rule 106

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 1134-1413

ALR Index: Character and Reputation; Demonstrative and Real Evidence; Description and Identification; Documentary Evidence; Entrapment; Evidence; Evidence Rules; Experiments or Tests; Hypothetical Questions; Impeachment of Witnesses; Offer of Proof; Rebuttal; Same or Similar Acts or Matters; Witnesses

Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 49

§ 357 Generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

As a general rule, the introduction of irrelevant evidence upon one side without objection does not justify the introduction of irrelevant evidence upon the other side. 94 Nor does the mere fact that a witness goes beyond the purport of a question asked him, or volunteers statements, open up the issues for testimony of like character by the adversary. 95 In many situations, however, a party becomes entitled to introduce evidence, otherwise inadmissible, by reason of similar or related evidence which has been tendered by his opponent, 96 and a party may not complain on appeal about the improper admission of evidence which he himself has introduced or elicited. 97 Thus, where parts of a conversation or writing are proved, other connected statements may be received. 98 Generally, also, testimony which is irrelevant if offered by one party in the first instance may become pertinent in rebuttal or explanation of evidence offered by the adversary. 99

When evidence is elicited on cross-examination from which an inference as to a fact favorable to a party may be drawn, subsequent evidence of other facts or circumstances showing that the inference sought to be drawn is not warranted becomes competent and material. 1 However, a party on cross-examination is not permitted to bring out improper and immaterial matter and then show its falsity, 2 except that where a plaintiff's witness has been allowed to answer a question of doubtful competency, it is error to refuse to allow the defendant's witness to answer practically the same question. 3

§ 357 ----Generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In a murder prosecution wherein two teenage girls testified that defendant was one of the two shooters, testimony that, prior to the shooting, Corey Best had threatened to kick the girls if he found them again in the vicinity where the shooting occurred was not inadmissible hearsay because it was not offered to show that the declarant was going to hurt the girls but to explain why the girls had left the scene before the shooting and thus could not identify defendant as one of the shooters. Therefore, the trial court erred by excluding this testimony, but the error was not prejudicial where defendant was allowed to present this evidence through the testimony of other witnesses that the two girls were not at the scene during the shooting because of an argument with Corey Best. State v Burke (1995) 342 NC 113, 463 SE2d 212.

Footnotes

Footnote 94. Philadelphia & T. R. Co. v Stimpson, 39 US 448, 14 Pet 448, 10 L Ed 535; Stringer v Young, 28 US 320, 3 Pet 320, 7 L Ed 693; San Diego Land & Town Co. v Neale, 78 Cal 63, 20 P 372; State v Fortin, 106 Me 382, 76 A 896; Baltimore & S. R. R.

Co. v Woodruff, 4 Md 242; Schenley v Commonwealth, 36 Pa 29.

Footnote 95. Jeddeloh v Hockenhull, 219 Minn 541, 18 NW2d 582; Seattle v Smythe, 97 Wash 351, 166 P 1150.

Footnote 96. O'Quinn v Alston, 213 Ala 346, 104 So 653, 39 ALR 1263; Brindle v Harter, 138 Ind App 692, 211 NE2d 513, appeal after remand 145 Ind App 411, 251 NE2d 590; Lyon v Aetna Life Ins. Co., 112 Ind App 573, 44 NE2d 186; Evans v Holsinger, 242 Iowa 990, 48 NW2d 250, 28 ALR2d 1434; Commonwealth Life Ins. Co. v Pendleton, 231 Ky 591, 21 SW2d 985, 66 ALR 1526.

Where inadmissible, immaterial or irrelevant evidence has been admitted in behalf of one party, similar evidence may be admitted to rebut it. State v Crissman (Columbiana Co) 31 Ohio App 2d 170, 60 Ohio Ops 2d 279, 287 NE2d 642.

If, notwithstanding that the pleadings in an action for conversion of furnishings of an apartment house do not present any issue concerning the real property, the plaintiff introduces in evidence a deed showing the conveyance of the apartment to himself, the defendant should be permitted to inquire into the consideration for the deed if it is apparently a part of a transaction whereby the parties thereto engaged in its fraudulent transfer. Mattechek v Pugh, 153 Or 1, 55 P2d 730, 168 ALR 725.

In an action to set aside a deed where testimony has been given on behalf of the plaintiff that at the time of executing the deed he was under an insane delusion that his financial condition was bad and that he had suffered a similar mental breakdown some years before and had sacrificed property to turn his attention to another business, it is proper to inquire whether he made a success of such business. Ferguson Seed Farms, Inc. v McMillan (Tex Com App) 18 SW2d 595, 63 ALR 1009.

Footnote 97. 5 Am Jur 2d, Appeal and Error § 717.

Footnote 98. § 358.

Footnote 99. 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 365 et seq.

Footnote 1. People v Cassidy, 213 NY 388, 107 NE 713.

Footnote 2. State v Boston, 234 Iowa 1047, 14 NW2d 676.

Footnote 3. Brazil Block Coal Co. v Gibson, 160 Ind 319, 66 NE 882 (holding that a witness who, on the cross-examination of a witness, inquired of the size, shape, and capacity of a bucket and the material of which it was made, cannot complain because his adversary, on reexamination, inquired into like matters).

§ 358 Where other party introduced only part of conversation or statement

View Entire Section

When part of a conversation, transaction, or writing is introduced in evidence by one party, the opposing party may require him to introduce at that time, or he himself may introduce at a later time, the remainder of the conversation, transaction, or writing. 4 Thus, when a statement forming part of a conversation is given in evidence by one party, whatever was said in the same conversation tending to explain or qualify that statement may be given in evidence by the other party. 5

◆ Caution: By their terms, both Federal and Uniform Rule 106 speak only in terms of "writing or recorded statement," 6 and the Advisory Committee Notes state that "for practical reasons, the rule is limited to writings and recorded statements and does not apply to conversations." 7 But a number of states adopting the Uniform Rules have included the word "conversation" in their version of Rule 106. Consequently, the rule continues to apply to evidence of conversations in a number of such jurisdictions. 8

The general rule that where part of a conversation has been shown in testimony, the remainder of that conversation may be brought out by the opposing party, is necessarily subject to the qualification that the court may exclude those portions of the conversation not relevant to the items which have been introduced, 9 and if questions, on re-examination, are not connected with the statements elicited on cross-examination or are remote, 10 they should be excluded. 11 In other words, no more of the remainder of a conversation should be admitted than that which explains or qualifies the part already received. 12 Similarly, where one puts into evidence the admissions of his opponent, all of what was said at the same time upon the same subject may be given in evidence although it would not otherwise be admissible. 13

The rule that where a part of a conversation, statement, or admission is put into evidence the adverse party is entitled to prove the remainder of such conversation, statement, or admission, is subject to the limitation that detached and independent statements in no way connected with the statement given in evidence are not admissible, whether made in conversation by a party to the suit or by third persons. 14 The proof should be confined to those matters only which are the subject matter of inquiry or investigation. 15

◆ Observation: If the rule was otherwise, the court and the jury might be compelled to listen to a long recital of matters not at all connected with any matter or thing in controversy between the parties.

Footnotes

Footnote 4. Crawford v United States, 212 US 183, 53 L Ed 465, 29 S Ct 260; United States v Rubin (CA2 NY) 609 F2d 51, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 202, affd 449 US 424, 66 L Ed 2d 633, 101 S Ct 698, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97818 (not followed by Paskel v Heckler (CA3 Pa) 768 F2d 540); United States v Jones (CA5 Ga) 663 F2d 567, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 750; United States v Paquet (CA5 Tex) 484 F2d 208; United States v Baron (CA7 Ill) 602 F2d 1248, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1215, cert den 444 US 967, 62 L Ed 2d 380, 100 S Ct 456; United States v Greene (CA7 Ill) 497 F2d 1068, cert den 420 US 909, 42 L Ed 2d 839, 95 S Ct 829 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Teller (CA7 Wis) 762 F2d 569); State v Roberts (App) 144 Ariz

572, 698 P2d 1291; Mulford v State (Fla App D4) 416 So 2d 1199; State v Hubbard, 126 Kan 129, 266 P 939, 58 ALR 327.

As to the Rule 106 applying to written or recorded statements only, see § 359.

Footnote 5. Long v California-Western States Life Ins. Co., 43 Cal 2d 871, 279 P2d 43; Wilder v People, 86 Colo 35, 278 P 594, 65 ALR 1260; Ohio & M. R. Co. v Stein, 133 Ind 243, 31 NE 180, reh overr 133 Ind 256, 32 NE 831; Pierce v Heusinkveld, 234 Iowa 1348, 14 NW2d 275; Lanning v Goldsberry, 177 Kan 419, 280 P2d 954; Commonwealth v Trefethen, 157 Mass 180, 31 NE 961; People v Cahill, 193 NY 232, 86 NE 39.

As to proof of entire confession, see § 712.

Footnote 6. For the provisions of Rule 106 see § 359.

Footnote 7. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 106.

Footnote 8. State v Roberts (App) 144 Ariz 572, 698 P2d 1291; State v Johnson (Me) 479 A2d 1284; State v Coffman, 227 Neb 149, 416 NW2d 243 (by implication).

Exclusion of exculpatory portion of defendant's conversation with the officer who arrested him for car theft was improper where the officer testified as to other parts of the conversation, but omitted defendant's explanation of his possession of recently stolen property. Guerrero v State (Fla App D3) 532 So 2d 75, 13 FLW 2357.

Footnote 9. People v King (1st Dist) 240 Cal App 2d 389, 49 Cal Rptr 562, 21 ALR3d 706, cert den 385 US 923, 17 L Ed 2d 146, 87 S Ct 236.

Irrelevant evidence should not be admitted simply because it is part of a conversation already received. State v Wye, 123 Or 595, 263 P 60.

Footnote 10. Generally, as to effect of remote nature of evidence, see § 319.

Footnote 11. People v Baker, 290 Ill 349, 125 NE 263.

Footnote 12. United States v Rubin (CA2 NY) 609 F2d 51, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 202, affd 449 US 424, 66 L Ed 2d 633, 101 S Ct 698, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97818 (not followed on other grounds by Paskel v Heckler (CA3 Pa) 768 F2d 540); United States v Walker (CA7 Ill) 652 F2d 708, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1312.

The "completeness" doctrine, which requires that a statement be admitted in its entirety when that is necessary to explain the admitted portion, to place it in context, or to avoid misleading the jury, does not require introduction of portions of a statement that are neither explanatory of, nor relevant to, the admitted portion. United States v Marin (CA2 NY) 669 F2d 73, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1659.

Where defense counsel on cross-examination quoted a part of witness's prior statement and the omitted portion of the statement was not explanatory of the part referred to on cross-examination, it was error to admit the entire statement, since not only was the remainder of the prior statement unrelated to the issue of defendant's use of profane language which was raised on cross-examination, but the witness fully explained the reason for omitting profane words in her written statement when she testified. George v

State, 270 Ark 335, 604 SW2d 940.

Footnote 13. § 759.

Footnote 14. United States v Apuzzo (CA2 NY) 245 F2d 416, 57-2 USTC ¶ 9700, 52 AFTR 369, cert den 355 US 831, 2 L Ed 2d 43, 78 S Ct 45; Wilder v People, 86 Colo 35, 278 P 594, 65 ALR 1260; Jeddeloh v Hockenhull, 219 Minn 541, 18 NW2d 582; State v Collett, 118 Mont 473, 167 P2d 584; Rouse v Whited, 25 NY 170.

The doctrine of curative admissibility will not be extended to include cases where the extrajudicial statements were not mere continuations of a single conversation partially admitted, and where they came from non-party witnesses who were available at the trial. Jefferson v Biggar (Mo) 416 SW2d 933.

Footnote 15. State v Then, 118 NJL 31, 190 A 495, affd 119 NJL 429, 196 A 740 and affd 119 NJL 429, 197 A 5.

Defense counsel's inadvertent reading of a small portion of a report about the testing of marijuana seeds did not make the entire report admissible where the report contained extensive material that had no relevance to any parts purportedly admitted. United States v Pendas-Martinez (CA11 Fla) 845 F2d 938, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1142.

§ 359 --Rule as to writings or recorded statements

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Rule 106 provides that when a writing or recorded statement or part of it is introduced by a party, an adverse party may require the introduction at that time of any other part or any other writing or recorded statement which ought in fairness to be considered contemporaneously with it. 16 Rule 106 has been said to be an expression of the rule of completeness, 17 which permits the introduction into evidence of an entire statement when only a portion of it has been used by an opponent, 18 and is manifested as to depositions in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 19 of which FRE Rule 106 is substantially a restatement. 20

FRE Rule 106 only encompasses writings or recorded statements introduced into evidence, and does not apply to conversations, 21 or to the oral testimony of an individual even though such individual's recollection may be memorialized in a writing. 22 FRE Rule 106 is not intended as a vehicle for the introduction of substantive evidence in the form of prior nonrecorded testimony of a person to explain the underlying circumstances prevailing at the time of a statement of another person, which statement is recorded and introduced in evidence, where the unrecorded testimony does nothing to clarify the recorded statement and where the recorded statement is admitted in evidence in toto, is internally complete and unambiguous, and is not out of context. 23

FRE Rule 106 justifies the admission into evidence of written statements of persons other than a party. 24

The purpose of FRE Rule 106 is to permit the contemporaneous introduction of writings or recorded statements that place in context 25 other writings or recorded statements admitted into evidence which, viewed alone, may be misleading. 26 For example, a second writing may need to be read into evidence if it is necessary to explain the admitted portion, or to insure a fair and impartial understanding. 27 However, the completeness doctrine does not require introduction of portions of a statement that are neither relevant to, nor explanatory of, the admitted passages. 28

◆ Observation: In addition to the misleading impression which may be created by taking matters out of context, FRE Rule 106 is also based on the consideration of the inadequacy of "repair work" when a writing or a recorded statement or a part thereof is introduced into evidence, but another part or any other writing or recorded statement which ought to be considered with the previously introduced statement is delayed to a point later in the trial. 29

§ 359 --Rule as to writings or recorded statements [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Defendant's pretrial statement, redacted to protect codefendant's confrontation right, did not offend rule of completeness since redacted version conveyed substance and context of statement of whole. United States v Mussaleen (1994, CA2 NY) 35 F3d 692.

Footnotes

Footnote 16. FRE Rule 106; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 106.

Practice References Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 49-52.

Footnote 17. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 106.

Rule 106 constitutes a partial codification of common-law doctrine of completeness, which addresses the concerns that a court not be misled because portions of a statement are taken out of context and that such a statement may create such prejudice that it is impossible to repair by a subsequent presentation of additional material. Beech Aircraft Corp. v Rainey, 488 US 153, 102 L Ed 2d 445, 109 S Ct 439, 1989 AMC 441, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 257, on remand, en banc (CA11 Fla) 868 F2d 1531.

Annotation: Requirement, under Rule 106 of Federal Rules of Evidence, that when writing or recorded statement or part thereof is introduced in evidence, another part or another writing or recorded statement must also be introduced in evidence, 75 ALR Fed 892.

Footnote 18. United States v Cochran (CA5 Fla) 499 F2d 380, reh den (CA5 Fla) 502 F2d 1168 and cert den 419 US 1124, 42 L Ed 2d 825, 95 S Ct 810.

Footnote 19. FR Civ P, Rule 32(a)(4), generally discussed in 23 Am Jur 2d, Depositions and Discovery § 188.

Footnote 20. Mattocks v Daylin, Inc. (WD Pa) 78 FRD 663, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 880, later proceeding (WD Pa) 452 F Supp 512, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 770 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 771 and later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 611 F2d 30, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 8640 (the defendant was entitled under FR Civ P, Rule 32(a)(4), as well as under FRE Rule 106, to have additional portions of the deposition read into the record where the plaintiff chose to read a certain portion of a deposition into the trial record).

Footnote 21. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 106.

As to the applicability of a modified Rule 106 to conversations in some jurisdictions, see § 358.

Footnote 22. United States v Brown (CA9 Cal) 501 F2d 146, revd on other grounds 422 US 225, 45 L Ed 2d 141, 95 S Ct 2160, 20 FR Serv 2d 547 (discussing proposed FRE Rule 106 which is identical to the Rule as enacted).

Footnote 23. United States v Jamar (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 1103, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1040.

Footnote 24. Mattocks v Daylin, Inc. (WD Pa) 78 FRD 663, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 880, later proceeding (WD Pa) 452 F Supp 512, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 769 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 770 and affd without op (CA3 Pa) 614 F2d 771 and later proceeding (CA3 Pa) 611 F2d 30, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 8640; Huddleston v Herman & MacLean (CA5 Tex) 640 F2d 534, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97919, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 61, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds 459 US 375, 74 L Ed 2d 548, 103 S Ct 683, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 99058, on remand (CA5 Tex) 705 F2d 775, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 99219; Beard v Mitchell (CA7 Ill) 604 F2d 485, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1234, later proceeding (CA7 Ill) 728 F2d 894, cert den 469 US 825, 83 L Ed 2d 48, 105 S Ct 104.

Once a statement of a child sexual assault victim is admitted into evidence under a statutory hearsay exception, the proponent of the statement has "opened the door" to other statements made at the same time, under the same circumstances, and concerning the same event. People v Hise (Colo App) 738 P2d 13.

Annotation: Requirement, under Rule 106 of Federal Rules of Evidence, that when writing or recorded statement or part thereof is introduced in evidence, another part or another writing or recorded statement must also be introduced in evidence, 75 ALR Fed 892.

Footnote 25. United States v Cuthbertson (DC NJ) 511 F Supp 375, 7 Media L R 1172, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1610, revd, remanded on other grounds (CA3 NJ) 651 F2d 189, 7 Media L R 1377, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 458, cert den 454 US 1056, 70 L Ed 2d 594, 102 S Ct 604 and affd without op (CA3 NJ) 770 F2d 1076.

Footnote 26. United States v Marin (CA2 NY) 669 F2d 73, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1659;

United States v Weisman (CA2 NY) 624 F2d 1118, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1338, cert den 449 US 871, 66 L Ed 2d 91, 101 S Ct 209; United States v Soures (CA3 NJ) 736 F2d 87, 116 BNA LRRM 2761, 101 CCH LC ¶ 11067, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1456, cert den 469 US 1161, 83 L Ed 2d 927, 105 S Ct 914; United States v Jamar (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 1103, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1040; United States v LeFevour (CA7 Ill) 798 F2d 977, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391.

Where a defendant used portions of a memorandum of a witness in an attempt to impeach the witness, the remainder of the memorandum, which was generally consistent with the witness's testimony, was admissible under FRE Rule 106, since in such circumstances it would have been unfair and extremely confusing to the jury to exclude the memorandum. United States v Baron (CA7 Ill) 602 F2d 1248, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1215, cert den 444 US 967, 62 L Ed 2d 380, 100 S Ct 456.

A jury finding from a prior action was not required to be introduced pursuant to FRE Rule 106 simply because other jury findings were introduced, where no misleading impression was created by failing to introduce the prior finding. Minnesota Farm Bureau Marketing Corp. v North Dakota Agricultural Marketing Asso. (CA8 ND) 563 F2d 906.

Footnote 27. United States v Marin (CA2 NY) 669 F2d 73, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1659; United States v Soures (CA3 NJ) 736 F2d 87, 116 BNA LRRM 2761, 101 CCH LC ¶ 11067, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1456, cert den 469 US 1161, 83 L Ed 2d 927, 105 S Ct 914 (appellant alleged that the trial judge's failure to admit the remaining portions of his first day of grand jury testimony forced him to take the stand to testify at trial in violation of his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination); United States v Sweiss (CA7 Ill) 800 F2d 684, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 866, reh gr (CA7 Ill) 812 F2d 1023 and vacated on other grounds (CA7 Ill) 814 F2d 1208, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 931; Brewer v Jeep Corp. (CA8 Ark) 724 F2d 653, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9881, 75 ALR Fed 883 (a film containing Jeep rollovers could only be admitted upon the condition that the written study explaining those graphic scenes also be offered); United States v Dorrell (CA9 Cal) 758 F2d 427, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1293 (there was no violation of the rule of completeness where the redacted statement was a confession because the edited version neither distorted the meaning of the statement nor excluded information substantially exculpatory of the defendant).

A trial judge properly applied FRE Rule 106 when he ruled that all four channels recorded by a crash-resistant tape recorder, recording the last 30 minutes of conversation in the cockpit area, were admissible on the basis that the channels sought to be excluded were an integral part of the tape. Re Air Crash Disaster at John F. Kennedy International Airport (CA2 NY) 635 F2d 67, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 21, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 682 F2d 406.

Footnote 28. United States v Marin (CA2 NY) 669 F2d 73, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1659; United States v Garrett (CA5 Tex) 716 F2d 257, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 366, reh den (CA5 Tex) 720 F2d 1291 and cert den 466 US 937, 80 L Ed 2d 459, 104 S Ct 1910; United States v Crosby (CA5 La) 713 F2d 1066, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1829, 71 ALR Fed 665, cert den 464 US 1001, 78 L Ed 2d 696, 104 S Ct 506 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Sneezzer (CA9 Ariz) 983 F2d 920, 92 CDOS 10442, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17566, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383); United States v Sweiss (CA7 Ill) 800 F2d 684, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 866, reh gr (CA7 Ill) 812 F2d 1023 and vacated on other grounds (CA7 Ill) 814 F2d 1208, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 931; United States v Burrenson (CA9 Cal) 643 F2d 1344, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97982, 7

Fed Rules Evid Serv 1357, cert den 454 US 830, 70 L Ed 2d 106, 102 S Ct 125 and cert den 454 US 847, 70 L Ed 2d 135, 102 S Ct 165; United States v Pendas-Martinez (CA11 Fla) 845 F2d 938, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1142.

Promises of immunity made in hostage situation may be excluded as irrelevant to the issue of defendant's guilt or innocence. United States v Crosby (CA5 La) 713 F2d 1066, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1829, 71 ALR Fed 665, cert den 464 US 1001, 78 L Ed 2d 696, 104 S Ct 506 and (superseded by statute as stated in United States v Sneezer (CA9 Ariz) 983 F2d 920, 92 CDOS 10442, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17566, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383).

Footnote 29. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 106.

§ 360 --Discretion as to admissibility

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The qualifying words, "ought in fairness" 30 show that the duty to place "any other part" of the recorded statement or any other "recorded statement" in evidence is not absolute. 31 In other words, the completeness rule does not mandate the inclusion of related evidence. 32 Rather, a trial judge has discretion in admitting evidence under Rule 106, 33 but this discretion may be abused if the trial judge refuses to admit evidence necessary to present a complete picture of the dispute in question. 34

Footnotes

Footnote 30. Rule 106 provides that when a writing or recorded statement or part thereof is introduced by a party, an adverse party may require the introduction at that time of any other part or any other writing or recorded statement which "ought in fairness" to be considered contemporaneously with it. § 359.

Footnote 31. United States v LeFevour (CA7 Ill) 798 F2d 977, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391.

Footnote 32. Cline v Durden, 246 Mont 154, 803 P2d 1077.

The terms of a state rule providing that when a writing or part thereof is introduced by a party, the adverse party may at that time introduce any other part of the writing which ought in fairness to be considered contemporaneously with it, are not mandatory; thus, the trial court's failure to admit defendant's handwritten judicial confession in its entirety contemporaneously with the admission of the state's exhibit of a copy of that confession with two portions deleted did not harm or otherwise prejudice defendant where the state later withdrew its objection to the exhibit consisting of the entire confession and such exhibit was admitted for all purposes. Gilmore v State (Tex App Dallas) 744 SW2d 630, petition for discretionary review ref (Dec 21, 1988).

Footnote 33. United States v Maccini (CA1 Mass) 721 F2d 840, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 810; Re Air Crash Disaster at John F. Kennedy International Airport (CA2 NY) 635 F2d 67, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 21, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 682 F2d 406; United States v Weisman (CA2 NY) 624 F2d 1118, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1338, cert den 449 US 871, 66 L Ed 2d 91, 101 S Ct 209; United States v Soures (CA3 NJ) 736 F2d 87, 116 BNA LRRM 2761, 101 CCH LC ¶ 11067, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1456, cert den 469 US 1161, 83 L Ed 2d 927, 105 S Ct 914; United States v Crosby (CA5 La) 713 F2d 1066, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1829, 71 ALR Fed 665, cert den 464 US 1001, 78 L Ed 2d 696, 104 S Ct 506 and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Sneezer (CA9 Ariz) 983 F2d 920, 92 CDOS 10442, 92 Daily Journal DAR 17566, 37 Fed Rules Evid Serv 383); United States v Jones (CA5 Ga) 663 F2d 567, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 750; United States v Walker (CA7 Ill) 652 F2d 708, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1312; Brewer v Jeep Corp. (CA8 Ark) 724 F2d 653, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9881, 75 ALR Fed 883; United States v Kaminski (CA8 Minn) 692 F2d 505; United States v Gold (CA11 Fla) 743 F2d 800, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 669, cert den 469 US 1217, 84 L Ed 2d 341, 105 S Ct 1196 (recognizing rule).

Under rule that when part of act, declaration, conversation or writing is given in evidence by one party, the whole of the same subject may be inquired into by the opposing party, admission of evidence is not matter of right but rests with sound discretion of court. State v Coffman, 227 Neb 149, 416 NW2d 243 (recognizing rule).

Footnote 34. Beech Aircraft Corp. v Rainey, 488 US 153, 102 L Ed 2d 445, 109 S Ct 439, 1989 AMC 441, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 257, on remand, en banc (CA11 Fla) 868 F2d 1531 (holding that in product liability action stemming from airplane crash, in which disputed question is whether pilot error or an equipment malfunction caused the crash, trial court abuses its discretion in restricting scope of plaintiff's cross-examination, by refusing to permit plaintiff—who has admitted on direct examination as an adverse witness that he made certain statements in a letter written some months after the crash arguably implicating pilot error as the cause of the crash—to present a more complete picture of what the plaintiff wrote by answering his counsel's question whether plaintiff also stated in the letter that the most probable primary cause of the crash was loss of engine power; common-law rule of completeness, which underlies FRE Rule 106, was designed to prevent prejudicial impression initially received by the jury that the plaintiff did not believe in a theory of power failure and developed it only later for purposes of litigation).

§ 361 --Effect of Rule 106 on otherwise inadmissible evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

There are conflicting Court of Appeals decisions on whether FRE Rule 106 makes admissible parts of a document that otherwise would be inadmissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence. Some courts take the position that the Rule only regulates the order of proof question, 35 and does not render admissible evidence that is otherwise inadmissible. 36 By contrast, other courts have said that the structure of the Federal Rules of Evidence indicates that FRE Rule 106 is concerned with more than merely the order of proof and makes admissible what would otherwise be inadmissible. 37 One court has stated that when one party has made use of a portion of a document, such that misunderstanding or distortion can be averted only through presentation of another portion, the material required for completeness is ipso facto relevant and therefore admissible under FRE Rules 401 and 402. 38

Under the view that otherwise inadmissible evidence may be admitted under FRE Rule 106, one court has reasoned that the Rule can adequately fulfill its function only by permitting the admission of some otherwise inadmissible evidence when the court finds in fairness that the proffered evidence should be considered contemporaneously. 39 A contrary construction would raise the specter of distorted and misleading trials, and would create difficulties for both litigants and the trial court. 40 A court taking the contrary view has reasoned that FRE Rule 106 was not intended to override every privilege and other exclusionary rule of evidence, and accordingly there must be cases where if an excerpt is misleading then the cure is to exclude it rather than to put in the other excerpts. 41

◆ Observation: It has been noted that FRE Rule 106 deviates from the common-law rule of completeness only in the respect that the party seeking admission under FRE Rule 106 is now entitled to compel the admission at the time the opposing party offers the partial evidence instead of waiting until a later stage of trial. 42

Footnotes

Footnote 35. United States v Terry (CA2 NY) 702 F2d 299, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 951, cert den 461 US 931, 77 L Ed 2d 304, 103 S Ct 2095, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 731 F2d 138, cert den 469 US 1188, 83 L Ed 2d 963, 105 S Ct 956, later proceeding (SD NY) 741 F Supp 409, later proceeding (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 6362 and reconsideration den (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 7095 and affd without op (CA2 NY) 930 F2d 910 and cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 680, 104 S Ct 482; United States v Costner (CA6 Tenn) 684 F2d 370, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 497; United States v Burreson (CA9 Cal) 643 F2d 1344, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 97982, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1357, cert den 454 US 830, 70 L Ed 2d 106, 102 S Ct 125 and cert den 454 US 847, 70 L Ed 2d 135, 102 S Ct 165 (the remainder of the testimony was excluded by the court as inadmissible hearsay).

Annotation: Requirement, under Rule 106 of Federal Rules of Evidence, that when writing or recorded statement or part thereof is introduced in evidence, another part or another writing or recorded statement must also be introduced in evidence, 75 ALR Fed 892.

Footnote 36. United States v Terry (CA2 NY) 702 F2d 299, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 951, cert den 461 US 931, 77 L Ed 2d 304, 103 S Ct 2095, later proceeding (CA2 NY) 731 F2d 138, cert den 469 US 1188, 83 L Ed 2d 963, 105 S Ct 956, later proceeding (SD NY) 741 F Supp 409, later proceeding (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 6362 and reconsideration den (SD NY) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 7095 and affd without op (CA2 NY) 930 F2d 910 and cert den 464 US 992, 78 L Ed 2d 680, 104 S Ct 482.

Footnote 37. United States v Sutton, 255 US App DC 307, 801 F2d 1346, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305.

Footnote 38. Beech Aircraft Corp. v Rainey, 488 US 153, 102 L Ed 2d 445, 109 S Ct 439, 1989 AMC 441, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 257, on remand, en banc (CA11 Fla) 868 F2d 1531.

Footnote 39. United States v Sutton, 255 US App DC 307, 801 F2d 1346, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305.

Footnote 40. United States v Sutton, 255 US App DC 307, 801 F2d 1346, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305.

◆ Observation: The court found support for its conclusion in the fact that FRE Rule 106 is not found in FRE Rule 611, governing the "Mode and Order of Interrogation and Presentation," but in Article I, containing rules that generally restrict the manner of applying the exclusionary rules. Moreover, every major rule of exclusion in the Federal Rules of Evidence contains the proviso, "except as otherwise provided by these rules" (FRE Rules 402, 501, 602, 613(b), 704, 802, 806, 901(b)(10), and 1002) whereas there is no such proviso in FRE Rule 106, which indicates that FRE Rule 106 should not be so restrictively construed. United States v Sutton, 255 US App DC 307, 801 F2d 1346, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 305.

Footnote 41. United States v LeFevour (CA7 Ill) 798 F2d 977, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 391.

Footnote 42. United States v Walker (CA7 Ill) 652 F2d 708, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1312.

§ 362 --Procedural matters

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In order to lay a sufficient foundation at trial for a rule of completeness claim under FRE Rule 106 and similar state rules, the offeror need only specify the portion of the testimony that is relevant to the issue at trial and that qualifies or explains portions already admitted. 43 This minimal burden can be met without unreasonable specificity. 44 Accordingly, it was held that defense counsel failed to lay a sufficient foundation for admission of taped conversations under FRE Rule 106 where counsel did not state what portions of the earlier tape explained the later tape, did not mention FRE Rule 106 nor state any of the substance of the Rule, and did not precisely delineate the relevant portions of the tape that counsel wished the jury to hear. 45 And in a trial for criminal contempt for defendant's failure to testify at the murder trial of his codefendant, it was not error for the trial court to refuse to grant the defendant's request (following the state's introduction of portions of the transcript of the murder trial) that other portions of the transcript be read to the jury, absent any allegation that the refused portions of the transcript were relevant. 46

◆ Caution: Counsel should be aware that failure to accept a trial judge's invitation to have a greater portion of an item of evidence admitted pursuant to FRE Rule 106 may thwart a later assertion that the admitted evidence was unrepresentative or taken out of context. 47

◆ Observation: It has been suggested that although FRE Rule 106 addresses only the problem of requiring the proponent to introduce evidence of a written or recorded statement in its entirety, and is silent on the question whether the adversary should be allowed to introduce the remainder of a statement if the proponent has introduced only an incomplete part, the Rule should be read as allowing the adversary to later introduce the remainder of a statement. 48 Since the Advisory Committee's Note clearly recognizes that the Rule does not circumscribe the right of the adversary to develop the matter on cross-examination or as part of his own case, 49 there was clearly no intent for the Rule to require the adversary to insist that the whole of a statement come in at once on pain of a waiver of the right of an adversary to later introduce the remainder of the statement. However, FRE Rule 106 must be read in light of FRE Rule 403, which authorizes the trial judge to exclude evidence whose prejudicial effect outweighs its probative value, since offers of the remainder of a statement will often give rise to the balancing task which FRE Rule 403 contemplates. In addition, it appears implicit in FRE Rule 106 and borne out by pre-Rules decisions that the remainder of a written statement which is relevant and important to a proper understanding of a portion of an admissible statement is itself admissible even though the remainder is otherwise irrelevant to the issues in the case or otherwise inadmissible under exclusionary principles, such as hearsay; however, FRE Rule 106 and the general principle of completeness would justify the introduction in evidence only of such remaining parts of the written or recorded statements as bear upon the portion already received. 50

Footnotes

Footnote 43. United States v Sweiss (CA7 Ill) 800 F2d 684, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 866, reh gr (CA7 Ill) 812 F2d 1023 and vacated on other grounds (CA7 Ill) 814 F2d 1208, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 931.

Footnote 44. United States v Sweiss (CA7 Ill) 800 F2d 684, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 866, reh gr (CA7 Ill) 812 F2d 1023 and vacated on other grounds (CA7 Ill) 814 F2d 1208, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 931.

Footnote 45. United States v Sweiss (CA7 Ill) 800 F2d 684, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 866, reh gr (CA7 Ill) 812 F2d 1023 and vacated on other grounds (CA7 Ill) 814 F2d 1208, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 931.

Footnote 46. State v Case (App) 103 NM 574, 711 P2d 19.

Footnote 47. United States v Williams (CA7 Ill) 737 F2d 594, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1296, cert den 470 US 1003, 84 L Ed 2d 377, 105 S Ct 1354, 105 S Ct 1355, post-conviction proceeding (ND Ill) 1987 US Dist LEXIS 3222, affd (CA7 Ill) 828 F2d 22, post-conviction proceeding (ND Ill) 1988 US Dist LEXIS 1550, post-conviction proceeding (CA7 Ill) 865 F2d 155, cert den 491 US 905, 105 L Ed 2d 695, 109 S Ct 3186, reh den 492 US 932, 106 L Ed 2d 627, 110 S Ct 12, later proceeding (ND Ill) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 17215, affd (CA7) 1992 US App LEXIS 3461, reh, en banc, den (CA7) 1992 US App LEXIS 10282.

Footnote 48. Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 49.

Footnote 49. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 106.

Footnote 50. Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence § 49.

D. Admissibility of Particular Evidentiary Matters [363-588]

Research References

FRE 401, 404-407, 409, 411, 412

Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rules 401, 404-407, 409, 411, 412

8 USCS § 1324; 18 USCS §§ 242, 245, 2314, 2314, ; 26 USCS § 7201; 42 USCS § 1983

ALR Digests: Evidence §§ 1134-1413

ALR Index: Character and Reputation; Demonstrative and Real Evidence; Description and Identification; Documentary Evidence; Entrapment; Evidence; Evidence Rules; Experiments or Tests; Hypothetical Questions; Impeachment of Witnesses; Offer of Proof; Rebuttal; Same or Similar Acts or Matters; Witnesses

1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court §§ 1:3623, 1:3624; 7

Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure §§ 20:646, 20:647

9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 18; 23A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Trial, Forms 93, 94

3 Am Jur Proof of Facts 379, Conversations; 10 Am Jur Proof of Facts 295, Repairs; 13 Am Jur Proof of Facts 391, Criminal Drug Addition and Possession; 21 Am Jur Proof of Facts 764, Sidewalk Defects; 2 Am Jur POF2d 545, Reliability of Scientific Devices—Telephone Calling Line Identification; 12 Am Jur POF2d 237, Entrapment to Commit Narcotics Offense; 15 Am Jur POF2d 167, Alleged Victim's Commission of Prior Acts of and Reputation for Violence; 32 Am Jur POF2d 253, Admission by Conduct or Silence; 36 Am Jur POF2d 605, Foundation for Telephone Conversation; 36 Am Jur POF2d 747, Impeachment of Witness by Prior Criminal Conviction; 49 Am Jur POF2d 649, General Reputation of Person in Community; 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person; 8 Am Jur POF3d 749, Foundation for DNA Fingerprint Evidence

1 Am Jur Trials 602, Locating and Preserving Evidence in Criminal Cases; 7 Am Jur Trials 377, Elevator Accident Cases § 7; 11 Am Jur Trials 265, Stairway Fall Suits § 39; 13 Am Jur Trials 465, Defending Minor Felony Cases; 18 Am Jur Trials 341, Handling the Defense in a Rape Prosecution; 25 Am Jur Trials 69, Plea Bargaining Techniques; 30 Am Jur Trials 711, Trial Court Restrictions on Evidence of Defendant's Wealth
Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d §§ 37.4, 37.6, 37.12, 73.19

Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence §§ 140, 157-159, 163, 165, 177, 179, 192, 193

1. Character and Reputation (Rule 404(a)) [363-389]

a. Character Evidence, Generally [363-374]

§ 363 General rule of exclusion

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Subject to certain major exceptions, 51 it has long been the rule that the character or reputation of a party is regarded as legally irrelevant in determining a controversy, so that evidence relating thereto is not admissible. 52 This rule has been codified in the Federal and Uniform Rules of Evidence 53 which provide that evidence of a person's character or a trait of his or her character is not admissible for the purpose of proving that the person acted in conformity therewith on a particular occasion, except for:

(1) evidence of a pertinent trait of his or her character offered by an accused, or by the prosecution to rebut the same; 54

(2) evidence of a pertinent trait of character of the victim of the crime offered by an accused, or by the prosecution to rebut the same, or evidence of a character trait of peacefulness of the victim offered by the prosecution in a homicide case to rebut evidence that the victim was the first aggressor; 55 or

(3) evidence of the character of a witness. 56

◆ Observation: It has been noted that prior mental history is not excluded by the rule excluding character evidence since prior mental history is not character evidence, but is evidence of behavior. 57

Even when character evidence is admissible under one of the exceptions to the rule, the trial judge may, in his discretion, impose a reasonable limitation upon the number of character witnesses that may be utilized, 58 especially where additional witnesses would result in a needless presentation of cumulative evidence within the meaning of FRE 403. 59 This power has been regarded as essential to the efficient administration of justice and to avoid prolonging trials unnecessarily by the introduction of cumulative evidence. 60

A trial court's rulings on character evidence will not be disturbed on appeal absent a showing of an abuse of discretion. 61

§ 363 ----General rule of exclusion [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Evidence of prior bad acts allowed in civil case, 141 Chi Daily L Bull 7:6 (1995).

Admissibility and prejudicial effect of evidence, in criminal prosecution, of defendant's involvement with witchcraft, satanism, or the like. 18 ALR5th 804.

Case authorities:

Sexual harassment plaintiff properly suffers mistrial and payment of jury costs, where she called as witnesses 2 former employees who had filed EEOC complaints against employer, after court's in limine rulings barring testimony concerning these witnesses' sexual harassment claims as inadmissible character evidence under FRE 404(a), because plaintiff's attorneys persisted in asking questions designed to elicit prohibited testimony despite evidentiary rulings and court's repeated admonitions during trial. Janopoulos v Harvey L. Walner & Assocs. (1994, ND Ill) 866 F Supp 1086.

The trial court did not err in a prosecution in which defendant was convicted for first-degree murder, first-degree rape, and first-degree sexual offense by allowing a witness to testify that he contacted law enforcement officers after seeing on television that defendant had been charged with another murder to say that he had seen defendant dancing with the victim on the night she disappeared at the same club from which the other victim had disappeared. The testimony was relevant to explain why the witness did not contact the police until three months after the murder and to explain why he ultimately recognized defendant, rather than for the improper purpose of demonstrating defendant's character. The evidence was not unfairly prejudicial in that extensive evidence of the other murder was admitted and there was considerable additional evidence linking defendant to this victim. G.S. § 8C-1, Rules 404 and 403. State v Moseley (1994) 338 NC 1, 449 SE2d 412.

The trial court did not err in a noncapital first-degree murder prosecution by sustaining the State's objection to cross-examination of a prosecution witness concerning the character of the deceased where there was no showing that defendant had knowledge of the witness's opinion of the victim's dangerousness and, although it was error not to permit the jury to hear evidence regarding the victim's violent character because the jury was instructed on self-defense and was required to determine the aggressor, the error was harmless because the trial court gave defendant wide latitude in cross-examining the witness and defendant was able to elicit extensive testimony concerning the victim's reputation for violence. Moreover, there was no offer of proof and the significance of the evidence sought to be elicited could not be assessed. State v Watson (1994) 338 NC 168, 449 SE2d 694, reconsideration den, stay den 338 NC 523.

The trial court erred in a second-degree murder prosecution by allowing the State to cross-examine defendant under GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b) regarding domestic violence by defendant against his wife, who was not the victim in this case. Defendant's past violent behavior toward his wife was not relevant to prove his character in relation to motive, opportunity, intent, etc. Furthermore, there was prejudice in that the case was close, the questions alone were inflammatory and damaging, and, because defendant admitted to some violent action toward his wife, it cannot be said that the jury did not consider the evidence for the purpose of concluding that defendant had a violent disposition. State v Brooks (1994) 113 NC App 451, 439 SE2d 234.

Footnotes

Footnote 51. See the discussion in §§ 364-367.

Footnote 52. Thompson v Bowie, 71 US 463, 4 Wall 463, 18 L Ed 423; Baggett v State, 250 Ala 413, 34 So 2d 688; De Weese v People, 61 Colo 140, 156 P 594; Gilbert v Georgia R. & B. Co., 104 Ga 412, 30 SE 673; Cummins v Crawford, 88 Ill 312; Christianson v Kramer, 255 Iowa 239, 122 NW2d 283, appeal after remand 257 Iowa 974, 135 NW2d 644; Colvin v Wilson, 100 Kan 247, 164 P 284, 6 ALR 859; Knights of MacCabees v Shields, 156 Ky 270, 160 SW 1043, reh overr 157 Ky 35, 162 SW 778; Pattangall v Mooers, 113 Me 412, 94 A 561; Pennsylvania Steel Co. v Nace, 113 Md 460, 77 A 1121; Stearns v Long, 215 Mass 152, 102 NE 326; Fahey v Crotty, 63 Mich 383, 29 NW 876; Millers Mutual Fire Ins. Co. v King, 232 Miss 260, 98 So 2d 662; Graves v Johnson, 179 Miss 465, 176 So 256; Davenport v Silvey, 265 Mo 543, 178 SW 168; Morningstar v Lafayette Hotel Co., 211 NY 465, 105 NE 656; Wilson Lumber & Milling Co. v Atkinson, 162 NC 298, 78 SE 212; State v Magill, 19 ND 131, 122 NW 330; Lakes v Buckeye State Mut. Ins. Ass'n (Jackson Co) 110 Ohio App 115, 12 Ohio Ops 2d 384, 168 NE2d 895; Hammett v State, 42 Okla 384, 141 P 419; Cooper v Phipps, 24 Or 357, 33 P 985; Weamer v Juart, 29 Pa 257; Benson v Fowler, 43 Tenn App 147, 306 SW2d 49; Askey v New York Life Ins. Co., 102 Wash 27, 172 P 887.

Evidence of one's reputation as an intelligent and expert civil engineer, under whose supervision a railroad culvert was built, is incompetent and inadmissible on the trial of an issue as to whether the culvert was constructed in a specific manner. Emery v Raleigh & G. R. Co., 102 NC 209, 9 SE 139.

Footnote 53. FRE 404(a); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 404(a).

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

When is evidence of trait of accused's character "pertinent" for purposes of admissibility under Rule 404(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 49 ALR Fed 478.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 135.

Footnote 54. As to what is a "pertinent trait" of the accused, see § 368.

Footnote 55. As to what is a "pertinent trait" of the victim, see § 373.

Footnote 56. For rules governing impeachment of the character of witnesses, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 895 et seq.

Footnote 57. Re Meistrell, 47 Wash App 100, 733 P2d 1004.

Footnote 58. United States v Zane (CA2 NY) 495 F2d 683, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 94517, cert den 419 US 895, 42 L Ed 2d 139, 95 S Ct 174 and cert den 419 US 895, 42 L Ed 2d 139, 95 S Ct 174; United States v Sullivan (CA3 Pa) 803 F2d 87, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1081, cert den 479 US 1036, 93 L Ed 2d 841, 107 S Ct 889; United States v Escamilla (CA4 Va) 467 F2d 341; United States v Gray (CA5 La) 507 F2d 1013, 75-1 USTC ¶ 9231, 35 AFTR 2d 75-781, cert den 423 US 824, 46 L Ed 2d 40, 96 S Ct 38; People v Eli, 66 Cal 2d 63, 56 Cal Rptr 916, 424 P2d 356, cert den 389 US 888, 19 L Ed 2d 188, 88 S Ct 136; Julian v State, 134 Ga App 592, 215 SE2d 496; Summerlin v State, 256 Ind 652, 271 NE2d 411; State v Edwards (La) 420 So 2d 663; State v Demaree (Mo) 362 SW2d 500, 17 ALR3d 312; State v Mucci, 25 NJ 423, 136 A2d 761; State v Ramey, 318 NC 457, 349 SE2d 566; State v McCray, 312 NC 519, 324 SE2d 606; State v Marlow, 310 NC 507, 313 SE2d 532 (limited to four); State v Stegmann, 286 NC 638, 213 SE2d 262, vacated, in part 428 US 902, 49 L Ed 2d 1205, 96 S Ct 3203; State v Lambert (Tenn Crim) 741 SW2d 127; State v Reynolds (Tenn Crim) 666 SW2d 476 (limited to three); Commonwealth ex rel. Davis v Malbon, 195 Va 368, 78 SE2d 683; State v Brown, 179 W Va 681, 371 SE2d 609.

See contra: Jones v State (Ala App) 497 So 2d 215 (in prosecution for receiving stolen property, trial court erred in limiting number of character witnesses that defendant could call, even though defendant had called 18 witnesses who had testified as to his good reputation).

Annotation: Propriety and prejudicial effect of trial court's limiting number of character or reputation witnesses, 17 ALR3d 327.

Footnote 59. United States v Greenlee (CA3 Pa) 517 F2d 899, 75-1 USTC ¶ 9488, 36 AFTR 2d 75-5048, cert den 423 US 985, 46 L Ed 2d 301, 96 S Ct 391; United States v Squella-Avendano (CA5 Fla) 478 F2d 433 (ovrld on other grounds by United States v Bell (CA5 Fla) 678 F2d 547); United States v Koessel (CA8 Mo) 706 F2d 271, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 787; United States v Koessel (CA8 Mo) 706 F2d 271, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 787.

There was no abuse of discretion in District Court's denying defendant's motion for continuance to present 25 additional character witnesses, when defendant had already presented 5 witnesses, government was not offering any rebuttal evidence to character witnesses, and ordinarily District Court allowed no more than 3 character witnesses); United States v Edwards (CA5 Tex) 702 F2d 529, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1313.

Annotation: 17 ALR3d 327.

Footnote 60. People v Burke, 18 Cal App 72, 122 P 435; State v Mucci, 25 NJ 423, 136 A2d 761.

Too many witnesses as to character unnecessarily prolong the trial and tend to turn the case into a popularity contest, which is contrary to the impartial administration of justice. Commonwealth ex rel. Davis v Malbon, 195 Va 368, 78 SE2d 683.

Footnote 61. United States v Edwards (CA5 Tex) 702 F2d 529, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1313; United States v Solomon (CA11 Fla) 686 F2d 863, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 717.

But in prosecution for unlawful purchase of food stamps, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in granting the prosecution's motion to reduce the number of character witnesses for defendant from ten to five, where the only significance of defendant's character was that his testimony contradicted the prosecution's evidence, defendant admitted he could properly present character evidence with six witnesses, and defendant never explained what the sixth witness would have added to his case. United States v Benefield (CA11 Ala) 889 F2d 1061.

Trial court's exclusion of five out of six witnesses offered by the defense on the issue of a government witness' truthfulness was reversible error, where, although trial court has discretion to limit the number of character witnesses that a party may call, four witnesses were excluded, not as an exercise of discretion, but because the trial court was mistaken regarding the necessity for a foundation. United States v Watson (CA11 Fla) 669 F2d 1374, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 31.

Where the accused, who was charged with rape, was precluded from offering the testimony of a second character witness, the limitation to one character witness was improper. Washington v State (Fla App D1) 247 So 2d 743, quashed on other grounds (Fla) 268 So 2d 901.

§ 364 When character or reputation is in issue in civil cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The general rule in civil cases excluding evidence bearing upon the character or reputation of the parties to the action is subject to an important exception in cases where, because of the nature of the action, the character or reputation of a party becomes a matter in issue; in such cases evidence with reference to such party's character or reputation is admissible. 62 Moreover, when the nature of the litigation is such as to put directly in issue the character of one of the parties, such party may introduce evidence in support of his character, even though his adversary has not sought to impeach it. 63

Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a) is applicable to civil cases where the issue in the case is analogous to those raised by a criminal trial. 64 However, while character evidence is admissible as substantive evidence when character is in issue, testimony concerning a civil plaintiff's good character which is relevant only as circumstantial evidence is irrelevant and properly excluded. 65

The reputation of a party for intemperance may be admitted in evidence when his intemperance is pertinent to the issues involved. 66 Thus, evidence of the general reputation for intemperance of an employee is admissible upon the question of the negligence of the employer in hiring or retaining such employee. 67 If the wealth or financial standing of a party to the action is relevant to the issues involved, the fact may be proved by the general reputation which he bears. 68 Evidence of the general reputation of a person for financial responsibility is relevant on the question of his solvency. 69

Usually in actions for assault and battery, evidence of the character or reputation of either the plaintiff or the defendant is admissible; 70 however there is also authority holding that Rule 404(a) applies only to criminal cases; therefore, in a civil action for assault, it is error to admit evidence of plaintiff's peaceful character. 71 Similarly, in actions for slander or libel, there is authority that the plaintiff's general character is involved in the issue, thus making competent evidence relative thereto. 72 But evidence of one's general good character for truth, veracity, honesty, and fair dealing is generally inadmissible by way of defense in a civil action in which a party is charged with a specific fraud. 73

Evidence of policyholder's pimping, pandering, and drug charges in a fire insurance case in which the insurance company claimed that the policyholder committed arson, should not have been admitted because charges, none of which led to convictions, may well have had unfair influence on the jury's deliberations, due to their socially offensive nature. 74

Under the Federal Rules, it has been held that when character evidence is offered because it is at issue, the evidence is not within the scope of Federal Rules of Evidence 404, which covers evidence introduced for the purpose of showing that a person acted in conformity with a particular character trait. 75 As to such evidence, the only issue is the allowable methods of proof, which are discussed in Federal Rules of Evidence 405. 76

§ 364 ----When character or reputation is in issue in civil cases [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Use of FRE 404(a) character evidence in civil cases, 23 Colo Law 8:1801 (1994).

Rules:

(FRE, Rule 412), amended in 1994, now applies to civil as well as criminal proceedings to exclude evidence of an alleged victim's past sexual behavior or alleged sexual predisposition, with certain exceptions. (FRE, Rule 412(b)(2) provides that in a civil case, evidence offered to prove the sexual behavior or sexual predisposition of any alleged victim is admissible if it is otherwise admissible under these rules and its probative value substantially outweighs the danger of harm to any victim and of unfair prejudice to any party. Evidence of an alleged victim's reputation is admissible only if it has been placed in controversy by the alleged victim.

Case authorities:

In an action to demote a captain to a sergeant based upon complaints of sexual harassment brought by 6 female correctional officers who worked under the captain's supervision, the court of common pleas properly refused to consider the exclusion of character evidence of the complaining witnesses (victims) by the board, where such evidence was not admissible under Evid R 404(A)(2) since this was not a criminal prosecution, and it was not admissible under Evid R 404(A)(3) because the evidence did not concern credibility of the witnesses. Kennedy v Marion Correctional Inst., 69 OS3d 20, 630 NE2d 324, 64 BNA FEP Cas 1436.

Footnotes

Footnote 62. Thompson v Bowie, 71 US 463, 4 Wall 463, 18 L Ed 423; Baggett v State, 250 Ala 413, 34 So 2d 688; Rosencranz v Tidrington, 193 Ind 472, 141 NE 58, 28 ALR 1136; Koonts v Farmers Mut. Ins. Ass'n, 235 Iowa 87, 16 NW2d 20; Gore v Curtis, 81 Me 403, 17 A 314; Colburn v Marble, 196 Mass 376, 82 NE 28; Davenport v Silvey, 265 Mo 543, 178 SW 168; O'Brien v Frasier, 47 NJL 349, 1 A 465; Norris v Stewart's Heirs, 105 NC 455, 10 SE 912; Sloneker v Van Ausdall, 106 Ohio St 320, 1 Ohio L Abs 134, 140 NE 121, 28 ALR 759; Askey v New York Life Ins. Co., 102 Wash 27, 172 P 887.

In a contest between parents over the custody of a child of the marriage, evidence touching the character, conduct, and reputation of either of the parties, or any other evidence tending to throw light on their fitness to be custodian of the child, is admissible. Milner v Gatlin, 143 Ga 816, 85 SE 1045.

Evidence of the previous reputation of an attorney for honesty, probity, and good moral character is admissible in evidence in a proceeding to disbar him for an alleged attempt to secure business by getting possession of an injured infant through false representations and having a guardian appointed for him without the parent's knowledge or consent. Lenihan v Commonwealth, 165 Ky 93, 176 SW 948.

Footnote 63. Lenihan v Commonwealth, 165 Ky 93, 176 SW 948.

Footnote 64. Crumpton v Confederation Life Ins. Co. (CA5 Tex) 672 F2d 1248, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 321, reh den (CA5 Tex) 679 F2d 250; Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 65. Blake v Cich (DC Minn) 79 FRD 398, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 661.

As to evidence of the accused's good character, see § 367.

Footnote 66. Locke v Brown (Fla App D2) 194 So 2d 45 (evidence of plaintiff's antecedent intemperate habits was admissible to corroborate defendant's other proof as to plaintiff's intoxication); Guy v Lanark Fuel Co., 72 W Va 728, 79 SE 941.

Footnote 67. Smith v Prudential Ins. Co., 83 NJL 719, 85 A 190.

Evidence of the general reputation for drunkenness of a physician selected by an employer to treat his employees, in the community in which he practices, is admissible as tending to prove that the employer knew, or by proper diligence should have known, of it. Guy v Lanark Fuel Co., 72 W Va 728, 79 SE 941.

Footnote 68. Chellis v Chapman, 125 NY 214, 26 NE 308.

Practice References Trial court restrictions on evidence of defendant's wealth. 30 Am Jur Trials 711.

Footnote 69. Ellis v State, 138 Wis 513, 119 NW 1110.

Footnote 70. 6 Am Jur 2d, Assault and Battery §§ 103-106.

Footnote 71. Gibson v Gunsch (App) 148 Ariz 416, 714 P2d 1311.

Footnote 72. 50 Am Jur 2d, Libel and Slander § 469.

Footnote 73. 37 Am Jur 2d, Fraud and Deceit § 458.

Footnote 74. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. v Gosdin (CA11 Ga) 803 F2d 1153, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1360.

Footnote 75. Crumpton v Confederation Life Ins. Co. (CA5 Tex) 672 F2d 1248, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 321, reh den (CA5 Tex) 679 F2d 250 (evidence that insured had raped neighbor admissible to show that insured should have anticipated neighbor's violent reaction to being raped and that insured's death was therefore not accidental).

Footnote 76. §§ 375 et seq.

§ 365 Bad character of accused in criminal case

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Even though evidence of bad character and reputation may be logically relevant and of probative value, the courts, for sound reasons of policy, hold that it is legally irrelevant. 77 If such evidence was admissible, the deep tendency of human nature to punish, not because the accused is guilty, but because he is a bad man and may as well be condemned now that he is caught, would operate with the jury. 78 The accused might be overwhelmed by prejudice, instead of being tried upon the evidence affirmatively showing his guilt of the specific offense with which he is charged. 79 Consequently, the character of a person accused of a crime is generally held not a fact in issue in a prosecution for such a crime, and the prosecution cannot, in its evidence in chief, for the purpose of inducing belief in the accused's guilt, introduce evidence tending to show his bad character or reputation, 80 or that he has a tendency or disposition to commit the crime with which he is charged, 81 unless the accused chooses to make his character an issue. 82 In other words, the prosecution may not offer evidence of the accused's character unless and until the accused has raised the issue by offering evidence of his good character. 83

Where the accused undertakes to strengthen his case by proof of good character, he opens the door to evidence by the prosecution that his character or reputation is, in fact, bad. 84 Consequently, the prosecution may introduce evidence attacking the character or reputation of the accused where he first puts his good character in issue by introducing evidence to sustain his good character or reputation. 85 However, where the accused has not previously submitted evidence of his good character, an error in admitting evidence on behalf of the prosecution as to the bad character of the accused is not cured by his submission of evidence in rebuttal. 86

Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a)(1) requires that the government's rebuttal evidence focus on the pertinent trait placed in issue by the defendant; for example, does he in fact have a good reputation in the community or does he in fact have a reputation in his community for honesty? The government is not permitted to respond to the defendant's evidence that he is not the type of person who would embezzle checks from the United States mail by introducing evidence of the defendant's possession and use of small amounts of marijuana, since the latter evidence has absolutely no bearing on the defendant's propensity to engage in theft. 87

A defendant does not put his character in issue by merely taking the stand as a witness; 88 but certain evidence of bad character becomes admissible in order to attack a defendant's credibility as a witness, 89 and once a defendant offers evidence as to a pertinent character trait, under Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a)(1), the prosecution may offer evidence in rebuttal. 90

§ 365 ----Bad character of accused in criminal case [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: First and fifth amendments – the freedom to associate and due process clause – a state may not introduce at capital sentencing evidence of associational preferences if such evidence proves nothing more than mere abstract beliefs – Dawson v. Delaware [117 LE2d 309 (1992), 3 Seton Hall Const LJ 259 (1993)].

Case authorities:

In murder prosecution, trial court did not err in excluding evidence that, on date several months before murder, third person had broken into victim's home and stolen various items; present case was devoid of any evidence of theft or burglary, and no evidence as to violent nature of third person was proffered. Larimore v State (1994) 317 Ark 111, 877 SW2d 570.

The trial court erred by admitting testimony that a defendant on trial for possession of marijuana and cocaine with the intent to sell and deliver had a reputation in the community as a drug dealer when defendant had not offered character evidence, but this error was not prejudicial where defendant's guilt of the offenses charged could be found from his own testimony that he owned the bags of marijuana that he dropped on the ground and individually wrapped pieces of crack cocaine that he spit out of his mouth, and that although had sold drugs before, he didn't know whether he was going to sell the drugs seized from his possession or use them himself. State v Taylor (1995) 117 NC App 644, 453 SE2d 225.

In prosecution for voluntary manslaughter, trial court erred in allowing defendant's wife to answer question as to whether defendant was possessive and jealous since defendant had not placed his character in issue; however, admission did not prejudice defendant where other evidence showing possessive and jealous tendencies was properly admitted. Richardson v State (1993, Tex App Fort Worth) 860 SW2d 214.

Footnotes

Footnote 77. State v Gress, 250 Minn 337, 84 NW2d 616; State v Garceau, 122 Vt 303, 170 A2d 623.

Footnote 78. State v Gress, 250 Minn 337, 84 NW2d 616.

Footnote 79. Topeka v Harvey, 188 Kan 841, 365 P2d 1109; State v Garceau, 122 Vt 303, 170 A2d 623.

Footnote 80. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Solomon (CA11 Fla) 686 F2d 863, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 717); Williams v United States, 168 US 382, 42 L Ed 509, 18 S Ct 92; Hurst v United States (CA5 Ga) 337 F2d 678; Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669; Bennett v State, 86 Ga 401, 12 SE 806; Topeka v Harvey, 188 Kan 841, 365 P2d 1109; Grigsby v Commonwealth, 299 Ky 721, 187 SW2d 259, 159 ALR 196; State v Beckner, 194 Mo 281, 91 SW 892; Bullock v State, 65 NJL 557, 47 A 62; People v Lingley, 207 NY 396, 101 NE 170, reh den 208 NY 597, 102 NE 1109; State v Markowitz, 138 Ohio St 106, 20 Ohio Ops 63, 33 NE2d 1.

Elicitation by the prosecuting attorney of evidence having no tendency to prove the issue being tried, but serving only to show the cruel and evil nature of the accused, has been held particularly subject to condemnation in a prosecution for murder. People v Gougas, 410 Ill 235, 102 NE2d 152, 28 ALR2d 852.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

When is evidence of trait of accused's character "pertinent" for purposes of admissibility under Rule 404(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 49 ALR Fed 478.

Footnote 81. State v Brady, 100 Iowa 191, 69 NW 290; State v Lapage, 57 NH 245; People v Sharp, 107 NY 427, 14 NE 319.

But see United States v McMahon (CA1 NH) 938 F2d 1501, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 516, holding that evidence that an extortion defendant needed to take advances on his salary and had taken a second mortgage on his house was properly admitted as probative of present motive for acquiring money, not introduced to show that defendant was sort of person who would do anything for money.

Footnote 82. Greer v United States, 245 US 559, 62 L Ed 469, 38 S Ct 209.

Character is never an issue in criminal proceedings unless and until the accused makes it so at the trial; until the defense opens the door, the issue is foreclosed. State v Jost, 127 Vt 120, 241 A2d 316.

Footnote 83. United States v Modern Reed & Rattan Co. (CA2 NY) 159 F2d 656, 12 CCH LC ¶ 63530, cert den 331 US 831, 91 L Ed 1845, 67 S Ct 1510; Post v State (Fla App D2) 315 So 2d 230; State v McCorvey, 262 Minn 361, 114 NW2d 703; Hamilton v State (Miss) 197 So 2d 469; State v Bush, 211 SC 455, 45 SE2d 847; State v Shuttle, 126 Vt 379, 230 A2d 794; State v Riggle, 76 Wyo 1, 298 P2d 349, reh den 76 Wyo 63, 300 P2d 567 and cert den 352 US 981, 1 L Ed 2d 366, 77 S Ct 384.

Testimony of a police officer that he had known the defendant's wife for a number of years and that she had come to work at the defendant's hotel before she and the defendant were married was not objectionable as an attack upon the reputation of the defendant. State v Graham, 237 SC 278, 117 SE2d 147.

It is not that the accused's character is irrelevant to the question of guilt or innocence, but policy forbids an attack on his character until the accused has elected to make it an issue. State v Shuttle, 126 Vt 379, 230 A2d 794.

Footnote 84. Greer v United States, 245 US 559, 62 L Ed 469, 38 S Ct 209; West v State, 265 Ark 52, 576 SW2d 718; Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669; Kelly v People, 229 Ill 81, 82 NE 198; State v Bowers, 218 Kan 736, 545 P2d 303; Owens v Commonwealth, 188 Ky 698, 222 SW 524; State v Williams, 337 Mo 884, 87 SW2d 175, 100 ALR 1503; People v Lingley, 207 NY 396, 101 NE 170, reh den 208 NY 597, 102 NE 1109.

In a prosecution for murder, defendant's testimony that he was incapable of committing violent acts and wanted a well-rounded relationship with the female victim, in addition to testimony by defendant's doctor that defendant's intoxicated state rendered him incapable of the premeditation and deliberation necessary for first degree murder, opened the door and permitted the cross-examination of defendant regarding his propensity for violence generally and while he was intoxicated, and his attitude toward women. State v Sullivan, 131 NH 209, 551 A2d 519.

Footnote 85. As to the accused's right to introduce evidence of good character, see § 367.

Footnote 86. State v Beckner, 194 Mo 281, 91 SW 892.

The prosecutor in a robbery trial committed reversible error where, in his opening statement to the jury, he attacked the defendant's character by referring to a prior robbery conviction; the fact that defendant later took the witness stand and testified in his own behalf, admitting the prior conviction, did not render the error harmless, since such testimony may well have been a defense tactic to counter the initial taint resulting from the prosecutor's opening statement. Post v State (Fla App D2) 315 So 2d 230.

Footnote 87. United States v Reed (CA11 Ala) 700 F2d 638, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1436.

Footnote 88. United States v Masino (CA2 NY) 275 F2d 129; State v Linder, 170 NJ Super 548, 407 A2d 830; People v Nuzzo, 294 NY 227, 62 NE2d 47.

Footnote 89. FRE 608, 609, discussed in 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 895 et seq.

Footnote 90. United States v Petsas (CA9 Cal) 592 F2d 525, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 207, cert den 442 US 910, 61 L Ed 2d 276, 99 S Ct 2824.

§ 366 --Under particular circumstances

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The courts frequently deal with the question of whether an accused's character has been placed into issue. The determination of whether the content of a particular statement has resulted in a defendant's character being placed into issue, is of an essentially subjective nature. Thus, where a defendant accused of a violent crime has testified as to his or her own peaceful nature, some courts have found that those statements have placed the defendant's character into issue. 91

The other courts have ruled that character was not placed into issue by a defendant's testimony with regard to his or her peaceful nature on direct examination. 92

The principle that a defendant must have placed his or her character into issue before the prosecution can introduce evidence of character has also been applied to other traits and offenses. For example, where defendants who were charged with assault, theft, and sexual offenses introduced testimony bearing on their characters for truthfulness, those defendants were found to have placed their characters for truth in issue. 93 A rape defendant's introduction of evidence that he was trusted was found to have placed his character into issue, 94 and where one accused of a sexual offense introduced the testimony of a witness who alluded to the defendant's prior involvement in improper sexual conduct, the defendant's character for obedience to the law was sufficiently placed into issue. 95 In the case of an arson defendant, his presentation of evidence of his personal history, including financial and employment background, was found to sufficiently place character into issue. 96 A murder defendant's testimony that he had an aversion to killing, coupled with testimony of another defense witness, sufficiently placed his character for peacefulness in issue and thereby rendered admissible state's rebuttal evidence that defendant had fired deadly weapons at persons other than the victim. 97 Where defendant in a murder trial testified that he was peace-loving and nonviolent, his character for peacefulness was placed in issue so that testimony regarding his prior assaults on his former wife was properly admitted in rebuttal. 98

But the defendant does not put his character in issue by testifying in chief as to his place of birth, education, residence, or some other matter of personal history; 99 by his reply that he had been in court once before as a witness when asked if he had ever been in court before; 1 by denying the charges; 2 by his denial that he was a "queer;" 3 or by his statement that he did not remember other persons with whom similar offenses had been committed. 4 And a court has refused to find that the character of a defendant charged with physically abusing a child had been placed into issue by the prosecution's introduction of psychological "profile" evidence before the defendant had placed his character into issue. 5

§ 366 --Under particular circumstances [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Admissibility and prejudicial effect of evidence, in criminal prosecution, of defendant's involvement with witchcraft, satanism, or the like. 18 ALR5th 804.

Footnotes

Footnote 91. Squires v State (Fla) 450 So 2d 208, cert den 469 US 892, 83 L Ed 2d 204, 105 S Ct 268, post-conviction proceeding (Fla) 513 So 2d 138, 12 FLW 512, appeal after remand (Fla) 558 So 2d 401, 15 FLW S 49, habeas corpus proceeding (Fla) 564 So 2d 1074, 15 FLW S 381, post-conviction proceeding (Fla) 565 So 2d 318, 15 FLW S 382, habeas corpus den (MD Fla) 794 F Supp 1568, 6 FLW Fed D 183, reh den, motion den (MD Fla) 818 F Supp 1485, 7 FLW Fed D 123; State v Stroud, 210 Mont 58, 683 P2d 459.

Murder defendant's testimony that he had, at risk to his own life, previously saved the lives of others, constituted an offer of his character for peacefulness, thereby entitling the prosecutor to present rebuttal testimony demonstrating the defendant's propensity for violence. Brodent v State (Okla Crim) 700 P2d 1021.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

Footnote 92. Dixon v State (Fla App D2) 426 So 2d 1258 (statement that defendant had never hurt or robbed anyone); State v Sobocinski (Minn App) 395 NW2d 128; State v Parks, 71 Or App 630, 693 P2d 657, later proceeding 89 Or App 647, 750 P2d 526 and appeal after remand 90 Or App 170, 751 P2d 1115; Kwallek v State (Wyo) 596 P2d 1372 (defendant's assertion that he acted in self-defense).

Footnote 93. State v Miller (App) 128 Ariz 112, 624 P2d 309 (prosecution for theft by false pretenses and perjury); State v Anderson, 211 Mont 272, 686 P2d 193 (prosecution for sexual assault).

Footnote 94. State v Workman (Cuyahoga Co) 14 Ohio App 3d 385, 14 Ohio BR 490, 471 NE2d 853, post-conviction proceeding 40 Ohio St 3d 712, 534 NE2d 843, later proceeding (Ohio App, Cuyahoga Co) 1989 Ohio App LEXIS 4967.

Footnote 95. State v D.B.S., 216 Mont 234, 700 P2d 630 (charged of incest).

Footnote 96. State v Brush, 32 Wash App 445, 648 P2d 897, review den 98 Wash 2d 1017.

Footnote 97. Squires v State (Fla) 450 So 2d 208, cert den 469 US 892, 83 L Ed 2d 204, 105 S Ct 268, post-conviction proceeding (Fla) 513 So 2d 138, 12 FLW 512, appeal after remand (Fla) 558 So 2d 401, 15 FLW S 49, habeas corpus proceeding (Fla) 564 So 2d 1074, 15 FLW S 381, post-conviction proceeding (Fla) 565 So 2d 318, 15 FLW S 382, habeas corpus den (MD Fla) 794 F Supp 1568, 6 FLW Fed D 183, reh den, motion den (MD Fla) 818 F Supp 1485, 7 FLW Fed D 123.

Footnote 98. State v Stroud, 210 Mont 58, 683 P2d 459.

Footnote 99. Martin v People, 114 Colo 120, 162 P2d 597.

Footnote 1. Rose v Commonwealth, 286 Ky 53, 149 SW2d 772.

Footnote 2. In a prosecution for first-degree murder and attempted robbery, the trial court reversibly erred in permitting the state to ask defendant about his numerous prior unrelated arrests since it was doubtful that defendant could be said to have placed his character in issue by stating, "I did not do it. I've never hurt nobody in my life. I don't know nothing about it. I don't know the man." Dixon v State (Fla App D2) 426 So 2d 1258 (noting that even if he placed his character in issue, the state should have sought to prove his bad character through testimony about his reputation, not by cross-examination about prior arrests).

Footnote 3. Martin v People, 114 Colo 120, 162 P2d 597.

Footnote 4. State v Ewing, 174 Or 487, 149 P2d 765.

Footnote 5. State v Loebach (Minn) 310 NW2d 58 (expert testified that child allegedly killed by defendant-father had characteristics of battered children).

Annotation: Admissibility at criminal prosecution of expert testimony on battering parent syndrome, 43 ALR4th 1203.

§ 367 Evidence of accused's good character

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

It is generally held that evidence of the good character and reputation of an accused is admissible in a criminal prosecution, 6 insofar as such evidence has reference to a trait which is pertinent and relevant to the offense with which he is charged. 7 This rule applies to all criminal cases where the object of the prosecution is to punish the offender for crime, whether the crime charged is a felony or misdemeanor, 8 and wherever a criminal intent is necessary to constitute the offense. 9

◆ Practice guide: The defendant need not testify as a witness before offering character evidence on his own behalf. He may call a witness for that purpose although he does not himself testify as a witness. 10

Evidence of the good character and reputation of the accused in a criminal prosecution has the purpose and effect of strengthening the presumption of innocence, 11 and where good character and reputation are established, an inference or presumption arises that the accused did not commit the crime charged. 12 This view proceeds upon the theory that a person of good character and high reputation is not likely to have committed the act charged against him. 13

Under Rule 404(a)(1), in a criminal case, an accused may introduce evidence of his or her own good character in order to suggest the inference that someone with such a character would not have committed the crime with which the accused is charged. 14

◆ Practice guide: The offering of character evidence is a privilege of the defendant, and the prosecution cannot comment on the failure of the defendant to produce such evidence. 15

An accused may advance more than one character trait as evidence so long as each trait is germane to some issue in the trial. 16 Evidence that the defendant is a law-abiding person is relevant, and exclusion of such evidence may constitute reversible error, since evidence of good character may in itself raise a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt. 17 Thus, an accused has been permitted to advance one or more of his character traits germane to the issues on trial as evidence of his innocence, 18 and to present general evidence of good character as tending to show that he would not commit a crime involving moral turpitude. 19

Character evidence of reputation for veracity constitutes substantive evidence which under certain circumstances can raise a reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt even though it does not relate to the specific criminal act of which he is accused, so long as the accused's credibility as a witness versus the main prosecution witness is the crux of the case. 20 However, an accused has not been permitted to present evidence of his reputation for truth and veracity in a criminal prosecution where such evidence is not relevant to whether the accused committed the crime in question, and where the accused's credibility as a witness is not challenged, 21 and ordinarily a defendant may not prove his good character by evidence of specific instances of good conduct. 22

◆ Observation: It is proper for a trial court to deny permission to defendant to testify that he had never been arrested before since absence of arrests is especially weak character evidence, the court noting that a clever criminal may never be caught. 23

§ 367 ----Evidence of accused's good character [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Former postal employee's failure to steal three "test letters" from mail was properly excluded since it was not relevant to intent to embezzle check five months earlier and was classic character evidence offered to prove that defendant had good character and acted in conformity therewith. United States v Hill (1994, CA7 Ill) 40 F3d 164.

Although court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to allow pastor to testify in view of defendant's offer of proof that pastor would testify about how long he had known defendant, and in what capacity defendant had been involved in church, on remand, testimony of defendant's good and peaceful character would be admissible since it was directly related to whether he would have sexually assaulted young girl. State v Iosefa (1994) 77 Hawaii 177, 880 P2d 1224, cert gr 76 Hawaii 453, 879 P2d 558.

Footnotes

Footnote 6. Amos v State, 209 Ark 55, 189 SW2d 611; Slavens v State, 1 Ark App 245, 614 SW2d 529; State v Blake, 157 Conn 99, 249 A2d 232; State v Goetz, 83 Conn 437, 76 A 1000; Daniels v State, 18 Del 586, 2 Penne 586, 48 A 196; Norman v State (Fla App D3) 156 So 2d 186, cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463 and cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463; State v Dowell, 47 Idaho 457, 276 P 39, 68 ALR 1061; Carr v State, 135 Ind 1, 34 NE 533; State v Northrup, 48 Iowa 583; Commonwealth v Ashcraft, 224 Ky 203, 5 SW2d 1067; People v Lane, 304 Mich 29, 7 NW2d 210; Sinclair v State, 87 Miss 330, 39 So 522; State v Nienaber, 347 Mo 615, 148 SW2d 537; State v Quinn, 344 Mo 1072, 130 SW2d 511; State v Porter, 143 Mont 528, 391 P2d 704; Latimer v State, 55 Neb 609, 76 NW 207; State v Lang, 87 NJL 508, 94 A 631, 10 ALR 4; State v Costa, 139 NJ Super 588, 354 A2d 691; People v Sharp, 107 NY 427, 14 NE 319; Commonwealth v Cleary, 135 Pa 64, 19 A 1017; Morrison v State, 217 Tenn 374, 397 SW2d 826, reh den 217 Tenn 387, 400 SW2d 237; State v Hedding, 114 Vt 212, 42 A2d 438; State v Hedding, 114 Vt 212, 42 A2d 438; State v Moyer, 58 W Va 146, 52 SE 30.

Footnote 7. § 369.

Footnote 8. Balkum v State, 115 Ala 117, 22 So 532; Bailey v People, 54 Colo 337, 130 P 832; Kelly v People, 229 Ill 81, 82 NE 198; Commonwealth v Tircinski, 189 Mass 257, 75 NE 261; State v Lockerby, 50 Minn 363, 52 NW 958; State v Feeley, 194 Mo 300, 92 SW 663; State v Lang, 87 NJL 508, 94 A 631, 10 ALR 4; Territory v Lobato, 17 NM 666, 134 P 222, affd 242 US 199, 61 L Ed 244, 37 S Ct 107; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; State v Foster, 130 NC 666, 41 SE 284; State v Magill, 19 ND

131, 122 NW 330; State v Roderick, 77 Ohio St 301, 82 NE 1082; Kirby v State, 25 Okla Crim 330, 220 P 74, 33 ALR 1212; Commonwealth v Harmon, 199 Pa 521, 49 A 217; Durham v State, 128 Tenn 636, 163 SW 447; Evers v State, 31 Tex Crim 318, 20 SW 744; State v Hosey, 54 Wash 309, 103 P 12; Ellis v State, 138 Wis 513, 119 NW 1110.

Footnote 9. Lincecum v State, 29 Tex App 328, 15 SW 818; Lann v State, 25 Tex App 495, 8 SW 650.

Footnote 10. Hennington v State, 141 Tex Crim 449, 149 SW2d 587.

Footnote 11. Daniels v State, 18 Del 586, 2 Penne 586, 48 A 196; State v Northrup, 48 Iowa 583; Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d 546, 87 ALR2d 963; State v Padgett, 93 W Va 623, 117 SE 493; State v Moyer, 58 W Va 146, 52 SE 30.

Footnote 12. State v Lee, 22 Minn 407; Latimer v State, 55 Neb 609, 76 NW 207; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718.

Footnote 13. Lenihan v Commonwealth, 165 Ky 93, 176 SW 948; Latimer v State, 55 Neb 609, 76 NW 207; State v Dickerson, 77 Ohio St 34, 82 NE 969; Kirby v State, 25 Okla Crim 330, 220 P 74, 33 ALR 1212.

Footnote 14. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620.

Footnote 15. State v Markowitz, 138 Ohio St 106, 20 Ohio Ops 63, 33 NE2d 1.

Footnote 16. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

Footnote 17. United States v Angelini (CA1 Mass) 678 F2d 380, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 876, on remand (DC Mass) 553 F Supp 367.

Footnote 18. United States v Lechoco, 177 US App DC 9, 542 F2d 84, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 338.

Footnote 19. United States v Cylkouski (CA6 Ky) 556 F2d 799, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 990 (prosecution for a gambling offense).

Footnote 20. United States v Logan (CA3 Pa) 717 F2d 84, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1576.

Good character is a substantive fact to be considered by the jury in determining the ultimate issue of the defendant's guilt or innocence, but it is not a defense as such to the commission of a crime. State v Demaree (Mo) 362 SW2d 500, 17 ALR3d 312.

Footnote 21. United States v Jackson (CA5 Ala) 588 F2d 1046, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 245, 49 ALR Fed 461, reh den (CA5 Ala) 591 F2d 1343 and cert den 442 US 941, 61 L Ed 2d 310, 99 S Ct 2882 (prosecution for federal narcotics laws violation).

As to what is a pertinent character trait, see § 368, and as to the relationship of character trait to offense charged, see § 369.

Footnote 22. § 381.

Footnote 23. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620.

§ 368 What is a "pertinent" character trait

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

To be relevant, it is necessary that evidence of character, good or bad, be confined to a particular trait of character, the existence or nonexistence of which would be involved in the commission or noncommission of the crime charged. 24 The exceptions provided by Rule 404(a) authorize an offer of evidence of a "pertinent trait" of the character of an accused or a victim of a crime. The word "pertinent" as used in Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a)(1) has been held to mean the same as "relevant," which is defined in Federal Rules of Evidence 401; 25 therefore, the basic issue is whether the character trait in question would make any fact of consequence to the determination of the case more or less probable than it would be without evidence of that trait. 26 Evidence which is not pertinent is inadmissible because Federal Rule of Evidence 404 forbids its introduction as circumstantial evidence of innocence of a charged offense. 27

§ 368 ----What is a "pertinent" character trait [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Where the State had presented evidence that defendant's brother asked him to swear on his mother's grave that he did not commit a robbery-murder but defendant stated only that he had tried to borrow money from the brother right before the crime occurred, the trial court erred by excluding as hearsay testimony by defendant's former wife that defendant loved his mother dearly and, in her opinion, would never swear or profane his mother's grave, since the testimony was not hearsay but was relevant character evidence admissible under Rule 404(a)(1) to rebut the implication in the State's evidence that defendant declined to swear to his innocence because he knew he was guilty. However, the exclusion of this testimony was not prejudicial error because the testimony could not have affected the jury's verdict in light of all of the other evidence, including a partial confession and eyewitness identification of defendant at the scene near the time of the crime. GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(a)(1). State v Powell (1995) 340 NC 674, 459 SE2d 219.

Footnotes

Footnote 24. Darland v United States (CA5 Ala) 626 F2d 1235, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 89, appeal after remand (CA5 Ala) 659 F2d 70, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 194, cert den 454 US 1157, 71 L Ed 2d 315, 102 S Ct 1032; Norman v State (Fla App D3) 156 So 2d 186, cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463 and cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463; State v Ralph, 217 Kan

457, 537 P2d 200 (addiction to narcotics is not a trait of character); State v Cavallo, 88 NJ 508, 443 A2d 1020, 42 ALR4th 919.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

When is evidence of trait of accused's character "pertinent" for purposes of admissibility under Rule 404(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 49 ALR Fed 478.

Footnote 25. United States v Angelini (CA1 Mass) 678 F2d 380, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 876, on remand (DC Mass) 553 F Supp 367; United States v Hewitt (CA5 La) 634 F2d 277, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 899; United States v Staggs (CA7 Ill) 553 F2d 1073, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 970.

For a discussion of what constitutes "relevant evidence", see §§ 307 et seq.

Annotation: 56 ALR4th 402; 149 ALR Fed 478.

Footnote 26. United States v Angelini (CA1 Mass) 678 F2d 380, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 876, on remand (DC Mass) 553 F Supp 367.

As to evidence tending to make probable the existence of a fact, see § 309.

Footnote 27. United States v Jackson (CA5 Ala) 588 F2d 1046, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 245, 49 ALR Fed 461, reh den (CA5 Ala) 591 F2d 1343 and cert den 442 US 941, 61 L Ed 2d 310, 99 S Ct 2882.

§ 369 Relationship of character trait to offense charged

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In determining the admissibility of evidence of an accused's character under Rule 404(a)(1), an initial consideration is the relationship of the trait to the offense with which the defendant was charged. While it has been held under the Federal Rules that a defendant has the right to establish the character trait of being a law-abiding citizen in every case, not only where he takes the stand or where dishonesty is an element of the crime involved, 28 other courts have circumscribed the rule, limiting it to situations where there is a clear relationship between the trait and the offense charged. It is generally held that insofar as evidence of the character or reputation of a party is admissible, such evidence must bear reference to the nature of the charge against him or the matter in issue. 29 Where the accused in a criminal case has put his character in issue, testimony as to his reputation must be confined to the particular traits which are relevant to the offense charged 30 Thus, a defendant's violence or peacefulness has been accepted as pertinent where he or she was charged with a violent crime, on the rationale that the existence of that trait bears strongly on the probability that the defendant committed or did not commit the alleged offense. 31 A defendant's obedience to the law has been regarded as a trait pertinent to a charge of homicide. 32 But Rule 404(a) does not permit introduction of evidence of a person's violent nature in order to establish that such person committed a violent crime. 33

Courts have regarded as pertinent evidence of sexual morality where the defendant has been accused of a sexual offense, 34 although defendant's moral decency was held not pertinent to whether he committed the crimes of indecent liberties or incest; the court reasoned that since sexual activity is normally an intimate, private affair not known to the community, the defendant's reputation for sexual activity or the lack thereof could have no correlation to his actual sexual conduct. 35

Evidence of honesty or truthfulness has been regarded as pertinent where the defendant has been charged with robbery, burglary, or theft, 36 or in a prosecution for bookmaking. 37 Evidence of the use of alcohol or drugs has been held pertinent where the defendant was on trial for driving while intoxicated 38 or smuggling drugs into a prison. 39 In a suit on a fire insurance policy, evidence of the insureds' good character was admissible where the insurance company's defense on the policy accused the insureds of arson and fraud. 40

◆ Practice guide: Resemblance to a psychological profile for a particular personality type may be pertinent expert testimony in cases dealing with the personality of a defendant charged with homicide 41 and one charged with sexual abuse. 42

§ 369 ----Relationship of character trait to offense charged [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution of male defendant for sexual abuse of male victim, trial court erred in admitting evidence of defendant's homosexual or bisexual orientation, even if evidence was logically relevant, as evidence was impermissible character evidence. Blakeney v State (1995, Tex App Austin) 911 SW2d 508.

Footnotes

Footnote 28. United States v Hewitt (CA5 La) 634 F2d 277, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 899.

Footnote 29. Smith v United States, 161 US 85, 40 L Ed 626, 16 S Ct 483; Wiggins v Utah, 93 US 465, 3 Otto 465, 23 L Ed 941; Clark v United States, 57 App DC 335, 23 F2d 756; People v Peterson, 120 Cal App 197, 7 P2d 366; State v Goetz, 83 Conn 437, 76 A 1000; Norman v State (Fla App D3) 156 So 2d 186, cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463 and cert den (Fla) 165 So 2d 463; Carr v State, 135 Ind 1, 34 NE 533; State v Howland, 157 Kan 11, 138 P2d 424; State v Quinn, 344 Mo 1072, 130 SW2d 511; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; State v Dickerson, 77 Ohio St 34, 82 NE 969; State v Thompson, 58 Utah 291, 199 P 161, 38 ALR 697; Johnson v State, 129 Wis 146, 108 NW 55.

Footnote 30. Amos v State, 209 Ark 55, 189 SW2d 611; State v Blake, 157 Conn 99, 249 A2d 232; Stacey v Commonwealth, 189 Ky 402, 225 SW 37, 25 ALR 490; State v Quinn, 344 Mo 1072, 130 SW2d 511; State v Williams, 337 Mo 884, 87 SW2d 175, 100

ALR 1503; State v Cochrane, 151 Ohio St 128, 38 Ohio Ops 575, 84 NE2d 742; Couch v State, 93 Tex Crim 27, 245 SW 692, 25 ALR 1359, appeal after remand 103 Tex Crim 188, 279 SW 821.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

Footnote 31. Darland v United States (CA5 Ala) 626 F2d 1235, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 89, appeal after remand (CA5 Ala) 659 F2d 70, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 194, cert den 454 US 1157, 71 L Ed 2d 315, 102 S Ct 1032; United States v Webb (CA5 Ga) 625 F2d 709, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1271 (prosecution for shooting at passing aircraft); United States v Staggs (CA7 Ill) 553 F2d 1073, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 970 (prosecution for assaulting federal officer with deadly weapon); Shelton v State, 287 Ark 322, 699 SW2d 728, 56 ALR4th 383; State v Hodges (Minn App) 384 NW2d 175, mod on other grounds, en banc (Minn) 386 NW2d 709.

Evidence of the general reputation of the accused for peace and quietude is permissible in a prosecution for murder, although the murder may have been committed by poisoning. Carr v State, 135 Ind 1, 34 NE 533.

Although the peacefulness of a defendant on trial for attempted murder was a pertinent trait admissible under Rule 404(a)(1), the court rejected a psychologist's testimony, which the defendant asserted would establish his character for peacefulness, because that testimony did not bear on the defendant's reputation for peacefulness. State v Arnold (Me) 421 A2d 932.

On the trial of an indictment for assault and carnal abuse upon a female child of the age of 14 years, where the state's proof had included a ravishment of the complaining witness by the defendant by force and threats, it was held that the reputation of the defendant as a quiet, peaceful, law-abiding citizen would indicate a disposition contrary to the committing of the acts charged, and the rejection of such evidence was error. State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207.

Annotation: When is evidence of trait of accused's character "pertinent" for purposes of admissibility under Rule 404(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, 49 ALR Fed 478.

Footnote 32. Shelton v State, 287 Ark 322, 699 SW2d 728, 56 ALR4th 383.

Footnote 33. State v Rankovich, 159 Ariz 116, 765 P2d 518, 18 Ariz Adv Rep 9 (in prosecution for murder, trial court erred in admitting evidence of defendant's ethnic origin and dislike of United States, offered by prosecutor to show that defendant was basically an angry man who had shot victim out of anger).

Proffered testimony of psychologist that security guard who allegedly shot customer had propensity for violence was inadmissible since it was offered to prove that security guard acted in conformity with such propensity. Morin v E.M. Loews Theatres, Inc. (Me) 498 A2d 594.

Footnote 34. State v Anderson, 211 Mont 272, 686 P2d 193.

See State v Miller (Utah) 709 P2d 350, agreeing with the defendant's argument that evidence of his sexual morality would be admissible under Rule 404 in a prosecution for sexual abuse of a child, but holding that defendant's failure to show his character for sexual morality by reputation or opinion evidence rendered that evidence inadmissible.

Evidence of reputation of one accused of a sex crime must be confined to reputation for sex morality. State v Thompson, 58 Utah 291, 199 P 161, 38 ALR 697.

Footnote 35. State v Jackson, 46 Wash App 360, 730 P2d 1361.

As to the proof of character by evidence of reputation, see § 375.

Footnote 36. Darland v United States (CA5 Ala) 626 F2d 1235, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 89, appeal after remand (CA5 Ala) 659 F2d 70, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 194, cert den 454 US 1157, 71 L Ed 2d 315, 102 S Ct 1032; State v Kramp, 200 Mont 383, 651 P2d 614; State v Hortman, 207 Neb 393, 299 NW2d 187.

Footnote 37. State v Micci, 46 NJ Super 454, 134 A2d 805.

Footnote 38. Quinto v Juneau (Alaska App) 664 P2d 630, revd on other grounds (Alaska) 684 P2d 127.

Footnote 39. State v Rabe, 5 Hawaii App 251, 687 P2d 554.

Footnote 40. Commonwealth Lloyd's Ins. Co. v Thomas (Tex App Fort Worth) 678 SW2d 278, writ ref n r e (Mar 27, 1985) and later proceeding (Tex App Dallas) 825 SW2d 135, motion gr, writ granted, motion overr, set aside, cause remanded (Tex) 843 SW2d 486.

Footnote 41. State v Kelly, 33 Wash App 541, 655 P2d 1202, review gr 100 Was 2d 1001 and revd on other grounds 102 Wash 2d 188, 685 P2d 564 (fact that defendant accused of killing her husband suffered from the "learned helplessness" characteristic of battered women was a pertinent trait of her character under Rule 404(a)(1) where expert witness testified that the defendant's relationship with her husband fit the pattern of "battered woman syndrome").

But see State v Loebach (Minn) 310 NW2d 58, where defendant was charged with killing his child; prosecution's introduction of evidence that defendant's personality was similar to psychological profile of battering parents was not admissible since defendant had not place his character in issue; state's interest in admitting "profile" evidence to assure conviction of persons who batter children was overridden by defendant's interest in fair trial since such evidence unfairly requires accused to disprove and explain his or her personality traits or prior actions and open possibility that jury will overvalue "profile" evidence in assessing defendant's guilt.

Annotation: Admissibility at criminal prosecution of expert testimony on battering parent syndrome, 43 ALR4th 1203.

Footnote 42. State v Miller (Utah) 709 P2d 350 (psychologist's testimony describing the personality profile for persons who sexually abuse young children, along with the defendant's testimony that he did not possess any of the characteristics described in the profile would have established a pertinent trait of the defendant's character, e.g., the incongruity of his personality traits with those of individuals likely to commit sexual offenses against children; therefore, such testimony was admissible under Rule 404(a)(1)).

◆ Caution: However, it was held in State v Miller (Utah) 709 P2d 350, supra, that the evidence warranted exclusion under Rule 403 because it could have led the jury to believe that the state's burden was to show that the defendant fit the characteristics of the psychological profile rather than to prove the elements of the offense of sexual abuse of a child.

See United States v Gillespie (CA9 Cal) 852 F2d 475, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 558, holding it error to admit expert testimony by clinical psychologist on "characteristics common to child molesters."

§ 370 --Where relationship is not clear

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

In situations where the defendant's trait does not have a clear relationship to the alleged offense, the court must determine how the presence of a particular trait impacts on the probability that the defendant committed the crime charged. The obvious reason for the exclusion of proof of the possession or nonpossession of traits other than those involved in the crime charged is that it does not tend to enlighten a reasoning mind as to the probability of the conduct of that person. 43 For example, courts have refused to acknowledge the pertinence of a defendant's truthfulness in prosecutions for attempted homicide, 44 statutory rape, 45 assault, 46 robbery, 47 kidnapping and false imprisonment, 48 or conspiracy to distribute heroin 49 on the rationale that the presence of truthfulness has so slight a relationship to the offense that its presence or absence would have little or no bearing on whether the defendant committed that offense. So too, where the issue is one of honesty, evidence of sobriety and industrious habits is not pertinent. 50 And, where the accused has not taken the stand as a witness in his own behalf, 51 evidence of his reputation for truth and veracity is not admissible except where the trait of truthfulness is pertinent to the criminal charge. 52 While some courts have regarded a defendant's truthfulness as pertinent in a prosecution for sexual offenses, apparently reasoning that the defendant's truthfulness was closely related to his general morality, which in turn related to his propensity to commit crimes of a sexual nature, 53 other courts have held that the character trait of honesty was not involved in the offense of sexual assault, and it was thus not a "pertinent trait" under Rule 404(a)(1). 54

Courts have refused to treat as pertinent a defendant's devotion to his family in rape and burglary prosecutions, 55 and in a prosecution for transporting illegal aliens. 56 It would not be relevant to show the defendant's reputation for good military conduct in a rape prosecution; 57 nor was evidence of a police officer's commendations deemed pertinent to the charged crime of stealing civil service exams. 58 A defendant's trustworthiness was found not pertinent in prosecutions for assault; 59 his reliability in business was not pertinent in a prosecution for the malicious destruction of property, 60 and a defendant's abstinence from alcohol while at work was not pertinent in an assault prosecution. 61

◆ Observation: In such cases, the connection between the alleged offenses and the likelihood that the defendant's possession of the trait in question would influence him or her to not commit that offense are considered too tenuous.

Footnotes

Footnote 43. State v Quinn, 344 Mo 1072, 130 SW2d 511.

Footnote 44. State v Arnold (Me) 421 A2d 932; Reis v State, 130 Tex Crim 541, 95 SW2d 700.

Footnote 45. State v Howland, 157 Kan 11, 138 P2d 424; State v Jackson, 46 Wash App 360, 730 P2d 1361.

Footnote 46. State v Hortman, 207 Neb 393, 299 NW2d 187.

Footnote 47. People v Kendall, 357 Ill 448, 192 NE 378.

Footnote 48. State v Gonzales (App) 140 Ariz 369, 681 P2d 1388, vacated on other grounds 140 Ariz 349, 681 P2d 1368.

Footnote 49. United States v Jackson (CA5 Ala) 588 F2d 1046, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 245, 49 ALR Fed 461, reh den (CA5 Ala) 591 F2d 1343 and cert den 442 US 941, 61 L Ed 2d 310, 99 S Ct 2882.

Footnote 50. State v Moyer, 58 W Va 146, 52 SE 30.

Footnote 51. For principles applicable where accused is a witness, see § 372.

Footnote 52. Whaley v State, 157 Fla 593, 26 So 2d 656.

Where one is charged with the crimes of burglary and larceny, evidence of his reputation for truth and veracity is admissible, since truth and veracity are traits which accompany an honest man and not a thief or robber. Commonwealth v Pressel, 194 Pa Super 367, 168 A2d 779.

Footnote 53. People v Whitfield, 425 Mich 116, 388 NW2d 206; State v Anderson, 211 Mont 272, 686 P2d 193.

Footnote 54. State v Gonzales (App) 140 Ariz 369, 681 P2d 1388, vacated on other grounds 140 Ariz 349, 681 P2d 1368; Wiggins v State (Tex App Dallas) 778 SW2d 877, petition for discretionary review ref, motion for rehearing on PDR denied (Jan 17, 1990).

Defendant's character trait for truthfulness was not a pertinent trait under Rule 404(a)(1) to the charge of indecent liberties; the only traits pertinent to the charge were sexual morality and decency. State v Harper, 35 Wash App 855, 670 P2d 296, review den 100 Wash 2d 1035 and (criticized on other grounds by State v Jackson, 46 Wash App 360, 730 P2d 1361).

Footnote 55. Kellensworth v State, 275 Ark 252, 631 SW2d 1.

Footnote 56. United States v Santana-Camacho (CA1 Puerto Rico) 931 F2d 966, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1229.

Footnote 57. State v Sbrilli, 136 NJL 66, 54 A2d 221.

Footnote 58. United States v Nazzaro (CA1 Mass) 889 F2d 1158, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 201, post-conviction proceeding (CA1 Mass) 1993 US App LEXIS 11653.

Footnote 59. State v Wells (Me) 423 A2d 221.

Footnote 60. People v Sturch, 321 Ill App (abstract) 306, 52 NE2d 831, affd 389 Ill 82, 58 NE2d 873.

Footnote 61. State v Bragg (Me) 516 A2d 556 (where there was no testimony that defendant appeared to be drinking at time of fight giving rise to prosecution).

§ 371 Character of witness; generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a)(3) provides that the admissibility of evidence of the character of a witness is governed by Federal Rules of Evidence 607 (permitting the credibility of a witness to be attacked by any party), Federal Rules of Evidence 608 (permitting the credibility of a witness to be supported or attacked by evidence in the form of reputation, opinion, or by specific instances of conduct), and Federal Rules of Evidence 609 (permitting impeachment of a witness by evidence of conviction of a crime). 62

While evidence of the character or reputation of a party to a civil action is not generally admissible, 63 where he testifies as a witness in his own behalf, evidence of his bad general reputation for truth and veracity may be introduced for the purpose of impeaching his credibility as a witness. 64 He may then, in turn, introduce evidence of his general reputation for truth and veracity for the purpose of enhancing his credibility as a witness. 65 However, he may not introduce such evidence for the purpose of supporting his testimony as a witness where his character or reputation has not been attacked. 66

Evidence concerning a witness' loans and debts is not admissible under Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a) to show that the witness is the type of individual who borrows money but does not repay it and hence that he was likely to have acted similarly with regard to his financial relationship with the defendant. 67

§ 371 ----Character of witness; generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution for aggravated assault on police officer, trial court did not err in excluding reports based on complaints by citizens that officer had used excessive or unnecessary force in past where (1) reports consisted of recitations of specific instances of officer's conduct and not opinion or reputation testimony, (2) state had not raised issue of officer's character, and (3) justification theory of self- defense did not inquire into, as essential element, character of victim. Evans v State (1994, Tex App Texarkana) 876 SW2d 459.

Footnotes

Footnote 62. The grounds and bases for impeachment under these rules is generally discussed in 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 868 et seq.

Footnote 63. § 364.

Footnote 64. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 895 et seq.

Footnote 65. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses § 1006.

Footnote 66. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses § 1007.

Footnote 67. United States v Lanza (CA2 NY) 790 F2d 1015, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1180, cert den 479 US 861, 93 L Ed 2d 141, 107 S Ct 211.

§ 372 --Where accused is a witness

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table

The rule that the prosecution in a criminal proceeding cannot, for the purpose of inducing belief in the guilt of the accused, introduce evidence tending to show his bad character or reputation, 68 is not permitted to be violated by the prosecution, even when the accused offers himself as a witness. 69 This is true even though the accused offering himself as a witness is subject to impeachment the same as any other witness so far as his status and character as a witness, rather than as an accused on trial, are concerned. 70 In other words, as a defendant, the character of the accused cannot be attacked by the prosecution, 71 but as a witness he puts his credibility at issue like any other witness 72 and cannot claim immunity from that attack on the ground that he has not put his character in issue. 73

The fact that the accused voluntarily takes the stand to testify in his own behalf does not put in issue his general character or propensities; it opens up only the issue of credibility. 74 The accused as a witness in his own behalf, while subject to legitimate cross-examination, just as is any other witness, does not lose his status or character as a defendant on trial, whose character or reputation the prosecution is not permitted to attack under the guise of a pretended questioning on cross-examination, the principal effect of which is calculated to be an attack on the character or reputation of the accused as such, so as to induce a more ready belief that he is guilty of the charge on which he is being tried. 75

Where the character for truth and veracity of the accused as a witness is attacked, he is then entitled to introduce evidence of his good character and reputation for the purpose of giving weight to his testimony, that is, to enhance his credibility as a witness. 76 He may not ordinarily introduce such evidence for the purpose of supporting his testimony as a witness where he has not been impeached or his character has not been assailed. 77 However, there is authority to the effect that the mere fact that one stands accused of a crime and the jury is bound to consider his interest in the outcome of the case is sufficient to justify evidence of good character in support of any testimony that he might give. 78

Footnotes

Footnote 68. § 365.

Footnote 69. Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669.

Footnote 70. Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669.

Footnote 71. Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669; Kirby v State, 25 Okla Crim 330, 220 P 74, 33 ALR 1212; State v Jones, 73 Wyo 122, 276 P2d 445.

Footnote 72. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 895 et seq.

Footnote 73. Huling v State, 38 Ala App 598, 92 So 2d 47, cert dismd 265 Ala 697, 92 So 2d 50; State v Gelinas, 160 Conn 366, 279 A2d 552; People v Miller, 13 Ill 2d 84, 148 NE2d 455, cert den 357 US 943, 2 L Ed 2d 1556, 78 S Ct 1394, reh den 358 US 859, 3 L Ed 2d 94, 79 S Ct 18 and cert den 363 US 846, 4 L Ed 2d 1729, 80 S Ct 1618; State v Tolson, 248 Iowa 733, 82 NW2d 105; State v Cushinberry, 180 Kan 448, 304 P2d 561; Canter v Commonwealth, 274 Ky 508, 119 SW2d 864; People v Nuzzo, 294 NY 227, 62 NE2d 47.

The defendant may also put his character in issue through the cross-examination of witnesses for the prosecution. Adams v District of Columbia (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 134 A2d 645.

Footnote 74. State v Gress, 250 Minn 337, 84 NW2d 616.

Footnote 75. Jordan v State, 107 Fla 333, 144 So 669.

Footnote 76. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses § 1006.

Footnote 77. 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses § 1007.

Footnote 78. Sutherland v United States (CA4 Va) 92 F2d 305.

§ 373 Character of victim or complaining witness

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Traditionally, it was held that evidence of the good character and reputation of the complaining witness was not admissible in a criminal prosecution, at least insofar as the accused has made no attack upon such character or reputation. 79 However, evidence of the character and reputation of the complaining witness is admissible for the purpose of rebutting charges made by the defendant which, if unanswered, would besmirch the character of the complaining witness. 80

◆ Observation: In a prosecution for rape, testimony of the general reputation for chastity of the person who claims to have been raped was long held admissible as tending to show that the act of which she complains may not have been against her will, but rape shield laws have been enacted in many jurisdictions which bar the admissibility of the reputation of an alleged rape victim, except under certain limited circumstances. 81

Rule 404(a)(2) permits the admission of evidence of a pertinent trait of character of the victim of the crime offered by an accused; evidence of a pertinent trait of character of a victim of the crime offered by the prosecution to rebut character evidence of the victim offered by the accused; and evidence of a character trait of peacefulness of a homicide victim offered by the prosecution to rebut evidence that the victim was the first aggressor. 82 The victim's character may be at issue even when the defendant is charged with supposedly victimless crimes, where the indictment and the presentation of evidence by the government focus on the illegal deprivation of human life. 83

◆ Caution: It has been held that evidence of the victim's peaceful nature should not be admitted under Rule 404(a)(2) where the defendant had not introduced evidence of the victim's violent temperament. 84

The violent or peaceful character of a victim of a violent crime such as murder or assault has been generally recognized as pertinent, 85 but where the connection between the alleged offense and the victim's trait has not been as apparent as the pertinence of violence or peacefulness to a violent crime, such as where a defendant failed to demonstrate how a victim's obsession with sexuality bore on his propensity to commit homosexual rape, admissibility was denied. 86

◆ Observation: Certain characteristics exhibited by victims, such as religious dedication and the tendency to provide help to those in need may be admissible, but as habits rather than as pertinent character traits. 87

Where a victim's propensity toward homosexuality created a situation that could have prompted the victim to initiate the use of violence, those traits have been accepted as pertinent. 88 However, evidence of a victim's homosexuality may be rebutted. 89 A victim's possession of a gun was found not to be a pertinent trait because the victim's mere ownership of a weapon did not indicate that his overall character was violent, 90 and a victim's membership in a gang has been excluded from evidence on the ground that it did not evince a trait, but rather showed prior instances of the victim's conduct. 91

Some courts have conditioned the admissibility of evidence of a violent crime victim's own character for violence on the defendant's awareness of that aspect of the victim's character at the time of the alleged offense. Thus, where defendants were aware of the victims' violence at the time of the offenses, evidence of the victims' characters has been admitted, 92 but where defendants had no knowledge of their victims' propensities toward violence, evidence of those propensities has been excluded. 93 And in some jurisdictions, it may be necessary to show that the victim committed an overt act against the defendant of such a character that it could have created in a reasonable person the belief that he was in immediate danger. The showing of an overt act entitles the defendant to show the victim's dangerous character, as well as specific acts which affected the defendant's state of mind. 94

◆ Practice guide: Although the literal language of the exceptions to Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a) applies only to criminal cases, when the central issue involved in a civil case is in its nature criminal, the defendant may invoke the exceptions to Federal Rules of Evidence 404(a). 95 For example, in a civil rights suit 96 in which the plaintiff alleges that the defendant deprived the plaintiff's decedent of his civil rights by killing him unjustifiably, the defendant, like a criminal defendant, stands in a position of great peril and should have the same opportunity to present a defense that a criminal defendant could present. Accordingly, the defendant is entitled to present evidence of the plaintiff's character from which the jury can infer that the plaintiff was the aggressor in the incident. 97

§ 373 ----Character of victim or complaining witness [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Where the defendant in a murder, kidnapping, rape and sexual offense trial testified not only that the victim was the instigator of consensual sexual acts but also that the victim stated that she wanted to cheat on her husband, defendant's attack on the victim's character for marital fidelity went beyond what was necessary for his consent defense and opened the door to the admission of the State's rebuttal evidence about the victim's general good moral character, devotion to family, and reputation for marital fidelity. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 404(a). State v Sexton (1994) 336 NC 321, 444 SE2d 879.

In a prosecution of defendant inmates for the murder of a fellow inmate wherein defendants contended that another inmate killed the victim because he was afraid the victim would kill him, and the other inmate testified to this effect, evidence that the victim had twice been convicted of murder was not admissible under Rule 404(a)(2) as a pertinent character trait of the victim since neither defendant relied on self-defense or any other justifiable homicide which would have made the victim's character pertinent; and evidence that the victim had been convicted of two murders, in support of defendants' theory that another inmate killed the victim, would be more prejudicial than probative after the other inmate testified that he committed the murder but did not contend that he killed in self-defense. State v Leazer (1994) 337 NC 454, 446 SE2d 54.

The trial court in a murder prosecution did not err by denying defendant's motion to permit defendant to introduce, pursuant to Rule 404(b), prior convictions of the victim for assault with a deadly weapon and burglary, forensic evaluation records from Dorothea Dix Hospital pertaining to the assault conviction, and prison records of the victim's disciplinary infractions where there was no evidence that defendant was aware of the victim's criminal past at the time of the killing, and defendant's stated purpose for offering the evidence was to show that the victim had a propensity for violence and was the aggressor in the affray which led to the fatal shooting, since Rule 404(b) expressly prohibits admission of evidence for this purpose. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). State v Smith (1994) 337 NC 658, 447 SE2d 376.

There was no prejudicial error in a noncapital first-degree murder prosecution in admitting evidence of the victim's character for peacefulness. Assuming that admission of the evidence that the victim was not known to be a violent person or to carry a gun was error, defendant cannot show prejudice because the other challenged evidence, that the victim was not in any of the altercations at the Soul Train Lounge the night of the murder and that neither defendant nor his friends were armed, was relevant to premeditation and deliberation and to motive and was properly admitted. Moreover, defendant waived his right to raise these objections on appeal because, for each item objected to under this assignment of error, virtually the same evidence was admitted without objection at other times during the trial. State v Alford (1995) 339 NC 562, 453 SE2d 512.

There was no error in a first- degree murder prosecution in the exclusion of testimony as to the victim's reputation for violence where defendant contended that the killing resulted from an accident. It was held in State v. Winfrey, 298 NC 260, and State v. McCray, 312 NC 519, that evidence of a victim's violent character is irrelevant in a homicide case when the defense of accident is raised. Although the Evidence Code subsequently provided in GS § 8C-1, Rule 404 that evidence of a pertinent trait of character of the victim is admissible, "pertinent" was not defined and left intact the rule which holds that the deceased's character is not pertinent in this case. State v Goodson (1995) 341 NC 619, 461 SE2d 740.

There was no error in a first- degree murder prosecution in not allowing testimony concerning the victim's arrest for driving while impaired approximately two weeks before she was killed. Defendant offered this evidence to rebut the State's evidence that there was ill will between himself and his wife and was allowed to testify that he procured his wife's release and brought her home. This was the crucial testimony; the details were peripheral to what he was trying to prove. State v Goodson (1995) 341 NC 619, 461 SE2d 740.

Footnotes

Footnote 79. State v Magill, 19 ND 131, 122 NW 330; Commonwealth v Weatherwax, 166 Pa Super 586, 73 A2d 427.

See Burnett v People, 204 Ill 208, 68 NE 505, holding that upon the trial of a man for persuading a woman with whom he had been criminally intimate to commit suicide, evidence as to her reputation for chastity is not admissible on behalf of the state, where her character in that respect had not been attacked by the accused.

Footnote 80. Commonwealth v Weatherwax, 166 Pa Super 586, 73 A2d 427.

Footnote 81. The applicable federal rule, FRE 412, is discussed in §§ 496-506.

Annotation: Admissibility in prosecution for sex offense of evidence of victim's sexual activity after the offense, 81 ALR4th 1076.

Constitutionality of "rape shield" statute restricting use of evidence of victim's sexual experiences, 1 ALR4th 283.

Footnote 82. FRE 404(a)(2); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 404(a)(2).

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

Practice References Alleged victim's commission of prior acts of and reputation for violence. 15 Am Jur POF2d 167.

General reputation of person in community. 49 Am Jur POF2d 649.

Footnote 83. United States v Perez-Casillas (DC Puerto Rico) 607 F Supp 88 (in prosecution for perjury and conspiracy arising from alleged conspiracy to conceal homicide by police officers, court allowed evidence of victim's reputation for violence).

Footnote 84. Dyer v State (Alaska App) 666 P2d 438.

Footnote 85. Ewing v Winans (CA10 NM) 749 F2d 607, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 470 (criticized on other grounds by Martinez v Sullivan (CA10 NM) 881 F2d 921, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 921) as stated in Myatt v Hannigan (CA10 Kan) 910 F2d 680, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185; Williamson v State (Alaska App) 692 P2d 965; State v Zamora (App) 140 Ariz 338, 681 P2d 921 (aggravated assault); Halfacre v State, 277 Ark 168, 639 SW2d 734; People v Lucero (Colo App) 714 P2d 498; Sanchez v State (Fla App D3) 445 So 2d 1; State v Estrada, 69 Hawaii 204, 738 P2d 812, appeal after remand 71 Hawaii 260, 787 P2d 692, reconsideration den 71 Hawaii 665, 833 P2d 899; People v Anderson, 147 Mich App 789, 383 NW2d 186 (felony-murder, assault, felony-firearm); State v Bland (Minn) 337 NW2d 378; State v Weinberger, 204 Mont 278, 665 P2d 202 (deliberate homicide); State v Ewing, 97 NM 235, 638 P2d 1080, on remand on other grounds (App) 97 NM 484, 641 P2d 515, habeas corpus proceeding (CA10 NM) 749 F2d 607, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 470 (criticized on other grounds by Martinez v Sullivan (CA10 NM) 881 F2d 921, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 921) as stated in Myatt v Hannigan (CA10 Kan) 910 F2d 680, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185; State v Shoemaker, 80 NC App 95, 341 SE2d 603, writ den, stay den 316 NC 556, 344 SE2d 3 and app dismd, review den 317 NC 340, 346 SE2d 145 (voluntary manslaughter, assault with deadly weapon); State v Smith (Franklin Co) 10 Ohio App 3d 99, 10 Ohio BR 122, 460 NE2d 693; State v Boykins (App) 119 Wis 2d 272, 350 NW2d 710 (attempted murder).

Evidence of murder victims' violent characters should have been admitted pursuant to Rule 404(a)(2), because this evidence was relevant to the issue of who was the initial aggressor and whether the defendant reasonably believed that the victims were about to inflict unlawful deadly physical force on him. Smith v State, 273 Ark 47, 616 SW2d 14.

In prosecution for murder and assault with deadly weapon, testimony of trooper that victims had bad reputation as violent people who were prone to fight, especially when drunk, was permissible under Rule of Evidence 404(a)(2). State v Shoemaker, 80 NC App 95, 341 SE2d 603, writ den, stay den 316 NC 556, 344 SE2d 3 and app dismd, review den 317 NC 340, 346 SE2d 145.

Annotation: 56 ALR4th 402 § 16.

Footnote 86. Page v State (Alaska App) 657 P2d 850.

Footnote 87. Derring v State, 273 Ark 347, 619 SW2d 644.

Footnote 88. Williamson v State (Alaska App) 692 P2d 965 (evidence that a victim had previously engaged in homosexual behavior similar to that which immediately preceded his murder constituted relevant character trait evidence under Rule 404(a)(2)).

Footnote 89. In prosecution for murder in which defendant offered evidence that victim attempted a homosexual attack, testimony of prosecution witnesses rebutting the evidence of the victim's alleged homosexual character was in response to character evidence forwarded by the defense and therefore was admissible under Rule of Evidence 404(a)(2). State v Rivera, 152 Ariz 507, 733 P2d 1090.

Footnote 90. State v Zamora (App) 140 Ariz 338, 681 P2d 921.

Footnote 91. State v Zamora (App) 140 Ariz 338, 681 P2d 921.

Footnote 92. State v Zamora (App) 140 Ariz 338, 681 P2d 921; Halfacre v State, 277 Ark 168, 639 SW2d 734; State v Smith (Franklin Co) 10 Ohio App 3d 99, 10 Ohio BR 122, 460 NE2d 693; State v Boykins (App) 119 Wis 2d 272, 350 NW2d 710.

See Sanchez v State (Fla App D3) 445 So 2d 1, stating that in a homicide prosecution where the defendant asserted self-defense, the victim's specific prior acts of violence which were known to the defendant were admissible under Rule 404(a)(2).

Footnote 93. State v Zamora (App) 140 Ariz 338, 681 P2d 921 (exclusion of evidence of the victim's general reputation for carrying a gun because the record contained no indication that the defendant knew of this aspect of the victim's reputation); People v Jones (Colo) 675 P2d 9; People v Nichols, 125 Mich App 216, 335 NW2d 665; State v Bland (Minn) 337 NW2d 378; State v Ewing, 97 NM 235, 638 P2d 1080, on remand on other grounds (App) 97 NM 484, 641 P2d 515, habeas corpus proceeding (CA10 NM) 749 F2d 607, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 470 (criticized on other grounds by Martinez v Sullivan (CA10 NM) 881 F2d 921, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 921) as stated in Myatt v Hannigan (CA10 Kan) 910 F2d 680, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185.

Footnote 94. State v Gantt (La App 2d Cir) 616 So 2d 1300, cert den (La) 623 So 2d 1302 (error in not allowing the defendant to present such evidence was harmless, however, since the evidence was cumulative).

Footnote 95. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv

1564.

Footnote 96. Under 42 USCS § 1983.

Footnote 97. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of pertinent trait under Rule 404(a) of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, 56 ALR4th 402.

§ 374 Character of other persons (coconspirators)

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The exclusionary principle embodied in Rule 404(a) is broad enough to bar evidence, offered by the prosecution, tending to show misconduct by a third person associated with the accused, where the effect is to invite the jury to convict the defendant on the principle of guilt by association. 98 The government's introduction of evidence of nontestifying coconspirator's prior conviction to impeach a testifying coconspirator is erroneous, since a conviction of one other than that the witness himself is not admissible on the issue of the witness' credibility. 99

Footnotes

Footnote 98. United States v Roenigk (CA8 Ark) 810 F2d 809, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 673 (prosecution of defendant I for alleged perjury in drug conspiracy trial of G; error to admit prejudicial and irrelevant evidence of G's crimes since the evidence was calculated that the defendant I the instant case, by his association with a convicted drug dealer, was more likely to be guilty of perjury).

Footnote 99. United States v Eason (CA11 Ga) 920 F2d 731, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45 (criticized on other grounds by United States v Sarin (CA4 Md) 10 F3d 224).

b. Proving Character (Rule 405(a)) [375-385]

§ 375 Testimony as to reputation

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Proof may be made by testimony as to reputation in all cases in which evidence of character or a trait of character is admissible. 1

The generally prevailing rule is that testimony to prove the good or bad character of a party to a civil action or of the defendant in a criminal prosecution must relate and be confined to the general reputation which such person sustains in the community. 2 Reputation is not what a few persons say or may think about the party in question; it is what the community generally believes. 3 It follows that evidence of mere rumors of ill repute concerning the party whose character is in issue is not admissible as proof of reputation; 4 mere rumors are not tantamount to reputation, inasmuch as reputation involves a notion of the general estimate of a person by the community as a whole. 5

◆ Caution: A good reputation for "moral decency" may not avail defendant in a prosecution for sexual assault or similar crimes. In one case it was held that the defendant's reputation for sexual activity or the lack thereof was not pertinent to whether he committed the crimes of indecent liberties or incest; the court reasoned that since sexual activity is normally an intimate, private affair not known to the community, the defendant's reputation for moral decency could have no correlation to his actual sexual conduct. 6

Footnotes

Footnote 1. FRE 405(a); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(a).

Footnote 2. Henson v State, 239 Ark 727, 393 SW2d 856, appeal after remand 255 Ark 600, 501 SW2d 619; McDonough v Goodcell, 13 Cal 2d 741, 91 P2d 1035, 123 ALR 1205; Halligan v Lone Tree Farmers Exchange, 230 Iowa 1277, 300 NW 551; Colburn v Marble, 196 Mass 376, 82 NE 28; State v Turner, 246 Mo 598, 152 SW 313; State v Forshner, 43 NH 89; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; Nance v Fike, 244 NC 368, 93 SE2d 443; State v Ellis, 243 NC 142, 90 SE2d 225; State v Fitzsimon, 18 RI 236, 27 A 446; Re Monaghan, 126 Vt 53, 222 A2d 665.

General good reputation as a peaceable and law-abiding citizen of one charged with crime is not established by testimony to the effect that he has always been respected by almost everyone who has known him. Cahill v People, 111 Colo 29, 137 P2d 673, 148 ALR 536.

As to what constitutes the "community", see § 377.

Practice References Proof of general reputation in community, or in place of employment, business, or profession. 3 Am Jur Proof of Facts 175, Character and Reputation, Proof 1.

Footnote 3. Moore v United States (CA5 Ga) 123 F2d 207; Halligan v Lone Tree Farmers Exchange, 230 Iowa 1277, 300 NW 551.

It is not enough that such testimony be based upon what some or a few others have said regarding the reputation of the party in question, but the witness must be able to state what is generally said of him. State v Ellis, 243 NC 142, 90 SE2d 225.

See State v Doherty (Me) 437 A2d 876, stating that while a defendant's reputation for nonviolence is pertinent under Rule 404(a)(1) in an assault prosecution because proof of that trait tends to reduce the likelihood that the defendant intended an unprovoked assault, the court would refuse to admit evidence of the defendant's nonviolence on the ground that he presented too few witnesses to establish his general reputation in the community.

Footnote 4. Pattangall v Mooers, 113 Me 412, 94 A 561.

Footnote 5. Moore v United States (CA5 Ga) 123 F2d 207.

Footnote 6. State v Jackson, 46 Wash App 360, 730 P2d 1361.

§ 376 --Foundation for testimony

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

An adequate foundation must be laid for the introduction of reputation evidence, ⁷ through a showing that the character witness is sufficiently familiar with the defendant's reputation and is competent to speak for the community. ⁸

◆ Observation: In some jurisdictions, the rule includes language requiring substantial familiarity with the accused's reputation. This plainly sets a requirement that before a witness may give his opinion of the accused's character based on the witness' knowledge of the accused's reputation, he must have been substantially familiar with that reputation and the familiarity must have existed prior to the date of the offense. ⁹

In cases in which it is held or recognized that testimony is admissible on the issue of reputation, it is presupposed that the witness has properly qualified by testifying that he knows what the general reputation of the party was in the community. ¹⁰ In other words, the witness must profess to know the general reputation of the party in question before he can be heard to speak of his own opinion or of the opinions of others of such reputation. ¹¹

Generally speaking, the assumption upon which the admissibility of evidence as to character or reputation rests and upon which its value depends is that such evidence originates from the experience of those who have come directly in contact with the person in question and who have the means of knowing his general character or what that general reputation is. ¹² Ordinarily, the members of the community in which the person whose reputation is in question resides are the only proper witnesses to testify to such character. ¹³ A witness is clearly qualified to testify to the reputation of another where he has been in such a position with reference to the latter's residence or community that he can speak with an authoritative opinion, ¹⁴ though there is authority that it is not always essential that a witness to the reputation of another have resided in the same community with him. ¹⁵

Testimony of a character witness is properly excluded where he does not possess the necessary testimonial qualifications on the fact issue of the general reputation of the party in question. 16 In a number of cases it has been held that one hired for the specific purpose of investigating another's general reputation is not qualified to testify based upon knowledge so acquired, usually on the ground that if one's reputation may be attacked through the process of hiring an investigator, gross abuses would result. 17 However, in other cases it has been held that one who investigates the general reputation of another may be competent to testify as to the reputation of that person. 18 In support of the latter result, it has been said that an investigation and inquiry made for the specific purpose of discovering one's general reputation may extend over sufficient time, be broad enough in scope, and be otherwise conducted in such a manner as to enable the investigator reasonably to arrive at a probatively valuable conclusion as to the manner in which a community regards such person. 19

§ 376 --Foundation for testimony [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution of defendant for murder of his boss, testimony of co-workers regarding victim's pertinent character trait of abusing his employees was properly excluded where there was no act of aggression by victim that such character evidence tended to explain; there was no evidence that victim made any overt aggressive act. Campbell v State (1994, Tex App El Paso) 885 SW2d 528.

Footnotes

Footnote 7. United States v Torbert (CA9 Cal) 496 F2d 154, cert den 419 US 857, 42 L Ed 2d 91, 95 S Ct 105.

Footnote 8. United States v Kahan (CA2 NY) 479 F2d 290, revd on other grounds 415 US 239, 39 L Ed 2d 297, 94 S Ct 1179 (person must be acquainted with person, community, and person's circle of acquaintances); United States v Torbert (CA9 Cal) 496 F2d 154, cert den 419 US 857, 42 L Ed 2d 91, 95 S Ct 105.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Practice References General reputation of person in community. 49 Am Jur POF2d 649.

Handling the defense in a rape prosecution. 18 Am Jur Trials 341.

Footnote 9. Hernandez v State (Tex Crim) 800 SW2d 523 (witnesses who were relying on what they had heard from others and who had not discussed defendant's reputation with those who knew it, but had only discussed defendant's prior bad acts when called upon in their official capacities, were not competent to testify as to defendant's reputation.

Footnote 10. Prevatt v State, 82 Fla 284, 89 So 807; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718.

Generally, as to the competency of witnesses, see 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 163 et seq.

Footnote 11. A sustaining or impeaching character witness must first qualify himself by indicating whether he knows the general reputation or character of the person, and when thus qualified, the character witness may then indicate, of his own accord or by prompting from counsel, what that general reputation is. State v Stegmann, 286 NC 638, 213 SE2d 262, vacated, in part on other grounds 428 US 902, 49 L Ed 2d 1205, 96 S Ct 3203.

Footnote 12. Roberts v Commonwealth (Ky) 350 SW2d 626; Pattangall v Mooers, 113 Me 412, 94 A 561; State v Steen, 185 NC 768, 117 SE 793; Schwimmer v State, 84 Tex Crim 227, 206 SW 521.

Footnote 13. State v Nelson, 166 Minn 371, 208 NW 129.

Footnote 14. State v De Shon, 334 Mo 862, 68 SW2d 805 (ovrld on other grounds by State v Williams, 337 Mo 884, 87 SW2d 175, 100 ALR 1503); People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718.

Footnote 15. State v Lambert, 104 Me 394, 71 A 1092.

Footnote 16. State v Cross (Mo) 343 SW2d 20.

Footnote 17. Minkow v United States (CA4 SC) 5 F2d 319; Young v Corrigan (DC Ohio) 208 F 431; Commonwealth v Baxter, 267 Mass 591, 166 NE 742.

Trial judge properly excluded testimony of private investigator who was merely going to testify as to conversations he had with one of defendant's co-workers, with minister of defendant's church, and with laundry proprietor. United States v Perry (CA2 NY) 643 F2d 38, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1224, cert den 454 US 835, 70 L Ed 2d 115, 102 S Ct 138, habeas corpus proceeding (CA2 Conn) 753 F2d 253.

One does not qualify as a character witness to the reputation of another by information he has gained in the course of a short-time investigation conducted after the occasion calling for such an inquiry. Holliday v State (Ala App) 346 So 2d 26.

Footnote 18. State v Steen, 185 NC 768, 117 SE 793.

Footnote 19. State v Cross (Mo) 343 SW2d 20, wherein the court noted, however, that usually it would be safer practice to adhere to the usual and generally approved procedure in adducing general reputation testimony.

§ 377 --Definition of "community"

View Entire Section

Geographically, testimony as to reputation has been held to be limited to the community in which the person lives, 20 the circles in which he has been employed, 21 or the community in which he spends a substantial portion of his time. 22

The term "community" or "neighborhood" is not susceptible of exact geographical definition, but means, in a general way, where the person is well known and has established a reputation, so that the inquiry is not necessarily confined to the domicile or residence of the party whose reputation is in question, but may extend to any community or society in which he has a well-known or established reputation. 23

The place of reputation or character, as regards employment or occupation, may be coextensive with the general community in which the person resides; certain circumstances may justify or require the admission of evidence of general reputation or character as exhibited in the place where the one in question works or carries on his business. 24 In several other cases, however, it has been held that evidence of character or reputation, as exhibited in the place of the person's employment or occupation, was not admissible, generally because of the circumstances involved, as not being evidence as to his reputation or character in the "community" or "neighborhood" or "general," in the required sense. 25

◆ Observation: It has been noted that in late twentieth-century America, it has become more difficult to define for any person the "community in which he has lived and the circles in which he has moved" 26 than it was less mobile days. It may therefore not be necessary to draw reputation from a particular "neighborhood"; it may come instead from the workplace, social and organizational settings, and other circles in which the person is known. 27

Footnotes

Footnote 20. Cauley v State, 92 Ala 71, 9 So 456; Florida E. C. R. Co. v Hunt (Fla App D3) 322 So 2d 68, 82 ALR3d 520, cert den (Fla) 336 So 2d 600; Halley v Tichenor, 120 Iowa 164, 94 NW 472; State v Thoemke, 11 ND 386, 92 NW 480.

Practice References Proof of general reputation in community, or in place of employment, business, or profession. 3 Am Jur Proof of Facts 175, Character and Reputation Proof 1.

General reputation of person in community. 49 Am Jur POF2d 649.

Footnote 21. United States v Parker (CA7 Ill) 447 F2d 826; United States v Oliver (CA8 Mo) 492 F2d 943, appeal after remand (CA8 Mo) 525 F2d 731, cert den 424 US 973, 47 L Ed 2d 743, 96 S Ct 1477.

Trial court erred in ruling that reputation testimony must originate in the community where victim resided, and in excluding testimony of witness as to victim's reputation, in the trucking industry, for violence. Mullins v State (Miss) 493 So 2d 971 (holding the error harmless in view of abundance of evidence as to victim's violent nature already admitted).

Annotation: Admissibility of testimony as to general reputation at place of employment, 82 ALR3d 525.

Footnote 22. United States v Augello (CA2 NY) 452 F2d 1135, cert den 406 US 922, 32 L Ed 2d 122, 92 S Ct 1787 and cert den 409 US 859, 34 L Ed 2d 105, 93 S Ct 145.

Louisiana statute providing that character depends on general reputation among neighbors includes reputation established in any substantial community of people among whom person is well known, including group with whom person works, does business or goes to school. State v Clark (La) 402 So 2d 684.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of accused's membership in gang, 39 ALR4th 775.

Footnote 23. Craven v State, 22 Ala App 39, 111 So 767; State v McEachern, 283 NC 57, 194 SE2d 787.

Footnote 24. Maxwell v State, 220 Ala 419, 125 So 682; People v Schmidt, 79 Cal App 413, 249 P 832, hear den by sup ct as reported in 79 Cal App 421, 250 P 1104; Atlantic & B. R. Co. v Reynolds, 117 Ga 47, 43 SE 456; Fugate v Commonwealth, 211 Ky 700, 277 SW 1029; State v Cavett, 171 Minn 222, 213 NW 920; People v Colantone, 243 NY 134, 152 NE 700; Brotherhood of R. Trainmen v Vickers, 121 Va 311, 93 SE 577.

The court in a prosecution for aggravated robbery properly permitted the accused to call his employer as a character witness, notwithstanding that the employer's opinion as to the accused's reputation was derived from comments made by people who knew the accused only through his job, where the accused lived and worked in a large city and where the favorable comments regarding the accused's reputation for honesty came from a fairly representative number of the accused's co-workers. State v Buckner (Iowa) 214 NW2d 164.

Footnote 25. Sacrini v United States, 38 App DC 371; People v Pauli, 58 Cal App 594, 209 P 88; State v Brady, 71 NJL 360, 59 A 6.

Unless there is a showing of an unavailability of reputation witnesses from the community or neighborhood in which the defendant lives and a further showing that the defendant is well-known among the people with whom he works, a defendant's co-workers may not testify as to his reputation for truth and veracity, particularly where there are close ties between the reputation witnesses and the matter in controversy. Florida E. C. R. Co. v Hunt (Fla App D3) 322 So 2d 68, 82 ALR3d 520, cert den (Fla) 336 So 2d 600.

Footnote 26. The quoted language is from Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213.

Footnote 27. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 149.

See United States v Parker (CA7 Ill) 447 F2d 826 where it was held error to exclude evidence of defendant's reputation among his co-workers which may well be more significant than his reputation among neighbors, particularly if they are apartment dwellers.

While the traditional requirement about "neighbor" reputation may have been appropriate to the conditions of the time, the reputation of a person living in an urban center is now often better known where that person works than where he resides. State v Buckner (Iowa) 214 NW2d 164.

§ 378 Time to which proof must relate

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence of the character or reputation of a party to a civil or criminal case should relate and be confined to a time not too remote from the time of the act in question. 28 In the case of a criminal defendant, reputation as to the party's character must relate to the time when the crime was committed 29 or to the period prior to then. 30

The exact length of time which will render evidence of reputation inadmissible cannot be fixed and, of necessity, the facts and circumstances of each case must dictate the appropriate result. 31 Whether given evidence of reputation is too remote is a matter left to the discretion of the trial judge, and his action will not be disturbed unless it constitutes an abuse of such discretion. 32

◆ Caution: Evidence to prove the good character or reputation of an adult should be confined, at least, to evidence of his character or reputation while an adult, and should not relate to his character or reputation as a youth. 33

Generally speaking, it is the reputation up to the time of the act in question only which is admissible, 34 and evidence of one's reputation subsequent to that time is generally not admissible, 35 although there is some authority that the reputation as to the accused's character may also relate to the time when the commission of the crime was first discovered. 36

Footnotes

Footnote 28. People v Hardenbrook, 48 Cal 2d 345, 309 P2d 424; Lutz v People, 133 Colo 229, 293 P2d 646; People v Willy, 301 Ill 307, 133 NE 859; People v Willy, 301 Ill 307, 133 NE 859; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; Mannix v Portland Telegram, 144 Or 172, 23 P2d 138, 90 ALR 55; Commonwealth v Luther, 317 Pa Super 41, 463 A2d 1073; Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d 546, 87 ALR2d 963; Mohler v Commonwealth, 132 Va 713, 111 SE 454; State v Riggs, 32 Wash 2d 281, 201 P2d 219; State v Barr, 11 Wash 481, 39 P 1080.

Remoteness, if not too great, goes to the weight, rather than to the admissibility of evidence of good reputation of the accused. Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d

546, 87 ALR2d 963.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of accused's good reputation as affected by remoteness of time to which it relates, 87 ALR2d 968.

Footnote 29. People v Hardenbrook, 48 Cal 2d 345, 309 P2d 424; Lutz v People, 133 Colo 229, 293 P2d 646; People v Willy, 301 Ill 307, 133 NE 859; State v Jackson (Mo) 373 SW2d 4; Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d 546, 87 ALR2d 963; State v Riggs, 32 Wash 2d 281, 201 P2d 219.

Annotation: 87 ALR2d 968.

Footnote 30. Thomas v State, 271 Ala 700, 122 So 2d 736; State v Jackson (Mo) 373 SW2d 4.

Footnote 31. Strickland v State, 37 Ariz 368, 294 P 617; Wilder v People, 86 Colo 35, 278 P 594, 65 ALR 1260; State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; State v Barr, 11 Wash 481, 39 P 1080.

Footnote 32. Strickland v State, 37 Ariz 368, 294 P 617; People v Green, 217 Cal 176, 17 P2d 730; Lutz v People, 133 Colo 229, 293 P2d 646; Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d 546, 87 ALR2d 963; State v Riggs, 32 Wash 2d 281, 201 P2d 219.

Footnote 33. State v Barr, 11 Wash 481, 39 P 1080.

See McAdoo v United States (Dist Col App) 515 A2d 412, holding that defendant's juvenile adjudications may not be used to impeach his character witness.

Footnote 34. Allen v Commonwealth, 134 Ky 110, 119 SW 795; State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207.

Footnote 35. Hallman v State, 35 Ala App 534, 50 So 2d 6; State v Hobbs (Iowa) 172 NW2d 268; State v Williams, 16 NJ Super 372, 84 A2d 756; State v Van Osten, 68 RI 175, 26 A2d 858; Moore v State, 96 Tenn 209, 33 SW 1046.

Footnote 36. Combs v Commonwealth, 160 Ky 386, 169 SW 879.

Also see Greenfield v State (Fla App D4) 336 So 2d 1205, a prosecution for arson, holding that the state could properly ask defense witnesses testifying as to defendant's reputation for truth and veracity if they had heard of the arrest of defendant, for a different charge, after the date of the offense for which the defendant was on trial.

§ 379 --Specific time periods

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence of reputation was held admissible where the character witnesses knew the accused for 15 or 16 years, even though they knew nothing of his character after he moved away from the community about six years prior to the time of trial. 37 Where the accused had lived for 35 years in the community where the crime was committed, but had been away from that community for a period of five years and had returned only about 2 months prior to the alleged commission of the offense, evidence of his reputation prior to the five-year period was held admissible. 38

On the other hand, evidence of reputation was held inadmissible on the ground of remoteness where the character witness knew of the accused up to a time some seven years prior to the time of trial; 39 where the character witness knew of the accused up to a time some three years, 40 or four to five years, 41 prior to the time of the crime; or where the character witness knew of the accused only during a particular year which was some six years prior to the time of the crime. 42

◆ Observation: It would appear, that in order for character evidence to be probative, the witness must have known the defendant for an adequate period of time. 43

Footnotes

Footnote 37. State v Fry, 96 Tenn 467, 35 SW 883.

Footnote 38. Strader v State, 208 Tenn 192, 344 SW2d 546, 87 ALR2d 963.

Footnote 39. People v Hardenbrook, 48 Cal 2d 345, 309 P2d 424.

Footnote 40. State v Van Winkle, 106 Ariz 481, 478 P2d 105 (trial judge did not abuse his discretion in excluding character testimony of out-of-state employer where the accused had lived three years prior to trial and of minister at accused's church two years prior to the trial).

Footnote 41. Strickland v State, 37 Ariz 368, 294 P 617; Lutz v People, 133 Colo 229, 293 P2d 646; Potts v People, 114 Colo 253, 158 P2d 739, 159 ALR 1410.

Footnote 42. People v Green, 217 Cal 176, 17 P2d 730.

Footnote 43. Testimony of vice-president and general manager of company where defendant worked as to defendant's reputation at his place of employment was properly excluded where witness knew defendant for only a year, and witness' only knowledge of his reputation was through defendant's work record and the limited personal contact with defendant at work. Foster v State, 170 Ga App 222, 316 SE2d 828.

§ 380 Testimony in form of opinion

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under the Rules, proof may be made by testimony in the form of an opinion in all cases in which evidence of character or a trait of character of a person is admissible. 44 However, some particular state versions of the Uniform Rules omit this provision. 45

A defendant whose community reputation is bad may produce opinion evidence based on the witness' close association with the defendant and his personal observation that the defendant's character is good. 46 Under Federal Rules of Evidence 405(a), an expert witness, such as a psychologist, can testify as to character traits which may be substantially relevant. 47

◆ Caution: If such testimony is likely to lead to a battle of experts with sharply divergent views, it may be found excludible 48 on the ground that its probative value is substantially outweighed by confusion of the jury. 49

Federal Rules of Evidence 405 does not authorize a defendant to introduce the testimony of his probation officer to testify as to his good behavior on parole. 50

Under a statute which authorizes the admission of evidence of the defendant's prior criminal record, his general reputation and his character, opinion testimony is admissible at the punishment phase as a form of character evidence. 51

The Federal and Uniform Rules depart from the long-recognized principle that when character or reputation is properly made the subject of proof in the courts, only evidence of the esteem or lack of esteem in which the party is held by the community is admissible, and the personal knowledge or opinion of witnesses as to his character or reputation is not admissible. 52 In other words, a character witness could not testify that his own acquaintance, observation, and knowledge of the party in question lead to his own independent opinion that such party possesses a good or bad general or specific character. 53 Such evidence was held to be objectionable because the only means of testing its truth is by cross-examination as to the particular facts on which the opinion of the witness is based. 54 However, a character witness was allowed to summarize what he has heard in the community, although much of it may have been said by persons less qualified to judge than himself. 55

◆ Comment: In recognizing opinion as a means of proving character, Rule 405 departs from the contemporary practice (at the time of the adoption of the Rules) in favor of that of an earlier day. As Wigmore points out, the earlier practice permitted opinion since such evidence was based on personal knowledge and belief as contrasted with the "secondhand, irresponsible product of multiplied guesses and gossip which we term 'reputation'." 56

In a few states it was held, even before the adoption of the Rules, that a witness testifying as to the character or reputation of a party may base his testimony on his personal knowledge of such character or reputation. 57 It was said, in support of this view, that there was no reason why evidence of general repute is any better or more satisfactory evidence of a person's character than the testimony of one who knows, from his own personal observation, what that character is. 58

Footnotes

Footnote 44. FRE 405(a); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(a).

Footnote 45. See 13A ULA, Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405, Variations from Official Text.

Footnote 46. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Footnote 47. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

An expert witness can testify as to the defendant's unusual susceptibility to suggestion, which is relevant to an entrapment defense. United States v Hill (CA3 Pa) 655 F2d 512, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1021, on remand (ED Pa) 550 F Supp 983, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1943, affd without op (CA3 Pa) 716 F2d 893, cert den 464 US 1039, 79 L Ed 2d 165, 104 S Ct 699.

Footnote 48. Under FRE 403, discussed in §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 49. United States v MacDonald (CA4 NC) 688 F2d 224, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 474, cert den 459 US 1103, 74 L Ed 2d 951, 103 S Ct 726, habeas corpus proceeding (ED NC) 640 F Supp 286, later proceeding (ED NC) 607 F Supp 1183 and affd (CA4 NC) 779 F2d 962, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151, cert den 479 US 813, 93 L Ed 2d 22, 107 S Ct 63, habeas corpus den (ED NC) 778 F Supp 1342, affd (CA4 NC) 966 F2d 854, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 542, 113 S Ct 606.

Footnote 50. United States v Koessel (CA8 Mo) 706 F2d 271, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 787.

Footnote 51. Hedicke v State (Tex Crim) 779 SW2d 837, cert den 493 US 1044, 107 L Ed 2d 836, 110 S Ct 840.

Footnote 52. Spalitto v United States (CA8 Mo) 39 F2d 782; Deschenes v United States (CA10 Kan) 224 F2d 688; Clark v United States, 57 App DC 335, 23 F2d 756; Holmes v State, 88 Ala 26, 7 So 193; People v Ah Lee Doon, 97 Cal 171, 31 P 933; People v Belcastro, 356 Ill 144, 190 NE 301, 92 ALR 1223; State v Lambert, 104 Me 394, 71 A 1092; People v Albers, 137 Mich 678, 100 NW 908; State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207; State v Magill, 19 ND 131, 122 NW 330; Commonwealth v Gaines, 167 Pa Super 485, 75 A2d 617; Williams v State (Tex App Amarillo) 649 SW2d 693.

See United States v Morgan (CA2 NY) 554 F2d 31, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 961, cert den 434 US 965, 54 L Ed 2d 450, 98 S Ct 504 noting that prior to the enactment of FRE 405, a character witness was not permitted to give his own opinion of the defendant's character.

Footnote 53. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213.

Footnote 54. People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718.

Footnote 55. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213.

Footnote 56. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 405.

Footnote 57. State v Richards, 126 Iowa 497, 102 NW 439; State v Lee, 22 Minn 407; State v Sedillo, 24 NM 549, 174 P 985; State v Dickerson, 77 Ohio St 34, 82 NE 969; State v Hosey, 54 Wash 309, 103 P 12.

Footnote 58. State v Lee, 22 Minn 407.

§ 381 Evidence of specific conduct

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Rule 405 permits proof or inquiry into specific instances of conduct of a person:

(1) in cases in which character or a trait of character is in issue, that is, where it is an essential element of a charge, claim, or defense; 59 or

(2) on cross-examination of a character witness. 60

Testimony as to specific instances of conduct of a person is not generally permissible on direct examination of an ordinary opinion witness to character. 61 Similarly, Federal Rules of Evidence 405(a) does not permit an accused to seek to prove his good character by evidence of specific acts. 62 Testimony as to an absence of prior arrests or other testimony as to the lack of prior bad acts is in essence testimony as to multiple instances of good conduct and is not admissible under Federal Rules of Evidence 405(a). 63 Similarly, a defendant charged with involuntary manslaughter by intoxicated driving who claims that the accident was not caused by his intoxication but by a fight which took place in the automobile cannot elicit testimony from witnesses to prove that on at least one prior occasion one of the occupants of the car beat another of the occupants severely. 64

To similar effect, under pre-Rule law, evidence of specific acts or of conduct of the party in question upon particular occasions, bearing upon his character, was usually held to be inadmissible as evidence of reputation. 65

The rule that evidence of specific acts or conduct of a person is not admissible upon the question of his character or reputation, but that such evidence must be confined to his general reputation in the community, is applicable to evidence in rebuttal as well as to original testimony. 66 In some cases the rule was laid down that specific reputation concerning a crime charged is relevant and admissible, as well as evidence of general reputation of a disposition contrary to the crime charged. 67 Similarly, in civil cases the view has been expressed that specific acts of misconduct committed by a party to a suit may be shown in that class of cases where the act has some relation to, or some bearing upon, the issue involved in the case. 68

Where evidence of bad general reputation is admissible, the reasons for such reputation are immaterial. 69

§ 381 ----Evidence of specific conduct [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prisoner's civil rights suit alleging unreasonable use of force by guards, prisoner's disciplinary records should not have been admitted into evidence since key disputed issue was who initiated physical altercations underlying suit, and evidence was offered to show prisoner's aggressive character and thus that it was more likely that he was aggressor. Hynes v Coughlin (1996, CA2 NY) 79 F3d 285.

Footnotes

Footnote 59. FRE 405(b); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(b).

Annotation: Cross-examination of character witness for accused with reference to particular acts or crimes—modern state rules, 13 ALR4th 796.

Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Attacking or supporting credibility of witness by evidence in form of opinion or reputation, under Rule 608(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 52 ALR Fed 440.

Practice References Impeachment of witness by prior criminal conviction. 36 Am Jur POF2d 747.

Alleged victim's commission of prior acts of and reputation for violence. 15 Am Jur POF2d 167.

Footnote 60. FRE 405(a); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(a), discussed in § 386.

Footnote 61. United States v Dillon (CA10 NM) 566 F2d 702, 78-1 USTC ¶ 9175, 41 AFTR 2d 78-366, cert den 435 US 971, 56 L Ed 2d 63, 98 S Ct 1613.

Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 405.

Footnote 62. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620.

Exclusion of the defendant's prison record showing that he had a favorable work record and was making progress toward rehabilitation is proper in a prosecution for escaping from federal custody even though the defendant's theory for admitting such record is consistent with his defense of coercion. United States v Davis (CA5 Ga) 546 F2d 583, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 268, cert den 431 US 906, 52 L Ed 2d 391, 97 S Ct 1701.

Footnote 63. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620.

Footnote 64. United States v Kills Ree (CA8 SD) 691 F2d 412, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1368.

Footnote 65. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213; Lester v Gay, 217 Ala 585, 117 So 211, 59 ALR 1561; Henson v State, 239 Ark 727, 393 SW2d 856, appeal after remand 255 Ark 600, 501 SW2d 619; State v Goetz, 83 Conn 437, 76 A 1000; Halligan v Lone Tree Farmers Exchange, 230 Iowa 1277, 300 NW 551; Pattangall v Mooers, 113 Me 412, 94 A 561; State v Dobbs, 148 Md 34, 129 A 275; State v Beckner, 194 Mo 281, 91 SW 892; Nance v Fike, 244 NC 368, 93 SE2d 443; State v Cochrane, 151 Ohio St 128, 38 Ohio Ops 575, 84 NE2d 742; Drakos v Jones, 189 Okla 593, 118 P2d 388.

Footnote 66. Dupree v State, 33 Ala 380; Clark v State, 135 Ark 569, 205 SW 975; McCarty v People, 51 Ill 231; Engleman v State, 2 Ind 91; Commonwealth v O'Brien, 119 Mass 342; State v Lapage, 57 NH 245; Bullock v State, 65 NJL 557, 47 A 62; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; Commonwealth v Cleary, 135 Pa 64, 19 A 1017; De Grate v State (Tex Crim) 518 SW2d 821.

Footnote 67. State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207.

Footnote 68. Rosencranz v Tidrington, 193 Ind 472, 141 NE 58, 28 ALR 1136; Kolb v Union R. Co., 23 RI 72, 49 A 392.

Footnote 69. McDonough v Goodcell, 13 Cal 2d 741, 91 P2d 1035, 123 ALR 1205.

§ 382 --Where character is in issue

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Proof or inquiry into specific instances of conduct of a person is allowable in cases in which character or a trait of character is in issue, that is, where it is an essential element of a charge, claim, or defense. 70 Evidence of specific instances of past conduct of homicide victims may be introduced when a defense of self-defense is raised. 71

When evidence of a violent disposition is offered to prove that a person was the aggressor in a fight, this is an example of the circumstantial use of character evidence. When a plaintiff brings a civil rights action ⁷² alleging that the defendants deprived the plaintiff's decedent of his civil rights when they shot and killed him unjustifiably, the defendants can introduce reputation or opinion evidence of the plaintiff's decedent's violent and aggressive character but not evidence of specific violent incidents involving the plaintiff's decedent. ⁷³ Character is not necessarily at issue in determining who was the aggressor in a fight. Character is in issue only when the existence of the character trait itself will affect the rights of the parties. ⁷⁴ The plaintiffs in a civil rights action against police officers are not permitted by Federal Rules of Evidence 405 to introduce evidence of their lack of a criminal record, since their character is not put in issue by testimony that they attacked the defendant police officers. ⁷⁵

An illustration of when character would be an essential element of a claim, charge, or defense, thus making evidence of character admissible under Federal Rules of Evidence 405(b), would be a defamation case where the plaintiff's claim is that the defendant's defamatory statements harmed his reputation for good character. ⁷⁶

◆ Comment: When character is used circumstantially, proof may be made only by reputation and opinion, but when character is in issue (being an essential element of a charge, claim, or defense), proof may be made by specific instances of conduct as well as by reputation and opinion. ⁷⁷

Footnotes

Footnote 70. FRE 405(b); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(b).

Annotation: Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Footnote 71. United States v Perez-Casillas (DC Puerto Rico) 607 F Supp 88.

Footnote 72. Under 42 USCS § 1983.

Footnote 73. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 74. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 75. Blake v Cich (DC Minn) 79 FRD 398, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 661.

Footnote 76. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620; Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 77. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE 405.

§ 383 Negative evidence

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The testimony of a witness to the effect that he has never heard anything against the character or reputation of a person is admissible to prove the good character of such person, provided the witness is shown to have been in such position that he would have heard anything that was said concerning the person's character or reputation. 78 Reputation may be manifested in other ways than by words, and one who is otherwise qualified and who has been in such a position that he probably would have heard comment had there been such may testify to the reputation of another in the neighborhood, even though he has heard nothing said. 79

Negative evidence is viewed as cogent evidence of a person's good character and reputation, because in the absence of any discussion about character, it may reasonably be presumed that the person's reputation is good. 80 When it is said of a person by those acquainted with him that they never heard his reputation as to truth and morals discussed, denied, or doubted, it is equivalent to passing upon him the highest praise. 81

◆ Caution: Under the modern rules, it has been held that defendant in a criminal trial was not entitled to establish that he had never been convicted of a crime as evidence of his good character, in that the absence of prior criminal convictions is not among the methods of proving character authorized by Rule 405, which limits such evidence to testimony about a person's reputation or proof of specific instances of his conduct. 82

Footnotes

Footnote 78. United States v Webb (CA5 Ga) 625 F2d 709, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1271; Hinson v State, 59 Fla 20, 52 So 194; State v Hobbs (Iowa) 172 NW2d 268; State v McClellan, 79 Kan 11, 98 P 209; State v Lambert, 104 Me 394, 71 A 1092; State v Lee, 22 Minn 407; Sinclair v State, 87 Miss 330, 39 So 522; State v Cavener, 356 Mo 602, 202 SW2d 869; State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207; People v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; State v Dickerson, 77 Ohio St 34, 82 NE 969; Commonwealth v Gaines, 167 Pa Super 485, 75 A2d 617; State v Hosey, 54 Wash 309, 103 P 12; Spencer v State, 132 Wis 509, 112 NW 462.

Generally as to the admissibility of negative evidence, see § 318.

Footnote 79. State v Baldanzo, 106 NJL 498, 148 A 725, 67 ALR 1207.

Footnote 80. State v McClellan, 79 Kan 11, 98 P 209; People v Woods, 206 Mich 11, 172 NW 384; State v Lee, 22 Minn 407; State v Cavener, 356 Mo 602, 202 SW2d 869.

Footnote 81. United States v Webb (CA5 Ga) 625 F2d 709, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1271; Moulton v State, 88 Ala 116, 6 So 758; State v McClellan, 79 Kan 11, 98 P 209; Sinclair v State, 87 Miss 330, 39 So 522; State v Brandenburg, 118 Mo 181, 23 SW 1080; People

v Van Gaasbeck, 189 NY 408, 82 NE 718; State v Hosey, 54 Wash 309, 103 P 12.

Footnote 82. Wrobel v State (Fla App D5) 410 So 2d 950, petition den (Fla) 419 So 2d 1201.

§ 384 Military record or discharge; in civil cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under the basic rule excluding the admissibility in a civil action of evidence of a party's character or reputation where his character or reputation is not in issue, 83 evidence as to a party's military service record, 84 of his lack or evasion of military service, 85 is not ordinarily admissible, at least where the other party properly objects to the introduction of such evidence. 86

The reasons usually given for holding such evidence inadmissible is that in the particular case it has no relevancy to any material issue and would inject into the case a collateral issue which would tend to mislead or arouse the sympathy of the jury. 87 However, such evidence is admissible where the military service is put in issue 88 or is relevant to a material issue. 89 Thus, evidence of an honorable discharge, where not too remote, may be admissible in a personal injury action to show the physical condition of the injured person before the accident. 90

◆ Observation: Reference to military service, even though improper, is frequently held to be harmless. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 83. § 364

Footnote 84. Andrews v State (Fla App D1) 172 So 2d 505; Quinn v Louisville & N. R. Co., 144 Miss 505, 110 So 436; Peck v Bez, 129 W Va 247, 40 SE2d 1.

Footnote 85. Hockaday v Red Line, Inc., 85 US App DC 1, 174 F2d 154, 9 ALR2d 601.

Footnote 86. The failure to object to the introduction of evidence as to a party's military service may constitute, in effect, a waiver of such objection. McCown v Jennings (Tex Civ App) 209 SW2d 408.

Generally as to failure to object to admission of improper evidence, see 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial §§ 405 et seq.

Annotation: Admissibility and effect of evidence or comment on party's military service or lack thereof, 9 ALR2d 606.

Footnote 87. Seismic Explorations, Inc. v Dobray (Tex Civ App) 169 SW2d 739, writ ref w o m.

Footnote 88. Alexander Trust Estate v Lindsey Drug Co. (Tex Civ App) 214 SW2d 475, writ ref n r e.

In Church v Larned, 206 Mich 77, 172 NW 551, remarks by counsel for the plaintiff in a personal injury action that the plaintiff had a son who at the time of the accident was a soldier in active service was held not to constitute reversible error, where the fact that the plaintiff had a son in the service was brought out by the defendant's counsel upon cross-examination.

Footnote 89. Re New England Transp. Co., 320 Mass 331, 69 NE2d 479.

In an action for malicious prosecution evidence of the plaintiff's honorable discharge from the Army was held admissible to show that his reputation was such as to render it unlikely that he would commit a crime of the nature charged by the defendant, the court saying that the matters and things stated in the certificate of discharge were relative and pertinent upon that question, and that there was no way other than by the certificate itself by which such matters could be proved. Timmins v Hale, 122 Or 24, 256 P 770.

Footnote 90. Re New England Transp. Co., 320 Mass 331, 69 NE2d 479; Girratono v Kansas City Public Service Co. (Mo App) 243 SW2d 539, affd 363 Mo 359, 251 SW2d 59.

On the other hand, in an action under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, the admission in evidence of an honorable discharge of the plaintiff from the Army for the purpose of showing that at the time of his induction he was an able-bodied man was held error, since the certificate was an ex parte document, and tended to prove the good character of the plaintiff when that question was not in issue. Vicksburg, S. & P. R. Co. v Godwin (CA5 La) 14 F2d 114.

In a personal injury action, evidence of the military record of the plaintiff could be introduced to show his sound health prior to the accident. Girratono v Kansas City Public Service Co. (Mo App) 243 SW2d 539, affd 363 Mo 359, 251 SW2d 59.

Footnote 91. Poulin v Zartman (Alaska) 542 P2d 251, on reh (Alaska) 548 P2d 1299 and (ovrld on other grounds by State v Alex (Alaska) 646 P2d 203) as stated in Snyder v Foote (Alaska) 1991 Alas LEXIS 143, corrected, remanded (Alaska) 822 P2d 1353 (medical malpractice action for injury to child resulting in blindness and mental retardation).

Interrogation by plaintiff's counsel of plaintiff concerning military service in Vietnam did not require new trial, where tour of duty was mentioned only briefly and in trial on damages, no emphasis was placed on military service, and plaintiff's counsel did not attempt to use fact of military service to prejudice the jury. Fields v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (Okla) 555 P2d 48, 84 ALR3d 1199.

§ 385 --Criminal cases

Although proof of good character may generally be offered by an accused in a criminal proceeding to lessen the probability of guilt, 92 in establishing the character of the defendant, it is said to be immaterial that he was in the military service, 93 that he was wounded while in the service, 94 that he received medals for his service, 95 or that he had a commendable service record. 96

It cannot generally be shown that the defendant received an honorable 97 or dishonorable 98 discharge from the military service. Furthermore, evidence of an accused's lack of military service, or evasion of service, has been held inadmissible in a criminal proceeding, 99 as has evidence of specific acts of a defendant while in the military service which tend to discredit him. 1

◆ Observation: An honorable discharge may be admissible for some purposes other than as character evidence. 2

As reasons for excluding such evidence, it has been said that a certificate of honorable discharge is not an official record or document, but is merely an extrajudicial statement of a third person which is inadmissible as hearsay, 3 that it does not disclose the defendant's character as to a trait relevant to the crime charged; 4 that under the circumstances of the particular case the honorable discharge or military record of the accused was immaterial and irrelevant, 5 or was not evidence of the accused's reputation in the community in which he lived as respects the trait or character involved in the crime charged. 6

Evidence of a dishonorable discharge of an accused in a criminal proceeding has been held inadmissible for the same reason that honorable discharges have been excluded. 7 Likewise, evidence of specific acts or conduct of an accused while in the military service which tend to discredit him have been generally considered inadmissible. 8

On the other hand, there is authority holding or recognizing that evidence of the military record or honorable discharge of the accused may be admissible for certain purposes, 9 or that with regard to certain kinds of crimes or defenses, such evidence may be relevant to the issues in the case. 10 And when a defendant introduces evidence of his honorable discharge from the Armed Forces, the prosecution may be permitted to show in cross-examination that entries on the certificate reflect unfavorably on the accused. 11

◆ Practice guide: Comment by a prosecuting attorney as to a defendant's lack of military service, or his evasion of service, designed to inflame the jury against the defendant, is obviously improper, 12 but the attempt to introduce improper acts of the defendant while in the military service, or improper comment by the prosecuting attorney as to the defendant's lack of military service, has often been regarded as cured by the trial judge's instruction to the jury to disregard such evidence or comment. 13 Furthermore, comment by a trial judge as to the military service of a defendant may also be prejudicial. 14

Footnotes

Footnote 92. § 367.

Footnote 93. Shewbart v State (Ala App) 32 So 2d 241; People v McGill, 82 Cal App 98, 255 P 261; People v Ervin, 342 Ill 421, 174 NE 529.

But see Bennett v United States (Dist Col App) 375 A2d 499 (in prosecution for murder, defendant was not prejudiced by prosecutor's remarks in closing argument suggesting that life meant almost nothing to defendant because he had been in military service and had served in Vietnam).

Footnote 94. People v Hauke, 335 Ill 217, 167 NE 1; State v Hardimon (Minn) 310 NW2d 564 (defendant was not allowed to show, in prosecution for murder, that he was victim of post-traumatic stress disorder and Vietnam War flashbacks); State v Rose (Mo) 249 SW2d 324 (evidence of shell shock excluded where defendant refused to raise issue of insanity).

Footnote 95. French v United States (CA5 La) 232 F2d 736, cert den 352 US 851, 1 L Ed 2d 62, 77 S Ct 73; State v Sbrilli, 136 NJL 66, 54 A2d 221; Commonwealth v Steinberg, 189 Pa Super 381, 150 A2d 131; Patty v State (Tenn Crim) 556 SW2d 776.

Evidence as to defendant's gallantry as officer and pilot in Vietnam was inadmissible except that, upon conviction, it may be considered in mitigation of sentence. United States v Goldfarb (CA6 Mich) 643 F2d 422, cert den 454 US 827, 70 L Ed 2d 101, 102 S Ct 117, 102 S Ct 118.

Following testimony by defendant concerning his military record, trial court did not err in not allowing defendant to read military citations into record where recitations of accomplishments contained in citations were not material or relevant as to whether defendant committed crimes of kidnapping and bank robbery or on issue of insanity. Patty v State (Tenn Crim) 556 SW2d 776.

See People v Jones (2d Dept) 121 App Div 2d 398, 503 NYS2d 109, app gr 68 NY2d 813 (criminal prosecution in which defendant testified about his exemplary military record, including awards and citations; trial court correctly ruled that defendant had put his character in issue, and permitted prosecutor to inquire whether defendant had ever been convicted of crime).

Footnote 96. French v United States (CA5 La) 232 F2d 736, cert den 352 US 851, 1 L Ed 2d 62, 77 S Ct 73.

Footnote 97. Mixon v State, 57 Ala App 643, 331 So 2d 399; Ridgell v United States (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 54 A2d 679; Ray v State, 159 Fla 101, 31 So 2d 156, 172 ALR 726; Ray v State, 159 Fla 101, 31 So 2d 156, 172 ALR 726; Allison v State, 203 Md 1, 98 A2d 273; State v Sbrilli, 136 NJL 66, 54 A2d 221; Frey v State, 171 Tex Crim 100, 345 SW2d 416, cert den 368 US 865, 7 L Ed 2d 62, 82 S Ct 113; Gary v State, 150 Tex Crim 397, 201 SW2d 820; State v Stoller, 107 Utah 429, 154 P2d 649.

Annotation: Admissibility and effect of evidence or comment on party's military service or lack thereof, 9 ALR2d 606.

Footnote 98. Johnson v United States (Dist Col App) 366 A2d 429; People v Robinson, 386 Mich 551, 194 NW2d 709, appeal after remand 48 Mich App 253, 210 NW2d 372; Price v State (Okla Crim) 546 P2d 632.

Where the defendant was charged with sodomy, the prosecution could not establish on cross-examination that he had been dishonorably discharged from military service because of homosexuality, where the defendant had not put his good character in issue. Andrews v State (Fla App D1) 172 So 2d 505.

See State v Ho'o (App) 99 NM 140, 654 P2d 1040, cert den 99 NM 148, 655 P2d 160 (in prosecution for murder, admission of evidence of defendant's other-than-honorable discharge from military service was harmless error, where there was overwhelming evidence that defendant shot two victims during altercation).

Footnote 99. State v Fitch, 65 Nev 668, 200 P2d 991 (ovrld on other grounds by Graves v State, 82 Nev 137, 413 P2d 503).

See State v Wright, 12 Wash App 585, 530 P2d 704, review den 85 Wash 2d 1006, holding that prosecutor's implication in cross-examination that defendant was a draft evader was not so prejudicial as to require mistrial.

Footnote 1. People v Wilson, 400 Ill 461, 81 NE2d 211; Powell v Commonwealth, 308 Ky 467, 214 SW2d 1002; State v McClure (Mo App) 504 SW2d 664; People v Perez, 36 NY2d 848, 370 NYS2d 914, 331 NE2d 691; Gooden v State (Okla Crim) 617 P2d 248 (in prosecution for burglary, prosecutor's conduct constituted prejudicial error where he repeatedly questioned defendant as to whether he had ever been arrested for being A.W.O.L. from the army); State v Massey, 34 Or App 95, 577 P2d 1364.

In a prosecution for willful attempt to evade or defeat the federal income tax, it was prejudicial error to admit a 16-year-old military conviction for larceny where there were no exceptional circumstances justifying use of the prior conviction, since defendant's credibility had already been well impeached by the government's cross-examination. United States v Cathey (CA5 Fla) 591 F2d 268, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 8.

But a question by the solicitor on cross-examination of the accused as to whether the accused had been guilty of violating a regulation against being away from his base without a pass was held not objectionable as prejudicial, since such evidence was simply part of the story of the night on which the offense occurred and was a possible explanation of statements of the accused as to being on the base. State v Bass, 93 NH 172, 37 A2d 7.

Footnote 2. State v Bowers, 218 Kan 736, 545 P2d 303 (evidence of defendant's military service and honorable discharge should be considered as part of his background information and biographical data and not as evidence of good character opening door to attack on cross-examination); Allison v State, 203 Md 1, 98 A2d 273 (discharge record should not be excluded as hearsay as it was an official record, but it should still be excluded as evidence of character); Commonwealth v Steele, 362 Pa 427, 66 A2d 825 (prosecution may introduce defendant's discharge, showing him to be a qualified rifle marksman, as relevant to whether the shooting by him was accidental).

Footnote 3. Ridgell v United States (Mun Ct App Dist Col) 54 A2d 679; People v

English, 68 Cal App 2d 670, 157 P2d 429; Ray v State, 159 Fla 101, 31 So 2d 156, 172 ALR 726; Commonwealth v Steele, 362 Pa 427, 66 A2d 825.

But see Allison v State, 203 Md 1, 98 A2d 273, referring to discharge record as an official record.

Footnote 4. State v Stoller, 107 Utah 429, 154 P2d 649.

Footnote 5. Culbreath v State, 22 Ala App 143, 113 So 465; Lee v State, 20 Ala App 334, 101 So 907, cert den 212 Ala 135, 101 So 909; People v McGill, 82 Cal App 98, 255 P 261 (evidence of a defendant's military service not material in a prosecution for burglary and grand larceny); State v Reeves, 150 La 950, 91 So 403.

Footnote 6. State v Taylor, 293 Mo 210, 238 SW 489; State v Sbrilli, 136 NJL 66, 54 A2d 221 (exclusion of evidence of an honorable discharge of a defendant in a prosecution for rape was not error).

Footnote 7. Andrews v State (Fla App D1) 172 So 2d 505; Harold v Commonwealth, 147 Va 617, 136 SE 658.

Footnote 8. Grigsby v Commonwealth, 299 Ky 721, 187 SW2d 259, 159 ALR 196.

Testimony elicited from a witness in a prosecution for murder that the defendant stated to her that when he was in the Army he offered one of his companions $500 to shoot him in the foot so that he would not have to go "up front" was highly objectionable. People v Wilson, 400 Ill 461, 81 NE2d 211.

Footnote 9. Where, in a prosecution for assault, the defendant testified without objection, in support of his reputation for peacefulness, that he expected an honorable discharge from the Air Force, evidence showing his premature separation from the Air Force because of unsuitability characterized by disobedience of orders was admissible to impeach his evidence of the expected honorable discharge. State v Porter, 143 Mont 528, 391 P2d 704.

The admission of testimony of an officer of the Marine Corps in a murder trial showing that prior to the homicide the accused, who appeared in the courtroom dressed in a marine uniform bearing the chevrons of a corporal, had been reduced in rank to private, was not harmful error, since the testimony was apparently offered for the sole purpose of showing that the accused was not in fact a corporal as he represented. Coggins v State (Fla App D3) 101 So 2d 400.

Defendant was not prejudiced by a prosecutor's question to defendant's wife as to whether defendant had received a dishonorable discharge from the armed forces, to which she answered no, even though defendant had received only an undesirable discharge. Beard v State (Ind) 428 NE2d 772.

In murder prosecution it was not reversible error to cross-examine defendant regarding his desertion from the Salvadoran army. Guzmon v State (Tex Crim) 697 SW2d 404, cert den 475 US 1090, 89 L Ed 2d 734, 106 S Ct 1479, habeas corpus proceeding, en banc (Tex Crim) 730 SW2d 724.

◆ Comment: The admissibility of military records in criminal proceedings on behalf of the accused to prove good character was strongly advocated by Wigmore on the basis that a discharge certificate from the Army or Navy is virtually a summary of the man's entire conduct in the service, as a man and a soldier, where he is under an environment where all the weaknesses and excesses have an opportunity to betray themselves, and he is carefully observed by his superiors, more carefully than any person in the ordinary civil community; and all delinquencies and merits are systematically noted in his "service record," which serves as a basis for his discharge certificate. See Timmins v Hale, 122 Or 24, 256 P 770, a civil proceeding, expressing approval of this view.

Footnote 10. To show the defendant's experience with weapons and thereby minimize the possibility that the shooting of his wife was accidental, the Commonwealth was allowed to introduce the defendant's discharge, showing him to be a qualified rifle marksman. Commonwealth v Steele, 362 Pa 427, 66 A2d 825.

The exclusion of evidence as to wounds sustained while in military service by a defendant in a criminal prosecution, was held not error where there was no defense of lack of mental capacity or impairment from injury. People v Hauke, 335 Ill 217, 167 NE 1.

Evidence that the accused had Navy service, including several battles, as a result of which he became shellshocked, was properly excluded where the accused refused to enter an affirmative defense of insanity. State v Rose (Mo) 249 SW2d 324.

Footnote 11. People v Houser, 85 Cal App 2d 686, 193 P2d 937; Sherwood v State (Fla App D3) 271 So 2d 21; State v Zgodava (Minn App) 384 NW2d 522.

Footnote 12. People v Jackymiak, 381 Ill 528, 46 NE2d 50; Webb v Commonwealth (Ky) 451 SW2d 397 (but the error was not prejudicial); Blackwell v State, 82 Okla Crim 390, 171 P2d 634; State v Wright, 12 Wash App 585, 530 P2d 704, review den 85 Wash 2d 1006.

Footnote 13. Martin v State (Ala App) 343 So 2d 810, cert den (Ala) 343 So 2d 815; Strode v Commonwealth, 301 Ky 676, 192 SW2d 963; State v McLean, 294 NC 623, 242 SE2d 814.

In a robbery prosecution, prosecutor's comment in closing argument that the defendant was a "bad apple" unwanted by the Army was improper, but could be cured by the court's instruction that the jury disregard the comment. United States v Mostella (CA9 Cal) 802 F2d 358, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1334.

Footnote 14. 75 Am Jur 2d, Trial § 298.

c. Cross-Examination of Character Witness [386-389]

§ 386 Generally

The Rules provide that proof may be made by testimony as to reputation in all cases in which evidence of character or a trait of character is admissible, 15 and that on cross-examination of a character witness, inquiry is allowable into relevant specific instances of conduct. 16 Consequently, specific instances of a criminal defendant's conduct can be used on cross-examination to refute opinion evidence previously elicited by the defendant. 17

Specifically, once a witness has testified concerning a defendant's good character, it is permissible during cross-examination to attempt to determine the witness' credibility by asking that witness whether he or she has heard of prior misconduct on the part of the defendant inconsistent with the witness' direct testimony. 18

The purpose of an inquiry into specific instances of the defendant's conduct is to test the witness' credibility and, in the case of a reputation witness, his or her qualifications to express the community opinion. 19 If the witness has never heard of the instances in question, the jury may doubt that the witness is capable of giving reliable testimony as to the defendant's character or reputation. 20

The inquiry can properly be made in the form of "have you heard" questions 21 and the "are you aware" form is not objectionable. 22

◆ Practice guide: Careful instructions to the jury as to the appropriate use of such cross-examination is required. 23

◆ Observation: Federal Rules of Evidence 405 impliedly replaced any reading of the Michelson case 24 which would limit the form of questions regarding other acts or offenses to the "have you heard" form traditionally appropriate to test reputation witnesses. 25

Footnotes

Footnote 15. § 381.

Footnote 16. FRE 405(a); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 405(a).

Footnote 17. Government of Virgin Islands v Roldan (CA3 VI) 612 F2d 775, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 606, cert den 446 US 920, 64 L Ed 2d 275, 100 S Ct 1857; United States v Evans (CA4 NC) 569 F2d 209, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 889, cert den 435 US 975, 56 L Ed 2d 69, 98 S Ct 1624; United States v Manos (CA7 Ill) 848 F2d 1427, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 352; United States v Payne (CA7 Ind) 635 F2d 643, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 559, cert den 451 US 972, 68 L Ed 2d 351, 101 S Ct 2050, later proceeding (CA7 Ind) 741 F2d 887, 39 FR Serv 2d 858; United States v Grady (CA8 Mo) 665 F2d 831, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 860, later proceeding (ED Mo) 559 F Supp 30, affd (CA8 Mo) 715 F2d 402; United States v Tempesta (CA8 Minn) 587 F2d 931, 78-2 USTC ¶ 9844, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1658, 42 AFTR 2d 78-6340, cert den 441 US 910, 60 L Ed 2d 380, 99 S Ct 2005 (in prosecution for filing false income tax returns, government witness whom defendant had called as his own character witness could be cross-examined as to whether defendant had any felony convictions); United States v Burgard (CA8 Mo) 551 F2d 190,

1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 802; United States v Mariscal (CA9 Ariz) 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 976.

See United States v Watson (CA7 Ill) 587 F2d 365, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 241, cert den 439 US 1132, 59 L Ed 2d 95, 99 S Ct 1055 (in prosecution for robbery of savings and loan association, government's proposed cross-examination of defendant's witness concerning defendant's arrest during period of witness' acquaintance with defendant would have been permissible if defendant had not withdrawn character evidence given by witness on direct).

See also, as to proper inquiry into rumors or reports of specific incidents, 81 Am Jur 2d, Witnesses §§ 841 et seq.

Footnote 18. United States v Edwards (CA5 Fla) 549 F2d 362, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 844, cert den 434 US 828, 54 L Ed 2d 87, 98 S Ct 107, reh den 434 US 960, 54 L Ed 2d 321, 98 S Ct 494; United States v Collins (CA11 Fla) 779 F2d 1520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 78; United States v Glass (CA11 Ga) 709 F2d 669, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1283, reh den (CA11 Ga) 717 F2d 1401.

Footnote 19. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620; United States v Apfelbaum (CA3 Pa) 621 F2d 62, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1273; United States v Edwards (CA5 Fla) 549 F2d 362, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 844, cert den 434 US 828, 54 L Ed 2d 87, 98 S Ct 107, reh den 434 US 960, 54 L Ed 2d 321, 98 S Ct 494; United States v Collins (CA11 Fla) 779 F2d 1520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 78; United States v Glass (CA11 Ga) 709 F2d 669, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1283, reh den (CA11 Ga) 717 F2d 1401.

Footnote 20. Government of Virgin Islands v Grant (CA3 VI) 775 F2d 508, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 620.

Annotation: Cross-examination of character witness for accused with reference to particular acts or crimes—Modern state rules, 13 ALR4th 796.

Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Attacking or supporting credibility of witness by evidence in form of opinion or reputation, under Rule 608(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 52 ALR Fed 440.

Practice References Impeachment of witness by prior criminal conviction. 36 Am Jur POF2d 747.

Alleged victim's commission of prior acts of and reputation for violence. 15 Am Jur POF2d 167.

Footnote 21. United States v Collins (CA11 Fla) 779 F2d 1520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 78.

Footnote 22. Government of Virgin Islands v Roldan (CA3 VI) 612 F2d 775, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 606, cert den 446 US 920, 64 L Ed 2d 275, 100 S Ct 1857.

Footnote 23. United States v Apfelbaum (CA3 Pa) 621 F2d 62, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1273.

Footnote 24. Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213.

Footnote 25. Government of Virgin Islands v Roldan (CA3 VI) 612 F2d 775, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 606, cert den 446 US 920, 64 L Ed 2d 275, 100 S Ct 1857.

§ 387 Matters about which witness can be asked

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A plea of nolo contendere may be inquired into under Federal Rule of Evidence 405 if relevant to defendant's reputation. 26 Furthermore, instances of misconduct which can be inquired into under Federal Rules of Evidence 405(a) are not limited to convictions but also include arrests 27 and administrative orders. 28 In fact, the prosecution may inquire as to the witness' knowledge of negative rumors which may be circulating about the defendant, if in fact such rumors do exist, even if they are not based on fact. 29 Counsel may inquire into the witness' familiarity with a newspaper article concerning allegations made against the defendant and the defendant's denial of those allegations. 30 However, the government is not permitted to ask the witness to assume the defendant's guilt of the offenses for which he is then on trial. 31 And testimony involving an accused's membership in a religious order which advocates nonviolence is inadmissible. 32

§ 387 ----Matters about which witness can be asked [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

District court did not err in permitting prosecution to cross-examine narcotics conspiracy defendant's character witnesses as to defendant's rape arrest, assault charges, and positive cocaine usage test since defendant opened door to such testimony by virtue of his questioning witnesses on direct examination regarding defendant's reputation for honesty and law abidingness. United States v Wellons (1994, CA4 W Va) 32 F3d 117.

Footnotes

Footnote 26. United States v Mariscal (CA9 Ariz) 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 976.

Annotation: Cross-examination of character witness for accused with reference to particular acts or crimes—modern state rules, 13 ALR4th 796.

Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Attacking or supporting credibility of witness by evidence in form of opinion or reputation, under Rule 608(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 52 ALR Fed 440.

Practice References Impeachment of witness by prior criminal conviction. 36 Am Jur POF2d 747.

Alleged victim's commission of prior acts of and reputation for violence. 15 Am Jur POF2d 167 §§ 1-19.

Footnote 27. United States v Edwards (CA5 Fla) 549 F2d 362, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 844, cert den 434 US 828, 54 L Ed 2d 87, 98 S Ct 107, reh den 434 US 960, 54 L Ed 2d 321, 98 S Ct 494.

Footnote 28. United States v Mariscal (CA9 Ariz) 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 976 (Securities Exchange Commission cease and desist order entered against defendant for unlawful sale of securities).

Footnote 29. United States v McGuire (CA6 Ky) 744 F2d 1197, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 707, cert den 471 US 1004, 85 L Ed 2d 159, 105 S Ct 1866 (not citing FRE 405).

Footnote 30. United States v Apfelbaum (CA3 Pa) 621 F2d 62, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1273.

Footnote 31. United States v McGuire (CA6 Ky) 744 F2d 1197, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 707, cert den 471 US 1004, 85 L Ed 2d 159, 105 S Ct 1866.

Footnote 32. Government of Virgin Islands v Petersen (CA3 VI) 553 F2d 324, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 936.

§ 388 Limitations on cross-examination

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The court's discretion in admitting inquiries as to a defendant's prior misconduct is subject to certain limitations:

(1) the prosecutor asking the questions must have a good-faith factual basis for the incidents inquired about; 33

(2) the incidents inquired about must be relevant to the character traits involved at trial;
34 and

(3) a defendant's character testimony cannot be rebutted with extrinsic evidence of specific bad acts. 35 Relevancy to the pertinent character trait means, for example, that impeachment of a witness who testified as to reputation for nonviolence should not open the door to cross-examination about specific instances of lying. Moreover, evidence of the defendant's reputation reasonably contemporaneous with the acts charged is relevant, but reputation after the criminal charge under consideration is not. 36 Furthermore, the fact that defense testimony goes beyond that which is authorized by Federal Rules of Evidence 405(a), such as by improper reference to specific good acts on the part of the defendant, does not justify the government's improper use of testimony concerning the defendant's bad acts, 37 either in its direct case or in rebuttal. 38

Where a defense witness is not introduced as a character witness, the government is not permitted to convert the witness into a character witness by asking him what kind of man the defendant is and then to pursue that line of inquiry to bootstrap into the case evidence of the defendant's prior criminal convictions which the government is prohibited from using in its case in chief. 39 However, when the defense, in substance, puts personality traits before the trier, arguably tending to decrease the probability of guilt, though the specific term "character" is not employed, background inquiries about the accused are opened up during cross-examination of the character witness. 40

The reference in the rule to cross-examination on relevant specific instances of conduct is to instances of conduct relevant to the type of testimony offered on direct examination. Thus an opinion witness can be cross-examined only on matters bearing on his own opinion while a reputation witness can be examined only on matters reasonably proximate to the time of the alleged offense and likely to have been known to the relevant community at that time. 41

In a case where an entrapment defense has been raised and the only issue to be decided by the jury is the defendant's predisposition to commit the offense, the defendant's community reputation as a peaceful and law-abiding citizen is more clearly relevant than most uses of character evidence, and improper impeaching cross-examination should in such circumstances ordinarily be considered grounds for a new trial. 42

§ 388 ----Limitations on cross- examination [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court did not err in a first- degree murder sentencing hearing by admitting the testimony of the Chief of the Farmville Police Department regarding defendant's criminal misconduct where defendant, by eliciting testimony from his mother regarding his character for nonviolence, opened the door to rebuttal testimony from the State regarding this character trait, even if such evidence would have been inadmissible in the State's case in chief. State v Williams (1994) 339 NC 1, 452 SE2d 245.

Footnotes

Footnote 33. United States v Edwards (CA5 Fla) 549 F2d 362, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 844, cert den 434 US 828, 54 L Ed 2d 87, 98 S Ct 107, reh den 434 US 960, 54 L Ed 2d 321, 98 S Ct 494; United States v Glass (CA11 Ga) 709 F2d 669, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1283, reh den (CA11 Ga) 717 F2d 1401.

Footnote 34. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379; United States v Edwards (CA5 Fla) 549 F2d 362, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 844, cert den 434 US 828, 54 L Ed 2d 87, 98 S Ct 107, reh den 434 US 960, 54 L Ed 2d 321, 98 S Ct 494; United States v Glass (CA11 Ga) 709 F2d 669, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1283, reh den (CA11 Ga) 717 F2d 1401.

Annotation: Cross-examination of character witness for accused with reference to particular acts or crimes—modern state rules, 13 ALR4th 796.

Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Attacking or supporting credibility of witness by evidence in form of opinion or reputation, under Rule 608(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 52 ALR Fed 440.

Practice References Impeachment of witness by prior criminal conviction. 36 Am Jur POF2d 747.

Alleged victim's commission of prior acts of and reputation for violence. 15 Am Jur POF2d 167 §§ 1-19.

Footnote 35. United States v Benedetto (CA2 NY) 571 F2d 1246, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1299.

Footnote 36. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

Footnote 37. United States v Benedetto (CA2 NY) 571 F2d 1246, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1299; United States v Herman (CA3 Pa) 589 F2d 1191, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1605, cert den 441 US 913, 60 L Ed 2d 386, 99 S Ct 2014.

Footnote 38. United States v Benedetto (CA2 NY) 571 F2d 1246, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1299.

Footnote 39. United States v Gilliland (CA10 Okla) 586 F2d 1384, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1614.

Footnote 40. Where, during cross-examination of a government witness, defense counsel questions the defendant's social habits, the attempt to paint the defendant's character as benign makes the witness a defense character witness and permits the prosecution, on redirect, to perform the functional equivalent of "cross-examination" of the witness, and further permits a relevant rebuttal to the witness' opinion of the defendant, within the scope of FRE 405. Government of Virgin Islands v Roldan (CA3 VI) 612 F2d 775, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 606, cert den 446 US 920, 64 L Ed 2d 275, 100 S Ct 1857.

Footnote 41. If in a case where an entrapment defense is raised the defendant produces an examining psychiatrist's opinion evidence of unusual susceptibility to suggestion, cross-examination of the witness cannot inquire into those factors bearing on his reputation in the community among lay persons. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

Footnote 42. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

§ 389 Use of hypothetical questions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Where a defense witness has expressed no opinion as to the defendant's character, it is error for the government to elicit opinion evidence of the defendant's character during cross-examination by the use of hypothetical questions based on the specific facts in issue. 43 Even where the defense witness has testified as to his opinion on the defendant's character, the practice of cross-examination by way of hypothetical questions based on the specific facts in issue has been held to be error 44 or has not been enthusiastically approved. 45

◆ Practice guide: Insofar as nonexpert character witnesses are concerned, the probative value of a hypothetical question is negligible and should not be asked, as the jury is in as good a position as the nonexpert witness to draw proper inferences concerning the defendant's character from its own resolution of the issues. 46

Footnotes

Footnote 43. United States v Polsinelli (CA10 Kan) 649 F2d 793, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 412.

Annotation: Cross-examination of character witness for accused with reference to particular acts or crimes—Modern state rules, 13 ALR4th 796.

Admissibility of evidence of character or reputation of party in civil action for assault on issues other than impeachment, 91 ALR3d 718.

Opinion evidence as to character of accused under Rule 405(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 64 ALR Fed 244.

Attacking or supporting credibility of witness by evidence in form of opinion or reputation, under Rule 608(a) of Federal Rules of Evidence, 52 ALR Fed 440.

Footnote 44. United States v Curtis (CA3 Pa) 644 F2d 263, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1554, 64 ALR Fed 227, appeal after remand (CA3 Pa) 683 F2d 769, cert den 459 US 1018, 74 L Ed 2d 512, 103 S Ct 379.

Footnote 45. United States v Morgan (CA2 NY) 554 F2d 31, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 961, cert den 434 US 965, 54 L Ed 2d 450, 98 S Ct 504 (not prejudicially improper for government during cross-examination of one of defendant's character witnesses to ask hypothetical question as to whether witness' favorable opinion of defendant's character would change if defendant knew that corporation whose stock he was charged with mishandling was in receivership and did not disclose that fact to his customers; Lopez v Smith (SD NY) 515 F Supp 753, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 694 (prosecution on cross-examination asked witness if he would change his opinion of the defendant if the defendant had shot someone in cold blood, court stating that while it might be that prosecution's question should not have been allowed to veer from witness' knowledge of defendant's reputation to his opinion of defendant's character, in light of defense counsel's freewheeling questioning of witness it was not error to allow prosecution to attempt to impeach his opinion).

Footnote 46. United States v Morgan (CA2 NY) 554 F2d 31, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 961, cert den 434 US 965, 54 L Ed 2d 450, 98 S Ct 504.

2. Habit or Routine Practice (Rule 406) [390-403]

a. General Rules [390-395]

§ 390 Admissibility, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence of the habit of a person or of the routine practice of an organization, whether corroborated or not and regardless of the presence of eyewitnesses, is relevant to prove that the conduct of the person or organization on a particular occasion was in conformity with the habit or routine practice. 47 Rule 406 is a codification of the common-law rule of evidence which existed before the adoption of the rules. 48 But FRE Rule 406 specifically rejects any requirements of corroboration or eyewitnesses as conditions precedent to admissibility. Such factors are deemed to relate to sufficiency of the evidence rather than to admissibility. 49 In states adopting the Rule, the phrase "whether corroborated or not" has been said to eliminate the common-law requirement that there be evidence that the person acted in conformity with the habit or routine practice on the particular occasion in suit. 50 In a jurisdiction which has not adopted

Rules of Evidence, it has been similarly held that because one who has demonstrated a consistent response under given circumstances is more likely to repeat that response when the circumstances arise again, evidence of habit is admissible to prove conformity on specified occasions. 51

◆ Observation: The modern rule is contrary to the long-established rule, which may still be in effect in some states, that evidence of the general habits of a person is not admissible for the purpose of showing his conduct upon a specific occasion. 52

Evidence of habit is generally agreed to be highly persuasive proof of conduct on a particular occasion. 53 Moreover, evidence of habit is highly probative for the purpose of showing that a person acted in conformity with that habit on a particular occasion. 54 The use of habit evidence is often mandated by the unavailability or lack of recollection of the person whose conduct is in question, 55 and is especially helpful when a witness cannot recall his own actions on a particular day, but can testify to his usual custom in a particular situation. 56 But evidence of habit is not to be lightly established; evidence of examples for the purpose of establishing such habit is to be carefully scrutinized before admission. 57

◆ Caution: There must be proper alignment between the habit or routine practice testified to and the incident in suit, that is, the circumstances must be the same so that the situation provoking the habitual or routine response was present in the incident in suit. 58 In other words, evidence of habit, to be admissible, must have a clear relation to the subject of the action in which it is sought to be introduced; in short, it must be relevant. 59

§ 390 ----Admissibility, generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Rule 406: Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice, 23 Colo Law 12:2747 (1995).

Defending "pattern and practice" evidence in punitive damages cases, 61 Def Couns J 3:403 (1994).

Case authorities:

Evidence of limestone seller's routine practice of loading its trucks should have been admitted in buyer's suit for refund of money based on alleged short-loading where buyer provided invoices for over 3400 of seller's loads of limestones from third-party suppliers, introduced evidence to show that seller routinely loaded its trucks in same manner and to same level when seller obtained limestone from third-party seller, provided weight scale tickets showing that seller typically loaded either 14-ton or 25-ton loads at third-party suppliers, and that third-party loads always held less than 14 yards or 24 yards; district court failed to apply rule properly and, on remand, would be ordered to consider buyer's evidence under rule and determine, in light of all evidence, whether buyer established seller's routine practice for loading its trucks and, if so, what implications that creates for ultimate fact issue. Mobil Exploration & Producing U.S. v Cajun Constr. Servs. (1995, CA5 La) 45 F3d 96.

Footnotes

Footnote 47. FRE Rule 406; Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 406(a).

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Practice References 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person.

Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 155.

Footnote 48. Meyer v United States (DC Colo) 464 F Supp 317, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 987, 53 ALR Fed 691, affd (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 155, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980.

Footnote 49. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

To the same effect, under the Uniform Rules, is French v Sorano, 74 Wis 2d 460, 247 NW2d 182.

Footnote 50. Eig v Insurance Co. of North America (Fla App D3) 447 So 2d 377; Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v Jones (Fla App D5) 414 So 2d 1169; French v Sorano, 74 Wis 2d 460, 247 NW2d 182.

But see Paulsen Lumber, Inc. v Anderson, 91 Wis 2d 692, 283 NW2d 580, where it was said the Wisconsin equivalent to Rule 406 merely sets a standard for admissibility of routine practice and does not purport to define whether the evidence is sufficient, and that where there is a lack of corroborating evidence of a business practice on the particular occasion, evidence of routine practice is not sufficient in itself.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Footnote 51. Halloran v Virginia Chemicals, Inc., 41 NY2d 386, 393 NYS2d 341, 361 NE2d 991.

Footnote 52. Josephs v Briant, 115 Ark 538, 172 SW 1002; Petro v Hines, 299 Ill 236, 132 NE 462, 18 ALR 1106; Smith's Adm'x v Middleton, 112 Ky 588, 66 SW 388; Noonan v Luther, 206 NY 105, 99 NE 178; Green v Shaw, 136 SC 56, 134 SE 226, 48 ALR 243.

Footnote 53. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Footnote 54. Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243 (criticized on other grounds by Cornwall v U.S. Constr. Mfg., Inc. (CA FC) 800 F2d 250, 231 USPQ 64) and (disapproved on other grounds by Crawford Fitting Co. v J. T. Gibbons, Inc., 482 US 437, 96 L Ed 2d 385, 107 S Ct 2494, 43 BNA FEP Cas 1775, 43 CCH EPD ¶ 37102, 1987-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67596, 7 FR Serv 3d 1161) as stated in Goodwill Constr. Co. v Beers Constr. Co. (ND Ga) 824 F Supp 1044, 26 USPQ2d 1401, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds, remanded (CA FC) 991 F2d 751, 26 USPQ2d 1420, reh, en banc, den (CA FC) 1993 US App LEXIS 16231; Levin v United States, 119

US App DC 156, 338 F2d 265, cert den 379 US 999, 13 L Ed 2d 701, 85 S Ct 719 (but holding that there was no reversible error in excluding alibi evidence offered to prove that, in accordance with religious practices of defendant, he was at home on the Sabbath); McKinstry v Valley Obstetrics-Gynecology Clinic, P.C., 428 Mich 167, 405 NW2d 88.

Footnote 55. State v Mary (Iowa) 368 NW2d 166, appeal after remand (Iowa App) 401 NW2d 239.

Footnote 56. Shelton v United States (CA4 Va) 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 481.

Footnote 57. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368; Utility Control Corp. v Prince William Constr. Co. (CA4 Va) 558 F2d 716, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 123, 23 FR Serv 2d 910; Mathes v The Clipper Fleet (CA9 Cal) 774 F2d 980, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 577; Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Footnote 58. Ritchey v Murray, 274 Ark 388, 625 SW2d 476.

Footnote 59. See Mosser v Fruehauf Corp. (CA4 Va) 940 F2d 77, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 12864, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 680 (in products liability action against tractor-trailer manufacturer, deceased worker's personnel file showing that he had received speeding citations was properly excluded despite manufacturer's argument that it was admissible as evidence of habit, since it was unrelated to incident in question).

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

§ 391 Character evidence distinguished

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence of character and habit must be distinguished because the admissibility of character evidence is specifically governed by FRE Rule 404 and methods of proving character is governed by FRE Rule 405, whereas admissibility of habit or routine practice is governed by FRE Rule 406 and methods of proving habit or routine are not limited to those specified by FRE Rule 405, or under the Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 406(b).
60

Whereas the hallmarks of habit are specificity and repetition, 61 character is more general than habit, amounting to a description of "disposition" respecting such traits as honesty, peaceability, and so forth. 62 Habit evidence is considered superior to character evidence because the uniformity of an individual's response to habit is far greater than the consistency with which his or her conduct conforms to character or disposition. 63

The chief difficulty in determining admissibility under FRE Rule 406 is attempting to draw the line between inadmissible character evidence and admissible habit evidence. 64 However, even where evidence of habit appears to be admissible under FRE Rule 406, a habit of committing a particular crime will not fall within the rubric of the rule, because evidence of such habits is identical to the kind of character evidence that is a target of and excluded by FRE Rule 404. 65

◆ Observation: It has been noted that the courts are not always careful to make clear or to preserve the distinction between character and habit, and that the terms can and do appear to overlap at times. 66

§ 391 ----Character evidence distinguished [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Admission of evidence that truckdriver had two million miles of safe driving and had received awards from National Safety Council should not have been admitted as evidence of habit or routine practice, since it was character evidence, and therefore inadmissible. Stapleton v Great Lakes Chem. Corp. (1993, La) 627 So 2d 1358.

Footnotes

Footnote 60. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

As to methods of proving habit, see § 402.

Practice References Definitions of habit and character distinguished. 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person § 3.

Footnote 61. § 393.

Footnote 62. Reyes v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA5 Tex) 589 F2d 791, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 864; Boswell v Phoenix Newspapers, Inc. (App) 152 Ariz 1, 730 P2d 178, approved as supplemented, en banc 152 Ariz 9, 730 P2d 186, 13 Media L R 1785, cert den 481 US 1029, 95 L Ed 2d 527, 107 S Ct 1954 and (criticized on other grounds by Bryant v Continental Conveyor & Equip. Co., 156 Ariz 193, 751 P2d 509, 2 Ariz Adv Rep 8, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11683) as stated in Estate of Hernandez by Hernandez-Wheeler v Arizona Bd. of Regents (App) 172 Ariz 522, 838 P2d 1283, 101 Ariz Adv Rep 87, vacated, remanded on other grounds (Ariz) 156 Ariz Adv Rep 43 (habit describes one's regular response to a repeated specific situation, while character refers to a generalized description of one's disposition).

See Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549, where the court said that a habit must be specific and that the specificity requirement is the primary tool for weeding out character evidence when it is offered as habit evidence.

Footnote 63. Reyes v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA5 Tex) 589 F2d 791, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv

864; Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Footnote 64. Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Footnote 65. United States v Mascio (CA7 Ill) 774 F2d 219, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1349.

See, however, § 398 for a discussion of habits found admissible in criminal prosecutions.

Footnote 66. Hart v State, 75 Wis 2d 371, 249 NW2d 810 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Estate of Safran, 102 Wis 2d 79, 306 NW2d 27, 25 ALR4th 766).

See Soper v State (Alaska App) 731 P2d 587, a prosecution of a father for sexual abuse of his youngest daughter, where the court ruled admissible evidence of the father's seduction of two older daughters, as "a striking pattern of behavior" that seems to occupy the middle ground between evidence of character and habit.

See Chambliss v White Motor Corp. (Fla App D1) 481 So 2d 6, 10 FLW 2566, review den (Fla) 491 So 2d 278, an action against a truck manufacturer by a garbage collector who was injured when the garbage truck in which he was riding as a passenger skidded and overturned killing the driver and breaking plaintiff's neck, holding the admission of evidence relating to the driving characteristics and habits of the deceased driver would have been improper if it amounted to mere character evidence; however, plaintiff failed to demonstrate reversible prejudicial error, where three witnesses testified that the driving characteristics and habits of an operator affect brake wear and deterioration, and where the evidence was not so prejudicial that it overwhelmed any and all other theories of defendant's nonliability established by other evidence at trial.

§ 392 Habit: definitions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Rule 406 does not define "habit" 67 or "routine practice." 68 Although some courts have quoted a lay dictionary definition of habit as an acquired or developed mode of behavior or function that has become nearly or completely involuntary, 69 it would appear that the concept of habit or routine practice for Rule 406 purposes is different from the everyday concept. Habit has been defined as a person's regular practice of meeting a particular kind of situation with a specific kind of conduct, 70 or as a reflex behavior in a specific set of circumstances. 71 Habit has also been said to refer to a type of nonvolitional activity that occurs with invariable regularity. 72 In other words, habit is a regular response to a repeated specific situation which may become semiautomatic; 73 it may be said to be an acquired or developed mode of behavior or function that has become nearly or completely involuntary. 74

◆ Practice guide: In order to be admissible as evidence of habit, the proffered testimony must generally meet the three elements of regularity, specificity, and an involuntary or semiautomatic response. 75

Footnotes

Footnote 67.

◆ Comment: However, the Advisory Committee notes with approval the definition of McCormick that habit, "in modern usage, both lay and psychological, is more specific [than character]. It describes one's regular response to a repeated specific situation. A habit . . . is the person's regular practice of meeting a particular situation with a specific type of conduct The doing of habitual acts may become semi-automatic." Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Footnote 68. § 394.

Footnote 69. See, for example, Ritchey v Murray, 274 Ark 388, 625 SW2d 476.

In Meyer v United States (DC Colo) 464 F Supp 317, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 987, 53 ALR Fed 691, affd (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 155, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980, the court quoted a dictionary definition of habit as "a tendency to act in a certain way or to do a certain thing; usual way of acting; custom; practice."

Footnote 70. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Practice References Definition of habit. 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person § 2.

Footnote 71. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 72. Weil v Seltzer, 277 US App DC 196, 873 F2d 1453, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 180.

Footnote 73. Henry v Cline, 275 Ark 44, 626 SW2d 958; State v Bragg (Me) 516 A2d 556.

Footnote 74. Henry v Cline, 275 Ark 44, 626 SW2d 958.

Footnote 75. § 393.

§ 393 --Elements

View Entire Section Go to Parallel Reference Table Go to Supplement
--

In the context of Rule 406, habit may be said to consist of three elements: (1) regularity,

(2) specificity, and (3) an involuntary or semiautomatic response.

In regard to the first element, habit has been defined as one's regular response to a repeated situation. 76 Regularity has two sub-elements: frequency and consistency. 77 Conduct is not a habit or routine practice unless it is frequently engaged in. 78 In regard to the consistency requirement, it has been held that conduct is not a habit unless it is a person's invariable or at least frequent response to a particular situation; 79 a standard not met, for example, by the person's engaging in the "habitual" conduct only about half the time. 80 To support a finding of admissibility as habit under FRE Rule 406, it is necessary to critically examine the ratio of reactions to the situations 81 and to show regularity of conduct by comparing the number of instances in which any such conduct occurs with the number in which no such conduct takes place. 82

The second element, specificity, is the quality that distinguishes admissible evidence of habit or routine practice from inadmissible character evidence, which is a generalized description of one's disposition. 83 The third element is that the conduct be an involuntary or semiautomatic response to a specific situation. 84

§ 393 --Elements [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In malpractice action against orthopedic surgeon in connection with excision arthroplasty of trapezium and trapezium metacarpal joint with gelfoam implant, trial court properly issued protective order, based in part on Uniform Evidence Rule 406, excluding from use at trial confidential documents relating to earlier peer review of surgeon's performance where plaintiff had no evidence of complaints concerning other excision arthroplasties of trapezium metacarpal joint with gelfoam implant performed by surgeon and, in fact, there could be no such evidence as surgeon had never done operation before; surgeon's singular performance of procedure necessarily prevented his conduct from rising to level of habit performance. Young v Saldanha (1993, W Va) 431 SE2d 669.

Footnotes

Footnote 76. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368; Weil v Seltzer, 277 US App DC 196, 873 F2d 1453, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 180; Boswell v Phoenix Newspapers, Inc. (App) 152 Ariz 1, 730 P2d 178, approved as supplemented, en banc 152 Ariz 9, 730 P2d 186, 13 Media L R 1785, cert den 481 US 1029, 95 L Ed 2d 527, 107 S Ct 1954 and (criticized on other grounds by Bryant v Continental Conveyor & Equip. Co., 156 Ariz 193, 751 P2d 509, 2 Ariz Adv Rep 8, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11683) as stated in Estate of Hernandez by Hernandez-Wheeler v Arizona Bd. of Regents (App) 172 Ariz 522, 838 P2d 1283, 101 Ariz Adv Rep 87, vacated, remanded on other grounds (Ariz) 156 Ariz Adv Rep 43; Henry v Cline, 275 Ark 44, 626 SW2d 958; State v Bragg (Me) 516 A2d 556; Mydlarz v Palmer/Duncan Constr. Co., 209 Mont 325, 682 P2d 695; Reaves v Mandell, 209 NJ Super 465, 507 A2d 807; Ohlson v Kent Nowlin Constr. Co. (App) 99 NM 539, 660 P2d 1021, cert den 99 NM 477, 660 P2d 119; South v National Railroad Passenger Corp. (AMTRAK) (ND) 290 NW2d 819; Cannell v Rhodes (Cuyahoga Co) 31

Ohio App 3d 183, 31 Ohio BR 349, 509 NE2d 963; Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549; Norris v State, 46 Wash App 822, 733 P2d 231; Hart v State, 75 Wis 2d 371, 249 NW2d 810 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Estate of Safran, 102 Wis 2d 79, 306 NW2d 27, 25 ALR4th 766).

Evidence of habit or routine must show that the person or organization engaged in the behavior regularly enough to make it probable that he or they behaved that way on the occasion in question. Cannell v Rhodes (Cuyahoga Co) 31 Ohio App 3d 183, 31 Ohio BR 349, 509 NE2d 963.

Practice References 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Footnote 77. To meet the requirement that conduct be the regular practice of a person responding to a particular kind of situation, it must be both frequent and invariable or at least consistent. Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

Footnote 78. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368; Mathes v The Clipper Fleet (CA9 Cal) 774 F2d 980, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 577; Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243; South v National Railroad Passenger Corp. (AMTRAK) (ND) 290 NW2d 819; Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

Evidence that a railroad had a habit of not blowing a warning whistle at a particular crossing is admissible in a grade-crossing collision case where one witness testified, when asked the number of times the train did not blow a warning whistle, "I couldn't put a number on it because I so frequently seen it," and another testified that "a lot of times they missed that, I know that." South v National Railroad Passenger Corp. (AMTRAK) (ND) 290 NW2d 819.

As to what constitutes sufficient frequency, see § 403.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 79. Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

In breach of contract case, evidence relating to other breaches was excluded where defendant failed to indicate actual number of contracts on which it relied, making it impossible for court to determine whether examples were numerous enough to infer systematic conduct. Simplex, Inc. v Diversified Energy Systems, Inc. (CA7 Ill) 847 F2d 1290, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1133.

Footnote 80. Henry v Cline, 275 Ark 44, 626 SW2d 958 (testimony that the witness had seen a minor drive on a road a dozen times and that he was speeding half of those times, offered to prove the minor's driving habits on a road where he rounded a turn and collided head-on with another vehicle, was inadmissible under Rule 406 since the proffered testimony of the minor's driving fast on the particular road half of the time was insufficient to establish a mode of behavior that had become nearly or completely involuntary).

Footnote 81. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368; Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Ordinarily five incidents would be insufficient to establish the existence of a habit; however, where defendants make an offer of proof of testimony from eight witnesses concerning numerous different incidents and the court permitted only four of these witnesses to testify to prevent undue prejudice to the plaintiff, evidence of habit is properly admitted under FRE Rule 406. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564.

Footnote 82. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368.

Testimony that defendant had routine practice of breaching contracts because defendant breached five contracts with witness and breached contracts with other contractors, when considered in light of the defendant's contractual dealings with thousands of small subcontractors and the significant differences between the types of contracts involved, falls far short of the required adequacy of sampling and uniformity of response. G.M. Brod & Co. v U.S. Home Corp. (CA11 Fla) 759 F2d 1526, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 100.

Footnote 83. Reyes v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA5 Tex) 589 F2d 791, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 864; Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

As to the specificity of particular conduct, see §§ 396 et seq.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 84. State v Munguia (App) 137 Ariz 69, 668 P2d 912; Henry v Cline, 275 Ark 44, 626 SW2d 958; State v Bragg (Me) 516 A2d 556; Ohlson v Kent Nowlin Constr. Co. (App) 99 NM 539, 660 P2d 1021, cert den 99 NM 477, 660 P2d 119; Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549; Norris v State, 46 Wash App 822, 733 P2d 231.

Where evidence of a habit is offered on the issue of negligence, it must be limited to conduct constituting a person's regular practice of meeting a particular situation with specific conduct, thus showing that a doing of such act and the person's conduct in meeting a certain situation is practically automatic. Glatt v Feist (ND) 156 NW2d 819, 28 ALR3d 1278.

§ 394 Routine practice of organization

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Routine practice of an organization is behavior on the part of a group which is equivalent to habit of a person; 85 that is, an organization's practice of handling a particular kind of situation with a specific type of conduct. 86 This concept contemplates a certain threshold ratio of the proved instances to the total conduct claimed to be habitual or routine. 87 That ratio in turn depends on the nature of the routine practice at issue. 88 Thus an organization's regularity of action is within the purview of the Rule. 89

Organizational routine also describes something often repeated, which tends to be semiautomatic in the sense that it tends to be ministerial and is carried on from day-to-day without the need for managerial decisions. Although many instances of organizational routine deal with business customs, FRE Rule 406 does not require a business setting and the routine of charitable, religious, educational, governmental, or even political organizations is clearly within the literal terms of the rule. 90

◆ Caution: While statements as to routine practice of an organization could be used to show what was done in given situation was in conformity with routine practice, such routine practice could not contradict evidence of what was actually done in a given situation. 91

Footnotes

Footnote 85. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Footnote 86. Meyer v United States (DC Colo) 464 F Supp 317, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 987, 53 ALR Fed 691, affd (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 155, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 87. Wetherill v University of Chicago (ND Ill) 570 F Supp 1124, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 768.

Footnote 88. Wetherill v University of Chicago (ND Ill) 570 F Supp 1124, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 768.

Footnote 89. Meyer v United States (DC Colo) 464 F Supp 317, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 987, 53 ALR Fed 691, affd (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 155, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980.

Footnote 90. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 159.

Footnote 91. Park Club, Inc. v Resolution Trust Co. (SD Tex) 742 F Supp 395, affd in part and revd in part on other grounds (CA5 Tex) 967 F2d 1053, 23 FR Serv 3d 490, reh, en banc, den (CA5 Tex) 976 F2d 732.

§ 395 Industry customs and standards

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In negligence case, evidence of industry custom or standard, that is, evidence of "routine practice" in the industry, is received as a kind of circumstantial proof to show that the conduct in the litigated case conformed, or did not conform, to what others do in similar situations. While such proof is not affected by Rule 406, it is closely related thereto. 92

It has been said that what is ordinarily and usually done by those who are engaged in the same business, occupation, or undertaking, has some relevancy to the inquiry as to what an ordinarily prudent person would do under the same circumstances. 93 Thus, it is generally held that in cases where the method used which resulted in an injury is not clearly and inherently negligent or dangerous, evidence is admissible of the general custom of others engaged in the same kind of business, occupation, or undertaking, as to the particular method under investigation, for the consideration of the jury for whatever light it might throw upon the question whether the method used was or was not negligent under the circumstances of the particular case before the court. 94 Safety codes and official regulations governing various industries have frequently been admitted as evidence of industry standards. 95 Conformity with custom is some proof of due care, and nonconformity some proof of negligence, 96 and it is not essential to the admissibility of such evidence that a contractual relationship exist between the parties to the action. 97

Nor is it essential to the admissibility of evidence of general practice or usage to show that it constituted a "custom" in the legal technical sense, for the purpose of such evidence is simply to show the ordinary practice. 98 Thus, it is not necessary to prove that the practice or usage was universal, or that it had been in existence for the length of time peculiar to a common-law custom. 99 However, evidence of the general custom of one company or a single individual or small group with respect to the act in question is usually held inadmissible because such custom may not conform to the usual or customary rule in the industry. 1

Whether testimony of a custom or practice followed by a certain third person is admissible in evidence on the issue of negligence should be dealt with according to the evidentiary value of the testimony in the particular case. 2 The view has been taken that in order to assist the jury in determining whether an employer exercised reasonable care in providing and maintaining machinery of the sort used in his establishment, proof may be received as to what other kinds of machinery or appliances were used elsewhere. 3 However, in various cases, evidence of the practices followed by particular third persons has been excluded on the ground that such evidence does not show the existence of a general custom or usage. 4

§ 395 ----Industry customs and standards [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: OSHA compliance or non-compliance: Admissible in federal products liability actions to prove a machine's safety or defect? 25 Ariz St LJ 659 (1993).

OSHA evidence in federal court products liability actions: Too prejudicial to be admissible to prove a machine's safety or defect, or simply additional evidence for the fact finder? 10 Touro LR 239 (1993).

Footnotes

Footnote 92. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 158.

◆ Observation: Whether such proof should be admitted raises a question of relevancy under Rule 401.

Footnote 93. Mitchell v Knight (Alaska) 394 P2d 892.

As to custom or usage as affecting standard of care, see 57A Am Jur 2d, Negligence §§ 173 et seq.

Footnote 94. Virginia Electric & Power Co. v Carolina Peanut Co. (CA4 NC) 186 F2d 816, 32 ALR2d 234; Denning Warehouse Co. v Widener (CA10 NM) 172 F2d 910, 13 ALR2d 669; Brigham Young University v Lillywhite (CA10 Utah) 118 F2d 836, 137 ALR 598, cert den 314 US 638, 86 L Ed 512, 62 S Ct 73; Holland v Tennessee C., I. & R. Co., 91 Ala 444, 8 So 524; Peterson v Permanente S.S. Corp., 129 Cal App 2d 579, 277 P2d 495, cert den 349 US 953, 99 L Ed 1278, 75 S Ct 882; Hazard Powder Co. v Somersville Mfg. Co., 78 Conn 171, 61 A 519; Sea Board A. L. R. Co. v Watson, 94 Fla 571, 113 So 716; William Laurie Co. v McCullough, 174 Ind 477, 90 NE 1014, reh overr 174 Ind 490, 92 NE 337; Gibson v Shelby County Fair Ass'n, 246 Iowa 147, 65 NW2d 433; Magay v Claflin Sumner Coal Co., 257 Mass 244, 153 NE 534, 53 ALR 928; Albertson v Chicago, M., S. P. & P. R. Co., 242 Minn 50, 64 NW2d 175, 42 ALR2d 1044; Martin v First Nat. Bank, 358 Mo 1199, 219 SW2d 312, 8 ALR2d 435; Prosser v Montana C. R. Co., 17 Mont 372, 43 P 81; Brackman v Brackman, 169 Neb 650, 100 NW2d 774; Schmitt v Northern Improv. Co. (ND) 115 NW2d 713; Schwer v New York, C. & S. L. R. Co., 161 Ohio St 15, 52 Ohio Ops 469, 117 NE2d 696, 43 ALR2d 606; Ault v Hall, 119 Ohio St 422, 7 Ohio L Abs 44, 164 NE 518, 60 ALR 128; Davis v Whitsett (Okla) 435 P2d 592, 27 OGR 734; Jemison v Pfeifer, 397 Pa 81, 152 A2d 697.

In suit against farm arising out of death of migrant worker, it was error to exclude the testimony of an expert who would have described the practice of reasonable contract farmers in issuing safety standards. Linkstrom v Golden T. Farms (CA3 Pa) 883 F2d 269, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 860.

Industry standards were properly introduced for the purpose of illustrating the availability of safety guards at the time a punch press was manufactured, as it relates directly to the issue of the feasibility of defendant providing proper guarding in a personal injury action. Murphy v L & J Press Corp. (CA8 Mo) 558 F2d 407, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 675, on remand (ED Mo) 76 FRD 468, mod on other grounds (CA8 Mo) 577 F2d 27, 25 FR Serv 2d 1155 and cert den 434 US 1025, 54 L Ed 2d 772, 98 S Ct 751.

Evidence is admissible, in an action against an ambulance company for injury to a sick person falling off a wheel stretcher in a hospital corridor, of a custom in the hospital to fasten, around persons being transported on wheel stretchers, a canvas belt attached to the stretcher to prevent their falling off. Hollander v Smith & Smith, 10 NJ Super 82, 76 A2d 697, 21 ALR2d 902, cert den 6 NJ 399, 79 A2d 108.

Footnote 95. Josephs v Harris Corp. (CA3 Pa) 677 F2d 985, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 9287, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 612, 34 FR Serv 2d 28; Banko v Continental Motors Corp. (CA4 Va) 373 F2d 314; Frazier v Continental Oil Co. (CA5 Miss) 568 F2d 378, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1032.

Footnote 96. Langner v Caviness, 238 Iowa 774, 28 NW2d 421, 172 ALR 1135.

Industry standards or trade customs were admissible as indicators of reasonableness of conduct introduced to show that the absence of a safety device does not render certain mechanical equipment defective, although such evidence may not be used to prove due care or intervening negligent conduct. Christner v E. W. Bliss Co. (MD Pa) 524 F Supp 1122.

Footnote 97. Miller v Midway Fishing Tool Co., 106 Cal App 2d 612, 235 P2d 630.

Footnote 98. Silver Falls Timber Co. v Eastern & Western Lumber Co., 149 Or 126, 40 P2d 703; Fritz v Western Union Tel. Co., 25 Utah 263, 71 P 209.

Footnote 99. Silver Falls Timber Co. v Eastern & Western Lumber Co., 149 Or 126, 40 P2d 703.

Footnote 1. Norfolk S. R. Co. v Davis Frozen Foods, Inc. (CA4 NC) 195 F2d 662; Jones v Malvern Lumber Co., 58 Ark 125, 23 SW 679; Hercules Powder Co. v Automatic Sprinkler Corp. (1st Dist) 151 Cal App 2d 387, 311 P2d 907; Sea Board A. L. R. Co. v Watson, 94 Fla 571, 113 So 716; Jackson v Chicago, M., S. P. & P. R. Co., 238 Iowa 1253, 30 NW2d 97; Davis v Gatewood (Mo) 299 SW2d 504; De Weese v J. C. Penney Co., 5 Utah 2d 116, 297 P2d 898, 65 ALR2d 399; Clinchfield Coal Co. v Wheeler's Adm'r, 108 Va 448, 62 SE 269.

Footnote 2. Brigham Young University v Lillywhite (CA10 Utah) 118 F2d 836, 137 ALR 598, cert den 314 US 638, 86 L Ed 512, 62 S Ct 73.

Footnote 3. Belleville Stone Co. v Comben, 61 NJL 353, 39 A 641, affd 62 NJL 449, 45 A 1090.

Footnote 4. Garthe v Ruppert, 264 NY 290, 190 NE 643, reh den 265 NY 502, 193 NE 291; Southern R. Co. v Mauzy, 98 Va 692, 37 SE 285.

b. Specific Types of Conduct [396-401]

§ 396 Negligence or care

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Under pre-Rule law, still applicable in some states that have not adopted the Uniform Rules, the courts, in actions for negligence, generally denied the admissibility of evidence of the defendant's habits of negligence, or his habitual negligent conduct upon the issue of his negligence at the time of the injury, 5 especially where there were eyewitnesses who testified to the actual facts concerning the accident or injury. 6 Nor, as a general rule, was evidence of the habit or reputation of the injured party for negligent or reckless conduct admissible. 7 Conversely, the defendant could not show his own habits or reputation 8 for prudence, skill, or care, upon the issue of his care or negligence upon a particular occasion. 9 Similarly, evidence of the careful habit of one injured by another's negligence was not admissible to show care on his part at the time of the injury, 10 particularly where there are witnesses who testify as to how the accident occurred. 11

In a non-Rule state, where the issue of negligence involved proof of deliberate and repetitive practice, it was said that a party should be able, by introducing evidence of such habit or regular usage, to allow inference of its persistence, and hence negligence on a particular occasion. 12

◆ Observation: It has been pointed out that pre-Rule authority approving as evidence of habit proof of a person's care in driving, his practice of driving under the speed limit, and his regard to the rules of the road 13 is of dubious stature today, and such proof should not be allowed in light of the description of the distinction between character and habit adopted by the Advisory Committee. 14 It was further noted that the degree of specificity which should be required is hard to determine in such instances, but that evidence should be specific enough to qualify for admission as proof of habit under FRE Rule 406 if it shows that a person regularly travels a particular route, and that he always (or on all or almost all observed occasions) signals a particular turn, or drives slowly (or too fast) on a particular stretch on the route, or stops (or fails to stop) at a particular intersection where the specific location is also the one involved in the accident in litigation. 15

Under the Uniform Rules, driving carelessly or recklessly has been held not a habit under Rule 406, 16 nor has conduct in consistently driving over the center line. 17 In a prosecution for reckless homicide, testimony of defendant's employer as to defendant's driving habits is inadmissible in evidence for determining defendant's manner of driving on a specific occasion where defendant had consumed intoxicating liquor. 18 However, a motorist's consistently following a certain route in a certain direction when driving home from work has been held to be a habit, 19 as has a motorist's giving a hand signal for a left turn. 20

Evidence that a railroad had a habit of not blowing a warning whistle at a particular crossing is admissible in a grade-crossing collision case involving a train and a pickup truck at that crossing. 21

With respect to walking, it has been held a habit that an individual consistently followed a certain route on his almost daily walk from his home to a store 22 or that he habitually crossed the street carefully. 23

◆ Observation: Evidence of a party's habit of negligence, acquired after an accident, is not admissible to prove negligence prior to its acquisition. 24

§ 396 ----Negligence or care [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In negligence action arising from auto accident between plaintiffs and on-duty police officer, evidence of officer's past driving record and police department's assessment of that record were not admissible as habit of person, relevant to prove that person's conduct was in conformity with that habit, where records showing, during six-year period, three low speed accidents "under apparently low risk conditions," did not demonstrate habit as contemplated by rule of evidence. Waldon v Longview (1993, Tex App Tyler) 855 SW2d 875.

Footnotes

Footnote 5. United States v Compania Cubana De Aviacion, S. A. (CA5 Fla) 224 F2d 811; Poole v Evergreen Livestock Co., 262 Ala 131, 77 So 2d 475; Holtzman v Hoy, 118 Ill 534, 8 NE 832; Walkowski v Penokee & G. Consol. Mines, 115 Mich 629, 73 NW 895; Murphy v Burney (Miss) 27 So 2d 773; Hays v Millar, 77 Pa 238; Konold v Rio Grande W. R. Co., 21 Utah 379, 60 P 1021; Jackson v Chesapeake & O. R. Co., 179 Va 642, 20 SE2d 489.

As to the admissibility of habit evidence in motor vehicle accident litigation, generally, see 8 Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic §§ 1026-1028.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit, customary behavior, or reputation as to care of motor vehicle driver or occupant, on question of his care at time of occurrence giving rise to his injury or death, 29 ALR3d 791.

Footnote 6. Weaver v Scofield (Mo App) 198 SW2d 240.

Footnote 7. Murphy v Burney (Miss) 27 So 2d 773.

Footnote 8. Generally, as to evidence of reputation, see §§ 363 et seq.

Footnote 9. Poole v Evergreen Livestock Co., 262 Ala 131, 77 So 2d 475; Holtzman v Hoy, 118 Ill 534, 8 NE 832; Smith's Adm'x v Middleton, 112 Ky 588, 66 SW 388; Thomas v Kimsey (Mo) 322 SW2d 754; Green v Shaw, 136 SC 56, 134 SE 226, 48 ALR 243.

In a prosecution for reckless homicide, evidence on defendant's usual careful manner of driving was not admissible for the purpose of attempting to prove defendant's manner of driving after a party during which he had consumed intoxicating liquor. State v Warner (Me) 237 A2d 150.

Footnote 10. Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v Gants, 38 Kan 608, 17 P 54.

Footnote 11. Illinois C. R. Co. v Borders, 61 Ill App 55.

Footnote 12. Halloran v Virginia Chemicals, Inc., 41 NY2d 386, 393 NYS2d 341, 361 NE2d 991.

Footnote 13. Frase v Henry (CA10 Kan) 444 F2d 1228.

Footnote 14. As to such distinctions, see § 391.

Footnote 15. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 157.

Footnote 16. Hart v State, 75 Wis 2d 371, 249 NW2d 810 (ovrld on other grounds by Re Estate of Safran, 102 Wis 2d 79, 306 NW2d 27, 25 ALR4th 766).

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Footnote 17. Ritchey v Murray, 274 Ark 388, 625 SW2d 476.

Footnote 18. State v Warner (Me) 237 A2d 150.

Footnote 19. Walton v Elftman, 64 Ohio Misc 45, 18 Ohio Ops 3d 232, 410 NE2d 1282.

Footnote 20. Ritchey v Murray, 274 Ark 388, 625 SW2d 476; Ohlson v Kent Nowlin Constr. Co. (App) 99 NM 539, 660 P2d 1021, cert den 99 NM 477, 660 P2d 119.

Footnote 21. South v National Railroad Passenger Corp. (AMTRAK) (ND) 290 NW2d 819.

Footnote 22. Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

Footnote 23. Gardner v Geraghty (1st Dist) 98 Ill App 3d 10, 53 Ill Dec 517, 423 NE2d 1321.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit, customary behavior, or reputation as to care of pedestrian on question of his care at time of collision with motor vehicle giving rise to his injury or death, 28 ALR3d 1293.

Footnote 24. Weaver v Scofield (Mo App) 198 SW2d 240.

§ 397 Alcohol-related conduct

View Entire Section

The Notes of the Advisory Committee to FRE Rule 406 state that evidence of intemperate behavior is generally excluded when offered in accident cases as proof of drunkenness because of failure to achieve the status of habit. 25 However, according to one court, this statement of the Advisory Committee is at odds with the probability theory of habit seemingly adopted elsewhere in the Notes to FRE Rule 406. 26 Consequently, the court admitted evidence of the witness's regular practice of drinking a six-pack of beer four nights a week to prove that the conduct of the witness on the occasion of the accident giving rise to the action was in conformity with the habit. 27 And in an action by a mechanic against a manufacturer alleging defective design, it was proper to admit evidence of plaintiff's habit of drinking on the job since plaintiff's mental and physical capabilities were relevant to the defense of assumption of risk and to the apportionment of liability under the state's comparative negligence standard. 28

Under state equivalents of Rule 406, there is authority that one cannot introduce, as habit evidence, evidence of an individual's intemperance or sobriety, such as evidence that the individual never drank while working. 29 Nor is it a habit that an individual was aggressive or violent when drunk. 30 A bartender's testimony that the victim of an ice-pick stabbing incident often bummed drinks was inadmissible on the ground that cadging drinks is not of the semi-automatic and regular character contemplated by the rule. 31 But evidence of the prior intemperate habits of a person has been held relevant to, and may be given as corroborating evidence on, the question of whether he was intoxicated at any given time and place, when such intoxication is a material issue in the cause. 32

◆ Observation: Clearly, where the gist of the action involves the defendant's habits, such as where a divorce is sought on the ground of habitual drunkenness, evidence of the habit is admissible. 33

◆ Caution: Evidence of drinking habits may be inadmissible on the basis of remoteness. 34

§ 397 ----Alcohol-related conduct [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In proceeding to terminate parental rights of mother in her children, court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence of mother's treatment at alcohol treatment center where state statute prohibited disclosure of any alcohol treatment records protected under federal law, where federal statute allowed disclosure for good cause, with good cause being determined by weighing public interest and need for disclosure against injury to patient, to physician-patient relationship, and to treatment services, where federal regulation stated that courts may authorize disclosure if it is necessary to protect against child abuse and neglect, where critical issue in case at hand was whether mother had achieved certain degree of "personal rehabilitation" and her active alcoholism was key element, where federal regulations also allowed disclosure when patient offers testimony or other evidence pertaining to content of confidential communications, where issue of mother's mental health had been raised by her, where state's general mental health treatment confidentiality statute did not apply in that exception existed for cases in which patient introduces his or her mental state as defense or claim, and where best interest of child requires that when mental health of parent in termination case is at issue, privilege between psychiatrist and patient give way once it is shown that communications and records are relevant to issues in case. Re Romance M. (1993) 30 Conn App 839, 622 A2d 1047, app gr, in part 226 Conn 916, 628 A2d 988.

Footnotes

Footnote 25. Keltner v Ford Motor Co. (CA8 Ark) 748 F2d 1265, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10291, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1260.

Footnote 26. Keltner v Ford Motor Co. (CA8 Ark) 748 F2d 1265, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10291, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1260.

Footnote 27. Keltner v Ford Motor Co. (CA8 Ark) 748 F2d 1265, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10291, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1260 (the witness himself in his original brief characterized his pattern of drinking as a habit and acknowledged that it was possible he could have been drinking the night of the accident).

Footnote 28. Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243 (criticized on other grounds by Cornwall v U.S. Constr. Mfg., Inc. (CA FC) 800 F2d 250, 231 USPQ 64) and (disapproved on other grounds by Crawford Fitting Co. v J. T. Gibbons, Inc., 482 US 437, 96 L Ed 2d 385, 107 S Ct 2494, 43 BNA FEP Cas 1775, 43 CCH EPD ¶ 37102, 1987-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67596, 7 FR Serv 3d 1161) as stated in Goodwall Constr. Co. v Beers Constr. Co. (ND Ga) 824 F Supp 1044, 26 USPQ2d 1401, affd in part and revd in part, remanded on other grounds (CA FC) 991 F2d 751, 26 USPQ2d 1420, reh, en banc, den (CA FC) 1993 US App LEXIS 16231.

Footnote 29. State v Bragg (Me) 516 A2d 556.

Footnote 30. State v Williams (App) 141 Ariz 127, 685 P2d 764.

Footnote 31. State v Munguia (App) 137 Ariz 69, 668 P2d 912.

Footnote 32. State v Wadsworth (Fla) 210 So 2d 4.

Testimony that it was decedent's habit to chain-smoke while drinking and that he had often passed out under such circumstances while holding a lighted cigarette was admissible in suit alleging negligence on the part of the decedent in starting a fire. Sams v Gay, 161 Ga App 31, 288 SE2d 822.

Footnote 33. 24 Am Jur 2d, Divorce and Separation §§ 373, 388.

Footnote 34. Stouffer v State (Okla Crim) 738 P2d 1349, mod, in part, reh den, in part (Okla Crim) 742 P2d 562 and cert den 484 US 1036, 98 L Ed 2d 779, 108 S Ct 763, post-conviction proceeding (Okla Crim) 817 P2d 1275, motion gr (US) 117 L Ed 2d 402, 112 S Ct 1153 and cert den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 217, 112 S Ct 1573 (ex-wife's knowledge of victim's drinking habits excluded where she had not lived with victim for 15 months).

§ 398 Criminal conduct

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

A habit of committing a particular crime is not admissible on the ground that evidence of such habits is identical to the kind of character evidence that is a target of and excluded by FRE Rule 404. 35 But there appears to be a conflict on the question whether violence against other persons may be viewed as habitual, with some courts concluding that it can be, 36 while other conclude that it cannot. 37

Evidence of a pattern of child sex abuse has been held admissible under Rule 406, 38 as has evidence of father's excessive discipline of his foster daughter, 39 and a landlord's repeated sexual harassment of female tenants. 40

Carrying a knife or a gun has been held a habit under Rule 406, 41 but a man's conduct of beating women companions has been held not a habit or routine practice so as to be admissible under Rule 406. 42

Evidence admissible to show habit includes evidence of a defendant's failure to timely file tax returns for a number of years subsequent to the years involved in a prosecution for failure to file tax returns. 43

§ 398 ----Criminal conduct [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence of witness' pattern of drug use, with effect of undermining witness' memory, is admissible, regardless of whether witness was using drugs at time of events testified to. State v Peckham (1994) 255 Kan 310, 875 P2d 257.

Footnotes

Footnote 35. United States v Mascio (CA7 Ill) 774 F2d 219, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1349.

As to the distinctions between habit and character evidence, see § 391.

Footnote 36. Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564 (civil rights suit alleging wrongful death arising out of attempt by police officers to investigate automobile accident; evidence that decedent had been involved in eight prior violent encounters with law enforcement officers was admissible).

Footnote 37. United States v Holman (CA11 Fla) 680 F2d 1340, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 209, reh den (CA11 Fla) 691 F2d 512; State v Gardner (App) 91 NM 302, 573 P2d 236, cert den 91 NM 249, 572 P2d 1257.

Footnote 38. Soper v State (Alaska App) 731 P2d 587 (prosecution of father for sexual abuse of his youngest daughter, where the court ruled admissible, as "a striking pattern of behavior" that seems to occupy the middle ground between evidence of character and habit, the father's seduction of two older daughters when they approached puberty, as he had seduced his youngest daughter).

Footnote 39. State v Murray, 228 Mont 125, 741 P2d 759 (prosecution for beating foster daughter to death).

Footnote 40. Chomicki v Wittekind (App) 128 Wis 2d 188, 381 NW2d 561.

Footnote 41. State v Platz, 33 Wash App 345, 655 P2d 710, review den 99 Wash 2d 1012.

But see State v Williams (App) 141 Ariz 127, 685 P2d 764, holding that evidence of a homicide victim's prior armed assaults, offered to show that it was the victim's consistent habit to carry a gun when intoxicated, was properly excluded since this was inadmissible character evidence rather than admissible habit evidence.

Footnote 42. State v Gardner (App) 91 NM 302, 573 P2d 236, cert den 91 NM 249, 572 P2d 1257.

Footnote 43. United States v Luttrell (CA8 Ark) 612 F2d 396, 80-1 USTC ¶ 9150, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 582, 45 AFTR 2d 80-555.

§ 399 Business and professional routines, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Many business and professional practices have been held to be routine practices under Uniform Rule 406 so as to make admissible evidence of such practices. 44 Among them are a storekeeper's habits and routines, 45 office procedures such as processing and mailing securities transactions confirmations, 46 and releasing only authorized documents. 47 Evidence that an employer's office manager, in briefing new sales representatives, did not explain the company's policy of nonentitlement to commissions after termination, has been held admissible as evidence of a routine practice under Rule 406, 48 as has evidence that insurance company waived certain conditions but then asserted them by way of defense. 49

Evidence that a newspaper reporter consistently obtained the correct spelling of names at the beginning of an interview has been admitted, 50 as has evidence that a liquor licensee engaged in a routine practice of serving alcoholic beverages to inebriated persons. 51

Under the federal rules, evidence recognized as relevant routine practice includes:

- Evidence of past wildcat strikes in the coal industry, on the question of damages against a union for breach of contract 52
- Evidence of routine sanitation procedures in a food processing plant 53
- Evidence to establish a routine process on the part of an employer which used nonunion employees, of paying off union officials for the sake of expediency and not out of fear as probative that the conduct of the employer on a particular occasion was in conformity therewith 54
- Evidence of discrimination which predated a federal civil rights statute, 55 or occurred prior to the period of time for which relief is available under the statute of limitations, 56 since it supports the inference that the discrimination continued, particularly where there had been little change in the decisionmaking process
- Evidence of arrest records of other department stores recording the race of arrestees, since it was relevant evidence which provided an alternative explanation for recording the race of arrestees, viz., that the department store was merely following industry custom, and served to rebut plaintiff's attempt to have the jury infer that maintenance of records of race of arrestees showed that the store discriminated against minorities 57
- Evidence of asking employees to take polygraph examinations 58

On the other hand, in an action against a company and its treasurer, evidence that the treasurer had guaranteed a contract between the company and another on one prior occasion was not relevant as evidence of habit, 59 nor was evidence admissible to show that, on a few occasions, a lawyer did not explain his fees to clients during the client's first interview. 60

§ 399 ----Business and professional routines, generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In action against drug company to recover for personal and professional injuries physician suffered when his patient had adverse reaction to drug he had prescribed, that is, theophylline, alleging that drug company had failed to warn him of risks associated with theophylline, trial court did not err in excluding testimony of drug company's sales representative, offered pursuant to Rule of Evidence 406, that it was his habit to discuss dangers of theophylline and particular study that included information about risks of theophylline when he visited physicians, and that, therefore, he must discuss those risks with physician. Although sales representative's notes indicated that physician was "Impressed with Furukawa study . . .," he also stated there was merely "some reference" in that study to viral illnesses and problems with theophylline toxicity, and he admitted he did not have copy of study to give to physician at that time. Accordingly, trial court did not abuse its discretion in holding that sales representative's conduct did not reach level of habit. Washington State Physicians Ins. Exch. & Ass'n v Fisons Corp. (1993) 122 Wash 2d 299, 858 P2d 1054, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 13675.

Insurance adjuster's testimony regarding his procedures when presented with double claim (insurer covering both parties to dispute) was admissible as habit evidence under Rule 406. Heigis v Cepeda (1993) 71 Wash App 626, 862 P2d 129, amd (Wash App) 1993 Wash App LEXIS 410.

Footnotes

Footnote 44. Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Footnote 45. Brewer v State, 271 Ark 254, 608 SW2d 363.

Footnote 46. Swink & Co. v Carroll McEntee & McGinley, Inc., 266 Ark 279, 584 SW2d 393, 27 UCCRS 239.

Footnote 47. Oberly v Howard Hughes Medical Inst. (Del Ch) 472 A2d 366 (criticized on other grounds by Staats v Lawrence (Del Super) 1990 Del Super LEXIS 365).

Footnote 48. Micke v Jack Walters & Sons Corp., 70 Wis 2d 388, 234 NW2d 347.

Footnote 49. Rosenburg v Lincoln American Life Ins. Co. (CA7 Ill) 883 F2d 1328, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980, 14 FR Serv 3d 682 (where agents were "trained" to give oral assertions that coverage was effective immediately despite written conditions to the contrary).

Footnote 50. Boswell v Phoenix Newspapers, Inc. (App) 152 Ariz 1, 730 P2d 178, approved as supplemented, en banc 152 Ariz 9, 730 P2d 186, 13 Media L R 1785, cert den 481 US 1029, 95 L Ed 2d 527, 107 S Ct 1954 and (criticized on other grounds by Bryant v Continental Conveyor & Equip. Co., 156 Ariz 193, 751 P2d 509, 2 Ariz Adv Rep 8, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 11683) as stated in Estate of Hernandez by Hernandez-Wheeler v Arizona Bd. of Regents (App) 172 Ariz 522, 838 P2d 1283, 101 Ariz Adv Rep 87, vacated, remanded on other grounds (Ariz) 156 Ariz Adv Rep 43.

Footnote 51. Tommy's Elbow Room, Inc. v Kavorkian (Alaska) 727 P2d 1038.

Footnote 52. United States Steel Corp. v United Mine Workers (CA5 Ala) 519 F2d 1249, 90 BNA LRRM 2548, 77 CCH LC ¶ 11088, reh den (CA5 Ala) 526 F2d 377, 91 BNA LRRM 2306, 78 CCH LC ¶ 11330.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 53. United States v General Foods Corp. (ND NY) 446 F Supp 740, affd without op (CA2 NY) 591 F2d 1332.

Footnote 54. United States v Callahan (CA6 Ohio) 551 F2d 733, 94 BNA LRRM 3248, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13130, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 881, appeal after remand (CA6 Ohio) 579 F2d 398.

Footnote 55. Williams v Anderson (CA8 Ark) 562 F2d 1081, 17 BNA FEP Cas 1772, 14 CCH EPD ¶ 7812, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 724, at footnote 7.

Footnote 56. Donnell v General Motors Corp. (CA8 Mo) 576 F2d 1292, 17 BNA FEP Cas 712, 16 CCH EPD ¶ 8315, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 118, on remand (ED Mo) 500 F Supp 176, 24 BNA FEP Cas 278, 25 CCH EPD ¶ 31582, affd without op (CA8 Mo) 676 F2d 705, 28 BNA FEP Cas 1818, 30 CCH EPD ¶ 33034 and affd without op (CA8 Mo) 676 F2d 705, 28 BNA FEP Cas 1818, 30 CCH EPD ¶ 33034 and affd without op (CA8 Mo) 676 F2d 705, 28 BNA FEP Cas 1818, 30 CCH EPD ¶ 33034, cert den 459 US 844, 74 L Ed 2d 88, 103 S Ct 97, 29 BNA FEP Cas 1560, 30 CCH EPD ¶ 33097, later proceeding (ED Mo) 665 F Supp 748, 44 BNA FEP Cas 691, affd without op (CA8 Mo) 873 F2d 1445, 50 BNA FEP Cas 152, cert den 493 US 838, 107 L Ed 2d 82, 110 S Ct 120 (Title VII case).

Footnote 57. Rojas v Alexander's Dept. Store, Inc. (CA2 NY) 924 F2d 406, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 627, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 30, 112 S Ct 52, reh den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 644, 112 S Ct 622 (Hispanic customer's 42 USCS § 1983 action against department store for arrest without probable cause).

Footnote 58. O'Brien v Papa Gino's of America, Inc. (CA1 NH) 780 F2d 1067, 1 BNA IER Cas 458, 121 BNA LRRM 2321, 39 CCH EPD ¶ 36034, 104 CCH LC ¶ 55547, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 448.

Footnote 59. Utility Control Corp. v Prince William Constr. Co. (CA4 Va) 558 F2d 716, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 123, 23 FR Serv 2d 910.

Footnote 60. Cannell v Rhodes (Cuyahoga Co) 31 Ohio App 3d 183, 31 Ohio BR 349, 509 NE2d 963.

§ 400 Routine or habit of health providers

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Evidence of the regular procedures of a health provider have been admitted into evidence on the ground that they constitute either the habit of an individual or the routine practice of a medical or similar office. Thus evidence has been admitted to show that a doctor or other provider consistently presented information to patients about the risks associated with certain procedures, 61 and that a physician had a pattern of referring patients to other doctors. 62 Also admissible is evidence of how blood samples were regularly processed in a medical examiner's office and laboratory, 63 and how hospital patients are admitted. 64

On the other hand, emphasizing that habit refers to a type of nonvolitional activity that occurs with invariable regularity, it was held error to admit, as habit evidence, testimony indicating that a physician had prescribed steroids to other allergy patients representing the drugs to be antihistamines or decongestants. 65

The testimony of emergency room nurses concerning their customary procedures in examining patients is admissible as circumstantial evidence of fixed and uniform habits, 66 but nurses' testimony regarding a physician's alleged proclivity to extubate patients prematurely was not admissible to show that the physician had a habit of prematurely extubating patients. 67 Nor could a nurse's testimony regarding the usual procedure followed by a physician when using a particular anesthetic be admitted where the doctor's usual procedure may have been different from the procedure used in the instant case. 68

Footnotes

Footnote 61. Meyer v United States (CA10 Colo) 638 F2d 155, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 980 (risk of extracting impacted wisdom tooth); Bloskas v Murray (Colo) 646 P2d 907, 42 ALR4th 527 (risk of infection and loosening of implanted devices); Reaves v Mandell, 209 NJ Super 465, 507 A2d 807 (risks associated with a hysterectomy where physician had developed a routine over a period of 15 years and had performed approximately 1,000 hysterectomies); Rigie v Goldman (2d Dept) 148 App Div 2d 23, 543 NYS2d 983 (risk of extracting impacted wisdom tooth explained by dentist before patient signed consent form).

Evidence that other university physicians routinely followed the practice of explaining the experimental nature of the DES study and securing the maternity patient's consent before proceeding with the study was admissible to prove the two treating physicians acted in conformity with that routine practice before exposing plaintiff-mothers to DES. Wetherill v University of Chicago (ND Ill) 570 F Supp 1124, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 768.

See Re Swine Flu Immunization Products Liability Litigation (DC Colo) 533 F Supp 567 (disapproved on other grounds by Unthank v United States (CA10 Utah) 732 F2d 1517), where evidence was admitted to establish the routine practice of a county health department to give each person being vaccinated a consent form and information concerning the vaccine to show that on the day the plaintiff received the vaccine, the health center acted in conformity with custom in advising the plaintiff of the potential adverse affects of the vaccine.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Propriety, in medical malpractice case, of admitting testimony regarding physician's usual custom or habit in order to establish nonliability, 10 ALR4th 1243.

Footnote 62. Hake v DeLane, 117 Idaho 1058, 793 P2d 1230.

Footnote 63. Zyskowski v Habelmann, 150 Mich App 230, 388 NW2d 315, app gr, in part, app den, in part 426 Mich 865, vacated on other grounds 429 Mich 873, 414 NW2d 886, amd 1987 A Mich 12 and on remand 169 Mich App 98, 425 NW2d 711, later proceeding (Mich) 1989 Mich LEXIS 474 and app den 436 Mich 865.

Footnote 64. McKinstry v Valley Obstetrics-Gynecology Clinic, P.C., 428 Mich 167, 405 NW2d 88.

Footnote 65. Weil v Seltzer, 277 US App DC 196, 873 F2d 1453, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 180 (wrongful death action based on a claim that physician had prescribed steroids for plaintiff while telling him that they were antihistamines).

Footnote 66. Thomas v Newnan Hospital, 185 Ga App 764, 365 SE2d 859.

Footnote 67. Fincke v Peeples (Fla App D4) 476 So 2d 1319, 10 FLW 2173, review den (Fla) 486 So 2d 596 and review den (Fla) 486 So 2d 598 (holding such testimony to amount to opinions rather than facts).

Footnote 68. Vuletich v Bolgla (1st Dist) 85 Ill App 3d 810, 41 Ill Dec 68, 407 NE2d 566, 10 ALR4th 1233.

Annotation: Propriety, in medical malpractice case, of admitting testimony regarding physician's usual custom or habit in order to establish nonliability, 10 ALR4th 1243.

§ 401 Routine of law enforcement agencies

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Police routines have been held provable under Rule 406, including how an officer issued parking tickets, 69 and how an undercover police officer handled drugs received in a drug buy. 70

Evidence of routine procedures in an immigration office was admissible to show that an alien had received a particular notice required by law, 71 or that a warrant was properly served. 72

Footnotes

Footnote 69. State v Bloss, 3 Hawaii App 274, 649 P2d 1176.

Footnote 70. State v Van Sickle (Me) 434 A2d 31.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567.

Footnote 71. United States v Floulis (WD Pa) 457 F Supp 1350.

Footnote 72. United States v Quezada (CA5 Tex) 754 F2d 1190, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 659, reh den, en banc (CA5 Tex) 758 F2d 651.

c. Proving Habit or Routine [402, 403]

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

The Federal Rules contains no specific provision regarding proof of habit or routine. The Advisory Committee stated that permissible methods of proving habit or routine conduct include opinion and specific instances sufficient in number to warrant a finding that the habit or routine practice in fact existed. 73 The Uniform Rules of Evidence specifically contain a proposed provision that "Habit or routine practice may be proved by testimony in the form of an opinion or by specific instances of conduct sufficient in number to warrant a finding that the habit existed or that the practice was routine." 74 However, this provision has been adopted in only a few states; most states, in adopting the Uniform Rules, purposefully omitted this provision. 75

Absent such a provision, it has been held that the method of proof of habit or routine practice should be left to the courts on a case-by-case basis. 76 Testimony about the habit or routine practice may be given by the person with the habit or who followed the routine practice. 77 If the individual has no recollection of the particular incident in suit, he may still testify as to his or her habit or routine practice. 78 While it has been said that testimony may be given by another person, but only if the person testifying about the habit or routine practice has personal knowledge of it, 79 it has also been held that FRE Rule 406 does not limit proof of specific instances to testimony by witnesses with personal knowledge; 80 it also permits resort to circumstantial evidence, documents, or even opinion testimony. 81

◆ Comment: Opinion evidence must be rationally based on the perception of the witness and helpful under the provisions of FRE Rule 701. 82

◆ Practice guide: The burden of establishing the habitual nature of the evidence rests on the proponent of the evidence; admissibility of habit evidence under Rule 406 does not hinge on the ability of a party seeking exclusion of evidence to disprove habitual character of evidence. 83

The question whether conduct is a habit or routine practice is a question for the court, 84 to be decided out of the jury's presence where the proffered evidence of habit or routine practice is highly prejudicial, 85 and the decision as to admissibility is a matter resting within the trial court's discretion. 86 Once admitted, evidence of habit or routine is to be weighed and considered by the trier of facts in the same manner as any other type of direct or circumstantial evidence. 87

◆ Caution: Even if the habit or routine practice evidence is properly offered, it must not be objectionable on other grounds, such as that its probative value is substantially outweighed 88 by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence. 89

Footnotes

Footnote 73. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Practice References Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 156.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of habit or routine practice under Rule 406, Federal Rules of Evidence, 53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 74. Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 406(b).

Footnote 75. See 13A Uniform Laws Annotated, Rules of Evidence, Notes to Rule 406.

Footnote 76. Oberly v Howard Hughes Medical Inst. (Del Ch) 472 A2d 366 (criticized on other grounds by Staats v Lawrence (Del Super) 1990 Del Super LEXIS 365); Bolan v Adams (Geauga Co) 19 Ohio App 3d 206, 19 Ohio BR 349, 483 NE2d 1187, motion overr.

Annotation: Habit or routine practice evidence under Uniform Evidence Rule 406, 64 ALR4th 567 § 22.

Practice References Methods of proof. 7 Am Jur POF3d 523, Habit of Person § 4.

Footnote 77. Oberly v Howard Hughes Medical Inst. (Del Ch) 472 A2d 366 (criticized on other grounds by Staats v Lawrence (Del Super) 1990 Del Super LEXIS 365).

Footnote 78. Charmley v Lewis, 302 Or 324, 729 P2d 567, 64 ALR4th 549.

Footnote 79. Eig v Insurance Co. of North America (Fla App D3) 447 So 2d 377; Laszko v Cooper Laboratories, Inc., 114 Mich App 253, 318 NW2d 639; Weisenberger v Senger (ND) 381 NW2d 187; Bolan v Adams (Geauga Co) 19 Ohio App 3d 206, 19 Ohio BR 349, 483 NE2d 1187, motion overr.

Annotation: 64 ALR4th 567 § 24[b].

Footnote 80. Wetherill v University of Chicago (ND Ill) 570 F Supp 1124, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 768.

Footnote 81. Wetherill v University of Chicago (ND Ill) 570 F Supp 1124, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 768 (university could substantiate doctors' routine adherence to protocol requiring patient's consent before participation in research through documentary evidence).

Footnote 82. Advisory Committee Notes to Federal Rules of Evidence, FRE Rule 406.

Footnote 83. Weil v Seltzer, 277 US App DC 196, 873 F2d 1453, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 180.

Footnote 84. Oberly v Howard Hughes Medical Inst. (Del Ch) 472 A2d 366 (criticized by Staats v Lawrence (Del Super) 1990 Del Super LEXIS 365).

Footnote 85. R. v Sullivan (Alaska) 631 P2d 91.

Footnote 86. Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243; State v Mary (Iowa) 368 NW2d 166, appeal after remand (Iowa App) 401 NW2d 239; Weisenberger v Senger (ND) 381 NW2d 187; Cannell v Rhodes (Cuyahoga Co) 31 Ohio App 3d 183, 31 Ohio BR 349, 509 NE2d 963; Norris v State, 46 Wash App 822, 733 P2d 231.

Annotation: 64 ALR4th 567 § 23[c].

53 ALR Fed 703.

Footnote 87. Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Rule 406 does not purport to assign a particular weight to the evidence it would admit. Paulsen Lumber, Inc. v Anderson, 91 Wis 2d 692, 283 NW2d 580.

Footnote 88. See §§ 324 et seq. as to circumstances under which probative value is substantially outweighed.

Footnote 89. Ohlson v Kent Nowlin Constr. Co. (App) 99 NM 539, 660 P2d 1021, cert den 99 NM 477, 660 P2d 119; Weisenberger v Senger (ND) 381 NW2d 187.

§ 403 Sufficiency of proof

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Only when the examples offered to establish the pattern of conduct are numerous enough to base an inference of systematic conduct and to establish a regular response to a repeated specific situation are they admissible to establish pattern or habit; 90 and, although a precise formula cannot be proposed for determining when behavior may become so consistent as to rise to the level of habit or routine, adequacy of sampling and uniformity of response are controlling considerations. 91 In a non-Rule state, it was held that in order to justify introduction of evidence of habit or regular usage, a party must be able to show on voir dire to the satisfaction of the trial judge that he expects to prove a sufficient number of instances of the conduct in question. 92

◆ Practice guide: Where an employee testifies as to the conduct of the employer on a particular occasion, on cross-examination counsel should be allowed to elicit information on any past occurrences in which the witness has been involved in similar circumstances; such evidence might well establish a routine practice on the part of the employer. 93

Footnotes

Footnote 90. Wilson v Volkswagen of America, Inc. (CA4 Va) 561 F2d 494, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 697, 23 FR Serv 2d 1534, cert den 434 US 1020, 54 L Ed 2d 768, 98 S Ct 744 and on remand (ED Va) 445 F Supp 1368; Mathes v The Clipper Fleet (CA9 Cal) 774 F2d 980, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 577.

Evidence that 3 or 4 times over 20 years, the NFL disregarded antitrust advice was properly excluded as being hardly sufficient to prove a pattern of behavior which might amount to habit under Rule 406. United States Football League v National Football League (CA2 NY) 842 F2d 1335, 1988-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67930, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 182, later proceeding (SD NY) 704 F Supp 474, 1989-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 68407, affd (CA2 NY) 887 F2d 408, 1989-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 68810, later proceeding (SD NY) 1990-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 68891 and cert den 493 US 1071, 107 L Ed 2d 1022, 110 S Ct 1116.

In a suit by a supplier against a purchaser alleging anticipatory and actual breach of various contracts, evidence regarding other contracts involving the supplier was properly excluded where there had been the mere conclusory assertion that numerous examples of other instances of lateness and defective performance on similar contracts existed, since no allegation of any specific, repetitive conduct that might approach evidence of habit was presented. Simplex, Inc. v Diversified Energy Systems, Inc. (CA7 Ill) 847 F2d 1290, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1133.

Four instances of conduct while intoxicated over a period of eight years during which time defendant, by his own assertion, was frequently drunk was insufficient to establish habit. United States v Pinto (CA10 NM) 755 F2d 150, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 690.

In a personal injury action brought by a plaintiff who suffered an eye injury when, during a racketball match, he was struck by a ball hit by defendant, evidence that defendant had lost his temper in 2 or 3 previous games was not admissible; to prove habit, plaintiff needed to show that defendant's specific response to the repeated situation of falling behind or losing important racketball points was to strike balls no longer in play, or otherwise to play outside rules so as to endanger his opponents. Lapierre v Sawyer, 131 NH 609, 557 A2d 640.

Footnote 91. Reyes v Missouri P. R. Co. (CA5 Tex) 589 F2d 791, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 864; Perrin v Anderson (CA10 Okla) 784 F2d 1040, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1564; Loughan v Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (CA11 Fla) 749 F2d 1519, CCH Prod Liab Rep ¶ 10311, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 141, 40 FR Serv 2d 1243.

Footnote 92. Halloran v Virginia Chemicals, Inc., 41 NY2d 386, 393 NYS2d 341, 361 NE2d 991.

Footnote 93. United States v Callahan (CA6 Ohio) 551 F2d 733, 94 BNA LRRM 3248, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13130, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 881, appeal after remand (CA6 Ohio) 579 F2d 398.

3. Evidence of Other Crimes, Wrongs or Acts (Rule 404(b)) [404-462]

a. General Rules [404-412]

§ 404 Admissibility and exclusion, generally

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

The Rules provide that while evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts is not admissible to prove the character of a person in order to show that the person acted in conformity therewith, such evidence may be admissible for other purposes, 94 such as proof of motive, opportunity, intent, preparation, plan, knowledge, identity, or absence of mistake or accident, 95 provided that upon request by the accused, the prosecution in a criminal case must provide reasonable notice in advance of trial, or during trial if the court excuses pretrial notice on good cause shown, of the general nature of any such evidence it intends to introduce at trial. 96

Although the language of the Rule appears to be primarily exclusionary, the federal courts, in view of the frequent use of evidence of other acts and crimes, generally regard Rule 404(b) as a rule of inclusion, 97 which admits evidence of other crimes or acts relevant 98 to a trial issue except where such evidence tends to prove only criminal disposition or a propensity to commit criminal acts. 99 The rule is specifically exclusionary only as to evidence admitted to establish bad character as such; it unequivocally and very broadly sets out recognition of the admissibility of prior crimes for other purposes. 1

State courts, under the identically-worded Uniform Rule, also recognize the admissibility of such evidence, 2 with a similar limitation if the evidence tends to prove only disposition or bad character. 3

The exclusion of bad acts evidence is founded not on a belief that the evidence is irrelevant but rather on a fear that the jury will tend to give it excessive weight and on a fundamental sense that no one should be convicted of a crime based on his or her previous misdeeds. Juries treat prior convictions as highly probative, and such reliance by the trier of fact offends the longstanding tradition that protects a criminal defendant from guilt by reputation and from unnecessary prejudice. Evidence of a prior crime diverts the attention of the jury from the question of the defendant's responsibility for the crime charged to the improper issue of his bad character. 4

◆ Observation: It has been stated that the true problem in administering the inclusionary principle is not to find a pigeonhole in which the proof might fit, but to determine whether the prior act tends to prove something other than propensity and, if so, to determine whether its particular relevancy outweighs the risk of prejudice—that is, that the jury will either draw the forbidden and deadly 3-step inference (from bad act to bad person, to guilt) or give way to an unthinking and emotional impulse to punish. 5

§ 404 ----Admissibility and exclusion, generally [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Some thoughts on the sexual misconduct amendments to the Federal Rules of Evidence, 22 Fordham Urb LJ 2:355 (1995).

The new Federal Rules of Evidence on prior acts of accused sex offenders: A poorly drafted version of a very bad idea, 157 FRD 2:95 (1994).

Rules:

Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 413, added by Congress in 1994, provides that in a criminal case in which the defendant is accused of an offense of sexual assault, evidence of the defendant's commission of another offense or offenses of sexual assault is admissible and may be considered for its bearing on any matter to which it is relevant. The government must disclose its intention to offer such evidence, and disclose the evidence to the defendant as specified. (Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 414), provides similar provisions for child molestation prosecutions, and (Rule 415) provides for the admission of evidence of similar acts in civil cases concerning sexual assault or child molestation.

Case authorities:

In order to trigger government's responsibility to disclose Rule 404(b) evidence as precondition to its use at trial, defense at minimum must present timely request sufficiently clear and particular in objective sense to fairly alert prosecution that defense is invoking its specific right to pretrial notification of general nature of all Rule 404(b) evidence prosecution intends to introduce at trial; overbroad pretrial request, e.g., for all confessions, admissions, and statements that in any way exculpate, inculpate, or refer to defendant, is insufficiently specific, if not misleading. United States v Tuesta-Toro (1994, CA1 Puerto Rico) 29 F3d 771.

Defendant was not entitled to notice of specifics of prior bad acts, where government intended to use prior bad acts as evidence at trial, because under FRE 404(b) prosecution was only required to give notice of general nature of extrinsic acts to be introduced. United States v Richardson (1993, SD NY) 837 F Supp 570, motion den (SD NY) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 16904.

Drug conspiracy defendant's prior conviction for misprision of felony was properly admitted to prove preparation, knowledge of drug dealing, and absence of mistake or accident regarding present drug conspiracy since, although defendant pled guilty to misprision of felony, she was actually charged with conspiracy to distribute cocaine; therefore, conviction was connected to her involvement in that drug offense. United States v Francisco (1994, CA4 NC) 35 F3d 116.

Defendant's two prior convictions for possessing cocaine were highly relevant to issues of knowledge and intent, which were elements of constructive possession which was critical issue since drugs were found on defendant's companion. United States v Willis (1993, CA5 Tex) 6 F3d 257, reh, en banc, den (CA5 Tex) 1993 US App LEXIS 33419.

In prosecution of former Congressman on RICO charges, government was properly permitted to question defendant regarding his failure to report or pay taxes on certain income and his solicitation of unrelated bribe, despite not having first disclosed it to defense, since it was using evidence to impeach defendant; therefore, Rule 404(b) did not apply. United States v Bustamante (1995, CA5 Tex) 45 F3d 933, reh, en banc, den (1995, CA5 Tex) 1995 US App LEXIS 9594.

Defendant's prior conviction for food stamp fraud was admissible since, at minimum, it provided motive for setting up sham sale of his business to obtain its authorization to participate in food stamp program, which formed basis of charges against him. United States v Hebeke (1994, CA6 Ohio) 25 F3d 287.

Defendant's four prior felony convictions for aggravated battery, robbery, and attempted robbery were admissible to impeach him in prosecution for being felon in possession of firearm given centrality of credibility issue; prior felony need not have involved "inherent dishonesty" to be probative and admissible under rule. United States v Nururdin (1993, CA7 Ill) 8 F3d 1187, cert den (US) slip op.

District court did not abuse its discretion in permitting evidence of defendant's prior conviction for being felon in possession of firearm for impeachment purposes since defendant in his first trial contradicted almost all of police officers' testimony so court determined his credibility would be important in second trial as well, conviction occurred less than six months before second trial, defendant did not need to testify since several other witnesses reiterated his testimony, and court limited government's use of conviction to fact and date. United States v Causey (1993, CA7 Ill) 9 F3d 1341, petition for certiorari filed (Feb 22, 1994).

Court would join Second and Ninth Circuits in holding that other crimes evidence may not be introduced when defense is that defendant did not do act since intent, to which evidence might be probative, is not placed in issue. United States v Jenkins (1993, CA8 SD) 7 F3d 803, 38 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1994 US App LEXIS 71.

In prosecution for wire and mail fraud arising out of false insurance claim scheme, evidence of farm truck found with parts and license plate of truck that defendant had reported stolen was not other acts evidence, but direct evidence of crime charged. United States v Ballew (1994, CA8 Mo) 40 F3d 936, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA8 Mo) 1994 US App LEXIS 36526.

Defendant's constitutional right to present defense in his prosecution for assault was not violated by exclusion of evidence of victim's prior conduct in order to prove self- defense where defendant had opportunity to argue self- defense and cross-examine victim and bring out facts showing victim's propensity for violence. United States v Talamante (1992, CA10 NM) 981 F2d 1153, petition for certiorari filed (Mar 17, 1993).

Evidence of December drug transaction was properly admitted as part of conspiracy charged as running from December through January 10, and not as other acts evidence. United States v DeLuna (1993, CA10 Colo) 10 F3d 1529.

District court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence of bank robbery defendant's prior convictions for robbery and burglary to attack his credibility given defendant's duress defense and importance of his credibility. United States v Smith (1993, CA10 Okla) 10 F3d 724.

Accused cocaine distributor's motion to exclude evidence of prior conviction for aggravated assault is granted, where distributor denies involvement in crack distribution, distributor's credibility is directly at issue, distributor is accused of using gun in distribution scheme, prior conviction involved assault with knife, prior assault is 9 years old, and prior conviction is 8 years old, because prior conviction deals with crime of violence, not crime of deception, and therefore has little bearing on distributor's credibility, and prejudicial effect outweighs its credibility value. United States v Grove (1994, DC Utah) 844 F Supp 1495.

Evidence of other "land flip" transactions in which defendants were involved were intrinsic to charges of conducting continuing scheme to defraud, characterized by land flip transactions, inflated appraisals, buyer- rebates, and fraudulent loan applications, hence not subject to Rule 404(b) analysis. United States v Muscatell (1995, CA11 Fla) 42 F3d 627.

Trial court in homicide prosecution properly admitted evidence of defendant's affiliation with street gang where (1) such evidence established that defendant and victims had been members of rival gangs, (2) gang of which defendant had been member considered certain park to be its "territory," and (3) victims had been shot in that park. People v Sandoval (1992) 4 Cal 4th 155, 14 Cal Rptr 2d 342, 841 P2d 862, 92 CDOS 10012, 92 Daily Journal DAR 16700, mod 4 Cal 4th 928a, 93 CDOS 1031 and reh den (Feb 10, 1993) and petition for certiorari filed (Jun 10, 1993).

In prosecution for child molestation and sodomy, evidence of defendant's prior plea of guilty to charge of child molestation in Indiana would be admissible as evidence of similar transaction, pursuant to special exception applicable to sexual abuse of young children, provided sufficient showing was made to establish defendant's identity as perpetrator of prior offense, and sufficient similarity between two acts so that proof of one would tend to prove the other. Adams v State (1993) 208 Ga App 29, 430 SE2d 35, 93 Fulton County D R 923, cert den (Ga) 1993 Ga LEXIS 599.

The trial court did not err in a prosecution for attempted rape and first-degree murder by admitting evidence of another rape to which defendant pled guilty, where the similarity between the two crimes, closely connected temporally, clearly supports the admission of the other rape to prove identity and intent. N.C.G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). State v Carter (1994) 338 NC 569, 451 SE2d 157.

There was no plain error in a first- degree murder prosecution where the trial court allowed the prosecution to present the testimony of the victim of a prior robbery when defendant had already admitted committing the robbery during his testimony and had indicated a willingness to stipulate the existence of the robbery conviction. State v Buckner (1995) 342 NC 198, 464 SE2d 414.

The trial court in a first-degree rape and second-degree kidnapping case did not err in admitting evidence that one month prior to the alleged rape, defendant failed to return the victim's car, stole some money, broke into her home, and was arrested, since the evidence was admissible to show the chain of events and the termination of the relationship. State v Jenkins (1994) 115 NC App 520, 445 SE2d 622, stay gr 336 NC 784, 447 SE2d 435 and review den (NC) 1994 NC LEXIS 604.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence regarding defendant's prior acts in engaging in excessive conduct with other co-employees and his reputation created thereby in an action for damages from an injury suffered during a movie stunt where plaintiff alleged willful and wanton, negligent and reckless conduct by defendant. The evidence was probative of defendant's motive, intent and the absence of mistake and was admissible under N.C.G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). Pinckney v Van Damme (1994) 116 NC App 139, 447 SE2d 825.

An officer's testimony that a defendant charged with drug offenses had fled from him on an earlier occasion was not evidence of other crimes, wrongs or acts within the purview of GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). Even if defendant's flight from the officer was a prior bad act under Rule 404(b), this testimony was admissible to show that the officer was able to identify defendant. State v Taylor (1995) 117 NC App 644, 453 SE2d 225.

Evidence of other crimes is inadmissible to prove character of person in order to show that he acted in conformity therewith, but if evidence of other crimes is substantially relevant to some other purpose, and is offered for that purpose, it is admissible (Stats § 904.04(2)). State v Anderson (1993, App) 176 Wis 2d 196, 500 NW2d 328.

Footnotes

Footnote 94. The list of "other purposes" for which such evidence may be admissible is not exhaustive. See § 418.

Footnote 95. FRE Rule 404(b); Uniform Rules of Evidence, Rule 404(b).

Purposes listed in FRE Rule 404(b) for which evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts may be admissible are discussed in §§ 435 et seq.

Law Reviews: Reed, Admission of Other Criminal Act Evidence After Adoption of the Federal Rules of Evidence. 53 U Cin LR 113 (1984).

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts under Rule 404(b) of Federal Rules of Evidence, in civil cases, 64 ALR Fed 648.

Practice References Defending minor felony cases. 13 Am Jur Trials 465.

Forms: Allegation–Error of law–In refusing to allow introduction of relevant evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3623.

Allegation–Error of law–In admitting inadmissible evidence. 1A Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Actions in District Court § 1:3624.

Motion–To exclude evidence of prior conviction–Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion–To exclude evidence of other crimes–Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 96. For a discussion of this notice provision, see § 459.

Footnote 97. United States v Castiello (CA1 Mass) 915 F2d 1, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 413, cert den 498 US 1068, 112 L Ed 2d 849, 111 S Ct 787; Ismail v Cohen (CA2 NY) 899 F2d 183, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1414, costs/fees proceeding (SD NY) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 14919; United States v Halper (CA2 NY) 590 F2d 422, 79-1 USTC ¶ 9127, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1639, 42 AFTR 2d 78-6371; United States v Scarfo (CA3 Pa) 850 F2d 1015, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 30, 93 ALR Fed 111, cert den 488 US 910, 102 L Ed 2d 251, 109 S Ct 263; United States v Shaw (CA5 Miss) 701 F2d 367, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1566, reh den (CA5 Miss) 714 F2d 544, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 130, cert den 465 US 1067, 79 L Ed 2d 744, 104 S Ct 1419 and (among conflicting authorities noted in Murphy v Holland (CA4 W Va) 776 F2d 470) and (disapproved on other grounds by Greer v Miller, 483 US 756, 97 L Ed 2d 618, 107 S Ct 3102) as stated in United States v Stubbs (CA11 Fla) 944 F2d 828, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294; United States v Daniels (CA6 Ohio) 948 F2d 1033, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 483, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 504, 112 S Ct 1279; United States v Acosta-Cazares (CA6 Ky) 878 F2d 945, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 154, cert den 493 US 899, 107 L Ed 2d 204, 110 S Ct 255, post-conviction proceeding (CA6) 1993 US App LEXIS 4992 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Torres-Medina (CA9 Cal) 935 F2d 1047, 91 CDOS 4355, 91 Daily Journal DAR 6671) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Dunnigan (CA4 W Va) 944 F2d 178); United States v Vance (CA6 Ky) 871 F2d 572, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 903, cert den 493 US 933, 107 L Ed 2d 313, 110 S Ct 323; United States v Blankenship (CA6 Ohio) 775 F2d 735, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 63; United States v Stringer (CA8 Mo) 902 F2d 1335, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 340; United States v Johnson (CA8 Mo) 892 F2d 707, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 746, reh den, en banc (CA8) 1990 US App LEXIS 2042; United States v Simon (CA8 Minn) 767 F2d 524, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 990, cert den 474 US 1013, 88 L Ed 2d 474, 106 S Ct 545; United States v Naranjo (CA10 Colo) 710 F2d 1465, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1260; United States v Cohen (CA11 Ga) 888 F2d 770, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 182.

The most striking aspect of Rule 404(b) is its inclusive rather than exclusionary nature; should the evidence prove relevant in any other way than to show propensity, it is admissible, subject only to the rarely invoked limitations of Rule 403. United States v Zeuli (CA1 Mass) 725 F2d 813, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1768.

◆ Observation: In United States v Tisdale (CA10 NM) 647 F2d 91, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1490, cert den 454 US 817, 70 L Ed 2d 86, 102 S Ct 95, the court commented that FRE Rule 404 introduced a significant change "from the starting position of exclusion 'unless' to admission 'unless.'"

◆ Comment: The discretionary word "may" used with respect to the admissibility of evidence of crimes, wrongs, or acts is not intended to confer any arbitrary discretion in the trial judge, but it is anticipated that with respect to permissible uses of such evidence, the trial judge may exclude it only on the basis of those considerations set forth in FRE Rule 403. Senate Judiciary Committee Report No. 93-1277 (1974) pp 24, 25.

Footnote 98. See United States v Hodges (CA9 Cal) 770 F2d 1475, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 364 (disapproved on other grounds by Richardson v United States, 468 US 317, 82 L Ed 2d 242, 104 S Ct 3081) as stated in United States v Anderson (CA7 Ill) 896 F2d 1076, reh den (CA7) 1990 US App LEXIS 11629, later proceeding (CA7 Ill) 972 F2d 351, reported in full (CA7 Ill) 1992 US App LEXIS 19245 and (criticized by United States v Sassi (CA7 Ill) 966 F2d 283), stating that although FRE Rule 404(b) creates a rule of inclusion, evidence of prior acts may not be introduced unless the government establishes its relevance to an actual issue in the case.

Evidence of criminal activity not charged is admissible if relevant to an issue of material fact but if irrelevant, its admission is presumed harmful error because of the danger that a jury will take the bad character or propensity toward crime thus demonstrated as evidence of guilt of the crime charged. Straight v State (Fla) 397 So 2d 903, cert den 454 US 1022, 70 L Ed 2d 418, 102 S Ct 556, reh den 454 US 1165, 71 L Ed 2d 323, 102 S Ct 1043, later proceeding (Fla) 422 So 2d 827, stay den (Fla) 491 So 2d 281 and later proceeding, stay den (Fla) 488 So 2d 530, 11 FLW 227, cert den 476 US 1130, 90 L Ed 2d 683, 106 S Ct 2003 and habeas corpus proceeding (CA11 Fla) 772 F2d 674, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 776 F2d 1057 and cert den 475 US 1099, 89 L Ed 2d 903, 106 S Ct 1502 and (criticized on other grounds by Hargrave v Dugger (CA11 Fla) 832 F2d 1528).

Footnote 99. United States v Boyd (CA3 Pa) 595 F2d 120, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1401; United States v Boykin (CA8 Mo) 679 F2d 1240, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1258 (disapproved on other grounds by Batson v Kentucky, 476 US 79, 90 L Ed 2d 69, 106 S Ct 1712); United States v Brown (CA9 Wash) 562 F2d 1144, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 741.

In prosecution for assaulting a flight attendant who was performing her duty as a crew member, court erred in admitting evidence of defendant's conviction for robbery under Rule 404(b) where evidence of prior conviction had no relevance to charges except to establish propensity to violence. United States v Cortijo-Diaz (CA1 Puerto Rico) 875 F2d 13, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 138.

Testimony of defendant's daughters, in prosecution for aggravated sexual abuse of children, that defendant had sexually abused them as children and impregnated one of them at age of 15, was inadmissible since testimony did not show unique method also present in charged offenses that tended to establish defendant as perpetrator and was relevant only insofar as it tended to show propensity to commit such acts. United States v Fawbush (CA8 SD) 900 F2d 150, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1281, appeal after remand (CA8 SD) 946 F2d 584, appeal after remand (CA8 SD) 978 F2d 1264, reported in full (CA8) 1992 US App LEXIS 29011.

Footnote 1. United States v Shaw (CA5 Miss) 701 F2d 367, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1566, reh den (CA5 Miss) 714 F2d 544, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 130, cert den 465 US 1067, 79 L Ed 2d 744, 104 S Ct 1419 and (among conflicting authorities noted in Murphy v Holland (CA4 W Va) 776 F2d 470) and (disapproved on other grounds by Greer v Miller, 483 US 756, 97 L Ed 2d 618, 107 S Ct 3102) as stated in United States v Stubbs (CA11 Fla) 944 F2d 828, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 294; United States v Waldron (CA10 Okla) 568 F2d 185, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 878, cert den 434 US 1080, 55 L Ed 2d 788, 98 S Ct 1276.

Footnote 2. State v Huey, 145 Ariz 59, 699 P2d 1290; Pierce v State (Me) 463 A2d 756; People v Engelman, 434 Mich 204, 453 NW2d 656; State v Black (Minn) 291 NW2d 208; State v Nielsen, 203 Neb 847, 280 NW2d 904, post-conviction proceeding 243 Neb 202, 498 NW2d 527; State v Bockman, 37 Wash App 474, 682 P2d 925, review den 102 Wash 2d 1002.

Footnote 3. Straight v State (Fla) 397 So 2d 903, cert den 454 US 1022, 70 L Ed 2d 418, 102 S Ct 556, reh den 454 US 1165, 71 L Ed 2d 323, 102 S Ct 1043, later proceeding (Fla) 422 So 2d 827, stay den (Fla) 491 So 2d 281 and later proceeding, stay den (Fla) 488 So 2d 530, 11 FLW 227, cert den 476 US 1130, 90 L Ed 2d 683, 106 S Ct 2003 and habeas corpus proceeding (CA11 Fla) 772 F2d 674, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 776 F2d 1057 and cert den 475 US 1099, 89 L Ed 2d 903, 106 S Ct 1502 and (criticized by Hargrave v Dugger (CA11 Fla) 832 F2d 1528); State v Clark (La) 338 So 2d 690 (in prosecution for the sale of illegal drugs, the admission of other drug transactions was reversible error where identity, intent, and guilty knowledge were not in issue and where the evidence merely put the defendant's bad character before the jury).

Footnote 4. United States v Daniels, 248 US App DC 198, 770 F2d 1111, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1113.

Generally, as to prejudice outweighing probative value, see § 419.

Footnote 5. Bradbury v Phillips Petroleum Co. (CA10 Colo) 815 F2d 1356, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1744, 94 OGR 73, quoting Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 140.

§ 405 --Common-law rule; non-Rule jurisdictions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

While it has been said that Rule 404(b) is consistent with the common-law rule, 6 the emphasis at common law, and in states that have not adopted the Rules, is somewhat different. Rather than emphasizing that the thrust of the "other crimes" rule is "inclusive," 7 it has been stressed that if there is any doubt whether such evidence is properly admissible, the evidence should be excluded. 8

It was said to be a well-established common-law rule that in a criminal prosecution proof which shows or tends to show that the accused is guilty of the commission of other crimes and offenses at other times, even though they are of the same nature as the one charged, is incompetent and inadmissible for the purpose of showing the commission of the particular crime charged. 9 The purpose of the common-law rule is to forbid and prevent the conviction of an accused for one crime by the use of evidence that he has committed other crimes, and to preclude the inference that because he had committed other crimes he was more liable to commit the crime for which he is indicted and being tried. 10 In other words, it is not competent to prove that the accused committed other crimes of a like nature, for the purpose of showing that he would be likely to commit the crime charged in the indictment, 11 for ordinarily such proof will not shed any light upon the crime with which he stands charged. 12

◆ Observation: This rule has been said to be one of the distinguishing features of our common-law jurisprudence, 13 differing from that prevailing in civil law jurisdictions, 14 and arising out of the fundamental demand for justice and fairness which lies at the basis of our jurisprudence. 15

To admit indiscriminately proof of crimes other than and in no way connected with the particular one with which the accused is charged would inevitably lead to the inference that the depravity which motivated the previous crimes continued and was the basis for the commission of the particular crime for which the accused must stand trial. 16 Furthermore, evidence of the commission by the accused of crimes unconnected with that for which he is being tried, when offered by the prosecution in chief, violates the rule which forbids the prosecution initially to attack the character of the accused, and also the rule that bad character may not be proved by particular acts, and such evidence is therefore inadmissible for that purpose. 17

It is not to be inferred, however, from the rule regarding the inadmissibility in criminal prosecutions of evidence of other crimes or offenses, that such evidence must be excluded in all cases and under all circumstances; rather, there are a number of well-recognized exceptions to and limitations upon the general rule. 18 Indeed, it has been said that there are so many exceptions to the rule that it is difficult to determine which is more extensive—the rule or its acknowledged exceptions. 19 These exceptions, which have generally been incorporated into Rule 404(b), 20 make competent and admissible evidence of other criminal acts to prove the accused's identity, 21 knowledge, 22 intent, 23 and motive, 24 to show a common criminal scheme or plan, 25 and to negate the likelihood that the crime was committed as a result of inadvertence, accident, or mistake. 26 Evidence is admissible for such purposes on the theory that the other crimes are so connected with the offense charged as to throw light upon it. 27 In other words, in a prosecution for one crime, proof of another distinct substantive crime is not admissible unless there is some legal connection between the two, upon which it can be said that one tends to establish the other or some essential fact in issue. 28 The courts stress the importance of this requisite because of the nature and prejudicial character of such evidence. 29

Footnotes

Footnote 6. United States v Calvert (CA8 Mo) 523 F2d 895, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 41, cert den 424 US 911, 47 L Ed 2d 314, 96 S Ct 1106.

♦ Observation: In the leading pre-Rule case on the subject, People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286, the court laid down the general rule of exclusion of evidence of other crimes, but also held that evidence of other crimes is admissible when it tends to establish: (1) motive; (2) intent; (3) the absence of mistake or accident; (4) a common scheme or plan embracing the commission of two or more crimes so related to each other that proof of one tends to establish the others; and (5) the identity of the person charged with the commission of the crime on trial. These exceptions to the exclusionary rule are basically the same as those listed in Rule 404(b), as discussed in § 404.

Footnote 7. § 404.

Footnote 8. People v Perry (2nd Dist) 166 Cal App 3d 924, 212 Cal Rptr 793 (holding that, in deciding whether other crimes evidence is properly admissible, trial court must determine whether such evidence is material to a fact in dispute, whether it has a tendency to prove such material fact, and whether other evidentiary rules, including the rules against unduly cumulative or prejudicial evidence bar admission).

Footnote 9. Faust v United States, 163 US 452, 41 L Ed 224, 16 S Ct 1112; Mason v State, 259 Ala 438, 66 So 2d 557, 42 ALR2d 847; State v Harris, 147 Conn 589, 164 A2d 399, 83 ALR2d 783; West v State, 140 Fla 421, 191 So 771; State v Carvelo, 45 Hawaii 16, 361 P2d 45; People v Popescue, 345 Ill 142, 177 NE 739, 77 ALR 1199; State v King, 111 Kan 140, 206 P 883, 22 ALR 1006; Gadd v Commonwealth, 305 Ky 318, 204 SW2d 215; Nesbit v Cumberland Contracting Co., 196 Md 36, 75 A2d 339, 20 ALR2d 1212; Commonwealth v Hanley, 337 Mass 384, 149 NE2d 608, 66 ALR2d 222, cert den 358 US 850, 3 L Ed 2d 85, 79 S Ct 79; State v Holmes (Mo) 389 SW2d 30; State v Knox, 119 Mont 449, 175 P2d 774; State v Marchand, 31 NJ 223, 156 A2d 245, 87 ALR2d 883; People v Thau, 219 NY 39, 113 NE 556, 3 ALR 1537; People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286; People v Formato, 286 App Div 357, 143 NYS2d 205, 64 ALR2d 812, affd 309 NY 979, 132 NE2d 894; Fleenor v Commonwealth, 200 Va 270, 105 SE2d 160.

Footnote 10. People v Lapin (2nd Dist) 138 Cal App 2d 251, 291 P2d 575; Territory v Caminos, 38 Hawaii 628; Douglas v Commonwealth, 307 Ky 391, 211 SW2d 156.

Footnote 11. Hall v United States, 150 US 76, 37 L Ed 1003, 14 S Ct 22; People v Cione, 293 Ill 321, 127 NE 646, 12 ALR 267.

Footnote 12. People v Cione, 293 Ill 321, 127 NE 646, 12 ALR 267; Riley v State, 254 Miss 86, 180 So 2d 321.

Footnote 13. People v Grutz, 212 NY 72, 105 NE 843; Webster v State, 1 Tenn Crim 1, 425 SW2d 799.

Footnote 14. People v Shea, 147 NY 78, 41 NE 505.

Footnote 15. Lovely v United States (CA4 SC) 169 F2d 386, appeal after remand (CA4 SC) 175 F2d 312, 44 BNA LRRM 2674, cert den 338 US 834, 94 L Ed 508, 70 S Ct 38.

Footnote 16. State v Hyde, 234 Mo 200, 136 SW 316; People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286; Shaffner v Commonwealth, 72 Pa 60; Fleenor v Commonwealth, 200 Va 270, 105 SE2d 160.

Footnote 17. State v Fisher, 206 SC 220, 33 SE2d 495.

As to the inadmissibility of evidence of bad character, generally, see § 365.

Footnote 18. Mason v State, 259 Ala 438, 66 So 2d 557, 42 ALR2d 847; State v Harris, 147 Conn 589, 164 A2d 399, 83 ALR2d 783; Cooper v State, 182 Ga 42, 184 SE 716, 104 ALR 1309; State v Simpson, 243 Iowa 65, 50 NW2d 601; State v Scown (Mo) 312 SW2d 782; People v Grutz, 212 NY 72, 105 NE 843; People v Formato, 286 App Div 357, 143 NYS2d 205, 64 ALR2d 812, affd 309 NY 979, 132 NE2d 894; Webster v State, 1 Tenn Crim 1, 425 SW2d 799.

Evidence that a defendant committed other crimes than those for which the defendant is then being tried is barred by state evidence code if it is offered to prove the defendant's criminal disposition, but not if it is offered to prove a material disputed issue such as motive or intent. People v Hayes, 52 Cal 3d 577, 276 Cal Rptr 874, 802 P2d 376, 91 CDOS 174, 91 Daily Journal DAR 220, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 440, 112 S Ct 420.

Footnote 19. Fairbanks v United States, 96 US App DC 345, 226 F2d 251.

Footnote 20. § 404.

Footnote 21. § 452.

Footnote 22. § 443.

Footnote 23. § 439.

Footnote 24. § 435.

Footnote 25. § 448.

Footnote 26. § 447.

Footnote 27. State v Choate, 228 NC 491, 46 SE2d 476.

Footnote 28. Mason v State, 259 Ala 438, 66 So 2d 557, 42 ALR2d 847; People v Sindici, 54 Cal App 193, 201 P 975; People v Popescue, 345 Ill 142, 177 NE 739, 77 ALR 1199; Young v State, 152 Md 89, 136 A 46; People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286; Shaffner v Commonwealth, 72 Pa 60.

Footnote 29. People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286; State v Choate, 228 NC 491, 46 SE2d 476.

Generally, as to the prejudicial nature of such evidence, see § 419.

§ 406 Applicability of Rule to civil cases

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

FRE Rule 404(b) applies to civil trials as well as criminal proceedings, 30 so that evidence of crimes or wrongs are admissible under the conditions that apply in criminal proceedings. 31 Although the provisions of the Uniform Rule are identical to the Federal Rule, 32 resulting in a similar rule, that is, that evidence of crimes or wrongs may be admissible in civil cases, 33 some states that have adopted the Rules nevertheless appear to have adhered to the older common-law rule 34 that a conviction is not admissible in a civil action as evidence of the facts on which it is based, 35 and in at least one jurisdiction, the rule is that evidence of a defendant's conviction in a criminal case for the very acts which constitute the basis of the liability sought to be established in the civil suit is not admissible unless the conviction was based on a plea of guilty. 36

As in criminal cases, evidence is excludible under Rule 404(b), where its only purpose would be to show that a party acted in accordance with a bad character 37 or to imply a propensity to commit an alleged wrong, 38 or where the probative value of the evidence is otherwise outweighed by its prejudicial effect. 39 Evidence of other misconduct must be excluded when its only effect would be to prejudice the jury to find willful unlawfulness on the part of the defendant and thus to award punitive damages. 40

Where a case involves a claim for insurance proceeds met by a defense of arson, the essential issue is the difference between an accident and an intentional act, and evidence of similar wrongful conduct is particularly relevant to probe the questions of intent and plan to burn insured properties. 41 However, evidence of prior fires is not relevant unless it is shown that the insured actually participated in the prior arson or at least that the fire was of incendiary origin, or unless the evidence is probative of the insurer's familiarity with insurance claims and recovery. Absent such factors, the probative value of such evidence is outweighed by its potential for prejudice, which is substantial. 42 Evidence of fires occurring at other property of the plaintiff has been admitted on the issue of the plaintiff's motive or intent to commit the arson alleged in the instant case where the other properties were insured and experts testified that the fires there were intentionally set, and where the insured was present at all of the fires. 43 And evidence of an insurer's late payments of compensation checks to its clients was admissible to demonstrate an ongoing pattern of purposeful delays and to prove the insurer's motive in causing the delays. 44

§ 406 ----Applicability of Rule to civil cases [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In a personal injury suit by an employee under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, the Court of Appeals rejected the employer's contention that the trial court abused its discretion in admitting prejudicial testimony, where the testimony of a previously injured employee rebutted the employer's claim that the employee would have been hired in a management capacity if he had taken mandatory vocational tests because R Ev 404(b) provided that evidence of prior acts was not admissible to prove the character of the party but could be admissible for other purposes such as proof of opportunity, intent, plan, or the absence of mistake. Missouri Pac. R.R. Co. v Roberts (1993, Tex App Eastland) 849 SW2d 367, writ den (Jun 3, 1993).

Footnotes

Footnote 30. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289); Dial v Travelers Indem. Co. (CA5 Miss) 780 F2d 520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 125; Herandez, 860 F2d 260; Young v Rabideau (CA7 Ill) 821 F2d 373, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 4, cert den 484 US 915, 98 L Ed 2d 221, 108 S Ct 263.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts under Rule 404(b) of Federal Rules of Evidence, in civil cases, 64 ALR Fed 648.

Footnote 31. § 404.

Footnote 32. Some states have adopted modified versions of the Uniform Act provisions. See 13A, Uniform Laws Annotated, Notes to Rules of Evidence, Rule 404.

Footnote 33. Durham v Farabee (Ala) 481 So 2d 885, 73 ALR4th 687; Scott v Robertson (Alaska) 583 P2d 188; Re Marquardt, 161 Ariz 206, 778 P2d 241, 39 Ariz Adv Rep 27, supp op (Ariz) 1989 Ariz LEXIS 237; State v Gonsalves, 5 Hawaii App 659, 706 P2d 1333 (disapproved on other grounds by State v Kelekolio, 74 Hawaii 479, 849 P2d 58); James v General Motors of Canada, Ltd., 101 Or App 138, 790 P2d 8, review den 310 Or 243, 796 P2d 360; McCormick v Texas Commerce Bank Nat. Asso. (Tex App Houston (14th Dist)) 751 SW2d 887, writ den (Nov 23, 1988) and reh'g of writ of error overr (Jan 25, 1989) and cert den 491 US 910, 105 L Ed 2d 706, 109 S Ct 3199.

Annotation: Conviction or acquittal as evidence of the facts on which it was based in civil action, 18 ALR2d 1287 § 3.

Footnote 34. § 407.

Footnote 35. Estate of Wallace v Fisher (Fla App D5) 567 So 2d 505, 15 FLW D 2374, citing pre-rule Florida cases.

In action to recover for an assault, it was error to permit plaintiff and a police officer to testify that defendant was convicted in district court of assaulting plaintiff, since evidence of a person's conviction in a criminal prosecution for the very act which constitutes the basis of liability in a civil action for damages is not admissible in the civil action. Carawan v Tate, 53 NC App 161, 280 SE2d 528, mod on other grounds 304 NC 696, 286 SE2d 99.

Footnote 36. Fowler-Barham Ford, Inc. v Indiana Lumbermens Mut. Ins. Co., 45 NC App 625, 263 SE2d 825.

Footnote 37. Outley v New York (CA2 NY) 837 F2d 587, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 418, 10 FR Serv 3d 128 (in civil rights action brought against city and individual city police officers, District Court erred in admitting evidence of previous lawsuits filed by arrestee against city and police department for purpose of showing that arrestee was biased against officers since evidence introduced to show that he bore a grudge against police and that he acted consistently with that grudge in filing claims in issue went to character rather than bias).

To the same effect is James v General Motors of Canada, Ltd., 101 Or App 138, 790 P2d 8, review den 310 Or 243, 796 P2d 360.

Footnote 38. Tigges v Cataldo (CA1 Mass) 611 F2d 936, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 425 (court did not err in disallowing effort to cross-examine defendant to establish that defendant had misleadingly answered "not applicable" to question on pretrial interrogatory concerning disciplinary action by police department against him); Cohn v Papke (CA9 Cal) 655 F2d 191, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1362 (reversible error to introduce testimony and psychiatric report concerning plaintiff's prior sexual experiences and sexual preferences in civil rights action against police officers who arrested plaintiff on charge of soliciting one of them to engage in homosexual act).

Footnote 39. Avila v Knight (SD NY) 475 F Supp 1054, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 65 (plaintiff's prior criminal and institutional records not admissible in action against corrections officer who allegedly assaulted plaintiff and subjected him to inhuman conditions in punitive segregation); Warner v Transamerica Ins. Co. (CA8 Mo) 739 F2d 1347, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1338.

For a general discussion of balancing prejudice against probative value in regard to other acts evidence, see § 419.

Footnote 40. Brown v Miller (CA5 Miss) 631 F2d 408, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 533.

Footnote 41. United States v Jenkins (CA5 Tex) 780 F2d 518, 86-1 USTC ¶ 9181, 57 AFTR 2d 86-599; Glados, Inc. v Reliance Ins. Co. (CA11 Fla) 888 F2d 1309, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1536, cert den 497 US 1025, 111 L Ed 2d 783, 110 S Ct 3273.

Footnote 42. Garcia v Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (CA5 Fla) 657 F2d 652, 9 Fed Rules Evid Serv 49; Smith v State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. (CA5 Ga) 633 F2d 401, 7 Fed Rules Evid Serv 895, 31 FR Serv 2d 322 (no abuse of discretion in excluding such evidence); Warner v Transamerica Ins. Co. (CA8 Mo) 739 F2d 1347, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1338.

Footnote 43. Dial v Travelers Indem. Co. (CA5 Miss) 780 F2d 520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 125.

Footnote 44. Southerland v Argonaut Ins. Co. (Colo App) 794 P2d 1102.

§ 407 --Common-law rule; non-Rule jurisdictions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

It has long been the traditional rule that a judgment of conviction in a criminal prosecution is not admissible, in a civil case, as evidence of the facts upon which it was based. 45

◆ Observation: This rule has been frequently applied in actions involving the negligent operation of motor vehicles in which attempts were made to introduce evidence of prior criminal convictions for the same acts. 46

In regard to the rule that a conviction is not admissible, it has been held, as a foundation for the rule, that there is a dissimilarity in objects, 47 issues, 48 results, 49 procedures, 50 and parties in the two actions, 51 as well as a lack of mutuality. 52 Moreover, it has been frequently pointed out that different rules of evidence apply, not only as to elements of proof, 53 degree of proof, 54 and weight of evidence, 55 but also to the competency of witnesses. 56

Even before the general adoption of the Rules, as well as in non-Rule jurisdictions, the reasoning upon which the rule of exclusion was founded was subject to criticism and a trend in favor of the admission of such evidence evolved. 57 Generally, where admitted, the prior conviction has been regarded as prima facie evidence of the issue involved, 58 although in some instances the judgment has been regarded as conclusive as to the facts adjudicated. 59 Some decisions indicate a tendency to limit the admissibility of previous convictions to the situation where the criminal is attempting to enforce a right arising from the crime. 60 In some situations statutes have provided for the admission of criminal convictions as evidence of guilt in subsequent civil actions involving the same facts. 61

In some jurisdictions a distinction has been made between the admissibility in civil cases of the record of conviction of relatively minor matters such as traffic violations, lesser misdemeanors, and matters of like import, and the admissibility in civil cases of major criminal convictions. 62 Convictions of the former type have been held not admissible since expediency and convenience, rather than guilt, often control the defendant's trial technique, whereas convictions of the latter class have been held admissible since it would be unreasonable to assume that a defendant would present less than his best defense, knowing that his failure would result in the loss of substantial property, or even liberty. 63

The courts are agreed that convictions which are being appealed have no tendency to support the truth of the facts upon which they are based and are therefore inadmissible as evidence of the truth of such facts in a civil action. 64

◆ Observation: The mere fact of arrest has no probative value and is inadmissible in a civil action involving the same facts. 65

Footnotes

Footnote 45. American Fire Protection Service v Williams (1st Dist) 171 Cal App 2d 397, 340 P2d 644 (conviction in contempt proceeding which was criminal in nature); Brown v Moyle, 133 Colo 29, 290 P2d 1105; Eggers v Phillips Hardware Co. (Fla) 88 So 2d 507; Consolidated Management Services, Inc. v Halligan, 186 Ga App 621, 368 SE2d 148, affd 258 Ga 471, 369 SE2d 745; Jones v Talbot, 87 Idaho 498, 394 P2d 316 (noting statute to this effect); Dimmick v Follis, 123 Ind App 701, 111 NE2d 486; Reid-Elliott Motors, Inc. v Lee (La App 1st Cir) 94 So 2d 160; Lipman Bros., Inc. v Hartford Acci. & Indem. Co., 149 Me 199, 100 A2d 246; Blackman v Coffin, 300 Mass 432, 15 NE2d 469; Stover v Yoakum (App, Clark Co) 69 Ohio L Abs 51, 109 NE2d 877, motion overr; Dover v Smith (Okla) 385 P2d 287; Nowak v Orange, 349 Pa 217, 36 A2d 781; Green v Boney, 233 SC 49, 103 SE2d 732, 66 ALR2d 1370; Smith v Phillips, 43 Tenn App 364, 309 SW2d 382; State v Benavidez (Tex) 365 SW2d 638; Smith v New Dixie Lines, Inc., 201 Va 466, 111 SE2d 434; Forney v Morrison, 144 W Va 722, 110 SE2d 840; Friesen v Schmelzel, 78 Wyo 1, 318 P2d 368.

Where, in an action for breach of warranty of title to an automobile, plaintiff alleged that the automobile which he had purchased from defendant was stolen, it was error to admit, over timely objections, evidence that a third party had been convicted in a Federal District Court of transporting a similar vehicle across state lines. Crawford v Sumerau, 100 Ga App 499, 111 SE2d 746.

Annotation: Conviction or acquittal as evidence of the facts on which it was based in civil action, 18 ALR2d 1287 § 2.

Footnote 46. 8 Am Jur 2d, Automobiles and Highway Traffic § 1030.

Footnote 47. Interstate Dry Goods Stores v Williamson, 91 W Va 156, 112 SE 301, 31 ALR 258.

Footnote 48. Montgomery v Crum, 199 Ind 660, 161 NE 251.

Footnote 49. Frierson v Jenkins, 72 SC 341, 51 SE 862.

Footnote 50. Terrill v Terrill (App) 98 Wis 2d 213, 295 NW2d 809.

Footnote 51. Interstate Dry Goods Stores v Williamson, 91 W Va 156, 112 SE 301, 31 ALR 258.

Footnote 52. Interstate Dry Goods Stores v Williamson, 91 W Va 156, 112 SE 301, 31 ALR 258.

Footnote 53. Seaboard A. L. R. Co. v O'Quin, 124 Ga 357, 52 SE 427.

Footnote 54. Stone v United States, 167 US 178, 42 L Ed 127, 17 S Ct 778.

Footnote 55. Seaboard A. L. R. Co. v O'Quin, 124 Ga 357, 52 SE 427.

Footnote 56. Seaboard A. L. R. Co. v O'Quin, 124 Ga 357, 52 SE 427.

Footnote 57. Emich Motors Corp. v General Motors Corp., 340 US 558, 95 L Ed 534, 71 S Ct 408, reh den 341 US 906, 95 L Ed 1345, 71 S Ct 610; Harper v Blasi, 112 Colo 518, 151 P2d 760; Smith v Andrews (2d Dist) 54 Ill App 2d 51, 203 NE2d 160, cert den 382 US 1029, 15 L Ed 2d 543, 86 S Ct 655, reh den 383 US 954, 16 L Ed 2d 216, 86 S Ct 1210; Prudential Property & Casualty Ins. Co. v Kollar, 243 NJ Super 150, 578 A2d 1238; Chism v New York City Transit Authority (2d Dept) 145 App Div 2d 400, 535 NYS2d 730; Folino v Young, 368 Pa Super 220, 533 A2d 1034, app gr 520 Pa 575, 549 A2d 135 and app gr 520 Pa 578, 549 A2d 138 and affd 523 Pa 532, 568 A2d 171; Eagle, Star & British Dominions Ins. Co. v Heller, 149 Va 82, 140 SE 314, 57 ALR 490.

Annotation: 18 ALR2d 1287 § 3.

Footnote 58. Smith v Andrews (2d Dist) 54 Ill App 2d 51, 203 NE2d 160, cert den 382 US 1029, 15 L Ed 2d 543, 86 S Ct 655, reh den 383 US 954, 16 L Ed 2d 216, 86 S Ct 1210.

Annotation: 18 ALR2d 1287 § 3.

Footnote 59. Eagle, Star & British Dominions Ins. Co. v Heller, 149 Va 82, 140 SE 314, 57 ALR 490.

Conviction of the president of the plaintiff corporation, its alter ego, of robbery on which an insurance claim was based, was conclusive against the insured's claim under a robbery policy; the doctrine of collateral estoppel applied notwithstanding the lack of mutuality of estoppel. Teitelbaum Furs, Inc. v Dominion Ins. Co., 58 Cal 2d 601, 25 Cal Rptr 559, 375 P2d 439, cert den 372 US 966, 10 L Ed 2d 130, 83 S Ct 1091.

Footnote 60. Connecticut Fire Ins. Co. v Ferrara (CA8 Mo) 277 F2d 388, cert den 364 US 903, 5 L Ed 2d 195, 81 S Ct 231 (applying Missouri law and holding that an affirmed conviction of the insured for arson in regard to destruction of the insured premises may be considered as bearing upon the merits of his claim against his fire insurer); Taylor v Taylor, 257 NC 130, 125 SE2d 373 (decision limited to factual situation where party is seeking to profit from criminal conduct for which he has been prosecuted and convicted).

Annotation: 18 ALR2d 1287 § 3.

Footnote 61. Emich Motors Corp. v General Motors Corp., 340 US 558, 95 L Ed 534, 71 S Ct 408, reh den 341 US 906, 95 L Ed 1345, 71 S Ct 610.

By statute, where the same fire is the basis for a criminal conviction and a suit for civil damages, the conviction is admissible in the civil action not only on behalf of the prosecuting witness in the criminal case, but also on behalf of any other person suffering damage from the same fire. Cecil v Headley, 237 Ark 400, 373 SW2d 136.

Footnote 62. Burns v Rodriguez (Iowa App) 448 NW2d 673; Hurt v Stirone, 416 Pa 493, 206 A2d 624, 51 CCH LC ¶ 51252, cert den 381 US 925, 14 L Ed 2d 684, 85 S Ct 1561.

Although evidence of convictions in criminal proceedings generally may be admissible in subsequent civil litigation, evidence of convictions of traffic offenses is in a different category and should be excluded. Montalvo v Morales (2d Dept) 18 App Div 2d 20, 239 NYS2d 72.

Footnote 63. Hurt v Stirone, 416 Pa 493, 206 A2d 624, 51 CCH LC ¶ 51252, cert den 381 US 925, 14 L Ed 2d 684, 85 S Ct 1561.

Footnote 64. Stinson v Richardson, 239 Ala 161, 194 So 508; In re L.S. (5th Dist) 189 Cal App 3d 407, 234 Cal Rptr 508; Pendleton v Norfolk & W. R. Co., 82 W Va 270, 95 SE 941, 16 ALR 761.

Footnote 65. Franco v Zingarelli (1st Dept) 72 App Div 2d 211, 424 NYS2d 185 (holding that the arrest of an operator of a vehicle may not serve as the basis for an inference of negligence, and the absence of arrest may not serve as the basis for an inference of no negligence).

§ 408 Other crimes, wrongs, or acts covered

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Under FRE Rule 404(b) and similar state rules, evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts may include any conduct which may bear adversely on the jury's judgment of the character of a person, 66 and it is not limited to other crimes. 67 It is not the character of the criminal act as being a crime which renders evidence of the act relevant at trial for an associated crime; rather, it is the acts of the defendant constituting that crime, as might any other acts of his which for some special reason tend to identify him as the actor in a related crime, which allows admission of such prior bad acts under FRE Rule 404(b). 68

A conviction in a foreign country, if relevant and material to the charges and issues raised in the federal prosecution, is also considered evidence of other crimes or wrongs. 69

Evidence of prior arrests or the lodging of charges should not be admitted under Rule 404(b) since neither is considered sufficiently probative of the basic question whether the underlying act occurred. 70

§ 408 ----Other crimes, wrongs, or acts covered [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Reading Gaol revisited: Admission of uncharged misconduct evidence in sex offender cases. 21 Am J Crim L 127 (1993).

Rules:

As to rules allowing evidence of prior sexual assaults and child molestation, (Federal Rules of Evidence, Rules 413-415), added by Congress in 1994, see § 404.

Case authorities:

Evidence of defendant's parole status should be considered evidence of other crimes for purposes of Rule 404(b). United States v Manarite (1995, CA9 Nev) 44 F3d 1407, 95 CDOS 198, 95 Daily Journal DAR 350, amd, reh den, remanded (1995, CA9 Nev) 95 CDOS 1935, 95 Daily Journal DAR 3319.

Evidence of seven other bank robberies was properly admitted to prove common plan or scheme since all eight had many common characteristics which would tend to show that defendant was involved in one charged and that it was part of larger scheme. United States v McGuire (1994, CA10 Kan) 27 F3d 457.

Evidence that drug conspiracy defendant regained possession of automobile from testifying coconspirator at gunpoint was not "other" act within Rule 404(b), since it demonstrated defendant's organizational role and his use of violence as tool against underlings and others. United States v Molina (1996, CA10 Okla) 75 F3d 600, cert den (1996, US) 64 USLW 3821.

Evidence of bad acts or crimes is admissible without regard to whether it is similar fact evidence if it is relevant to establish a material issue. Pittman v State (1994, Fla) 646 So 2d 167, 19 FLW S 489, petition for certiorari filed (Mar 20, 1995).

In prosecution for rape, aggravated sodomy, armed robbery and false imprisonment, evidence of two similar crimes committed by defendant were admissible where state demonstrated that defendant was perpetrator of prior crimes and that they were remarkably similar to charged crimes: one crime occurred in 1982 and other occurred less than one month before defendant committed charged crimes; victims were young women, like victim in charged crimes; they, too, were kidnapped by defendant at knife-point and driven to desolate locations (in one case, an abandoned residence) where they were raped (and in one case sodomized); they, too, were abducted from, or as they approached, their cars (in one case, modus operandi was identical to charged crimes—defendant bumped victim and when she got out of her car to inspect damage, defendant assaulted her); they, too, were asked about their children; and they were bound and gagged (albeit, in one case, only temporarily). Prior crimes shed light on defendant's identity, motive, plan, scheme, bent of mind and course of conduct, and relevance of evidence outweighed any prejudice. Mozier v State (1993) 207 Ga App 264, 427 SE2d 551, 93 Fulton County D R 360, cert den (Ga) 1993 Ga LEXIS 420.

In prosecution of correctional officer for rape and other offenses against 19-year-old woman whose husband was inmate, trial court properly admitted evidence of uncharged incident involving 22-year-old woman whose brother was inmate, where evidence was admitted for purpose of showing common scheme of using authority and position to initiate sexual relationships. Martin v State (1995) 219 Ga App 277, 464 SE2d 872, 95 Fulton County D R 3846.

In trial of teacher for second and third degree sexual abuse arising from allegations made by 13-year-old student, court committed reversible error in admitting testimony of prior consensual sexual relationship between teacher and 17-year-old student, since testimony was not relevant to any issue in case other than showing teacher's propensity to commit crime charged. People v Peters (1992, 3d Dept) 187 AD2d 883, 590 NYS2d 916, app den 81 NY2d 891, 597 NYS2d 952, 613 NE2d 984.

The trial court did not err in a noncapital first-degree murder prosecution by allowing a prosecution witness to testify concerning other alleged acts of violence and threats of violence by defendant where the testimony was corroborative of other testimony, was corroborated by other testimony, and tended to show malice, an essential element of first-degree murder. The evidence was thus relevant to an issue other than defendant's character. GS § 8C-1, Rule 404(b). State v Bryant (1994) 337 NC 298, 446 SE2d 71.

In prosecution for statutory rape and incest based on charges that defendant had engaged in sexual intercourse with his 13-year-old stepdaughter on specified date, trial court erred in allowing victim to testify regarding prior sexual incidents with defendant since she was about 7 years old, on grounds testimony was for purposes of corroboration, where Tennessee would not adopt "sex crimes" exception to general rule prohibiting admission of evidence of other crimes or bad acts as irrelevant and prejudicial when defendant is on trial for act of same character, except in cases of indictment that is not time specific and evidence relates to sex crimes that allegedly occurred during same time period as charged in indictment, and providing prosecution elects at close of its proof-in-chief which particular incident is to be basis for conviction. State v Rickman (1994, Tenn) 876 SW2d 824.

Footnotes

Footnote 66. United States v Cooper (CA6 Tenn) 577 F2d 1079, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 969, cert den 439 US 868, 58 L Ed 2d 179, 99 S Ct 196.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts under Rule 404(b) of Federal Rules of Evidence, in civil cases, 64 ALR Fed 648.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Footnote 67. United States v Devin (CA1 Mass) 918 F2d 280, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1329; United States v Senak (CA7 Ind) 527 F2d 129, cert den 425 US 907, 47 L Ed 2d 758, 96 S Ct 1500; United States v Kendall (CA10 Okla) 766 F2d 1426, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1355, cert den 474 US 1081, 88 L Ed 2d 889, 106 S Ct 848.

Evidence that defendant had made numerous threats in month before fire concerning his intention to get even with his employer's security personnel was properly admitted in trial for arson of building where defendant was employed. United States v Henson (CA8 Mo) 939 F2d 584.

Footnote 68. Smith v Wainwright (CA5 Fla) 568 F2d 362, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 395.

Footnote 69. United States v Rodarte (CA5 Tex) 596 F2d 141, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 982; United States v McPartlin (CA7 Ill) 595 F2d 1321, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416, cert den 444 US 833, 62 L Ed 2d 43, 100 S Ct 65 (evidence of a similar act in a foreign country, in a prosecution for bribing a local official); United States v Nolan (CA10 Kan) 551 F2d 266, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 784, cert den 434 US 904, 54 L Ed 2d 191, 98 S Ct 302.

Law Reviews: The collateral use of foreign convictions in American criminal trials. 47 U Chi LR 82 (1979).

Footnote 70. United States v Flores Perez (CA1 Puerto Rico) 849 F2d 1, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1247.

See Michelson v United States, 335 US 469, 93 L Ed 168, 69 S Ct 213 (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Solomon (CA11 Fla) 686 F2d 863, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 717) and (superseded by statute on other grounds as stated in United States v Lutz (CGCMR) 18 MJ 763) and (not followed on other grounds by Mannix v United States (CA4 Md) 140 F2d 250) as stated in United States v Dennis (CA4) 1990 US App LEXIS 21076 and (not followed on other grounds by United States v Pujana-Mena (CA2 NY) 949 F2d 24), stating that arrest, without more, does not impeach the integrity or impair the credibility of a witness.

§ 409 --Offense related to charged offense

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Evidence which concerns an uncharged offense arising out of the same transaction or series of transactions as the charged offense, 71 which is inextricably intertwined with the evidence of the charged offense, or which is necessary to complete the story of the charged offense, 72 or which forms part of the res gestae, 73 is not evidence of an extrinsic offense within the meaning of FRE Rule 404(b) and is thus admissible without an analysis under that rule. 74 Under this view, evidence not part of the crime charged but pertaining to the chain of events explaining the context, motive, and setup of the crime is properly admitted if linked in time and circumstances with the charged crime or if it forms an integral and natural part of an account of the crime or is necessary to complete the story of the crime for the jury. 75 However, when several offenses are committed in a single criminal episode and the defendant is indicted for fewer than all of those offenses, the offenses for which he is not indicted become "other offenses" for the purposes of FRE Rule 404(b). 76

Under pre-Rule and non-Rule law, it has been recognized that insofar as evidence of the commission of other crimes or offenses is relevant and admissible in the prosecution of one accused of a crime, the fact that such evidence proves or tends to prove that the accused committed other crimes does not render it inadmissible. 77 Such evidence will be considered strictly upon the ground of its relevancy to the purpose for which it is sought to be introduced, regardless of the fact that it may incidentally show the commission of some other offense. 78

§ 409 --Offense related to charged offense [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence that tax evasion defendant was aware of his payroll tax liability when it arose was inextricably intertwined with crime charged and therefore "intrinsic" evidence that did not fall within meaning of Rule 404(b). United States v Clements (1996, CA5 La) 73 F3d 1330, 43 Fed Rules Evid Serv 936, 77 AFTR 2d 96-648.

Evidence that defendant, charged with drug offenses, had told former cellmate that, on day of his arrest, he was expecting package to make up for shortage in prior drug shipment, was not other crimes evidence which triggered notice requirement, since there was direct connection between earlier short shipment and receipt of one for which defendant was charged, and therefore intrinsic to charged offense. United States v Barnes (1995, CA6 Ky) 49 F3d 1144.

Evidence that defendant, while under grand jury investigation for failure to report taxable income, had destroyed records of fee payments and invented sources of nontaxable income was not other crimes evidence subject to Rule 404(b) analysis, since it was clearly intertwined with charged conspiracy to provide false testimony to grand jury. United States v Lahey (1995, CA7 Ind) 55 F3d 1289, 75 AFTR 2d 95-2665, 95 TNT 115-33, reh den (1995, CA7 Ind) 1995 US App LEXIS 15815.

Testimony that defendant paid witness with heroin in exchange for certain construction work related to heroin distribution conspiracy charged in indictment and was therefore not Rule 404(b) evidence. United States v Karam (1994, CA8 Minn) 37 F3d 1280, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA8 Minn) 1994 US App LEXIS 32999.

In a prosecution of defendant for assault which occurred when defendants allegedly threw a brick from their car into the victims' car, the trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of one of defendant's passengers that defendant had allegedly committed a prior bad act by throwing a bottle into another vehicle earlier in the evening, since the incident was similar in means and execution and occurred the same evening as the brick throwing incident. State v Poe (1995) 119 NC App 266, 458 SE2d 242, stay gr 340 NC 571, 459 SE2d 515, petition den (NC) 1995 NC LEXIS 522.

Footnotes

Footnote 71. United States v Randall (CA5 La) 887 F2d 1262, reh den (CA5) 1990 US App LEXIS 6398, post-conviction proceeding (ED La) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 3086; United States v Simpson (CA5 Tex) 709 F2d 903, 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 892, cert den 464 US 942, 78 L Ed 2d 322, 104 S Ct 360; United States v Bardsley (CA7 Ind) 884 F2d 1024, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1122; United States v Williford (CA11 Ga) 764 F2d 1493, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151; People v Formato, 286 App Div 357, 143 NYS2d 205, 64 ALR2d 812, affd 309 NY 979, 132 NE2d 894.

Evidence of armed bank robbery defendant's participation in prior uncharged bank robbery was properly admitted since it was recent and involved many similarities to charged robbery and was highly probative on issues of identity, absence of mistake or accident, and similarity in plan. United States v Morgan (CA10 Okla) 936 F2d 1561, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 583, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 431, 112 S Ct 1190.

If a defendant is charged with murder, it is permissible to show that he did the killing while engaged in the commission of another crime. People v Sullivan, 173 NY 122, 65 NE 989; State v Beam, 184 NC 730, 115 SE 176.

Practice References Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 37.12.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Footnote 72. United States v Collins (CA11 Fla) 779 F2d 1520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 78; United States v Williford (CA11 Ga) 764 F2d 1493, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151; United States v Chilcote (CA11 Fla) 724 F2d 1498, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 33, cert den 467 US 1218, 81 L Ed 2d 370, 104 S Ct 2665; United States v Weeks (CA11 Ga) 716 F2d 830, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 604; Hill v State, 161 Ga 188, 129 SE 647; People v Scheck, 356 Ill 56, 190 NE 108, 91 ALR 1472; Townsend v State, 147 Ind 624, 47 NE 19; State v Garrison, 342 Mo 453, 116 SW2d 23; People v Thau, 219 NY 39, 113 NE 556, 3 ALR 1537; People v Molineux, 168 NY 264, 61 NE 286.

Evidence in narcotics conspiracy trial of attempted murder of co-conspirator was properly admitted where indictment cited attempted murder as overt act furtherance of conspiracy, and evidence was relevant to establish existence of conspiracy, to explain relationship of conspirators to each other and conspiracy, and to demonstrate methods by which conspiracy operated. United States v Terzado-Madruga (CA11 Ga) 897 F2d 1099, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 662.

Footnote 73. Kennedy v State, 140 Fla 124, 191 So 193; People v Quimby, 134 Mich 625, 96 NW 1061; Compton v Commonwealth, 190 Va 48, 55 SE2d 446; State v Brown, 31 Wash 2d 475, 197 P2d 590, adhered to 31 Wash 2d 505, 202 P2d 461; State v Burton, 27 Wash 528, 67 P 1097.

For the purpose of proving a defendant guilty of the larceny of one article, it is proper to prove that he stole other articles on the same expedition. Burnett v State, 83 Tex Crim 97, 201 SW 409; State v Kelley, 65 Vt 531, 27 A 203.

Footnote 74. United States v Posner (CA5 Tex) 865 F2d 654.

In a case arising out of unauthorized and fraudulent exchanges of airline tickets, evidence concerning other travel agencies was not other crimes evidence beyond scope of indictment where defendant himself had admitted that his scheme involved a number of travel agencies, indictment alleged that he exchanged tickets with travel agents in United States, so that evidence was inextricably intertwined with and part of the same transaction as conduct alleged in the indictment. United States v Mundi (CA9 Cal) 892 F2d 817, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 323, cert den 498 US 1119, 112 L Ed 2d 1178, 111 S Ct 1072, post-conviction proceeding (CA9) 1992 US App LEXIS 14177.

Footnote 75. United States v Williford (CA11 Ga) 764 F2d 1493, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151.

Footnote 76. United States v Aleman (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 881, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 540.

Footnote 77. Snead v State, 243 Ala 23, 8 So 2d 269; People v Peete, 28 Cal 2d 306, 169 P2d 924, cert den 329 US 790, 91 L Ed 677, 67 S Ct 356, reh den 329 US 832, 91 L Ed 705, 67 S Ct 490 and cert den 331 US 783, 91 L Ed 1815, 67 S Ct 1185; State v Harris, 147 Conn 589, 164 A2d 399, 83 ALR2d 783; People v Scheck, 356 Ill 56, 190 NE 108, 91 ALR 1472; State v King, 111 Kan 140, 206 P 883, 22 ALR 1006; Thomas v Commonwealth, 185 Ky 226, 214 SW 929; State v Sudduth, 331 Mo 728, 55 SW2d 962; People v Thau, 219 NY 39, 113 NE 556, 3 ALR 1537; People v Formato, 286 App Div 357, 143 NYS2d 205, 64 ALR2d 812, affd 309 NY 979, 132 NE2d 894; Commonwealth v Major, 198 Pa 290, 47 A 741; State v Shumpert, 195 SC 387, 11 SE2d 523; Warren v State, 178 Tenn 157, 156 SW2d 416; Day v Commonwealth, 196 Va 907, 86 SE2d 23.

Footnote 78. Wilkins v State, 29 Ala App 349, 197 So 75, cert den 240 Ala 52, 197 So 81.

§ 410 Effect of dismissal or acquittal as to prior offense

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Under both the Rules and prior law, it is generally recognized that evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts may include other alleged crimes, even though the charges were dismissed before trial, 79 the records of the defendant's prior offense had been expunged or erased, 80 or the defendant was acquitted of the charges in question. 81 This rule is particularly applicable where the other offense and the offense charged are so nearly concurrent and the facts are so intimately related that proof of one cannot well be made without a showing of the facts tending to establish the other. 82 The reasoning in some cases has been that acquittal alone, though it may lessen the probative value of evidence of another offense, does not render it inadmissible since acquittal establishes only that a jury did not find the defendant to have been proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt of the offense charged, while to be admissible, evidence of other conduct need not be established beyond a reasonable doubt. 83

On the other hand, there is authority that evidence of an alleged crime can never be admitted if the defendant has been acquitted of such charge. 84 But even in a jurisdiction which excludes evidence of a collateral crime of which the defendant has been acquitted, it has been held that similar fact evidence of defendant's participation in a collateral offense which had been nolle prossed was admissible as relevant to the issue of defendant's identity, since unlike an acquittal which is usually based on the merits of the case, the decision to nolle pros may be based on circumstances unrelated to the strength of the evidence against a defendant. 85

In carrying out the balancing of prejudice and probative value which is required before FRE Rule 404(b) evidence is admitted, 86 the court may take into consideration the fact of any prior acquittal or dismissal. 87 However, in some jurisdictions, it is recognized that the probative value of evidence of an offense is necessarily outweighed by its prejudicial impact where there has been an acquittal of the other offense, and, accordingly, such evidence is never to be admitted. 88

Evidence of another crime as to which a defendant has been acquitted may be excludible on collateral estoppel grounds where the evidence is introduced on an issue previously decided in the defendant's favor by the prior acquittal. 89 But it has frequently been recognized that evidence of another crime or wrong is admissible where the jury could have acquitted on another basis. 90 Where it cannot be determined what evidence was the basis of the jury's decision to acquit in the previous prosecution, evidence used at the first trial may be introduced at a second trial dealing with a different, but related charge, and a defendant has the burden of showing that the issues he seeks to foreclose in the instant prosecution were necessarily determined in his favor in the prior case resulting in the defendant's acquittal. 91

The United States Supreme Court has held that the collateral estoppel component of the double jeopardy clause of the Federal Constitution's Fifth Amendment does not, in all circumstances, exclude relevant and probative evidence that is otherwise admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence simply because that evidence relates to alleged criminal conduct for which a defendant has been acquitted. 92

♦ Observation: The court also concluded that receipt of such evidence does not violate the notion of "fundamental fairness" underlying due process, reasoning that the jury remains free to assess testimony such as that offered by the witness, and that the defense has "the opportunity to refute it." Any risk that the jury will convict defendant on the basis of "inferences drawn from the acquitted conduct" could be adequately addressed by the power of the court under the Federal Rules of Evidence "to exclude potentially prejudicial evidence." 93

§ 410 ----Effect of dismissal or acquittal as to prior offense [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

The trial court did not err in a first- degree murder prosecution by admitting testimony by the victim's twelve year old son that he had awakened at 5:00 a.m. on a morning prior to the day of the murder when he heard an intruder in the house, he had recognized defendant as the intruder, had climbed out a window and gone to the home of a neighbor, who called the police, and defendant had been charged with felonious breaking or entering, but a district court judge found no probable cause. Defendant has not been acquitted of the crime for which he was previously charged, the State may proceed against him on that charge, and he is not entitled to the protection provided by State v Scott, 331 N.C. 39. State v Lynch (1994) 337 NC 415, 445 SE2d 581.

The trial court did not err in a prosecution for attempted first- degree statutory rape and attempted first-degree sexual offense in allowing the victim to testify that defendant threatened her by saying that if she told anyone what he was going to do, he was going to hurt her like he hurt Koda. Defendant was under indictment and on pretrial release for the murder of Koda Smith at the time of these offenses and was acquitted before this trial. The trial court had previously granted a motion in limine to prohibit mention of defendant's arrest, indictment, and trial for the murder, but had denied defendant's motion to prohibit reference to the name Koda Smith. The probative value of defendant's statement was to show that the victim was scared of defendant as well as why she did not scream or make any noise and does not depend on the proposition that defendant in fact hurt Koda. The statement formed an integral and natural part of the victim's account of the crime and was necessary to complete the story of the crime for the jury. GS § 8C-1, Rule 403. State v Robertson (1994) 115 NC App 249, 444 SE2d 643.

Footnotes

Footnote 79. United States v Juarez (CA7 Ind) 561 F2d 65, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 398; State v Morowitz, 200 Conn 440, 512 A2d 175, 82 ALR4th 899.

Dismissal, at the preliminary hearing, of a charge of forgery of a check was held, in a prosecution for forging two other checks, not to render erroneous the admission of the first-mentioned check in evidence, the court relying upon cases which held that a verdict of acquittal of a crime does not render evidence of that crime inadmissible on another charge where the evidence of the first crime is offered to show guilty knowledge. People v Lewis, 105 Cal App 2d 208, 233 P2d 30.

Footnote 80. People v Bell, 49 Cal 3d 502, 262 Cal Rptr 1, 778 P2d 129, reh den, stay gr (Cal) 1990 Cal LEXIS 1400 and cert den 495 US 963, 109 L Ed 2d 757, 110 S Ct 2576 and stay gr (Cal) 1990 Cal LEXIS 2379 (evidence of an offense, the record of which was expunged on honorable discharge from the federal youth authority, was admissible to prove a prior offense in a prosecution in which a prior offense is an element of the crime charged); State v Morowitz, 200 Conn 440, 512 A2d 175, 82 ALR4th 899.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of other offense where record has been expunged or erased, 82 ALR4th 913.

Footnote 81. Dowling v United States, 493 US 342, 107 L Ed 2d 708, 110 S Ct 668, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1; King v Brewer (CA8 Iowa) 577 F2d 435, cert den 440 US 918, 59 L Ed 2d 468, 99 S Ct 1238; United States v Addington (CA10 Kan) 471 F2d 560;

Holt v United States (CA10 Okla) 404 F2d 914, cert den 393 US 1086, 21 L Ed 2d 779, 89 S Ct 872, reh den 394 US 967, 22 L Ed 2d 570, 89 S Ct 1303; Ex parte Bayne (Ala) 375 So 2d 1239, on remand (Ala App) 375 So 2d 1244; People v Oliphant, 399 Mich 472, 250 NW2d 443 (prosecution for rape; State v Cooksey (Mo) 499 SW2d 485 (recognizing rule); State v Zarinsky, 143 NJ Super 35, 362 A2d 611, affd 75 NJ 101, 380 A2d 685; State v Smith, 271 Or 294, 532 P2d 9; Commonwealth v Manuszak, 155 Pa Super 309, 38 A2d 355; Taylor v Commonwealth, 186 Va 587, 43 SE2d 906; State v Tarman, 27 Wash App 645, 621 P2d 737.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence as to other offense as affected by defendant's acquittal of that offense, 25 ALR4th 934.

Footnote 82. State v Varner (Mo) 329 SW2d 623, cert den 365 US 803, 5 L Ed 2d 460, 81 S Ct 468.

Footnote 83. State v Smith, 271 Or 294, 532 P2d 9.

Footnote 84. State v Perkins (Fla) 349 So 2d 161; State v Wakefield (Minn) 278 NW2d 307; State v Holman (Tenn) 611 SW2d 411, 25 ALR4th 928.

In prosecution for recklessly engaging in conduct placing others in danger of death and serious bodily injury, admission of testimony that defendant stuck pistol into stomach of one complainant was error where defendant had been acquitted of that charge at earlier trial. State v Kerwin, 133 Vt 391, 340 A2d 45.

Footnote 85. Holland v State (Fla) 466 So 2d 207, 10 FLW 71 (prosecution for armed robbery).

Footnote 86. § 419.

Footnote 87. United States v Martinez (CA10 Colo) 744 F2d 76, 16 Fed Rules Evid Serv 797, later proceeding (CA10 Colo) 771 F2d 424, mod, in part on other grounds, reh den, in part (CA10 Colo) 778 F2d 553, vacated on other grounds 475 US 1138, 90 L Ed 2d 333, 106 S Ct 1787, on remand (CA10 Colo) 800 F2d 230.

Footnote 88. State v Little, 87 Ariz 295, 350 P2d 756, 86 ALR2d 1120.

Footnote 89. United States v Gonzalez-Sanchez (CA1 Puerto Rico) 825 F2d 572, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 641, cert den 484 US 989, 98 L Ed 2d 508, 108 S Ct 510, later proceeding (CA1 Puerto Rico) 840 F2d 1022, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 75; United States v Castro (CA7 Ill) 629 F2d 456 (criticized on other grounds by United States v Gonzalez-Sanchez (CA1 Puerto Rico) 825 F2d 572, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 641); State v Little, 87 Ariz 295, 350 P2d 756, 86 ALR2d 1120; Moore v State, 254 Ga 674, 333 SE2d 605, on remand 176 Ga App 314, 336 SE2d 619; State v Irons, 230 Kan 138, 630 P2d 1116 (prosecution for aggravated robbery); People v Acevedo, 69 NY2d 478, 515 NYS2d 753, 508 NE2d 665; Dedrick v State (Tex Crim) 623 SW2d 332, reh den (Nov 25, 1981) (prosecution for robbery); Dedrick v State (Tex Crim) 623 SW2d 332, reh den (Nov 25, 1981) (prosecution for robbery).

In an armed robbery prosecution, admission of evidence of defendant's previous participation in another armed robbery, of which defendant had been acquitted, was barred by collateral estoppel where acquittal was based on determination that defendant was not perpetrator, and where it could not be said that evidence of prior offense did not contribute to conviction. Moore v State, 254 Ga 674, 333 SE2d 605, on remand 176 Ga App 314, 336 SE2d 619.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence as to other offense as affected by defendant's acquittal of that offense, 25 ALR4th 934.

Footnote 90. United States v King (CA2 NY) 563 F2d 559, 77-2 USTC ¶ 9717, 40 AFTR 2d 77-5924, cert den 435 US 918, 55 L Ed 2d 510, 98 S Ct 1476; United States v Ballard (CA5 Fla) 586 F2d 1060; United States v Gonzalez (CA5 Tex) 548 F2d 1185; Oliphant v Koehler (CA6 Mich) 594 F2d 547, cert den 444 US 877, 62 L Ed 2d 105, 100 S Ct 162 (prosecution for rape); People v Kennedy (4th Dist) 60 Ill App 3d 947, 18 Ill Dec 345, 377 NE2d 830; State v Garcia, 74 Or App 649, 704 P2d 544, review den 300 Or 180, 708 P2d 1146; Rhodes v Commonwealth, 223 Va 743, 292 SE2d 373.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence as to other offense as affected by defendant's acquittal of that offense, 25 ALR4th 934.

Footnote 91. United States v King (CA2 NY) 563 F2d 559, 77-2 USTC ¶ 9717, 40 AFTR 2d 77-5924, cert den 435 US 918, 55 L Ed 2d 510, 98 S Ct 1476.

Footnote 92. Dowling v United States, 493 US 342, 107 L Ed 2d 708, 110 S Ct 668, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1, holding that in trial of a defendant who was accused of robbing a Virgin Islands bank while wearing a ski mask and carrying a small handgun, the admission of testimony by a witness who stated that a man later revealed to be the defendant had entered her home two weeks after the bank robbery, wearing a different-colored knitted mask and carrying a small handgun and accompanied by another man who had allegedly been involved in the bank robbery, was not barred even though the defendant had been acquitted of charges arising from that intrusion since: (1) the prior acquittal did not determine an ultimate issue in the case at hand; (2) even assuming that the acquittal established that there was reasonable doubt that the defendant had in fact been the masked man who entered the witness's home, the prosecution did not have to establish this fact beyond a reasonable doubt in order to make such evidence of prior acts relevant under Rule 404(b); and (3) even if the lower burden of proof with regard to the admission of the testimony at the instant trial did not avoid the application of the collateral estoppel, the defendant had not sustained his burden of demonstrating that his acquittal in the other trial represented a jury determination that he had not been one of the men who entered the witness's house.

Footnote 93. Dowling v United States, 493 US 342, 107 L Ed 2d 708, 110 S Ct 668, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1.

§ 411 --Admissibility in civil case

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

A prior acquittal in a criminal prosecution is not generally admissible in evidence in a civil action, to establish the truth of the facts upon which it was based. 94 Since an acquittal might merely mean that the offense was not proved beyond all reasonable doubt, the acquittal is of no relevance in a civil proceeding where the facts need only be proved by the greater weight of the evidence. 95

§ 411 --Admissibility in civil case [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In personal injury action by patron of nightclub against security guard who shot him in altercation after patron was ejected from club, trial court committed reversible error in admitting evidence that patron had been convicted of simple assault arising out of same incident, where patron's conviction of intentionally engaging in assaultive behavior did not concern propriety of guard's use of deadly force as alleged in personal injury action, which was basis of civil action. Godbolt v Brawley (1995) 250 Va 467, 463 SE2d 657.

Footnotes

Footnote 94. Rutherford v State of California (4th Dist) 188 Cal App 3d 1267, 233 Cal Rptr 781; State v Lugg, 144 Conn 21, 127 A2d 52; Smith v Goodwin, 103 Ga App 248, 119 SE2d 35; McCottrell v Benson (4th Dist) 32 Ill App 2d 367, 178 NE2d 144; Shatz v American Surety Co. (Ky) 295 SW2d 809; Pennsylvania Turnpike Com. v United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 412 Pa 222, 194 A2d 423; Smith v New Dixie Lines, Inc., 201 Va 466, 111 SE2d 434.

Annotation: Conviction or acquittal as evidence of the facts on which it was based in civil action, 18 ALR2d 1287 § 6.

Footnote 95. Smith v Andrews (2d Dist) 54 Ill App 2d 51, 203 NE2d 160, cert den 382 US 1029, 15 L Ed 2d 543, 86 S Ct 655, reh den 383 US 954, 16 L Ed 2d 216, 86 S Ct 1210.

§ 412 Persons covered

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Since Rule 404(b) provides that evidence of other crimes is not admissible to prove the character of "a person," while Rule 404(a) makes reference to an "accused," a "victim," and a "witness," Congress must have intended "a person" to have a different meaning from "an accused." Therefore, the rule applies to evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts of a third party. 96 A "person" includes a government informant. 97 However, there is some authority that the word "person" in FRE Rule 404(b) refers only to the accused and not to a victim or witness. 98

FRE Rule 404(b) does not exclude evidence of prior crimes of persons other than the defendant. 99 Accordingly, criminal acts by a coconspirator, if committed as part of or in furtherance of the general conspiracy, are not "other act" evidence and are properly admissible to demonstrate the scope of the conspiracy. 1 However, a defendant may not introduce evidence of wrongdoing by another person in order to establish his own innocence. 2

♦ Observation: A "person" can apparently include a child. 3

Footnotes

Footnote 96. United States v McCourt (CA9 Cal) 925 F2d 1229, 91 CDOS 1368, 91 Daily Journal DAR 2195, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 358, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 89, 112 S Ct 121.

Footnote 97. Although FRE Rule 404(b) is normally used by the government to justify admission of evidence of prior similar offenses committed by the defendant, in which case strict standards for admissibility protect the defendant from prejudice, a defendant can offer evidence, relevant to prove his lack of intent and to impeach a witness, of acts by a government informant, which are necessary as part of a vigorous defense. United States v McClure (CA5 Fla) 546 F2d 670, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 288, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 577 F2d 1021.

In a narcotics prosecution, FBI agent's testimony that an informant had come to FBI's attention during the investigation of several murders and that the informant had given detailed statements admitting his own participation in the murders was admissible since the prosecution needed to get damaging evidence about the informant in front of the jury on direct rather than on cross-examination and the testimony did not implicate the defendant in the murders and was only tangentially related to him. United States v Rodriguez-Cardona (CA1 Puerto Rico) 924 F2d 1148, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 241, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 31, 112 S Ct 54.

Footnote 98. United States v Kelley (CA8 Mo) 545 F2d 619, 94 BNA LRRM 2550, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13124, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 469, cert den 430 US 933, 51 L Ed 2d 777, 97 S Ct 1555, 94 BNA LRRM 2962, 81 CCH LC ¶ 13128.

Footnote 99. United States v Gonzalez-Sanchez (CA1 Puerto Rico) 825 F2d 572, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 641, cert den 484 US 989, 98 L Ed 2d 508, 108 S Ct 510, later proceeding (CA1 Puerto Rico) 840 F2d 1022, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 75 (evidence concerning attorney's counseling of gang members properly admitted, since testimony did not directly implicate defendant in any crime but at most suggested that he had knowledge of prior crimes of other persons).

Footnote 1. United States v Collins (CA11 Fla) 779 F2d 1520, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 78; United States v Meester (CA11 Ga) 762 F2d 867, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1518, reh den, en banc (CA11 Ga) 768 F2d 1353 and cert den 474 US 1024, 88 L Ed 2d 562, 106 S Ct 579.

Footnote 2. United States v Puckett (CA10 Okla) 692 F2d 663, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1348, cert den 459 US 1091, 74 L Ed 2d 939, 103 S Ct 579 and cert den 460 US 1024, 75 L Ed 2d 497, 103 S Ct 1276.

Footnote 3. In a prosecution for first-degree murder arising from the burning of a house, and resulting in a sentence of death, it was proper to allow cross-examination of the defendant regarding a previous arson committed when he was 10 years old, where it was the defendant who first mentioned burning the house as a child in an effort to explain his previous testimony that he did not set the fire in the present case. Toole v State (Fla) 479 So 2d 731, 10 FLW 617, 51 ALR4th 1231.

b. Determination of and Prerequisites to Admissibility [413-426]

§ 413 General requisites

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In 1988, the United States Supreme Court in the Huddleston case stated that a defendant's protection against unduly prejudicial similar-acts evidence emanates from four sources in the Federal Rules:

- (1) the requirement of Rule 404(b) that the similar-acts evidence be offered for a proper purpose;
- (2) the relevancy requirement of Rule 402;
- (3) the assessment which a District Court must make under Rule 403 to determine whether the probative value of the evidence is substantially outweighed by its potential for unfair prejudice; and
- (4) the provision of Rule 105 that a trial court shall, upon request, instruct the jury that similar-acts evidence is to be considered only for the proper purpose for which it was admitted. 4

Following the court's analysis in Huddleston, many courts described the balancing process required by FRE Rule 404 as a four-part test in which the trial court:

- (1) determines whether the evidence is offered for a proper purpose;
- (2) decides whether it is relevant;
- (3) decides whether probative value is outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice; and
- (4) gives a limiting instruction on request. 5

Other courts, often citing Huddleston, describe a variant four-part test in which the trial court decides whether other crimes evidence:

- (1) relates to a matter in issue other than general propensity;
- (2) proves an act that is similar enough and close enough in time to be relevant;
- (3) suffices to support a jury finding that the act happened and that defendant committed it; and
- (4) possesses probative value that is not outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice. 6

Still other courts refer to a simpler two-part test, that asks whether:

- (1) the evidence is relevant to some point other than general propensity; and
- (2) prejudicial impact substantially outweighs probative worth. 7

This last test is basically the same test articulated by many courts prior to the Huddleston decision. In these earlier cases it was generally stated that under Rule 404(b), the trial court must perform a two-step analysis of the evidence of other crimes prior to admitting such evidence:

- (1) determining whether the evidence is relevant to some issue at trial other than to prove the character of the person for the purpose of showing that he acted in conformity therewith; and
- (2) if the evidence is relevant, determining under FRE Rule 403 whether its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. 8

◆ Observation: It has been noted that the construction and interpretation placed by federal authorities on Rule 404(b) is entitled to appreciable weight in interpreting a similar state rule. 9

§ 413 ----General requisites [SUPPLEMENT]

Rules:

As to rules allowing evidence of prior sexual assaults and child molestation, (Federal Rules of Evidence, Rules 413-415), added by Congress in 1994, see § 404.

Case authorities:

New trial is denied parents bringing products liability case against cigarette lighter manufacturer, even though it was error for court to overrule objection to landlady's testimony about prior incident of parental absence, which was offered to raise inference that parents left child alone for protracted period on morning of fire—precisely that which FRE 404(b) forbids, because it is highly probable, in context of whole trial, that erroneous admission of that testimony did not contribute to judgment. Griggs v BIC

Corp. (1994, MD Pa) 844 F Supp 190.

On charges of conspiracy to misuse official positions by awarding publicly funded sham contracts to political consultants, evidence of consulting contract issued by one defendant was simply further direct evidence relating to unindicted acts of conspiracy, not "other acts" evidence. United States v Moeller (1996, CA5 Tex) 80 F3d 1053.

Clandestine videotape of conversation among defendant, confidential informant, and undercover agent was properly admitted, not as Rule 404(b) evidence, but as statements in furtherance of conspiracy and relevant to jury's overall understanding of otherwise admissible incriminating conversation; conversation indicated that defendant was using past relationship with confidential informant's confederate to further deal in question. United States v Landers (1994, CA6 Tenn) 39 F3d 643, 1994 FED App 368P, reh, en banc, den (1994, CA6 Tenn) 1994 US App LEXIS 36111.

Trial court in marijuana manufacturing conspiracy committed harmless error in admitting evidence of marijuana growing on defendant's aunt's property as prior acts evidence since police officer's testimony demonstrating any lack of evidence linking defendant with aunt's property and marijuana growing there virtually eliminated any prejudice, and evidence of defendant's guilt of charged offense was overwhelming. United States v Mihm (1994, CA8 Minn) 13 F3d 1200.

"Mere presence" defense denies existence of state of mind that is element of offense of possession with intent to distribute cocaine, thus making evidence of prior bad acts admissible. United States v Thomas (1995, CA8 Ark) 58 F3d 1318.

Evidence of defendant's corporate tax returns were inextricably intertwined in his larger scheme to evade his personal income taxes, therefore not other acts evidence and admissible; corporate and individual tax returns were prepared by same accountant and corporate returns showed corporate losses and reported no salary paid to defendant, so government had to establish falsity of those returns before it could establish corporation as source of defendant's allegedly unreported personal income. United States v Kallin (1995, CA9 Ariz) 50 F3d 689, 95 CDOS 1985, 95 Daily Journal DAR 3422, 95-1 USTC ¶ 50162, amd, motion den (1995, CA9 Ariz) 95 CDOS 4193, 95 Daily Journal DAR 7246.

In prosecution for child molestation involving defendant's stepdaughter, child under age of 14, trial court properly admitted evidence of defendant's prior abuse of his brother, cousin, two nephews, and two nieces, that during their childhoods defendant had fondled them or, in some cases, engaged them in sexual intercourse and/or sodomy, where evidence was sufficiently similar and where written notice of prosecution's intent to present similar transaction evidence was timely served on defendant. Ramsey v State (1994) 214 Ga App 743, 448 SE2d 790, 94 Fulton County D R 3307.

In prosecution for defendant's molestation of his daughter, trial court's erroneous admission, over defendant's objection, of testimony of defendant's other two daughters regarding prior uncharged acts of molestation, required reversal, where judicial temperance presumption applicable to bench trial did not apply since evidence was used for improper purpose—under depraved sexual impulse exception, evidence was admissible at time of trial, evidence was admitted over special objection, and there was no other overwhelming evidence of guilt. Shanks v State (1994, Ind App) 640 NE2d 734.

In prosecution for aggravated sodomy in connection with defendant's molestation of 9-year-old girl, evidence of one instance of defendant's prior sexual touching of victim was not admissible, since it was only other evidence of defendant's sexual contact with victim and was not sufficient to establish relationship or continuing course of conduct between parties. State v Lavery (1993) 19 Kan App 2d 673, 877 P2d 443.

Other acts evidence may be admitted if it is offered for a proper purpose under MRE 404(b), it is relevant under MRE 402 as enforced through MRE 104(b), and its probative value is not substantially outweighed by unfair prejudice; upon request, a trial court may provide a limiting instruction. People v Basinger (1994) 203 Mich App 603, 513 NW2d 828.

There was no plain error in a first-degree murder prosecution where the trial court allowed the prosecution to present the testimony of the victim of a prior robbery when defendant had already admitted committing the robbery during his testimony and had indicated a willingness to stipulate the existence of the robbery conviction. State v Buckner (1995) 342 NC 198, 464 SE2d 414.

The trial court did not err in a caveat proceeding by excluding evidence regarding the behavior of the primary beneficiary after the execution of the will. In re Will of Jones (1994) 114 NC App 782, 443 SE2d 363.

Footnotes

Footnote 4. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 5. United States v Bakke (CA6 Mich) 942 F2d 977, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 749, post-conviction proceeding (CA6 Mich) 1993 US App LEXIS 17682, motion den (CA6 Mich) 1993 US App LEXIS 32551; United States v Murphy (CA7 Ill) 935 F2d 899, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 423; United States v Morgan (CA10 Okla) 936 F2d 1561, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 583, cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 431, 112 S Ct 1190; United States v Poole (CA10 Kan) 929 F2d 1476, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 981; United States v Jefferson (CA10 Wyo) 925 F2d 1242, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 916, supp op (CA10 Wyo) 931 F2d 1396, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 194, 112 S Ct 238, 112 S Ct 239.

Forms: Instruction to jury—Consideration of evidence admitted for limited purpose. 9A Am Jur Pl & Pr Forms (Rev), Evidence, Form 18.

Footnote 6. Government of Virgin Islands v Edwards (CA3 VI) 903 F2d 267, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 610 (four slightly different factors); United States v Wright (CA7 Ill) 943 F2d 748, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 540; United States v Stevenson (CA7 Ill) 942 F2d 1111, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1250, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 620, 112 S Ct 596; United States v Scop (CA7 Ill) 940 F2d 1004, CCH Fed Secur L Rep ¶ 96212, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1245; United States v Brownlee (CA7 Ill) 937 F2d 1248, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1488; United States v Elizondo (CA7 Wis) 920 F2d 1308; United States v Sullivan (CA7 Ind) 911 F2d 2, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 106; United States v Brown (CA8 Mo) 948 F2d 1076, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 462; United States v Crook (CA8 Ark) 936 F2d 1012, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 555, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1991 US App LEXIS

18377 and cert den (US) 117 L Ed 2d 138, 112 S Ct 974; United States v Crump (CA8 Mo) 934 F2d 947, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 83, reh den (CA8) 1991 US App LEXIS 15599; United States v Longbehn (CA8 Minn) 898 F2d 635, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1349, cert den 495 US 952, 109 L Ed 2d 542, 110 S Ct 2217 and cert den 498 US 877, 112 L Ed 2d 168, 111 S Ct 208; United States v Adams (CA8 Minn) 898 F2d 1310; United States v Rubio-Villareal (CA9 Cal) 927 F2d 1495, 91 CDOS 1783, 91 Daily Journal DAR 2901, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 621, reh, en banc, gr (CA9) 943 F2d 1161, 91 CDOS 7384, 91 Daily Journal DAR 11235 and vacated, in part, op replaced, in part, on reh, en banc, remanded (CA9 Cal) 967 F2d 294, 92 CDOS 4873, 92 Daily Journal DAR 7797, later proceeding (CA9 Cal) 977 F2d 594, reported in full (CA9) 1992 US App LEXIS 26361; United States v Bibo-Rodriguez (CA9 Cal) 922 F2d 1398, 91 CDOS 238, 91 Daily Journal DAR 185, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 145, cert den (US) 115 L Ed 2d 1028, 111 S Ct 2861; United States v Boise (CA9 Or) 916 F2d 497, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 904, cert den (US) 114 L Ed 2d 462, 111 S Ct 2057.

See United States v Houser (CA9 Mont) 929 F2d 1369, 91 CDOS 2481, 91 Daily Journal DAR 3941, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 15 (there must be sufficient evidence of the prior crime; it must not be too remote; it must be similar to the acts charged; the evidence must prove an essential element). To the same effect is United States v Kindred (CA9 Nev) 931 F2d 609, 91 CDOS 3047, 91 Daily Journal DAR 4895, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1255.

Footnote 7. United States v Desmarais (CA1 NH) 938 F2d 347, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 717; United States v Shenker (CA1 Mass) 933 F2d 61, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1275; United States v Latorre (CA1 Puerto Rico) 922 F2d 1, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1066, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 175, 112 S Ct 217; United States v Gonzalez-Lira (CA5 Tex) 936 F2d 184, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1505; United States v Brookins (CA5 Miss) 919 F2d 281, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 616; United States v Paulino (CA6 Ky) 935 F2d 739, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 488, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 257, 112 S Ct 315 and cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 264, 112 S Ct 323 and cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 751, 112 S Ct 660 and cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 787, 112 S Ct 883; United States v Feinman (CA6 Ohio) 930 F2d 495, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 831.

Footnote 8. United States v Di Geronimo (CA2 NY) 598 F2d 746, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 796, cert den 444 US 886, 62 L Ed 2d 117, 100 S Ct 180; United States v Aleman (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 881, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 540; United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800.

The court must identify the exception to inadmissibility that applies to the evidence in question and evaluate whether the evidence, although relevant and within the exception, is sufficiently probative to make tolerable the risk that jurors will act on the basis of emotion or on the basis of an inference created through blackening of the defendant's character. Young v Rabideau (CA7 Ill) 821 F2d 373, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 4, cert den 484 US 915, 98 L Ed 2d 221, 108 S Ct 263.

The decision whether to admit or exclude evidence of extraneous offenses can only be made after logical analysis and should never be made automatically or mechanistically. Crossman v State (Tex App Corpus Christi) 797 SW2d 321.

Footnote 9. State v Forsland (ND) 326 NW2d 688.

§ 414 --Checklist of conditions

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In view of the varying tests prescribed by the courts, 10 the following conditions must generally be satisfied before evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts may be admitted under FRE Rule 404(b):

- Proof of other similar crimes must be such that the jury could find by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant committed the other act, wrong, or crime in question 11
- The other crimes must not be too remote in time from the charged offense 12
- The evidence must be admitted for a purpose allowed under Rule 404(b) 13
- The evidence must relate to a material issue in the case 14
- There must be substantial need for the probative value of the evidence, 15 although where the government's need for evidence is marginal, it is admissible where relevant if the threat of unfair prejudice to the defendant is even smaller 16
- The evidence must have real probative value, not just possible worth 17
- The probative value of the evidence of other crimes must not be substantially outweighed by prejudice to the defendant 18

§ 414 --Checklist of conditions [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

In prosecution on various charges arising from murder of witness before grand jury which had indicted codefendant for illegal gambling, evidence of robberies in which defendant and testifying conspirator had been involved was intrinsic evidence inextricably intertwined with crime charged since they explained circumstances of witness's murder, clarified relationship among defendants and testifying conspirator, explained why defendant would trust testifying conspirator with knowledge of witness's murder, and why codefendant would discuss that murder with defendant in testifying conspirator's presence. United States v McGuire (1995, CA8 Mo) 45 F3d 1177, reh den (1995, CA8 Mo) 1995 US App LEXIS 2497.

Footnotes

Footnote 10. § 413.

Footnote 11. § 417.

Footnote 12. § 416.

Footnote 13. Carson v Polley (CA5 Tex) 689 F2d 562, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1259, 35 FR Serv 2d 152, 64 ALR Fed 613; United States v Myers (CA5 Fla) 550 F2d 1036, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1389, 42 ALR Fed 855, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 572 F2d 506, cert den 439 US 847, 58 L Ed 2d 149, 99 S Ct 147; United States v Hogue (CA10 NM) 827 F2d 660, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 85; United States v Kendall (CA10 Okla) 766 F2d 1426, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1355, cert den 474 US 1081, 88 L Ed 2d 889, 106 S Ct 848; United States v Jackson (CA11 Ga) 761 F2d 1541, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 425.

Footnote 14. United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847; United States v Wormick (CA7 Ill) 709 F2d 454, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 2008 (disapproved on other grounds by Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1) as stated in United States v Gonzalez-Lira (CA5 Tex) 936 F2d 184, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1505; United States v Horvath (CA8 Minn) 731 F2d 557, 84-1 USTC ¶ 9482, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1048, 53 AFTR 2d 84-1138; United States v Marshall (CA8 Ark) 683 F2d 1212, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416; United States v Vik (CA8 Mo) 655 F2d 878, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1256; United States v Hodges (CA9 Cal) 770 F2d 1475, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 364.

Evidence of defendant's possession of a hypodermic needle at the time of his arrest should not have been admitted in his prosecution for burglary of a building where there was no suggestion or indication that defendant burglarized the building to obtain money or property to support a drug habit and nothing to show any relevance to the context of the offense or to any other issue in the case. Couret v State (Tex Crim) 792 SW2d 106.

Footnote 15. United States v Fosher (CA1 Mass) 568 F2d 207, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 537, appeal after remand (CA1 Mass) 590 F2d 381, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 552 (criticized on other grounds by United States v Downing (CA3 Pa) 753 F2d 1224, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Moore (CA5 Tex) 786 F2d 1308, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 671); United States v Griffin (CA4 Va) 13 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1990; United States v Silva (CA5 Tex) 580 F2d 144, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 599, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 611 F2d 78.

Footnote 16. United States v Childs, 194 US App DC 250, 598 F2d 169.

Footnote 17. United States v Hogue (CA10 NM) 827 F2d 660, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 85.

Footnote 18. § 419.

§ 415 Timing of other crimes, wrongs, or acts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

Under FRE Rule 404(b), evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts may include acts committed prior to, 19 simultaneous to, 20 or after 21 the charged offense, so long as the event occurred at a reasonably closely related time. 22 However, it has been suggested that evidence of a subsequent extrinsic offense bears substantially less on predisposition than would a prior extrinsic offense. 23

§ 415 ----Timing of other crimes, wrongs, or acts [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Testimony by robbery victim identifying bank robbery defendants was properly admitted as relevant to intent to conspire since it occurred only 17 days after bank robbery, both robberies were committed by three stocking- masked males, and in both robberies larger male carried black short-barrelled shotgun and smaller vaulted over relatively high obstacle. United States v Kern (1993, CA8 Neb) 12 F3d 122.

In prosecution for molestation of his two granddaughters, evidence of defendant's molestation of his two daughters was admissible, even though prior acts occurred during time period up to 11 years before trial, where evidence showed defendant's almost continuous course of identical conduct over 27- year period preceding molestation of his granddaughters, and where obviously many years were going to elapse between time such acts occurred with his daughters and time such acts occurred with children of one of those daughters. Snow v State (1994) 213 Ga App 571, 445 SE2d 353, 94 Fulton County D R 2263.

Footnotes

Footnote 19. United States v Viruet (CA2 NY) 539 F2d 295, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 299; United States v Sinclair (DC Del) 433 F Supp 1180; United States v McClure (CA5 Fla) 546 F2d 670, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 288, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 577 F2d 1021; United States v Wixom (CA8 Minn) 529 F2d 217.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of subsequent criminal offenses as affected by proximity as to time and place, 92 ALR3d 545.

Footnote 20. United States v Viserto (CA2 NY) 596 F2d 531, cert den 444 US 841, 62 L Ed 2d 52, 100 S Ct 80; United States v Parkison (ED Wis) 417 F Supp 730, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1175.

Evidence that defendants were in possession of marijuana at time of their arrest was properly admitted in their prosecution for cocaine distribution conspiracy given relevance to charged conduct and occurrence close in time. United States v Arboleda (CA1 NH) 929 F2d 858, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1164.

Footnote 21. United States v Ramirez (CA2 Conn) 894 F2d 565, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1400; United States v Di Giovanni (CA2 NY) 544 F2d 642, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 417;

United States v Whaley (CA4 Va) 786 F2d 1229, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 668; United States v Osum (CA5 La) 943 F2d 1394, 34 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1126; United States v McClure (CA5 Fla) 546 F2d 670, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 288, appeal after remand (CA5 Fla) 577 F2d 1021; United States v Brown (CA8 Mo) 923 F2d 109, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 37, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 80, 112 S Ct 110; United States v Matlock (CA8 Ark) 558 F2d 1328, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 380, cert den 434 US 872, 54 L Ed 2d 152, 98 S Ct 218; United States v Ayers (CA9 Cal) 924 F2d 1468, 91 CDOS 763, 91 Daily Journal DAR 1198, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 742, amd, reh den (CA9) 1991 US App LEXIS 5313 and amd, reh den (CA9 Cal) 91 CDOS 2427, 91 Daily Journal DAR 3797 and (among conflicting authorities noted in United States v Harvey (CA9) 1992 US App LEXIS 18641); United States v Hogue (CA10 NM) 827 F2d 660, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 85; United States v Hurley (CA11 Ala) 755 F2d 788, 17 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1426; United States v Watson, 282 US App DC 305, 894 F2d 1345, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1201.

Evidence that defendant failed to pay taxes during years both prior to and following the years charged in the information was properly received under FRE Rule 404(b) as proof of pattern or plan, and as proof of absence of accident, negligence, or inadvertence. United States v Ausmus (CA6 Ky) 774 F2d 722, 85-2 USTC ¶ 9742, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 761, 56 AFTR 2d 85-6179.

In a robbery prosecution in which robber wore yellow pants and used a small blue gun, testimony that defendant was in a store wearing yellow pants and carrying a small blue gun six days after the robbery was admissible to rebut the defendant's contention that his yellow pants had been stolen before the robbery even though the identification might give rise to an inference of a subsequent, extraneous offense. State v Hatter (La) 338 So 2d 100.

But see Prior v State (Tex Crim) 647 SW2d 956, a prosecution for indecency with a child, holding that trial court erred in admitting, over objection, two extraneous offenses involving defendant's exposing himself which occurred after the alleged offense, where all elements of the offense charge were clearly proven and undisputed prior to the introduction to the evidence as extraneous offenses subject to the objection, there was no defense offered, and the testimony was not undermined by defense cross-examination.

Footnote 22. § 416.

Footnote 23. United States v Jimenez (CA5 Tex) 613 F2d 1373, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002.

§ 416 --Remoteness in time

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

In order for evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts to be admitted, the other crimes must not be too remote in time from the charged offense. 24 But there is no absolute rule regarding the time that can separate the extraneous acts from the charged offense; rather, the court applies a reasonableness standard and examines the facts and circumstances of each case. 25 Remoteness decisions are said to be so fact-specific that a generally applicable litmus test would be of dubious value. 26

◆ Observation: It has been suggested that the time factor–recency versus remoteness—is often mentioned as bearing on the probative worth of previous offenses, but that this factor seldom seems determinative. 27

Although the more remote the extrinsic offense, the less probative it is, 28 the court must examine the overall similarity of the charged offense and of the extrinsic offense to determine its probative value and its admissibility. 29

The trial court has broad discretion in determining if an extrinsic offense is too remote to be probative. Remoteness must be looked at in light of the similarity between the charged and the extrinsic offense; where the offenses are very similar, the probative value of the extrinsic offense is not so reduced by its remoteness to the charged offense. 30

To be admissible, evidence of an extrinsic offense committed after the charged offense may have to be closer in time to the charged offense than a prior extrinsic offense. 31

§ 416 --Remoteness in time [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Evidence that defendant had previously taken animal of protected species was admissible other acts evidence since it involved same act with which he was charged, i.e., illegal possession of protected species of wildlife, three-year time span was sufficiently close, and fact that species were different was irrelevant. United States v Kuipers (1995, CA7 Ill) 49 F3d 1254.

Black employee's first-hand experience of having received racial threat from coworker fifteen years earlier was too tenuously related to alleged discriminatory actions by supervisors many years later who had not even been employed at plant during earlier incident to create genuine issue of fact concerning existence of racial motive for those actions. Russell v Acme-Evans Co. (1995, CA7 Ind) 51 F3d 64, 67 BNA FEP Cas 559, reh, en banc, den (1995, CA7 Ind) 1995 US App LEXIS 8988.

Evidence of defendant's 1978 drug conviction should not have been introduced since it was remote, involved single sale of cocaine to undercover agents while charged crime involved large scale, ongoing distribution conspiracy, and was more prejudicial than probative since there was other, overwhelming evidence of defendant's knowledge and intent. United States v Mejia-Urbe (1996, CA8 Mo) 75 F3d 395, 43 Fed Rules Evid Serv 775, reh, en banc, den (1996, CA8) 1996 US App LEXIS 5003.

Evidence of biases held by professor who chaired university's appointments committee were not remote acts and therefore excludible in discrimination suit by candidate rejected for position since evidence was of consistent pattern of behavior and one manifestation of alleged discriminatory attitude occurred only few months before search in question. Lam v University of Hawaii (1994, CA9 Hawaii) 40 F3d 1551.

In trial on charges arising out of extensive fraud scheme at loan brokerage firm, evidence of defendant's employment at different brokerage company whose clients were defrauded in similar manner and fact that his coworkers there were convicted of fraud offenses was admissible to show that defendant had knowledge about type of loan scheme he was involved with at brokerage firm in question and that it had potentially criminal consequences; five-year gap between prior acts and present scheme was not so large as to make evidence less probative, given specialized knowledge required to set up extensive scheme. United States v Massey (1995, CA10 Okla) 48 F3d 1560, cert den (1995, US) 1995 US LEXIS 4414.

In prosecution for child molestation based on defendant's exposure of his penis to 4-year-old child, trial court properly admitted evidence of defendant's prior conviction of public indecency, based on his exposure to 7- year-old child, where underlying acts were strikingly similar, although conviction was not for child molestation. Hathcock v State (1994) 214 Ga App 188, 447 SE2d 104, 94 Fulton County D R 2677, reconsideration den (Jul 28, 1994).

In prosecution for defendant's alleged 1992 rape of his daughter- in-law, trial court properly admitted evidence of defendant's similar rape of his daughter, which occurred during 1963-1964 school year, since alleged similar offense was less than judicially-declared maximum of 31 years old. Painter v State (1995) 219 Ga App 290, 465 SE2d 290, 95 Fulton County D R 3926.

In child molestation prosecution, evidence that, at least 23 years earlier, defendant had molested his daughter was inadmissible as too remote in time. Fisher v State (1994, Ind App) 641 NE2d 105.

In prosecution of physician for sexual assault arising from manner in which physician conducted medical examinations of female patients, evidence that, 11 years before allegedly criminal conduct, physician had conducted, in improper manner, authorized gynecological examination of physician's second cousin was admissible, and length of time between that conduct and allegedly criminal conduct was factor going to weight of evidence. State v Poole (1993, Minn) 499 NW2d 31.

In sodomy prosecution, evidence of prior uncharged sexual crimes that allegedly occurred 10 or 11 years earlier was not too remote to be material; remoteness goes to weight of such testimony, not to its admissibility. State v Coleman (1993, Mo App) 857 SW2d 363.

In prosecution for solicitation for sexual assault, evidence that, 16 to 18 years earlier, defendant had assaulted another female minor was inadmissible as too remote in time. State v Ray (1994, Mont) 882 P2d 1013.

In prosecution for sexual assault and solicitation of sexual assault, trial court committed reversible error in admitting testimony by another victim that defendant had sexually assaulted her approximately 16 to 18 years earlier, where those prior acts, without evidence of other intervening acts which would show continuous course of conduct were simply too remote in time, and where evidence of those prior acts was prejudicial in light of high probability that jury could have penalized defendant simply for his past bad character. State v Ray (1994, Mont) 882 P2d 1013.

In prosecution for sexual assault of acquaintance of defendant, trial court erred in admitting evidence of prior sexual assault committed by defendant 5 years earlier and defendant was entitled to new trial on sexual assault convictions, where although state argued that evidence was admissible to show defendant's plan and thereby rebut his claim of consent in this case, 5- year-old sexual assault committed in somewhat similar manner on another person did not constitute evidence of plan to commit assault on victim here, and while evidence might have shown propensity or predisposition to commit same offense, that was precise purpose for which evidence might not be used. State v Whittaker (1994) 138 NH 524, 642 A2d 936.

In civil sexual assault action, extraneous misconduct evidence, that 26 months earlier appellant had assaulted another woman under similar circumstances, was properly admitted, where consideration of testimony was limited to contested issue of intent, as appellant claimed act of sexual intercourse was consensual. McLellan v Benson (1994, Tex App Houston (1st Dist)) 877 SW2d 454.

In action for damages resulting from injuries sustained when 2- year-old fell from apartment window, evidence consisting of pictures and evidence of witnesses showing condition of apartment complex, including later maintenance, was properly excluded where court permitted testimony regarding condition of other window screens in complex on day after accident, and evidence of later time would not make existence of fact sought to be proved more or less probable. Fisher v River Oaks, Inc. (1994, La App 5th Cir) 635 So 2d 1209, cert den (La) 637 So 2d 503.

Footnotes

Footnote 24. United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847; United States v Silva (CA5 Tex) 580 F2d 144, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 599, appeal after remand (CA5 Tex) 611 F2d 78; United States v Wormick (CA7 Ill) 709 F2d 454, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 2008 (disapproved on other grounds by Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1); United States v Horvath (CA8 Minn) 731 F2d 557, 84-1 USTC ¶ 9482, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1048, 53 AFTR 2d 84-1138; United States v Marshall (CA8 Ark) 683 F2d 1212, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416; United States v Vik (CA8 Mo) 655 F2d 878, 8 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1256; United States v Bronco (CA9 Cal) 597 F2d 1300, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 79; United States v Hogue (CA10 NM) 827 F2d 660, 24 Fed Rules Evid Serv 85; United States v Kendall (CA10 Okla) 766 F2d 1426, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1355, cert den 474 US 1081, 88 L Ed 2d 889, 106 S Ct 848; State v Simmons, 175 W Va 656, 337 SE2d 314.

In a personal injury action brought by a plaintiff shot by defendant, court properly refused to admit evidence of defendant's prior conviction of a shooting incident 43 years earlier, where defendant had been pardoned 8 years after his conviction, and there was no evidence that defendant had since been involved in criminal activity. Echizenya v Armenio (La App 4th Cir) 354 So 2d 682, cert den (La) 356 So 2d 1006.

Footnote 25. United States v Hadaway (CA4 Md) 681 F2d 214, 10 Fed Rules Evid Serv 985; United States v Burkett (CA8 Mo) 821 F2d 1306, 23 Fed Rules Evid Serv 802; United States v Marshall (CA8 Ark) 683 F2d 1212, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416; United States v Franklin (CA10 Utah) 704 F2d 1183, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1752, cert den

464 US 845, 78 L Ed 2d 137, 104 S Ct 146.

Failure to file return and evasion of taxes are substantially similar for purposes of Rule 404, and acts taking place in 1969, 1970, and 1971, fell within the timeliness requirement where the offense charged was alleged to have started in 1977. United States v Jenkins (CA6 Mich) 871 F2d 598, 89-2 USTC ¶ 9572, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1226, 64 AFTR 2d 89-5157.

A prior conviction 12 years earlier is admissible on the issue of intent, because no authority supports the proposition that a bad act loses all probative value after a given period of time. United States v McCollum (CA9 Cal) 732 F2d 1419, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1033, cert den 469 US 920, 83 L Ed 2d 236, 105 S Ct 301.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of subsequent criminal offenses as affected by proximity as to time and place, 92 ALR3d 545.

Footnote 26. United States v Pollock (CA11 Ga) 926 F2d 1044, 32 Fed Rules Evid Serv 577, cert den (US) 116 L Ed 2d 617, 112 S Ct 593 (five-year-old conviction for drug dealing held not too remote when offered to show intent in drug conspiracy prosecution; court noting decisions tolerating lapses of about five years, and even "closely similar" offenses 10-13 years earlier).

Footnote 27. Louisell and Mueller, Federal Evidence § 140.

While similar acts, to be admissible, must have occurred reasonably near the offense in question, both in time and place, the key to probative value lies in its peculiar character, rather than its proximity to the event at issue. State v De Pina (Medina Co) 21 Ohio App 3d 91, 21 Ohio BR 97, 486 NE2d 1155, motion overr.

Footnote 28. United States v Beechum (CA5 Tex) 582 F2d 898, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1185, cert den 440 US 920, 59 L Ed 2d 472, 99 S Ct 1244; United States v Hearst (ND Cal) 412 F Supp 880; United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800.

In a prosecution for second-degree murder arising from a stabbing, District Court erred in admitting evidence of an incident six years earlier in which the defendant threatened his aunt with a knife while intoxicated, for purpose of establishing state of mind or intent, since the prior act was remote in time, unconnected to events surrounding the crime for which defendant was charged, and the issue was defendant's state of mind at the time of the charged offense. United States v Johnson (CA8 SD) 879 F2d 331, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 538.

Footnote 29. United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800.

Evidence of criminal assaults on children, perpetrated more than 15 years earlier, were properly admitted where all victims were male members of same family who were befriended by defendant at an early age and were molested between ages of 5 and 11 while in defendant's care. Adrian v People (Colo) 770 P2d 1243.

Footnote 30. United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid

Serv 1800.

Footnote 31. United States v Jimenez (CA5 Tex) 613 F2d 1373, 5 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002 (evidence of an alleged offense involving cocaine which took place one year after heroin distribution with which defendant was charged; such "considerable time" depleted evidence of any relevance which could have outweighed the peril of prejudice).

Court erred in admitting evidence that defendant had possessed 99 milligrams of cocaine 19 months after termination of alleged conspiracy to import illegal drugs, since prejudice outweighed probative value where defendant's alleged participation in conspiracy had been to loan funds for purchase of airplane used in the drug importation scheme and defendant denied any knowledge of intended illegal use. United States v Garcia-Rosa (CA1 Puerto Rico) 876 F2d 209, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 445, cert den 493 US 1030, 107 L Ed 2d 760, 110 S Ct 742 and vacated on other grounds 498 US 954, 112 L Ed 2d 391, 111 S Ct 377, on remand (CA1 Puerto Rico) 930 F2d 951 (among conflicting authorities noted in United States v O'Connor (CA7 Wis) 953 F2d 338) and cert den (US) 118 L Ed 2d 394, 112 S Ct 1676 and appeal after remand (CA1 Puerto Rico) 958 F2d 473, and (CA1 Puerto Rico) slip op and cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 159, 113 S Ct 221.

Evidence concerning transaction between defendant and rental car agency occurring three months after fraudulent loan application was filed was admissible on issue of intent. United States v Whaley (CA4 Va) 786 F2d 1229, 20 Fed Rules Evid Serv 668.

Evidence of bank robbery five weeks after robbery for which defendants are prosecuted is admissible. United States v Gutierrez (CA10 Colo) 696 F2d 753, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1837, cert den 461 US 909, 76 L Ed 2d 813, 103 S Ct 1884 and cert den 461 US 910, 76 L Ed 2d 814, 103 S Ct 1885.

§ 417 What proof of other acts is a sufficient prerequisite to admitting evidence of them

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table

FRE Rule 104(b) is applicable to the admission of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts under FRE Rule 404(b). 32 FRE Rule 104(b) provides that when the relevancy of evidence depends upon the fulfillment of a condition of fact, the court must admit it upon or subject to the introduction of evidence sufficient to support a finding of the fulfillment of the condition. 33 In determining whether in a criminal case the government has introduced sufficient evidence to meet this requirement, the trial court is not required to weigh credibility or make a finding that the government has proved the conditional fact by a preponderance of the evidence; the court examines all of the evidence in the case and decides whether the jury could reasonably find by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant committed the act in question. 34 The trial court may decide to allow the government to introduce evidence concerning a similar act and at a later point in the trial assess whether sufficient evidence has been offered to permit the jury to make the requisite finding. 35 If the proponent has failed to meet the minimal standard of proof, the trial court must instruct the jury to disregard the evidence. 36 The strength of the evidence which establishes the similar act is one of the factors which the trial court may consider when balancing probative value against prejudice, 37 but a preliminary determination by the court that a preponderance of the evidence supports a finding that the defendant committed the similar act is not a prerequisite for concluding that the prejudicial effect of the evidence does not substantially outweigh its probative value. 38

When the trial judge determines whether there is sufficient evidence for the jury to find that the defendant in fact committed the extrinsic offense, a witness's uncontroverted testimony is sufficient proof for the jury to find that the extrinsic offense occurred. 39 Moreover, the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice may be sufficient proof of other acts. 40

The Supreme Court has rejected the cases applying the clear and convincing standard for admissibility of evidence under FRE Rule 404(b). 41 A trial court need not make a preliminary finding that the government has proved the "other act" even by preponderance of evidence, much less by clear and convincing evidence, before submitting the evidence to the jury; rather, the emphasis is on admissibility. 42 But the proffered evidence cannot be of a vague and uncertain character, and that the prior conduct cannot be equally consistent with an innocent explanation. 43 Moreover, a vague description of other acts on the part of a defendant makes it more likely that the probative value of the evidence will be outweighed by its prejudice and that it will be excluded. 44 Where identification evidence linking the defendant to a prior crime is weak, evidence of the crime should not be admitted. 45

The government may not place before the jury a litany of potentially prejudicial similar acts that have been established or connected to a defendant only by unsubstantiated innuendo, since extrinsic acts evidence that might adversely reflect on the actor's character is admissible under FRE Rule 404(b) only if the evidence is relevant, and such evidence is relevant only if the jury can reasonably conclude that the act occurred and that the defendant was the actor. 46

◆ Practice guide: It is not the responsibility of the trial judge sua sponte to insure that foundation evidence is offered sufficient to support a finding of the fulfillment of a condition of fact under FRE Rule 104(b); rather, the objector must move to strike the evidence if at the close of the trial the offeror has failed to satisfy the condition. 47

Footnotes

Footnote 32. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Admission of prior bad acts under Rule 404(b) always must be evaluated by judge under conditional relevancy test of Rule 104(b). United States v Hudson (CA7 Wis) 884 F2d 1016, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1451, reh den, en banc (CA7) 1990 US App LEXIS 1528 and cert den 496 US 939, 110 L Ed 2d 668, 110 S Ct 3221.

Annotation: Admissibility of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts under Rule 404(b) of Federal Rules of Evidence, in civil cases, 64 ALR Fed 648.

Practice References Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d § 37.1.

Forms: Motion—To exclude evidence of prior conviction—Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Motion—To exclude evidence of other crimes—Connection to charged offense tenuous; prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:647.

Footnote 33. FRE Rule 104(b).

Footnote 34. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 35. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 36. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 37. Under FRE Rule 403, discussed in this connection in § 419.

Footnote 38. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 39. United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800.

Footnote 40. United States v Evans (CA8 Mo) 697 F2d 240, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 529, cert den 460 US 1086, 76 L Ed 2d 350, 103 S Ct 1779 (decided under "clear and convincing" standard; point valid also under Supreme Court's preponderance of the evidence standard).

Footnote 41. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

But see Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289 (holding that it is a longstanding principle that before a trial court can admit extraneous offense evidence, the state must clearly prove that the offense was committed and that the accused was its perpetrator).

Footnote 42. United States v Manso-Portes (CA7 Ill) 867 F2d 422, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 956, post-conviction proceeding (ND Ill) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 5507, later proceeding (CA7) 1992 US App LEXIS 30807 (in prosecution for conspiracy to distribute cocaine District Court did not err in admitting testimony concerning two stops of automobile containing cocaine since jurors needed only to reasonably believe that two prior stops actually had occurred and that cocaine or money had been hidden in stopped car).

Footnote 43. United States v Gustafson (CA8 Minn) 728 F2d 1078, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 351, cert den 469 US 979, 83 L Ed 2d 315, 105 S Ct 380 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Martin (CA4 Md) 773 F2d 579, 85-2 USTC ¶ 9755, 19 Fed Rules Evid Serv 314, 56 AFTR 2d 85-5922) and (disapproved on other grounds by Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1) as stated in United States v Callaway (CA8 Ark) 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 743 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Aranda (CA8 Iowa) 963 F2d 211, 35 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1002).

Footnote 44. United States v Melia (CA4 NC) 691 F2d 672, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1226, appeal after remand (CA4 NC) 741 F2d 70, cert den 471 US 1135, 86 L Ed 2d 693, 105 S Ct 2674.

Footnote 45. United States v Horvath (CA8 Minn) 731 F2d 557, 84-1 USTC ¶ 9482, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1048, 53 AFTR 2d 84-1138.

Footnote 46. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

Footnote 47. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

§ 418 Purpose as affecting admissibility

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

FRE Rule 404(b) specifically authorizes admission of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts for the purpose of proving motive, opportunity, intent, preparation, plan, knowledge, identity, or absence of mistake or accident. 48 The categories of "other purposes" listed in FRE Rule 404(b) are not exhaustive. 49 Other permissible purposes include—

—to show the existence of a common scheme or plan embracing two or more crimes so interrelated that proof of one tends to establish the other. 50

—to corroborate crucial accomplice testimony. 51

—to complete the story of the crime on trial by proving its immediate context of happenings near in time and place. 52

—to show a party's reasonable fear of imminent bodily injury. 53

But where the prosecutor made no effort to explain the probative purpose or connection of defendants' earlier conduct to the case, and at various points the trial judge found that the evidence was unnecessary, irrelevant, and prejudicial, the admission of such evidence on the prosecutor's assertion that it was relevant because it was part of the history of a conspiracy was erroneous. 54

§ 418 ----Purpose as affecting admissibility [SUPPLEMENT]Case authorities:

In prosecution for importing with intent to sell endangered iguanas, prosecutor's cross-examination of witness designed to implicate witness as large-scale buyer or distributor of marijuana was not proper, although cross-examination regarding extent of witness's personal use of marijuana may have been proper given witness's single statement regarding his past occasional marijuana use. United States v Crutchfield (1994, CA11 Fla) 26 F3d 1098, 8 FLW Fed C 445.

The trial court in a first-degree murder prosecution did not err by the admission of evidence of the killing of a member of defendant's "family" called the Pimps where it is clear that such killing, if not the principal reason for the killing of the victim in the present case, was a central and critical fact in the explanation of the sequence of events and motive for the murder in the present case. State v Mason (1994) 337 NC 165, 446 SE2d 58.

There was no error in a prosecution for first-degree murder, burglary, robbery, and attempted rape in the admission of testimony that an expert had compared a fingerprint from the crime scene with a fingerprint card from defendant on file before his arrest. Defendant's use of the fingerprint expert's report opened the door and created confusion which the State could clear up by introducing evidence that the report was based on a ten-print card that was on file prior to defendant's arrest for this crime. State v Montgomery (1995) 341 NC 553, 461 SE2d 732.

Footnotes

Footnote 48. FRE Rule 404(b).

Footnote 49. United States v Williams (CA2 NY) 577 F2d 188, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 921, cert den 439 US 868, 58 L Ed 2d 179, 99 S Ct 196; Government of Virgin Islands v Carino (CA3 VI) 631 F2d 226, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 967; United States v Masters (CA4 SC) 622 F2d 83, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 63; United States v Masters (CA4 SC) 622 F2d 83, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 63.

Footnote 50. United States v Weaver (CA8 Ark) 565 F2d 129, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 765, cert den 434 US 1074, 55 L Ed 2d 780, 98 S Ct 1263; United States v Burkley, 192 US App DC 294, 591 F2d 903, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1649, cert den 440 US 966, 59 L Ed 2d 782, 99 S Ct 1516.

Footnote 51. United States v Williams (CA2 NY) 577 F2d 188, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv

921, cert den 439 US 868, 58 L Ed 2d 179, 99 S Ct 196.

Footnote 52. United States v Masters (CA4 SC) 622 F2d 83, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 63; United States v Williford (CA11 Ga) 764 F2d 1493, 18 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151; United States v Weeks (CA11 Ga) 716 F2d 830, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 604.

Footnote 53. Government of Virgin Islands v Carino (CA3 VI) 631 F2d 226, 6 Fed Rules Evid Serv 967.

In a check forgery prosecution, a witness's testimony regarding knowledge of defendant's prior criminal record was admissible to lend credence to the witness's claim that she feared for her safety if she did not comply with defendant's demands for bogus checks. United States v Miller, 283 US App DC 9, 895 F2d 1431, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1152, cert den 498 US 825, 112 L Ed 2d 52, 111 S Ct 79.

Footnote 54. United States v Sullivan (CA10 Okla) 919 F2d 1403, 31 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1414, post-conviction proceeding (CA10 Okla) 967 F2d 370, cert den (US) 121 L Ed 2d 211, 113 S Ct 285 and cert den (US) 122 L Ed 2d 161, 113 S Ct 1013.

§ 419 Balancing prejudice against probative value

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Admission of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts of the defendant is subject to the provision of Rule 403 55 that such relevant evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. 56 Even when evidence of other acts is offered for a proper purpose, 57 the evidence may be admitted only if that rule is satisfied. 58 Testimony directly connecting an accused with a prior crime may be prejudicial on the issue of guilt, but it is only unfair prejudice that triggers the balancing requirement. 59 But if evidence of criminal activity not charged is irrelevant, its admission is presumed harmful error because of the danger that a jury will take the bad character or propensity toward crime thus demonstrated as evidence of guilt of the crime charged. 60

The language of the rule tilts toward the admission of evidence in close cases. In determining whether probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, the balance should generally be struck in favor of admission when the evidence indicates a close relationship between the other acts, crimes, or wrongs and the offense charged in the present case. 61 When a trial court performs the balancing test prescribed by FRE Rule 403 with respect to another act, crime, or wrong of a criminal defendant, there is no requirement that the trial court first find that the prejudicial potential of the evidence substantially outweighs its probative value unless the court concludes by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant committed the similar act, although the strength of the evidence establishing the other crime, wrong, or act is one of the factors which the trial court may consider when conducting the FRE Rule 403 balancing. 62

◆ Observation: In a non-Rule state, it has been said that where evidence of past criminality is probative of an issue, its admissibility will depend on the balance between its probative value and its potential for prejudice. 63

The probative value of FRE Rule 404(b) evidence depends upon various factors, including the availability of other evidence to serve the same purpose, 64 the similarity between the extrinsic acts and the charged offenses, 65 the degree of proximity in time between extrinsic and charged offenses, 66 and the posture of the case at the time the extrinsic evidence is offered—in particular, whether the issue to which the extrinsic evidence relates is actually disputed. 67

◆ Practice guide: When moving for a mistrial because of prejudice to the defendant resulting from particular similar crimes testimony, counsel should make clear to the trial judge the exact nature of the claimed prejudice. 68 But there is no requirement that the Rule 403 principle must be explicitly argued and preserved for appeal where an objection under Rule 404(b) to the admission of evidence of other acts has been raised. 69

§ 419 ----Balancing prejudice against probative value [SUPPLEMENT]

Case authorities:

Admitting book on methamphetamine manufacture found in defendant's house did not unduly prejudice defendant since it had probative value and defendant did not articulate what exceptional circumstances warranted its exclusion, beyond assertion that it "tipped scales." United States v Ford (1994, CA1 Mass) 22 F3d 374, cert den (1994, US) 1994 US LEXIS 6727.

Trial court abused its discretion when it permitted government to reject defendants' proffered generic stipulations and instead introduce stipulation which specified nature of each defendant's prior felony to prove element of being felon in possession of firearm; even though ruling occurred prior to appellate decision requiring that trial court identify special circumstances showing that relevance of such evidence outweighs any prejudicial effect, record here indicated that court would not have made such finding since it established that court felt bound to permit government to introduce evidence of nature of defendants' prior felonies and rejected government's attempts to introduce them under Rule 404(b) because their prejudice outweighed any possible relevance. United States v Melvin (1994, CA1 Mass) 27 F3d 703, 39 Fed Rules Evid Serv 647, clarified, mod (1994, CA1 Mass) 27 F3d 710.

District court did not err in admitting defendant's videotaped statements that defendants followed one car and attempted to carjack another, since evidence was intrinsic and did not implicate Fed. R.Evid. 404(b); further, it helped to place entire evening in context, assisted government in establishing elements of charged crimes, and was probative and helpful to jury. United States v Coleman (1996, CA5 Tex) 78 F3d 154.

Connection between defendant's prior gambling activity and his identity as drug trafficker was attenuated, and there was no evidence of unusual modus operandi in both cases to permit evidence of gambling crime committed by occupant of apartment in which drugs were later found to be admitted, government's case on identification of defendant as resident of apartment was strong without evidence of prior illegal gambling activity, but admission of evidence was harmless given overwhelming evidence against defendant. United States v Jones (1994, CA11 Ga) 28 F3d 1574, 8 FLW Fed C 511.

Testimony that defendant and his friends threatened the State's principal witness and warned him not to testify and that defendant on one occasion shot the witness in the thigh was relevant to show defendant's awareness of his guilt, and the trial court did not err by finding that the probative value of this testimony was not substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. G.S. § 8C-1, Rule 403. State v Mason (1994) 337 NC 165, 446 SE2d 58.

A witness's testimony which described acts of prostitution between the witness and defendant and her finding a metal pipe under defendant's pillow a month before the death of the victim, a known prostitute, was properly admitted in defendant's murder trial to show that the pipe was in defendant's bedroom in reasonable proximity to the time of the victim's death where other evidence tended to show that the victim was killed by a blunt object, such as a pipe, and since defendant's confession indicated that he had thrown a pipe away prior to the victim's death. Furthermore, the trial court did not err by finding that this testimony was more probative than prejudicial under the balancing test of Rule 403. N.C.G.S. § 8C-1, Rules 403 and 404(b). State v Weathers (1994) 339 NC 441, 451 SE2d 266.

The trial court did not err in a first-degree murder prosecution involving poisoning by allowing the State to introduce testimony from a registered nurse who had cared for the victim during his final illness concerning medical techniques and medical equipment used to treat the victim. Although defendant contended that the sole purpose of the testimony was to generate sympathy for the victim's family, the testimony was probative to show that defendant had access to the victim in the hospital, that a correlation existed between defendant's feeding the victim and the onset of his symptoms, that the victim manifested symptoms associated with multiple system failure incident to arsenic poisoning, that the victim could swallow food notwithstanding the tubes, that arsenic could have been introduced into the victim's body via the feeding tubes, and that the victim suffered inordinate pain over an extended period of time. The probative value of the testimony outweighed any unfair prejudice to defendant; furthermore, the record discloses that similar evidence from other witnesses was admitted without objection. State v Moore (1994) 335 NC 567, 440 SE2d 797.

There was no prejudicial error in a noncapital prosecution for first-degree murder, armed robbery, first-degree burglary, and second-degree arson where defendant's teacher testified on direct examination that there was an odor of feces about defendant in the classroom two days after the crime and that she thought he had had a bowel movement, which he did when under stress, and testified on cross-examination that this had happened to defendant fifteen or twenty a times in the past. The testimony had little probative value but did not have a tendency to prejudice defendant. State v Beamer (1994) 339 NC 477, 451 SE2d 190.

Footnotes

Footnote 55. FRE Rule 403, generally discussed in §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 56. Veranda Beach Club Ltd. Partnership v Western Surety Co. (CA1 Mass) 936 F2d 1364, 33 Fed Rules Evid Serv 809, 20 FR Serv 3d 409; United States v Williams (CA2 NY) 596 F2d 44, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 57, cert den 442 US 946, 61 L Ed 2d 317, 99 S Ct 2893; United States v Herman (CA3 Pa) 589 F2d 1191, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1605, cert den 441 US 913, 60 L Ed 2d 386, 99 S Ct 2014; Carson v Polley (CA5 Tex) 689 F2d 562, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1259, 35 FR Serv 2d 152, 64 ALR Fed 613; United States v Bailleaux (CA9 Cal) 685 F2d 1105, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1300; United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800; State v Richardson (Iowa App) 400 NW2d 70.

Statements by a coconspirator relating to discussions about murders by members of racketeering enterprise and a decision to commit murder may not be admitted under Rule 403 where no evidence linked defendant to those acts; under these circumstances, prejudicial value outweighs probative value. United States v Flynn (CA8 Mo) 852 F2d 1045, 26 Fed Rules Evid Serv 797, cert den 488 US 974, 102 L Ed 2d 546, 109 S Ct 511 and (disapproved on other grounds by NOW v Scheidler (US) 127 L Ed 2d 99, 94 CDOS 472, 94 Daily Journal DAR 810).

Forms: Motion–To exclude evidence of prior conviction–Prejudicial effect outweighs probative value. 7 Federal Procedural Forms, L Ed, Criminal Procedure § 20:646.

Footnote 57. United States v Nadler (CA9 Cal) 698 F2d 995, 12 Fed Rules Evid Serv 908.

Footnote 58. United States v Padilla (CA8 Mo) 869 F2d 372, cert den 492 US 909, 106 L Ed 2d 572, 109 S Ct 3223, post-conviction proceeding (CA8 Mo) 942 F2d 498 (in prosecution for distribution of cocaine, while it was proper to admit testimony indicating that defendant drove through Georgia to deliver two bales of marijuana insofar as testimony indicated that defendant was in business of selling illegal drugs, evidence that marijuana was sold to Ku Klux Klan, created real danger of prejudicing jury with no countervailing probative value and should have been suppressed under Rule 403).

In a suit arising from injuries sustained while working as a sand blaster on an offshore drilling platform, the court properly excluded an arrest record which noted plaintiff's weight as substantially less than what he claimed he weighed at the time of the accident, for purposes of challenging the contention that plaintiff lost weight after the accident; unfair prejudice which contents of arrest record would have produced substantially outweighed probative value. Williams v Chevron U.S.A., Inc. (CA5 La) 875 F2d 501, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 296.

In a prosecution for possession of cocaine, cross-examination of the accused concerning a recent prior felony conviction for possession of marijuana exceeded permissible scope and constituted prejudicial error where the effect of the prosecutor's questions was to affirmatively invite the jury to infer that the accused was more likely to have committed the cocaine offense. United States v Harding (CA7 Ind) 525 F2d 84.

But see State v Brown, 111 Wash 2d 124, 761 P2d 588, op replaced 113 Wash 2d 520, 782 P2d 1013, 80 ALR4th 989, clarified, on reconsideration (Wash) 787 P2d 906, stating that convictions which involve dishonesty or false statement are admissible regardless of the severity of the punishment imposed, and that the trial court is not required to engage in balancing their probative value against prejudicial effect.

Footnote 59. United States v Day, 192 US App DC 252, 591 F2d 861, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1523.

Footnote 60. Straight v State (Fla) 397 So 2d 903, cert den 454 US 1022, 70 L Ed 2d 418, 102 S Ct 556, reh den 454 US 1165, 71 L Ed 2d 323, 102 S Ct 1043, later proceeding (Fla) 422 So 2d 827, stay den (Fla) 491 So 2d 281 and later proceeding, stay den (Fla) 488 So 2d 530, 11 FLW 227, cert den 476 US 1130, 90 L Ed 2d 683, 106 S Ct 2003 and habeas corpus proceeding (CA11 Fla) 772 F2d 674, reh den, en banc (CA11 Fla) 776 F2d 1057 and cert den 475 US 1099, 89 L Ed 2d 903, 106 S Ct 1502 and (criticized on other grounds by Hargrave v Dugger (CA11 Fla) 832 F2d 1528).

Footnote 61. United States v Moore, 235 US App DC 381, 732 F2d 983, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1151.

Footnote 62. Huddleston v United States, 485 US 681, 99 L Ed 2d 771, 108 S Ct 1496, 25 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1 (not followed on other grounds by Kemp v State (Tex Crim) 846 SW2d 289).

See United States v Manso-Portes (CA7 Ill) 867 F2d 422, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 956, post-conviction proceeding (ND Ill) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 5507, later proceeding (CA7) 1992 US App LEXIS 30807, where defendant argued that other acts were irrelevant and that an objection based on prejudice was "implicitly included" in the test for admissibility set out in FRE Rule 404(b); reading Huddleston as rejecting any suggestion that a trial court must conclude that other acts are prejudicial unless it concludes that defendant committed them, court concluded that the balancing test of FRE Rule 403 has not been "subsumed into" the admissibility test, so that the plain error standard applies when defendant claims prejudice on appeal but failed to make an argument at trial under FRE Rule 403.

As to the proof of other acts required as a foundation for admitting evidence of them, see § 417.

Footnote 63. People v Blanchard (2d Dept) 83 App Div 2d 905, 442 NYS2d 140.

Footnote 64. United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847.

Footnote 65. United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847; United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800.

Footnote 66. United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847; United States v Terebecki (CA11 Ala) 692 F2d 1345, 11 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1800 (trial judge did not abuse his discretion in admitting evidence of extrinsic offense committed 15 months after charged offense).

Footnote 67. United States v Colon (CA2 NY) 880 F2d 650, 28 Fed Rules Evid Serv 800; United States v McMahon (CA5 Tex) 592 F2d 871, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 526, cert den 442 US 921, 61 L Ed 2d 289, 99 S Ct 2847.

Footnote 68. United States v McPartlin (CA7 Ill) 595 F2d 1321, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416, cert den 444 US 833, 62 L Ed 2d 43, 100 S Ct 65.

Footnote 69. United States v Manso-Portes (CA7 Ill) 867 F2d 422, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 956, post-conviction proceeding (ND Ill) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 5507, later proceeding (CA7) 1992 US App LEXIS 30807.

§ 420 --Effect of offer to stipulate

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Generally, a trial court is not required to accept an offer to stipulate as to evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts sought to be admitted under FRE Rule 404(b), since such a stipulation can rob the evidence of much of its fair and legitimate weight. 70

However, this principle is subject to the provision 71 that where the probative value of relevant evidence is substantially outweighed by its potential for unfair prejudice it should be excluded, so that exclusion may be ordered after a stipulation by the opponent. 72

Where a prior conviction is part of an offense and the defendant offers to stipulate to the prior conviction, it may constitute an abuse of discretion to allow the nature of the offense to be admitted. 73

§ 420 --Effect of offer to stipulate [SUPPLEMENT]

Practice Aids: Stipulations by the defense to remove other act evidence, 9 Criminal Justice 4:35 (1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 70. United States v Grassi (CA5 Fla) 602 F2d 1192, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 992, reh den (CA5 Fla) 606 F2d 321 and vacated on other grounds 448 US 902, 65 L Ed 2d 1131, 100 S Ct 3041, on remand (CA5 Fla) 626 F2d 444, cert den 450 US 956, 67 L Ed 2d 381, 101 S Ct 1415.

The court did not abuse its discretion in admitting government evidence that defendant was the occupant of a motor home stopped by police in Oregon and that defendant fled the scene, turning to fire at a state trooper, where defendant offered to stipulate to his presence in Oregon and to fact that he was in flight but did not indicate willingness to stipulate to any details of flight, such a stipulation being one which would deny the government most of the probative value of the admissible flight evidence as tending to show consciousness of guilt of murders. United States v Peltier (CA8 ND) 585 F2d 314, 3 Fed Rules Evid Serv 45, cert den 440 US 945, 59 L Ed 2d 634, 99 S Ct 1422, later proceeding (DC ND) 553 F Supp 886, post-conviction proceeding (DC ND) 553 F Supp 890, affd in part and remanded in part on other grounds (CA8 ND) 731 F2d 550, on remand (DC ND) 609 F Supp 1143, affd (CA8 ND) 800 F2d 772, 21 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1017, cert den 484 US 822, 98 L Ed 2d 46, 108 S Ct 84, post-conviction proceeding, motion gr (DC Kan) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 2644, affd (CA8 SD) 997 F2d 461, reh, en banc, den (CA8) 1993 US App LEXIS 20526.

Footnote 71. FRE Rule 403, generally discussed in §§ 324 et seq.

Footnote 72. Silva v Showcase Cinemas Concessions, Inc. (CA1 RI) 736 F2d 810, 15 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1827, cert den 469 US 883, 83 L Ed 2d 189, 105 S Ct 251 (court properly excluded evidence, in negligence action brought against movie theater by parents of theater patron who was stabbed and killed in theater's parking lot, that patron's assailant was convicted of manslaughter, notwithstanding theater's contention that evidence was relevant to issue of foreseeability, where plaintiffs offered to stipulate that stabbing was criminal act); United States v Spletzer (CA5 Tex) 535 F2d 950, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 218 (defendant's stipulation to prior conviction renders admission of evidence regarding conviction unfairly prejudicial in trial for completely different offense); Rocky Mountain Helicopters, Inc. v Bell Helicopters Textron, Div. of Textron, Inc. (CA10 Utah) 805 F2d 907, 22 Fed Rules Evid Serv 86 (in suit against manufacturer arising out of helicopter accident, evidence that pilot had propensity for carrying heavy loads properly excluded since parties had agreed to such fact and further testimony on matter would be irrelevant and possibly prejudicial under FRE Rule 403); United States v Lowe (CA10 NM) 569 F2d 1113, cert den 435 US 932, 55 L Ed 2d 529, 98 S Ct 1507; United States v O'Shea (CA11 Ga) 724 F2d 1514, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1548.

Practice References Hunter, Federal Trial Handbook 2d §§ 32.1 et seq.

Footnote 73. United States v O'Shea (CA11 Ga) 724 F2d 1514, 14 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1548 (no abuse of discretion in instant case, where court admitted evidence that defendant was convicted murderer after counsel for codefendant indicated that defendant's past conviction probably would be introduced into evidence as part of her client's case and also requested that certain conditions on scope of stipulation be imposed, and after government's attorney noted that government planned to call as witnesses several of defendant's associates and that it was likely that defendant's past conviction ultimately would be revealed).

§ 421 Similarity between charged offense and other crimes, wrongs, or acts

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

Although it has been held that evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts must be substantially similar to the offenses charged before it is admissible, ⁷⁴ the more generally applicable rule appears to be that evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts must involve crimes, wrongs, or acts similar to the offense charged only if similarity is the basis for the relevance of the evidence in question, but that no such similarity is required where the evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts is otherwise relevant. ⁷⁵ Thus, whether evidence of other acts must be similar to the charged offense to be admissible is often held to depend upon the purpose for which the evidence is offered. 76

When evidence of prior misconduct is required to be substantially similar, it is generally required that it be near in time to the offense charged. 77 But there is no requirement that such other acts and the charged offense be virtually identical; 78 it is sufficient that such acts be similar enough and close enough in time to be relevant, 79 and have more probative value than prejudicial impact. 80

§ 421 ----Similarity between charged offense and other crimes, wrongs, or acts
[SUPPLEMENT]

Rules:

As to rules allowing evidence of prior sexual assaults and child molestation, (Federal Rules of Evidence, Rules 413-415), added by Congress in 1994:, see § 404.

Case authorities:

Evidence of defendant's seven-year-old conviction for obstruction of justice was admissible since it was very similar to conduct charged, with differences that could be explained to jury, and remoteness did not appreciably lessen its overall probative value. United States v Frankhauser (1996, CA1 Mass) 80 F3d 641.

Testimony of witness concerning separate marijuana trafficking deals with defendant related conduct by defendant that was very similar to allegations of trafficking scheme underlying case and properly admitted. United States v Gonzalez (1996, CA5 Tex) 74 F3d 620, op withdrawn, substituted op, remanded (1996, CA5 Tex) 76 F3d 1339.

In prosecution for sexual offenses involving two step-daughters, admission of evidence of similar offenses committed with daughter 7 to 9 years before was not abuse of discretion where testimony demonstrated defendant's unnatural sexual passion for his female children, who were young, vulnerable, and subject to his authority. Register v State (1993, Ala App) 640 So 2d 3, affd (Ala) 640 So 2d 12.

In prosecution for child sexual abuse, evidence of uncharged acts by defendant that occurred as much as 10 years prior to charged acts was admissible, since conduct was similar, in that it involved defendant's touching victims' breasts and genitalia while victims were close to defendant. State v McAnulty (1995, App) 184 Ariz 399, 909 P2d 466, 199 Ariz Adv Rep 30.

In prosecution for rape of daughter-in-law, trial court properly admitted evidence of similar transaction involving rape of defendant's daughter, where daughter's testimony was restricted to explaining why she failed to report rape. Painter v State (1995) 219 Ga App 290, 465 SE2d 290, 95 Fulton County D R 3926.

In prosecution for two counts of sexual assault on a child, based on assaults committed against same child during two different time periods, trial court properly permitted evidence originally admitted as direct evidence on count one to stand as similar-transactions evidence in support of count two after prosecution dismissed count one and elected to proceed only on count two. Cordova v People (1994, Colo) 880 P2d 1216.

Trial court in murder prosecution properly admitted evidence that defendant had committed second homicide after charged offense, where both homicides arose from defendant's drug dealing and occurred less than one month apart, since evidence of proximate subsequent offenses is admissible to show plan, intent, or motive. Malcolm v State (1993) 263 Ga 369, 434 SE2d 479, 93 Fulton County D R 3395.

State did not meet threshold requirement for admission of evidence of prior robbery by failing to show that offenses were substantially similar or that defendant was perpetrator of prior offense but erroneous admission did not require reversal, where there was overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt of offense charged, including eyewitness testimony of 15-year acquaintance and defendant's voluntary confession. Dixon v State (1994) 214 Ga App 374, 448 SE2d 40, 94 Fulton County D R 2838.

In prosecution for child molestation and aggravated sodomy involving defendant's 8-year-old stepdaughter, trial court properly admitted evidence of defendant's prior statutory rape offense in which defendant had confessed that he and two others had engaged in sexual intercourse with 13-year-old girl, where there was logical connection between prior statutory rape and charged offenses in light of defendant's statement that 8-year-old victim had consented to sex acts and that she was "a hot little girl to be only 8 years old." Hamm v State (1994) 214 Ga App 705, 448 SE2d 773.

In prosecution for child molestation of 13-year-old adopted daughter, trial court properly allowed prosecutor to introduce similar transaction evidence which consisted of victim's account of acts involving defendant's rubbing his penis against victim's vagina and placing his mouth on her breasts—which took place 2 weeks before first incident charged in indictment—where state filed written notice of intent to introduce evidence more than 10 days prior to trial and, prior to jury selection, prosecutor presented summary of similar transaction evidence. Gilstrap v State (1994) 215 Ga App 180, 450 SE2d 436, 94 Fulton County D R 3629.

In prosecution for sexual intercourse with 15-year-old girl without consent, defendant was entitled to new trial based on fact that other-crimes evidence admitted at trial was not sufficiently similar to charged offense, where crime of supplying alcohol to underage girls and prior acts enticing two girls to pose naked for photographs did not tend to prove whether girl in this case consented to sexual intercourse. State v Garn (1994) 264 Mont 296, 871 P2d 878.

In a prosecution of defendant for assault which occurred when defendants allegedly threw a brick from their car into the victims' car, the trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of one of defendant's passengers that defendant had allegedly committed a prior bad act by throwing a bottle into another vehicle earlier in the evening, since the incident was similar in means and execution and occurred the same evening as the brick throwing incident. State v Poe (1995) 119 NC App 266, 458 SE2d 242, stay gr 340 NC 571, 459 SE2d 515, petition den (NC) 1995 NC LEXIS 522.

Trial court in rape prosecution properly admitted evidence of defendant's prior uncharged sexual assaults of his niece, occurring since she was 10 years old, where prior assaults occurred under similar circumstances and were clearly of same type and, thus, were admissible as part of history of event on trial or part of natural development of facts. Commonwealth v Stansbury (1994, Pa Super) 640 A2d 1368, digest op at (Pa Super) 17 PLW 324.

In prosecution for sexual misconduct with 8-year-old granddaughter, testimony of two other girls that defendant sexually abused them was admissible, where all three girls were approximately same age at time of alleged abuse, each was subjected to requests both for performance of cunnilingus and fellatio, all of alleged activities took place in defendant's house or vehicle, and in each instance, defendant took advantage of his relationship with victim for his sexual gratification. State v Blanton (1994, SC App) 446 SE2d 438, op withdrawn, substituted op, reh den (SC App) 1994 SC App LEXIS 95 and substituted op (SC App) 1994 SC App LEXIS 94.

Trial court in multiple capital murder prosecution properly exercised its discretion to exclude proffered evidence of other similar assaults in same area, in which young women were assaulted in ground-floor apartments, where defendant had no alibi for one event and other crimes were insufficiently similar to charged crimes to support inference that someone other than defendant had committed all crimes. State v Russell (1994, Wash) 882 P2d 747, petition for certiorari filed (Feb 9, 1995).

Footnotes

Footnote 74. United States v Bloom (CA5 Tex) 538 F2d 704, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 226, cert den 429 US 1074, 50 L Ed 2d 792, 97 S Ct 814; United States v Jerkins (CA6 Mich) 871 F2d 598, 89-2 USTC ¶ 9572, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1226, 64 AFTR 2d 89-5157 (failure to file return and evasion of taxes are substantially similar); United States v McFadyen-Snider (CA6 Tenn) 552 F2d 1178, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 939; United States v Bledsoe (CA8 Ark) 531 F2d 888, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1115.

Evidence of tape-recorded conversation indicating that defendant was wholesale drug dealer was inadmissible in prosecution for selling narcotics to undercover agents on street since drug dealings were dissimilar. United States v Wright (CA7 Ill) 901 F2d 68, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 99.

Evidence of defendant's prior marijuana use was irrelevant to show that purchase for which he was indicted was not for his personal use since type of marijuana was different. United States v Binkley (CA7 Ill) 903 F2d 1130, 30 Fed Rules Evid Serv 543.

The court must look behind the label describing the kind of similarity or relation between the uncharged offense and the charged offense; it must examine the precise elements of similarity between the offenses with respect to the issue for which the evidence is proffered and satisfy itself that each link of the chain of inference between the uncharged offense and the charged offense is reasonably strong; if the connection between the uncharged offense and the ultimate fact in dispute is not clear, the evidence should be excluded. People v Scott (1st Dist) 113 Cal App 3d 190, 169 Cal Rptr 669.

Annotation: Admissibility, under Rule 404(b) of Federal Rules of Evidence, of evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts not similar to offense charged, 41 ALR Fed 497.

Footnote 75. United States v Czarnecki (CA6 Mich) 552 F2d 698, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1348, 41 ALR Fed 487, cert den 431 US 939, 53 L Ed 2d 257, 97 S Ct 2652; United States v Connelly (CA7 Ill) 874 F2d 412, 27 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1442; United States v

Hearst (CA9 Cal) 563 F2d 1331, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1149, reh den (CA9 Cal) 573 F2d 579 and cert den 435 US 1000, 56 L Ed 2d 90, 98 S Ct 1656 and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Melanson (CA1 Mass) 691 F2d 579) and (criticized on other grounds by United States v Dominguez-Mestas (CA9 Cal) 929 F2d 1379, 91 CDOS 770, 91 Daily Journal DAR 1193).

Evidence of defendant's prior marijuana transactions was admissible in an income tax evasion case as directly relating to the question of defendant's likely sources of taxable income, which was an element of the government's case. United States v Blandina (CA7 Ind) 895 F2d 293, 89-2 USTC ¶ 9478, 71a AFTR 2d 93-3218, 29 Fed Rules Evid Serv 536.

Footnote 76. §§ 422 et seq.

Footnote 77. United States v Largent (CA6 Mich) 545 F2d 1039, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1239, cert den 429 US 1098, 51 L Ed 2d 546, 97 S Ct 1117.

Generally, as to nearness or remoteness of similar act, see § 416.

Footnote 78. United States v Trevino (CA5 Tex) 565 F2d 1317, 2 Fed Rules Evid Serv 897, cert den 435 US 971, 56 L Ed 2d 63, 98 S Ct 1613; United States v McPartlin (CA7 Ill) 595 F2d 1321, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416, cert den 444 US 833, 62 L Ed 2d 43, 100 S Ct 65.

Footnote 79. United States v McPartlin (CA7 Ill) 595 F2d 1321, 4 Fed Rules Evid Serv 416, cert den 444 US 833, 62 L Ed 2d 43, 100 S Ct 65.

Footnote 80. United States v Largent (CA6 Mich) 545 F2d 1039, 1 Fed Rules Evid Serv 1239, cert den 429 US 1098, 51 L Ed 2d 546, 97 S Ct 1117.

§ 422 --To prove substantive element of charged offense

View Entire Section
Go to Parallel Reference Table
Go to Supplement

